GILMORE SEEKS TEACHERS HERE FOR PHILIPPINES

Vice-Governor of Islands Visits Home on Way to Washington

Prof. E. A. Gilmore, vice-governor of the Philippine islands and formerly professor in the Law school here, will arrive in Madison today for a few days' visit. Professor Gilmore will talk about opportunities for prospective teachers in the Philippines and will interview all persons who desire teaching in the islands.

In a recent letter to Thomas Lloyd Jones, chairman of the committee on high school relations, Professor Gilmore says:

Places Teachers

We need 60 teachers, most of whom should be qualified to teach English in the high schools. Others should be able to serve in the normal schools as model critics and supervising teachers.

Entrance salary is 3000 pesos ($1500). In addition to this we pay the traveling expenses from the home of the teachers to Manila. The contract is for two years, but of course we will be glad to keep teachers for a longer term.

The appointment is under the civil service. Candidates are required to pass a non-assembled examination, which consists in submitting full statement of their credentials. I also have a few positions paying as high as 3400 pesos. In addition to the foregoing positions in the bureau of education, I have a number of positions open in the University of the Philippines.

Call T. L. Jones

These university positions are in the English department for the most part, although a professor of mathematics is also needed. These positions command considerably higher salaries than the others, but are the same in that appointments are for two years with expenses paid to Manila.

Applicants should make careful note of the education and experience requirements, according to Mr. Jones. Those who plan to fill the high school or normal school positions should be either graduates of a good college or university or of a four year normal course, or a two-year normal course with not less than three years of successful teaching in a secondary school.

Other prominent speakers for the conference will be Prof. Bartholomew, Augustana college, Rock Island, Ill., and Rev. C. P. Harry, of Morristown, Pa.

The Lutheran student association of America was founded one year ago. The association is divided into several regions, which meet annually. The University of Wisconsin is in the Mississippi valley region, comprising the states named above. Officers for this region are Otto F. Kraushaar, University of Iowa, president; Alfred W. Peterson '24, University of Wisconsin, secretary; and Wilber Wittenberg, '24 University of Wisconsin, treasurer.

Dairy Cattle Are to Be Judged at Contest Tomorrow

Five breeds of dairy cattle will be judged in the dairy judging contest to be held at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the stock pavilion under the auspices of Sadle and Sirloin club.

A cup will be given the winner. All students not on former stock judging teams are eligible to compete for the prize.

"By means of these weekly judging contests the students obtain invaluable practice with the animals, and thus receive good preparation for next year's team," Irving M. Benson '24, chairman, asserted yesterday. The meetings also give the coaches a good chance to look over the material in preparation for the team.

CHAMBER MUSIC TOPIC AT CLEF CLUB MEET

Chamber music in its various phases was the topic of a discussion at the regular meeting of Clef club last night in Lathrop parlors.

Helen Wheeler '25 and Margaret Clifford '26 gave informal talks. "Nocturno" by Behr was played by a trio, composed of Lillian Tucker '25, flute; Lucile Scott '27, violin; and Lillian Soldan '26, piano.

Final plans were made for the open recital to be given by Clef club on April 5, in Music hall.

SALE POINTS TO RECORD MILITARY BALL ATTENDANCE

Walsted Reports 500 Tickets Sold; Sale For Spectators Starts Monday

The largest group attendance in the history of the Military ball is promised for April 4, with the announcement that more than 500 couples have already signed up to attend with groups. George F. Walsted '26, in charge of ticket sales, declared last night.

A large number of fraternities and other campus groups have already sent in their applications for more than 25 tickets apiece. This shows that this year's ball will be primarily a group affair, he said.

Distribution of Walsted '25 boxes among the (Badger Photo) groups will be made on Saturday under the direction of Paul K. Robertson '24.

Spectator tickets 75 cents

The price of spectator tickets has been set at 75 cents. They will be placed on sale Monday at Morgan's and Fisher brothers. Persons desiring these tickets should buy them early as only a limited number will be offered to the public. A number of spectator tickets will be sold at the doors on the night of the ball, according to Walsted.

"We are way ahead of last year's sale of tickets. Based on the number of tickets that fraternities and other groups have purchased already, it is estimated that at least 800 couples will attend the ball or practically the same number that went to prom this year," he said.

$2,200 REACHED IN STUDENT DRIVE

Fraternities Donate $1,000; Sororities $600; Barnard, Chadbourne $100 Each

A total of $2,200 for the student friendship fund had been reached by yesterday afternoon, according to Eugene Tuhtar '25, financial secretary. Of this amount $1,000 has been contributed by fraternities and $600 by sororities.

Barnard and Chadbourne have each given $100. The rest has been obtained from S. G. A. districts and from unorganized groups.

The committee in charge of the drive hopes to obtain $3,000 by tonight. Checks can be mailed to the Student Friendship Fund in the Union building, or money can be brought there.

Artist-Actress Gives Splendid Presentation of Miracle Play

By TORMENTOR

Mrs. Marion Craig Wentworth has achieved a masterpiece of allegorical imagery in her new play, "The Singing Globe" which she read last night in room 165 Bascom hall under the auspices of Wisconsin University players. Seldom has the doctrine of universal brotherhood or "the harmony of the world" been more delicately or more beautifully presented.

A modern miracle play, "The Singing Globe," interprets in three intervals the story of the building of a mighty temple where all the peoples of the world shall worship and rejoice. Built upon the foundations of love and peace it stands a beautiful thing and "The Builder" is loved and cherished by the people. But "The Enemy" is jealous and ambitious for power and in the heat of his passion shatters the globe destroying thereby his own soul and the light of harmony of the world.

Terror stricken and remorseful at his deed, "The Enemy" comes to the temple on the festival day of inauguration seeking forgiveness. "The Woman" and "The Child" intercede for him, but "The Builder" has become hardened and refuses forgiveness. The light of "The Builder" fades and he too grows ugly and the world is in darkness. Through the faith and prayers of "The Woman" and "The Child," however, forgiveness is brought about, and "The Builder" finds that "The Enemy" is his own other self.

There is beauty and power in "The Singing Globe." It has appeal and charm and is a play which should interest theater studying groups of the better class.

Murphy Elected to Head Large Parade of Pat's Plumbers

Dennis Murphy '24, electrical engineer, will be Saint Pat in the annual engineers' parade tomorrow afternoon. The election contest closed at 4:30 o'clock yesterday, and the result was uncertain until the last minute. J. M. McCoy '24, Howard Hayward '24, and George Longergan '24, were close behind Murphy in the number of votes.

The parade will be the largest in the history of the Engineering College, according to Wenzel Fabera '24, chairman.

Last year John Rutherford, the engineers' Saint Pat, was kidnapped shortly before the parade by the lawyers, and given a little pleasure jaunt through Middleton. This year the engineers vow that Saint Pat shall be strongly guarded from their rivals.

Professor Pyre is a charter member of the club. Porter F. Butts '24 president of the club will tell about "Twinkle Twinkle" and will introduce the orchestra which will play six or seven tunes from the play. The orchestra also will play the accompaniment for songs by members of the Haresfoot cast.

The program will last about 45 minutes. It will be broadcasted on a wave length of 360 meters.

Last year the program, sent out on the same length, was heard as far away as northern Saskatchewan.

FISH EXPLAINS MONROE DOCTRINE TO WOMEN

The significance of the Monroe Doctrine was explained by Prof. Carl Russell Fish, of the history department at a dinner of the Business and Professional Women's club at Christ Presbyterian church last night.

"The motive forces behind the doctrine," Professor Fish explained, "were the desire of the American people to be free from foreign entanglements a feeling that a certain portion of the earth's surface belongs to them, a belief in the right of equal access to every part of the earth and interest in certain things outside their territory."

Professor Fish pointed out our relations with Cuba, Japan, and South America as examples of the changed interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine.

BADGERS DEBATE MINNESOTA TEAM IN CLASH TONIGHT

Bennett and Axley Are Wisconsin Closers in Two Contests

Wisconsin upholds the affirmative against Minnesota in the intercollegiate debate to be held at 8 o'clock tonight in Music hall on the proposition, Resolved that France should evacuate the Ruhr immediately.

Since this question has never been discussed before in conference forensic events the debate promises to be one of great interest.

Debates Annual

The Wisconsin-Minnesota-Northwestern triangle is the oldest debating league in the middle-west. In the last four years Wisconsin has defeated Minnesota three times while it has succeeded in taking two victories from the strong Northwestern teams.

Each year Wisconsin participates in two triangular debates which are composed of Big Ten universities. In the mid-west league contest which was held last week, Wisconsin emerged victor over Illinois but suffered a defeat by the Michigan negative team.

If Wisconsin is successful in the debates with Minnesota and Northwestern tonight, it will again be a contender with Michigan for Conference championship. Michigan will compete in a third triangle with Minnesota and Northwestern next week.

Ralph Axley Closes

Herbert Morse '26, Alfred Nicolaus '25, and Ross Bennett L2 will support the affirmative for Wisconsin while Walter Lingren, Donald Kelly, and Cedrick Jamieson will uphold the negative for Minnesota.

Harold Seering '24, Harold Cranefield '25, and Ralph Axley L2 will uphold the negative for Wisconsin.

Delonge Photo. tive of the question against Northwestern at Evanston on the same night.

Ralph Axley who closes the debate for the negative is considered one of the most forceful debaters that Wisconsin has had in recent years.

Prof. Pitman B. Potter will preside at the Minnesota-Wisconsin debate. Prof. Louis Eich of the speech department of the university of Michigan will judge the contest..

SEN. LA FOLLETTE HAS PNEUMONIA

Progressive Leader in Congress Develops Disease After Long Illness

Senator Robert M. La Follette, progressive leader in Congress and graduate of Wisconsin, has developed pneumonia, according to reports from Washington.

Phil La Follette, youngest son of the senator and also a graduate of Wisconsin, left Madison yesterday noon for Washington.

Senator La Follette has been ill since he was stricken last summer with an attack resembling influenza while traveling in Russia.

He has not appeared in the senate for more than a week, but his condition was not considered serious until the announcement of his physician was made yesterday.

PROFESSOR DENIES BASSETT'S CLAIMS

Rostovtzeff Criticizes Writer
For Statements Made in Reviews on Russia

Refuting the claim that the Bolsheviks are aiding education in Russia as advanced by Raymond Bassett in a series of articles written for The Cardinal, recently, Professor Rostovtzeff talked on education in Russia, politics, and made a comparison between Professor Sorokine and Bassett yesterday.

"Education is teaching men to think for themselves. It is not to impose any doctrine upon them whatsoever. The Bolsheviks are suppressing all free thought. Lenin did not teach the Russians to long for education. They have always longed for education. The new system of education makes it impossible for everyone to enter schools. Now it is the class privilege of the proletarians. The rest must pay a fee and private schools are forbidden," said Professor Rostovtzeff.

"Figures from the budget of the Bolshevik regime show that little more than one and one-half per cent is devoted to education, while under the old Czarist regime, bad as it was, 10 per cent of the money was given to education," he declared. He pointed out that the official report of Lunacharski in 1922 showed that the universities were graduating 70 per cent less students, the high schools 60 per cent less and the preparatory schools 70 per cent less than formerly.

"It is ridiculous to speak of Professor Sorokine as a man of the Czarist regime. He was imprisoned more than once under that rule. He fights the Bolshevik rule because it is tyrannical. He speaks of Russia from the point of view of a man who was a prominent leader of the democratic party. He is the son of a peasant, so he is democratic by birth. Out of six years, he was in Russia five, and not 'in the woods' as Bassett says, but in Petrograd and Moscow," Professor Rostovtzeff stated.

"Why is the name Bassett? Is it a Nom de plume? Marya Zaturenska says he was a soldier in the Red Army. How could he be a soldier in the Red army if he was a subject of Roumania? Why does he not take his material from Bolshevik publications as did Professor Sorokine? He is a young man so can his judgment be mature?

"The articles are all generalities. They are just the sort of things one has been reading for the past few years. The Cardinal ought to get a statement from Professor Sorokine to answer some of the questions raised," suggested Professor Rostovtzeff.

That no one is interested in politics in Russia any more is his belief. There is only one party, the Bolsheviks. The rest of the people belong to no party, and are known as non-partisans. The Russian people are only interested in order and reconstruction.

St. Pat's Parade Recalls Famous Meanwell Float

The coming Saint Pat's parade tomorrow and the fact that Wisconsin won the Conference basketball championship, this year, recall one of the famous floats in a Saint Pat's parade of many years ago.

The classic float was titled "W. E. Meanwell", and looked like a cross between a tank and a submarine. In that year Wisconsin had won the championship, and the engineers wished to contribute their bit of praise for 'Doc' Meanwell.

A powerful looking machine, the float was, and like Meanwell's basketball teams, it rode roughshod over all obstacles. Some ingenious engineer constructed it and drove it under its own power. Its fame has come down in history as a float with a point as well as a joke.

Quinn Excavates For New Building on State Street

State street's sore eye has been removed. Following an unusual career the lot next to Lawrence's restaurant is to have a dignified store building built upon it.

Last year James McCloskey parked his "Hot dog" wagon in the space prepared for it but was forced to remove due to an injunction obtained by the State street Investment company and by action of the city council. Only recently P. G. Malsack tore down his small upholsterer's and furniture shop which had been there for the past few months and the lot gave promise of remaining vacant.

In the last few days Quinn's big steam shovel has daily attracted the attention of scores of students

Shingled Hair May Make Bald Heads; But Experts Disagree

Will Wisconsin's campus and all the world be filled with bald-headed women a few years hence?

That bobbed hair is the quickest step toward such an unsightly appearance is the opinion expressed by Joseph Byrne, editor of a beauty magazine, before a convention of the American Master Hair Dressers' association in New York Monday.

Women today are obliged to wear hats with tightly fitted head bands in order to keep their hats on, and such a practice is bound to kill the hair, he declared.

Although agreeing that wearing tight head-bands may cause baldness, Mrs. Ella White Courtney, head of a local beauty parlor, declared that bobbed hair allows greater ventilation of the head and that it is no more unhealthy than long hair.

"Bobbed hair is one of the greatest benefits the modern woman enjoys," said Mrs. S. T. Burgess, 415 North Park street, who attended the convention, where she gave a demonstration on "Shop Management, Advertising, and Outdoor Signs."

FOUR QUINTETS REMAIN IN STATE TOURNAMENT RACE

APPLETON, SUPERIOR, OREGON, FOND DU LAC GO INTO SEMI-FINALS

1,800 Spectators Crowd Gym to Watch Last Night's Games; Groups of Rooters Come From Towns in State to Cheer on Their Teams

Four teams, Appleton, Superior, Oregon, and Fond du Lac, remain in the race for honors in the state basketball tournament at the close of the second day, and enter the semi-finals today, with about an even chance of coming out on top.

Oregon extended itself to the limit to win an overtime game from Janesville 24 to 20, and appears the weakest of the four. Superior took La Crosse into camp by a 28 to 25 count, Appleton piled up 32 counts to 14 for Manitowoc, and Fond du Lac eked out an 18 to 13 win over River Falls.

More than 1,800 spectators crowded into the gym to watch the games last night, and officials report an unprecedented sale of tickets. Large groups of enthusiastic rooters from Oregon, Janesville, and La Crosse hurled defiance across the floor, and the Oregon crowd staged a jubilee at the close of its tilt with Janesville.

SUPERIOR IS WINNER

Superior eased out a victory over La Crosse in the last minutes of play last night, 28 to 25 and won the right to compete in the semi-finals of the high school championship basketball tourney.

Both teams were as evenly matched as they could be, and neither had much advantage for any great time. La Crosse started out in great style, piling up an 8 to 2 lead, but Superior steadied and started a rally which landed them on the long end of a 15 to 13 lead at half time.

At the start of the second period La Crosse laid down a barrage of shots which netted them four goals and threw them into a temporary lead. Affeldt and Miller sank pretty shots for La Crosse and the game seemed theirs, but Gurneau and Wicklund came through with three goals between them and pulled their team out ahead.

In a game featured by close guarding Fond du Lac won its way into the semi-finals by beating River Falls, 18 to 13, yesterday afternoon.

The score stood at 8 to 7 at the half, but Fond du Lac found the basket in the second half for five field goals and took a lead that River Falls could not overcome.

FAST BOUTS ARE ASSURED FOR MAT AND GLOVE MEET

Elmer-Sanders, Aitken-Bower Matches Predicted to Be Fast Events Saturday

Those who attend the all-university wrestling and boxing tournament this Saturday are due to see some fast bouts. For the past week preliminary bouts have been held to pick the men that will enter the finals tomorrow afternoon. The men are in good condition and will be going at top speed when they enter the ring.

The hardest battle in the wrestling section will be between Elmer and Sanders, 115 pounders. In the other weights either Bundy, Hadorf or Smith will go on in the 125 pound class; Duehr, Wheeler, or O'Laughlin in the 135 pound weight; Harrison, Nelson or Egger in 145 pounds; Novotny, Shaller or Pollack 158 pound men; Morrow, Muegge, or Carlson light-heavyweights and Brackett, Blair or Smalling in the heavyweight division.

Frosh Going Good

The fastest round in the boxing section will come when Aitken and Bowker exchange blows. These lads have battled five previous bouts, each winning two, and the fifth ending in a draw. Another interesting struggle will be between Muegge and Larson, heavies. These men mix it freely and the bout will be a knock down drag out affair from start to finish.

If Muegge comes through in the wrestling preliminaries he will have the honor of competing in both the wrestling and boxing sections. He is only a freshman but has displayed a brand of fighting that is equal to that of any of his upperclass opponents. Larson is another freshman without any previous experience who has fought his way through to the finals.

To Decide Champ

These bouts are held to determine the all-university champion in each class. It is a safe bet that several of the present title holders will be dethroned because the aspirants to the titles have left nothing undone in their preparations for annexing the coveted championships.

During the entire first quarter, neither team was able to score. The forwards of each team missed shot after shot. The score at the end of the first half was 19 to 2, with Oregon leading.

Janesville displayed a strong comeback in the second period and made a total of 18 points, while field goals by Madsen and Ace tallied 18 points for the Oregonians, when the half ended.

In the overtime period, Ace made a final basket, putting Oregon in to the lead. Folsom retaliated for Janesville, Ace again counted on a pretty shot, and Madsen caged the final field goal of the game, giving Oregon a 24 to 20 win.

APPLETON TRIUMPHS

Appleton eliminated Manitowoc from further titular consideration by winning a hard fought but uninteresting game in the second contest of the championship series by a score of 32 to 14 at the gym yesterday afternoon.

The strong scoring machine from the Lake City completely outclassed the smaller lighter quintet from Manitowoc. The loser played the entire second half without the service of Charles Logan, star forward who is still suffering from an injured leg which he received in the district tournament two weeks ago.

The scoring attack of the Appletonians, led by Scheurle, Cole, and Hornbeck could not be checked by the Manitowoc guards, while the five man defense of the victors held Manitowoc to six field goals. Appleton led at the end of the first half, 17 to 8.

Tompkins Named Head of Sorority Bowling League

The following officers for the new year were elected at a meeting of the sorority bowlers: president, Elizabeth Tompkins '25, vice president Margaret Trumbull '25, secretary-treasurer, Mary Shepard '26.

This year only 11 sororities were represented in the inter-sorority bowling tournament, but according to Miss Tompkins every effort to enlarge this number will be made next year.

"If we don't succeed in obtaining representatives of every sorority, we can at least work up to the record of a few years ago when the number was seventeen. I feel that an organization like this not only fosters an interest in sports but also does much to increase the feeling of good will between the societies participating."

George Berg's Wisconsin Intramural and Independent Intramural basketball leagues are now going full force and are being backed enthusiastically.

Monday, however, they were downed by the Knollins by two points in a hard fought match. The Smiths from the Y. M. C. A. added another win to their list on the same night, the result being a three cornered tie for first place in the league.

All Stars Undefeated

The five teams of the Independent league, on the other hand, are being led by a team with a straight win record. This undefeated five is the All Stars, a squad of men that played in Pelet before their college days.

THE MESSAGE

Students who have been fortunate enough to hear Miss Margaret Quayle, eastern area director of the student friendship fund, speak during the past week are of one opinion as to the seriousness and the danger of conditions in European universities where the new generation is struggling to build order on a foundation arising out of war. The message that she brings from our fellow students there has come home to Wisconsin as nothing else has for several years.

The message is one of hope for permanent peace. If peace is not guaranteed for them they feel that there can be no progress in Europe for years to come. In fact they fear the outbreak of another war.

Under the face of these difficulties, which we would think insurmountable, the university people of Europe are standing by their countries because they believe that the salvation of their countries is in their hands. They do not trust nineteenth century European diplomacy; they want their own voice to be heard. Such courage in the face of all obstacles is bound to accomplish its ends.

A SIGHT FOR SLANDERERS

A little bit of self-praise does not necessarily come amiss, nor is it utterly wrong to call attention to one of the most beautiful and inspiring scenes that the individual could ever hope to see, even though we ourselves constitute that scene. It is a sight that greets our eyes unnoticably every morning at eight o'clock and every hour throughout the day. It is the sight of hundreds and thousands of young men and women thronging the streets for blocks and animating the campus from one end to another. Hundreds and thousands of the finest of the nation's youth, each in the prime of youth, each one filled with all the ardor, the freshness, and the zest of life; each one with a definite goal, striving for something better and greater than that which the mere present has to offer. The beauty of silent Nature cannot compare with that of human life and animation.

When one views such a scene and stops to reflect, the feeling comes that the slanderers of college life have never yet viewed such a sight and grasped its significance, that there is beneath it a greatness and a depth which surpasses the momentary comprehension of man.

A MODERN "IF"

Two students were speaking of a third student, one who is known on this campus. This is the substance of their remarks: "That chap is earning most of his way through college, is getting an average of 90, and is taking part and holding major positions in several outside activities. He is interested in everything even though he is entering(a strictly narrow and limited profession). But even if he is, he has not limited himself to that alone for he has clear conceptions on almost every subject. He can discuss torts and hydrostatics as intelligently as any lawyer or engineer; he is perfectly at home in the discussion of the fine points of a case with a group of law students; he is well read in medical sciences and can discuss soils with any agricultural student; he can define a fugue and discuss harmonics or discuss the theory of relativity if you wish; he is well versed in chemistry and can give the correct entomological classification of any handy bug; he knows the Malthusian Law and the law of monopoly price and can argue behavioristic psychology with any psychologist on the hill; he can quote Chaucer, the Divine Comedy, the Bible, and Homer and he has a fair conception of the Koran, Buddhism, and theosophy; he can tell you all about Mrs. Malaprop, the Valkyries, and Narcissus; he knows of Paul Bunyan and is interested in Andy Gump; and he is well posted on national and state politics. In fact, it is almost impossible to touch something about which he has no clear conception. Moreover, he is not a book worm, he is popular with the fellows, and he likes to fuss. Nobody regards him as amounting to any more than anybody else. One thing sure, that man has an education."

In this age of specialization and limitation of interests, that student stands out as a splendid example of what a man should do for himself. He may never amount to any more than the rest of us so far as the world measures success, but that means nothing. He has obtained that for which so many of us strive but fail to get because we centralize our interests on some little point.

Writer Deplores Lack of Interest in Friendship Drive

By RAYMOND BASSETT '25

The convocation of students for the "Friendship fund" did not prove that the students in our university are more or less interested in the drive that is being conducted on our campus. Personally I was rather disappointed to see 760 students out of nearly 8,000. The showing was rather poor, as poor as the amount contributed up to date. Other universities have contributed about $5,000 each. So far we have given $1,500. Today is the last day of the drive and it is our opportunity to give as little as we can to the starving European students. I am sure we can raise more money if we only want to. I was asked to write about mine and other students' experiences in Europe. It is not a pleasant thing to do and it is unnecessary after the lectures which have been delivered lately by Frau Adel Schriber, Dr. Alice Salomon, Prof. Paul Rohrbach, and after the very meagre convocation at which Miss Margaret Quayle spoke on the conditions of European students in general. My experiences are not pleasant to be talked about and there is nothing to be proud of. I wish I would have never gone through the mass of misfortunes that I met before I came to this country. I am one of the fortunate few that came to America, and found work, and were enabled to continue their studies in very pleasant surroundings. But not all of the European students can come, and it is our duty to help them while they are abroad.

Some of our men and women may ask, "Why—why don't they work?" There is no work for them in Germany, in Austria, in Cheko-Slovakia, in Poland, the labor unions are against them and say that family men are first to be given employment. And so the students are unable to find work, though they are willing to do anything for very little. I have a brother in Hamburg, Germany. He is a medical student and up until now I had to help him financially. At present he is operating a "hot dog" stand in the street near the university, but how many students can cook "frankfurters"? Somehow he makes ends meet and I am a little relieved.

The situation is bad and it is we American students that have to do our share. Very few of our students were abroad and they seem to lack the knowledge of the conditions of their brothers and sisters. Those who were there know what we can and what we ought to do.

"Sitii golodnavo ne rasumeet," says a Russian proverb, which means, "The one that had his meal is unable to understand the hungry". We have our meals and we are able to support the hungry abroad. A dollar and a half will feed a student a month. A little, very little sacrifice on our part will bring happiness and courage to many men and women. Are not we going to help?

Very few American students ate their bread in sorrow, and I hope they will never have to, but they can have the understanding and sympathy with the thousands of hungry students for whom the Students' Friendship Fund is established.

Today is the last day of the campaign. Are we going to be disinterested witnesses of the greatest calamity the world has ever known? Are not we going to respond? Yes, we will give all we can and the students of the University of Wisconsin will do their duty. The reward and moral satisfaction will be immeasurable. Let me hope that the call of Miss Quayle will be answered.

Type lab is one of the best examples of the modern sweat shop which we have on the hill. Although there are many intelligent faces in the class, we were quite shocked the other day when our professor announced that Blanks were Blanks whether they were bold-faced or light faced.

Since then we have been wondering whether he was referring to type or merely humans—you never can tell in that class. It may not be all Greek but it is all French.

OOLONG

The Reader's Say-So

KLAN SUGGESTIONS

Editor, The Cardinal:

I have been very much interested in reading the discussions of the Ku Klux Klan in the Cardinal, and I must say the defenders of the same have presented the better arguments so far. Only the last communication, pointing out how the Ku Klux Klan in its very constitution stood for race enslavement and its dire consequences ("the supremacy of the white race") gave something besides mere ravings.

I should urge the opponents of the Klan to take up the challenge that its defenders have thrown down to them, to study the question impartially as our human nature will permit us, and then, if they are still of the same opinion, to state their case based on facts and sound reasoning. As for the defenders of the same, I should like them to think over again carefully whether the Klan's ideals are really the highest possible; whether "America for Americans" is as harmless as it sounds; whether it does not rather mean that we are shutting the door Mother Countries of Europe have gained in the course of bitter experience and hard struggles of mind and body, not to mention the treasures that the Oriental nations with their ancient civilizations, or the Semitic race, from whom we once got a religion, may have to give to us; whether exactly this policy,

Because of the fact that there are communications on other subjects which should be printed as soon as possible, no communication on the Ku Klux Klan will be printed in the Readers' Say-So unless it reaches the office of The Cardinal before five o'clock this afternoon.

"China for the Chinese" did not produce the stone walls of Peking and stagnation; and finally whether there is a great difference between the theories expressed by the motto, "America for Americans," and those of militarism. To what extent are the Klan's ideals compatible with those of the Protestant church (or the Catholic Church) whose leader said, "Love all men (even the Samaritan, clearly not a native-born Jew or a 100-per center) as thyself?" I wish every Clansman or defender of the same would seriously think about these things.

One other suggestion,—if, indeed, your theories are sound, your ideals high, your intentions honorable, do not be too hard on the public, who naturally are suspicious of all secrecy, and inclined to believe all things that are apparently afraid to show themselves in the open, to be much worse than they really are.

Sincerely yours,
L. C.

WAR AND PEACE

Editor, The Cardinal:

At a committee meeting of students the other day, in which I participated, the topic of conversation turned to Cardinal editorials. The consensus of opinion was decidedly complimentary.

Your editorial "Meeting War with War" was particularly appropriate and docs you credit. You seem to have a comprehensive grasp of the militaristic rot which deluges our American press. More power to you!

WOMEN NOT USING FREEDOM--DITTMER

Sociology Professor Says Advantages of Position Neglected

That married women are not utilizing their new found freedom to the best advantage was the core of the talk given by Prof. C. G. Dittmer of the economics department on "Marriage" at the First Baptist church Sunday night.

"The woman of today is not playing the role that the woman of our mothers' time did," he declared. "She spends most of her time gadding to clubs and playing games. We do not want to deprive her of any of her modern household time-savers, but she must find some useful way to use her new found freedom."

Although puppy love and petting parties were all right in their way, he said that, not until after the altar vow, did real love take place.

He gave this advice to the men: "When you marry her, love her. After you marry her, study her; when she is blue, comfort her; when talkative, listen to her; if she dresses well compliment her and when she does you a favor, kiss her; when she is jealous cure her, and when she looks pretty, tell her so; if dinner is cold, eat it, not her; let her feel how well you understand her, but never let her know she isn't boss."

And to the women: "If he is secretive, trust him; if sad cheer him; and when he deserves it, kiss him; if he favors society, accompany him, if he cares not for pleasure, coax him; let him think how well you understand him, but never let him know that you manage him."

Inez Erickson
Elopes With an
Eau Claire Man

Cupid robbed the University of Wisconsin class of 1925 of one of its woman members when it was learned yesterday that Miss Inez Erickson, junior in letters and science, was married in St. Paul Saturday to Perry P. Wilt-gen branch manager of the Holland Furnace company at Eau Claire.

Only one person is believed to have known of Miss Erickson's plans to give up her school work and become a bride. She had prepared her topics for the remainder of the school year and had kept up her work at the university. News of her marriage was received in telegrams to members of her family and a letter to her chum, Miss Thelma Melas, 528 West Washington avenue.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Erickson, 116 West Gorham street, are now at Argyle, their former home.

Mr. Wilt-gen formerly was in the employ of the Holland Furnace company here and was transferred to managership of the Eau Claire office at the beginning of 1924. They will make their home in Eau Claire, it was announced today, and Mrs. Wilt-gen will not continue her work at the university.

PROFESSOR GILLIN TO

It may seem paradoxical to instruct Madison women how to become better housewives and at the same time encourage them to take a more active participation in public affairs outside their homes. But the Madison Woman's club makes home economics and civics instruction complementary. That is, it offers home help in order that Madison women will be freer from domestic duties and at the same time not neglect their firesides. Of such

LA VERN ACTORS GIVE $200 FOR BEST U. W. PLAY

By CHATTY

The Dorothy Le Vern stock company which has been playing at the Orpheum theater for nearly two weeks and which will continue through the major part of the summer is offering a $200 prize for the best play submitted by a student of the university.

There are no conditions for the contest except that it is open to students only and that it will close on the last day of this academic year. Al Jackson, manager of the stock company and one of the actors says that the company will put on the play which is accepted and will take care of all the staging.

If the play is enough of a success it will be called to the attention of New York producers and may perhaps receive a metropolitan hearing.

Some students may feel that they have a good enough plot but they would be weak when it came to writing the dialogue. When Chatty mentioned this difficulty to Jackson the answer was that help would gladly be given on the dialogue or any other feature of the play with which the writer might have difficulty. Any student who is at all interested in this proposition is urged to visit the Orph some afternoon and talk the matter over with Jackson.

Lately a great many plays by university students and graduates have been produced and have received tremendous success. Paul Dickie who wrote "The Misleading Lady" graduated only a year or two ago from one of the country's universities. Cleves Kincaid, who made such a hit with "Common Clay" graduated from Harvard recently. He has just written another play. "In Love With Love" is another similar product. Our own Zona Gale has achieved success about which most of us know.

At all events, the offer may open up great opportunities to students interested in writing. The play, by the way, should be preferably a comedy or comedy-drama—at least something that has a popular appeal.

"The Eternal Three" Is Average Picture

"THE ETERNAL THREE"

Presented at the Madison.

Featuring Hobart Bosworth, Claire Windsor, Raymond Griffith and Bessie Love.

Directed by Marshall Neilan and Frank Urson.

Produced by Goldwyn-Cosmopolitan.

By L. E. F.

This play by Marshall Neilan is no more different from the average movie on the same theme than is its title. It has the same situations and arguments, with perhaps a little diversion thrown in by means of minor complications. There are a few scenes of luxury and beauty that make it attractive, though these are so common in movies now that it takes an extraordinary setting to excite any real admiration.

As a picture, in comparison with others on the same order that we have seen, we consider it good. The acting is good enough to keep interest alive thanks largely to Raymond Griffith, who puts enough life into the play to balance the sedateness of his co-stars. As a dramatic art form, the play fails to delve very deeply into its problem or to reveal anything of character or human understanding and emotion. It is entirely on the surface, skin deep and is in no sense an analysis of the psychology and character traits that are at the root of the eternal triangle problem.

Recently Miss Lawrence broadcasted one of her songs to London and for the benefit of the Prince of Wales, it is said, who promised her he would listen in.

The story is that of a distinguished surgeon who neglects his young wife because of his devotion to his work for humanity. His adopted son, a spoiled and reckless youth, usurps the affections of the lonely woman, and their elopement is pre-

MOONLIGHT HAS COMPETITION IN MADISON SHOWS

By H. E. R.

The warm breaths of Spring may tempt us all to keep outside and watch the moonlight nights next week, but Madison theater owners have a list of temptations that will have to be thought over twice before rejected.

The Strand has booked Richard Talmadge in a thriller called "Let's Go," that will attract considerable attention. Supporting him are Eileen Percy and Tully Marshall in this "thrill a minute and a laugh with everythrill" picture that will be shown from Sunday to Wednesday.

"Flowing Gold," a picture that has been eagerly awaited by movie fans will be shown from Wednesday to Sunday. This is a Rex Beach story, and has much to do with flaming hearts and blazing oil wells.

The Parkway will bring back heart-breaking Gloria Swanson in "Society Scandal," a Paramount production. Advance news that we have on this picture states that it is the best that she has ever played in.

The Madison theater will show another picture with the star of the "Merry Go-Round," Mary Philbin will be supported by Pat O'Malley and Charles Murray in "Fool's Highway," a picture whose scenes are laid in the Bowery of New York.

Norma Talmadge is coming to the Majestic the first four days of the week in a second showing of the "Isle of Conquest." The last half of the week will be featured by the appearance of Mae Marsh in an English comedy melodrama called "Patty, Next Best Thing."

The Dorothy LaVern Players will produce their version of "Potash and Perlmutter," at the Orpheum and from all reports it will be very cleverly handled and humorous.

The aims, ambitions and beliefs of Daniel Gilchrist, the clergyman, in Channing Pollock's play, "The Fool," recalls what Elbert Hubbard once said—"I truly believe that one great, independent soul in every community would make over the world." It would require more than a single Gilchrist, however, at this time in Washington to start the ball rolling at its source.

vented only through the intervention of the brother of a girl whom the boy has earlier wronged. Reconciliations then take place. Incidentally, the picture is dedicated to all physicians and surgeons.

The back stage "Our Gang" comedy probably appeals to some people as being clever and "cute" but for humor it may be judged by the fact that the audience laughed only twice throughout its showing.

Upstage Bits

By TORMENTOR

Last night we had Mrs. Marion Craig Wentworth in Music hall. This has surely been a dramatic season at Wisconsin.

The ice is breaking up and it is about time for some dramatic events on the lake. "A Shipwreck at Sea" is a good title for a submerged iceboat.

The Orpheum is to be commended for its plan to hold a contest for the best play to be written by a student. One of the best things that a stock company can do for a town is to encourage the development of original dramatic talent.

The Dorothy LaVern stock company will stage and produce the winning play and endeavor to place it in New York.

The reward to the winner is whispered to be $200. Zenobia tried to make me keep that secret so she could get a good head start, but now she mutters, "foiled."

Miss Ann Thrope certainly is a baskful person. Anyone who could attack Heywood Brown with her vigor certainly out to be brave enough to come around and introduce herself. We might even hire her. (At the same wages we are getting.)

"By" Rivers made a mistake the other morning and had a skirt instead of trousers half on before he noticed it.

Child Actor is Only Star in Poor Film

"HALF-A-Dollar Bill"

Presented at the Majestic.

Featuring Anita Q. Nilsson.

Produced by Graf.

By D. M. L.

"Half-a-Dollar Bill," a tale of the sea, is supposed to feature Anna Q. Nilsson, but she falls far short of being a star. The picture, with the exception of a cunning little boy named Frank Darro, is devoid of any good acting, and has an impossible plot.

Anna Q. Nilsson, as the mother forced to give up her baby because of poverty, weeps all over the picture, and otherwise attempts to register pathos. Raymond Hatton, as a sea salt, is the next ranking star to Frankie Darro, and he, as usual, does good work.

William T. Carleton is the rather gruff but nevertheless sentimental sea captain, and the best thing he does is scrap with all the villains, and always come out the winner. The picture had two superb villains who steal the child and who accord-

"JUDGMENT OF THE STORM"

Presented at the Strand.

Featuring Lloyd Hughes

Produced by First National.

By H. J. B.

Spectacular snow scenes in "Judgment of the Storm," are actually filmed in the blizzards and snowslides of the High Sierras equal if not surpass those in "Way Down East." Lloyd Hughes, as John Trevor, plays his best, and he is gaining fast favor before the public these days. Myrtle Stedman, plays opposite as John's mother, with all the fascination she can master in this familiar role. The supporting cast is effective with artists like Lucille Rickson the "Girl" and George Hackathorn, the "villyun."

A flavor of real life rather than the customary stage stuff is what makes the picture and makes the tender-hearted in the audience shed tears. When John's passionate mother-love is blasted in the discovery that she is the owner of New York's biggest gambling house, and thus indirectly responsible for the accidental shooting of his best friend and sweetheart's brother, there are more tears.

ing to all traditions are beautifully done away with.

Two dogs make the picture quite a "doggy" affair, and play a rather too-important part in outwitting the villains. The picture had an impossible plot, with less than the usual number of sea scenes, with the usual brawls and little else to credit it.

FULLER RECEIVES FISHER EXPOSURE

Letter to History Professor Declares Pro-British Propaganda is False

A communication was received yesterday by Prof. Joseph V. Fuller of the history department calling his attention to the fact that information regarding the pro-British propaganda expressed by the Union of Democratic Control of Great Britain under the guise of the Emergency Foreign Policy Conference of American Producers is incorrect. The writer, Arthur Fisher, points out that the Union is short of funds and could not issue any printing matter regarding its policy.

The communication follows:

My Dear Mr. Fuller,

A recent letter to the press of Madison signed by yourself has been called to my attention in which you express suspicion of the possibility of pro-British propaganda under the cloak of the Emergency Foreign Policy Conference of American Producers. Your suspicions on the European problem are apparently aroused by the circulation of a statement of the European problem drawn up by the Union of Democratic Control of Great Britain.

I am glad to have an opportunity to give you the facts on this matter. Some six months ago my attention happened to be called to the statement in question, published in Foreign Affairs by E. D. Morel, which I had picked up on the table of the City club of Chicago.

I was so impressed with the forcefulness of the statement and by the fact that the authors including several of the cabinet which had subsequently come into power in Great Britain, that I at once wrote to Foreign Affairs and asked if they could send me a number of copies. At the same time I enclosed a number of copies of the program and policies of the Emergency Foreign Policy conference of American producers of which I have been a director and offered to exchange courtesies.

In response I received a small quantity of the statements of the Union, together with a letter stating that the Union was so short of funds the printing of these statements had been done at a sacrifice. A few of these statements were sent to Madison and were doubtless the ones which came to your attention.

I make this explanation at this length to illustrate how easy it is for unfounded suspicions to be aroused and un-ated. As I take it your own position is quite in accord with the program of the Emergency Foreign Policy Conference of American Producers, I will not say anything as to this except that the original group around which the organization first started was composed of a few persons very close to Senator La Follette, including members of his family, who had long been associated with the farmer-labor movement and progressive groups in America. Several of the early members of the group were members of the farmer-labor bloc of the United States Senate who had been in Europe last summer and had seen the situation there at first hand.

I am sure either the secretary, Charles A. Lyman, Lenox building, Washington, D. C., or Basil M. Manley, treasurer, would be glad at any time to supply you with other information.

Very truly yours
ARTHUR FISHER.

Next Year, What?

COMMENCEMENT days are not far off. They will be here sooner than you realize. What's ahead of you? Will you spend next year as an apprentice in business, or will you use it to fit yourself for leadership. In a few years some of your class will be influential leaders occupying positions of great responsibility; others will be placed in minor roles—living from hand to mouth. Thus far you have made a splendid investment of your time. What will you do now? Have you chosen business for your life work? If so, and if you seek leadership in the commercial world, here are facts worthy of your deepest consideration.

The principles of leadership in business are not many in number. They are not hard to grasp. Yet less than two men in a hundred ever learn them.

The two chief reasons for this failure are: (1)—lack of an all-round business experience. (2)—the difficulty of drawing sound conclusions from the relatively few experiences that any one person can have.

A Study of Leaders

Through your studies thus far you have created for yourself a substantial background—a foundation upon which you can build high. Why not use this foundation in the largest possible way? If you are truly ambitious for steady and permanent progress, it will be well for you—in addition to your undergraduate work to consider the advisability of special training to cut off years of apprenticeship in the business world. The training is available at Babson Institute—organized under the Educational laws of Massachusetts, and not operated for profit.

Every man who hopes to be a leader in the business world needs special training—a training that can be had only from actual experience. A study of the successful business men of today shows they are those who have—(1)—a fundamental knowledge of business principles; (2)—a faculty for the practical application of those principles to daily business life.

These tried and proven principles, this gift for application may now be yours.

The Business of Learning Business

The specialists of Babson Institute have spent years in business research, laboratory work, and the study of the lives of successful men. They have arrived at the fundamentals which every one must have to achieve leadership in business. These vitally important facts have been put together in clear, understandable form and concentrated into an intensive one-year training course. Babson Institute, a creative educational institution, is conducted for the purpose of training young men who are to occupy positions of responsibility and trust.

This Laboratory Method

Since it is the purpose of Babson Institute to train men for business, all work and all study is conducted in the same manner as work is conducted in any regularly established business house. For instance, there are regular office hours not merely school hours. Lessons and reports are dictated by the student as in an office—not written. Thus the student acquires a mastery of business English and the ability to transform quickly his thoughts into definite form.

Teaching in Conference

Classes are conducted on the conference plan. The teachers, or directors as they are more properly called, are experienced business men, successful in their own line. Factory inspection trips are not merely walks through a plant, but are personally conducted trips by experts in that particular industry. The problems discussed are present-day ones and are drawn from actual experience. They are the same problems on which America's keenest executives are seeking the assistance of the largest organization of business advisers in the world. The student at Babson Institute works on actual cases—not hypothetical problems—and consequently he develops the business man's point of view.

Business Clinics

The student at Babson Institute learns to do the things he will be expected to do in business by constant contact with actual business procedure. He participates in the clinic instead of sitting in a class. The training covers the major divisions of business, Manufacturing and Production, Financing, Distribution and Marketing, and Management.

If you are anxious for achievement, if, by inheritance or initiative, you seem destined to become a leader in business, send for particulars about this training and its unusual teaching methods.

TRAINING FOR BUSINESS LEADERSHIP

Send for this Booklet!
