WINTER WORK IN ATHLETICS

SEVERAL INDOOR CONTESTS FOR THIS TERM.

PROGRAM OF THE EVENTS AND CONTESTS.

Weights for the Wrestling and Sparring Contests.

Arrangements are being made for a series of in-door athletic meets for the winter. The events are arranged so as to give every man who wants to try for the exhibitions a fair chance. Events of all kinds have been arranged and great interest is manifested among those who are preparing them, to make them popular and interesting to all. The contests are to take place at the gymnasium on successive Saturday evenings throughout February and March. Three medals will be given at the end of the contest, the first going to the person who scores the most points in all the contests; this will declare him the best allround athlete of the university. The other medals are given to the men who come next. The events commence, Saturday evening, Feb. 2, and will follow probably in this order:

Feb. 2.—40 yard Dash, 16 pound shot, standing broad jump, hitch and kick, 40 yard hurdle, 600 yard run, 1 1/2 mile walk.

Feb. 9.—1 lap run, 12 pound shot, standing high jump, running high kick, 2 mile run, trials in wrestling.

Feb. 16.—2 lap run, 14 pound shot, running high jump, pole vault, 1 lap hurdle, 1 mile walk, trial in sparring.

Feb. 21.—Mid winter meet.

Mar. 2.—40 yard dash, 56 pound weight, running broad jump, standing high jump, 1 mile run, 9 lap walk.

Mar. 9.—1 lap run, 16 pound shot, 3 standing jump, running high jump, 2 lap hurdles.

Mar. 16.—3 lap run, 56 pound weight, hop, step and jump, running broad jump, 40 yard hurdles, 2 mil run, 6 lap walk.

Mar. 23.—2 lap run, 14 pound shot, double footkick, pole vault, 1 lap hurdle, 1 mile walk, 40 yard dash.

Trials in wrestling, sparring, fencing will be held during the later part of February. Trial will be contested Feb. 21st. 1895.

The weights are as follows:

Wrestling: light, below 135; Welter, 135—145; Middle, 145—158; Heavy over 158.

Sparring: Light, Under 133; Welter, 133—144; Middle, 144—150; Heavy, over 150.

WOMAN'S LEAGUE.

An Enthusiastic Meeting—What the League Is.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Woman's League was held at Ladies' hall yesterday afternoon. Though the attendance was very encouraging a large number of the women of the university was conspicuous only by their absence and it has been suggested that those not present were probably not aware of the purpose of the League.

Roughly stated the aims of the Woman's League are to form a union of the women students of the university, which may be convened at any time when matters of importance should come before them; to assist in various ways the freshmen girls upon their arrival at the university and to keep in contact with the life and thought of the women of other colleges by means of a circulating letter. Social entertainment will also be provided by the League for its members and the latter will thus be enabled to become better acquainted with each other. It is hoped that every woman in the university will join the League; the only qualification necessary is that she be an enrolled member of the student body of the university.

Much indignation was given expression to by those attending the meeting in regard to the manner in which the rights of the girls have been set aside in the matter of their exclusion from the use of the new gymnasium.

The women of the university, though a large and in their own eyes at least, however strange it may seem to others, an important factor of the university, have been calmly treated as a nonentity, and their petition for the use of the gymnasium to which they have clearly a right has been ignored. The question agitating the women is not merely whether they shall, as they strongly desire, have the use of the gymnasium or not but the larger one as to whether they shall stand weakly by and be treated with manifest injustice or shall assert their rights. This cannot be done by a few however much in earnest they may be but requires the united action of all the women.

There will be another meeting of the Woman's League as soon as possible and this matter will be given further consideration. The time and place of meeting will be announced in The Cardinal. Now it is clearly the duty of every woman who possesses any college spirit, any regard for the reputation of her Alma Mater, to be present at that meeting.

U. OF P. WILL CHALLENGE HARVARD.

It is said that Pennsylvania will challenge the varsity eight to a 4-mile race, to take place the coming season. The official challenge has not been received by the college athletic authorities as yet. There is much doubt as to the acceptance of such an invitation by the Harvard Boat Club. In the event of failure in the Harvard direction, Pennsylvania will endeavor to secure a race with Columbia. In case of failure there she will probably put a freshman crew on the water and row the Cornell freshmen. Just what kind of a varsity crew she will have is very uncertain.—Harvard Daily News.

Prof. Barnes is at Shullsburg inspecting the High School at that place.

Prof. Olson will deliver two lectures at Whitewater next Tuesday under the auspices of the Normal school.

FOR A GIRLS' GYMNASIUM

PETITION PRESENTED TO THE REGENTS.

CONDITION OF THE PRESENT GYMNASIUM.

Present Arrangements very Inadequate.

About two months ago new clubs, dumb-bells, wands and a measuring apparatus were placed in the gymnasium in Ladies' Hall. There is now enough apparatus to accommodate the classes but there is not room enough for all. The work is required of both sophomore and freshmen young ladies, but as the room is used two afternoons in the week for musical purposes the remaining four afternoons are not enough to accommodate the number of small divisions and the freshmen with a very few sophomores are able to take the work.

There can be only twenty-five in the largest classes and some of the work has to be done at very inconvenient hours, as for instance, in the morning and evening. The girls are agitating the subject and the first move to a new gymnasium was made Tuesday, when a number of young ladies presented a well signed petition to the board of regents; then in session. The petition was to the effect that the men had been cared for by a new and spacious gymnasium and Randall's Field; the gymnasium for the use of young ladies was wholly inadequate; and why should they not have the same advantages as the young men? The matter was well received by the board and a committee of investigation came to the Hall and saw the work of a class and some of its inconveniences. Nothing definite has been done by the board of regents but every student and especially the girls, should do all they can toward a new gymnasium for the use of the young ladies.

ATHENA'S BLOWOUT.

Arrangements Completed—Debaters and Officers Elected.

In accordance with the call issued by the committee appointed by Pres. Rohn, the freshmen of Athnae met in their hall yesterday afternoon and made arrangements for their Blowout exercises. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Sheldon, president of the committee, who in a few words gave the purposes of the annual freshman Blowout. Officers were elected as follows:

H. G. Forrest, president.

J. E. Davies, orator.

K. E. Enteman, essayist.

J. W. Marshall, toaster.

Leaders of debates, John Day, Otto Bosshard, T. S. Morris, and A. C. Shong.

There will be two debates with four men on each side. The placing of the debaters is left to a committee composed of the president, orator and essayist. The Blowout exercises will come off about the middle of the spring term.

LAW CLASSES MEET.

Seniors Elect Officers—Juniors Discuss Badger Cut.

The Junior Law class held a very stormy meeting to-day to consider the proposition of the Badger board to have a picture of the foot-ball team inserted in the coming Badger. It was voted that the board is welcome to the picture if they desire it, which in effect means that the class is unwilling to appropriate $15.00 for the insertion asked for by the board.

At the Senior Law class meeting to-day the following officers were unanimously elected: Pres., G. W. Bunge; Vice Pres., A. R. Smith; Sec., Sol. Simon; Treas., R. Christianson; Chief Justice, Baker; Associate Justices J. F. Dougherty, and Andrew Sees. The committed on the publication of theses reported and it was decided that the theses of the class be published in the form of a report. Money was also voted for the purpose of getting the picture of the senior foot ball team inserted in the Badger.

NEW LIBRARY RULES.

The crowded condition of the reading room has made it necessary to adopt the following rules regarding the use of the gallery alcoves in the library:

1. Students are not allowed in the gallery without permission.

2. Only advanced students in subjects whose literature is shelved in the upper alcoves are expected to use those alcoves for purposes of study. To such readers as are fairly entitled to this privilege, cards of admission will be issued on application to the librarian. This regulation applies to all students, including those who now have a verbal permission to use the gallery for purposes of study.

3. Books taken from the lower alcoves to the gallery must be returned to the book table on the main floor after use.

4. Books taken from the shelves in the gallery are to be left on the small tables where used and not returned to the shelves.

COMMUNICATION.

To the Editor of the Cardinal: In last night's issue you printed an editorial on the chances of the university in the coming athletic meet at Chicago. It said that the University of Illinois had secured the services of Harry Cornish for trainer for this year athletic team. I do not know where the information came from, but a day or two since Mr. Cornish took pains to correct this statement through the columns of the Inter Ocean: saying, "He had no intention of leaving Chicago to train any college team."

Now, as to the team here. The article stated that "They must have a first class trainer as soon as possible, certainly as soon as the spring term, who can devote his time exclusively to them." I agree with that thoroughly, but wish to say that it seems unnecessary to look further for such. The team has already the services of one of the most competent men in the west. Mr. Everett has given his time and attention for the past nine years to this work. He has visited many similar institutions for training, he has managed several, and to the writer's knowledge with great credit, he has trained not a few noted athletes and is considered an expert gymnast. It does not require a man who can pole vault eleven feet to train and develop a good vaulter; neither does it require a good runner to develop a good sprinter. There may be advantages in having such men but the real quality in a trainer is that he be able to pick out the weak points of the man, put him in condition and see that he has only such exercise as is most needed to develop him. Both Prof. Elsom and Mr. Everett are deeply interested in this year's team and willing to do all that is possible to put good men forward and see that they get proper care and development. The experience of the football team should be evidence of their ability. That team was with but two exceptions the same as the season before, but its condition was very much changed, to be sure, the coaching was excellent but good coaching would have gone but little way if the men had not the proper training. Mr. Everett is not a foot ball trainer, but his experience in training track men is worth a great deal to the coming team, and the men would do well to recognize it. As to the time; Prof. Elsom has taken charge of, the base ball men and boat crew besides the regular work, in order that Mr. Everett might give his time to the track men and later in the work, probably by the middle of May all work in the gymnasium will be stopped, and the work of both will be centered on the team. If the track men need more attention before that it might be well to get a man to aid in the work, but the writer believes Mr. Everett to be thoroughly capable, and is willing to work hard for the men.

ROWING IN ENGLAND.

By the kindness of one of our rowing men the Sun is in possession of a file of the well-known English paper, The Field, containing accounts of all the principal regattas of last year in England and Ireland. One who reads them must come to the conclusion that they do little else on the other side during the whole summer but row or watch other people row. It would take too much space even to give a list of the important regattas between the colleges of the universities, at the schools, and among the numberless rowing-clubs, to say nothing of the races between the universities themselves. There are few days during the summer when one could not witness an important race somewhere in the kingdom, if one were so inclined.

In this country the papers are full of accounts of the training of a few crews leading up to three or four races of importance, but over there they are racing nearly all the time, and great events are frequent. The greatest of all, however, is the Royal Henley Regatta, and toward this, even in the midst of the other regattas, attention is frequently directed as to one of unique importance. Last year it occurred on July 4, 5 and 6, and on June 16 The Field said: "It is hard to realize, with the inclement weather we have been experiencing, that Henley Regatta is close upon us, but most of the crews which will compete there are by this time in strict training," and then follow the names of the men who will compose the different crews. From this time on the first heading on "Rowing" page is "Henley Royal Regatta," and comments on the personnel and daily practice of the various crews follow. A favorite style of practice is given in the issue of June 30 as "the now fashionable minute rest, which was inaugurated two or three years ago. Starting opposite the tow path above Fawley Court, inside the piles on the Berkshire side of the river, the object is to go as far beyond Bushey Gate—the next one nearer Henley—as possible in 60 sec. So far the London Rowing Club Grand Challenge Cup eight has been the most successful. Pulling as many as forty-three strokes in the first time and going well, without any scrambling, the crew reached the first pile beyond it." The crews practice morning and afternoon, all of the practice against the current. In the issue of July 7 appears the account of the great regatta, from which the following is clipped: "Glorious weather was experienced on Wednesday, July 4, the sun shining brilliantly all day, and there being little or no wind to speak of. Rather a strong stream was running, so no very fast times were accomplished, but there was some exceedingly interesting racing."

In 1893 eight crews started in the Grand Challenge Cup race, necessitating six trial heats; last year there were only four, so that both the trial heats were rowed on the first day. The first was between the Leander and London Rowing Clubs. They rowed 21 and 22 strokes respectively in the first 30 sec. and 41 and 42 in the minute. Toward the last, Leander dropped to 36 and finished the race easily, rowing "evenly and well, contenting themselves with winning by one length. Time, 7 min. 18 sec." The next heat was between Thames Rowing Club and Trinity Hall Boat Club, Cambridge. "Going off smartly Trinity Hall took the lead, rowing 21 and 42 strokes in the first half and full minute, to the 21 and 41 of Thames." They gained a lead of half a length, pulling 40 to the minute to Thames 38. Then the strength in the Thames boat began to tell and Trinity was gradually overtaken and passed, Thames rowing 38 and then 36 strokes to the minute winning easily by a quarter of a length in 7 min. 14 sec.

"The glorious weather of the previous day was repeated on Thursday and everyone was asking whether the Henley rainstorms had been mislaid. The attendance was much larger than on the opening day, and the boats on the river were a greater nuisance than ever. The day's racing was a good one, although there were few close finishes, and the times were slow, for which perhaps the foul wind is responsible."

On Friday "the brilliant weather continued, with the wind across the river, however, and of greater force. The racing commenced at half-past twelve o'clock with the final heat for the Grand Challenge Cup, between the Leander Club on the Bucks, and the Thames Club on the tow-path side, to windward. The crews had had Thursday for rest and it was a magnificent struggle all the way, the boats being close together the whole distance. Both started rowing 21 and 41 strokes in the first half and full minute respectively." Thames led at first but it was a struggle back and forth, first one and then the other ahead by a few feet. At Tawley Court Boathouse (half way), Thames was three feet ahead. Time, 3 min. 34 sec. "Leander then spurted to 40 strokes a minute, Thames rowing 39, and once more gained the lead," and finally both crews being "much done up," Leander, "spurting, gained slowly with every stroke, notwithstanding all the desperate efforts of Thames, and won by half a length in 7 min. 22 sec."

The three heats described, it must be remembered, form but one race out of a number in the regatta. There were besides, during the three days, races for the Diamond Challenge Sculls, seven trial heats and a final, the Wyfold Challenge Cup for fours, four heats and a final, Visitors' Challenge Cup for fours, the Thames Challenge Cup for eights, the Ladies' Challenge Plate for eights, the Stewards' Challenge Cup for fours, and the Silver Goblets for Pair-oars, all with numerous heats before the final.—Cornell Sun.
