Draft-eligible students who live too far away to leave school for physical examinations and would like to take them in Madison should write and instruct the local draft board to send their credentials to Dane county board No. 2.

The draft board physical exams, although they are being held in the student clinic, are not conducted by the student health department, but rather by the Dane County Medical society and the Dane County Dental society acting as clinic teams.

Dykstras, Students Get Acquainted

Dykstras Celebrate Fourth Anniversary at Wisconsin

It was just four years ago yesterday that Pres. and Mrs. Clarence A. Dykstra took over the reigns of the University of Wisconsin from Prexy-Pro Tem G. C. Sellery, who in turn had succeeded the late Glenn Frank. The Dykstras came from Cincinnati where the former political science professor had gained prestige as city manager in time of flood. In the short years since that day in May, 1937, when they set up temporary housekeeping in the Memorial Union, the Dykstras have won a sure place in the heart of every Wisconsinite.

From the ever-popular teas and lawn receptions, like that pictured above, down through able administration of faculty and student affairs, to effective "fronting" for the university, they have played their parts in the Wisconsin drama exceedingly well. Now in recent months the campus has lent to the whole nation the services of its president, son of a Dutch preacher. He it was who was chosen to launch the first peace-time draft in U. S. history. Since, he has been transferred to the chairmanship of the national mediation board.

President Dykstra celebrated his campus birthday last night by attending the Daily Cardinal banquet in Tripp commons of the Memorial Union. He was presented with a gold Cardinal key in token of his championship of a free student press during his years here. Asked what kind of a birthday he was having, the tall, brown man who is affectionately known by his student (Continued on page 8)

Gogarty Praises And Describes Yeats as Friend

With typical Irish humor, but with an intimate understanding of his subject, Dr. Oliver St. John Gogarty, Irish poet and friend of William Butler Yeats described Yeats as a poet who "dressed the part and looked the part and was a man you could slap on the back" in his lecture in 165 Bascom hall Wednesday evening, under the auspices of the department of Gaelic.

Dr. Gogarty was a close friend of Yeats during the latter's life. He recited some of the poet's works as Yeats recited them himself.

"Yeats composed with the greatest agony," said Dr. Gogarty. "He would walk up and down with his hands behind him, muttering to himself. He was bringing out of the depths of his being the rhythm, rhyme, and sense that went to make his poetry. The sense arose out of the harmony and juxtaposition of these words."

Yeats' philosophy was the philosophy of Plato. "All this is just a world of appearance. The real thing is somewhere behind it," he would say to Dr. Gogarty.

"The sensitiveness, the transcendentalism of his younger day has been utterly unmatched in the English language," said Dr. Gogarty in praise of his friend. "John Masefield, present poet laureate of England, once said of Yeats, 'He is the man to whom I owe everything.'"

Seek Clothes Sketches In Designing Contest

Sketches for designs of campus clothes, which "most appropriately reflect the spirit and character of the typical girl of that college" will be examined within the next four months in a nation-wide contest to commemorate New York's being the fashion center of the world.

A free scholarship for the six weeks' summer course at the Traphagen School of Fashion, New York, will be awarded the winning applicant from each college.

The contest is being sponsored by Ethel Traphagen, publisher of Fashion Digest, New York. She aims to discover the 25 college women who show the most promise of making an original contribution to American fashions, and to award each the opportunity to study for a professional career.

Plans for making this year's Parents' weekend the best ever are being handled by these 14 co-chairmen, under the direction of General Chairmen Mickey Schiff and Joe Barnett. Mixing business with pleasure, the co-chairmen and their committees are meeting this afternoon at 4 in the Union for a coke-fest to talk over final plans.

Parents' weekend opens May 23 with a track meet with the University of Notre Dame. During the afternoon seniors with high scholastic ranking will be cited at the all-university honors convocation.

Friday night the finals in the university tournament of song will be held on the Union terrace. Saturday is a round of receptions, sporting events, and tours climaxed in the Parents' banquet. Sunday will feature the combined university orchestra and civic choruses in the Union theater.

Parents' weekend is held every year on the campus to honor the parents of its students. Last year more than 1,200 mothers and fathers attended.

Minnesota Foresters Adopt 9-Year-Old Girl

Nine-year-old Dorothy Wright can feel happier this spring through the kindness of members of the forestry division on the ag campus of the University of Minnesota.

Acting as foster-parents of a girl living in a bombed area, the division recently adopted the girl temporarily when it learned of her plight from Save the Children federation in New York city.

The adoption plan is part of the federation's national attempt to get American sponsors for underprivileged children throughout England. Because of the danger of sending children to the United States, the federation cares for children in safer areas on the island.

Enough money to support the child for a year—$30—was sent by the division recently to the federation, and it in turn sent the money to its field office in London.

Dorothy's father is in the British army and her mother is unable to provide enough food for her, the federation reported to the division.

E. G. Cheyney, professor of forestry, who first heard of the case, is spokesman for the division in arrangements with the federation.

Botany students at South Dakota State college will attend summer camp in the Black Hills.

Directs Show

J. RUSSELL LANE directs the Spring festival show, "Dark Victory," which the Wisconsin Players present as the concluding dramatic event of the year at the Wisconsin Union theater May 16, 17, and 24. Tickets for the production are now obtainable at the theater box office.

Of 704 students at Eau Claire State Teachers' college last semester, 302 were from Eau Claire homes.

Purdue Foresters Plant 5,000 Trees

Five thousand black locust trees were planted recently by members of the forestry seeding and planting class at Purdue university. It was the second all-day tree planting trip of the semester.

Earlier in the year the group planted trees on the Cunningham farm near Romney, Ind., a site which was donated to the university in 1936 for the purpose of starting an arboretum. Trees from Saratoga, N. Y., Ontario, Ill., and the bureau of plant industries in Beltsville, Md., will be planted with the aim of including all species of trees which can be grown in the climate.

Prowlers who raided a book store at Drew university limited their loot to several dishes of ice cream and several pencils.

Cardinal Sports Parade Athletic Coverage

FORWARD

VALEDICTORY

Today another Daily Cardinal sports editor puts an "ex-" before that title and steps down from the reviewing stand before which has passed during this past year the parade of Wisconsin and intercollegiate athletics.

For more than two years as reporter and as editor, I have had the privilege of observing intercollegiate athletics, athletes, and coaches from a ringside seat. I have seen champions crowned and losers hurried into the shadows of oblivion. I have seen all-Americans in the making and have watched them in the hot glare of fame's spotlight. I have seen college men—actually boys—under the sternest type of pressure and I have seen them come through each test with colors flying. Today, I have no doubts about the sturdiness . . . physical and moral . . . of America's young manhood.

I have seen some of the best and some of the worst features of collegiate sports—and I can sincerely and truthfully say that the good outweighs the bad a hundredfold.

In this valedictory column it is the custom of each retiring sports editor to speak frankly and in the first person singular about the subject which for a year has been a dominating part of him—intercollegiate athletics. It is a parting shot that tries somehow to express in words the jumble of impressions that he has absorbed about sports in general and Wisconsin sports in particular.

SPORTS HAVE PLACE

At a period in history such as this, we may seem out of place, even sacrilegious, to devote so much time and attention to a subject as insignificant as sports. But as President Dykstra remarked in his 1941 greeting to the football club:

"Many may say that we should not be doing the regular, ordinary things which are characteristic of a peaceful world. The trouble is that unless we lessen the strains and tensions in momentous times we fail to remain sane and rational. This we ought to do unless our national effort be obstructed." Sports indeed have a place in American life, even today; and I wonder if we are not more sane to devote time and attention to them than to brood over the convulsive writhings of a world at war. Might not the world be a better place in which to live had the perpetual olympic flame which burned in Berlin in 1936 continued to burn even after the conclusion of the Olympic games?

A SIMPLE SOLUTION

A year ago, I took over the duties of sports editor with Dr. Hutchins' challenge to collegiate athletics still fresh in my mind and with a dismal fear of Wisconsin reverses poignantly impressed upon me. I came into office confused and questioning many of the practices of collegiate athletics and wondering what, if anything, was wrong with Wisconsin.

Hard as it is to admit it, I still haven't found a solution to the affairs of the sports world. There are still questionable practices which cannot be reconciled with the strictest standards of amateurism—but there seems no way to remedy the situation.

Of this I am certain: the abolition of intercollegiate athletics offers no solution. One might almost as well attempt to solve the problem by abolishing the colleges. The spirit of competition is inherent in the young men of America. It can not be wiped out merely abolishing athletics.

The faults (which the reformers choose to call evils) must be corrected. In the meantime, reassurance can be had from the fact that like democracy, the American system of sports is the most perfect that has as yet been devised. Let's improve it—but not abolish it.

NOTHING WRONG

In my first month as sports editor I learned rapidly that there was actually nothing "wrong with Wisconsin." Convinced of this, I adopted as the heading of this column, the motto "FORWARD!" taken from the state seal of the state of Wisconsin.

And Wisconsin athletic teams have been heading more than appropriate. With unquenchable spirit and an indomitable will to win, they have done the impossible—not once, but many times.

They have carried Wisconsin from the doldrums of 1939-40 to athletic heights unparalleled in the history of this university. From the winning of that opening football game last October to the annexing of a national basketball championship just a month ago, the Badgers have always exceeded every reasonable expectation.

Imbued with that "Wisconsin spirit," Badger athletic teams are able to face the future confident of a continuation of their march "Forward."

REPLETE WITH THRILLS

It's been fun this past year chronicling the renaissance of Wisconsin as a power in the sports world. It has been a year replete with thrills . . . in the daily routine and in the colorful, publicized highlights.

I've seen Wisconsin heroes (and also the subs) not only in the flashy trappings which they wear when they step out on the field of honor for an intercollegiate contest, but also in the drab, colorless, and often grimy attire of the daily workouts which make possible those colorful moments of glory.

They aren't knights in shining armor then. They're just fellows like you and me—working, sweating, laughing, swearing. They're all alike out there at practice: the bone-crushing All-American and the fifth string reserve guard; the All-American basketball center and the sub who never gets into a game; the national champion and the guy who hasn't yet broken into the line-up.

They all have one thing in common—they're working, doing their best for Wisconsin. Many of them will never perform in an intercollegiate arena before the cheering thousands—but they are just as much Wisconsin as the fellows who get the cheers.

MANY THANKS TO . . .

I want to thank the members of the sports staff for their help during the past year. Putting out a daily sports page isn't a one-man job, and whatever success the page may have enjoyed must be credited to a number of writers.

To Dwight Pelkin and Johnny Strey, I'd like to give particular thanks. Without them there would have been many times when the page just wouldn't have been. They have the knack of stepping into the breach and turning in a first-rate job whenever called upon.

And to Marv Rand, Bud Steussy, Neil Gazel, "Rip" Perusse, Tom Rosenberg, Dick Gilman, Larry Roth, Marv Kobel, Bob Goldsmith, co-ed sports editor Alice Huck, and to all the others who have contributed during the past year, my sincere thanks.

GOOD LUCK, FELLOWS

To the "youngsters" on the staff—the fellows who take over the page this afternoon—best wishes, and I hope you have the fun and thrills that we seniors have had.

I'd like also to thank the coaches—from Head Man Harry Stuhldreher on down to the assistant coaches—for their never-failing cooperation. They're a grand bunch of men, and Wisconsin is lucky to have them directing its athletic teams.

And finally, my thanks to the players: They're the guys we write about . . . the raison d'être for a sports page. It's been a real pleasure to write about fellows like you.

This has been a big job—almost a fulltime job—but somehow it's tough to say goodbye, to write a farewell to sports. The only way to end this column, I guess, is just to cut it short. So . . . Thirty.

DOUBLING IN . . .

Punsters might say that John Benson, star epee and saber man on the Marquette university fencing team, is doubling in bass. Benson will sing the leading role in "The Waltz Dream," an operetta to be presented by the Marquette University Players, April 27-28. He is state amateur champion in both epee and saber.

Badgers Winding Up Drills Marietta Crew Arrives in Town

The crews of the University of Wisconsin and Marietta college took to the waters of Lake Monona yesterday for a final workout in preparation for the regatta between the two schools to be held Saturday afternoon, May 3, on Lake Monona.

Marietta's crew squad, 24 strong, arrived in Madison Thursday noon and Coach James E. MacDonald put his varsity and junior varsity men in the boats to accustom them to the surroundings and the course on Lake Monona.

The Pioneers outweigh "Skipper" Allen Walz' Badgers by only a pound or two, but since most of their races are seldom more than a mile and five-sixteenths, they maintain an extremely high rowing beat which the Badgers must match if they hope to win.

Wisconsin's varsity has been hampered somewhat by the absence of Tommy Theis in the No. 2 spot due to a torn shoulder muscle. "The boys don't seem to row the same without him," Coach Walz declared. "They seem to feel that they are a unit which standing together is unbeatable. The return of Theis will have a marked psychological as well as physical effect upon the rest of the varsity which should make them one to two boat lengths faster." James Yonk has been filling in at Theis' spot for the past week.

Golf Team

The University of Wisconsin golf team, victorious in their matches with Notre Dame and Marquette, will get their first taste of conference competition this afternoon at the Nakoma course.

Coach Steinauer's boys will be opposed by a University of Chicago team that is highly rated. After their victories over the Irish and Hilltoppers, however, the Badgers must be rated slight favorites.

be the official referee for the regatta which will start at 4:30 p. m.

Student tickets are available for the race at the university ticket office, 711 Langdon street, and are priced at 20 cents. A grandstand has been built in Law park at the foot of South Hancock street overlooking the whole racing course to accommodate over 5,000 spectators.

The Four Lakes Boat club will give a motor parade as a part of the opening ceremonies and the race will be broadcast over WHA from the press boat.

University of Texas has eight physical training clubs for girls: swimming, archery, horsemanship, golfing, fencing, badminton, dancing, and tennis.

PITCHERS STAR IN GREEK SOFTBALL; GREENE, KREUGER ONE-HITTERS

Thursday was pitchers' day in interfraternity softball, as Greene of Pi Lambda Phi and Delta Chi's Krueger each came through with brilliant one hit efforts. These marked the first good pitching that has been seen on the lower campus this season, as earlier games were characterized by slug-fests and big scores.

With Greene's windmill delivery working to perfection, the Pi Lams had little trouble downing Alpha Chi Rho, 10-0. Greene, who struck out 11 batters, had a no hitter until the fifth inning, when Hessler beat out an infield single. Bob Goldsmith, short center, led the winners' attack with a double and a home run.

DELTA CHI WINS

Delta Chi trounced Alpha Chi Sigma, 10-0, mainly on the strength of Krueger's fine pitching and the hitting of Dan McNamara and Menzel, who both got two hits. Krueger had a little trouble with his control, but was tough with men on the bases. He also hit a new season high for strikeouts, whiffing 13 Alpha Chi Sigmas.

In the day's closest game, Zeta Beta Tau beat Delta Sigma Pi, 4-2. Bender sewed up the contest in the first inning with a home run with the bases loaded, a lead which the losers couldn't quite overtake.

Delta Theta Sigma licked Phi Kappa Sigma, 16-6, as Leo Batcher punched out three hits. The game was marked by frequent errors, but Delta Theta capitalized on their opponents' miscues to clinch the victory.

BOB ROTH—2b

First Home Tilt This Afternoon

Wisconsin's baseball team comes back to town Saturday, as the Badgers of Coach "Dynie" Mansfield host Michigan State's always-strong nine.

It will be part of a grand sports-afternoon as the baseball team and football squad share the spotlight at Camp Randall.

With the Army-Navy grid game scheduled for 2 o'clock, Wisconsin's intercollegiate-battling diamond unit will take the field at 4 o'clock so that athletic fans will be able to see both sports without any time-conflict. Admission will be either by coupon book or 30 cents.

TOUGH FOE

The Badgers will be opposing a tough foe, for the Spartan record is an impressive one—and one that any team might well look at with respect. Although both teams have split a two-game series with Ohio State, the Spartans have won five out of seven games during a spring vacation tour while the Badgers have split four non-conference engagements and boast a win and two defeats in Big Ten competition.

Michigan State will be bringing back to Madison with a veteran club, many of whom have beaten the Badgers in the past; last year the Spartans nipped the Cardinal 7-6 and tied 6-6 at East Lansing.

The State record to date indicates that hitting has been the main forte rather than pitching. Heaviest of the hitters is Howie Ladue, sophomore left fielder who is clean-up man. No less than five regulars are slapping the ball at a .300-plus clip, however.

REGAIN FORM

It will be a close ball game, if Coach Mansfield's plans materialize. He is confident that his ball players will regain their same form that they showed earlier in the season, the same form that was not shown against Ohio State. The Buckeye performance was "just one of those days," says "Dynie."

Army, Navy Teams Prepare for Game Tomorrow Afternoon

In preparation for the traditional Wisconsin "Army-Navy" spring football game at Camp Randall stadium Saturday afternoon, Coach Harry Stuhldreher allowed his charges to go through a light passing and kicking drill yesterday afternoon without the usual heavy scrimmage that has marked the spring practice sessions.

Stuhldreher, assisted by the regular and volunteer coaching staff, emphasized poise and timing during the light workout. Despite the comparatively intensive heat, the squad showed plenty of pep and enthusiasm. Veterans Claude York, Tommy Farris, Bob Stupka, and Bob Ray lived the drill with constant chatter.

PLENTY OF OPPORTUNITY

Coach Stuhldreher indicated that all players, sophomores and veterans, are going to get plenty of opportunity Saturday to display their wares. The battling sophomores have been well-sprinkled among both "Army" and "Navy" squads, and will be taking advantage of every chance to show their wares to the assembled coaches and fans.

The traditional encounter will climax Wisconsin's annual football coaches' clinic as well as spring practice. Game time has been set for 2 p. m., while general admission for the public has been announced as 50 cents, and coupon book holders and children will be admitted for only 25 cents.

Those dyed-in-the-wool fans, who take their football seriously the year around, will have a chance to measure the pigskin abilities of some of this year's sophomore hopefuls, as well as the holdovers from the 1940 eleven. New men Harder, Jefferson, Riewer, Granitz, Clarke, Loepfe, Boyle, Koehler, Vogds, Walgenbach, and Vranesh are the boys to watch in Saturday's contest.

The fans will also see one of their old favorites of the 1939 campaign in action when Claude York, Sioux Falls, S. Dak. lad who provided some thrilling moments on the 1939 Badger football team, resumes his place at right half in captaining the "Army" against Capt. Tom Farris' "Navy" outfit.

YOU TOO CAN DEFEND AMERICA

Memorable Booklet
Issued to Build
Morale of Nation

A booklet comes to hand. In it is a foreword by General Pershing who "commends its message to every American." It is a penetrating declaration that emphasizes the importance of spiritual defense in the world crisis.

We have been thinking a good deal in terms of military rearmament. We are asked now to consider moral rearmament as an indispensable factor in the building of national morale. Without it we cannot face the exacting tasks that face us.

Today America is building ships, planes and guns. "But," it is asked, "is this enough? Does America have total defense? . . . Does she build character? Spirit? The will to sacrifice? Does she build men? Men who pull together? . . . We in America ask: 'What can I do?' What can 130 million Americans do? Plenty."

Then follow three lines of defense:

"Sound homes.

"Teamwork in industry.

"A United Nation."

Pointing out that America "needs guts as well as guns" and that "national character is the core of national defense," the pamphlet declares: "Congress can't vote it. Dollars won't buy it. It's your job to build it."

The plea is a simple one. The booklet can be read in a few minutes. Some of its passages are reproduced here in part:

"Human nature is the bottleneck in the production of national morale. We need a new spirit in the country. But to get it we must start with a new spirit in every citizen. And that means you.

"Either you sacrifice your personal selfishness for the nation—or you sacrifice the nation for your personal selfishness.

A NEW SPIRIT

"America needs a change of heart. We must live the American way.

"Americans are honest, unselfish, neighborly, clean and free.

"Or are they? Always? Are you? All the time?

"If not, what can you do about it?

"A new spirit can grip your heart and mind and muscle—if you are willing. You can change. How?

"The first step is to face the facts. The facts about yourself. Honest? Unselfish? Neighborly? Clean? Free? At home? In industry? In politics?

"Our fathers looked to God for their direction. We've looked about every place else.

"We still print 'In God We Trust' on our money. Everybody carries the idea around in his pocket. Is it just an idea? Or is it the main point?

"William Penn said: 'Men must be governed by God, or they will be ruled by tyrants.'

"What are you governed by? Your wife? Your husband? Your desires? Your pocketbook? Fear of losing your job? Personal ambition?

CHANGED LIVES NEEDED

"Only God can change human nature. When you decide to be governed by God, then the change comes.

"It's like joining the army. You decide there's something worth fighting for. You enlist. You put yourself under orders. Then you are given new equipment. You find new comradeship. Your way of living changes. And your whole outlook on life.

"To be governed by God means to listen to a Wisdom beyond your own. And obey.

"George Washington listened at a time of conflict—and gave a nation freedom.

"Abraham Lincoln listened at a time of crisis—and preserved a nation's unity.

"Lincoln said, 'I have so many evidences of God's direction that I cannot doubt this power comes from above. I am satisfied that when the Almighty wants me to do or not to do any particular thing, He finds a way of letting me know it.'

"You don't have to be president to do as Lincoln did. When you take time to be quiet and listen, God will guide your thoughts. He will give you orders. And a plan. Directions how to put things right. Creative ideas about yourself, your home, your job, your community, your nation . . .

'Washington listened...to a wisdom beyond his own'

"Musket and powder-horn once hung over the door of every American home. Our fathers were not afraid to use them. The Minute Men at Lexington and Concord seized them and ran to defend their country. Not a man in America would hesitate to do it again if invaders threatened his homeland.

"But America has already been invaded. Like parachute troops in the night, fear, hate and greed have slipped into our homes, our industries, our communities. Like termites they are eating away our national character.

"The fight is on. The fight against our softness, graft, laziness, extravagance, buckpassing, materialism—allies of the Fifth Column. The battle line runs through every home, every office, every factory, every farm.

"It is a daily battle. It takes courage. Imagination. You've got to be tough inside. You've got to think hard, and live clean.

"You and 130 million other Americans can enlist today in this fight. You don't have to wait to be put into uniform. You're in the army now.

"First lick the enemy inside yourself. Then get the next fellow to join you in this battle for a new America. Get your newspaper, radio station and movie theater to fight for a new morale.

"Fight to make your home and community a pattern.

"Fight to bring teamwork in industry.

"Fight to unite the nation.

"Then America will have what ancient China lacked. What modern France lacked. She will have TOTAL DEFENSE."

Then there's another striking passage which says:

"America does not need to be divided and quarreling at home just to prove she is a democracy—any more than husband and wife need to get into an argument just to prove they have minds of their own.

"A crack football team isn't all made up of quarterbacks. Every man has his part. Each depends on all the others. So with the nation. Unless we have national teamwork someone is likely to take the ball away from us.

THE WAR INSIDE OURSELVES

"Nations in Europe have gone down because they were at war inside themselves. Their people couldn't get together. They refused to face facts. They were caught unprepared. Even as the storm broke, men fought to get more for themselves.

"National unity is the heart of national defense. If a nation is united, no Fifth Column can slip through and sabotage its strength.

"A united people will have the spirit

This I Know

Funny thing about women. They're always doing something that doesn't quite make sense.

A lot of things about girls seem queer. Maybe it's because men don't understand women. Maybe they never will understand them. I don't know.

Girls don't make sense, that's all, I guess.

You just can't figure women out. There isn't a man alive who doesn't sometimes say he can't understand why women do certain things.

As for me, I can't understand a lot of things about women.

Why a girl will break a date to go out with you and then will spend the whole evening talking about the other guy.

Why sweater sleeves are knitted long and then pushed up so short and lumpy.

Why women take their shoes off but leave their hats on in the movies.

Why they have to be late all the time.

Why a woman will shop for half a day to save a few cents a yard on material, and on the other hand will pay $20 for a formal which she won't wear four times.

Why they think with their emotions and not with their minds.

Why women can't talk about religion, love, or marriage without getting emotional and personal.

Why they can't settle a thing on the basis of reasoning, rather than on the basis of their feelings.

Why a girl will work like the deuce to make an impression on a fellow she doesn't care an iota about.

Why women are always worrying about what people will think.

Why you never find a woman who hasn't got her purse all stuffed with junk.

Why when a girl wears a formal twice, it becomes "that same old dress."

Why a woman will sit for 20 minutes to an hour at a stretch talking with some other woman about things of no importance at all.

Why women wear some of the nightmares that go for hats nowadays.

Why when a woman goes into a store to buy a certain article, she wants to look at everything in the store.

Why they economize in little things and are extravagant in the big ones.

Why women tell so many fibs instead of just saying they have a previous engagement.

Why a woman gets such a bang out of boasting about her sentimental conquests.

Why a girl will scream at a mouse but marry a man as big as a house.

Yes, it's a funny thing about women. They're always doing something that doesn't quite make sense.

You figure them out.

'Get things done for the U. W.' Seniors Urged to Join Alumni Association

Wisconsin seniors are fortunate in being eligible for membership in the most active alumni group in the country. Soon they will be graduated, but university contact need not be lost. The Wisconsin Alumni association has not lost this contact.

According to Dean Frank O. Holt, the Wisconsin association has been more active in "getting things done for their university" than any other. This certainly is high praise, and reflects on the loyalty graduates feel for Wisconsin.

At present the senior council Alumni association committee is beginning a drive for new members. They are urging that after June 23 the class of '41 remains with its alma mater in spirit and service.

Democratic Challenge Is New Prexy Runge's

As was generally expected, Carl Runge has been elected to the presidency of the student board. Congratulations, Carl, you have a big job ahead of you, as you fully realize.

During the coming year the student board will have much to do. It started much constructive work this spring, but there is room for improvement. Besides an effective program and an effective personnel, the board needs a president who has sufficient drive, insight, and diplomacy to see that the vast duties of the board are carried out. This is the job that is Runge's.

600 Fraternity Men Show Spirit at Banquet

The Daily Cardinal has never sufficiently thanked the interfraternity council and the fraternity house counselors for putting on a very successful interfraternity banquet before vacation. The turnout, the spirit, the organization, everything about it pointed to successful enterprise and a returning Greek interest.

That is an encouraging note on a campus where supposedly fraternities were "slipping." Further serious consideration of their problems at hand may bring similar results for the Greeks.

California Copies Citizenship Plan

News comes now that the University of California, at the instigation of President Spoul, is taking steps to acquaint students with the responsibilities and duties of citizenship, which naturalized citizens often have better conceptions than native-born citizens.

The University of Wisconsin, however, has had a program designed to accomplish just that for the past year or two. In fact the Wisconsin plan is what the Californians are modeling their system of citizenship training. This is but another instance of field in which the University of Wisconsin has pioneered the way and set the pace.

How to Bring Order From Chaotic World

Several fundamental objectives must be achieved in order to attain international peace and cooperation, a graduate student at the University of Illinois declared in a discussion of a thesis he is writing on how to make world government work.

"The idea of making world government work is the crying problem of our times," asserted the student in conversation with an assistant in political science.

Basing his contentions on the record of past experience, he offered the following suggestions as part of a plan to bring order out of present international chaos:

ASKS WORLD ORDER

First requirement of a cooperative world order, the student believes, is a form of international governing body and an international army or police force to enforce the laws.

To attain economic harmony, the student asserted, tariff barriers between the countries of the world should be reduced and regulated by the international government.

Migration between nations should be encouraged in order to bring about a better understanding between the races and nationalities, the writer opined. This migration should be supervised by the world organization also, he stated.

An international language and international symbols would also promote the feeling of unity of mankind and break down racial and national prejudices, he continued.

NATIONALISM FUNCTIONING

"Nationalism is functioning, because people are nationalistic, so therefore internationalism can only be successful when the people of the world are internationalistic," the graduate said.

Acknowledging the fact that such a world order as he describes cannot possibly become a reality for several generations, the author believes that the change will be evolutionary rather than revolutionary in nature.

'That Uncertain Feeling'

As the happily married Bakers, Merle Oberon and Melvyn Douglas, find time to glare at each other during the gay comedy action in "That Uncertain Feeling," starting Saturday at the Parkway, do they get that uncertain feeling? Completing a hilarious-fun bill is "Ellery Queen's Penthouse Mystery," with Ralph Bellamy and Margaret Lindsey.

Defend--

which no disaster will shake and no danger will weaken.

"Unity is more than agreeing on what we like or whom we hate. Teamwork cannot be built by high talking and low living; by fine ideals and selfish lives.

"Teamwork," said Knute Rockne, 'is a combination of self-sacrifice, brains, and sweat.' It means working together for America. Honest teamwork between government and business, labor and management, union, and union, Republican and Democrat, city and farm.

"A united people will build the new America. A nation set free from fear, hate and greed. A nation that holds the secret of the new world . . .

"Friction between men slows up work more than friction in machines.

If employers or workers destroy teamwork by their selfishness, then America is in danger. And the gains each fought for will be swept away.

"The defense of the nation demands that all rise above self-interest. It means each faces up to his own mistakes. It means we join forces for the common good.

"Then our industries will run at capacity. Our man power will be put to work. Together we all will produce the materials and morale to make America strong."

NON-DRAFTTEES

Only 10 of the 81 boys who were issued uniforms for spring football practice at Marquette university have thus far had to register for the draft. Two of them—Bob Salek, La Porte, Ind., and Erv Rick, Milwaukee, tackles—expect to be called into service this summer but the others have high numbers and probably will be able to return to Marquette next fall. Freddy Rice, veteran fullback, is No. 8558, the last on the list at his home town, Fremont, Ohio.

How Is Your Own Backyard? Clean-up Campaigners Ask

"Look at your own backyard!"

This slogan will be shouted to the housetops by members of the Campus Business Men's association who are conducting the annual campus clean-up week at the University of Illinois.

The fire department inspects all wiring and fire hazards during the week. City fire department checks streets and alleys.

It is suggested by the campaign committee that all firms "have ashes and all accumulated debris hauled away regularly, at least once a week."

The committee will ask merchants to think of their customers and watch out for dripping eaves caused by stopped gutters. Also sidewalks should be swept in front of stores.

In addition to clean-up—paint-up will be added. Merchants are asked to paint-up weather-beaten signs and generally improve condition of store fronts. Ground in front of stores should also be kept clean.

Spanish Fraternity Plans to Hold Dance For Raising Funds

Checked tablecloths, candles in old bottles, and an old-time band will provide a bowery atmosphere for the dance which will be given by Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish honorary fraternity, on May 9 in the Old Madison room.

land. Refreshments will be served. Tickets are on sale now, and at the door for 15 cents per person.

of the Memorial Union. Plans for the dance have been under way for several weeks under the direction of Mary Jane Samp, general chairman.

The dance is being given for the purpose of raising money for the Solalinde scholarship fund, and a scholarship to study in the University of Mexico's summer session this summer will be awarded to a worthy student.

Folk dancing as well as modern dancing will take place during the evening. A special feature will be a floor show. "Any kind of clothes will be appropriate, even formals," emphasized Mary Jane. Tickets, which are 50 cents apiece, may be obtained from Mr. Herriott, any chairman, and the graduate instructors in the Spanish department.

Assisting Mary Jane Samp in her work are Don Curry and Ann Zeller, cochairmen of tickets; Frank Conrad and Mary Tucker, entertainment and decorations; and Janet Lillegren and Ralph Corey, publicity and promotion.

Many Contacts With Opposite Sex Make For Happy Marriage

"Necking" and numerous contacts with the opposite sex make for a happy choice in marriage, Dr. Blake Crider, psychology professor at Penn college, thinks.

"The degree of necking and contact with the opposite sex predicts the degree of success in marriage," Crider feels. "You should know the person you are going to marry for from three to five years and have an engagement of at least six months."

Men are most likely to be happy in marriage if they are 29 when they marry and choose a woman 24 years old, Crider believes. Love is a good thing, but it is vastly overrated. In Europe many marriages have been happy without true love.

"If one gets married with the idea that it is going to be one long courtship, he is going to be disappointed," Crider thinks. "One of the things that a wife demands, however, is courtesy. Ninety per cent of all men let this item ride."

Cardinal--

campus press, Editor Schoenfeld said "A campus newspaper can never be a good student newspaper unless it is an administration paper, too."

Summing up his four-year association with the Cardinal, the retiring editor announced that working on the paper had left him with the feeling that he was a part of "something big and fine."

Departing Business Manager Miller expressed his appreciation of the cooperation the editorial staff has shown

There will be a meeting of the new Cardinal executives at 4 this afternoon, Jerry Sullivan, former managing editor, announced at the Cardinal banquet last night. News and desk editors will meet at 5 today.

this year and the experience he has gained.

"I've learned a lot more this year as business manager than I have in some classes," Miller revealed.

DYKSTRA ON STAFF

President Dykstra was made an official member of the Cardinal staff when he was presented with a gold Cardinal key in commemoration of his fifth year on the campus.

President Dykstra voiced his faith in a "free student newspaper." Expressing the belief that students should iron out their own problems, he said "I'm for the kind of newspaper that you students run on this campus."

HAILS ASCENSION

Bob Lewis, Osseo, hailed his ascension to the position of editor as "something I've always dreamed about. I believe we can dare hope that we may storm the portals of Pacemaker for a third successive year."

Ray Ender, Eau Claire, expressed hopes for an "air conditioned office" next year, in addition to a rise in revenue.

Dick Leonard, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Ridgewood, N. J., who was appointed managing editor, is the first sophomore to achieve the position in the history of the paper.

Looking at the Cardinal as an "outsider," Professor Neal spoke in tribute to the work of Martin Siegrist, Dwight Pelkin, and John Anthony Strey of the sports staff; Columnists Jerry Sullivan, Gordon Neilson, and Elliott Resneck; Personnel Director Ruth Clarke; Radio Representative Lyman Noordhoff; "Wild Bob" Houlehen, university editor; Society Editor Betty Weber; and Howard Samuelson, editor of the Sunday paper.

"There have been more improvements this year than any of the five past years I've watched," he proclaimed.

pals as "Dyk," said: "The governor gave me a fine present Wednesday!" (Governor Heil had appeared before a legislative committee in the state capitol to urge passage of increased appropriations to the university.)

Mrs. Dykstra, charming hostess at a round of student-thronged open houses, was not in Madison yesterday, but she'll be back in plenty of time to preside at the last regular Dykstra tea of the year, set for Wednesday, May 7. Mrs. Dykstra has made of the university presidency a bisexual job. She as much as her husband have made the five "Dykstra years" memorable.

Quotable Quotes

"We no longer speak a common language as we no longer have a common intellectual background. Putting it another way, our modern education suffers from intellectual malnutrition. The scientists have been the greatest specialists, and . . . there is probably no other group quite so narrow in its interests. Our system is out of balance, and if we would restore it to equilibrium we must give more attention to the social and the human problems which we face."—President John W. Nason of Swarthmore college calls for corrective measures in the educational system.

letter sent to all organized houses, attributed this sudden burst of generosity to "spring fever, and the fact that Haresfoot is one of Wisconsin's outstanding traditions."

The dinner dance will serve as an opener for the gala event. Photographers from the Madison papers will be on hand to snap pictures which will form part of a picture story of the Haresfoot premiere to be run in the papers on Sunday.

Osterheld urged all planning to attend the dinner to make their reservations at the Union desk as soon as possible. "Reservations have been pouring in the last days, and all those planning to attend should make their reservations before it is too late. Reservations are not required, but in order to insure seats they should be made as soon as possible," Osterheld said.

Compulsory ROTC Bill Signed by Heil

The compulsory ROTC bill became law yesterday when Gov. Julius P. Heil signed it in the executive office.

In signing the bill the governor declared, "I believe a young man who has military training in early boyhood is a better fit man for society and a better executive in whatever line of endeavor he chooses to enter."

Musical Opens--

dates are tonight, tomorrow night, and May 8 and 10.

This year's show has been hailed by critics as the most outstanding Haresfoot production in ten years. A musical extravaganza, it is fast moving, musical, and in keeping with the Haresfoot tradition of presenting top-notch musical comedy entertainment.

Hit of the show this year has been Ted Marks, a sophomore from Milwaukee, whose specialty act has met with uproarious applause and enthusiastic response by audiences in all the cities played by the troupe during the spring recess.

During the past few days the offices of The Daily Cardinal and the Haresfoot office have been besieged by telephone calls of persons inquiring as to the proper attire for opening night. Norm Lofthus, president of the club, has announced that "Either one can be worn, depending entirely upon the inclination of the individual. In the past Haresfoot's formal opening has been known alternately as the first summer formal or the last winter formal, and this year we have decided to leave the choice of attire entirely in the hands of the individual."

Traditionally one of the foremost events of the second semester, the opening will be complete even to a radio broadcast from the lobby of the theater. Prominent students and townspeople will be interviewed, and some of the show will also be broadcast over WIBA.

"All Our Girls are Men, Yet Every One's a Lady" has been the Haresfoot slogan for 43 years, and tonight another all-male group will prance and dance for the entertainment of students and Madisonians, carrying on triumphantly another campus tradition.

Mosquitoes are not yet biting on the Union terrace.
