The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

A Man with Many Children and a Hired Man

My father and his hired man were building a barn. He didn't like the way he (the hired man) was drinking because the way he did it whenever he put milk in was he would always turn it around when he grabs the pitcher. He (my father) didn't want to tell him not to do it that way so he told us to do it that way so he could scold us in front of him. But no one would do it because he scared us. So no one did what he wanted us to.
