CIVIL RIGHTS WORKER—Robert Williams talks informally before his Meiklejohn series lecture to some of the ILS students who are sponsoring him in his civil rights work in the South.

SNCC Worker Disparages Civil Rights Groups In South

By R. C. SCHER
Cardinal Staff Writer

Robert Williams, who spoke Tuesday night for the Meiklejohn Lecture program, described to an audience of 70 his opinions of the southern civil rights movement as a white southern Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) worker.

WILLIAMS joined the civil rights movement in the South after spending time in the Air Force where he said he first came to realize "that the Negro is a human being."

In 1964 he became a full time SNCC worker. Recently the Integrated Liberal Studies program began supporting him as an "adopted" civil rights worker.

Williams said he found the organization of the civil rights movement to be lacking. "There is no one organization in the South worth a damn. The only good being done down there is by dedicated individuals in these organizations," he said. A new organization is desired by many people from all of these groups said Williams.

HE REVEALED with dismay that most SNCC and Congress for Racial Equality (CORE) workers in the South own guns for defensive purposes. "When a civil rights movement advocated violence it's a bad situation," he said.

Of Dr. Martin Luther King, Williams said, "if he got shot, there would be missing only a guy who moved to the front of the line when they started taking pictures."

Williams said of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP), "When NAACP pulled out of the Congress of Federated Organization (COFO) all we lost was some money." He said that NAACP opposed most SNCC and COFO programs.

FORCEFUL integration, he said, was the only answer to the problem of segregation "since there doesn't seem to be a way of reaching the white Southerner."

"As a whole, the entire Negro population has responded well to the movement," he stated.

When asked of the possibility of a voter registration drive for poor southern whites, he said, "Oh, I don't know. I've about given up on my fellow man."

EDUCATION and voter registration, he asserted, should receive the heaviest emphasis of the civil rights movement. He pointed out that most of the first grades of schools throughout the South have been successfully integrated.

"Most white southerners believe that Negroes are inferior 'cause

SSO ELECTION RESULTS

Tom Peterson was elected president of the Southeast Students Organization (SSO) without opposition Tuesday night. Also unopposed was Bill Retert who was elected vice president of the organization. Geraldine Heidoron defeated Gail Bernstein for secretary. Bruce Schrimph was unopposed for treasurer.

the bible says so. I never read that part!" he exclaimed. Many southern doctors, he found, tell the people that this is biological proven, even they don't really believe it.

The situation between the younger generation of Negro and whites, he said, has never been better. "If someone were to pull everyone over 20 out of the South, everyone would get along fine," said Williams.

WILLIAMS said that 50% of the police are klansmen and 45% belong to the White Citizens' Council. He has also said that many of the FBI men in the south are native southerners and very hostile to the civil rights movement.

When asked what a northern student can do to help the civil rights movement in the South, he exclaimed, "You can get up and come down South and help!"

As a teenager, Williams had experience with the Ku Klux Klan. He went to meetings and began questioning their attitudes. "I asked questions and other people started to think about it too," he said.

'Peace Through Force,' Argues Capt. Bollenbeck at 'Y' Debate

By LEE LINTON
Cardinal Staff Writer

"I call for unilateral disarmament of the United States," began Arlo Tatum, a pacifist, at the University YMCA program entitled "Peace Through Pacifism, Can It Work?"

Directly opposing Tatum was Capt. Joseph W. Bollenbeck, U.S. Army, Retired. Professor Gerald MacCallum, philosophy, analyzed the arguments of both men, and Prof. Henry Hart of Political Science moderated the debate.

TATUM BELIEVES that a gradual cutback in our military arsenal will induce a multilateral disarmament trend in the world.

He said the United States should shift its policy from selling anti-communism to selling democracy, and add the ingredient of economic democracy.

Tatum cited the need for studies in the areas of the dependence of the economy on the defense industry and the psychological problem of educating American public opinion to the benefits of unilateral disarmament.

CAPT BOLLENBECK countered with the argument that "the main obstacle to peace is the inordinate aim of some heads of government to subjugate other nations to enlarge their image in complete disregard of the peaceful intent of the United Nations."

The one-time intelligence officer maintained that in order to retain our freedom, "we are forced

Plans Delayed For Crewhouse

By DAN FITZGIBBONS
Cardinal Staff Writer

Proposed construction of a new $500,000 crewhouse has been postponed while city and University officials reach an agreement on the construction site, Chancellor Robben Fleming said Tuesday night.

ORIGINAL plans had called for the crewhouse to be built on Willows Beach, which is University owned property located behind the Elm Drive dorms on Lake Mendota. But a storm of protests arose last February from Madison citizens who feared loss of a public beach if the crewhouse were built there.

The University did obtain provisional permission from the City Park Commission to build on this site, but problems since then have forced postponement of construction and the site is being reconsidered.

The plans to build had guaranteed public use of the beach in the summer months. This is mainly what a group, known as the Capital Community Citizens, had demanded in their protests against construction on the Willows Beach site.

ONE OF THE reasons the construction has been postponed this year is a delay in plans to build an Alumni House on the site of the old crewhouse behind the Armory.

The plans for the new crewhouse call for widening and extension of the present beach and an addition of 27 more parking places.

In objecting to the selection of Willows Beach as the new crewhouse site, Madison citizens had called for another site to be chosen. At that time, Fleming said he was reluctant to consider another site because of the late date. Apparently the delays in construction have facilitated construction of another site.

Fleming told a city-University coordinating committee on Monday night that the beach will be available and unchanged, for city residents use this summer. City and University officials at the meeting felt there would be no construction this year on the Willows Beach site.

Campus Chest Collects $2250 In Year Drive

By MARCIE HARRISON
Cardinal Staff Writer

Wisconsin Student Association Campus Chest Committee collected $2,250 in their 1964-65 drives. The money will be distributed among six charities.

THE FALL collection netted a total of $2,173.39. During this drive committee members solicited students personally and at the last home football game.

The $152.70 raised from the spring drive brought the year's total to $2,326.09. The money from this drive was raised by Campus Chest committees collecting at beer suppers, at a Lakeshore Halls dance and at a dance in the Union.

The committee is leaving $76.09 in the committee's treasury for next year's members.

ed that very few countries in the world today offer their businessmen protection in foreign countries.

The pacifist observed that the isolation trend would stop the U.S. from gobbling up the world's resources, but he said Americans would not accept this because they think that it is their "God given right to be better off than somebody else in the world."

Commending the fine ideals of peace and pacifism, Bollenbeck stated: "Until all nations adhere to the peaceful precepts of the United Nations, we would risk our freedom not to provide adequate military power to protect it..."

PROF. MacCALLUM, the third speaker, questioned the type of peace desired by both men. The philosophy professor discussed a "doormat peace" and a "non-nuclear type" peace.

MacCallum also observed that a pacifist-type peace might not be acceptable because of one's values.

The philosophy professor summed up Tatum's argument as: since aggression is caused by fear, the fear should be eliminated. However, MacCallum noted that this is human psychology and may not be applicable to nations.

REFERRING to Bollenbeck's rebuttal—the lack of imperialistic motives in U.S. foreign policy MacCallum noted that it is not what we think of ourselves, but (continued on page 7)

Sliding Tuition Plan Hurts Able Students

The cost of education is, indeed, increasing. We, as students at the University, are acutely aware of this problem.

A bill now in the legislature which provides for an increase in tuition at the University and the nine State Universities is no answer for the pressures of the high cost of education. Its provisions only multiply the problem.

ASSEMBLYMAN Kenneth J. Merkel (R.-Brookfield) has proposed that in-state students pay tuition ranging from $275 to $700 a semester. Tuition for out-of-state students would run $500 to $800 a semester under Merkel's proposal.

Aside from the high price that the bill puts on a University education, the problem that it presents is one of discrimination against able and industrious students.

The bill provides for tuition payments on a sliding scale. Junior and seniors would be paying more for tuition than freshmen and sophomores. Graduate and medical students would be placed in individual categories which are even higher than those for undergraduates.

What Assemblyman Merkel has proposed hurts continuing students more than those who are likely to drop out of the University and not continue their education—freshmen and sophomores.

If Assemblyman Merkel wants sliding tuition, why not a plan the exact opposite of the one now being considered: tuition rates that would decrease as students continue their education.

Kindly Uncle, Ho Chi Minh, Is After All A Communist

By DAVID KEENE

I would like to urge advocates of United States withdrawal from Viet-Nam to think for a moment about the possible consequences of such action in Viet-Nam itself. Since our withdrawal from the area would throw South Viet-Nam into the hands of Ho Chi Minh, we might do well to look at this man and the government he runs north of the 17th parallel.

Those who think that Ho Chi Minh is the great nationalist some people tell us he is, or the kindly "uncle" Viet Cong propaganda makes him out to be, are sadly deluded.

Ho Chi Minh, after all, is a Communist; not by convenience or because we "forced him to turn to it," as some would have us believe, but because he accepted the faith himself more than forty-five years ago.

ON DECEMBER 30, 1920, Ho attended the founding convention of the Communist party of France as an accredited delegate from the colonial areas. His work as an agent of the Communist international since that time has been well documented. He attended both the Lenin School and the School of the Toilers of the East in Moscow to gain a grounding in theoretical Marxism and the tactics of the Communist revolutionary. He was a voting delegate at both the Fourth and Fifth Comintern Congresses and was made a member of the Southeast Asia Bureau of the Comintern as early as 1922. He worked as an agent of the Communist International in France, China, Russia, and Thailand before returning to his native Viet-Nam.

As Bernard Fall observed in "The Two Viet-Nams:" "In much of Asia and among many American specialists on South East Asia, Ho was considered a nationalist first and a Communist second . . . In actual fact he has always been a dedicated Communist . . . The fact that this was not understood by naive outsiders was certainly not his fault; his career as a Communist has been on record since 1920." (p. 90)

While it is true that there are different kinds of Communists, it does not follow that there are "good" Communists. Such an entity simply does not exist. Ho Chi Minh, moreover, is not cut from the cloth of

Res Halls: Anti Grad?

To the Editor:

We, graduate students of the University of Wisconsin, are concerned about the decision of the University's Division of Residence Halls to reduce by 75% the accommodations in Residence Halls for graduate students for Fall, 1965.

It is only reasonable for graduate students to ask what the University, the city of Madison, and the State of Wisconsin are doing and are prepared to do to fulfill this need. Because of the expense and inadequacy of transportation in Madison, students are limited to housing within the immediate University area. Since many of the houses in this area are slated for demolition, these and other dwellings are not being maintained by their owners.

THE DEMAND for private housing by graduate and undergraduate students is so great that landlords have little incentive to do more than meet the minimum building code requirements, and often demand high rents for marginal quarters.

The construction of the planned graduate center is constantly being postponed, yet Residence Halls has now decided to cut graduate housing in the face of this considerable need. While Residence Halls is partially meeting the need for housing married graduates, they make no real attempt to meet requirements of the single graduate students who are the majority of the graduate population.

Therefore, we request and recommend the erection of several low-rental graduate housing units which would provide furnished suites (i.e., several single-occupancy rooms with a common bath, kitchen and lounge area.) Such buildings, conveniently located with respect to the campus, would not only enhance the campus itself, but also would fulfill the needs and desires of the single-graduate student population, both present and future.

TO SOLVE THE immediate problem, we request that Residence Halls house graduate students in existing structures.

An essential part of the University's reputation is built upon the high quality of its graduate school. The lack of good housing for graduate students may discourage these students from coming to Madison, which may result in a lowering of the University's ability to provide top-flight education.

The decision of Residence Halls aggravates this problem, which if not solved in the present, may be unsolvable in the future.

Witte Hall Graduate Council

Mixed Up Boy Wants Heffnerites In Cardinal

To the Editor:

I am a city boy who is all mixed up.

Mostly I am concerned about superficialities. (I guess that is the word). Funny, but I thought I could find somebody among all those wheat-jeans, blue-oxfords, brown loafers—fraternities (You know what I mean?)—somebody who thinks. Even about HUAC, Viet Nam, or Civil Rights. It's not even that they hold the wrong or bigoted opinion that concerns me, but that they so seldom are capable of holding any independently-thought-out opinion at all.

YOU KNOW if there is a somebody like that, why doesn't he speak up and send The Daily Cardinal his picture? (But then that might be against "brotherly policy.") There must be at least one, because even William Buckley admitted that Barry Goldwater sometimes thought—though he was hard-pressed to do so.

But then again, I could be wrong about there having to be somebody like that. There might be answers deep down in their hearts and each one of these suave Heffnerites has, one by one (all on his own), managed to find them. I just haven't risen clear of my prejudice against prejudice yet.

Sometimes, though, I think I'm really getting over my problems when I can tell by looking at those guys (and gals) what it is that they are not thinking.

I would be very happy, Mr. Editor, if you would publish my

In Position

To the Editor:

Last night I became aware of a situation which seems to me to be awful. It seems that many civil rights demonstrators who went to Selma and the surrounding area failed to take the necessary funds to sustain themselves while in the South. They imposed upon the Negro community for food and lodging which meant that many of the Negroes who were active in the civil rights movement were almost forced to feed these demonstrators, many times at the expense of their families.

These "do-good" civil rights workers have intensified poverty among the Negroes in Alabama.

INSTEAD of reimbursing the Negroes from their own financial assets, the civil rights workers have started on a new campaign to get churches and civic groups to divert money from their mission work and charity among others, who are also in desperate need, to give to the Negroes in Selma under the name of charity, so they can continue to provide for civil rights workers.

They have asked that special offerings of churches be used to send food to those who voluntarily made themselves poorer in Selma rather than to areas where people are starving through no fault of their own.

It is shameful that any group can participate in this effort to use the word "charity" to denote funds which will be used for political purposes and to try to trick people to contribute under the guise of helping the poor.

Negro Social Life: Grin and Bear It

The following are excerpts from personal letters written by a sophomore honor student at the University of Notre Dame to a University student but they could have been written about Madison.

"Yep, I went through the interviews for [a campus social and service group] and was rejected . . . I've been trying to form an unbiased portrait of myself, as could be drawn from those interviews.

"I've grown to suspect practically everyone I know or come in contact with. . . In the second interview one of the guys asked why the Negro students at Notre Dame stuck together. Perhaps my answer was too severe; it seemed like an indictment of practically all the rest of the student body.

"I told him just the way I felt about the whole mess: just what is the Negro student supposed to do on Saturday nights when his so-called white 'friends' leave him to go on their dates or what have you . . . It appears that in their minds, their friendship ends there. Their friend should seek his 'colored companionship' in the slums of the West Side, regardless of whether he has anything in common with the girl other than race . . .

"I cannot picture, nor would I like to see, the Negro students here going on hands and knees and begging to be admitted to the social groups of their six-day friends. What I omitted above is that there is, of course, a natural attraction of Negro for Negro be-

jobs of the week

The Student Employment Bureau is located at 831 State Street, first floor, Park Street entrance. The bureau is open from 8:30 a.m. to noon, and 12:45 to 5 p.m., daily.

Any students who are interested in doing odd jobs should check with the bureau as soon as possible. Now that spring is here, many people are hiring students to help with cleaning, yardwork, carpentry, moving, and general odd jobs. The hours are usually very flexible for this type of work, and the pay is quite good.

Hopefully, more information on summer jobs will be available after May 15. Students who wish to work during the summer should activate their applications after that date. This may be done by filling out one of our new summer applications, and indicating whether you are interested in part-time or full-time employment. Of course, students who can begin working now and who need summer jobs in Madison, would be wise to talk to an interviewer as soon as possible. Many of the permanent part-time jobs now listed at the bureau will become summer jobs.

RIGHT NOW THE BUREAU IS LOOKING FOR:

• MEN STUDENTS: who want to do housework, yardwork, janitorial work, or delivery work. Flexible hours. $1.25 - $1.50/hr.

• MEN STUDENTS: who have sales experience. Flexible hours.

• MEN STUDENTS: meal jobs! Close to campus. Must work during meal hours.

• WOMEN STUDENTS: Must have editing, proof-reading, composition, and general journalism experience. (20 hrs/wk; good pay). Must work during the summer. Will be trained to operate a verity machine.

Boaters Rescued From Cold Lake

The weather is getting warmer and the lure of Lake Mendota is irresistible. However, boaters should remember to exercise caution along with their fun.

RALPH HANSON, head of Protection and Security, reported that two students were pulled from the lake's chilly waters Friday afternoon and rushed to the University hospital. One was released but the other was kept for exposure to extreme cold.

Their canoe tipped over just as the rescue boat was returning from another mission. They were spotted by Michael J. Woicsek, of Lake Security. The students were in the water only five to six minutes but one was unable to help himself out of the water.

Hanson reported that last year over 600 persons were rescued from the lake. He urged that those enjoying the lake remain alert.

Asian Play Group Tells of Program

Prof. A. C. Scott, Director of the Asian Theatre program of the University, has announced that the first workshop production staged by the group, TWILIGHT CRANE, will be presented Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at the Compass Theatre, University Ave. There will be two performances each day, at 3 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. The cast members are students of the Asian theatre class or participants in a mime group which works within the context of the Asian theatre program.

TWILIGHT CRANE is by Junji Kinoshita, a 1939 graduate of Tokyo University. Kinoshita has achieved distinction as a writer for a new Japanese drama which has attempted to break away from stereotyped traditional themes without sacrificing essential inner depth.

SEARCHING for a new method of expression, Kinoshita has turned to folk legends, of which TWILIGHT CRANE is one. The play, which treats the destructive power of greed, has received numerous awards.

Asian acting demands a complete mastery of technique only achieved through intense practice. The student actors, therefore, have encountered an entirely new discipline and approach to acting, in which the art of gesture and the art of silence are developed into eloquence.

Cast members include Mary McIntire and Jean Moss, Tsu, the spirit of the Crane; James Mackesy: the peasant; Mark King and Allen Ames: two greedy peasants; Tari Gilbert: the child.

THE CARINAL TROPHY

Balloting Nears for First Cardinal Trophy Elections

University students will be able to honor Wisconsin's most outstanding senior athlete by voting in the contest sponsored by the The Daily Cardinal sports staff.

The winner of the contest will receive The Cardinal Trophy, a newly established award which will be presented annually.

The trophy, which is 27 inches high, will be engraved with the winner's name and will be his to keep. It is presently on display in the window of Badger Sporting Goods and will be awarded at the "W" Club banquet which is tentatively set for Sunday, May 23.

In addition to receiving the trophy, the winner will have his name engraved on a plaque to be hung in a prominent campus location.

The only qualification the nominee must meet is that his senior eligibility has ended in January or will end in June.

Ballots will appear in The Daily Cardinal on Tuesday, May 11, and students can register their choice by either mailing or bringing the completed ballot to The Cardinal. Ballots must be postmarked no later than midnight, Wednesday, May 12, and should be addressed to: Sports Department, The Daily Cardinal, Journalism Hall, Madison 6, Wisconsin. Ballots brought to The Cardinal office in the rear of Journalism Hall at the foot of Observatory Drive must be there by noon, Friday, May 14.

Students are advised to keep two things in mind when they are making their choice: selection should be based on the performance of the athlete throughout his entire varsity career, not just this season; and the award is for individual effort as well as team leadership.

Eligible members of the football team are:

Eligible members of the baseball team are:

Chuck Aslakson and Jimmy Bohon.

Eligible members of the baseball team are:

Hal Brandt, Glenn Miller, Joe Romary, Mike Schmidtkofer, and Lance Tobert.

Eligible members of the track team are:

Tibbs Carpenter, Bob Freimuth, Bill Holden, Al Montalbano, Dave Russell, and Steve Tullberg.

Eligible members of the hockey team are:

Bob Busse, Tom French, and Fritz Ragatz.

The eligible member of the cross country team is:

Steve Tullberg.

Eligible members of the golf team are:

Rolf Parmann and Dave Penn.

The eligible member of the swimming team is: Art Seifert.

Eligible members of the fencing team are:

Dave Rusch and Dick Weber.

Eligible members of the wrestling team are:

Joe Milek and Dick Nalley.

Eligible members of the gymnastics team are:

Pete Bauer and Fred Roethlisberger.

Eligible members of the tennis team are:

Gary Kirk and Tom Oberlin.

Eligible members of the crew are:

Kent Carnahan, Dennis Gillespe, Tom Haworth, and Don Mowry.

Gridders Gain 'Polish'

Despite the adversity of poor playing conditions at last Saturday's scrimmage, Milt Bruhn has now established a semblance of a line-up and will spend the remaining weeks of spring football practice "polishing" his platoons in an effort to improve on last season's disappointing record.

Saturday's scrimmage, played on loose dirt and little grass on the Camp Randall gridiron, was dominated by the defensive units.

The offensive platoon managed three scores during the afternoon—two by sophomore Tom Jankowski and one by hard-driving fullback, Kim Wood.

The first scoring drive was spearheaded by Jankowski, who gained 58 yards in ten carries and climaxed the march with a five yard jaunt off left tackle.

The second offensive drive that reached paydirt was the result of Jim Grudzinski's timely pass in-233 yards through the air with 15 completions out of 31 passes.

Burt, who directed two touch-down marches, was the leading passer with 13 out of 23 for 209 yards, though three of his tosses were intercepted.

Jankowski was the bulwark of the rushing offensive with 86 yards in 22 carries. Jerry Hackbart compiled 58 yards in 13 attempts, Jim Waller 50 in 18, and Kim Wood 40 in 10.

Nothing conclusive was gained in the search for receiving talent but, during the scrimmage, Joel Jensen, split end hopeful, nabbed four for 36 yards. Denny Lager caught three for 62 yards, and sophomore Vic Janule, who impresses Bruhn with his speed, speared one for 61, which led to the final score.

The front line of the No. 1 defensive unit was paced by Mo Maselter and made passing difficult with the pressure it applied.

Over-all in evaluation, Bruhn is impressed by the steady improvement of tackle Phil Sobocinski, Maselter, Mike London, linebacker Bob Richter, and Bob Grossman in the defensive backfield; "He has improved and now belongs in the deep secondary."

In addition to Grossman, the secondary is established with Dave Fronek, Grudzinski, and Tom Brigham.

According to Bruhn, there are still many possibilities in the split-end competition. Lager, Janule, Lou Jung, and Jensen are all mentioned by the coach. Another strong candidate is freshman John Tietz, whose bad knee is "healing nicely" but which still exempts him from contact.

At the moment, the indication is that there will be only one senior lineman—Mike Sachse. Otherwise, Dick LaCroix and Mike Reibold are competing for one guard spot. Bruhn also praises another guard hopeful, Sam Wheeler "as a comer with a future."

It is Bruhn's hope that his football team has a future.

NETMEN CLOBBER IOWA

Wisconsin's tennis team swept all six singles and went on to score its second Big Ten win by whipping Iowa's Hawkeyes 7-2, Tuesday. The visitors captured the first two doubles after the Badgers had clinched the match.

terception. Grudzinski, originally considered for the split end opening, will now be used exclusively in the defensive backfield. Kim Wood culminated this march with a three yard plunge.

A 61 yard pass play from Chuck Burt, leading candidate in the quarterback derby, to Vic Janule was what put the ball in scoring position for the offense's third tally. The TD was finally scored by Jankowski from the one.

The afternoon's totals revealed that the offense gained 311 yards in 88 attempts on the ground and
