BIRGE TALKS TO COMMITTEE ON FINANCES

Presents Budget at Legislative Hearing On Appropriations Bill

BY J. G. CROWNHART

Appearing before the Joint Finance committee of the legislature, President E. A. Birge and Business Manager H. J. Thorkelson began the work of presenting the needs of the university for the coming two years.

In a detailed general statement President Birge presented the budget requirements for the coming biennium as follows:

Allowed 1920-21

Operation	$4,167,245
Maintenance	137,500
Capital	1,595,780
Totals	$5,900,525

Estimates 1921-22

Operation	$4,712,998
Maintenance	169,725
Capital	1,969,185
Totals	$6,697,928

1922-23

Operation	4,712,998

Twice as much Teaching

"The University is giving twice as much teaching as it was ten years ago" declared Birge, "and nearly 50 per cent more than immediately the war."

"The increase of unit costs of teaching due to increased salaries, wages, and prices is also about 50 when compared to pre-war costs."

"Increase of faculty salaries since 1913-14 has been slightly under 50% when averages are made either of single groups or of the faculty as a

Engineers Will Kiss the "Blarney Stone" Saturday in Honor of St. Pat.

Kissing the "Blarney stone," in accordance with the St. Patrick's day tradition of the School of Engineering will be dutifully performed Saturday. The slide-rule artists, 1,200 strong, have been arranging this week for their annual St. Patrick's day parade. Mysterious sounds in the engineering building and the appearance of many mustaches now herald the time-honored event.

"St. Patrick was an engineer," the official song of every loyal plumber, will resound once more on State street Saturday afternoon as the parade forms at 1:30 at Science hall and proceeds to the capitol. The plans of the floats and stunts are as usual, being kept secret. The law shop and the commerce students will be represented, however, in a more convincing fashion than ever, according to present arrangements.

"Take-offs" on other schools will also be given.

Tractors have been procured for use in the parade which will proceed to the capitol, march around the square, and return to the lower campus. Here the sacred ceremony of kissing the "Blarney stone" will be held on the east steps of the library.

CLOSERS FOR WISCONSIN TEAMS IN CONTESTS TOMORROW NIGHT

THOMAS AMLIE '21

I. ARNOLD PERSTEIN '21

Although this is his first year at Wisconsin, Thomas Amlie won a closership on the Wisconsin affirmative team in the debate on "Soviet Russia" against Illinois at Music hall tomorrow night because of his part performance at other schools. He was an intercollegiate debater at North Dakota where he was also elected to Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic fraternity. Last year he was a member of the intercollegiate debate squad at Minnesota. He is better versed on the Russian question than any man on either team.

Arnold Perstein, closer for the Wisconsin negative team, had the unique experience last year of debating both sides of the same question against two conference universities. His team scored the first intercollegiate debate victory ever won by Wisconsin against Illinois. He is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, Artus, Phi Kappa Phi, a former president of the forensic board and Athenae, and a Cardinal editorial writer. In his sophomore year he closed for one of Athenae's semi-public debate teams.

FRENCH AUTHOR LECTURES TODAY

"Bronte Sisters" is Subject of
First Talk, in English, at 4:30

Abbe Ernest Dimnet, professor of English at the College of Stanislas, Paris, one of the world's foremost Catholic schools, speaks at 4:30 today in 165 Bascom hall on "The Bronte Sisters." He will deliver another lecture, in French, at 8 o'clock in the same room on "Coming Men in French Literature."

Abbe Dimnet has lectured with great success in a number of American universities and cities, according to Prof. F. A. Ernst of the Romance language department. He comes with the reputation of speaking English almost as well as his native tongue.

He is both a journalist and a literary historian. He has been, for a number of years, a contributor of literary and social essays to English and American periodicals, and was also, for seven years, Paris correspondent for the North American Review. He has written a number of volumes of social comment, one of which "France Herself Again," published in October, 1914, is the standard book on the development of modern France.

This is the second tour of America which Abbe Dimnet has made. His first tour, in 1919, was made for the purpose of seeking aid for the reestablishment of the Catholic university of Lille which suffered more from the German invasion than any other school in France. While he was in America Abbe Dimnet received a letter of commendation from Marshal Foch regarding his work.

"The work you are undertaking is too worthy of interest for me not to make in its favor every possible wish," he wrote. "All my wishes for your complete success follow you to America."

CONVO IS PLAN OF EXPOSITION

All-university Pre-vacation
Meeting is Scheduled for April 7

An all-university exposition convocation is the latest plan from Exposition headquarters. Arrangements are being made to have the convocation at 4:30 April 7, before the students leave for the spring vacation.

Unusual Program Planned
A special committee will be appointed to work out the details of the convocation and the list of the speakers with the feature that is promised, will be announced in an early edition of the Cardinal. An unusual program of the affair giving also the high lights of the exposition has been planned.

It is expected that the students will bring back their relatives after the vacation for at that time they will have the opportunity to see the working of the entire university at a glance. High schools from all parts of the state are beginning to respond to the invitations sent out and the early indications point to a flood of high school classes coming to Madison the week-end of the exposition. The fact that the legislature is in session at the same time is an added attraction for the state students.

CAST CHOSEN FOR SPANISH CLUB PLAY

The cast for the Spanish club play, which will be presented in Lathrop hall on April 5, has been announced. The leading characters in the comedy, "La Coja y el Encojido" will be played by Minette Montgomery '21, and Herman Hocman '23.

The following people were chosen from the recent tryouts: Marguerite Skaar '21, Nadia Levitin '22, Philip Gates '21, and Calvert Dredrich '24.

DEBATE TEAMS MEET ILLINOIS AND MICHIGAN

"Soviet Russia" is Subject of Discussion Tomorrow
Night in Music Hall

H. W. Keele, J. T. Chadwell, and G. G. Gilbert, closer, compose the Illinois negative debating team that will meet with the Wisconsin affirmative squad tomorrow night at Music hall on the question of recognition of Soviet Russia.

Advance information indicates that the Illinois team will give the Badger argue artists plenty to worry about when it comes to the art of debating. Gilbert, the Illini closer, has been on two intercollegiate debates this year and has established himself as something of a forensic luminary at Illinois. Chadwell is also an experienced man having been an intercollegiate debater last year. This is Keele's first try on the varsity team.

Only Home Debate

The Illinois-Wisconsin debate will mark the only appearance of a Wisconsin intercollegiate debating team at Madison this year. The other two scheduled contests, one against Northwestern and the other against Minnesota, on the open shop question will both be away from home. It was at first thought possible to have the Northwestern contest here but plans had to be altered when the Methodists' schedule was arranged.

In view of the fact that the audience will be permitted to question the debaters after the close of tomorrow's contest, it is expected that the largest crowd in Wisconsin's forensic history will be on hand for the Illinois debate. The advance ticket sale, which has been exceptionally good, will be continued today and tomorrow at the University pharmacy and Hook

MILITARY BALL IS FORMAL REUNION FOR SERVICE MEN

Cadet Corps is Endeavoring to Restrict Unnecessary
Expenditures

"The single purpose of the 1921 Military ball is to provide a formal reunion for all ex-service men," said Col. J. Calvin Wolfe '21, general chairman, yesterday. "The cadet corps is merely the sponsor, the manager, and the host of the function."

"The price of tickets has been placed within the reach of all former service men, and, as the affair is to end at 1 o'clock, cabs will not be a necessity. It has never been the custom to use cabs in the past, and the cadet corps does not encourage their use this year. Flowers will be absolutely out of place and will not be allowed."

"While the military uniform will be considered the proper dress of the evening, it is probable that full evening dress will be worn, especially by the men who have not been in the service and who are not members of the cadet corps.

"The committee wants it distinctly understood," stated Colonel Wolfe, "that although the ninth annual ball, to be held on April 8, is given in honor of the service men, yet the attendance will not be restricted to former service men and cadets. It is to be an all-university dance and open to all students who wish to attend."

Have you noticed the city water the past few days? It's not bad stuff to eat if you get yourself a spoon and an ice pick.

Had it foam, it might be mistaken for beer, ale, stout, or any other of those heinous malt beverages mortals used to pour into themselves in civilized times. The copy is here spotted with a gentle tear.

To return to a familiar and popular subject we shall state that Bill Hoard has a daily rendezvous with a tonsorial artist situated somewhere in the Hinkson block. Bill's hair has something to do with these engagements. Some say he is mad at his hair—has even had quite a falling out with it, but we don't know for sure. That's what Scotty says, anyway.

Have you ever noticed the street cars around 8 o'clock in the morning? They are as crowded as the floor of a Beta dancing party.

Fellow students, do not be misled by the leather book bag carried around by Georgy Blum. It is only his laundry case. You can't get away with that Phi Beta Kappa stuff, George, we know you too well. Paul Price carries one too. We haven't the slightest idea what he uses it for. It would make a good bootlegger's sack, though. Not?

We note the Military ball is to be another capital party.

in many of the events. Michigan will enter a duo of long distance swimmers and Iowa has a pair of good divers, but with the exception of a few scattered points which may be won by these teams and possibly Minnesota, the majority of the scoring will be done by Chicago, Northwestern, Wisconsin, and Illinois.

"Chicago and Northwestern will fight it out for the first two places at Evanston," Coach Steinauer said. "Blinks of Chicago seems unbeatable and without doubt he is the best dash man in the Big Ten. Although Northwestern beat Chicago in the dual meet, some of the weaker squads will pick up points in the conference meet and enable Chicago to slide by with a victory."

Badger Lineup

The Badger lineup follows:
Capt. John Koch '21, dives, back stroke; Mark J. Bach '21, relay, 40 and 100 yard swims; William K. Collins '22, dives and breast stroke; S. G. Baker '22, 40 and 200 yard swims; Lincoln A. Sollitt '22, 40 yard dash and relay; Haldeman '23, 200 yard swim and relay; P. E. Peterson '23, breast stroke; James M. Logie '21, 220 yard swim; Henry S. Rubel '23, plunge; Ora McMurray '21, plunge; Albert H. Lahmann '23, 220 yard swim; A. U. Pabst '23, breast stroke.

SWIMMING TEAM ENTERS WESTERN COLLEGIATE MEET

This Week's Conference at Northwestern Will Decide Championship

Although the Wisconsin swimming team has suffered consecutive defeats by Illinois, Northwestern, and Chicago, Coach Steinauer's charges have an excellent chance of gaining a second or third place in the Western Intercollegiate Conference Athletic association swimming meet at Patten pool, Northwestern university today and Friday.

The squad leaves for Evanston today and will work out in the Northwestern tank in preparation for the preliminary swims tonight. Swimmers who weather the time trials will enter the final races on Friday night.

Coach Joseph C. Steinauer is depending on at least four of the men to count points in the Big Ten meet.

Prospects Are Good
Wisconsin, with Koch, Bach Davies, and Peterson, is assured of several second and third places and perhaps a first in the 200-yard breast stroke," said Coach Steinauer. "If Wisconsin wins places in the dashes, 200-yard breast stroke, and the 200-yard swim, these points will be enough to land the Badgers in first division."

Capt. John Koch '21 won a third place in the dive and a second in the back stroke against Chicago, which is considered first class in conference swimming teams. In the 40 yard and 100 yard dashes, Mark J. Bach '21 pushed Edward Blinks, Maroon sophomore star and record-breaker, and F. C. Davies '21 copped a third place in the century.

Chicago, Northwestern, and Illinois are the most formidable teams that Wisconsin will meet. Chicago beat the Badgers 47 to 22, Illinois barely won a 35 to 33 victory, and Northwestern only insured a 37 to 31 win over Wisconsin by winning the last event on the program.

The Maroons will depend on Captain Yegge in the 150 yard back stroke, Blinks in the dashes, and Gordon in the plunge for most of their counters. Gordon plunged 60 yards in 21 4-5 seconds against Wisconsin. He holds the conference record in this event.

Northwestern Has Good Men

Northwestern, 1920 Big Ten champion, has Paver and Hayford in the short events and Dickson in the plunge. Paver and Hayford were members of last year's championship team, and this season were instrumental in defeating Chicago by one point.

Illinois possesses a well-balanced aggregation with no outstanding stars, and the Illini are expected to cut in for second and third positions.

BASEBALL MEN SOON TO BEGIN OUTDOOR WORK

Basketball Squad Furnishes Several Good Prospects for 1921 Team

The Badger baseball squad is being strengthened this week by the appearance of Ceaser, Tebell, Rollie Williams, and Jack Williams, all basketball men, at practice. They are all men of some experience and undoubtedly will make strong runs for positions on the team.

If the sun continues to shine for a few days, outdoor workouts will be commenced about the first of next week. Coach Lowman is satisfied with the showing that the men have made indoors, but will be able to predict the season's prospects more definitely after a few open-air practices are held.

The pitching staff for the season appears to be fairly strong. Christesen has shown up well, not only as a pitcher, but as a hitter and a fielder as well. Miller, F. Williams, and Pickford are all men who may be used either on the mound or in the outfield. On the whole, the coach feels that the pitching staff is somewhat stronger than that of last year.

The infield is fairly taken care of for the coming season. Although the loss of Willograd at first base will be severely felt, Jack Williams has shown up well and will probably be stationed there. Captain Elliot and Ed Farrington, two of last year's "vets," will play at short stop and third base. Lyman, Hardell, Skafe, and Piggott are all being tried out at second base.

Just what men will handle the outfield positions still remains undecided. Ceaser, a letter man of last year, Snow, Rollie Williams, and Tebell are all likely candidates.

The Wisconsin team always labors under the one big disadvantage that the team is given so little chance to get into shape for the conference schedule. Although Illinois, Indiana, and Michigan are already in good shape, they will be taken south on training trips before commencing their schedules. The Badgers, on the other hand, will be given little more than a week of outdoor preparation before their season begins. Then, after a hurried preliminary schedule, they will be forced to open the conference schedule before they are in as good shape as the other teams.

The Michigan team has been practicing for several weeks and is planning to make a strong run for conference honors. With Parks, a veteran pitcher who is not excelled in the conference, as a nucleus, they will unquestionably have a team which will cause no small amount of worry to the rest of the pennant aspirants.

ALEXANDER SPEAKS TO SHORT COURSE

"Demonstrate that your education has been practical, then talk about it," urged Dr. A. S. Alexander, of the College of Agriculture, who addressed the short course graduating class at their class day exercises held yesterday afternoon in the auditorium of Agricultural hall.

"Make your farm attractive. What is the use of getting a degree if you have a slothful, untidy, weedy farm? Earn your position in the community and then take it." Dr. Alexander further advised the students as to the best practical means of using what they have gained, both in agricultural and cultural pursuits.

DEBATE TEAMS TO APPEAR TOMORROW

Negative Debate at Michigan

The Wisconsin negative team consisting of Charles D. Assovsky '21, Martin R. Kriewaldt '22, and I. Arnold Perstein '21, closer, accompanied by Prof. A. T. Weaver, left at 6 o'clock this morning for Ann Arbor to meet the Michigan affirmative squad. An interesting departure in conducting debates is noted in the fact that the contest at Michigan will be formal and the debaters as well as everyone else connected with the debate will appear in evening clothes. The debate here will be informal.

Although each member of the Michigan team is participating in an intercollegiate debate for the first time tomorrow night, the Badger negative is not in the least overconfident. The Wolverines have already been strong on the platform and are certain to furnish as much or more competition as Illinois will at Madison. Last year they registered wins over both Wisconsin and Illinois.

WASHINGTON—Pres. Harding approved the plan to introduce first at the special session of congress the anti-dumping bills and others fixing ad valorem valuation on a basis of the American dollar.

GORDON EXPLAINS OPPORTUNITY IN SOCIAL SERVICE

"Social Service does not apply solely to people who are down and out," said Prof. E. B. Gordon of the Extension division Tuesday in his talk at the Y. W. C. A. social service convocation. "There is need of service in every town, community, group, and even on this campus we see the need of it."

Professor Gordon spoke especially of the opportunities for college women to better their own communities. He urged the women to make use of their talents in music, dramatics, or their vocations as teachers to raise the standard in their neighborhoods. "There is nothing you can acquire that is quite so valuable as the spirit of service. You can get your greatest joy and satisfaction out of life in doing social service work—not solely professional work, but the social service in your immediate environment."

Helen Kasbeer '23 who presided at the meeting explained that its purpose was to show the women the various activities open to those interested in social service. Miriam Areys '23 told of her experience as a "Big Sister" to a little sixth ward girl whom she tutored. Helen Stevenson '21 explained the work of the university women as advisors to the "Girl Reserves," a branch of the national Y. W. C. A. for the girls of grammar and high school age, and the younger working girls. Marjorie Ruff '23 gave an account of the "play" groups organized for the children of "Little Italy." Martha Whitlock '22 discussed the work of the university women as advisers to the industrial girls. "Through these associations," she said, "we come to have an intelligent understanding of the real problems of girls who are in industry."

Women are needed in every branch of social service work at present. Those interested may see Miss Andersen, Helen Kasbeer, or Martha Whitlock at the Y. W. C. A. office in Lathrop hall.

ATTEND THE DEBATE

No question that could possibly be chosen at this time for an intercollegiate debate would be of more immediate and fundamental importance than the question of the recognition of Soviet Russia, and the opening of diplomatic relations with that government. Perhaps there is no issue in world politics which has been more deliberately clouded by various forces than the government initiated in Russia since the overthrow of the Romanoff dynasty.

Organized conspiracies to withhold the truth about Russia have rendered it extremely difficult to obtain reliable information upon which a fair judgment could be made. Gradually, however, the wall has been broken down, and an accurate account of conditions in Russia has been obtained. The American people, deceived by the propaganda which has been sent out by sinister interests, has at length lost interest in reports about Russia. This condition is deplorable in view of the fact that the future peace of the world depends to a great extent upon the experiment in government now in effect in that country.

Any effort to bring about a clarification of such an issue is commendable. That such a question should be selected as the subject for the Intercollegiate debate which will be held at Music hall tomorrow evening is evidence that students are vitally interested in the really big problems that are taxing the minds of statesmen today. In the debate, Wisconsin will be represented by a team that knows its subject and how to present it. The Illinois team comes prepared to put up a hard fight.

An innovation has been inaugurated by the Department of Speech in the conduct of the debate. Upon the close of the speeches, the audience will be invited to ask the speakers any question upon any phase of the subject. Indications are that Music hall will be packed Friday evening. The only sure way to get a seat is to go early.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

OVERS of liberty the world over today join hands and hearts with the sons and daughters of the Emerald Isle to do homage to the Patron Saint of Ireland.

St. Patrick, renowned for his qualities as an inspiring leader of men, is alleged to have been an engineer. Song and legend credit him with the invention of the calculus which he "handed down for us to cuss!" Biologists maintain that St. Patrick banished forever from the "Old Sod" snakes and other creeping things. Many good Hibernians today regret that the good man did not exercise his powers of banishment upon certain objectionable representatives of the genus from Ulster and Kilarney.

A St. Patrick's day celebration (not the old-fashioned kind) will be held at Music hall this evening under the auspices of the Mercier club of the university. The meeting will be presided over by Governor J. J. Blaine. A former officer of the A. E. F., who recently visited Ireland, will deliver the principal address.

The wearing of the green is the order of the day!

THE UNIVERSITY BUDGET

Due to the tremendous increase in enrollment within the past few years and the almost complete cessation of building operations on the campus, the tentative building program, and the increased cost of instruction, call for an appropriation from the legislature that appears inordinately high to those who fail to take into consideration the university's needs at this time.

The first public hearing of the appropriation bill will be held at the state capitol today before the legislative finance committee. The bill which will be discussed calls for an appropriation of approximately $15,000,000. Students who are interested in the growth and expansion of the university and its service to the state should attend the hearings at the capitol during the next few days.

BULLETIN BOARD

PYTHIA TRYOUTS

Pythia Literary society will hold its semi-annual tryouts Friday and Saturday, March 18 and 19.

MEEK RESIGNS MADISON POST

Resignation, Effective On July 1, Accepted by School Board

Supt. C. S. Meek Tuesday night notified the board of education that he had accepted the superintendency of the Toledo schools and he presented his resignation which was accepted.

He severs his connection with the schools at the end of the year, July 1, but will remain in Madison until August so as to complete his lecture work at the summer session of the university.

Supt. Meek will direct the expenditure of $11,000,000 for school expansion in Toledo within the next five years. A fourth high school costing more than $2,000,000 has just been completed, and plans are being prepared for the erection of four new junior high schools.

He was granted permission by the board to investigate during spring vacation the Lincoln school of New York, known as the greatest educational experiment station in the world, at the invitation of the Lincoln directors. Mr. Meek will make a report on the practicability of the methods employed from the point of view of the schools of the country.

The board approved the policy of exchanging teachers with other schools. Supt. Meek is negotiating with the Colorado Springs superintendent for the exchange of teachers.

Accounts aggregating $10,000 were allowed by the board. The resignation of Miss Esther Snyder, teaching the sixth grade at the Draper school, was accepted. A leave of absence was granted to Miss Elizabeth Nesberg, third grade, Longfellow school. Mrs. Velma Schenck was elected to teach the sixth grade at Draper school, and Mrs. E. E. Quick was named to teach the second grade at Longfellow school for the remainder of the school year.

Robbers Cave Discovered at Maple Bluff

Search for looted mail by Postmaster Devine Tuesday afternoon revealed a veritable robber's cave on Maple Bluff, stocked with swords, golf sticks and baseball equipment taken from the A. D. Frederickson and William Lyman cottages on the east shore of Lake Mendota. Both cottages had windows broken, and both had furnishings strewn about. Glenn Seifert and Wilfred Nebel, high school students, saw what they believed was a mail bag near the shore of the lake. They reported it to Postmaster Devine, who drove out with James Burke, a postal employee, to investigate on the chance that it might be one of the mail bags stolen in recent robberies. They could not find the bag, but they discovered a cave filled with loot from the cottages. Mr. Frederickson's name engraved on a Masonic sword led to a discovery of the burglary of the cottage.

Don't Judge Modern Girl Harshly, Plea

CHICAGO—The extremes adopted by the modern girl should not be judged too harshly, said Mary Ross Potter, dean of women at Northwestern University last night at a meeting of ministers' wives. "There is nothing wrong with the girl of today because she uses a lip stick and a little rouge and a dab of powder," she said. "Of course the dress of the girl of today—skirt to knees almost, flimsy stockings, flimsy everything—is not the dress of mother's generation. Never-the-less she is sweet and good and kind at heart."

At The Theaters

AT THE GRAND

Heralded as one of the most unique photodramas of the season, "Unseen Forces" with an all-star cast headed by Sylvia Breamer, will be the attraction at the Grand for the balance of the week. The picture is based on the Robert W. Chambers's story "Athalie," and as the title would indicate, has to do with "unseen forces."

Sylvia Breamer has the role of Mariam Holt, a girl possessed of peculiar intuitive powers which enable her to foretell certain future happenings. She is known as the girl who sees around corners.

Supporting Miss Breamer are such well known screen stars as Conrad Nagel, Rosemary Theby, Robert Cain and Sam De Grasse.

AT THE STRAND

Ambition, love, mystery, the sorid side of theatrical life, and mother love and trust, are the ingredients which are used to make up "The Greatest Love" a picture starring Vera Gordon, the mother of "Humoresque." This masterpiece of mother love is now being shown at the Strand theater.

Vera Gordon is magnificent as the mother who with infinite pains builds up the fortunes of her family, only to see them topple over when she believed her work was accomplished, and she could pass the remainder of her life in peace and prosperity.

In removing her daughter from the poverty-stricken squalor of the East Side slum, Mrs. Lantini believed she was also removing her from temptation and danger. That evil is not a question of environment was proved to her at a time when it seemed as if her cup of sorrow was overflowing.

The added attractions are a Bray Pictograph, a Cartoon and a Post Nature picture "Fishing."

AT THE FULLER

"Blind Wives," a special screen version of "My Lady's Dress," the internationally successful play by Edward Knoblock, will be the film attraction at the Fuller theater today. This screen version was produced by William Fox and nearly six months was consumed in making it. Anyone who knows the stage play will understand this, because there are five different acts or sections in the work, utilizing three different countries. One scene is located in New York, another in France, a third in Russia, and one in the slums or "sweatshop" district.

The play itself has all the material essential for a big motion picture, and the theme has an unusual feminine appeal. All women are interested in milady's dress. Some may learn a lesson from this fine Fox picture.

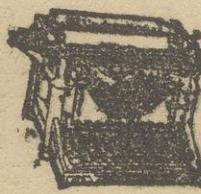

AT THE ORPHEUM

With two outstanding attractions on the new bill which opens at the Orpheum tonight, and four other acts that come near, if they do not attain stellar distinction, vaudeville fans will find an unusually fine bill ranging all the way from the lighter side of life to the artistic, the latter being shown in the splendid musical and dancing act of Ota Gygi and Maryon Vadie. Miss Vadie is considered by many whose opinion should be authoritative to be "America's Peerless Danseuse," possessing youth, beauty, grace, ability and technique, while Mr. Gygi, at one time court violinist to the king of Spain enjoys an enviable reputation throughout the musical world, and together these two artists present a joint appearance that is as important as it is impressive.

Second honors on this bill will go to the ever-welcome comedians John and Albert Swor, famed for their remarkable impersonation of the Southern negro, offering comedy, songs and dancing, sure to score a big hit. James Silver and Helen Duval will be seen in the comedy skit "The Star Boarder," while Sophie Kassmir and company present a cycle of delightful songs. "The Mysterious Masquerader" in which Marion Shirley and George Herman are featured will prove a surprising comedy novelty and The Toyama Japanese Troupe of four will complete the bill with "A Nipponese Novelty Act." The above bill will be on view for the balance of the week, including the special matinees on Saturday and Sunday, and owing to the unusual class of this program reservation of seats should be made early.

"Increased expenses" continued the President, "have been coming on during several years. Increased prices began some years back, as everybody knows, and wages also rose. But no noteworthy rise of salaries came until February 1919, after the war. During the war the decreased attendance of students and decreased faculty kept expenses close to pre-war totals, since the war they have risen rapidly and the increase of appropriations has been met from accumulated balances which are now more than exhausted."

The entire afternoon was taken up with the general statement of the requests leaving the requests for the land and new buildings for Thursday afternoon. Besides the President and the Business Manager all the deans of the colleges were present to answer questions and explain individual needs.

When the hearing is completed, at the end of the week, the Joint Finance committee will go into executive session to determine the exact amount to be granted and draft a bill to be presented the following week.

With the detailed statements of the use to be made of the total amount requested, any fancied opposition did not seem to be apparent. Though the spirit of the assembly especially is "economy" it does not extend to the point where they will allow state buildings to depreciate needlessly due to a lack of general repair.

The hearing will be continued Thursday and is open to the public. The committee meets at 2 P. M. in room 334 south wing of the capitol.

SHORT COURSE STUDENTS GET CERTIFICATES

President Stone of Purdue
Will Deliver Graduation
Address Today

Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue university, will deliver the graduation address to the 1921 Short Course class this morning at 9 o'clock in Agricultural hall auditorium. Following Dr. Stone's address, Pres. E. A. Birge will award certificates of graduation.

The class finishing the short course in agriculture numbers 100 men. This morning's exercise completes their two year term of college. The men represent the majority of the counties of Wisconsin and several other states. The knowledge of agriculture that they have acquired here will make them an important factor in dealing with the agriculture development of the state. Most of the men will return to home farms and apply their knowledge to the practical side of farming. They are also well fitted to deal with the economic and social problems of the farm and community.

This year's class makes a total of nearly 6,000 students who have completed the short course in agriculture since its beginning in 1885. E. J. Cooper has been the director of the short course through the last year.

Program for Today

The following is this morning's program:

Overture, "Cymbeline" — Short Course Orchestra.
Invocation—Rev. J. B. Gleason.
Class Oration—Harry J. Precourt.
Selection—Short Course Orchestra
Address—Dr. W. E. Stone, president of Purdue University.

Song—Short Course Quartet.
Music, "A Night in June"—Short Course Orchestra.

Awarding of Certificates—Dr. E. A. Birge, president of University of Wisconsin.

Benediction—Rev. J. B. Gleason.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY ENGINEER MAG IS ON SALE TODAY

Illustrated History of Annual Celebration in This Issue

The March number of the Wisconsin Engineer, fittingly issued on St. Patrick's day, will be on sale in the hall of the Engineering building today and tomorrow.

The feature article is entitled, "Commercial Aviation and the Engineer," and it contains an excellent survey of the problems of airplane design which must be solved before the airplane can become as common as the automobile. At the same time the opportunity for the young engineer in attacking these problems is pointed out.

The second article by Prof. Max Mason on his submarine detector goes more into the refinements of the invention and the obstacles encountered in the attempts to perfect the device. Another article on concrete ships takes up in detail the side-launching method of getting the completed ship into the water.

In keeping with the date of issue is a history of St. Patrick's day celebrations at Wisconsin and other schools, illustrated with a few typical scenes from St. Patrick's day parades. A large list of alumni notes, and campus notes, together with interesting material in the Engineering review, complete the contents of this issue.
