Letter Men Set Wednesday as Official "W" Day

Tomorrow will find the campus dotted with the wearers of the "W" sweater as a result of the designation of every Wednesday an official "W" day by the "W" club, with the sanction of the Athletic board.

"One of the best reasons for a "W" day is the fact that it will help to get more men out for athletic competition," said Jack Harris football captain-elect and president of the "W" club, last night. "Such action will also regain the "W" its position of honor among the students."

All students who have been awarded athletic insignia of any kind here at the university are urged to wear it every Wednesday to help make "W" day a successful institution.

Forty-seven men were elected to membership in the Haresfoot Dramatic club at a meeting of the organization last Sunday following the completion of the 1924 tour of "Twinkle Twinkle."

The club also elected E. Mortimer Shuter to honorary membership in the club. Shuter coached last year's and this year's shows, and members of the club attribute much of their success to his efforts.

The preliminary mock initiation of the newly elected men will be held Thursday evening during the dinner hour, according to active members of the club. On Saturday evening the formal initiation and banquet will be held at the Park hotel. Following the banquet the club will attend the Louis Mann show at the Parkway. The annual serenade with all visiting alumni, the active members and the initiates participating will conclude the evening plans.

FACULTY ADDS $781 TO FRIENDSHIP FUND

That faculty contributions to the Student Friendship fund total $781.97 was made known in the official announcements given out Saturday. The $50 contribution from Lathrop hall and the Women's gymnasium was the largest single contribution, according to Prof. A. S. Pease of the biology department, who was in charge of the drive.

This amount added to the contribution of the student body, makes Wisconsin's contribution to the drive $3381.97.

MAY 31 DATE FOR TRACK MEET AND VENETIAN NIGHT

Elaborate Program Also Includes Tennis Tourney For State High Schools

Plans for the thirtieth interscholastic track meet and the annual Venetian night fete were launched at a meeting of committee chairmen in the Union building yesterday noon.

The field meet, in which more than 80 state high schools are expected to enter, will be under the supervision of Coach Meade Burke, assisted by Gene Tuhtar '25.

Werneck Heads Tennis

Orin Werneck '24, who has charge of the tennis tournament to be held in connection with the meet, spoke of his plans for encouraging competition in the event. If possible, and if the state board of control permits, entries will be accepted from high schools of other states, according to Werneck.

"May 31, the date set for Venetian night, being the day after Memorial day, which is a holiday, affords a week end for this event which would be difficult to equal throughout the year," said Fred Gustorf, general chairman. Many students will be entertaining guests for that period, having Friday and most of Saturday free, and a successful water carnival and Venetian night fete will be appreciated by them, as well as by the high school athletes, for whom the entertainment is planned," he concluded.

Venetian Day Planned

Venetian day, a new event substituted for the morning program, is being planned by assistant general chairman Lincoln Frazier '26. Events of the program will include the usual crew races and boat races as well as many new stunts that will be arranged, according to Frazier.

"It is meaningless for us to say that Venetian night and the carnival will be the most beautiful and spectacular ever staged," was the comment of Chairman Gustorf to the committee heads. "Let us do our best to make the event as successful as we can and then let others judge for themselves."

SPAIN IS LEADER IN ROMANTICISM

—CASTRO

National Theater and Ballads Models of New Thought

That romanticism was the natural outcome of the desire to find new things and that it was the Spanish ballads and the national theatre of Spain that were sought as models of the new mode of expression, was the opinion expressed by Dr. Americo Castro of the University of Madrid in a lecture on "Spanish Romanticism" in Bascom hall yesterday afternoon.

"Romanticism, like any new direction in human thought, cannot be known in any of its manifestations in history, literature, philosophy or art without a clear knowledge of the fundamental spirit of the time," Dr. Castro said. "Therefore, the reading of individual books only tends to throw the reader into confusion and gets him nowhere if he fails to consider the guiding direction of thought."

The beginning of the twentieth century marks another era in the development of thought and the histories of the future will speak of it as such, according to Dr. Castro.

"Opposed to classicism which was based on generalities and abstractions and flourished particularly under the brilliant civilization of Louis XIV of France, romanticism goes to the individual, the typical, and the concrete and is international," Dr. Castro pointed out.

"The Ideology of Spain" will be the subject of today's lecture which will be given at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in 185 Bascom hall.

Senior Check-up on Members For Memorial Union

"A number of senior men have been dropping into my office during the past two or three days to find out how many of the class of '24 in their fraternity are life members in the Memorial Union," said John Dollard, secretary of the union, yesterday.

"These men have heard that there are a number of organizations in which the seniors have subscribed 100 per cent to the Union, and they have eagerly checked over the list to see just how their group stands. Each man has left the office telling me that he was going home and personally get every senior in the house to take a life membership in the Union, so that his fraternity might be among the first 100 per centers," said Dollard.

These men have all secured pledge blanks from John Dawson '24, in charge of the senior class Memorial Union drive.

COMMITTEE PLACES 250 CARNIVAL MEN

Fraternities and Rooming Houses Will Take in Athletes

Rooms for more than 250 high school boys who will be here this week end for the first annual Wisconsin relay carnival are being secured from fraternities and rooming houses by Paul Eschweiler '24 and the housing committee, of which he is chairman.

"We are trying to assign each of the 28 teams which will be here to one house, so that the men can be together. Several fraternities have requested that they be allowed to entertain certain teams, and in every case where this is possible Eschweiler '24 we are doing so. If there are any other fraternities which have a preference in the high school boys they would like to have, they must notify me at once," Eschweiler said.

The last minute entries which were sent in on Saturday make it necessary that several more rooms be secured. Thus far the fraternities have been very willing to cooperate with the carnival committee, according to Eschweiler.

Men who have been working on the housing committee besides Eschweiler are Charles V. Gary '24, Walter H. Plewke '24 and James R. Flickinger '26.

STUDENTS INJURED IN ACCIDENTS RECOVER

The three students who suffered in accidents which occurred on Saturday, April 26, have all recovered from their injuries.

Sumner Harris '24, who was slightly injured when the coupe which he was driving, on the road to Middleton, was hurtled into the ditch and overturned when crowded by an automobile driven by Harry Caird, has sustained no permanent ill effects.

Edward E. Oberlaud '26, who was with Harris, suffered cuts about his hands and face, but has fully recovered.

Arthur Roberts '25, who was overcome by escaping gas while bathing has returned to school.

BLAZE AT GATH INN STARTED BY HEATER

An electric heater which had been left burning in a room at Gath Inn, 606 North Francis, set fire to the bed clothing on a cot near the heater and burst into flames. The flames spread within the room before it was discovered and considerable damage was done. The furniture in the room was scorched and the interior decorations damaged by the firemen in putting out the blaze.

FRANK TO SPEAK IN GYM INSTEAD OF MUSIC HALL

Union Board Requests Change in Place to Accommodate Attendance

Glenn Frank, editor of the Century Magazine, who has been engaged to deliver the annual open address at the Phi Beta Kappa initiation Thursday night will speak in the men's gymnasium instead of Music hall as a result of a conference between representatives of the Union board and the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa, it was announced yesterday afternoon.

Members of the Union board, feeling that Frank is a man of such prominence and ability that as many as possible should be given an opportunity to hear him, went to representatives of Phi Beta Kappa with the special request that this unprecedeted change be made.

Expect Large Audience.

It was partly as a result of the enthusiasm with which Alexander Meiklejohn's address was greeted last year and the feeling held by those in charge that Mr. Frank would attract more students, faculty members and townspeople than Music hall would accommodate that the larger hall was secured.

Mr. Frank has chosen as his subject, "The Educated Man and the New Politics", and the address will commence at 8 o'clock. There will be no admission.

Graduate of Northwestern.

Mr. Frank graduated from Northwestern university only 12 years ago.

In 1919, after he had been out of university seven years, he was called to the assistant editorship of the Century magazine of which, two years later, he was made editor-in-chief. During his years of affiliation with this publication he has wrought many changes in it, making it more progressive in policy.

"Glenn Frank is probably the foremost orator in America," Prof. Frank C. Sharp, of the philosophy department and president of the local chapter of Phi Beta Kappa declared last night. "Those who have heard him say that he is inspiring in what he has to say and in the way he says it."

Last fall he spoke at a convocation at the University of Minnesota.

The names will be printed in the commencement invitations as they appear on the proofs. All seniors are urged to check over the spelling on this list before it is removed on Wednesday so that all mistakes may be avoided Lyman warned.

The lists are posted in the following manner: L&S seniors in Bascom hall; Agricultural seniors, Ag hall; Engineers, Engineering building; Medics, Science hall; Law seniors, Law building; Graduate students on the bulletin board in Bascom hall.

Orders for invitations will be accepted at the Print shop anytime between May 1 and May 15. These orders must be mailed on the official order blank which each senior now has in his possession. A special discount of 20 per cent prevails with all orders for engraved cards which are received before May 5.

SUMMER ROOMING APPLICATIONS OPEN

Prices Will Drop; Complete List Available Soon; No Shortage Expected

Applications for rooms for men for the summer session have started coming in but most of the applications will not be filed until next month, according to an announcement from the dean of men's office yesterday. It is expected that a complete list will be available by that time.

Prices of rooms for men will be cheaper than rooms during the regular sessions. On the average, rooms are $1 a week cheaper per occupant than for the same room during the regular term.

That rooms for summer school co-eds may be had at slightly lower rates than the other sessions is the report from the dean of women's office. The maximum price for one-half of a double room remains at $5 and for a single $6.

A list of the names of house mothers will be sent to the applicants for rooms with any other information requested. Rooms may be had in Barnard and Chadbourne halls, in many sorority houses, and the usual list of S. G. A. houses.

Applications have been coming in slowly and there is no indication that there will be a shortage of rooms this summer for either men or women.

To the Freshmen

Although the wearing of the freshman cap is not compulsory it behooves members of the class of 1927 to wear their caps in upholding the age-old tradition of the university of Wisconsin. It should be a matter of shame for a freshman not to wear his cap, since the spirit of the tradition is now based on the honor of the class and the university.

Every slacker offers an alibi. The usual alibi for not wearing the cap is "I haven't got one." If you haven't one, go and buy one. Watch '27 wear their green caps.

SOCIOLOGY COURSE TRAINS WORKERS

75 Graduates Are Now Employed in Larger Cities of Country

Now in the fifth year, the "school" for training social workers which is conducted by the department of sociology is receiving more demand for trained workers than it can supply, according to Professor J. L. Gillin of the department.

The "school" is a group of carefully selected courses, and only seniors or graduates in sociology may take them. Each year, about 15 students can be taken care of, and since the work began, about 75 students have been trained.

Now graduates of the work are employed all over the country, but chiefly in Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Cleveland, O., and Des Moines, Ia. The demand for men trained in social work is great, Professor Gillin declared, although few men take the work, thinking that it is more suitable for women.

Besides pursuing four special training courses, including methods of social case work, social agencies and social legislation, principles of social service and social organization and administration, each student must devote from 10 to 12 hours a week to practical field work for the Madison Welfare association.

During Vacation—What?

Conant made $15 a day

Neil R. Conant was a student at Bates College. He decided that he would take up some selling proposition during his summer vacation. One of the Fuller Brush Company's college representatives, Mr. Ray Smith, happened to call at Bates College, and Mr. Conant got in touch with him. Mr. Smith told him of the opportunities for a college man to sell Fuller Brushes during summer vacation; that he would be given the same thorough training in salesmanship that all Fuller Men receive; that he would have a chance to earn all the while he was learning; and, that the future was limitless, determined only by the man himself.

Mr. Conant saw that this was a real opportunity and accepted the proposition. He sums up this experience with the Fuller Organization as follows: "The Fuller Brush Company stands for the new spirit which will soon pervade most other organizations in the future. Mr. Fuller has had the foresight to lead in this spirit. It is upon such a foundation that every man is anxious to help his brother salesman and to see him succeed. A man succeeds by his own efforts, rather than by unearned effort. Every man who joins the Fuller Organization is absolutely assured of a square deal, and a chance to become a success in life."

"I had various offers from as many organizations. None of them offered me more than $30.00 a week. But, during my two months of vacation I earned, selling Fuller Brushes, an average of $10.00 a day." Conant's case is typical, as the average earnings of college men, last summer, were $1.35 an hour.

In addition to the relay events, seven special events are being offered to the high school athletes. This is the first time that a track meet has been given exclusively for high schools.

Tracksters on the squad from Milwaukee include Captain William Hamman, '24, all-around athlete; Elmer C. Krieger '25, pole vaulter; William Schmidt, '25; pole vaulter; Eugene Tuhter '25; hurdler and high jumper; James G. Kennan '27, and Frederick A. Sauer '27.

Chicago high schools have contributed at least four men for athletics at the university. Stanley J. McGivern '26, dash man; Norton J. Smith, '26, sprinter; Robert Porter '25, golf and football; and Leon V. Emmert '27, skater, are some of the men from Hyde Park and Nicholas Senn high schools.

Coach Louis Berger of Tilden high schools, Chicago is a wearer

the rest of the week in matches to eliminate the squad to seven golfers who will remain active for the rest of the season. The four men who will comprise the team representing Wisconsin at Illinois and Northwestern Saturday and Monday will be chosen during the week.

"From all indications at present, the team this year should be equally as good as that which so successfully represented Wisconsin last year. Very good playing was shown by all of the men who turned out in the qualifying round regardless of the bad weather conditions. The men chosen had to work hard to keep above the scores of other men trying out," Captain Bock stated last night.

Twenty-eight high schools from four states will compete in the six relay runs and the seven individual events of the First Annual University of Wisconsin Interscholastic Relay carnival at Camp Randall, next Saturday, May 3.

Entries for the relay carnival were closed at midnight on Saturday, April 26.

Wisconsin leads the entry list with 13 schools, while Illinois is second with 12 participants. Michigan will send two high schools, while Iowa will be represented by a single entry.

The teams which will participate in the May 3 meet are West Division, Riverside, North Division, Washington, and South Division, Milwaukee; East Central, and Wisconsin high, Madison; Darlington, Monticello, Wauwatosa, Galesville, and Rosendale, Wisconsin; Hyde Park, Austin, Oak Park, Nicholas Senn, and Tilden, Chicago; Deerfield-Shields, Highland Park; Waukegan Township, Waukegan; Rockford, Libertyville, Normal, and Bloomington, Illinois.

From Michigan, Escanaba and Menominee will be the representatives, while Washington high school Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is the only entry from the Hawkeye state.

Two state champions are among the Wisconsin entries. Riverside high school, Milwaukee, which won the Class A championship last year and Wisconsin high school, Madison which finished first in class B, will compete. Darlington, runner up in division B, will also participate in the relay carnival.

Washington high school, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is holder of a new relay record in the quarter-mile run. The members of the winning relay team, which won first in the Drake games at Des Moines, Iowa, last Saturday, covered the distance in 46 6-10 seconds.

All of the seats for the relay carnival will be divided into sections and reserved. The purpose of dividing the seats into sections for grammar school children, high school pupils, and university students is to permit the students to be in groups and give their school yell and encourage the runners. The price of admission will be 50 cents.

"With 28 of the best high schools of the middle west entered in the relay carnival next Saturday, I hope that the university as a whole will take more interest in this new type of meet," declared Arthur W. Trost '24, general chairman.

"The expense of this meet, which will undoubtedly be recognized by track authorities and high schools as the Drake and Penn relay games are recognized by the colleges and universities, is large because most of the athletes are coming to Madison from long distances.

"With the best track athletes in this section of the country participating, many of them stars in both football and basketball, it can not be denied that they will probably decide whether they will come to Wisconsin or not by the way in which they are treated and entertained.

"I can not urge too strongly that university students show their real Wisconsin spirit on Saturday by attending the relay carnival and proving to these visiting high school athletes that they are welcome during their stay in Madison," Trost concluded.

of the athletic "W" of the university.

Kenneth R. Kennedy '26, a member of the Wisconsin one-mile relay team at both the Ohio State and Drake relay meets, comes from Monticello. Stevens Point is represented by a two sport man, Sidney Eagleburger '24.

Rockford has a one miler who is a member of the varsity track squad, Clayton G. Cassidy '26, who ran on the four-mile relay team at both the Kansas and Drake relays. Members of the squad last year from Rockford were Ralph A. Milliman '27, Tom B. Carter '26, and Sturtevant Stewart '24.

George R. Dennis, who was captain of the Washington high school Cedar Rapids, Iowa, cross-country team and who was a distance runner on the track team, is a member of the freshman cross-country and track team of the university.

TENNIS FIENDS MAY REGISTER IN GYM

Student tennis fiends may register at the gymnasium, beginning tomorrow at 8 o'clock, for play on the University courts. Registration will be received, it was announced, on any week day between the hours of 8 and 9, 12 to 1:20, and 3:30 to 6:30. There will be no charge.

Players may sign for three days ahead if they so desire, one hour periods, however, will be the limit. Courts will be open for play from 1 to 7 week days and from 7 to 7 Sundays.

The University courts are 12 in number, three at University and Park streets, three at Breeze Terrace, and six at Camp Randall and Warren streets.

"Any attempt at 'hogging' through crooked registration methods will exempt the offenders from further play on these courts," said George Berg, director of intramural athletics yesterday.

TENNIS MEN MEET
HILLTOPPERS SOONPostponed Matches Will Be Played Here Wednesday or Thursday

The varsity tennis team will play Marquette some time this week, either Wednesday or Thursday, according to Capt. Art Moulding. The matches were postponed from last Saturday, when rain made it impossible for the matches to be played.

The team is fast rounding into shape, and if the good weather keeps up, the men will be ready to battle the Hilltop squad this week. The Northwestern team, one of the strongest in the conference, will play here this Saturday. The Purple squad boasts of some fast men and the matches should prove to be very interesting.

The Cardinal team is now composed of Capt. Moulding, Sah, Manierre, Stebbins, Crane and Groenert. Moulding and Sah play the singles and are also paired up in the doubles. This combination will be hard to beat as they are both experienced men and have played together for some time. Sah, the Japanese star, has been showing excellent form for some time, and together with Moulding, should do good work.

LONG PRACTICE
SCHEDULED FOR BASEBALL TEAM

Men Must Improve Hitting in Order to Win Next
Games

The varsity nine toiled long and arduously yesterday in an attempt to smooth out some of the most obvious faults revealed in the game with Illinois Saturday.

The coach is especially strong on developing a strong aggregation of sluggers, for, no matter how good a game a pitcher may throw, if he hasn't any hitters behind him his efforts are in vain.

Emanuel Shows Up Well.

Emanuel, playing in center field, was the only Wisconsin man that got to the offerings of Roettger with any degree of success, and drove out two neat singles, besides gathering in six flies for as many putouts in the field.

Servatius, although he did not do much execution with the stick, winged in a pretty throw from deep left field in the first inning and cut off a runner at the plate. The throw was long, but was almost perfect and came on a direct line to Aschenbrenner.

Play Purdue Saturday.

The showing of the team on the whole was satisfactory, according to the coach, but the men will have to pick up a lot of hitting ability during the week if they hope to cope with the Purdue outfit, whom they meet this Saturday at Camp Randall, with any degree of success.

Work for the afternoon consisted of hitting practice and a five inning round with the frosh. The coach was not satisfied with the efforts of some of the men, and drove his squad until late in the afternoon.

Plenty of warm sunshine will do more than anything else to help the squad develop, and the weather man is at last starting to hand out some of the desired kind.

CADETS WILL MARCH
IN MEMORIAL PARADE

For the first time in several years, the cadet corps will march in Madison's Memorial parade. The corps is composed of 1,200 men, most of them from the freshman and sophomore classes.

Don't give a cap
"too much rope"

Just when you're hurrying the most—zip! and away goes that shaving cream cap. The new cap on Williams ends the nuisance forever. It's hinged on and can't get lost.

In shaving, too, Williams has just as noticeable improvements: Williams lather is heavier and more closely woven. It holds the water in against the beard. Result: quicker softening. Williams is decidedly helpful to the skin. It keeps your face comfortable no matter how heavy your beard and how tender your skin. There's no coloring matter in Williams—it is a natural white, absolutely pure. Say "Williams Hinge-Cap" to your dealer.

GENUINE LEADERSHIP

A questionnaire was given to the professors at the University of Chicago sometime ago, in which they were asked to name the leading students of that institution. In the analysis of the responses given, it was learned that the great majority of the honor students were omitted from the lists; that those students were named who possessed signs of leadership in the traits of personality and initiative, rather than those who were marked for academic triumphs. The feeling was expressed that practically anyone willing to spend the time could win scholastic honors by merely grinding away at the process of memorizing other men's ideas, but that it took men of far greater ability to develop outstanding personality and initiative in campus competition.

This idea is gradually manifesting itself more and more. Phi Beta Kappa elections are coming to be less the election of the grinds as has been the case and more the election of those students who, in addition to having high grades, show marked promise of individual ability. Mere high grades mean nothing, it is the individual who counts, and rightly so. Hence, in overlooking those honor men who had nothing more to offer than mere scholastic excellency, a truer estimate of the actual leaders of the institution in question was formed.

SMALL TALK

The ability to carry on a conversation with anybody at will is a desirable asset to an individual. It is an accomplishment that adds much to the enjoyment of life and serves as a potent factor in the general education of its possessor. A good conversationalist is always in demand, and plays a very important part in social life. However, to be a good conversationalist requires not only a knowledge of "small talk", but an ability to discuss serious and important topics of the day and the better and higher things of intellectual life.

Among college students, the powers of conversation are very well developed in extent, but in a very one-sided manner. The vast majority are readily capable of carrying on conversations, provided the subject matter be of the more light, superficial, and shallow type. Small talk of the very smallest, with a very great tendency toward that which is slangily called a "line" marks their conversation. Student conversations heard at the table, on the streets, or in the living room are very seldom of that type designated as "worthwhile". The men talk of the last card game and the good hand they held, or similar topics, while the women discuss that last dance, or their new date. It is not that they are unwilling to discuss a serious topic, for if one is broached, they will converse upon it more or less sketchily for a few minutes and then drop back to the former items of discussion, or at worst, will admit quite frankly that they do not feel qualified to discuss the matter and continue uninterrupted their former conversation. If the conversation should happen to revert to their books and their work, it usually amounts to nothing more than a discussion of the difficulties of the course and the number of pages assigned in such and such a book, rarely a discussion of the ideas to be obtained from the course of the books.

But then, they have many years ahead in which to be serious. Or are they not to be thus excused?

Grad Gives Don'ts and Do's on Playing Fair in Education

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The following was written by a man who graduated from the university in 1913 as advice to high school students. Perhaps it is as much for university students as it is for those for whom it was originally intended.

Have you really enjoyed your work at high school, your introduction to the great personages of the past, the unfolding of mysteries in the science laboratories? Have you cultivated a taste for good literature? Do you get a thrill out of solving a difficult problem? If you can answer in the affirmative, you will enjoy work at college and benefit greatly by attending, and if you really wish to go to college, you can find a way to go, whether you are rich or poor.

If you can not answer "YES" to the above questions, especially those bearing on your major interest, don't go to college. If you are planning to attend college primarily to have a good time, don't go. If you are planning to attend college because everybody else is doing it, don't go. Don't go because you will be taking the place that might better be filled by one whom a college education would benefit. Your lack of interest in the real things that a college has to offer, will lower the standards of the institution and make it more difficult to render the high service it should render to the genuine college student—and the genuine college student is one who works just as hard when he works, as he plays when he plays, and has that fine sense of judgment to know just how much to work and how much to play.

If you haven't the interest of a real student, don't go to college, because it isn't fair to your parents. You will be spending money which may have caused them hard work and sacrifice to accumulate, and which they have been saving to spend for some worthy cause.

If you have only a sham purpose, don't go to college, because it isn't fair to the institution, to the real students, to your parents, and lastly, it isn't fair to yourself. You will be pursuing an unworthy aim in life and fostering the habit of shiftlessness. And worst of all, you will be doing this during the most crucial time in your life. Between the ages of fifteen and twenty-five, you will lay the major portion of the foundation for your career. Do you want your future to rest on a foundation of self-indulgence and shiftlessness?

To make the most of one's field of work, one must have a thorough knowledge of the theory applying thereto, tempered by thorough practice. If yours is the electrical field, you should be saturated in the theory of electricity and then these theories should be tested in your daily work, accepting those that stand the test and rejecting those that fail.

The student who makes the most of his college career and then goes to work in his chosen field, beginning at the bottom and rising through conscientious effort, is on the surest road to success. Opportunity will come to the student who desires to travel on this road. All that he needs for carfare is a sincere purpose, and a willingness to pay the price through hard work.

The college graduate whose aim has been a good time and who has studied just enough to get by, is unfortunate. If he has more than average ability, he may be rudely awakened when he goes out into the world, get down to work and yet succeed. But it will be an up-hill fight. He will first have to break the vicious habit of shiftlessness and lack of purpose which he spent four years in cultivating. He has nothing of value to show for the four years spent; in fact, he will be worse off than he was when he finished high school, because he will have certain bad habits that he did not have then. His chum who went right to work after high school will have him outstripped. He will have four years of experience in the practical end of his work and if he spent some of his evenings wisely, taking advantage of the correspondence courses given in his line, by the State University at a very nominal cost, and by other agencies he will be quite well versed in the theory of his problems also.

Thus if you measure up to the standards of a genuine student, by all means go to college, and after you have graduated and put in several years of earnest work you will be well on your way toward your goal. This is the quickest and most certain road to those who measure up.

WONDER WHY.

Dave's to be a doctor, he's very sure of that,
The mighty men of this world will gather at his mat.
George will drive an engine at an unrestricted pace,
In dirty cottonoveralls with grease upon his face,
While Arthur's fond ambition, if God will let him grow,
Is to shine within the portals of a New York picture show.
But Billy, little Billy is the man whom I admire,
To don a shining Tuxedo is his sound and sole desire,
To wear a pair of glistening pumps, and what I want to buy,
To pay me thoughtful compliments. I like him. Wonder why.

One of life's little tragedies, and the reason for changing room mats we witnessed yesterday morning. One rose in great haste to make an eight o'clock in five minutes.

"Look," said the other sleepily from the cot, "You got your shoes on the wrong feet."

"Heavens, no, they're my feet," replied the late one.

Former Student Here Marries an Italian Baron

Cards have been received here announcing the marriage of a former university girl to an Italian baron. The announcement follows:

"Mrs. H. V. Wurdemann announces the marriage of her daughter, Helen Louise, to Baron Franz Guzzardi di Pulichi, Captain of Cavalry, on Wednesday, April 2 at Florence."

Helen Wurdemann graduated from the university with the class of 1915.

Miss Wurdemann met Baron di Guzzardi while she and her mother were traveling in Italy. The Wurdemanns have been living in Italy since they left Madison some time ago.

PROF. O'SHEA WRITES BOOK ON EDUCATION

"Fitting the School To the Child" is the name of the new book written by Prof. M. V. O'Shea. The book contains the results of the application of scientific methods of studying pupils' minds and of measuring achievement in school work in one of the great public schools in New York city containing thousands of pupils of every nationality. The school was completely reorganized, and the book shows how much more work was accomplished when pupils were treated according to their native capacities than when they were simply grouped according to age and grade.

BARNARD'S PARK AND ESTHER BEACH OPEN

Another, and perhaps the most convincing, sign of Spring has finally put in its appearance. The beaches will open up this week end. Beginning on Friday evening the launches will carry dance-bound couples to Esther Beach and Barnard's Park, and the dance halls here in town will be deserted until the cold weather sets in again. This all leaves the occasional showers which visit Madison out of the question, of course.

WOMEN OF FARMS KNOW POLITICS

Cong. Beck Lauds Women's Understanding of Nation's Problems

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Congressman J. D. Beck, Wisconsin, today declared that the women of the Wisconsin rural districts had a better understanding of the vital problems confronting the nation than did the women from the large cities.

"One of the most interesting things to me since I have been in Congress is women in politics," he said. "The usual letters and petitions coming from women to members of Congress, especially from the cities, are appeals for Congress to pass a law making a certain song our national anthem, or to appropriate money to put a tablet on some bridge in honor of its founder, or to establish a park somewhere out in the desert, or to build a certain road in some park already established or to purchase a picture of Longfellow to be hung in the White House or to buy the paintings of some deceased artist to be placed in the National Museum, and so on, and so on, and so on."

"Just this morning I received a petition six feet long circulated by Mrs. Chas. Dutton, on a farm in the town of Plymouth, Juneau county, it covers seven different subjects as follows: Deflation; Freight rates; taxes; Pittsburgh plus; price fixing; Controlled markets and Foreign markets for surplus products.

"But from the seventh congressional district which I represent, I am getting petitions and letters of a very different character. They come from women who bend over wash tubs, scrub floors, wash dishes or milk cows. They come from just common folks. They are appeals for economic justice. They are petitions on behalf of the soldiers; for just tax revision; they are appeals for amending the Esch-Cummins law, lower taxes, for a chance to live.

"Compare this list with those I mentioned previously. This latter list comes from a farm woman. Her petition was not printed in New York. It was written in long hand, probably in her own home. She may not know how to solve the seven problems she mentions but she does know that to retain means they must be solved correctly.

"And members of Congress know that when we have millions of such women, common folks everywhere will come into their own."

DRAMA COURSES SHOW INCREASED STAGE INTEREST

By Chatty.

That Americans are turning their interests more and more in the direction of the theater is evidenced by the popularity of the drama courses on the hill. Three courses strictly on the theater and drama are being given this year to say nothing of a number of other courses pertaining indirectly to plays and play writing.

The three courses which we have in mind are Prof. J. F. A. Pyre's contemporary drama and Shakespeare and Prof. Louis A. Cooper's dramatic technique, the latter being devoted to the study of plays with reference to their writing and to writing a one act play.

There are other courses, naturally, dealing with drama, such as Prof. Julius Olson's Ibsen, Prof. H. A. Smith's modern French drama, German and Spanish courses and all those courses given in the speech department.

As far as sheer numerical popularity is concerned contemporary drama seems to top the list. It is aimed to deal enough with recent types and movements in the theater to lead students to an intelligent attitude toward strictly modern plays, giving them some sort of a perspective on which to base their attitude, according to Professor Pyre.

Starting out with a view of the pre-Ibsenian works it carries on through Ibsen through the various schools of dramatic art giving a conception of what has been done in the dramatic fields.

It is interesting to note that the type of plays taken up in the course is that which continues popular long after its first presentation. For instance, Rostand's Cyrano de Bergerac, one of the plays discussed, has been exceedingly popular this year on Broadway where Walter Hampden, Shakespearean actor, has revived it.

Much of the Moscow art theater repertoire is taken up. Eugene Walter's "Easiest Way", a Balasco production of many years ago, was recently revived on Broadway as was Sheldon's "Romancers" in which none other than Doris Keane appeared 10 years ago. The vitality of the plays is indicated by their revival.

Shaw's "Back to Methuselah" is being read now.

With the purpose of getting up to and over-lapping the present, a number of more strictly modern plays such as Galsworthy's "Skin Game" which was on the boards recently and Eugene O'Neill's "Beyond the Horizon" and "Anna Christie" are read. "Anna Christie" made such a hit here in America that Pauline Lord, its star, was sent with it to London where she was hailed as the world's greatest actress and the play as the finest seen in the British metropolis since "Abraham Lincoln."

"Eugene O'Neill represents a big advance in drama in America," Professor Pyre asserts.

"WEST OF THE WATER TOWER."

At the Madison.

A small town, a boy, a girl, a stern father, an old situation treated in a different way. Glenn Hunter, Ernest Torrence and May McAvoy—mostly Glenn. Quite a cast. In fact, quite good itself.

"THE LOVE MASTER."

At the Strand.

Stronghart, the Wonder Dog, playing the leading role creditably. An action plot in every sense of the word colored with Canadian scenery. Versatile Strongheart! As a lover, he's doggone good!

"FLAMING PASSION."

The eternal triangle composed of Monte Blue, Irene Rich and Norma Shearer, including floods, fires, thrilling rescues and, of course, a happy ending. Quite a good show, notwithstanding.

Foreign Plays Hit
By Critics of Ku Klux Tendencies

By H. D. S.

New York critics, headed by Alexander Woolcott, have started something like a modern Ku Klux Klan movement for the elimination of foreign plays on the American stage. The movement is quite in order as of the nine most popular plays on Broadway at present, only two have been written by Americans. These nine plays, "Man of the Masses", "Rain", "The Swan", "Cyrano de Bergerac", "Outward Bound", "Beggar on Horseback", "Fata Morgana", "The Miracle", and "Saint Joan", plays that almost everybody who is in the least interested in Broadway productions has heard about, show a most remarkable lack of indigenous talent.

One could almost say that about the most successful plays written by Americans are "Hell-Bent for Heaven" and "Abie's Irish Rose," both of which might be good enough to attract large crowds, but which really never could expect much comment in literary histories of later days.

It is a quaint human trait to always prefer the foreign to the native. We know that American moving pictures are swamping England and Germany, while Continen-

TIRED OF LOCAL FILMS? THEN GO TO WINDY CITY

By N. M. J.

We suggest that if you are sick of the everlasting and sometimes almost indigestible Madison movie diet, that you get out the fliker and take a jaunt on number 10 to Chicago some weekend. It can be done in a few hours or so with cement pavement nearly all the way.

Chicago show places have gone through a literal spring cleaning during the last few days. No less than eight plays have been carted off and as many more hustled in during the past week. What is more, since the Russians left for Detroit, every show in the city is either "eye and ear entertainment" or "comedy and things like that."

Among the newcomers "Wildflower" is reported to have the best score heard in years. "Music that has not been touched this season" is what Robert Benchley of Life said about it when it was on Broadway. The piece prospered in New York for over a year and the general opinion was that it might have stayed longer.

"The Horse Thief" at the Harris, "The Whole Town's Talking," at the Adelphi, and "New Toys" at the Playhouse are perhaps the best of the new comedies.

"The Horse Thief" owes most of its attraction to the presence of Ann Harding, recently of "Tarnish" and of George Martin, to be remembered in "Anna Christie." John Emerson and Anita Loos, scenario celebrities, are responsible for reported hilarious times afforded by "The Whole Town's Talking," which they have adapted from the Ger-tal movies are considered good drawing cards in this country.

The Moscow Art Theatre and its presentation of Russian plays in the Russian language, which but a very small percentage of the American audience can understand, proves extremely popular, perhaps the best example of how much we like that which is strange and foreign to us.

Yes, from our shoes and shirts to our books and plays we prefer the foreign, but thank Heavens, the foreigners prefer our American things to their own, and a most lively exchange of wares, both commercial and intellectual, is the result.

But there is hope, just as we would never prefer an English razor to our Gillette, we have a Eugene O'Neil, and the Theatre Guild has announced that they have bought two of his plays for next year's production. And then we will see which plays Mr. Woolcott will prefer, the foreign ones, with their strange and mysterious ideas and settings, or the American drama of American life. We place our bet on the first.

We must not forget to mention that others among those which have resisted the spring broom are the rowdy "Little Jessie James" and "Abie's Irish Rose," which appear to be fixed furniture.

By the way, there is only one more week to see the latest negro riot, "In Bamville," which Fred Donaghue of the Trib calls "a good show, by any measure, and the best of the shows of its kind." The play is bound for Broadway.

Upstage Bits

By TORMENTOR

The list of Haresfoot elections looks not unlike we well thumbed students directory.

Next in line for busy theatrical people is Larry Hastings who is beginning to worry his head over what senior play should be used this year.

Bill Purnell will stay on for a few days more. We don't know where we're going to get our afternoon snack of pop corn and peanuts after he leaves.

We're waiting now to see how many funny people are picked for the cast for "Comedy Night."

Personal Item: Tormentor is just trying to save up a little time so he can help Roy French lick stamps.

The Haresfoot club has elected Shuter, the coach, to honorary membership but nothing was said about Boy, the trick dog, and Bill Burnell's pet. (Boy made it known that he didn't want Bill to give him any of his lip.)

Cap Isabel probably sees as much drama nowadays as anybody.

man. When we mention that Ernst Treux is again a patient and plodding American husband in "New Toys," we realize that although the plays may not be so much, there are quite a few celebrated actor-folk in the Windy City just now.

Otis Skinner seems to have found the most enjoyable role of his career in the satiric-romance "Sancho Panza." Guy Bates Post is meeting with success in a revival of "The Climax."

We must not forget to mention that others among those which have resisted the spring broom are the rowdy "Little Jessie James" and "Abie's Irish Rose," which appear to be fixed furniture.

By the way, there is only one more week to see the latest negro riot, "In Bamville," which Fred Donaghue of the Trib calls "a good show, by any measure, and the best of the shows of its kind." The play is bound for Broadway.

ACTORS TRIP IN
"OH BOY;" NOT TAKEN SERIOUSLY

By Dot.

"Oh Boy" is the production chosen by the Dorothy LaVern players for this week, and it is something different in stock productions, being a musical comedy.

"Oh Boy"—the play itself and the musical numbers—produced with a Broadway company, with a trained chorus and a good orchestra, would make a big hit with the theater-going public, but these things are lacking here in Madison, and we would suggest that the company revert entirely to the merely spoken play.

Not that each and every member in the cast didn't do his and her best—they all tried to make the thing a success and they did succeed in getting a number of good hearty laughs from the audience. The play itself is filled with clever lines and is the type of play like "Up In Mabel's Room", "Fair and Warmer", or "Parlor, Bedroom and Bath". The songs are some of the well-known favorites of a year or two ago, such as "Till the Clouds Roll By", "An Old Fashioned Wife" and "You Never Knew About Me".

The chorus is made up of Madison girls who are perhaps just a little stage-struck and frightened. But the play ran along smoothly and there were numerous specialty numbers by cast members which got big hands. The specialty by Al Jackson and Jack Conley was best received, although it in itself was not so hot.

Melvin Hesselberg, the young hero, was as splendid as he always is. Jack Conley did perhaps the best character work in the play as the constable, and Mrs. J. G. Macfarlane also starred as the quaker aunt. She is an extremely clever actress. Dorothy LaVern "flapped" quite well, and we liked her pep and enthusiasm.

CONTINUE STUDY IN IRON MAKING

Professors McCaffery and Oesterle Study Composition of Blast Furnace Slag

The research on the make-up of iron blast furnace slags is being carried further this year in the department of mining and metallurgy of the university College of Engineering, by Prof. E. S. McCaffery, chairman of the department, and by Prof. J. F. Oesterle.

In this research, they are trying to determine the constitution of iron blast furnace slags and the variation in physical and chemical properties of these slags as affected by their composition. This involves studying the effect of lime, alumina, and silica on the chemical and physical properties of the compounds. Scientific facts they have discovered so far may lead to improvements in blast furnace practice.

Professor McCaffery recently talked before the Blast Furnace and Coke association of the Chicago district, on "Desulphurizing Power of Iron Blast Furnace Slags," and J. A. Farrell, president of the U. S. Steel corporation, and chairman of the committee on programs of the American Iron and Steel institute, has requested that Professor McCaffery deliver a paper on "Iron Blast-furnace Slags" at the October 1924, meeting of the Institute in New York city.

ROOMS INSPECTED BY DEAN OF WOMEN

About 150 Madison rooming houses have been inspected so far this year by Mrs. C. B. Flett and Miss L. I. Brown, assistants to the dean of women, for the purpose of rating them according to a certain standard below which no rooming house can be operated.

According to Mrs. Flett each rooming house is graded and put on a list and when requests for rooms come in the names of the best-kept houses are given first.

Each house is graded according to the way it meets certain requirements which are based on: hot water supply, ventilation, fire escapes, light, size, parlor privileges, repairs, heat, etc. The size of the closets and number of windows are also taken into consideration.

An editorial which appeared in the Minnesota Daily the morning after his address asserted that "no other one speaker had made such an impression on the student mind" during the time that the writer had been on the campus. Prof. E. A. Ross of the department of sociology compares him to Bertrand Russell, who spoke here last week.

"There will certainly be 1,800 people who want to hear Glenn Frank," John C. Dawson, president of the Union board, said in commenting on the change. "Every student should avail himself of this opportunity to hear a man who has suddenly risen to such prominence. I, myself, consider it a rare opportunity."

The Union board is assisting in the administration.

PROF. OTTO TALKS TO PRESBYTERIANS

Philosophy and religion will be the subject of the address given by Prof. Max Otto of the philosophy department, at the Presbyterian banquet to be given Thursday, May 1, at 6 o'clock at the Lutheran Memorial church.

Other features of the evening will be piano solos by Cecil Eckholm and Robert Nethercut, a vocal solo by Katherine Reid and a humorous sketch called the "Review of 1924." An orchestra will play during the banquet.

Tickets now on sale cost 75 cents and may be obtained at the Presbyterian student headquarters. Students of all denominations are invited to attend.

PATHOLOGIST GOES TO WASHINGTON MEETING

Dr. L. R. Jones, consulting plant pathologist, is attending the national plant quarantine conference opening in Washington, according to the department of agriculture. Methods of bringing state plant quarantine regulations in harmony and eliminating unnecessary interference with commerce will be worked out.
