SPECIAL LECTURES

TO BE GIVEN BY PROFESSOR
HART AND MR. THWAITES.

Two Courses on American History
Subjects—First Series begins
January 14.

In Professor Turner's absence this year arrangements have been made for two courses of lectures in the field of American History by distinguished scholars outside of the University. The first of these courses will deal with the subject of "France and England in North America," and will be given by Mr. Reuben Gold Thwaites, Secretary of the Wisconsin Historical society. There will be six lectures, devoted to the following topics:

1. The Rise of New France.
2. The Fall of New France.
3. Relations between the French and the Indians.
4. The Western Fur Trade, and the Old Fox War in Wisconsin.
5. The Jesuit Missionaries in New France.
6. Social and Economic Conditions in New France.

They will be given on Mondays, Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5 o'clock, beginning on January 14th. Mr. Thwaites has for several years given special attention to the history of the French in America in connection with his studies in Wisconsin history and his editorship of the great series of the Jesuit Relations, and speaks with authority on everything connected with these topics. The lectures will be open to all students of the University and to any citizens of Madison who may care to attend.

The second course of lectures will be given in April by Professor Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard University, on "The Monroe Doctrine in American History." Fuller announcements regarding this course will be made at a later time.

Snow Crystals.

Prof. Snow's lecture on the subject of Snow Flakes yesterday was attended by a large audience composed of students of all courses and a large number of townspeople. The lecture was both instructive and entertaining being given in a very pleasing manner. The lecture was illustrated by lantern slides of about 150 different varieties of snow crystals. Prof. Snow spoke of the life of W. A. Bentley of Nashville, Vt., as the man who had done so much for the scientific world in this work. He is, Prof. Snow said, a poor ignorant man with scarcely any education but who since his boyhood has spent his winters at his home in Vermont photographing snow flakes. He has, Prof. Snow said, a great mission to the world which he is performing day by day in his original investigation on this subject.

Prof. Snow showed a large number of slides displaying very beautiful six sided figures. These were all built on the same general plan, but no two alike. The interior of the flakes showed markings which were peculiarly similar, showing great beauty in structure.

Joint Debate Wednesday.

The committee on arrangements have decided to have the Joint Debate next Wednesday evening. Mr. Boehm is now convalescent and will be able to appear at that time.

WORK OF GLACIERS.

Second Geological Lecture by Prof.
Van Hise.

Professor Van Hise's lecture yesterday afternoon was very interesting and not at all technical. It was profusely illustrated by magnificent views of glaciers from all parts of the world. These showed the manner of formation of the glacier, the different classes into which glaciers are divided and their destructive and constructive work in changing the earth's surface. Special attention was given to the effect on Wisconsin during the glacial period. Professor Van Hise said in brief:

"The mountain glacier of the Alps is formed by the accumulation of the snow falling on the mountain slopes. A beautiful view of the glacier of Mont Blanc was shown as an illustration. The glacier is a river of ice. It differs from a river of water in its length, the greater declivity of its slope, the slower movement of its mass and the manner of carrying material. The work of erosion at its head makes the slope of the mountain there very great. Great masses of debris collect at the edges of these rivers of ice and form moraines. When, as is often the case, several smaller glaciers join to form one large one, medial moraines are formed by the junction of two lateral moraines. At its lower end the glacier forms a terminal moraine. This illustrates the superiority of the ice over water in carrying debris. The glacier cannot, like a river, work its way to the sea, but on coming to lower altitudes must give over this work of carrying debris to the stream of water issuing at its lower end. The glaciers of the Alps are not very large comparatively speaking, although those in our own western mountains are at present much smaller and indeed not as long as they are wide. There are in Alaska glaciers much larger than those of the Alps. The Muir glacier is such a one. It moreover works its way to the sea and even under the sea. Here the ice is broken off in great chunks by the action of the water. Great bergs are liable to rush up at any time when detached from the main body below the surface.

Still larger glaciers than those of Alaska are found. These are the piedmont glaciers. But surpassing even these are the immense glacier fields of Greenland and the Antarctic regions. We owe most of our knowledge of the Greenland glacier to Dr. Nansen who explored it. He describes its outer edge as being very steep and difficult of ascent. Its main central portion, covering the greater part of Greenland, is a vast plateau of ice with no mountains rising above its surface. This glacier is gradually spreading and moving toward the sea. In this movement it is grinding out and shaping the surface of the land beneath it."

In conclusion Prof. Van Hise said the work of this Greenland glacier may be taken to illustrate what happened in Canada and the Great Lake region of the United States in the glacial period. To illustrate the value of the glaciers in forming the soil, Prof. Van Hise said that the south-western part of Wisconsin is poorer by one hundred million dollars, because the glaciers which covered the rest of the state with their drift soil did not cover that region.

The course will be concluded on Monday. This series of lectures, though given primarily for the students of Geology, has been of a popular nature and has been largely attended by the general student body and the citizens of Madison.

FINDS PLAGIARISM

DOCTOR O. G. LIBBY CRITICIZES
GORDON.

Finds That His History of American Revolution is Largely Taken From Annual Register.

Dr. O. G. Libby of the historical department has made an interesting discovery which has been reprinted from the annual report of the American Historical Association for 1899. He found that one William Gordon who has hitherto been considered a valuable and unimpeachable authority on the American Revolution has in reality been guilty of very extensive plagiarisms. The source from which he filched his material was the Annual Register published for thirty years under the direction of Edmund Burke. Gordon has not only taken the material for a large proportion of his book from the numbers of this publication but has in innumerable instances copied the exact language. Dr. Libby has prepared some careful tabulations illustrating Gordon's method of "lifting" this material. He comes to the conclusion that Gordon's work has been very much overestimated and is in reality not at all reliable.

SPLENDID PROGRAM.

Arranged for Christian Association Concert.

The committees of the Christian Association having in charge the Sacred Concert, have arranged an excellent program. The list includes numbers by the most popular and finished musicians in the University.

The concert will of necessity begin promptly at 4 o'clock in order that it may be concluded before the supper hour.

The Association expects Library Hall to be filled.

The following is the program:

1. Doxology.
2. Selection, Anderson's Mandolin Orchestra.
3. Vocal solo—Busslied (Song of Repentance)—Beethoven. Prof. Julius E. Olson.
4. Mandolin solo—Sonatino, Adagio—Beethoven. (Composed by Beethoven for mandolin.) Mr. Hjalmar O. Anderson.
5. Vocal solo—The Light from Heaven—Gounod. Miss Marjorie G. McCawley.
6. Piano solo—Selected. Miss Sarah J. Seeber.
7. Vocal solo—Fear Ye Not, Oh Israel—Dudley Buck. Miss Anna Gapen.
8. Violin solo—Angel's Serenade—Braga.
9. Tenor solo—Callest Thou Thus, Oh! Master?—Mietzke. Mr. Fred P. Bowen.
10. Cello solo—Reverie—Fauconier. Mr. Albert C. Ehlman.
11. Contralto solo—The Lord is Mindful (from the oratorio—St. Paul), Mendelssohn. Miss Ella M. Helm.

Handball Tournament.

Curtis and Moffatt were the victors in the handball tournament yesterday. Next Monday the pair will meet Pengra and Kelley. This meet will decide the Junior championship.

Fred C. Inbusch was called to Milwaukee Thursday evening by the serious illness of his grand-father.

High School Department.

All High School students who are interested in the University will want the Souvenir Christmas edition of the Daily Cardinal.

Every department of the institution will receive a full review.

The High School department will receive special consideration. Two prize stories will be among the attractions, while the artistic cover design is of especial merit.

Those desiring these souvenir Cardinals should send in their orders at once. The price will be 25 cents per copy postage prepaid, or in clubs of 5 or more copies, 20 cents per copy, postage prepaid.

Local and Personal.

—Sacred Concert tomorrow.

—Walton Pyre gave a reading last evening at Sauk City.

—C. C. Hatleberg will spend Sunday in Morrisonville.

—The Pi Beta Phi sorority had an informal party at Kehl's last evening.

—Miss Bessie Deane of Milwaukee is the guest of Miss Nelle Miller at the Hall.

—Theodore E. Liphon has withdrawn from the University on account of sickness.

—Kappa Kappa Gamma gave a matinee dance in Keeley's Hall this afternoon.

—The Phi Kappa Psi fraternity is to have a party at Kehl's hall this evening.

—J. Bingham, '03, has been confined to his room on account of an attack of the grip.

—The Sacred Concert will be held at 4 tomorrow afternoon instead of 4:30 the usual hour.

—"The Farm" recently sold a sheep which was prepared for the exposition, for 15 cents a pound.

—John L. Fisher, formerly graduate-manager of University athletics, was in the city yesterday.

—The Short Course society at the meeting last night decided to attend the joint debate in a body.

—Mr. Larson, '04, is suffering an attack of the popular epidemic now prevalent among the students.

—George C. Haun, State S. S. Missionary listened to Prof. Snow's lecture on snow flakes yesterday.

—J. Earl Kemp, law-'02, has returned to his home in Sparta for a few days, having a severe attack of quinzey.

—The snow squawl of yesterday has rendered skating an impossibility. The sport was developing into a rare enjoyment.

—Miss Hughes of Stevens Point Normal and Miss Hatch of Milwaukee Normal are visiting Miss Emma Glasier at Ladies' Hall.

—Arthur Uihlein, '02, was called to his home at Milwaukee last evening by the death of his sister. William Uihlein, '04, accompanied him.

—Prof. Knowlton is at present passing a very pleasant time with his brother in Chico, California. His health is considerably improved.

—The Science Club very kindly decided to hold its meeting on next Thursday night instead of Wednesday in order not to conflict with the joint debate.

—This week the Y. M. C. A. will complete its calling lists among the 1904 class. This new adventure has been decidedly successful in adding many new members to the roll.

A Vacation Vagary.

A scene recurring periodically just before vacation is something like this.

Scene—A corner on State street or University avenue. Time—1 p. m. (train leaves at 1:15). A crowd of students, including co-eds, stands on the corner, worried expression on their faces, suit-cases, grips and hand-boxes in great profusion. A car appears up the line. It is jammed with passengers. Many hang on by one hand. A few are trusting to nothing but community of purpose to preserve the connection between themselves and the car. The car sweeps on unheedingly, like kismet or a float from a carnival pageant. "Oh, dear!" from part of the crowd, unprintable comments from other parts. Twenty minutes later the scene is repeated.

Now it would seem that something could very easily be done to remedy this matter. Before every vacation at the hour for the important trains this same scene is enacted. Surely the street-car company could very easily anticipate those rushes and put on extra cars, or, at the very least, add trailers to the regular cars. An overwhelming majority of the student-body prefers not to walk to the East Madison depots. A large proportion also prefers riding in street-cars.

The same, inevitable rush always occurs at these times, particularly the noon trains. As a business proposition it would seem that the street-car company ought to make it a point to supply cars in sufficient number to meet these demands.

Fencing Club.

The fencing club held a meeting in the trophy room of the gymnasium yesterday afternoon and reorganized for the coming year. Officers were elected as follows: president, H. W. Hibbard; vice-president, George Wehe; secretary and treasurer, W. D. Smith. The club will be directed by Mr. Pierre De Soucy. Mr. De Soucy has just returned from Paris, where he took lessons in fencing. He is a man well qualified for the position.

If the gymnasium team is sent east this year to contest in the meet at Columbia University the two best fencers will be taken with them, and it is hoped that some good material in this line will be developed.

If enough show an interest in the project, classes of four will be formed to work for an hour twice a week. Those taking this exercise will be excused from gymnasium drill.

Literary Societies.

Short Course Society.

The literary society of the Short Course in Agriculture began its season's work last night in the large lecture room in Main Hall. This society is the largest in the University it having upwards of three hundred members present last night. The exercises consisted of music, addresses by the president, P. H. Davis, and Paul C. Foster, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., a debate, and the reading of the Short Course weekly newspaper, "The Crescent." The society begins its work for this winter with promise of great success.

Other Societies.

Athenae held one debate last night and spent the balance of the evening in revising the constitution and electing Freshman Blowout closers. Those elected were Victor Marquisee, Frederic Arnold, Rodger Trump, and Loren Blackman. Manuel H. Chopitea of Argentine Republic and O. S. Stinson were initiated.

Hesperia held only a business meeting last night. Officers were elected as follows: president, Schoensigel; vice-president, Bucklin; secretary, Horsfall; treasurer, Victor D. Cronk; censor, Enfield; assistant censor, Carthew.

Freshman Blowout leaders were also elected. They are Yager, Steinbrecher, Larson, and Sargent.

Philomathia's meeting last night was somewhat irregular but very enthusiastic. After a short session the society went in a body to serenade its sick debater Paul Boehm.

Castalia held a short meeting last evening. Miss Kraemer gave a piano solo. "The Renaissance in Italy," was discussed. Two papers were given by the Misses Safford and Osborne. A sketch of Giotto's life and work was given by Miss Hall. The discussion was led by Miss Regan. In the business meeting officers were elected as follows: president, Katherine Regan; vice-president, Edith White; secretary, Alice Chamberlain; treasurer, Ella Esch.

DON'T GO DOWN TOWN.

For your shoes and repair work
Joseph Dunkel at 604 University ave. can give you as good satisfaction for less money on patent leathers and shoes of all sorts. Repairing a specialty.

Most people think that any old place is good enough for a bicycle through the winter, so they dump it in the basement where it is damp, or into the coal shed where it is almost obliterated with coal dust, etc. Of course they don't think of the consequences until spring, then Oh! My!
they wish they had taken it to Wm. J.
Park Co., 113 State St., successors to the Madison Cycle Co., and had it cleaned and stored properly for the winter for $1.50, and saved $5.00.
