Election Board Abolishes 14 Offices

Announce Plans for New Union Men's Commons

Special Meal Check Books at $2.50 Available Today; Groups Forming

The meal check books for Tripp Commons, Memorial Union dining room for men, arrived yesterday and will go on sale for the first time today at the central desk and in the dining room itself.

By the use of the new check books, $2.75 in meals can be purchased for $2.50. The checks are printed in 25-cent, 10-cent, and 5-cent denominations, and may be presented in lieu of cash in Tripp Commons at any time.

It is not necessary to sign up for weekly board or consecutive meals in order to eat in Tripp Commons, according to James Hanks '29, chairman of the Commons committee.

First Step in Old Plan

The issuance of the new check books is the first step in the development of the Tripp Commons as a men's dining room in accordance with the wishes of the founders of the Memorial Union, particularly the late Israel Shrimski '88.

With dining facilities for men and women together provided in the Union refectory, the popover room, the tea room, and private dining rooms, the original Memorial Union Building committee incorporated in the building plans an additional room where the men of the university could eat, talk, and sing together, hoping that the university might derive additional benefits and values from it.

Several Groups Forming

Several men's groups have already elected to take advantage of the facilities of the new dining room and more (Continued on Page 2)

Dean Goodnight Suggests New Plank for Cardinal Platform

In suggesting a new plank for the platform of the Daily Cardinal, Dean Scott H. Goodnight released the following correspondence for publication:

Oct. 15, 1928

To the Editors of the Daily Cardinal, Gentlemen:

May I suggest a theme for a new plank in the Daily Cardinal Platform? It is not inferior in importance, I believe, to any which you have brought forward. In fact, I know of nothing else of which Wisconsin should be more thoroughly ashamed, and which we should all be more eager to reform. Kindly let the following letter, recently received, tell the story, and don't forget that a survey of year before last, showed the same conditions obtaining during the college year.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) S. H. GOODNIGHT.

Mr. S. H. Goodnight,
Director of the Summer Session,
University of Wisconsin.

Dear Sir:
At the end of the 1928 Summer Session, a request was made for criticisms of the Summer Session. I wish to say that I found the standard of the work very high but that I was very much disappointed (Continued on Page 2)

C. M. & St. P. Announces Special Train to Purdue

The Chicago, Milwaukee, and St. Paul railroad announces a special train for the Purdue game. The train will leave Madison at 11 p. m. Friday and will start back from Lafayette at 1 a. m. Sunday. The fare for the round trip is $9. Further information concerning reservations may be obtained by calling either Jack Owen at B. 5521 or Paul Palm at F. 4238 after 6 p. m.

Dorm Gangsters Found; Reynolds Gets New Glasses

The identity of the quartet who attacked Robert Reynolds '31, Friday night at Adams hall has been discovered and the matter is entirely in the hands of the Dormitory council, according to a statement from the Dean's office.

Dean Goodnight, who has been investigating the Reynolds case, said Monday morning, "The whole affair was merely a freshman prank, the glasses have been paid for, the culprits spanked, and that is all there is to the matter." The dean declared that the police have not had and will not have anything to do with the case for the entire incident will be taken care of by the dormitory government, which will inflict any penalty that they consider necessary.

Reynolds, when questioned, knew nothing about any new developments in the case. He merely stated, "All I want is the money for the glasses. The dean can punish the offenders as he wishes."

William E. Powers '31, quad president of Adams hall, declared Monday, "I do not believe the disciplinary committee can inflict a strong enough penalty on the men who attacked Reynolds. However, they probably will be put on probation and some other punishment attached, perhaps a fine."

Poster Contest Leaders to Get Wide Publicity

Wide recognition is in store for winners of the Homecoming poster contest which is now in full swing. One or two of the best posters will be reproduced in colors and put on exhibition in some of the leading hotels in Chicago, Milwaukee and other large cities, together with the artist's name, address and his school. The other posters are to be put on exhibition in store windows in town.

The deadline for the posters is Thursday, Nov. 1. Posters are to be left in the Octopus office, third floor of the Union. The prizes are $5, $3, $1, and 50 cents for every accepted poster.

"Nov. 10, 1928, Homecoming, and Chicago vs. Wisconsin" should be on every poster. There is no specific size, but the larger the poster the better.

For further information call Reid Winsey, chairman of art publicity for Homecoming, at B. 444.

Watrous Sketches Cover for Octopus; on Sale Wednesday

A professional-looking cover encloses the next issue of the Octopus, out Wednesday. Jimmy Watrous '31 is the artist who sketched the cover design.

Major Morphy, Dr. Bardeen, and Prof. Julius E. Olson of the faculty have been caricatured and verbally sketched for the benefit of Octopus readers.

Prof. Paul Fulcher includes Glenway Wescott's "Goodbye Wisconsin" among his book reviews of the month. Recent records are briefly reviewed by Todd Williston '30 in "Wax Works." Bob DeHaven also conducts "Scandals."

"Soup, Horseradish, and Liver" is the title of the mystery story by Irv Tressler.

Sigma Delta Chi Sends Randolph to Evanston

Hampton Randolph '29, president of the Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalism fraternity, was chosen as the delegate, at a recent meeting, to the national convention to be held in Evanston, Ill., Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

ROSS GOES EAST

Prof. and Mrs. E. A. Ross and their son Lester will leave Madison Wednesday for the east to sail on the Floating university Nov. 8. Professor Ross will head the sociology department of the cruise.

Invite Dads Now, Wallace Jensen Urges Students

Expect Crowds at Game with Minnesota and Father-Faculty Banquet

"Invite your dad for Father's Day now," urged Wallace M. Jensen '29, chairman of the 1928 student Fathers' Day committee, after a joint meeting of the faculty and student committees held recently in the Memorial Union building.

Game Promises Interest

"A large crowd of fathers is expected at this year's functions," Jensen added, "because the game with Minnesota on Nov. 24, Fathers' Day, promises to be a much better one than last year's game with Grinnell and because of the increased enrollment. In order to be sure that they will be able to secure room reservations and football and banquet tickets for their fathers, students should start making their plans at once."

According to plans made at the joint meeting, arrangements are being made to serve six hundred fathers at the Father-Faculty banquet which will be held in the Memorial Union building dining rooms. An innovation in this year's program will be the changing of the president's reception from the Frank home on the Heights to the Union building.

Committees Named

Members of the faculty committee appointed by President Frank are Prof. A. T. Weaver, general chairman; John L. Berstreser, Albert F. Gallistel, Donald L. Halverson, Thomas Lloyd Jones, George W. Levis, and Prof. J. Lee Sellers.

The student committee, headed by Wallace M. Jensen '29, is composed of Edward P. Cole '29, Kenneth Crowell '29, William W. Fuller '30, Roy L. Matson '29, William K. Grube '29, Newman T. Halverson '30, and Robert Kaudy '30.

Orators Compete for Six Positions on Debate Teams

About 15 students have signified their intentions of competing for positions on Wisconsin's two fall men's debating teams in the preliminary tryouts to be held at 4 p. m. today in 165 Bascom hall, it was announced Monday by Prof. A. T. Weaver, chairman of the speech department. Tryouts were also to have been held yesterday, but since all the candidates desired as much time as possible in which to prepare their preliminary speeches, all trials were postponed until today.

Two teams are to be chosen eventually for the fall debates which are to be held with Minnesota and Iowa on Dec. 13. About six of the 15 candidates in today's tryouts will be selected to compete in the final tryouts on Oct. 23 at which time they will be opposed by several of last year's varsity debaters, who are exempt from the preliminaries.

The tryouts today will consist of five-minute speeches from each of the candidates on either the affirmative or negative of the question, "Resolved: That the senate of the United

Compile Statistics for Walking Time Between Buildings

The loud grumblings and complaints of freshmen and new students because of the energy consumed and time required in going from one class to another have prompted the compiling of a new set of campus statistics.

In three minutes a student of average walking ability can go from Bascom hall to Sterling. He can go from Bascom to the chemistry building in 2 1/4 minutes, from Lathrop to Bascom in 1 1/4 minutes and from the foot of State street to Bascom in 4 minutes.

If these figures are accurate, all standard excuses for being late to class which being with "there isn't enough time," "I had to come clear from Sterling" and similar expressions are foundationless but—% of a minute must be allowed for every flight of stairs. At that rate, a student going from the first floor of Bascom to the fourth floor of Sterling would arrive just a half minute late.

Statistics for the time from Bascom are as follows:

to Sterling—3 minutes.
to Chemistry—2 1/4 minutes.
to Lathrop—1 1/4 minutes.
to Engineering building—1 1/4 minutes.
to Music hall—2 1/4 minutes.
to South hall—1 1/4 minutes.
to North hall—1 1/4 minutes.
to Law building—1 1/4 minutes.

Students desiring statistics for Agriculture hall and points west should report for the track squad.

Burrus Prefers Wisconsin Sun to English Fog

Despite the royal lords, who hold nearly as many titles as he does, Jeff Burrus '27 still finds Madison, Wis., preferable to Oxford, England.

After two years of British "fawg," Jeff returned to the states to dry out thoroughly before continuing his Oxford scholastic pursuits.

Last Friday Jeff was welcomed warmly by his alma mater and his fraternity brothers, the Sigma Chi's. During his four years at Wisconsin he captured seven W's, the prom chairmanship and finally was selected Rhodes scholar of the class of '27. His genius did not stop at this point but he also claimed recognition as an author. He wrote and published a widely read criticism of inter-collegiate athletics.

This morning he will depart for Idaho to lead the life of an outdoor man in contrast to his scholarly existence in England.

BADGER ADVERTISING STAFF

There will be a meeting at 7 o'clock tonight in the Badger office, third floor of the Union, of all candidates for positions on the advertising staff of the 1930 Badger. This is a good opportunity for freshmen and sophomores.

States should accept the pact of Paris without reservations." This is the question which will be used in the regular Western conference debates this fall.

Wisconsin Redheads Gang Together in Rho Epsilon Delta

By B. D. and P. B.

Hail to thee, Rho Epsilon Delta! May you be honored, patronized, and nationalized! We welcome you to the Wisconsin campus with a lusty skyrocket! Though the name Rho Epsilon Delta has never yet been sounded on this campus before, it will soon become a lively organization at Wisconsin and perhaps elsewhere as well.

The most singular thing about this all is that it is serious. Bob Hurd '30, a young man of decidedly red hair, has been appointed chairman of the auburn group, and Ruth Blocki '30, at once very eligible, is the secretary and treasurer. The title of the club is Rho Epsilon Delta, which incorporates the word "red" in real American if you figure it out. A constitution is to be adopted this week with provisions for new members including Clara Bow, as your correspondent wisely supposes.

Similar organizations at Amherst, Ohio State and Michigan report an abundance of popularity as well as red hair.

The object of Rho Epsilon Delta is purely social, but it is promised by the founders that the constitution will not prohibit its members from dating customers of the other colored hairs. The secretary-treasurer explained to the writer in all seriousness (Continued on Page 2)

'Short' Tickets Show Necessity for Some Action

Juniors Will Elect Three; Seniors Two; Sophomores, Freshmen One

Fourteen unnecessary class offices were abolished yesterday when the heads of the five student administrative boards voted to abandon all positions of vice-president and of sergeant-at-arms and to combine the offices of secretary and treasurer.

Under the new ruling the seniors will elect a president and a secretary-treasurer; the juniors, a prom chairman, a president, and a secretary-treasurer; the sophomores, a president; and the freshmen, a president.

Standardization Needed

Action was deemed necessary on the grounds that the appearance of several three-man tickets made some sort of standardization imperative.

Since no ticket has formally established itself for the coming election, no nominations were thrown out by the change, and the election committee was instructed not to accept petitions for the abandoned offices.

The heads of the boards acted under the authority willed to them by the Student senate upon its decess last year.

Unanimous Vote

Rolland Kukuck, Forensic board; Thomas Kirmse, Daily Cardinal board; Lauriston Sharp, Men's Union; and Merrill Thompson, Badger board, voted unanimously in favor of the change. Donald Mitchell, president of the Athletic board, was absent.

Sally Davis, president of W. S. G. A., and Walter Rogers, chairman of the elections committee, also approved the plan.

The move climaxed an attack directed against offices which were unnecessary and without function. Previous to the formal outlawing of the positions, three groups had voluntarily dropped them and had entered "short" tickets for the coming election.

Purnell Issues Haresfoot Call

Meeting for All Lyric, Music, and Play Writers Announced

All men interested in writing lyrics, music, or words for this year's Haresfoot play are invited to attend a meeting with Bill Purnell in the club's offices in the Union Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

According to Purnell something new and entirely different is to be attempted in the way of Haresfoot productions this year. Last year the club successfully presented "Feature That!" a musical comedy woven about the life in Hollywood's movie colony.

Nothing has been actually done in the way of selecting this year's play and all men who attend Wednesday night's meeting will be given an equal start in working out the show. At the meeting Purnell, who is again director of the club, will sketch his plans for the year and also outline the requirements of a play-suitable for his troupe.

 ness that there is not a single red-haired person in any of the asylums over our flourishing United States. She, of course, excluded fraternity and sorority houses from the category of asylums. And to further show the possibilities of red heads she told me that a professor here on our hill once said that a person of the type which will be in this club has 50 per cent more chance of succeeding than we of more unfortunately colored hirsute adornments.

So anybody with hair from pink to auburn, including titian and down-right red (for them's the rules as so far laid down) had better hold their heads a little higher and smile at the world for dear old Rho Epsilon Delta.

 about the attitude of students toward your honor system. I feel I am justified in my criticism because a number of people I talked to felt the same way and I have attended several other schools where I never saw any cheating—namely, Western College for Women, Chicago university, Columbia, and the University of California.

At your Summer Session, cheating prevailed during examinations. I saw students open books and copy answers. I heard general discussion of questions and I heard people whom I had considered reliable say "Oh yes, everyone does it here!"

It is a question well worth your investigation, I believe.

 groups are forming, according to Hanks. It is not necessary, however, to belong to a group in order to eat in Tripp Commons, he said.

The varsity crew boarded regularly in the new dining room during its training season. Several fraternities have made it their headquarters in the absence of houses of their own. This week the Men's Glee club of 40 members, the Union staff, and the Cardinal staff are reserving tables.

Luncheon is served daily from 12 to 12:45 for 45 cents, and dinner from 5:45 to 6:30 for 65 cents. The menu is printed daily in the Cardinal.

For Sunday noon dinner the room will be open to men and women guests as usual. The dinner charge is 75 cents. The Sunday evening supper at 50 cents in the future is to be an occasion for the gathering of men from dormitories and fraternities and other houses which do not serve on Sunday evening, as well as the regular Tripp Commons diners, according to the plans of the Commons committee.

Fish Will Discuss Election in Union

Prof. Carl Russell Fish of the history department will talk on the presidential election at 12:45 p. m. today in the Old Madison room of the Union, third floor of the Commons unit. He will be presented by the University League of Women Voters.

A week from today, Prof. Pitman B. Potter of the political science department will talk on the election in the same room.

Between these two impartial discussions, speakers from both the Democratic and Republican parties will be presented by the league. J. J. McManamy will talk about the Democratic platform at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday in Lathrop parlors, and Clyde R. Wheeland will talk about the Republican platform at 7:30 p. m. Thursday in the parlors. Both meetings will close at 8:30, and are open to all students.

Women Dress More Sensibly Than Men

Women are far more sensible than men in their present day mode of cold weather dress, according to Dr. Isaac D. Rawlings, state health director, Springfield, Ill., in an interview there on winter health fashions.

Clothing ought to be such as to provide protection against chilling the body while the individual is outside and to prevent heat stasis, excessive perspiration, malfunction of the skin and too much relative humidity in the air spaces between body and garment while the individual is inside heated buildings. These requirements are met far more satisfactorily by the modern woman's dress than by that of men.

"The weight of a woman's cold weather clothing is about one-tenth of what the text books on hygiene figured on 20 years ago," said Dr. Rawlings, "while that of men has remained about the same. Women have abandoned heavy under garments for the more sensible plan of protecting themselves against exposure to cold by wearing furs, woolen overgarments and coats that may be laid aside easily within doors.

"Men, on the other hand, cling to heavy undergarments which not only cause an unfavorable difference in the amount of perspiration, but influence the functioning of the skin.

"One important factor in the difficulty with the winter garments of men is that they shut out light rays from the body so that the hands and face make up the whole area of the body exposed to these rays. This is especially true of garments that are lined. The light, unlined garments of women admit light rays freely."

CARDINAL SPORTS Athletics in the Collegiate World

Les Gage Denies O'Dea to Coach Wisconsin Crew

Squelches Rumor That Former Mentor Will Resume Position

Current rumors to the effect that Andy O'Dea, former Badger coach and brother of the famous Pat O'Dea, was being considered as a candidate for crew coach at Wisconsin were flatly denied by Leslie Gage, director of athletic publicity.

Gage declared that "there was absolutely no truth" to the rumor and said that O'Dea was not being considered for the coaching position left vacant by the decease of Harry "Dad" Vail, who held the position for 18 years.

Andy O'Dea at one time was coach of the Badger crew, and was one of those who helped bring the sport to what it is at Wisconsin. Pat O'Dea, his brother, is the man whose name stands supreme in Badger football history. Pat came from Australia and is rated as the greatest football kicker who ever booted a pigskin.

As for Andy, the fact remains that he would make a very capable coach but for reasons of his own he is not being considered for the vacancy.

Harriers Face Stiff Competition

Hoosiers Have Four Strong Contenders for the Title

Fearing the strength of the Indiana cross-country team, Coach Tom Jones is working hard with the Badger squad to prepare them for the quadrangular race at Evanston Saturday. Chicago and Northwestern are not expected to offer much opposition to the winner.

Fields, who placed second in last year's quadrangular meet, and was one of the leaders in the conference race, leads Indiana this year. Besides Fields, the Hoosiers have Leas, a sophomore who defeated Fields in a trial last Wednesday; Steele, another sophomore; and Clapman and Banks, sterling veterans.

The trial race held by Wisconsin last Saturday showed at least one good thing: that Delmar Fink, a letterman of last year, has his ankle completely healed and is in fine shape as proven by his victory over Wixon. Besides these two men, Wisconsin chances will rest on Captain Bill Burgess, Vernon Goldsworthy, Howard Fulson, and Bobby Ocock. The surprising improvement shown Saturday by Icke, Moe, Dilley, and Blair, however, may force Jones to take some of these men in place of the others. Definite arrangements have not yet been arranged, but Coach Jones intimated that he would include about seven men in the trip.

The Evanston course, which is almost four miles long, will introduce a new style of track to the Badgers. Since a good part of the track runs along a golf course, the running will be done on turf. To accustom themselves to this, the men have been running on the sod at Vilas Park. The finish of the race will be preceded by a few laps on the cinder track inside of Dyche stadium.

In a typically laconic statement, Coach Jones expressed himself: "The meet this weekend is one of the toughest of the season. Indiana has a good team." It can thus be easily seen that the Badgers will have to work hard to collect a victory next Saturday.

Zoology Professor Finds

Four New Species of Fish

Four new species of fish never before found in the lakes of South Dakota were discovered by Dr. E. P. Churchill, professor of zoology at the University of South Dakota and Richard Zalesky, a graduate student, on a recent research trip. The newly discovered fish are all of economic value. A species of sucker, provides valuable food for trout, a catfish provides food for man and two new minnow types are used for bait and provide food for larger fish.

Jeff Burrus, Famous Athlete, Back From Studies at Oxford

By Harold Dubinsky

The most delicious rumors have been floating around these last few days. But then a rumor is a rumor and nothing more. We don't place a great deal of faith in a rumor but it never hurts to give it mention because if you don't somebody else will.

George Little Back

George Little, director of Wisconsin athletics, has returned from the sad mission of attending the funeral of "Dad" Vail. We could ascertain nothing definite yesterday as to the results of his Eastern trip. By results we refer to whether or not any Eastern games were arranged for the football schedule. It was expected that Mr. Little would stop off to visit several of the Eastern colleges and try to arrange games with some of the big universities.

We don't know just what he did there. We tried to see him yesterday but he was just swamped with work. Rumor has it that a game with Army has been arranged, but we repeat this is but a mere rumor.

Rumor About Andy O'Dea

Rumors were also being broadcast that Andy O'Dea, that venerable old man who once coached crew at Wisconsin, would be signed as the coach to replace "Dad" Vail. We are definitely informed by the athletic department that this rumor is false. We were not told whether O'Dea refused the offer or whether no offer was made, but the fact remains that he will not coach crew here. He is still in town, however, for we saw him yesterday as he was about to lunch with a banker.

Jeff Burrus Back.

Jeff Burrus, Rhodes scholar, Wisconsin graduate, and a brilliant athlete, is back at Wisconsin for a visit. Burrus was a football hero, captain and stroke of the crew, junior prom chairman, Phi Beta Kappa, and so many other things that we just couldn't possibly print them all in this column. Anyway he was a big man. The why and wherefore of his visit is unknown to us but we saw him striding around the campus in a more than serious manner.

Purdue and Football

Saturday Wisconsin will face its first Big Ten opponent. That opponent is none other than Purdue. The Boiler-makers were all doped out to win the Conference title until Minnesota came along and somewhat smothered those highly touted Purdue backs. "Pest" Welch was just a beginner against the Gophers. He was stopped in his tracks. There is no reason in the world why Wisconsin with its powerful line can not do the same to Purdue with an equal effectiveness. If Wisconsin decisively whips Purdue next Saturday at LaFayette watch Wisconsin in the title scramble.

Cross Country

Wisconsin's winding cross country trails will be busier than ever this week. Saturday the Badger hopefuls will engage in the annual quadrangular meet at Chicago with Chicago, Northwestern, and Indiana.

They tell us that Indiana has a very powerful team including a good supply of veterans. Fields of Indiana gave Johnny Zola the run of his life last year in this meet and that same Fields is back again. Another sophomore on the team is supposed to have defeated Fields. That sounds bad, but Wisconsin is still optimistic.

An AKL pledge claims that the entire frat goes by his watch; but I always suspected that they were a wee bit fast.

By BOB DEHAVEN

Jeff Burrus is in town! What flashing shells and Minnesota touchdowns that name doesn't bring to mind. After two years in England writing themes for the Oxford college, Jeff has returned to the happy stamping grounds preparatory to a visit to his home.

Away back in 1923 an awkward Frosh stumbled off the train and wiped his brow in consternation at the long distance between Louisville, Ken., and Madison, Wis. He shuffled along the street and got into the Sigma Chi house by mistake. He pledged there and got his start. He was destined for great things as was his fellow hometowner and pledge brother, Henry Brooks, who later became varsity basketball captain in his junior year.

Jeff's activity while burdened with the little green cap was confined to crew and football. He won numeral awards in both these sports and was slated as "promising material" by the leading campus critics of the time. Another activity of a more serious nature was dating in the Kappa house.

Three W's in Sophomore Year

In his second year Jeff won three W's. Football, crew and water polo saw the tall Southerner do his proverbial stuff in a varsity manner. Right here is where your correspondent wishes to pay his greatest tribute to the person in question. Anybody who can strangle at the bottom of a swimming tank long enough to get a W out of it deserves great acclaim, but anybody who can do it and live to earn four more major awards is downright wonderful. Jeff did it.

Chosen Prom Chairman

Next year, which is the one in which your correspondent set the Bachelor apartments on fire, Jeff loafed along as right end on George Little's second place conference football team and as stroke of old Dad Vail's crew. And here, for gracious sakes, was where Jeff got the prom chairmanship unopposed, as impossible as it may seem to freshmen now reading the Daily Cardinal. There was simply nobody else for the job but this guy. He threw a big party at the Capitol to the tune of Jack Chapman and marched out in front of the boys with—reviewed before.

Vice-President of Union

When Jeff was a senior things did come his way in return for his great capability. He again played football and ran that 82 yards against Minnesota over which your correspondent has already tore his hair. He was elected captain of the crew and stroked boys in their efforts. Union board had already claimed him and it elected him their vice-president.

Some of the honor societies of which Jeff is an alum are Iron Cross, White Spades, Phi Kappa Phi. When the powers that exist met to choose the new recipient of the Conference medal, they came out quickly with Jeff elected. There was no end to the accomplishments of this likeable person because we aren't through with the list yet.

Elected to Phi Beta Kappa

All the time that athletics and promenading had held his attention he did not forget the little admonition of the Freshman Handbook. He was in there fighting for his learning all the time. He was elected to Phi Beta Kappa which, for the benefit of the Notre Dame football team, is the highest scholastic honor an undergraduate can achieve. And you will remember that there is a little scholarship clause attached to Phi Kappa Phi that keeps many a willing person from wearing the key.

Jeff was always a winner. He once told John Ash, nursemaid to the Octy and former disagreeable roommate of your correspondent, that the only game he didn't think he was going to win was a football game his high played with Waite High of Toledo. I am inclined to sympathize with Jeff in view of the fact that that club beat my high school Alma Mater once 66-7, and I lost seven bucks on it. Jeff turned his record and personality on the business of getting a Rhodes scholarship and he did.

Publishes Booklet

Not content with leaving a sterling athletic record Jeff wrote and published a booklet of constructive criticism on the college athletic system. The book was received and praised in high schools as well as colleges throughout the country.

Wisconsin bade goodbye to Jeff when he went to England to become a fellow alumnus of Wordsworth and Shelly whoever they were. Little has been heard of him since but now he

Snappy Football Weather Aids to Make Good Games

By Robert Meyer

Fraternity touch football teams opened the third round of the schedule with a series of hard fought games resulting in low final scores. Keen, snappy football weather and dry fields combined to produce a host of brilliant runs which placed the games above the average. Curtis of Beta Theta Pi drew attention by his clever, twisting runs in the Betas' game with Sigma Phi Sigma. Healy of Phi Kappa, by his deceptive footwork, kept his team going even in their defeat to Theta Delta Chi.

Alpha Chi Rho defeated Pi Kappa Alpha in a closely fought battle. A 30 yard pass in the second quarter resulted in the only score of the game. A successful try for the extra point brought the score to 7-0, which was final.

Lineups follow:

Pi Kappa Alpha—Ellerman, Rasmussen, Schorer, Peshak, Olsen, Druschke, Osterhandt.

Alpha Chi Rho—Orjen, Woolard, Jasper, Lemmer, Black, Rather, Polowski.

Theta Delta Chi, by scoring two touchdowns and holding the Phi Kappas to no points, won their game handily, 13-0.

Phi Kappa—Healy, Kelley, Smith, Kellogg, Derleth, Timbers, Gallagher.

Theta Delta Chi—Porter, Stovrum, Brandt, Zinn, Judson, Allen, Larson.

Alpha Sigma Phi and Sigma Phi Epsilon after going through four hard periods of football, finally had to content themselves with a scoreless tie. In the course of the game, both teams threatened to score, but lacked the necessary punch to drive the ball across the line.

Alpha Sigma Phi—Herring, Kemmer, Jautz, Vogel, Khalestad, James, Pierce.

Sigma Phi Epsilon—Airis, Highland, Smith, Shuck, Youngman, Adamson, Sandtke.

The game scheduled for the Theta Xi was forfeited to them because of non-appearance of their opponents.

Bartholomew Is High in Scoring

Wisconsin's sophomore star, Ken Bartholomew, holds second place in Big Ten football scoring honors. The Illini line crusher, Fritz Humbert, fullback, took advantage of Coe college to raise his total for the season to 30 points. Third place fell to Brockmeyer of Minnesota.

The leading scorers:

Humbert, Ill.	F.B.	25	0	30
Bartholomew, Wis.	R.H.	23	1	19
Brockmeyer, Minn.	L.H.	22	4	16

Coach Prepares Badgers for Tilt With Hoosiers

"B" Squad to Play Here Against Oshkosh Normal Eleven

While the light rain that fell yesterday afternoon did not hinder Coach Thistlethwaite from giving the varsity an intensive workout, it did seem to hinder the playing of the men, and it was only after an hour of fumbling that the varsity began to show up in good form.

Three varsity teams were lined up during the course of the evening, and a radical temporary change was made when "Dynie" Mansfield, a fullback in his sophomore year, a tackle in his junior year, and for the past month an end, was shifted again to his old position at fullback.

"Dynie" Shifted

Mansfield replaced Harold Smith on one of the teams, and gave a good account of himself by charging through an opposing freshman eleven for several long gains. In the past it has been commonly thought that Mansfield's inability to gather speed on line plunges hindered him from making a good backfield man.

To furnish scrimmage for the three varsity teams, Coach Holmes sent three of his yearling elevens against them, and the Badgers were given an intensive offensive drill, in addition to a signal drill preceding the scrimmage. For a time the varsity, while trying lateral passes and an aerial attack, were repeatedly thrown for losses as the charging forward wall of the freshmen broke through, but eventually the situation was reversed.

Practice Tackles, Passes

The backfield men on the team to which Coach Thistlethwaite was giving his personal attention was made up of Bartholomew and Price, halfbacks, Behr, quarterback, and H. Smith and Mansfield alternating at the fullback post. Bartholomew and Behr did most of the passing for the varsity, while Price was given the ball a great deal on off tackle and end run plays.

Coach Thistlethwaite is driving his men with an eye upon the Purdue game at LaFayette this Saturday, and is not allowing the men to slacken up in training after their easy victory over Cornell last Saturday.

Ochsner House Team Wins 13-7

The Ochsner touch football team defeated the Richardson team by a score of 13 to 7 Monday afternoon. Harris, halfback for Ochsner, was the big star of the game. Lineups: Richardson—Ruethy, Brecher, Riley, Roth, Varian, Luecker, Rose, Kojis, Miller, Braughton, Egan, Proctor. Ochsner House lineup—Harris, Kesmodel, Ried, Hromas, Rankin, Capellet, Culeon, Karker, Allen, Cook, Nehmkis.

Tarrant house and Faville house played to a scoreless tie in the best game of the intramural league. Macfadden was the star for the Tarrant team, receiving a pass and running 30 yards before being tagged. The ball was on the 5-yard line, but Tarrant lacked the punch to put it over. Lineup for Tarrant—Andrews, Murro, Gillies, Taubin, Macfadden, Bradford, Prussow. Faville house lineup—Gnigany, Hollinak, Bunur, Parness, Hess, Curick, Finley, Jones, Lerner.

Coach Kasiska put his intramural charges through a stiff scrimmage on Monday afternoon at the intramural field. The men that showed up well in the scrimmage were Peters, end; Hilbard, tackle; Homan, tackle; Ries, half; Craig, half; Flock, quarter; Reimus, quarter; Houston, tackle; Williams, half; Nissenbaum, tackle; Dellieith, fullback; Bonard, tackle. There will be scrimmage every day until Coach Little returns, after which the regular football schedule will start.

Coach Kasiska has mentioned that many men on the intramural team are showing up well and if they keep up the work they will be transferred to the "B" team. It is well to remember that many men from last year's teams are on the "B" team this year and there are also a few men from the intramural team on the varsity squad. This indicates that the football played by these teams is about on a par with many high school teams.

The United States now produces more than 90,000,000 pounds of coal tar dye annually.

For All Wisconsin

-- 1928-29 --

1. Raise fraternity initiation requirements and standards relating to probation.
2. Establish a point system regulating participation in student activities.
3. Clean out university politics and abolish useless offices.
4. Place Madison traffic ordinances on a metropolitan basis.
5. Take part in the presidential election in November.

Register! Vote!

This Is a Student's Duty in So Important a Presidential Campaign

UNIVERSITY of Wisconsin students, who have attained their majority, have this year an opportunity of taking part in one of the greatest national political campaigns of all times.

Two men with international reputations are seeking the presidency of the United States. Each has certain outstanding qualifications; each has expressed himself more or less definitely on the leading questions of the day. Each has made clear the sort of administration to which he will adhere if elected.

Thus the issues at stake are more clear-cut than ever before. The election of one man means the continuance of our present policy of business conservatism; that of the other may bring about changes in the fundamental structure of our government.

To some of us, content with the happy glow which surrounds student life, the question of who will be elected president of the United States may seem of little importance. Class politics, the Big Ten football championship, the year's social program—these are the things which seem to count.

But after all, are we not forgetting that one of these days we will find ourselves no longer a part of this student existence? And that a time will come when we will be entirely on our own? And that this time, for most of us, is only one to four years away?

The election this fall will have some effect on the lives of all of us. It will be during this new administration that most of us will make our bow into the business or professional world. Directly or indirectly our lives are going to be influenced by the men who will be in the White House at that time.

Under the circumstances, is it not worth an hour of our time to go down to the Madison city hall to register sometime before Oct. 30, and to vote on Nov. 6?

There are several thousand students at the university who are eligible to vote in the coming election. Under the Wisconsin election laws any student who has lived in Wisconsin for one year and in Madison election district for ten days is eligible to register and vote in Madison. In other words all students above the age of 21, who have spent a year at the university are eligible to register and vote.

The vote of the Wisconsin student body may be a decisive factor in the coming election. It is up to us to make it so. Only our usual lethargy can stop it. Are we going to permit our habitual laziness get the better of us?

Sound Reasoning

George F. Downer Does Not Become Unduly Excited by Victory

GEORGE F. DOWNER, sports editor of the Milwaukee Sentinel, in a number of comments since the Notre Dame game, has not looked upon Wisconsin's victory or upon the team's chances in the Big Ten in any too optimistic a light. Although Mr. Downer grants that the victory over the Irish was well earned and that the Badgers showed themselves the superior team, he does not go into ecstasies over Wisconsin's future this fall.

The Sentinel critic pointed out last Friday, in particular, that Wisconsin did not flash a powerful offense in the Notre Dame contest, but that the team won by its remarkable ability in following the ball. Secondly, he showed that, unless the Badgers develop an offense, they will have scores of difficulties in their remaining six contests.

Mr. Downer, in short, was extremely pessimistic in his point of view. While football spirit is not developed upon pessimism, and while we think that the Sentinel sports editor is inclined to be a little too doubtful about the Badger's chances, yet his articles strike an important key that will do more to help Wisconsin than to harm it.

With the 22 to 6 triumph of a week ago, the 49 to 0 massacre over Cornell, and the 7 to 0 Notre Dame victory over the Navy, it is only natural that the more confident of Badger rooters will begin to overrate the team. Visions of a championship are already floating through some minds, and it is a situation such as this that a writer of George F. Downer's caliber is extremely helpful.

Regardless of his pessimism, Mr. Downer is level headed; he has written about football for years, and he knows that one swallow does not make a season. His articles, while they may be discouraging to many of us, are full of sound reasoning, and will help greatly in holding down effervescent visions of October championships. In all respect to Wisconsin's ability, students and alumni must avoid overconfidence.

Cars and the Campus

University Traffic Regulations Must Be Observed by Students

A. F. GALLISTEL, superintendent of buildings and grounds, in a letter addressed to the Daily Cardinal, requests student co-operation in the matter of certain traffic regulations set up by the university. In particular he requests more general observance of the regulation prohibiting the driving of cars on the campus by students between the hours of 7 a. m. and 6 p. m.

We are thoroughly in sympathy with the request of Mr. Gallistel. The nature of the Wisconsin campus, with its steep hills and winding roads, makes automobile traffic dangerous even under favorable conditions. When thousands of students are moving in and out of narrow entrances and crowded buildings, human life is positively in danger when cars are traveling back and forth over the near by pavements.

Obviously, the university authorities must rely to a great extent on student co-operation in the promotion of safety and the prevention of accidents on the campus. Thinking students will realize that the prohibition of cars is absolutely necessary, and refrain from driving in the restricted areas without the use of university police, chains, and other symbols of force.

The regents of the university have been unwilling to go to the extreme—that is, the complete refusal of permission to operate cars, a step that has been taken in many other schools. If the students continue to disregard existing traffic regulations, however, they will demonstrate their unfitness in the driving of cars and the regents will find it necessary to take the extreme action now in force at Illinois, Michigan and other comparable schools.

Skyrockets

Aimed at the Higher Things of Life

Yesterday we had some nice trench-coat weather.

Ah, Constance, you misinformed your diary. McKaskle is not a West-erner; he is from the South—the Arkansaw Traveler. As to the "brave, big, strong," stuff, well, maybe you know him better than we do.

Believe it or not, the chairman of a recent sophomore political meeting is sporting a beautiful shiner according to friend Gosh.

By DODO, THE BIRD BOY

We've just entered the Law school and anybody who can feel like writing a funny column after doing a thing like that is certainly the height of incongruity. Nevertheless, here goes.

The fellow in the Torts class who lost his briefs, wants to know if he did them over again, if they would be reTorts.

And they say one of the professors accused one poor fellow of being a big meat packer. He said he used canned briefs.

"Hello, is this the Madison

Packing company?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well, what do you pack, trunks?"

And now dear campus politicians, gather around for your lesson in campaigning. Dodo knows that you don't get out very much and so if you want to win you will probably need lots of advice. Now in every campaign it is very important to get the right crowd back of you. Now what, may you ask, is the right crowd? That, my dears, is what we shall try to teach you in the first lesson.

There is upon this campus a group of sororities known as the Big 6, which you will doubtless hear of many times before you graduate, and here is how the Big 6 developed. Some time ago a certain Miss A. entered the U here (of course Miss A. is not her real name, imagine how funny it would be to have a person named going around called A.)

This Miss A. found when she arrived here that she was only one in several thousand, no one at all noticed how good she was. That would never do! And so she organized a sorority. Fine; that is, it was until Miss A. looked about her and discovered that there were 50 or 60 eating clubs just like hers. She was disturbed about this until she hit upon the idea of the Big 6. That helped matters a great deal for now instead of being Good she was Pretty Good. And so evolution goes on.

We now have an eating club that is gaining the reputation of having produced more queens than England, and so Miss A. may live to see the day when she is Perfect. Suffice it is to say that that's the right crowd. As one wit said last year, the others don't even expectorate.

Class dismissed. Skyrocket for Dodo s-s-s-s-s-s-s-s.

We were on the way to the Orph the other night when we noticed the immense crowd standing in front of the place. We were afraid that we might have to stand and wait, but we were wrong, for the crowd was only the end of the line waiting to get into the Parkway.

What we want to know is the guy writing the theatre column in the back of this paper, writing about theatres, books, or publicity for New York and Chicago theaters; is it personal publicity or what is it? The only thing he hasn't given us is stock reports. Perhaps, by the end of the year the law of averages will tell what it really is.

We don't blame McKaskle for running for prom chairman on an independent ticket. If we were that big we wouldn't be afraid, too, either, I mean also. But just a warning: Don't let the engineers find out that you are a lawyer. If we thought that engineers ever read the papers we wouldn't have printed that last.

REACTIONS VARY—

(a contrib)

The inveterate prom trotter: "Do you know there are few boys I have ever let kiss me."

The high school girl: "I have kissed a great many men, but there is something different about this."

The naive young thing: "Oh John, won't mother be surprised."

Talk of imagination! Here my roommate's trying to write a college story when he's never been drunk.

Career

By Granville Paul Smith in Harper's

He dreamed sometimes of great and daring things.

But kept a snug place not too near the edge Of danger, and made safe a harp and wings With desk, and pew, and soul-insuring pledge. He knew, of course, that fire would melt the fat,

So frequented the haunts where virtue teems; Although his paupered spirit passed the hat Amid a jostling crowd of rebel dreams.

He begged at Beauty's doorstep for a crumb, Yet stood a model in the neighbors' eyes; He longed, although he prayed for Kingdom-Come,

To force the shining locks of Paradise, But never dared to make the heavens fall...

He died, they buried him, and that was all.

—By Granville Paul Smith in Harper's.

Chop Suey and Hot Dog

HAIL the Memorial Union! A palace fit for Louis XIV and Queen Victoria . . . distant hills, jady lake, golden light, glittering stones, beautiful faces, warm hearts. Here one finds color and form and music and romance and life and all.

The Union will render best service to the sons and daughters of Wisconsin socially, materially, intellectually and spiritually, as has been well said by our editor, our president, our alumni.

But the Union must be a smoking room first of all.

Perhaps you would smile and laugh when you hear that the very inherited secret of Oxford education is to teach the Oxfordians how to handle a pipe. But so it is. The quotient of variation is small that every Oxford man pockets a pipe either smooth or thorn, and that if being idle and thrifty in some other respects, he is nevertheless generous and industrious enough to spend shillings and pounds and hours and days to take smoking lessons.

The function of the tutor is par excellence to teach his pupils how to inhale and exhale in the right way. It was once solemnly said by an Oxford professor that if some building fund is at the disposal of the university, other things being equal, smoking rooms should be built first, and then, if there was any money left, dormitories, then, libraries, then laboratories, then chapels, and then classrooms.

This rings like a piece of good humor. But it is symbolically and fundamentally sound. The fact is, to smoke right is to indulge one in deep meditation and reflective thought. A real smoker who makes clouds and lariat and angels and flowers out of his mouth and nose is in the best mood of thinking. So the Oxford secret!

Both observation and experimentation bear witness against modern youths in this country that we don't think enough, that side by side with the industrial developments here, the young are suffering from intellectual standardisation, mechanisation, mass production, and "rationalisation". We have but one head, one mind, one mouth, and one way of thinking and talking like Ford Model A's having one way of running. (I am glad to find out that President Frank agrees with me on this point.)

This is far from being a mere accident. Nowadays, America and heaven are synonymous and not a few prefer the former. We are living on a bed of roses without thorn. We are too happy to think. Cold drinks, hot dates, "rent-a-cars", sweet lips, blue eyes, shaving, painting, chemistry, Latin, geography, jazz, Charleston, talk-and-talk, bridge-and-bridge, John Gilbert, Mary Aster, and above all, knockouts, homeruns, and touchdowns all fill our heads and stomachs to capacity. In smooth, we can't afford to think even if we would.

We are coming nearer to the animal lore every day as Count Keyserling said. The only remedy lies in thinking, deep and independent. This is all I am driving at. And as a matter of mechanical device, the Oxford secret . . . smoking . . . should by all means be made use of. In case (or rather, since) we are not liberal enough to smoke in classrooms, and libraries, the Memorial Union can not be surpassed for our purpose, where one finds almost everywhere . . . including the women's lounge of course . . . ash trays of gold and diamond and coral.

P. S. I. I overheard a young coed say that she once smoked and then disgusted it. Well, in all seriousness, smoking, like singing or dancing, is an art. Many who "smoke" up hill and down dale around the campus are not smokers in my sense.

2. Whether my words should be taken platonically or seriously, "it all depends on you".

Just about now the limping, battered football candidate regards that altruistic motto "for Alma Mater," with a sour glance of malevolence.

The Cynical Bachelor says: "Only intelligent women should marry, but those who are intelligent are too intelligent."

Classroom seats get uncomfortably hard, but isn't it peculiar that the stone work about Social Sciences makes such an inviting spot.

Instructors are getting down to practical methods now. One of them permits sleeping in class so long as the weary one doesn't snore aloud and disturb the other members. Another grants two "byses" or exemptions from the day's recitation, and the grounds may be anything from plain laziness to an important date the night before.

International Organization
President Seeks to Resign

Resolutions to hold elections at the next meeting of vice president and secretary were passed at the first gathering of the International club Friday evening in the Round Table room of the Union.

The actual president of the club, Agustin Rodolfo, grad, Philippines, considers resigning from his post as scholastic work would keep him too busy to pay attention to the responsibilities which the office of president holds. It is probable that elections for the head of the club will also be held at the next meeting.

Dr. Carl Baumann, Switzerland, is chairman of the committee in charge of suggesting names of members for nomination to fill the vacant posts. A short musical program was given with Bol Wichrowski '30, Poland, on the violin. Francisco Tonogbanau, Philippines, and Dr. Baumann rendered songs of their native lands, and Vicente Ancheta, Philippines, played the ukele. Felix Quirino '29, who accompanied on the piano, was in charge of the program.

Out of over 100 who were present at the meeting, nine countries were represented:

China, Russia, Philippines, Poland, Bulgaria, Turkey, Haiti, Germany, and Norway. Among those present were Miss Anzia Yezierska, David Gordon, and Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Hibbard.

41 Students Enroll in Library School

Capacity enrollment of 41 students in the Library school of the University of Wisconsin, is announced by Miss M. E. Hazeltine, principal.

Nineteen of the 41 are from Wisconsin cities, nine from Minnesota, four from Iowa, two from Indiana, and one each from Connecticut, Illinois, Mississippi, Ohio, South Dakota, Washington, and the District of Columbia.

Of the total enrollment 18 hold bachelor degrees, and 13 are seniors in the university. One student is a Phi Beta Kappa and one holds an M. A. degree.

"The Revellers", recognized as one of the finest male quartets of the day, have been engaged for a concert on the Wisconsin Union series this year.

Margaret Marling Engaged to Marry William Ben Zies

Announcement was made Friday evening of the engagement and approaching marriage of Margaret Marling '26, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Marling, 21 North Prospect avenue, to William Ben Zies Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ben Zies, Chicago.

The announcement was made at a dinner given by Mrs. Randall Sears and Miss Virginia Bennett at the home of the former at Camp Sunrise. Formal announcement was also made at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority house, of which Miss Marling is a member.

Miss Marling studied for a year at Ward-Belmont college, Nashville, Tenn., and after graduating from the university, took graduate studies in home economics. Mr. Zies attended the University of Illinois, and is affiliated with Alpha Chi Rho fraternity.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Oct. 27, at the home of the bride's parents.

Irvin White, '14 Killed in Accident

Alumnus Was Prominent in Many U. W. Campus
Activities

Irvin A. White '14, prominent Antigo lawyer and formerly well-known student at the University of Wisconsin, was killed in an automobile accident near Antigo Sunday, according to word received here.

During his student days Mr. White was captain of one of the cross-country teams, an although not a fraternity member, he was prominent in many other student activities. He is best known perhaps for his opposition to Dr. Albert Tormey in the 1913 race for the prom chairmanship. He campaigned for the position on a platform which advocated "a two-dollar prom," although the price then, as now, was five dollars. Mr. White proposed the elimination of taxicabs and flowers for prom-goers. He lost the election to Dr. Tormey, however.

During the World War Mr. White served in the army as a captain, and Edith Leiser '28, Platteville, Esther Fosshage '27, and Florence Pollock '28, Columbia, visited at the house.

On Sunday, Oct. 14, Dr. H. Breakstone, B. S. M. D., was a guest at the Alpha Epsilon Pi fraternity house. Dr. H. Breakstone, formerly a professor of surgery at Loyola university, founder of the West Bend hospital, and organizer of the first Jewish medical fraternity at the Rush medical college, gave a talk at the fraternity on "The Science of Religion."

Honorary Society to Initiate 10 Men

Ten students will be initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary scholastic fraternity, on Wednesday evening, Oct. 17, in the Beef-eaters' room of the Memorial Union. The banquet will be held in the Old Madison room.

This initiation includes the freshmen who had a grade point average of 2.5 for the entire year, but who did not have such an average for the first semester.

Dean S. H. Goodnight, A. V. Millar, assistant dean of the College of Engineering, and Prof. J. F. A. Pyre of the English department, will speak at the banquet.

Press Club Gathering

Experiences and research of a journalist touring the world will be told before the University Press club Wednesday night at 7:30 p. m. in room 306 South hall by Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, director of the School of Journalism and dean of journalism instructors.

The meeting, to which all journalism students have been invited, will mark the first meeting of the University Press club in its 36th year. A committee will be named by Al Wayo '29, president, to draw up slates for officers this year.

Professor Bleyer, who returned to Madison at the opening of school following an extensive tour on the continent where he attended the World Press congress last summer, will exhibit many interesting journalism collections during his talk.

Something will have to be done about it or we'll have to quit sending our best men over there. Think of Clyde Kluckhohn, the latest Oxford edition, wearing a sock around his neck.

Prom chairman, seven athletic letters, Phi Beta Kappa, Rhodes scholar, great friend and pal, it seems unlikely that these and many more can be synonymous with the same person, but they are.

Jeff Burrus had a wonderful ex-

The Babe and Lou here will tell you that there is only one way to choose a pitcher . . . and that's to send him into the box and let him twirl a few innings.

So the best way to choose a cigarette is to put them all through their paces in the blindfold test.

In the test I have just made, OLD GOLD played right into my mitt. Its zippy flavor and mellow smoothness couldn't be touched by the other three brands.

Student Workers Look for Culture

Industrial Magazine Reveals Desire for More Opportunity to Study

That industrial scholars seek the opportunity to study cultural subjects removed from the problems of their everyday life is the unusual angle given by the reports of the Course for Industrial Workers in the 1928 issue of "Script." In this magazine, which is a collection of the impressions of the students sent here by their factories, Marian Hooeboom advocates that periods be given to the study of worth-while music and literature as well as the essential economics.

"The worker seeks diversion in jazz because he has never known the value of good music," Miss Hooeboom writes. Similarly, although the students were introduced to poetry in weekly sessions of one hour each, they found that time inadequate for real acquaintance and appreciation.

A second year course for former students, in which they would be able to make more specialized studies of working conditions based upon their practical experience and the theoretical knowledge previously acquired is suggested by Edna Christianson. Such second year students could also help new arrivals to become acclimated. "The first summer," Miss Christianson remarks, "the worker finds the studies difficult to grasp. It is hard for a person who has been away from books for eight years to become accustomed to study."

Our Senior Year

With the presentation of this statement, the Illinois Central System enters upon its fourth year of educational advertising in college and university publications. The purpose of this advertising has been to lay a ground-work of improved understanding upon which college- and university-trained men and women may base intelligently their attitude toward questions affecting the railroads.

Preceding advertisements in this series have dealt with topics more or less progressively related, as follows: 1925-26, "History and Relationships"; 1926-27, "Departments of a Railroad"; 1927-28, "The Railway Plant." The topic for 1928-29 will be "Problems of Permanent Interest." The problems to be discussed are "Regulation," "Valuation," "Taxation," "Loss and Damage," "Safety," "Development Work" and "Public Relations."

Why, one may ask, should college and university students be asked to take an interest in railway problems? Simply because of this: Railway service is so interwoven with practically every phase of life today that it is hard to conceive of a railway problem in which the interest of the citizen is not somehow concerned. In many railway problems the interest of the citizen is paramount. Moreover, under the present organization of economics and government, as has been pointed out before, the public controls railway service not only by purchasing it but also by regulating the conditions under which it shall be rendered and by providing its capital supply. A general realization of this threefold relationship between the public and the railroads should inspire all citizens to interest themselves in railway problems.

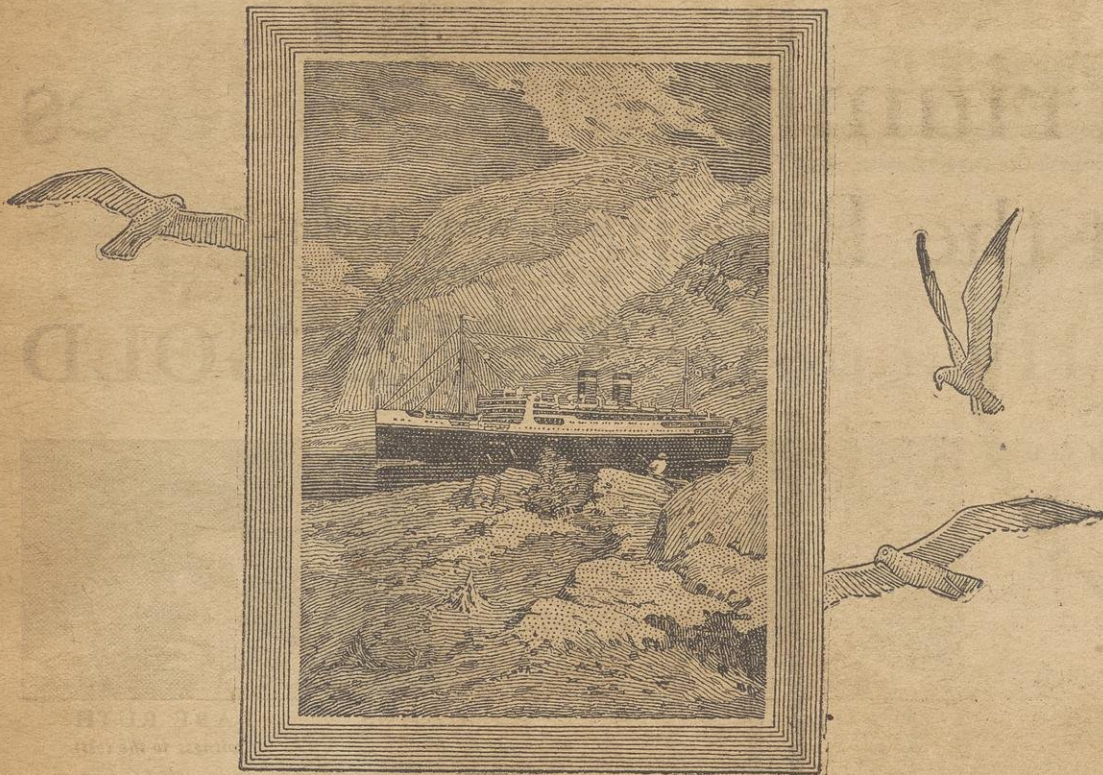

The college or university graduate, as a beneficiary of educational opportunities and as a leader in citizenship, has the opportunity to direct, interpret and enforce public opinion. Nowhere is constructive, informed public leadership more clearly essential than in the railway field.

As a test of the interest shown in this advertising, an essay contest will be announced shortly after the first of the year. Full details will be furnished those eligible at that time.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

L. A. DOWNS,
President, Illinois Central System.

CHICAGO, October 15, 1928.

ELECTRICITY opens a new era of ocean travel

Miraculously quiet and vibrationless, luxurious and swift, the new electrically operated S. S. California, largest American-built passenger ship, has opened a new era of ocean travel.

Electricity drives the California so efficiently that the fuel bill for the initial coast-to-coast trip was even less than the Canal tolls. Electricity mans the winches, bakes the bread, makes the ice, polishes the silver. And electricity cools the cabins and provides passengers with the comforts found in the finest hotels.

On sea or land, in every walk of life, electricity is in the van of progress. Undreamed of yesterday, the electric ship is a symbol of the electrical industry's part in modern civilization and a prophecy of even greater accomplishment.

This monogram is found on great motors that drive the California; and on a multitude of electric appliances which contribute to the comfort of her passengers. It is an emblem of skilled engineering and high manufacturing quality.

Girl's Hot Tip Steers Student to Favorite Pipe Tobacco

San Francisco, Cal.
Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.
Gentlemen:

Since I first started to smoke, I have always smoked cigarettes.

One day SHE said to me "Ed, dear, why don't you smoke a pipe. I think those long straight-stemmed pipes are so manly-looking."

So, naturally, I had to buy a long-stemmed pipe and a can of well, we'll call it "Blubs Mixture tobacco." Immediately with a certain feeling of pride in my new pipe, I "lighted up" and proceeded to have my tongue bitten. I tried almost every brand I had ever heard of, but none satisfied me.

Sadly, I had to confess to HER that as a pipe smoker I was a good dietitian.

"Did you try Edgeworth?" she asked. "That is what dad smokes, and he's always smoked a pipe."

So I was forced to try Edgeworth, and all that I can say is that if every fellow that has tried to accustom himself to a pipe, started with Edgeworth, there would be very few that would go back to cigarettes.

Yours sincerely,
Ed Maher
