PROM PARTIES PLANNED FOR GROUPS OF MEN

Meeting to be Held Today
at 12:45 in Bascom
Hall

All men not connected with an organized group and who are planning to attend the 1922 Junior Prom on February 11, are requested to meet with Edward C. Caluwaert, chairman of men's arrangements committee today at 12:45 in 165 Bascom hall to discuss arrangements for Prom group parties.

"I have secured places for group post-Prom parties and started arrangements for transportation and music for these affairs," said Caluwaert. "It remains with the men to organize congenial groups for these parties. My committee will co-operate to the fullest extent with all men who are not connected with other organized crowds. As soon as these groups get together applications for boxes at the capitol on the night of Prom will be made and turned over at once to the committee on boxes."

Asks for Suggestions

Dale Merrick, Prom chairman, requests that these groups, upon organization, select a representative to work with the men's arrangements committee.

"I wish that any man who has any ideas concerning arrangements on the night of Prom or at other parties to be given in connection with Prom would call Caluwaert or get in touch with me personally. I shall be glad at any time to go over any matters of this nature with anyone."

Donald B. Murphy has been appointed as assistant to Caluwaert on the men's arrangements committee.

First Report Saturday

A meeting of all committee chairmen and committeemen of the 1922 Junior Prom will be held at the Delta Upsilon house, 644 North Frances street, Saturday at 1 o'clock, announces Dale Merrick, Prom chairman.

Reports from committees on music, programs, Prom reception and Prom picture are to be made at this meeting. The chairman urges that all committeemen be present to consider these reports.

STUDENT SENATE PROBES MATTER OF DIRECTORIES

Investigate Delay in Appearance on Campus—Report on Housing Situation

The reasons for the late appearance of the student directories were heard by the student senate last night at its regular meeting in President A. Birge's office.

Committee Investigates

The senate at its last meeting appointed a committee to look into the matter and after consultation with W. D. Hiestand, registrar, they found the causes were that the directories are printed at the state printing office where they must wait their turn; that the accuracy required necessitates a frequent checking and re-checking of the names and data; and that the records of all the students must be investigated in order to insure their proper classification. After hearing this report the senate adopted a resolution recommending the issue of temporary directories in the future.

HAIRNETS

Men Lose Octopus Sale Contest to Women—Must Pay Penalty on Hill

The Octopus selling contest yesterday morning was won by Marie Bodden '21, and Helen Harper '21, with a total of 129 copies sold. "Pat" Dennis '21, and "Fred" Sperry '21, who composed the other team, sold only 122, and will wear the hairnets, their penalty for losing, on the hill this morning.

Fred has a dark auburn cap-shape net, which he purchased at the corner drug store, while Pat wears a light auburn one, presented by a blonde friend. If it is warm enough so they will not catch cold, they will not wear hats.

"But we feel that we have had a dirty deal," said both "Fred" and "Pat" in separate interviews. "The men crossed the hill to buy from the girls who were selling, and the girls didn't buy from us because they wanted to see us wearing hair-nets."

"We will get back at the girls next time the Octopus comes out," they declared. "We will have a more even contest, and prove that we are really much better sellers than the girls."

This contest has proved that men are at least nearly as good as girls at selling and such things. It has solved a much-debated question, and will undoubtedly lead to new developments on the tagging question.

TERCENTENARY BANQUET TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Noted Speakers on Program Commemorating Landing of Pilgrims

A tercentenary celebration banquet will be held tonight at the city Y. M. C. A. under the auspices of the State Historical society. The Rev. Samuel M. Crothers, Boston, who is to speak at the tercentenary convocation this afternoon, will be the guest of honor.

Gov. E. L. Philipp and Governor-elect J. J. Blaine of Wisconsin will be among the speakers at the banquet. Other speakers will be the Rev. C. H. Beale, pastor of the First Congregational church of Milwaukee; Karl Mathie, Warsaw, and Thomas M. Priestly, Mineral Point. About 150 people are expected to attend the banquet. Preference in making arrangements was given first to members of the State Historical society, and next to Mayflower descendants in Madison.

OCTOPUS CUTS IN ON LIT MAG SALES

"The Literary magazine sales have been unusually good this month," said August J. Fehrenbach '22, business manager, "but the fact that the Octopus came out the day after the Literary magazine slowed up the sales on the second day."

A meeting of the entire business staff, including circulation, advertising, and publicity departments, has been called for 5 o'clock today to discuss problems of sale and organization.

At the meeting of the Literary magazine board Monday, Paul Gangelin '23, was made assistant editor. The board also passed on material for the next issue.

SEMI-FINALS IN DEBATE TRYOUTS TO BE HELD SOON

Candidates for Intercollegiate Teams to Sign With Professor O'Neill

Semi-final tryouts for intercollegiate debating teams will be held Wednesday, December 15, in 165 Bascom hall, according to arrangements perfected by Prof. J. M. O'Neill. Part of the contestants will debate at 3:30 in the afternoon and the remainder will speak at 7:30 in the evening.

Professor O'Neill has announced that all contestants must register by Monday, December 13 at the latest, stating whether they will debate in the afternoon or in the evening, and also which side of the question they have chosen. The debaters may mail this information to Professor O'Neill or sign up in person in his office, 204 Bascom hall.

The question is, "Resolved, that the United States should have recognized the soviet government of Russia before July 1, 1920." Each speaker will be given four minutes for a main speech and three minutes for a rebuttal.

FIRELIGHT MEETS ARE POSTPONED

The Firelight Saturday evening get-together meetings for the men and women of the university will not be held again until after Christmas. At the meeting it was also decided to hold the Firelight meetings but once every two weeks in the future owing to their conflict with so many other activities.

FACTS WORTH CLIPPING

Outstanding points in the crowded situation existing in the university at the present time:

1. Present enrollment is 7,004, the largest in the history of the university.
2. The university is trying to teach 7,004 students using facilities planned for about 5,000 students.
3. Enrollment increases appear to be normal ones and indicate that the 8,000 mark will be passed within the next two years.
4. With the exception of the Physics-Economics building, practically no additions to buildings and physical plant have been made by the legislature since 1913.
5. New building appropriations voted in 1913 were canceled because of war conditions and crowding became serious several years ago with an enrollment of 5,000.
6. Now 7,000 students are crowded into space considered hardly sufficient for 5,000. Traffic rules exist in recitation buildings in order to handle the crowds. Instructors share desks and offices in shifts. Courses have been suspended because no rooms could be found for them. Buildings are jammed almost beyond the limits of health and safety.
7. Building program planned includes increased classroom space for College of Letters and Science, increased laboratory facilities in the department of chemistry, enlarged library facilities for the Law school, dormitories for men, additions on present dormitories for women, and additions to shops and laboratories of other schools and colleges.

VARSITY FIVE BEAT FROSH EASILY, 25-10

Open 1920-21 Season With Knox College Quintet Friday Night

Coach Meanwell's Badgers got under way with the short pass of offensive against the frosh five in a regular open practice game last night and trounced the yearlings easily 25 to 10. The defensive play of the varsity showed great improvement over their play against the first year men in last Monday night's game and the frosh only shot three field goals during the entire contest, all of which were netted during the first half.

The passing of the varsity was the outstanding feature of their offensive work. Time and again they worked the ball into scoring territory only to miss a well earned, open shot at the basket. The shooting of the varsity men is not quite up to standard as yet, but Coach Meanwell is satisfied with the way in which his men are going at the present time.

Captain Taylor, "Rollie" Williams and "Jack" Williams worked the forward positions for the varsity, Frogner played at center, and Caesar, Tebell, and Horn played the guard jobs. The forwards showed a marked tendency to do more shooting and although they hurried their shots, several pretty baskets were made after a series of passes had advanced the ball near the basket.

Defense is Strong

Caesar and Tebell started at the guard positions and their work was a great improvement over the guarding of last Monday night. Caesar was up the floor on offense while Tebell is rapidly developing into a strong defensive guard. He was especially able in getting rebounds from the opponents basket and he got rid of the ball safely.

The varsity players will take a rest today in order that they may be in the best of condition when they open the 1920-21 season against Knox College Friday evening. The line-up in the Knox game will be composed of the same men who worked against the yearling

DEAN NARDIN TO SPEAK TONIGHT AT FELLOWSHIP MEET

Speaking on the subject "The Student Movement at Wisconsin," Dean F. Louise Nardin will address the Fellowship meeting at the university Y. M. C. A. tonight at 7 o'clock. The talk by Dean Nardin before the group will be to present to the men the position of the faculty in regard to various student activities, and especially to give the reasons for the present stand against mis-conduct at student dances. An open discussion will be held after her talk.

The jolly old world was being miled on for a time Wednesday by Cerebrum, Eerebus or what ever it is the poets have nicknamed the sun. Every silk lining is sewed onto an ungainly piece of shoddy nowadays, though, as the late weather will testify. Some of us inspired by Saturday's brightness put on our summer unmentionables again, and we will probably get pneumonia and begin pushing up daisies. But avant with such morbidities.

WE have a contrib which seems to us to have no point. Can you make anything of it?

"A lady walking along the street was passed by a man on horse back and by a man in an auto. She spoke only to the man on the horse. Why did she do that? All right, why? Well, because the horseman was acquainted with her."

That's the kind of joke that doesn't get anywhere. It doesn't have any purpose. Wonder who sent it in?

THE famous Mailpouch tells about a razor his grandmother gave him. He says it is so sharp he can shave three days under the skin with it. He shaves Monday, and his beard does not even show up till Thursday.

IN the recent controversy conducted in this paper concerning the greasing of the basketball floor it seems to us certain parties are waxing facetious.

PURPLE AND GOLD CLUB PLANS DANCE DURING HOLIDAYS

That the Purple and Gold club, university chapter of the Milwaukee Washington high alumni association will hold a holiday dance in Milwaukee, December 29, at the Odd Fellows' temple was decided at a meeting of the club in the university Y. M. C. A. last night.

The Purple and Gold club was founded for the purpose of bringing together the alumni of Washington High school that are attending the university and to spread the Wisconsin spirit among the undergraduates of the Milwaukee high schools. In this way the club has hopes to bring many prospective college students to the university and especially those who have made a success in high school athletics and scholastics.

While the club started last September with only 17 members, there are now 53 on its roll call. The ultimate aim is eventually to join with the graduates of all the other Milwaukee high schools and academies into one Milwaukee club. In the development of this idea the club extends a cordial invitation to all Milwaukee students to attend their dance.

Arrangements for the dance are in charge of Henry Katz '22, president of the club, Herbert Hentzen '23, and Herman Mosher '23.

DEAN NARDIN IS HOSTESS AT "COZY"

Dean F. Louise Nardin will be hostess at a social hour to be held at 4:30 Friday afternoon in Lathrop parlors for all university women. These "cozys" are held every week for the purpose of furnishing an opportunity for the women of the university to meet each other.

NEW BILL AT THE ORPHEUM

A child is so attractive that often the most devoted parent wishes it would not grow up. "The Viol-Inn" in which Billy Abbott is starred, and will appear as the headline act on the Orpheum program for the balance of the week, starting tonight is described as a young musical comedy and it is so attractive that there is never the slightest desire to have it grow into anything larger. There is a mixture of color in "The Viol-Inn," vocal, instrumental, humorous, terpsichorean and sartorial and like the Spanish robossa they have blanded. Of course, Mr. Abbott himself is a joy. He is an unctuous comedian with an original and telling method. He won his spurs in vaudeville and now requires no burr. His supporting company is composed principally of attractive girls who in addition to the merits usually possessed by young ladies in musical plays are also violinists. The other feature acts on the program will include Hugo Lutgens, known as the Swede Billy Sunday in his act "Yump on the Vater Wagon;" Marlette's Marionettes, an ingenious production of comedy and novelty in Puppetland; Mason and Dixon, two black face comedians in fifteen minutes of domestic argument interspersed with songs; Vaudeville's newest find, "The Man Off the Ice Wagon" will appear and Booth and Leander in an act called "Look at It Now," completes the bill, which will be on view for the balance of the week including the Sunday performances.

COACH OF GYM TEAM WANTS NEW MATERIAL

Twenty-three Men Out for Varsity Squad Face Stiff Schedule

With the Wisconsin gymnastic squad facing the hardest schedule in years, Coach Fred E. Schlatter has issued a call for more candidates to augment the small squad now reporting.

Twenty gymnasts and three fencers are working out for the gym team, but the squad is weak in club swingers and broad swordsmen, and any men interested in swinging the Indian clubs or dueling are asked to report to Coach Schlatter, regardless of previous experience.

The varsity gymnasts are practicing regularly and rapidly rounding into condition for the stiff conference schedule which has been carded. A meeting of varsity candidates will be held at 4:30 Friday afternoon, and at this time, all prospective candidates will be received by the coach.

"The varsity gym team has a lot of possibilities," declared Coach Schlatter Wednesday afternoon, "but eligibility is the big question. The material is good, but we want more strong men for some of the positions."

First competition for the varsity team is carded for January 8, when the annual frosh-varsity meet will be held. La Crosse normal will be met in the second preliminary competition. The squad will meet its first Big Ten opposition at Chicago March 4. Tentative dates have been arranged to bring Minnesota and Illinois to Madison for meets, and a meet with the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. team has been scheduled. Of the teams which are entered in the conference meet, Illinois and Chicago are conceded the strongest chance of winning. Indiana and Ohio will enter teams for the first time.

Final selection of the freshman gymnastic squad has been made this week after the deciding trials. The members of the squad and their events follow:

William Hamman—Horizontal and parallel bars, rings and horse.

Elmer Krieger—Horizontal and parallel bars, rings.

Gilmore Du Val—Parallel bars, rings, and tumbling.

Charles Griffin—Horizontal bars, and tumbling.

The following men have not completed their trials: Norman Koch, Richard Weiss, Henry Klos, Fred Knowles.

The freshman fencing team selected by Coach Schlatter after the final tryouts is composed of Francis Whitehead, William Rowland, and Albert Thompson.

Both the first year gymnastic squad and the fencing team are above the average in proficiency. The frosh are pointing for the annual contest with the varsity squad.

"We have some fine material working out on the freshman squads," said Schlatter. "The men will give the varsity team good, stiff competition when the two teams meet in January. The strong freshman team is just what we need now, with the varsity entering one of the heaviest seasons in years, and the competition that the frosh can furnish will be a great help in preparing the varsity for the Big Ten season."

BOOK EXCHANGE CLOSED FOR LACK OF FACILITIES

S. G. A. Store to Shut Doors Friday—Many Difficulties in Operating

S. G. A. has found it necessary to close the book exchange started last spring, on account of lack of space in which the operate. The room in the Physics-Economics building which has been used for the purpose is now to be occupied by the telephone exchange. No other space is available in any of the university buildings. The exchange will be installed again by S. G. A., however, whenever space for it can be obtained.

Checks Sent Out

Checks for all the books sold this fall have been sent to the owners of the books by Esther Haven '22, treasurer of S. G. A. If those who left books to be sold at the exchange last spring have not received money equal to two-thirds the original value of the books, less 10 per cent kept by S. G. A. to pay expenses, they may assume that the books were not sold.

The exchange will be open from 2:30 to 5:30 Friday afternoon, December 10, when the owners may call for books which have not been sold.

Difficulties in Operating

The exchange has operated under great difficulty because of its inconvenient location. Another difficulty has been due to the fact that the section of the building in which the exchange was located was left unlocked by carpenters working there. Students entered the store when there was no attendant there, took books, and left their names and addresses for the money to be collected. Much extra expense has been incurred in paying women for the time required to try to obtain the money thus owed. Although the delinquent students have been notified several times, there are still 13 who have not paid their debts. They are urged to pay at the exchange when it is open Friday afternoon.

TO ASK $400,000 SOLDIER HOSPITAL

American Legion Will Request State to Erect Psychopathic Hospital

A new $400,000 psychopathic hospital to care for the ex-service men who were injured during the war, the proposed building to be erected as a part of the university outlay by the state, will be asked of the next legislature by the American legion, according to Maj. W. F. Lorenz addressing member of the local branch of the American legion last night.

The New York state plan, provides for the adoption of a similar scheme, the federal government maintains and equips a hospital for 10 years, at the end of which period the cost of building has been wiped out by a 10 per cent yearly payment. It then becomes property of the state. Under Major Lorenz's plan this procedure would be followed here.

Ex-soldiers at the Mendota hospital are able to receive only half the benefits of their federal allotment because of the state regulations on their appropriations, according to Major Lorenz.

"The federal allotment for each of these disabled men is $2.50," he said, "but because of the restrictions of state rules on the hospital appropriations, only $1.25 can be used."

Two names were submitted for post commander to succeed Major George W. O'Connell. They were Timothy Brown and Oscar T. Toebe.

TEACH CHILDREN TO TAKE PRIDE IN U. S.

Prof. Aust Tells Roxanas to Foster National Spirit

Because future generations will have to live in an industrial age in which many of the present advantages before the Roxana club in the ages of our nation will disappear, the children should be taught the essentials of citizenship and national pride as were the ancient Spartans, according to Prof. F. A. Aust, speaking before the Roxana club in the city Y. M. C. A. last night.

"This subject of community centers can perhaps be worked out in this city better than in any other, with few exceptions in America," he declared. "Here we have groups of every kind of society. This condition is not duplicated perhaps in 10 other cities in America."

Prof. Aust showed how the Greeks owed the greater portion of their success in building up a wonderful civilization to the fact that the youth was taken over by the state at 7 years of age to 30.

The plan for Madison would include the supervision of the youth by older people, teaching them the importance of our natural resources, their conservation, and the great importance and responsibility of citizenship.

Announcement of the Christmas party of the Roxana club was made to take place Dec. 21, and all members are invited to come and bring with them their feminine friends, wives and acquaintances.

HEAR DEAN NARDIN

TO Dean of Women Louise Nardin goes the honor of being the first woman ever invited to address a university Y. M. C. A. Fellowship meeting at Wisconsin. What a dean of women could possibly have to say to a group of university men has caused no end of comment in campus circles.

The Cardinal ventures the prediction that the dopes are due for a real surprise. One poster tells us that Dean Nardin will tell "What a Dean Thinks About a Student Movement," another that she will discuss those extra-curricular things which, though entirely germane to university life, have taken too much of the time of some students; and the "Y" authorities tell us that "she will speak to the men."

Reduced to a point of fact, the discussion has been arranged primarily to give the reasons for the present stand against misconduct at student dances. Everyone will admit that "misconduct" is a rather precarious term to use when applied to dancing; and Dean Nardin may have something of a task on her hands. At the same time it is to be doubted if any other member of the faculty can present the matter in an unbiased, frank, and certain a manner as can the dean of women.

She comes into intimate contact with every co-ed at Wisconsin; she has been the prime mover in numberless movements which have meant much to the university; and, best of all, she can present the side of the co-ed, upon whom some people have seen fit to foist the blame in the dance controversy.

Men of Wisconsin who have the interest of their Alma Mater at heart should not fail to hear Dean Nardin's talk to-night. The comparative brevity of the meeting, the importance of the subject, and the prominence of the speaker is a combination of factors which should bring out a record attendance.

THE OCTOPUS

ANOTHER sterling, par excellence number of our funny contemporary, the Octopus, made its appearance on the campus yesterday. These uncommonly good numbers have been coming forth with such clock-like regularity that it is becoming something of a problem to find enough kindly words about all of them.

Limitless as our stock of praise may be, the Christmas issue of the Octopus merits the award which should go to an extraordinarily good combination of humorous gems. As someone has very aptly remarked, it is altogether brisk, snappy, and somewhat unlike a number of other so-called humor magazines, it is funny to a rare degree.

Gradually, as students come to realize that amid the hub-bub excitement and serious aspect of campus life the Octopus is able to grind out a worthwhile humor sheet, the circulation lists mount. The subscription totals compare favorably with those of like magazines in other universities, but they should go higher.

There is an advantage in being a regular subscriber which is not always appreciated. To the magazine it gives assurance of unqualified support on the part of the student body; to the student it means being assured a copy without the unnecessary trouble attendant on buying one at open sale. Some persons may dismiss this last thought as inconsequential, but they are due for disappointment when an issue will be sold out before all are supplied.

The Octopus has gained fame elsewhere. Let's put it on the high pedestal of justly earned honor at Wisconsin. Subscribing is the medium.

COMMERCIAL ART WORK DISCUSSED AT PRINT SHOP

Three phases of commercial artists' work, line drawing, wash drawing, and the BenDay process, were discussed by Herbert H. Brockhausen '22, art director of the 1922 Badger, and demonstrated by the proprietor of the Print shop last night before about fifty members of the Arts and Crafts club and visitors.

"Amateur artists so often make drawings without thinking of how it will come out in line engravings, that is hard to make anything out of their pictures. They are apt to make fine or broken lines, which never come out well," he said.

The correct method of making wash drawings was also demonstrated. The photographic values of colors were discussed, and the best way to doctor up a picture so that it will come out on the cut in the natural colors was shown.

SCHEINFELD NAMED DELEGATE TO CONVO

NEW CAFETERIA TO BE OPENED

$12,000 Annex to be Built
Back of Lawrence State
St. Lunch

A $12,000 addition to the Lawrence Lunch, 662 State st., is to be begun next week, and a cafeteria will be opened there as soon as the premises are ready next May, according to a statement by Ralph E. Lawrence, owner of the restaurant today.

The present restaurant is not run cafeteria style. Mr. Lawrence plans a new kitchen and a dining room with a balcony. The seating capacity of the dining room is to be about 170. A new refrigerating system will be installed. The old restaurant and kitchen will remain in operation. The cafeteria is to be built at the back of the restaurant and the entrance is to be at 664 State st. Mr. Lawrence has conducted a restaurant in the Latin quarters for 12 years and has been five years in his present location.

five last night. Since there is little hope of Weston or Knapp becoming available for some time, it is likely that the present line-up will bear the brunt of the early season games for the Badgers. Fanning was out in a suit yesterday but just when he will be able to get into the line-up is uncertain.

Knox Has Strong Team

The Badgers are facing a fast aggregation of basket shooters Friday night in the Illinois champions and a stiff game is expected. The Ticket sale for the first preliminary game with Knox college Friday night will open at the gymnasium Friday morning at 9 o'clock. The game is scheduled to commence at 7:30, and the doors will be closed the moment the whistle blows for the opening of the game. They will remain closed until the end of the first half.

Knox five plays a short pass game similar to the one coached by Coach Meanwell so the outcome of the game will depend largely upon the defensive ability of the two teams.

A large crowd of interested spectators saw the practice game last night and it is the general sentiment among Badger fans that Wisconsin will have a strong team this winter. The Badgers will develop as the season progresses and whereas even the most optimistic is not predicting a championship it is certain that Wisconsin will place high in the percentage column. They will meet enormous odds in every team that they meet for not a man on the Badger five measures six feet while the heaviest player does not weigh 170 pounds.

Vets May Reinstate War Risk Insurance

During December ex-service men, who originally held war risk insurance, still have an opportunity to reinstate their insurance without a medical examination, provided they have not been discharged over 18 months. After Jan. 1, if they desire to have their insurance reinstated, they will have to pay for their own examination. Ex-service men who desire to have their insurance reinstated should call at the Red Cross offices at the Association of Commerce in the Cantwell building as soon as possible. The office is open from 9 a. m. to 12 m. After Dec. 15 it will be open all day. Maj. Merz to Return

Maj. A. S. Merz, who has been around the world during the three years since he left Madison, arrives in New York today and will be in this city by the middle of the month, according to word received here yesterday. He spent two and a half years in Siberia, which country he left last July.

DISCUSS STATE DEVELOPMENT

Preliminary Meeting Held; Tri-State Conference May Follow

A meeting to discuss Wisconsin's agricultural and general development problems, preliminary to a possible tri-state conference, is being held in the Park hotel today, to get Wisconsin sentiment on the importance of these problems. Among the projects being discussed are the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence-Waterways project, the cutover country clearing and settlement difficulties.

Such conferences are being called in Minnesota, where the plan originated, and in Michigan, whose problems are similar to those of Wisconsin and Minnesota.

If the men assembled here today regard a tri-state conference as practicable, they will make a recommendation to that effect to Gov. Preus of Minnesota. Among those present at today's meeting are Nils F. Haugen of the Tax commission, Dean H. L. Russell of the college of agriculture, B. G. Packer, immigration commissioner, Mr. Bartlett of the Wisconsin Bankers' association, J. R. Wheeler of Columbus, J. G. D. Mack, state engineer, Charles Peterson of the Wisconsin Farm bureau, E. C. Pommerning of the American Society of Equity and R. S. Scheibel of the conservation commission.

Open Waterworks to Public on New Years

Open house, with the annual public inspection and program, will be held at the city pumping station on New Year's day, according to Leon A. Smith, superintendent of waterworks. Last year the new plant was dedicated on Thanksgiving day, and at that time it was voted to hold open house every year. A total of $180,000 has been spent on improvements during 1920, out of a $220,000 appropriation. Visitors to the plant will see the new 8,000,000 gallon pump in operation.

SALARY RAISE OPPOSED BY GOV. PHILIPP

Says There Should be No
Boost in School Salaries Now

That there should be no additional salary increases in educational institutions and that the question should be left to the legislature as a matter of public policy was the statement of Gov. E. L. Philipp in appearing before the state educational board today. The board had under consideration the budgets of the different educational institutions of the state.

Gov. Philipp appeared before the state board of education this morning and made suggestions regarding budget proposals. He said that no salary increases should be allowed at this time in educational institutions. That question should be left to the legislature as a matter of public policy.

"This does not mean that I am opposed to increases but that the uncertainty of conditions ahead and in view of the fact that action will probably not be taken until next May the question should be left open," he said.

"The same general principle applies to capitol expenses. As a general rule I should be against any capitol expenditures for the University except such a case as an addition to the chemistry building. The uncertainty of conditions here makes it advisable to leave this question open to the legislature."

HEAR PAGE TALK ABOUT CONTRACTS

"The contract is the basis of all modern business," declared Prof. William H. Page of the Law school in speaking on "Contracts in Relation to Engineering," before the members of the A. A. E. in the auditorium of the Engineering building Tuesday night.

Professor Page pointed out a number of difficulties an engineer is likely to meet with in the making and carrying out of contracts, and showed by examples how contracts are made, how broken, and what makes a contract binding. He strongly advised, however, that in all cases where business of any importance is involved, a competent lawyer should be consulted.

The remainder of the meeting was given over to an illustrated lecture by M. W. Link '21 on the six weeks' mining trip in the west that was taken last summer by several senior engineers.

An announcement was made that at 6 o'clock Friday night the A. A. E. would hold a banquet in the city Y. M. C. A. The speakers of the evening will be C. E. Drayer, national secretary of the A. A. E., and several members of the engineering faculty. A few tickets for the banquet are still on sale.

Red Domino Gives
Excellent Plays--
And Critic Stays

BY R. C. W.

I slipped into the concert room at Lathrop last night and stood near the door so if Red Domino got too supremely high brow in its first public appearance I could leave as quietly and unostentatiously as I entered. But just like the rest of the 400 I didn't have to be coaxed to stay to the end. And that is saying a lot for a performance.

There were three plays. To determine which one was the best I drew straws and Helena's Husband won. He is a sort of lucky fellow anyway because in the course of the farce, which by the way was evolved by no less than Phillip Moeller, he succeeds in losing a perfectly wicked wife fashioned after the lines of the far famed Cleopatra.

Esther Guerini is the wicked wily wife who whims and whines and wins all the men save her husky husband, the king. Her facile affection, her easy movements, earn appreciation. She is an agreeable surprise.

But before any sweet sentiments are dished out, let Tsmu, Helena's negress slave and masseur, interpreted by Agnes Samuels, receive her share. By her originality and competent understanding of the role, Miss Samuels does a difficult part in a manner that labels her an actress of ability.

As a self asserting, domineering king, David Lacey is satisfactory. Lee McCandless, the king's librarian was very adept in his impersonation.

With a Haresfoot voice and a romantic lover's spontaneity, Donald Marvin plays the part of Paris, a shepherd who entices vain Helena from her royal couch. Praise is due Paris.

Where But in America? by Oscar M. Wolff is the title of the one act comedy in which Edith Royse distinguishes herself as Mrs. Espenayne, a not unusual aspiring woman who has her hands full managing a nerve wrecking husband and a Swedish maid. Having an appearance and voice that is pleasing, Miss Royse at once delights her audience. Entirely at ease she makes one forget Edith Royse and think only of Mrs. Espenayne.

John Warren is John. Playing opposite Miss Royse, he is not dissimilar to the John we have seen in other plays. Well equipped in appearance and temperament to portray the role of the husband, Mr. Warren gives an altogether agreeable performance.

As Hilda, the Swedish maid, Olivia Fentress is well cast only we wonder if her Swedish does possess a Frenchy tang.

There is a little rain in the evening to make the affair complete. The Bank Account by Howard Brock is a one act tragedy that makes you swallow and cough a lot. It is the story of a man who has lived for twelve years thinking that his wife has been putting aside a nest egg only to find she has saved not a cent.

Frances Ryan was entrusted the part of the wife. Her interpretation is a bit of genuine artistry. Henry Scott Ruble made a successful debut in university dramatics with his impersonation of the husband. Few on the campus are so well equipped as Mr. Ruble to play this character.

Miriam Doan as Mrs. May Hardinge, Miss Ryan's "side-kick" is satisfactory.

To the coaches, Eleanor Riley, Elizabeth Sehon, and Julia Hanks particular praise is due.

AT THE STRAND

Few motion picture actors are as much at home in stories of the sea as Hobart Bosworth. Something of the tang and power of the salt waves seems to have been transmitted to his staunch frame. Mr. Bosworth is ideally suited to his role as the veteran deep-sea diver in "Below the Surface," which is now showing at the Strand.

Mr. Bosworth is Martin Flint, a sturdy New Englander. His son, Luther, is his partner in the dangerous profession and the apple of his eye. Flint's daring rescue of a submarine crew attracts James Arnold and Edna Gordon, unscrupulous promoters from Boston. Attracted by the girl, Luther becomes an unwitting partner in their schemes, marries Edna, and nearly loses his life in her behalf. While he lies near death, she deserts him. Martin follows the girl to a Boston cabaret, and forces her to start back to Luther with him. The steamer in which they are traveling crashes into a derelict in a fog and sinks. Out of the wreck comes the means of clearing up Luther's difficulties and the vindication of Martin in his son's eyes.

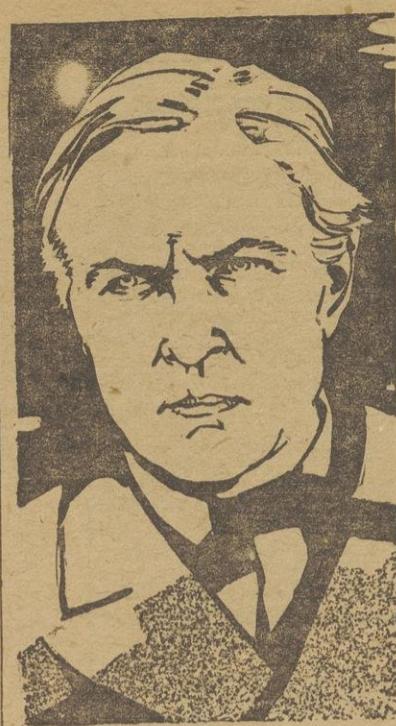

Grace Darmond, George Webb, Lloyd Hughes, and Gladys George are included in the cast of "Below the Surface."

There will also be shown a comedy cartoon and the Paramount magazine.

AT THE GRAND

Tense situations abound in "White Lies," the new photodrama starring Gladys Brockwell, which opened an engagement yesterday at the Grand theater. Miss Brockwell and William Scott, her leading man, have unusually strong parts in this modernized version of Charles Reade's famous novel. As Josephine, the girl who sacrifices love and self for her family, Miss Brockwell rises to supreme heights in emotional acting. Camille, played by William Scott, is a young French soldier, who goes behind the enemy lines on a dangerous secret mission, and who is misjudged a traitor to France. Mr. Scott gives an exceedingly forceful and convincing rendition of a very difficult role. From a network of lies and wrecked lives rises the star of hope and the play ends as happily as could be wished.

AT THE FULLER

America's popular actor-singer, Fiske O'Hara, comes to the Fuller tonight with his latest success, "Springtime in Mayo," an Irish comedy-drama of romance and song. It is said that a more ideal play could not be found in a season's search. It suggests the better side of the stage and when you go home tonight after having witnessed the performance you will realize that you have been patronizing refinement marked "sterling" all over it. You will have escaped from the uproar and horse-play of the footlights and wandered into a region of naturalness. In "Springtime in Mayo" Mr. O'Hara is said to have scored the biggest hit of his distinguished career. His art, his way of thinking and his acting become real under the circumstances. His delightful tenor voice is one of his great assets and will be heard in a number of new songs. To be absolutely frank you owe it to yourself to see Fiske O'Hara in "Springtime in Mayo," and you will never lose a friend by asking him to do likewise.

GREEKS SCHEDULE RIFLE MATCH FOR NEXT SEMESTER

An inter-fraternity rifle match has been scheduled to take place early in the second semester. The winning team will be awarded a loving cup. Only fraternity men now enrolled in the university cadet corps will be eligible to participate. More specific details will be announced later.

A Paramount Artcraft Picture

With Lloyd Hughes and Grace Darmond

"Twenty-seven men are dying down there! The best diver in the service went after them and failed—almost lost his life! No man can reach that depth!"

No man? Must they perish? Come and see! It's only one of the twenty soul-stirring scenes in this great, beautiful love story of the sea. Still more thrilling than Bosworth's "Behind the Door."

NOVEL CORN HUSKER AND CAR AID FARMERS AND SHIPPERS

Auto-truck freight car built and used by a Long Island City, N. Y., firm to speed up freight delivery, and one-man corn husker tractor in use in Illinois.

Ingenious devices for aiding in the production and delivery of foodstuffs are being developed almost daily, it seems. Here we have a novel freight car—of standard dimensions, built to be hauled about city streets by auto truck. If necessary the car can be placed on railway wheels. It is designed to help relieve freight congestion. Illinois farmers are using one-man corn huskers pulled by tractors. These machines not only husk the corn but feed the shucked ears into a wagon. Each machine, run by one man, does the work which formerly from four to eight men did. The new tractor and attachments not only saves the cost of additional labor, but is always at hand.

VIVID PICTURES OF HOT LAND OF ROMANCE GIVEN BY SR. RAMIREZ

"Just a hot land of romance—a country of entertaining games of upheaval—that's the way so many think of the country below the Panama canal," asserted Senor P. Ramirez, professor of English at the University of Chile, who has lately been teaching Spanish-American history at the University of California, in an illustrated lecture, "Understanding South America," Tuesday at Bascom hall.

"Very little romance in cattle-raising, wheat cultivation, and mining is there, I fear," Professor Ramirez went on to explain. "'Tropicalism,' as I call it, meaning many words, few ideas, and much excitement, is confined to the equatorial region. Argentina, Chile, and the southern part of Brazil, which have lately formed the A B C alliance for mutual economic benefit, have a temperate climate like your own, with splendidly developed cities, growing educational institutions, and almost boundless resources. Even Buenos Aires has a subway, and public buildings that compete favorably with those of the United States."

COUNTRIES SPLIT

How the split was occasioned which separated the countries of South America was explained. Gothic people of a hardy race in the northern part of Spain who resisted persistently the invasion of the Moslems, came over and settled the southern portion, and people of mixed blood in the southern part of Spain who had suffered the Moslem influence crossed the Atlantic and settled the northern part of South America.

"The split between the countries remained a fundamental fact. The conquered tribes in the Northeast in Peru and Bolivia where the highly civilized Incas having lost their great leader who was to them almost a God, were easily subjugated and ground under—form a striking contrast to the independent nomadic tribes of the South who refused to be subdued and remained apart clinging to their old customs and ideas.

"Diversity is shown between the two sections in occupations pursued. Agriculture as a pursuit in the South drew people to the soil. The mining countries of the North had a different effect upon the personality of the people. Franciscan and Dominican fathers did a fine work in raising the standard of culture.

PRESENTS VIVID PICTURES

A journey through the shoestring country of Chile, over to Buenos Aires, and up to Rio de Janeiro was taken with Senior Ramirez as the audience watched the screen where stereopticon slides were shown of the immense nitrate fields where 5,000,000 tons, amounting to $25,000,000, are obtained each year; the cities of Santiago, Valdivia, and Allisandry with their big manufacturing plants, parks, and beauty spots; the lakes of southern Chile among the snow-capped Andes or nestled in a forest glade or redwoods and sequoias "almost rivaling in beauty the lakes in Switzerland," according to Professor Ramirez, the mighty passes with steep waterfalls over into Argentina; and finally, the famous bay of Rio de Janeiro with the Sugar-loaf mountain in the distance.

Caluwaert '22, who was a lieutenant in the infantry during the war, have been appointed officers of the university cadet corps President's guard.

Major Luening went to France shortly after war broke out, and entered the officers' training school in Paris. Upon completion of his course there, he was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the Foreign legion.

After serving only a short time with the legion, Major Luening was transferred to the Blue Devils. While with this branch of the service, he was wounded, and soon after, received the French Legion of Honor, the highest French war decoration, for bravery in action.

When the United States entered the war, Major Luening enlisted in France as a second lieutenant in the field artillery, in which capacity he served until the end of the war. He was discharged in this country, and immediately enrolled in the university.

Last year Major Luening and Major Caluwaert were the captains of Company F, the company which won the annual company competition in the spring, and Major Russell was the captain of Company A, the company which placed second.
