BOARD ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF SECRETARY WOLF

"Y" Head Believes Action is Best For Organization and Himself

The resignation of Frederick E. Wolf, secretary of the Y. M. C. A. was formally accepted by the board of directors in their special meeting yesterday noon. The resignation will be effective at the beginning of the next college year. Wolf is planning to do work for the national association, but no definite plans are yet made, it is understood.

"I believe that my action will be best for the organization and for myself. That is the reason for my action," said the secretary yesterday.

His successor has not been found, members of the board stated yesterday. They will look throughout the country to find a suitable man for the position.

During the six years of Wolf's secretaryship, the indebtedness of $22,000 has been paid, and three memorials have been established. Many religious activities have been started and directed by the secretary.

After receiving his degree from Denison college, Ohio, Wolf completed his studies at Harvard university. He was assistant rector at an Episcopalian church in Boston. Before coming to the university, he was pastor at Beaver Dam.

Cleared Big Indebtedness

The resolution adopted and signed by all the members of the board present at the meeting follows:

Whereas, Mr. Frederick E. Wolf, general secretary of the University of Wisconsin Young Men's Christian association, has resigned his position as secretary of the association, and has, upon the unanimous request of the board of directors for reconsideration, declined to reconsider his resignation, and

Whereas, Mr. Wolf has rendered six years of very remarkable service to the university and to the association including, among other things, the paying off of an indebtedness of $22,000, the development of the dormitory service to a high state of efficiency, the establishment of three useful and significant

Committee Awards Prom Poster Prize To Sophomore

Edna Eimon '26, was awarded first prize and Gretchen Gilbert '25, won second, in the prom poster contest which closed yesterday afternoon. The announcement of winners was made by Michael Stiver '25, chairman of the art publicity committee.

The first prize awarded is $10 and the second, $5. More than 25 posters were submitted.

First, second and third honorable mention were given to Richard Yea '27, Samuel Himmelfarb '27, and Dorothy Harrimon '26, respectively.

The poster of Edna Eimon will be placed in the window of the Chocolate shop this afternoon and that of Gretchen Gilbert will be placed in the window of the University pharmacy. The remaining posters will be placed in other windows of State street stores.

The judges for the contest were Prof. William H. Varnum, Arthur Colt and Miss Della Wilson, all of the art department.

"I have never seen such a splendid set of posters submitted for such a contest," Stiver declared last night. "In fact, they were all of such high order that I thought it would be an impossibility to judge them."

Broadcast Progress of Basketball Game

"The results of the Wisconsin-Chicago basketball game at Bartlett gym will be broadcasted at 8 o'clock tonight from the university radio station WHA, if a Chicago broadcasting station does not send out the reports of the game," Frank Nickerson, of the athletic department said yesterday afternoon.

At the same time, play-by-play reports will be read at the Wisconsin-Chicago wrestling match in the gym over a Western Union leased wire. A score board will be arranged giving the name, position, and number of each player, and the number of fouls and goals that each makes.

The regular admission fee of 50 cents will be charged for the wrestling match. The basketball game reports will be furnished by the athletic department.

LIT SELLS OUT FOR FIRST TIME

Record Sale Encourages Staff to Complete New Editorial Policy

The Lit magazine sold out yesterday for the first time in the history of the publication. So strong was the appeal of the satire number of the "comeback" Lit that when the sales booths were closed in the afternoon not a copy was left, except a scattered few at several of the newsstands near the campus, according to the editors.

The continuance of the publication of The Lit is now certain and a series of staff meetings will be called at the beginning of the new semester to complete plans for a new editorial policy that will be in keeping with the desire that has been expressed by students and faculty for a change in the magazine.

This could only be done to a small extent in yesterday's issue on account of lack of time, Kenneth Fearing '24, editor states.

Sales Exceed All Hopes

"I am glad our "comeback" number was received so enthusiastically on the campus today," John F. Weimer '25, managing editor, said last night.

"I felt certain that the students wanted the magazine to continue. The sales exceeded any since I have been affiliated with the magazine," Weimer concluded.

"The sales yesterday greatly exceeded our expectations," Carl R. Hansen '25 said, adding that six times the circulation of former numbers was made.

Placed in Library Files

The table in the biology building was sold out by 9 o'clock and it was necessary to replenish the tables in Main hall twice during the morning, Hansen said.

The assistant university librarian notified the business office at noon yesterday that the magazine would be placed in the files and requested that this and future issues be sent to the library.

SUPPER RESERVATIONS READY ON WEDNESDAY

Those who have made reservations for prom supper tickets, should call for their tickets at the A. T. O. house, 225 Lake Lawn place between 9 and 6 o'clock Wednesday, January 30. Money to cover the number of tickets should be brought at that time. J. C. Culbertson '25, chairman of prom tickets stated last night.

FRESHMEN VOTE TO RAISE FUNDS BY CLASS DUES

Agree on Assessment of 25 Cents to Meet Year's Expenses

That the freshman class should have class dues of 25 cents instead of resorting to tag days to pay their expenses as classes have in previous years was the decision made at the freshman class meeting in the concert room of Lathrop hall, last night.

Trevor Dougan, chairman of the pin committee, announced that a pin has been selected. Orders for the pins will be taken and dues collected at the places of registration for the second semester. Dougan asked that all freshmen bring money with them when they register, so that the dues may be collected and pins ordered.

Walter Mueller, chairman of the dance committee, reported that the date of the freshman dance has been set for March 8, and will be held in Lathrop gym.

Because so few freshmen know the class traditions, William Hune, chairman of the tradition committee, read them before the class. The major traditions are:

1—Derby or stiff hat shall not be worn by any freshman except upon prom night. The prescribed green cap shall be worn by all freshmen in the fall between registration and November 1, and in the spring, between Easter Sunday and Cap night.

2—Freshmen and sophomores are prohibited from sitting upon or leaning against the fence in front of the gymnasium.

3—No freshman shall be impudent or show disrespect to an upper classman.

HASTINGS PLAYS EXCELLENT ROLE

Mail Order Sale of Tickets For "The Torch Bearers" Begins Today

Can you imagine yourself coming home unexpectedly from a business trip to find that your wife has undertaken to fill the capacity of leading lady in an amateur production?

That is the situation in which Mr. Frederick Ritter finds himself in "The Torch Bearers," this year's pre-prom play. Mr. Ritter has a premonition that as an actress his wife can be little else than a dismal failure. He could see himself disgraced in his community by her acting.

Yet he was told by her friends that she was splendid in the role. Then he saw his home wrecked because the lady of the house had gone to Broadway to carry on a career.

It is a dismal situation in which Ritter, whose part is taken by Larry Hastings '24, finds himself.

Hastings, president of the Wisconsin Players who are presenting the pre prom play at the Parkway February 7, matinee and night, took an important part in last year's pre prom play, "Stop Thief." He has been active in student dramatics for several years.

The mail order sale starts at the Parkway today, according to Harold Bentson '24, business manager of the Wisconsin University Players, and the box office sale will open some time during the middle of next week. Although most of the seats have been sold for the night performance, there are still plenty of good ones left for the special matinee.

Severe Cold Wave Ends This Afternoon

"The cold wave was probably sent just at this time to brace students so that they can study hard for exams," said Eric Miller, meteorologist, yesterday.

"This will give them pep to cram for their exams. The only trouble is that the cold streak can only last until today, but that is long enough to give students a good start in their work."

He predicts that this morning will be the coldest of the wave but that the temperature will rise sometime during the afternoon. This is merely another one of the extremely cold waves that have been experienced within the last month.

Mr. Miller's predictions are corroborated by the report received last night from the Chicago office of the weather bureau which states that the cold wave will be over by tomorrow.

SPEAKERS NAMED FOR DISCUSSIONS

National and Campus Problems Will Be Subject of Organized Groups

The Y. M. C. A. is planning discussion groups in rooming houses and fraternities during the second semester. These groups are being headed by chairmen who will organize them by districts. A group will be organized in each fraternity.

Arno Haack and his committee are in charge of this activity under the direction of Frederick E. Wolfe, secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

The discussion groups will be informative and stimulating. The purpose of the groups will be not so much to learn the news and events of the day as to appreciate the present tendencies of life in its different aspects in the world and on the campus, Wolfe says.

The chairmen will meet at a luncheon each Friday to get the background and facts of the subject which they are going to discuss with their groups.

Professors have consented to talk at the luncheons. The programs of the speakers and their fields are as follows:

February 15—"Is Civilization Really Progressive?" Prof. E. A. Ross;
February 21—"International Relationships," Professor Potter;
March 7—"The Race Problem", Prof. Don D. Leschier;
March 14—"Our Affairs at Home", Professor Gillin;
March 21—"Social Organization of the Campus", Dean Harry Glicksman;
March 28—"Religion", the Rev. Lumpkin;
April 4—"Our Life Work," Prof. W. H. Kiehofer.

PICTURES OF PROM LEADERS ON DISPLAY

An elaborate display of oil colored photographs of prom workers will be placed in the display case of the Badger studio on State Street across from the lower campus this afternoon. The pictures were made and painted by the Badger studio, the official photographers for the 1925 Junior promenade.

The display which will be made will consist of the prom chairman, Clifford S. Nolte '25, his partner Elizabeth Stolte '25, his assistant general chairmen and his committee chairmen. There will be 32 in all. The pictures, which will be displayed in hand carved frames, will be placed on sale after prom.

At the same time a display of the same photographs will be placed in the window of Loken Brothers' department store at 14 West Mifflin street.

QUEEN'S GOWN SAVED AT ALPHA PHI FIRE

Two companies responded to an alarm of fire at the Alpha Phi house at 8:30 o'clock last night. The blaze was confined to the chimney, so damage was slight. Flying sparks ignited the roof of the house, but the fire was extinguished before it had made any headway. The prom queen's gown escaped damage.

COUNCIL FAVORS HAUSMANN SITE FOR CITY HALL

Old Saloon Gives Way to Future Offices of City Officials

On the site of the former Hausmann saloon, a rendezvous of students before the advent of prohibition, will rise the new city hall of Madison. The city council decided by a vote of 14 to 6 to adopt the report recommending the purchase of the property at the price of $57,500 at the regular meeting last night.

The mayor has five days in which to sign the bill or veto it. If at the end of this period, nothing has been done, the bill will be effective. Mayor L. Milo Kittleson said late last night that he would have to consider the proposition before he could say anything for publication.

The conclusions of the committee were based on the assumption that University Avenue would be extended to Washington avenue, one block from the square," said Alderman Joseph H. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, last night.

"All the facts presented at the public hearing were considered by the joint committee on city property and finance. The price of the property was quite a factor."

Adjacent property has been sold for a price of $301 per front foot, while the price offered for the site of the new city hall was only approximately $281.

One of the surprises of the voting was the support of Alderman George J. Fessler of the Sixth ward for the proposal. The representatives of the Second and Seventh wards were all unanimously against it. One alderman from the Fourth and one from the Third ward were opposed to the report.

AGRIC DEBATE ON RAILROAD QUESTION

"Resolved, that the railroads shall be consolidated into a system, as proposed by the Interstate Commerce commission" will be the subject of a debate between the Agricultural Literary society and Philomathia to be held in Agricultural hall the beginning of the second semester. The Agricultural society will uphold the affirmative side and Philomathia the negative. The Agricultural society has won over Philomathia the two preceding years.

YEAR'S LEAVE GRANTED TO ACCOUNTING PROF

Prof. K. F. McMurray, of the department of business administration, will leave at the end of this semester to practice public accounting in Madison for a year. He has been granted a leave of absence for two semesters. Professor McMurray has been teaching accounting here for six and a half years.

Men Fear Girls Will Not Accept Prom Dance Date

"To go or not to go to prom," seems to be the debate in the minds of a few students who have the opportunity of attending the dance in the capitol, but who can not or do not wish to attend pre and post prom functions.

According to James Culbertson '25, chairman of the ticket committee for prom, there are many students puzzled by that problem, who thinks that girls would not consent to go to the one function only.

"It is certainly unfortunate that any student should feel that way," said Clifford S. Nolte '25, prom chairman, when consulted on the question. "I think by all means that if a student wishes to go only to prom, he should do so, for there really is nothing to prevent him. Perhaps it is not done by many students but that is no reason why it should not be done."

Culbertson said that he had received orders already from some students who did not expect to attend any function but prom itself.

PLAN DECORATIONS FOR INTERNATIONAL

Tickets For Annual Agricultural Event Will Be on Sale Today

Hundreds of flags suspended from steel girders and yards of bunting, to cover the supporting posts, will turn the stock pavilion into a finely decorated arena for the Wisconsin International, February 22 and 23, H. E. Murphy '24, chairman of the decorating committee, announced yesterday.

A novelty decoration scheme is now being worked out by the committee and indications are that the pavilion, which is the largest of its kind among the agricultural colleges of the country, will appear at its best. A specially constructed band stand will be erected at the western end of the pavilion for the Janesville high school and the first regimental bands which will play on separate nights.

Tickets for the Friday evening show, February 22, and for Saturday night, February 23, will be placed on sale this afternoon. Every seat is reserved and the early sale will be made to enable those coming from distant parts of the state to secure seats. Grandstand seats are 50 cent and 75 cents and all chair and ringside seats will be $1.

The mail order sale will be conducted by H. C. Schaefer '25, and application should be sent to Sadie and Sirloin club, Agricultural hall.

Refund Slips Help Pay Expenses of Coming Semester

Fees on the right of us, fees on the left of us, fees all around us, volley and thunder to the detriment of our pocket books. Such is the usual state of affairs as regards our financial relations with the bursar.

But just as a person dying with some incurable disease rallies for a few moments just before the end, so at the present time if you have a refund slip and report to the bursar he will give you a little encouragement before he completely immerses you in a state of bankruptcy at the beginning of next semester.

Really it's a fact he really will pay good honest American money. Maybe you have seen it before but as far as our poor human memory reaches back into the dim dark past we can never recall seeing any money pass out of the little windows in that dark and gloomy cavern on the corner of State and Park.

PROGRESSIVE LEAGUE ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The following were elected officers of the Madison chapter of the Young Mens' Progressive association at the meeting in the capitol building Tuesday evening:

Wayne Limberg, president.
Samuel Leviten, vice president.
Emil Franklin, secretary and treasurer.

Senator Gary gave an address on the work of the Civil Service commission, of which he is a member.

Semester's Classes End Amid Cheers And Skyrockets

Skyrockets are sizzling and booming about the campus as professors and instructors bring the semester's classes to a close.

A short time ago, before Christmas, before Thanksgiving, before the Michigan game, quite a while ago when we count all the experiences that we have enjoyed since then, we entered the lecture room, gave our professor a skyrocket to start the year off with a bang, and settled down to fill our unmarred notebooks.

Since then we have learned the names of Caesar's generals by day and tried at night to connect names and telephone number correctly. The tracks of time have been gravely noted, and the tracks of Taft on his opponents loudly cheered. Canoes have wafted us into the sunsets, and alarm clocks and bill collectors have awakened us from dreams of Haresfoot dances.

Now having cheered our professors as we left their classes, it is only necessary to study for exams, write them, and spend the remaining time explaining how our standing got that way.

HEAR HEARTBEATS 2,500 MILES AWAY

Heart throbs can be heard 2,500 miles, by radio. Although almost inaudible at close range, by placing the microphone of the transmitter on the chest; the beat of one's heart can be heard from Quebec to Santa Monica.

Morgan L. Eastman, director of a Chicago radio station, was the first to try this and at the same time broadcast a request that all who heard his heart beats write him a letter.

Letters have been received from all parts of the country, some about 2,500 miles away, telling him of his heartbeat.

ILLINI FRATERNITIES URGE PERSONAL HONOR

Honorary and professional fraternities and other organizations on the campus of the University of Illinois are conducting a spirited campaign to instill the idea of personal honor in the individual students during the finals from January 22 to 30. They plan also to spread the idea of personal honesty among the high schools of the state with the ultimate object of making the honor system, which was in force from 1920 to 1923, again practical at Illinois.

RUSSIAN TO TALK ON SOVIET REVOLT

Sorokine Will Lecture on Sociology of Revolution Beginning Feb. 12

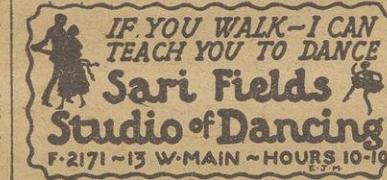

Professor Sorokine, formerly professor of sociology in the University of Petrograd, will give a series of 12 lectures on "The Sociology of Revolution," beginning Tuesday, February 12 according to Prof. R. E. N. Dodge who has just received this notice from Prof. E. A. Ross.

The lectures have been approved by President Birge and Dean S. H. Goodnight.

Professor Ross contemplates having Professor Sorokine speak at 3:30 o'clock on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week for four weeks, and to let his large class in general sociology off for one session each week with the understanding that the members attend Professor Sorokine's lectures.

"Professor Sorokine, is an author of important works on sociology, and this course he is about to give will be the first endeavor that has been made to examine in a scientific way the phenomena of social revolutions," Professor Ross said yesterday.

"He will richly illustrate his lecture with facts and data from his own intimate knowledge of what went on in Russia under the Communists. Probably no one is better qualified to give the proper setting and interpretation to the amazing phenomena of the Russian revolution than Professor Sorokine."

Historical Library Given Portrait of World War Veteran

A life sized portrait in oil of Major General William G. Haan, commander of the Thirty Second division during the world war, was presented to the historical library by members of the "Red Arrow" club following a banquet at the University club Thursday night. The portrait was painted by R. S. Merriam, Washington, D. C.

District Attorney Theodore G. Lewis gave the address at the unveiling and presentation of the painting. Ralph Immel, adjutant general of the Wisconsin national guard, delivered a short talk and brought a message from Governor Blaine. Much praise was given the general by the speakers. Lewis, who served under General Haan in the war testified to his men's respect for their leader.

Mrs. Haan attended the banquet and unveiling and addressed the gathering for a few moments.

MEET CHICAGO IN
THRILLER TONIGHTConference Dope Hangs on Result of Basketball Game,
Spooner Out

The Badger basketball team goes into action tonight after a rest of two weeks. They meet Chicago in Bartlett gymnasium and the game should be full of thrills from start to finish.

The Chicago team has started a winning streak and it is up to Wisconsin to stop them. At the beginning of the season the Maroons were doped as losers, but in their last few games they have shown that they have one of the best teams in the conference.

Spooner on Sidelines

Coach Meanwell has been smoothing out wrinkles which showed up in several of the games. The two weeks rest did the Cardinal team a

Results on Game

The results of the Wisconsin-Chicago basketball game tonight will be received play by play and all students desiring information should please call B. 250. The Cardinal will have a man there to answer all calls from 8 o'clock to 9:30 o'clock. Call B. 250.

world of good. Doc Spooner, the Badger's "sure shot," is still on the bench. In the first Indiana game he wrenched his knee and it is doubtful whether he will see action in tonight's tilt. Coach Meanwell does not intend to use him although he has been working out with the team.

Teams On a Par

In Alyea, a sophomore, the Maroons have a center who has been showing wonderful form this season. Captain Gibson will have plenty of work following him around. Barnes has also been showing mid-season form. Indiana, whom Wisconsin defeated twice by very small margins, was recently vanquished by Chicago in a game which upset all dope. The two teams playing tonight are on a dead par if comparative scores indicate anything.

With Spooner out of the game, the line-up which Coach Meanwell will use is a matter of conjecture.

Barwig may be used at guard and it is also possible that Farwell will see some action.

GYM SHOOS
by Orie

The varsity basketball team left for Chicago yesterday afternoon, where they engage the Maroons in Bartlett gym tonight. Spooner went with the team, and his being there added much confidence to the gang.

Chicago has a good team and will fight every minute to keep the Badgers from repeating their victory of last year. The Maroons have one new man this year, Alyea. Evidently he is good from what the papers say, and will give Gibby lots of trouble trying to follow him.

"Doc" Meanwell had a confident look in his eye, despite the discouraging injury of Spooners'. We can all feel sure that the little doctor is going to push his men to the limit to eke out a win from our traditional rivals, and keep a clean slate.

Michigan and Minnesota mix at Ann Arbor tonight. Michigan seems to have the strongest team, and right now stands in a position to give us a close run or the gonfalon. On Monday, the Gophers travel to Ohio State and should provide exceptional competition for the cocky Buckeyes.

Consolation Prize

The Chi Phi and Sigma Nu inter-fraternity basket ball quintets will play for the consolation cup today by reason of the Sigma Nu's win over the Dekes yesterday afternoon in the gym. The Dekes came near to grabbing a win several times during the game but their opponents had a couple of guards that were a little too crafty for any lucky shots. The consolation contest will come off at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the gym. The Theta Chi crew nosed the Betas out of third place in the finals with a two point lead in a game that was on fire up to the last few minutes of play.

FINAL TRACK MEET
IN ANNEX TODAYStrength of 1924 Track Team
Will Be Shown in Inter-
College Meet

To conclude track activities until the opening of the second semester approximately 100 cinder path men will compete in the inter-college track meet to be held in the gymnasium annex this afternoon.

While this is the final tryout competition for the varsity and freshmen squads, it is expected that the races will be fast and better records will be established in the field events than in any other intramural meet this season.

For the first time, "W" men will be allowed to enter the inter-college meet and some indication of the strength of the 1924 team will be shown by the marks made by varsity men.

Although the Letters and Science team has the largest number of entries and appears the strongest, the Engineers and Agrics will be represented by men who can be counted upon as sure point winners.

The half mile run will probably be the most closely contested run of the meet. Schilke, freshman, who has not been defeated in competition here, will run against Hildeberts, Valley, and Carter in this event. Schwarze, shot putter, will be unable to enter in this meet because he competed in the Illinois Athletic club handicap meet at Chicago last night.

The captains who will lead the college teams are:

Letters and Science, Bert M. Hilberts; Agriculture, Earl E. Schneider; Engineering, Edward B. Donohue; Commerce, Lloyd M. Valley; and Medicine, Robert Krone.

CALIFORNIA ADOPTS
NEW CREW SYSTEM

After careful consideration of several candidates, two fulltime coaches have been secured for the University of California's crew, L. A. Nichols, general manager of the Associated Students, announced two nights ago. The two selected, both of whom are University of Washington men, are: head coach, Carroll Elbright '17, assistant, Russell Nager '20. The Connibar system of coaching and stroke will be introduced. This is the system that was successfully introduced at Yale last year by Leader. Elbright was coxwain of the Washington Varsity in 1915, '16 and '17, and was coached by Connibar himself.

The part of George Martin and his backers, who are bringing some of America's best jumpers here for the meet. When one sees such names as Barney Riley, Lars Haugen, Einer Nielson on the card, it looks mighty swell. Let's back the Ski club, gang!

Wisconsin has some of the best ski jumpers in the college world, and still we're lacking the push to get behind them and put over something big for Wisconsin. This meet will test your real staying power and "Wisconsin Spirit!" A real Badger never gets "bucked" because of the cold!

One more issue, and then for the exams. The next Cardinal will be the Prom issue.

GOPHERS EASILY
DEFEAT CARDINAL
PUCKSTERS, 4 TO 0Minnesota's Teamwork and Offensive Play Were Outstanding Features

Displaying the brand of hockey that has made them conference champions for the last two years, the six men from Minnesota defeated the Badger sextet 4 to 0 last night. The Gophers made their first counter shortly after the start of the game when Thompson whipped a shot past the Badger goaltender. Captain Pond scored again in the second period and Youngbauer made the other two points in the last period.

The ice on the rink was lightning fast, but the newly put up lights did not come up to expectations and both goal tenders were handicapped by not being able to see the puck coming towards them. The game today will be played at 3 o'clock.

Wisconsin did not make a substitution during the game, but Minnesota put an entirely new team on the ice at the start of the last period. Not a single penalty was given throughout the game.

Pond Is Star

The great team work and offensive play of the Northmen spelled Wisconsin's defeat, although the numerous substitutions made by the Minnesota coach freshened the team considerably. The flashy work of Captain Pond was the most noticeable feature of the contest although all of the Minnesota squad played a consistent game. Captain Johnson and Ritchie were the main supports of the Wisconsin play.

A small crowd turned out to watch the battle because of the cold weather, but a much larger crowd is expected today when the two teams line up at 3 o'clock.

The Lineup

Following is the lineup and summary:

Wisconsin Minnesota
Harris Center Youngbauer
Gross right wing Thompson
Ritchie Right defense Mann
McLean Goal keeper Berquist
Spares Haugh, Saari, Higgins
Olson, Slaaten.

Lights Gleam Over
Ice as Night Rink
Opens For Hockey

Night hockey under the gleam of electric lights as introduced on the lower campus last evening for the Minnesota contest is an innovation introduced at Wisconsin from the far north.

Wisconsin is one of the first schools in the country to adopt the lighted rink for hockey games. The expense of the installation seems to be well repaid in student appreciation as it gives a chance to see the games to many who would otherwise be hampered by late afternoon labs and classes.

Illuminated rinks have been used on a small scale in some Canadian schools but more for late practice than for important games. Professional and large club teams have recently made use of the idea in lower Michigan but it has remained for Wisconsin to improve on the idea and adopt it to conference hockey on outdoor trips.

The latest scores of Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan and Ohio in the Western Conference Fraternity Bowling tournament were received yesterday. Comparisons of the team standings have now been made.

Alpha Chi Rho at Minnesota still boasts of the highest conference score of 2641, but Wisconsin teams have placed high by taking both second and third places. Sigma Phi Epsilon holds second at present with 2444 pins, while Phi Sigma Kappa has dropped to third with its 2413.

The Wisconsin teams have attained a very high average thus far in the tourney. The superiority of our bowlers is shown by the following averages which were compiled from the scores of the 61 games which the different conference fraternities have rolled thus far.

Reduction in taxation, uniform forestry laws in Minnesota, Wisconsin and Michigan, and the early completion of the St. Lawrence waterway, were recommended at the concluding session of the congress.

CHI WRESTLING
SQUAD BATTLES
BADGERS TONIGHTMaroon Team Has Reputation
Well Established By First Meet

The varsity wrestling team opens its season here tonight at 8 o'clock against Chicago. This meet will show Coach Hitchcock what sort of team he has and also give him a line on the weak points, if there are any. The men have been working out daily and are in excellent condition.

The Cardinal team will be composed of the following men:

115 pounds, Hanson.
125 pounds, Captain Benbow.
135 pounds, Holmes.
145 pounds, Zodtner.
158 pounds, Gregor.
175 pounds, Stipek.

Heavyweight, Bieberstein.

Captain Benbow, Holmes, Gregor and Bieberstein have had previous conference experience and these four men also won their "W" last year. Hanson and Zodtner were members of last year's freshman team. Stipek, a varsity football man, has had no conference experience but should put up a good fight as he has thrown the best men in his class here.

Chicago Is Strong

Chicago has a strong team and has already defeated Northwestern by a big score. They are especially strong in the 115 and 175 pound class. Sarpolious, their 175 pounder, won in this event at the conference meet last year.

H. P. Troundly, a graduate of Nebraska, will officiate. While at Nebraska, he was the American intercollegiate champ in the 135 pound class for two years. His returns of the Wisconsin-Chicago game will be read at the meet to night play by play.

Ladies Are Welcome

Coach Hitchcock said last night that he expects a hard fight, but that his men would put up a strong bid for a victory. He also said that ladies were as welcome as the men, and that he would like to see several co-eds help cheer for a victory at tonight's meet.

FORMER POLE VAULTER
RETURNS TO SCHOOL

Norman D. Scott, former varsity pole vaulter, will re-enter school the second semester and will be eligible for competition on the Wisconsin track team. Scott's return will strengthen the Badger's chances in this event, as he clears the bar at 11 feet 6 inches consistently.

A HIGHT SCHOOL HANGOVER

That the freshman class is developing a class consciousness and is planning activities is an encouraging sign. Back in the days when there was daily controversy on the green cap question, it was consistently pointed out that the cap's sole benefit was to the freshmen themselves in that it presented an emblem which made for unity—a worth while thing.

Wisconsin favors class rivalry and activity within its scope! Anything which will develop feeling and loyalty for university forms and institutions is healthy. The friendly antagonism between lawyers and engineers makes for sport and devotion. The class rush satisfies a class feeling between sophomores and freshmen—a feeling existant wherever there is a college.

At last in the class of 1927 has been found a freshman class which has begun to talk of doing something. Heretofore, the question has always been: "Why have freshman class officers at all?"

But commendable as all this activity may be, it seems to the average student that the freshmen have not chosen wisely in their intended work. The plan of having class pins smacks a little too much of the odium of high school paraphernalia to be of college use. And then too there are too many worth while buttons and pins on the campus which signify either the entire university at work (such as the Union button) or is a representation of some small group or activity, for their significance to be lessened by further competition.

Class pins and rings belong to the era of grammar and secondary school days!

And then the policy of assessing a fee upon the entire freshman class just that a dance (which always has been held anyway) may be financed, seems ill advised. Its only merit would be that it would give an obscure class treasurer something to do. The reason for the assessment given by the freshmen is that no class has ever done it before.

Skipping over the naivety of the freshman reasoning, the present laudable activity seems to be misguided and indicative of a high school hangover.

CRANK EXAMINATIONS

Much has been said about the willingness of students to accept, second-hand, the ideas and thoughts of their instructors and lecturers. But never is such an attitude more to be resented than at examination time, when certain lecturers on this campus, acting upon this supposition, formulate their examination questions with this idea in mind. Instead of testing the student upon his knowledge of the subject matter of the course as derived from the text, collateral reading, and the lectures, they test him upon his absorption of their own personal fancies, theories, ideas, beliefs, hopes, and conceits as expressed during the periods of instruction.

No doubt but that it is very flattering to them to know that so many scores of students have carefully memorized certain pet conceits of their lecturer in order to pass the course while only a few others, not cognizant of their lecturer's weakness, receive lower marks through possessing only a knowledge of the genuine subject matter of the course. However, a knowledge of the lecturer's personal ideas on the subject matter is far from being the summum bonum to be derived from the course. Furthermore, students do not enroll in courses for that purpose and to expect them to be utterly unfair and wholly wrong.

NO USE CRYING OVER—BUT!

The time for conferences with advisors to make out class schedules for next semester is now past, so that any remarks apropos to that subject are out of date. But in the name of several hundred students who climbed the hill at odd hours of the afternoon obedient to appointed hours posted on the advisor's door, and then find that the advisor had not yet appeared, we beg the faculty's better consideration next time.

In many instances it was an hour after the posted time before the advisor appeared. Sometimes he failed to keep his appointment entirely. Of course, the student takes the liberty of cutting a class now and then, but it does seem that when there is such a rush at the end of the semester, each member of the faculty should consider that perhaps the advisee has something else to do too.

Other Editors Say—

WHAT GRADES MEAN

Annually at this season of the year, just before the final examinations occur, it is quite common to hear certain individuals remark to the effect that grades mean nothing, and are in no way indicative of the mental capacity of the student who receives them. If the intelligence of the students who make these remarks ranks in the lower half of the intellectual scale, one is forced to wonder if these remarks are not of a "sour grape" variety and if the student is not simply trying to justify his lack of high scholastic standing; at least such a statement sounds much more convincing when it comes from one who has a record of high college scholarship.

Under ordinary circumstances, the receiving of high grades usually denotes one of two things, or a combination of the two: It either signifies that the student is exceptionally intelligent or that he is a "grind," or that he is a combination of the two. In all cases, the possession of the qualities of mental brilliancy and perseverance are highly creditable characteristics, and are certainly no disgrace to the student who possesses them.

The truth is that in the great trials of life and in the complicated business of living, grades have little or no significance in themselves, except that they are a criterion by which the mentality of the individual can be approximately judged; but in the narrow college atmosphere, where students must be promoted when they have done a certain amount of work and where they must be graduated when they have secured a certain number of grade-points, grades are a necessary medium by which all this administrative work can be accomplished. The fact remains that good grades are never a disgrace, and practically every student envies his fellow-creature who can get them.—Exchange.

The Lit Gets Hot

(By Recoil)

A sign facing State Street announces the magazine's suddenly increased temperature thus: "Hot Pomes—Hot Stories—Hot Cover." Although this is unquestionably good advertising—taking advantage, as it does, of the students' natural and cultivated fondness of all varieties of heat—still in all, the dope is somewhat misleading. The stude having once enjoyed a warm evening with an agreeable companion (i. e. before the fire-place) is apt to have his own impression of what the subtler overtones of the word means. His interpretation might be considered orthodox in collegiate circles.

Now, when he approaches the Lit's cover-design and sees thereon the figure of horn-shelled youth garbed in cold, out-of-date armor, he may be disappointed. This in spite of the fact that a lighted cigarette dangles insipidly from the youth's lips while a smudge of sky blushes crimson in the background. Nor it is likely he will become more feverish as he peeks inside the covers. It is still pretty much as usual.

No, no, nope—the only heat evident in this connection is under the collars of the dismayed editors who are made to believe that they must be "HOT" to be successful.

Of the students loudly railing at the deans.

But collecting a bunch of pins?

And the girl who looks like a jeweler store

You simply have to see it thru
Well—that's modern love for you!

Rejuvenated Lit Shows

Some Improvement, Says Critic

H. D. S.

It isn't the first rejuvenation number the Lit has put out—that happens about once every semester—but this newest rejuvenation, strange to say, really shows something different and rejuvenating beside the cover, which, by the way, seems rather clever, even though the story that has been heralded so much seems much less clever than its illustration.

"Sir Galahad and The Quest of the Holy Ale" well, it's just a very popular theme, done in a very popular way. Just the same as David K. Steenberg's "Vignette of the Campus", although there is some new and refreshing element in these little sketches, which we liked, mostly because they concern our glorious institutions of learning, and are rather true.

Lionel Smith seems to us rather feminine, and "her" sketch a bit too long and drawn out, quite a bit like Mary E. Hussong's "Curci Lives in Clover", although we rather enjoyed its ending, and if one likes the ending, one usually likes the whole thing.

"Gotterdammerung" by Raymond C. Small reminds us of the good old days when the Lit was still in its glory. Good stuff and excellent take off. We like to read that kind of thing, and it is surprisingly, short enough to be effective.

Ken Fearing did himself nobly in the editorials or rather what is in the place usually reserved for editorials.

And now for the poetry. It is rather mediocre, with the exception of Marya Zaturenska's things. There is real and true poetry. Many people, and mostly the real and the would-be deans will disapprove, but that does not mean that it is not real poetry.

It is so good that we are sorry that we cannot adequately criticize it, we leave that to the masters, and we believe that the masters that be, will do nothing but praise it. We sincerely hope that we will hear of Marya Zaturenska in later days.

The rest of the literary offerings are contained in six pages of ads and a lot of publicity on the campus. We wonder how long we will have to wait to get another rejuvenation number of the Lit.

ONLY ONE CHANGE IN EXAM SCHEDULE

There will be no changes in the examination schedule, except that Prof. Harry Glicksman's 10 o'clock section in English 30 will take the exam at 10:30 o'clock on Thursday January 31, according to Mr. Chandler of the registrar's office.

RUSSELL SPEAKS AT GOVERNOR'S DINNER

Dr. Richard T. Ely Gives Address at Fourth Annual Congress

Dean H. L. Russell of the College of Agriculture, was one of the principal speakers at the "Over the Top" banquet of the Tri-State Development congress which met Thursday and Friday at Duluth. The banquet was the fourth annual one of the congress which is called by the governors of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan.

"The Interdependence of Agriculture and Industry" was the topic which Dean Russell presented in discussing methods of cooperation among the three states. He presided over the afternoon session on January 24.

Dr. Richard T. Ely of the department of economics gave an address before the Thursday morning session of the convention on the subject of "Taxation of Farm Lands." He advocated a reduction of taxes on farm lands to avoid an eventual confiscation of the lands by the state.

Gov. J. A. O. Preus, Minnesota, gave the opening address of congress. Other notable speakers were S. F. Snively, mayor of St. Paul, Dean R. S. Shaw of the Michigan Agricultural college.

OPHEUM BILL PROMISES ENTERTAINMENT OF FUN

The Orpheum announces the coming tomorrow of "The Wager" in which Owen McGivney, Ray Hughes and Pam, Miller and Mack, and Dotson combine their fun making abilities to make one hilarious round of pure comedy.

Golden, who is responsible for a large number of the season's best vaudeville novelties and creations, has hit upon a plan to present before vaudeville audiences filmdom's greatest names and faces. "Movie Masque" is the title of his latest offering.

Ray Huhges, assisted by "Pam", offers a comedy skit entitled the "Fall Guy." Miller and Mack are the "Bing Boys" and they are a lively pair of eccentric singing and dancing funsters. Dotson, a black ace, who is as fast as lightening, concludes the cast for the first half.

ROAD SCHOOL HEARS BADGER ENGINEER

Clifford Older, a graduate of the university, delivered the address before the road school which Frank T. Sheets, superintendent of highways in Illinois, was scheduled to give on Thursday afternoon. Older holds the position of construction engineer of the Illinois highway department and has attained a national reputation as a construction engineer.

MANY STUDENTS USE S. G. A. PUBLIC PHONE

In spite of the fact that this is the week before examinations, more books are being taken out of the S. G. A. library than usual.

Before vacation, those taking out books were charged 2 cents a day, but since Christmas the library has been running on an entirely free basis.

At the present time there are 110 books on the shelves and at least six new books are added each month.

Journalism Exams Get Suggestions For Hunch Column

Prof. E. M. Johnson, of the journalism department will give a novel examination in his course on community newspapers.

One of the questions will require seven concrete specific suggestions for news or editorial treatment of the management of a country newspaper. There are to be sent to the Editor and Publisher, a magazine for publishers and advertisers, which contains a Hunch column and a Dollar Puller column and which pays $1 for each suggestion used in these columns.

Those in the class who have their hunches accepted will use the money to subscribe for the magazine, and this group will be called the Hunch club.

"The reason why I am anxious to have the class use their heads," said Professor Johnson, "is that there are many $20,000 positions on the big newspapers in this country, while in Iowa alone there are approximately 30 country newspapers which pay $20,000 a year."

PUMP KEEPS RINK IN GOOD CONDITION

The ice on Lake Mendota has never been in better condition for skating than it is this week end according to George Martin.

"We have a new pump by which the entire rink is sprayed and in this way the cracks are filled in and the surface kept quite smooth," he said in explanation of the above statement.

"This pump is used on the two smaller rinks and also on the big track and I am sure that you will find the ice in as good condition as that of the hockey rink."

PRISONERS STUDY COURSES BY MAIL

Waupun Chaplin Requests Information on Steam Engineering From Lighty

Many prisoners in the state penitentiary at Waupun, the reformatory for women at Techiedah, and the reformatory for men at Green Bay are studying correspondence courses through the University Extension division, according to William H. Lighty, secretary and professor of the correspondence study department.

Elementary English and mathematics are taken by those who have had very little education. These courses are elected in connection with work in artisanship or business. Shopwork, drawing, mechanics, business law, and bookkeeping are also studied by the majority.

"We have just had an inquiry from the chaplain at Waupun concerning steam engineering which one of the prisoners desires to take," said Lighty. "Now we must find out what preparation the student has had and just what he will need."

The university has been working with the state penitentiary and reformatories for a number of years and the interest is increasing, according to Professor Lighty. Each week a representative from the Extension department goes to Waupun to help the students there in the work they are studying.

BADGER IS MAYOR OF COOLIDGE'S HOME TOWN

Edward J. Woodhouse, former student here and at present a professor of politics in Smith college, recently upset every political precedent in Northampton, Mass., the home city of President Coolidge, when he was elected mayor on the Democratic ticket after a whirlwind campaign of eleven days. Professor Woodhouse attended the University of Wisconsin during the years 1910-1911, and is a member of the Kappa Sigma fraternity.

GRAD RETURNS FROM LONG WORLD TOUR

A trip across the Mongolian desert on his way from China to Moscow is one of the thrilling experiences related by Robert Filtzer, former right tackle of the football team in 1914, 15, 16, on his return here yesterday from a five years world tour.

His wife, formerly Grace Haessler '18, who accompanied him on his tour, is still in Moscow where she is writing political stories for the Communist International.

Filtzer's tour included a year at Washington, D. C., Yellowstone park, Hawaii, Japan, China and Russia. In Russia they took a hike along the trail of the Black Sea and then visited England and Germany. He worked as an engineer in the various countries.

A special program for women will be the new feature of "Farm and Home" week at the college of Agriculture, Prof. K. L. Hatch assistant director of agriculture extension declared yesterday. The complete program for women will be announced soon.

memorials, the raising of the scholarship in the dormitory from the lowest to the highest rank, the organization of a scheme for training student leadership and utilizing student initiative and the development of religious leadership that has attracted nation wide attention, the formulation of a constructive program of religious service upon the basis of sound scholarship and spiritual ideals and the rendering of a great personal service to thousands of university students who have sought his advice in regard to all matters of personal and spiritual affairs.

Gratefully Acknowledge Work

Be it resolved by the board of directors of the Young Men's Christian association of the university of Wisconsin,

First, that Mr. Wolf's resignation be reluctantly accepted.

Second, that the board gratefully acknowledge the splendid work that Mr. Wolf has done in placing the Christian work of the men of the university upon a sound and constructive foundation, and express their unanimous and sincere regret that he finds his largest field of usefulness to lie in other directions than the continuation of the present work so splendidly begun.

Twelve Sign Resolution

Third, that copies of this resolution be sent to all local religious organizations doing work on the campus, to the different branches of the Y. M. C. A. with which the local association comes in contact, and that these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the university association and a copy given to the press.

PREHISTORIC INDIAN REMAINS UNEARTHED

Indian earthworks to the number of 160 have been discovered in Wisconsin during the past year by the field workers of the Wisconsin Archaeological society according to a newly issued survey of the society's work. The earthworks are in 15 groups, with some solitary mounds.

A few of these mounds have been explored, yielding interesting specimens of stone implements and earthenware.

The locations of 50 former Indian camp and village sites, five additional planting grounds, eight cemeteries, and a number of other burial places, and the discovery of three caches of hidden deposits of flint implements and one of large sea shells, are reported by the society.

EASTERN EXECUTIVE SPEAKS IN MARCH

Women's Vocational Week to Teach Benefits of College Courses

Florence Jackson, vocational advisor for Wellesley, Smith, and Mount Holyoke colleges, will be the first speaker at the conferences to be held during women's vocational week, March 3 to 7, at Lathrop parlors. Miss Jackson will be introduced by Dean F. Louise Nardin. Eliza R. Butler, New York, executive secretary of the personnel division of the Y. W. C. A. will speak the second day of the conference. The Commerce Women's club will select a speaker for the third day.

The purpose of the conferences is to indicate to the students what they ought to be getting out of their college courses to fit them for the work they have picked out, the salaries that can be expected, the personality required, and the openings there are in different professions. Vocational week is not planned for only senior women. All the women are invited to all the conference meetings.

Medical Library Occupies Second Floor of Clinic

What's on the second floor of the clinic? Did you ever ask yourself that question? No, we don't think you did. Well listen.

Dr. C. R. Bardeen, the head of the Medicinal school, has his office there. Also Dr. Buerki who is the head of the new hospital that is being built on University avenue, has an office there until the hospital is finished. The clinic library is there. It contains a great number of books and a number of current medical periodicals from all over the world.

That's that, but there is a third floor. Most of you didn't even know if there was one. On it are located the living quarters of the clinic during the small hours of the night.
