An Appeal to Wisconsin Alumni

By John S. Lord, '04, president

We are now engaged in the world conflict, and regardless of former views or sympathy, it becomes our duty to give our entire strength and support to our country. Those of us who are physically fit and so situated that the duty of military service first falls upon them, should respond immediately to their country's call. Those of us who are not able to make such a sacrifice at this time owe a duty to our country to conduct and regulate our lives so as to be of the greatest service. To this end let us unitedly make small personal sacrifices which will materially assist in the speedy and complete equipment of our forces and at the same time conserve and maintain at the lowest prices the necessaries of life for our fellow countrymen in greater need and less able to pay therefor.

Let each and all of us resolve:

1. To eat meat but once each day, and to observe one meatless day each week, unless a hardship would result, and to economize in the use of butter and dairy products.
2. To promote intensive growth of staple food products.
3. To eliminate waste in business and the home.
4. To have our old shoes repaired and not buy new ones until necessary.
5. To wear out our old clothes and to sacrifice style and pride to our country's need.
6. To give as largely as our means will permit to the Red Cross or the Y. M. C. A. for military camps and war relief.
7. To secure the cooperation of as many other organizations, societies, and individuals as is possible.

The Wisconsin Alumni Magazine

"No loyal hearted alumnus who has any realization of all the University did for him or any pure sentiment about the cherished plan she should occupy in his life, will ever turn away from her call."

The faculty has granted "time" credit for intensive military drill. A thousand students have secured from the military department blanks to be filled out for full time. Two hundred and fifty students had already signed these blanks on April 12. These students temporarily discontinue the regular studies, devote seven hours a day to military studies, drill for several months, and agree to enlist upon completing this special course in military training.

The Athletic Council has decided that the University is not to participate in intercollegiate competition of athletics plans "gym" drill and hopes to class, college, military, etc.

Our branch of the In Bureau has mailed requests uated from the University years asking for informa a census of alumni whose make them useful in time and who would be ready to disposal of the government mittee in charge also called "attention to opportunities for immediate service with the American Red Cross."

Many alumni have filed applications for the few places open to graduates of land grant colleges of the distinguished class as officers in the reserve corps and as assistant paymasters in the navy.

One U. W. Club (Schenectady) has passed resolutions censoring the activities of our distinguished senior senator.

Fifteen faculty members of the Medical School have offered their services to the government.

How does this compare with activities of other colleges? The alumni publications of several Eastern institutions have printed "war numbers." The N. Y. Yale alumni passed resolutions "against the attacks of despotic militarism." President Lowell, of Harvard, urges the alumni to remember that "war means fighting and not merely paying," and promises that Harvard will "strive to render the utmost service in time of war." One hundred thirty-one members of the faculty of the University of Minnesota signed a telegram urging President Wilson to declare war. The University of Chicago Magazine reports that it "has not received one letter on this subject nor has it heard any demand for action on the part of alumni."

Since the declaration of war, while there may be some war apathy at the University, there is no indication of war opposition. The calm, deliberate, forceful loyalty of the sons of the University supported by a state in which over fifty per cent of the population is either foreign born or children of foreign born parents indicates that, while war was not sought by us, now that we have entered the conflict we shall not be found wanting and, furthermore, that while a thousand miles from the sea-coast may make Wisconsin alumni less sensitive to the immediate necessity of militant preparedness, it does not change our attitude toward "civilization, freedom, and law."

CONFERENCE OF WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATIONS

By BLANCHE M. TRILLING

Twenty colleges and universities were represented at the Conference of Women's Athletic Associations held at the University on March 9 and 10. The following institutions sent official delegates: Chicago, Illinois, Indiana, Minnesota, Missouri, Colorado, Washington, Nebraska, Ohio, Wisconsin, DePauw, Northwestern, Washington University of St. Louis, Beloit, Milwaukee-Downer, Rockford, annually, and to invite the Eastern colleges to join. The 1918 conference will be held at the University of Chicago. The following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved: That the Women's Athletic Associations in universities and colleges have a close relationship with the departments of physical education for women.

Resolved: That this body go on record as opposing intercollegiate athletic competition for women in so far as it involves the necessity of a team going from one college to another, but that the keep-

Lawrence, Grinnell, Ames, and Sweet Briar. In addition to a scheduled program featuring a supper, a basketball game, a swimming meet, a luncheon, and a banquet, and the customary reports and discussions, addresses were given on "Athletics and University Ideals," by Dean L. K. Mathews, "Association Ideals," by Blanche M. Trilling, director of women's gymnasium, and "Organization of Physical Education for Women," by C. W. Hetherington, professor of Physical Education.

The delegates voted to form a national association which would meet ing of records of events be maintained by the conference secretary for competitive comparison between colleges.

Resolved: That the Women's Athletic Associations in colleges and universities adopt Spaulding's rules as the official rules in all games.

Resolved: That this body go on record as in favor of keeping up scholastic standards by discouraging the playing of any girl on a class team unless she has a satisfactory scholastic standing.

Resolved: That this body recommend that sportsmanship be seriously considered in choosing a girl for a team.

The splendid organization of the conference and the excellent way in which it was managed reflected credit on the Wisconsin Association, whose members had it in charge and with whom the idea originated.

DECENNIAL CLASS REUNION FUND

By JOHN S. LORD, 04

By JOHN S. LORD, '04

NAME: The name of the fund to be raised and administered shall be the Decennial Class Reunion Fund of the University of Wisconsin.

OBJECT: The object of this committee shall be to raise money for student loan purposes and other University and alumni needs and properly to expend the same, and to advance the best interests of the University of Wisconsin, its students and alumni.

MEMBERSHIP: Each class of the University of Wisconsin at the time it holds its decennial reunion shall have the privilege of electing one representative as a member of this committee, provided that such class approves of the objects and purposes of this committee and agrees to contribute funds for its administration. Classes that have previously held their Decennial Reunion shall be invited to contribute to this fund and elect a member of this committee.

This committee shall consist of nine members, who shall have full power, control, and management of the handling and administering of its funds. One member of the committee shall be selected by the general alumni association, one member selected by the class of 1904, and one member selected by the class of 1905. The class of 1906 shall be entitled to select a representative upon approving of the purpose and organization of this committee, and each succeeding class shall likewise have the privilege of selecting one representative until nine classes have elected representatives as members of this committee, and thereafter the right of representation thereon, of each class, shall cease at the end of nine years after the right to representation accrued; and provided further, that at the time nine classes have a representative on this committee, the alumni association shall not be entitled to be represented by a member. In case any class which has heretofore held its decennial reunion, approve of the purpose and organization of this committee it may select a representative to serve as an additional member on this committee for a period of five years, upon said class contributing a substantial sum to this fund.

OFFICERS: The officers shall be a general chairman, a secretary-treasurer and the Executive Board. The duties of the general chairman and secretary-treasurer shall be such as are usually performed by such officers. The Executive Board shall consist of the general chairman, the secretary-treasurer and the representative of the last class which has held its tenth reunion and selected a representative as a member of this committee. This last member of the Executive Board shall become its general chairman after serving thereon for a period of one year.

After the class of 1907 shall have elected a representative as a member of this committee, he shall thereupon become a member of the Executive Board for one year, at the end of which time he shall become the general chairman of the Executive Board for a period of one year, and thereupon he shall be succeeded as general chairman by the representative of the class of 1908.

The Executive Board shall have power to elect and appoint to the office of secretary-treasurer a person not duly elected by a class as its representative on this committee; and in case of vacancy in the representation of any class, it shall have the power to fill such vacancy, until a duly appointed member thereof is selected by such class.

MEETINGS: There shall be one meeting each year, which shall be held during commencement week, on call of the general chairman. The Executive Board may at any time it deems desirable submit to this committee, in writing, any propositions it may deem of importance, which propositions may be voted upon by mail.

The secretary-treasurer shall make an annual report or statement of all funds received, disbursed, or expended, which shall be submitted to the members of this committee sixty days before the annual meeting. The report of the secretary-treasurer shall be accompanied by the report of the general chairman, which shall not cover matters fully reported upon by the secretary-treasurer. All recommendations, modifications and amendments suggested by members of the committee respecting these reports shall be made to the general chairman within fifteen days. One copy of these reports shall be served upon the business manager of the University of Wisconsin and one copy shall be served upon the editor of the Wisconsin Alumni Magazine for publication therein.

The Chairman of the Faculty Committee on Loans and Undergraduate Scholarships, Professor Julius E. Olson, will continue this article in a future issue.

WISCONSIN ALUMNI CLUBS

"Sit together, listen together, sing together, eat together, and talk together and you'll work together."

CHICAGO

By FELIX BOLDENWECK, '02

During the past two months we have had the pleasure of presenting the following speakers to our luncheon guests at the Grand Pacific hotel: Dr. A. J. Ochsner, '84, on "Base Hospitals;" Rt. Rev. Bishop Fallows, '59, on "Preparedness;" Charles B. Rogers, '93, and Robert S. Crawford, '03, on "Alumni Association Needs;" George Haight, '99, on "Modern Rights;" Dr. Roth on "Fundamental Needs."

MINNEAPOLIS

By M. B. MITCHELL, '12

The Minneapolis Alumni Association, after hibernating for the winter, has finally resurrected itself with a bang and is now more lively and full of pep than ever and determined to do its share toward making the General Alumni Association the strongest college organization of its kind. At the recent Twin-city-Wisconsin smoker it was decided to divide up the old and awkward Twin-city Alumni Association into two workable local associations—one in Minneapolis and one in St. Paul. These two local organizations plan to unite on several enterprises during the course of the year, one of which will be the regular Twin-city banquet of many years' standing. A Twin-city Wisconsin field day to be held on Decoration Day is also being contemplated and a committee has been appointed to make necessary arrangements.

The Minneapolis luncheons are held on the first Thursday of every month at Dayton's; all Wisconsin men in this vicinity, either temporarily or permanently, are invited to attend.

NEW YORK CITY

By CLARK H. GETTS, '14

War or no war we believe that rowing should be one of Wisconsin's major sports. We are mailing you the report of our committee which will tell you why we think the Cardinal will be there among the others when the next regatta is held at Poughkeepsie. In our opinion this report of Sam Kerr and Dr. Ernest F. Hicks delivers a knockout to a notion of physical degeneracy which somebody East of the Alleghenies called a bit of twentieth century sophistry.

We should like to send you some of the replies to our crew inquiries which we are not including in the report, but our patriotism and loyalty to Alma Mater have made us think better of it. We want you simply to have the facts. Opinions will follow as of course.

But we are sorry the war has happened just now, for we had expected to see the crew on the Hudson in June and had made complete plans for a special steamer to take the entire crowd within shouting distance of the shells. When they DO come we'll all be there!

The war was in the air at the luncheon yesterday. Mr. Gerard M. Dahl, '96, vice-president of the Chase National Bank, was our guest and speaker. In his opinion the East is only beginning to appreciate the influence of the West. He feels that the West has been misrepresented and misunderstood in the East in spite of professions to the contrary. The East has taken the position that people of the West must be unpatriotic and unmindful of their obligations to their government because they have expressed such vigorous pacifistic sentiments. Mr. Dahl resents the imputation and brands it as one of those remnants of sectionalism which this country should long ago have outgrown. He urged us to be neither Westerners nor Easterners, but through and through Americans.

These luncheons bring us irrefutable evidence of Wisconsin ginger in New York. Roy E. Tomlinson, '01, who has recently been elevated to the presidency of the National Biscuit Co., promises us an address very shortly, as does also Sen. John C. Spooner, '84. Another more recent arrival from the West who is scheduled for an appearance at the head of the table is Gilbert Hodges, '95, who has come on from Chicago to serve the New York Sun as advertising manager.

Dr. Wm. H. Allen spoke to us on March 13. Most of us remember him as the director of the University Survey. He is now directing the Institute for Public Service in the city. With Dr. Allen leading we went to the very bottom of the work of the Survey and analyzed the facts from the cause to the results of the undertaking. Dr. Allen feels that the greatest opportunity now before the University is the development of the field of public service. He feels that courses of training for public service work are especially needed to that end.

We have heard twice recently from the Rockefeller Foundation. But Dr. Ernest C. Meyer, '01, is an artist among us whose talent we had not suspected. He talked to us on the 27th of the work of the Health department of the Foundation and soon had us sitting on the edges of our chairs watching bacilli grow and southern hookworms crawl. We expect to hear from Dr. Meyer again.

We regret losing our president, Chas. M. Wales, '85. Active presidents are not easily found, but we have discovered one. He is Holton H. Scott, '96, general manager of the Cities Service Co. Mr. Scott took occasion on the 20th of March to tell us a great deal we wanted to know about public utility development. The president of his own company, though not himself a college man, has surrounded himself with men who are—and, incidentally, no less than twenty of them are from Wisconsin.

Don't let Dr. Meanwell get away! We are strong for a man who can do what he has done for Wisconsin basketball. His work this year is evidence enough of his merit. When we received the result of the Minnesota game we were ready to snake it down Broadway.

Our congratulations to the Daily Cardinal on the occasion of its anniversary. We boast a dozen of her former editors. I am enclosing a copy of a Wisconsin Forum resolution adopted by the executive committee of the Wisconsin Club of New York. We have had the matter under consideration for a long time. The executive committee was directed by the club meeting as a whole to determine upon a proper course of action and to act accordingly. Carl Beck delivered the resolution to the President in person. A copy is going to the Board of Regents and another to the Daily Cardinal.

PHILADELPHIA

By ERNEST F. RICE, '08

First of all I want to remind all alumni who have occasion to travel in these parts that we lunch every Tuesday at 12:30 at the City Club, and you are as welcome as the flowers in spring. We have had some rousing good meetings—very informal—no regular speeches, but a lot of round table discussions covering everything from athletics to war. Our last dinner and smoker was held on the evening of March 22, and while the attendance was less than usual, due to the fact that a lot of our fellows are embryo doctors at Pennsylvania and had some exams to grind for, we nevertheless made up in enthusiasm what we lacked in number.

We are the proud possessors of a new U. W. Songbook and I know the Glee Club would have been envious had they heard us render "Varsity," "On Wisconsin," "Chicken Why Don't You Lay," etc. We just started at the first cover, and sang all the way through.

Every week we add new names to our list of Wisconsin men located in this vicinity, and we urge all those who may read this letter, and who have not received regular notices from us, to make their whereabouts known at once. Last meeting we had the pleasure of having with us the Rev. David Kennedy, '83, who possibly is the oldest alumnus in the club. We don't mean in years, because he looks as young as any of us, and from the way he talked his college days seemed no further away than our own.

PHILADELPHIA ALUMNAE

By ELIZABETH QUACKENBUSH, '11

On March 24 a dozen women, graduates or ex-students of Wisconsin, met at an informal luncheon at Wanamaker's to get acquainted and to plan for future gatherings of a like nature. At present our list of alumnae living near Philadelphia numbers twenty, and we are in hopes that we shall discover others before long. Since the luncheon on the 24th was our first meeting, we did little more than tell Wisconsin stories and try to remember each others' names. A number of the group are doing graduate work at Bryn Mawr, and since so many of us were uncertain where we would be next year, we effected only the most informal of organizations. I was made a queer composite of all the necessary officers, and we are hoping for the best.

Our next meeting is to be a picnic about the middle of May, on a farm near Doylestown, which is managed by Julia Avery, '15, and her mother, Mrs. Rose Foster Avery, ex '15; the invitation was accepted unanimously and vociferously.

We have just been invited to the banquet the men are planning for April 21, when Prexy will be the guest of honor, and I am certain we shall all join in making him welcome to our city of Brotherly Love.

SCHENECTADY

By E. S. HENNINGSEN, '12

There were eighteen men out for the annual dinner, the most enthusiastic bunch of fellows that ever assembled in this city. No regular program had been arranged, but after dinner nearly everyone spoke on preparedness, the Plattsburg idea, La Follette's filibuster, Husting's loyalty, means of getting more closely in touch with the University, or on all of them put together. Jack Broost, '03, offered the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted, "Resolved, that the University of Wisconsin Alumni Association of Northeastern New York go on record as condemning in the most vigorous manner the recent filibuster of Senator La Follette, '79, and other senators who aided him in blocking the President at such a critical time; and that we also heartily commend Senator Husting, ex '96, for all that he has done and affirm our strong faith in his patriotism and real ability."

We are very anxious to cooperate with the University in any way possible with a view toward exchanging ideas and views on the training of students in engineering. Several of our men hold very important places and come in touch with executives and high-class engineers all over the country. We feel that both the alumni and the University would be benefited if some arrangement could be made for an interchange of ideas on the subjects of proper training and right ideals which the college should offer the student and of the loyalty and help which the alumni should give the college.

On checking up the bunch we found sixty-five per cent of our members belonged to the association and took the MAGAZINE, and the rest admitted that they ought to join, so one of these days we are going to show 99.44 per cent membership in the association—see if we don't.

ST. PAUL

By N. E. PARDEE, '01

The annual meeting of the Twin-city Alumni Association was held at the University Club in Minneapolis on Saturday evening, March 17. An informal stag party was substituted this year for the usual banquet and the innovation proved so satisfactory that the change is likely to become permanent. The program began with moving pictures of last June's Commencement and was followed by an athletic exhibition and other events, and ended up with a buffet supper. During the evening Mr. Gehrand, '03, the president, called on various alumni for short talks and among those who responded were H. P. Barlow, '72, and Judge Oscar Hallam, '87, of St. Paul, and A. H. Bright, '74, and Dean Guy Ford, '95, of the Graduate School of the University of Minnesota. The election brought into office for the coming year Arthur W. Logan, '07, as president, and Milton Blair, '10, as secretary. Both are St. Paul men, where the next annual meeting goes by process of rotation. A movement is being considered to form a separate branch of the Alumni Association in each city in order that greater activity and interest may be promoted and more frequent meetings held. This plan appears to meet with general approval and will undoubtedly be tried out in the near future.

ATHLETICS

By W. D. RICHARDSON

Dr. Meanwell Resigns

Although no announcements have been made it is now definitely understood that Dr. W. E. Meanwell, Wisconsin's efficient basketball coach and the man who has placed the Badgers at the head of basketball, not only in the West but in the East as well, will leave the institution in the near future to accept a position as director of athletics at the U. of Missouri. It is still too early to go into the details of the events which have taken Dr. Meanwell from Madison, but we will,

in our next issue, lay the facts of this case before the alumni. It is sufficient now to state that Dr. Meanwell leaves here with a record which is unequaled. He leaves here with the best wishes of the student body. His going leaves a gap which will be hard to fill.

Spring Athletics Called Off

The athletic council has voted to discontinue the track and baseball schedules for the remainder of the year. This action was taken "in the interests of public service." There was some opposition to the move as a result of the statement of Gen. Wood and the wisdom of it will not be determined until the government makes public its plans regarding the war.

Rowing

Letters have been received from the New York alumni of the University relative to their investigation of rowing—the movement which really gave impetus to the probe which is being made here at the present time. Further details regarding this thorough investigation made by the U. W. Club of New York will be published later.

CLASSES

CLASS REUNIONS

"Seven's" and "two's" are reminded that it is time to plan for the reunion to be held next June.

We shall be glad to hear from class officers or committees on reunion from the classes of 1912, 1907, 1902, 1897, 1892, 1887, 1882, 1877, 1872, 1867, 1862.

By HENRY W. HOYT, '72

The class will have a reunion in June. Responses from members assure us that a large percentage will attend.

MIGHTY NINETY-SEVEN

Twenty Year Reunion, June 18, 19, 20, 1917

To the Live Wires of the Mighty Class: Greetings! For twenty long (or short) years we have waited for the Big event of 1917—the vicennial* reunion in June. In the mad rush for glory or in the quiet pursuit of contentment we have not forgotten our alma mater. The days of youthful inspiration, of fellowship with kindred minds, the senior school days with all their joys and aches, the "eight o'clocks," the flunks, the boning for exams, the pranks played on the profs, Ladies' Hall with its romances, the "Hill" with its thousand memories, Old Pat, the Library chimes, the Gym and Lower Campus; these, all these, are remembered when our minds dwell soothingly on the happy days at Old Wisconsin.

We shall gather round the bonfire and recount again the heroic deeds of '97's warriors, of hazing expeditions, of victories on track, field, and water, of picnics in the wildnesses of Mendota's shady shores, of the terror that "Hoxie Moxie" threw into '98. Alexander will let the Railroad Commission run itself long enough to "be in" on the crew and football yarns; the dust will gather on his law books while Henry Cochems admits his part in the saving of T. R.; and Beebe will tell us entertainingly how he now puts it over the undergrads. Ed Schildhauer—Big Ed—will admit that he and Goethals did a good job at Panama; even Evan A. Evans will drop his judicial dignity while Tommy Bell puts over a phoney one on Senator "Tommy" Brazeau; and the Clausens (Fred from Horicon, Wisconsin, and Baby Leon from wild Iowa) promise to let you in on the latest secrets of manufacturing success. These are only a very few of the joys that await you.

Will you come? Of course you will. Write today to your class secretary, Louise P. Kellogg, Wisconsin Historical Library, and tell her so. We'll be mighty glad to see you with us.

Yours mightily and sincerely,
The Rejuvenation Committee.

* Engineers please note that this means twentieth."

1907 REUNION NOTICE

By RALPH GUGLER, '07

The bond issue floated early in March with the idea of obtaining working funds for the tenth reunion, is meeting with great success. Immediately after having been offered to the 1907 investing public, heavy purchases were made by Bill Bailey, Frank Manegold, Val Schrank, and Lynn Smith.

Among the married members a serious question has arisen as to who shall be the holder of the bond—man or wife. President Goedjen, Dick Green, "Mark" Anthony, "Big Pobatce" Loesch, "Tok" Riley, and Ralph Wiggernhorn, who have already signified their intention of coming are hereby notified that the mere fact of their wives' and children's coming, does not require an investment of more than one bond.

"Buck" Grunert, "Slim" Lewis, "Sparrow" Reinhard, and "Balt" Richter—of the beautiful and "eligible" bachelors—in sending in applications please notice that there will be no reduction on "that" account.

Dear Ted Hoyer:—

Your letter just arrived, and in reply I'd like to state that I'll be right there with bells on when the old boys congregate. I've been down on the Border, and I'm pretty nearly broke, but I've still a watch and overcoat that I can put in soak; and if the sum thus raised should be of insufficient size, I'll get there somehow, though I have to walk the railroad ties, for I wouldn't miss for anything the trip down there climbed to eight o'clocks; and queer old, dear old State Street, with its student stores in rows—say, I wonder if old Dode and Fose still press the students' clothes.

They tell me that Al Buser now is quite a family man and that the babies of the class would fill a moving van. But we've still a few old bachelors left and they'll be there, no doubt, for some mischievous Cupid-bird has told it all about that our girls are just as pretty in June and the chance to raise Old Harry when the Mighty Twelves reunite.

I want to join Red Parker in a rousing old-time cheer and to meet him in the evening round a keg of Hausmann's beer; I want to see old Prexy and to take him by the hand and tell him that our class is with him—always—understand? I want to wear a uniform so loud it's heard in Heaven and clean the everlasting tar right out of Naughty Seven; they say they've got a baseball team—at least, that's what they yell—but wait till they bump up against our old friend, Wallie Grell.

And then there's old Mendota, with her shores all lined with rocks, the traditioned Upper Campus that we as they were Commencement Day and that Lovers' Lane is working in the same efficient way.

I imagine we've all changed a lot—perhaps I won't know you (after three long years in China, I suppose you wear a queue)—but I'll see you at our pee-rade—I'll be right behind the band—and we'll all pick-nick together in our uniforms so grand—for the Greatest Class has started and before we get half through, we're going to show the others what a real live bunch can do. So, bye-bye, Ted, I'll see you down in Madison next June—for there's going to be a hot time when the Mighty Twelves reunite.

Yours for the Biggest One Yet,
MORRIS B. MITCHELL.

Sec'y—EMMA GATTIKER, Baraboo

Mr. and Mrs. F. S. White spent part of the winter in Florida. Fred claims that his sojourn in the South is necessitated by the serious injury to his health resulting from the collapse of the stands at the Wisconsin-Minnesota football game November 20, 1915. Those of his classmates who saw him, apparently in blooming health, at the class reunion in 1916 will take the above with a grain or two of salt. While in Florida Mr. White joined the legislative party in its tour of the Everglades, and is much impressed with the agricultural future of that section of the state when the projected drainage system shall have been carried to completion.

1883

Sec'y—A. C. UMBREIT, Milwaukee

Reunion War Whoop

succeeding the late A. W. Green.—"Glad to learn that the Magazine is doing so well." H. F. Cutler, Manila, P. I.—Fern Hackett is teaching in the Baraboo high school.

Well we licked 1901 in the class rush. Didn't we?—When 1902 gets hold of the district attorney's job it keeps right on—witness Pete Abel at Sparta, Frank Bucklen at West Bend, and our own Harry of Dane Co., all succeeding themselves this year.—Homer R. Dopp, of Oconomowoc, suffered a serious injury with a corn shredder this winter, and is to remove to California soon.—Frank (Alois) Swoboda is going to have something to say about 1902 at the reunion. If you want to be sure he says something complimentary to you, send word to him right away. He lives at Antigo, where he is teaching the farmers how to kill potato bugs and blow stumps out of the ground.—In the death of Chas. Slothower the class loses one of its strong men. Like the late W. J. Sutherland, his last work was in the teaching profession at Platteville.—Almost everybody who amounts to much nowadays has an avocation. Max Strehlow's is leading the Saengerfest at Green Bay. Max is one of the leading figures in musical circles in his town. He might be induced to lead the singing at the reunion if some properly qualified person would ask him.—Harvey P. Clawson is hustling for business for the Westinghouse Church Kerr Co. of Chicago and claims he is getting some. Don't let Harvey back you into a corner or he will tell you a few things about hard work that he thinks you never knew before.—Geo. B. Vinson is one of the executive officers of the Nat'l Straw Works on 18th Ave. He is some straw man. We are reckoning on seeing both George and Freda next June.—The second division—which is really the most important—should be led by the Haresfeet, household names in the good old days. John Varsity Brennan can lead, and Freda Stolte Vinson and J. Bartow Patrick and the rest can fall in behind. They should be attended by our musical and literary representatives in N. Y. Phil. Spooner and Honora McCue Willsie. Mike Olbrich must be kept away. He is a real orator and has no time for ham actors. Besides, he has hinted several times about pushing a wheelbarrow in the family squad. Space must also be reserved, preferably in the family squad, for the twins, so to speak; we refer to Chas. D. and Mrs. Hunter (Charlotte Simonds) of Tacoma, Geo. B. Vinson and Mrs. Vinson, of Milwaukee, Walter F. Mabbett and Mrs. Mabbett, of Edgerton, and R. T. Smith, Jr., and Mrs. Smith (Esther Donnelly) of Baltimore. The athletic squad, led by Art Curtis, Al

Larson, and Warren Smith, comes next. It should be attended by Prof. Solomon Huebner of the U. of Penn. and Prof. Dwight Beebe of the Alexander Hamilton Institute, as examples of the superiority of mind over matter. Probably some of the engineers led by B. F. Adams of Chicago, Sherman Mocre, of Detroit, and J. Weary Watson, of Madison, will want to march in a body, singing that classical ditty beginning, "Three cheers." We think they would do less harm here than anywhere else. Her address is 1213 E. 54th St.

Dear Bill: I have been watching the MAGAZINE very closely in order to get the particulars in regard to the reunion of the Mighty Class of 1912. My labors were rewarded with the greatest expectations. I am not asking how many will be back, for I am sure the whole class will turn out again to serve their Alma Mater, and do justice to the record that our class set while at school.

I will be pleased again to fall in line and do my share to make this reunion one that will stand as a tribute to the only class and that is the class of 1912. I will be more than pleased to again see my friends that mean so much to me. College days mean so much to a person after he has once been out into the world.

It is going to be the greatest reunion ever held.

I will be glad to serve on the committee that I have been placed on, and do all I can to make the class organization live forever.

I am enclosing the amount necessary to help defray expenses.

With the greatest success for the reunion, I am, yours for 1912, Alfred L. Buser.

CAMPUS NOTES

Intensive military instruction for seniors, juniors, and sophomores has been offered with provision for full credit towards graduation, and with an examination at the conclusion of the course for commissions in the United States army.

A summer vacation tour to the Pacific coast has been approved for the Glee club, but war conditions have somewhat upset the plans.

Expulsion from the University was the penalty suffered by Florence Mitchell, a freshman from Sun Prairie, for breaking the scarlet fever quarantine at Chadbourne. Margaret Wright of Berlin and Cora Lyon of Brandon were suspended for a semester for minor infractions of the quarantine regulations.

Orators for Commencement week have been chosen as follows: Letters and Science, Paul S. Taylor; Engineering, Kieth S. McHugh; and Law, Harry S. Gleick.

Harry Scott and Charles Carpenter were elected editor and manager, respectively, of the 1919 Badger.

Haresfoot appeared at Waukesha April 13, with "Jamaica Ginger," and the itinerary from that point included Milwaukee, Fond du Lac, Kenosha, Rockford, Beloit and Madison.

An Agricultural Union building is favored by the departments of Agriculture and Home Economics, and an Agricultural Association has been formed.

A heavy dry vote in the Latin quarter was a material factor in voting Madison dry, on April 3, and the saloons of the city will be closed July 1.

Lambda Chi Alpha has granted a charter to eleven Wisconsin students.

Alpha Sigma Phi won the fraternity league bowling championship, after a close race with Chi Phi.

Small-pox symptoms caused Burdette Kinne, '14, and five students to be isolated the first week in April. One scarlet fever patient was also quarantined.

Prof. C. W. Kent of the U. of Va. spoke on "Honor in Academic Work" before an all-University convocation.

The commerce students enjoyed their annual spring jubilee on the evening of April 6, at the Y. M. C. A.

A trio of debaters — Herman Zischke, '17, H. E. Kinne, '18, and LeRoy Burlingame, '18, left April 11 for Los Angeles to meet the debaters of the law school of the U. of So. Cal., Wisconsin debating the negative of the question, "Resolved, that strikes and lockouts should be prohibited on public utilities and in coal mines prior to an investigation of the dispute by a governmental body."

The Country Magazine elected Robin Hood, '19, president, Elmer Clark, '18, editor-in-chief, and C. G. Peck business manager.

At the relay carnival March 30, the Alpha Phi representatives won the inter-sorority race in record-breaking time, the Kappa Sigma sextet won the inter-frat relay for the third consecutive time, and Captain Smith, '17, of the varsity track team took one trial in the broad jump and broke the Annex record with a leap of 23 ft. 4 in.

A monster loyalty parade March 31 included most of the student body and faculty, the University delegation being headed by the cadet regiments and their bands.

Universal military training was upheld when Wisconsin's affirmative debating team beat Ohio by a two to one decision, at Music Hall.

With a Jubilee celebration lasting three days, April 5, 6, and 7, the Daily Cardinal celebrated its twenty-fifth anniversary. A special issue, an all-University convocation, a banquet, and a carnival in the Gym the closing evening, were the features.

A set of chimes, to cost $3,000, and to be placed either in Music Hall or in the new dome of University Hall, will be the 1917 class memorial.

The School of Journalism "has just as important a place in the University as any other professional school," said O. E. Remy, formerly of the Milwaukee Sentinel and Free Press in an address here March 23.

W. von Geltsch, instructor in music, gave a series of concerts in northern Wisconsin and Michigan the last week in March.

Special Deputy Nayudu, a native of Mysore State, India, has entered the University to make a study for the Indian government of advanced methods of forestry.

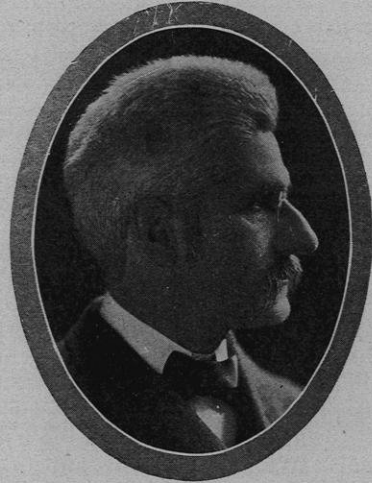

Twenty-three fraternities telegraphed their support to President Wilson and his policies.

Victor Coffin, assistant professor of history, has resigned after twenty-one years in the department to become western Wisconsin representative for the bond house of Morris F. Fox & Co. of Milwaukee.

"La Croix de Guerre," a coveted French medal, has been awarded to E. M. Lebert, former instructor in French, for bravery in the infantry service on the Somme front.

A number of prominent students participated in the "campaign of friendship" recently conducted at Milwaukee, speaking at various Sunday schools.

Dean E. A. Birge, vice president of the united chapters of Phi Beta Kappa, addressed the Milwaukee chapter on March 23. The Milwaukee council was formed last November with W. W. Wright as president and the following members: Nathan Glicksman, W. E. Grove, '04, Miss Mina Kerr, Ruth Lindsay, '16, Mrs. John McMillan, '99, Robert McMynn, '94, Lynn S. Pease, '86, and Helen Williams, '14.

Stuart Walker's Portmanteau players, direct from the Princess Theater, New York, presented three one-act plays March 14 under the auspices of the Wisconsin Forum and the Red Domino and Twelfth Night dramatic societies.

Wisconsin debaters won from Michigan, March 30, for the first time in three years. Illinois defeated Wisconsin the same evening. The subject was governmental investigation of strikes and lockouts.

American ambulance service in Europe has attracted eleven more students, making a total of sixteen up to this time.

Betsy Ross has a great-great grandson in the person of William Balderston, a Boise (Idaho) engineering sophomore.

G. W. Ehler, former director of athletics, has been elected scout executive of the Allegheny Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Pittsburg.

Home Ec grads are to be catalogued in the interests of industrial preparedness, by the education bureau of the federal Department of the Interior.

The Board of Regents has confirmed the action of the faculty in approving the establishment of one or more units of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps.

Wireless telegraph activity will be greatly facilitated by the construction next summer of a wireless tower on the crest of the hill beside University Hall. It will be of steel built in concrete, and from its top six antennae wires 350 feet long will be carried down to the roof of the new Physics building.

Eighteen freshman women are preparing articles on "What I should like to tell next year's freshman class."

The Athletic Board has gone on record in favor of reinstating intercollegiate crew competition, in a resolution which recommended a careful and fair investigation by the Athletic Council.

The Secretary of the Navy has authorized the appointment of thirty-five assistant paymasters in the Navy from the graduates of those colleges designated as distinguished colleges and listed in war bulletin fifteen of June 17, 1916—their diplomas and testimonials to be accepted in lieu of a written examination. As our University is one of the colleges listed, the President has forwarded to the Bureau of Navigation the names of seven graduates. Candidates will appear before a board of officers of the Pay Corps May 1. Appointments will be made as of July 1, 1917, assignment to duty under instruction following immediately thereafter.

BOOK NOTES

South America Study Suggestions (D. C. Heath & Co., New York) by Harry Erwin Bard, former official advisor of the ministry of instruction of Peru, and secretary of the Pan-American Society of the United States. The work consists of a brief outline of study suggestions, with bibliography.

Witte Arrives (Frederick A. Stokes Co., New York) by Elias I. Tobenkin, '05. The Story concerns the youngest member of a family of Jewish immigrants who worked his way through a series of hardships and suffering until finally he "arrived." It is a sympathetic and true picture of the immigrant and of Jewish family life, and shows remarkably their assimilation into American life, their absorption of American ideals, their patriotism and appreciation of the opportunities offered them.

SONG

The more I know of the ocean
The more I love to hear
A little hill-stream singing
All tenderly, and near.

But the more I know of the ocean
The more it calls to me,
Filling my soul with longing
Akin to misery.

SMILES

The sweetest smile I ever saw
Was on the pale old face
Of one who lived Life's righteous law
And drew near unto Grace—
A smile made eloquent of years
Since it has been baptised of tears.

The kindest smile I e'er beheld
Was on a face that bore
The mark of years when hopes were felled
To struggle up once more—
A smile made beautiful for loss
After it bore another's Cross.

These two poems illustrate the quality of Glenn Ward Dresbach's first book of poems, many of which have already seen the light in Scribner's, Poetry, and elsewhere. Mr. Dresbach will be remembered by readers of The Wisconsin Magazine five or six years ago as the contributor of a number of lyrics of exceptional promise whose characteristic excellences were a charmingly musical flow of verse and a content of delicate sentiment. The Road to Everywhere demonstrates that the confidence of its author's friends of University days was not misplaced. The same easy grace of language and the same delicate fancy that gave charm to his earlier work are to be found here in greater degree of perfection, and the reader is also gratified at the discovery in these poems of a widening of vision and a deepening of sentiment that betoken greater ripeness of experience. Mr. Dresbach left the University in 1911, and spent four years in clerical service with the Panama Railroad, which he left on account of climate, taking a position at Tyrone, New Mexico.—Grant Showerman, '96.

Mechanical Drawing for Secondary Schools (Scott, Foresman and Co., Chicago) by F. D. Crawshaw, professor of manual arts, and J. D. Phillips, professor of drawing and assistant dean of the College of Engineering. The book analyzes mechanical drawing upon the basis of its elements, or natural divisions, such as perspective sketching, orthographic sketching, pencil mechanical drawing, inking, tracing, and reproducing, each division being organized and presented in a separate chapter. It is designed to cover the first two years of mechanical drawing in the secondary schools.

The Journals of Captain Meriwether Lewis and Sergeant John Ordway (State Historical Society of Wisconsin) edited with introduction and notes by M. M. Quaife, superintendent. These collections form Volume XXII of the publications of the Society. The Society has long been instrumental in making known the expedition of Lewis and Clark across the continent. Its first secretary, L. C. Draper, '72, and its second superintendent, R. Gold Thwaites, '04, did research work of note along these lines. Annie A. Nunns, '89, and Louise P. Kellogg, '97, assisted Dr. Quaife in preparing the present volume for the press.

THE OLD DAYS

By Fritz Kunz, '12

I have sighed many days for the lakes that I love,
The grey hills and the maples in gold;
I have seen in my mind the thin, low crescent moon,
When the night has grown haggard and old.

I hear Pete's mandolin, and Bill's grunting banjo,
And the laughter of Sarah Louise;
Or the tramp on the Hill on a morning
that's chill
When the lake is beginning to freeze.

And a thunderous roar comes from old
Section B—
It's the day we beat Chi nine to nix—
Old (forgotten?) Red Parker, the first real yell barker,
Is exhibiting all of his tricks.

There lots more—well, in fact, it's a sixty-reel film,
With romance and—O, well, you're aware!
What I'm writing about's just to let this fact out:
Absorb all that you can while you're there!
