KNIFE HURLERS TO PERFORM AT SHOW TONIGHT

Tour Starts at 7:30 in Music Hall

Varsity is to see something different at the production tonight at 7:30 o'clock in Music hall of the "Tour Around the World." The time has been changed to 7:30 because of the addition of several attractions.

Takitaro Suzuki of Japan will give an exhibition of Jiu Jitsu. Chinese knife throwers, photographs and reproductions of Bohemian art, painting, sculpture, and architecture, and a Russian dancer are some of the added attractions. Other entertaining and educational features will be presented.

All Lands Represented

Representatives of each of the different countries will give talks on the present conditions and try to break down some of the fallacies held by people in this country.

President W. D. Scott of Northwestern university said in an address recently of foreign student work: "If we should select students from foreign lands to attend our institutions of higher learning and should select them with as much care as we chose material for our battleships, and if we train them in accordance with our best American ideals, I am convinced we would afford to pay $1,000,000 for every student so selected."

Proceeds of the Tour Around the World will be devoted to the Foreign Student Loan fund.

Students in Charge

The foreign students looking after their native countries' exhibit are, China, C. C. Wang; Japan, Masakazu Morishita; Czechoslovakia, Vaclav Strela; Philippines, Augustin Rodolfo; Argentina, Fernando Sola; Constantinople, Turkey, Yusuf Zia; Transvaal South Africa, Petrus Naude.

The other chairmen are, Elsworth Bunce '24, general chairman, Jud Gore '26, Richard E. Saunders '26, Cyril Abbott '25, Clifford Childs '26 and Theo. Maldaner '24, assistant chairman; Frank Miller '24, publicity; Jack Legler '26, program; George Millard '25, Chinese exhibits, Lewellyn Cole '25, patrons and patronesses, Joseph Mason '24, Cook's guides, Jerome Zufeldt '25, posters.

PETITIONS FOR A. C. F. BOARD DUE THIS WEEK

Candidates for the four positions on the A. C. F. board and the two positions on the agricultural library board for the coming year may file their petitions at Dean J. A. James office any time between now and May 4, according to Edwin A. Rohrbeck '24, chairman of the Agricultural College federation.

Two agric and two home-economics' students are elected to the board from the agricultural student body every spring. These officers serve on the board throughout the ensuing university year. The remaining personnel of the board is composed of representatives of the various agricultural and home-economics student organizations. Each recognized student organization is entitled to one representative on the board.

The Agricultural College federation passes upon student policies pertaining to the College of Agriculture. The problems of Freshmen welcome, A. C. F. picnics, recommendations for positions, assistance at Farmer's week, Agricultural open house, and Student night, are to a large extent placed in the hands of the board.

WEATHER: FAIR

Fair weather with slowly rising temperature is predicted for today and tomorrow. The maximum temperature yesterday was 57.7 at 5 p. m., and the minimum 46.2 at 7 a. m.

ORCHESTRA WILL PRESENT FINAL CONCERT SUNDAY

The University orchestra, assisted by Erma Duncan '24, mezzo-soprano will present their last concert of the year in Music hall at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The feature numbers of the program which has been arranged are Beethoven's "Egmont" overture, the Schubert's "Unfinished" Symphony, and the Wagner prize song from the opera "Die Meistersinger von Nurnberg."

Miss Duncan will sing Giordani's "Caro Mio Ben", Henschel's "Morning Hymn", and "My Lover He Comes On the Skeet", by Clough Leighter. She will be accompanied by Robert Nethercut '24.

Other compositions which will be given are Waldtefel's valse "Reves de Bois", Raff's "The Mill," the Scene D' Amour from the ballet suite "La Sourse", by Delibes, and "Ase's Death", from the "Peer Gynt" Suite, by Grieg.

The concert is open to the public, and is free.

PROPOSE UNION BOARD CHANGES

Senate Referendum to Withdraw Power of Recommending

Two important changes in the election of members of Union board and the Student senate will come up for referendum at the spring election next Friday.

If passed, the referendum on the Union board candidates will take the power of recommendation out of the hands of the board and place it on an open election basis. The senate referendum would keep the election of the graduate member within the graduate school. At present every male elector votes for graduate members.

The Union board regulation as it now stands in section six of article VII of the constitution of the student senate reads:

Student Senate Rule

"Each spring there shall be elected by the qualified male electors of their respective classes, from among three nominees for each position designated by the board, who shall have had experience on regular board committees, one sophomore and one junior to hold office during the next two and one years respectively; each spring there shall be elected by the qualified male electors of their respective classes, from nominations by written petition of not less than 50 qualified electors of such classes, one sophomore and one junior to hold office during the next two and one years respectively.

"The election of the above members shall take place in the manner provided in article III of this constitution. Before October 25 of each school year, there shall be elected by the qualified male electors of the sophomore class, from among three nominees designated by the board, who shall have had experience

Successful Concert of Clef Club Shows Talent and Good Training

By J. H.

The annual spring concert of Clef club which was held last evening in Music auditorium at 8 o'clock, was a success which showed considerable talent on the part of the musicians and excellent training, though the playing was somewhat mechanical throughout.

Norma Schoen was the outstanding figure of the program with her artistic violin playing and exquisite tone production. She played Handel's Largo, Romanza-Andalusia by Sarasate and a Spanish dance by Rehfeld. It is to be regretted that Miss Schoen's stage presence detracted a little from her music. She was recalled twice.

Vera Eastman opened the program with a prelude in D flat major by Whiting and prelude in D

Engineers Make Apology For "Kehl's Dive" Float

Dancing Master Will Not File Suit

The committee in charge of the Engineer's parade agreed with Prof. F. W. Kehl, dancing academy proprietor, to make the following public apology for the "Kehl's Dive" float in the parade last Saturday.

The float depicted a scene from the dancing academy. Several students danced on a truck which bore the sign "Kehl's Dive."

The Apology

"Last Saturday, April 21, the Engineers of the university had a public parade around the Capitol Square and on State street and one of the attractions was a truck upon which was painted in big, black letters the words "Kehl's Dive," and during the parade some of the participants performed exaggerated dances on the truck.

"The committee in charge of this parade now realize that a grave injustice to Professor F. W. Kehl who has conducted for a great many years a high class dancing academy in the city of Madison, has been done and that a wrong impression of his academy has been given to those who do not understand that the whole parade was a farce.

"We know that Prof. Kehl has always conducted a dancing academy that has always been above reproach and we regret very much that a wrong impression was created in this matter. We take this opportunity of making a public apology to Prof. Kehl, and request that the public take the parade as it was, as a caricature, and

HOUNDS CHASE HARES IN S. G. A. PARTY TODAY

A regular old fashioned hare and hounds chase, with the hares going wildly over all sorts of country around Madison and the hounds trailing after them with all of the speed possible and an attempt to catch them before they reach their hiding place—that's what S. G. A. district number three is having this afternoon for their second district party, under the direction of Loraine Moody '24.

All women in the district are to meet at Lathrop at 3 o'clock promptly. A slight charge will be made.

Specific directions have been sent to all of the women's houses in that district, which consists of W. Washington, W. Johnson, Orchard, Mound, Dayton, and N. and S. Mills streets.

The first district party, held March 10 in the form of a "Raggedy Anne" party was so well attended that the committee decided to have these social gatherings of the women within the district frequently.

minor by MacDowell. Miss Eastman's presence was delightful. She showed considerable talent but her playing was rather mechanical.

Unice Neckerman sang Puccini's Aria from La Boheme—Michiamano Mimi, with great beauty. Her delicate soprano voice showed to greatest advantage in the climax when she let it out to its fullest volume.

It was a delight to hear Martha Chandler's rich contralto voice again. She sang three numbers by Franz, Out of My Soul's Great Sorrow, Goodnight, and Storm Waves Shrieking.

The program closed with a pretentious two piano number, Saint Saens' Scherzo from Concert in D minor with Jeanet Breitenbach at the first piano and Frances Landor at the second piano.

ENGINEERS TRIP THE FANTASTIC TONIGHT

Tonight's the night for the engineers. Every son of St. Pat who has got two legs will be at the engineers' dance in his Sunday-best clothes, with his Sunday-best girl.

This three-hour lab class meets but once a year. It carries no credit, but the reports in the past have been excellent.

If you haven't danced all year, don't hesitate, but summon your courage and come to this nine o'clock and come prepared to stay awake.

"Daddy" Millar bought the first ticket and Gus Larson and "Otto" Kowalke, with their wives, are going to chaperon. The rest of the faculty are urged to follow their admirable example and attend the hop at the Candy Shop.

TURKEY TIRED OF WAR-CRANE

Situation in Near East is Subject of Speech at Convocation

The political and military situation in the Near East and the high regard which the people of that section have for the United States formed the subject matter for a talk by Dr. Charles R. Crane, former member of the Wilson commission to Turkey, at the all-university convocation in Music hall at 3:30 yesterday afternoon.

Turks Tired of War

Dr. Crane spoke on the various countries in the Near East in turn and explained their attitude toward each other.

That the Turks were tired of war four years ago and had a great desire to become reconciled to the western world was the opinion of Dr. Crane. Since the recent Greek uprising the spirit has changed considerably, he said.

He presented much material different from the general propaganda concerning the Near East which has been circulated in this country. This information was gathered in talks which Dr. Crane has had with leaders in Turkey, Syria and Egypt.

Guest of Paxson

Dr. Crane will be the guest of honor at the monthly dinner of a dining club today at the home of Prof. and Mrs. F. L. Paxson. While in Madison he is being entertained at the home of Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Bradley, College Hills.

AGRIC TRIANGLE TO HEAR ELSOM SUNDAY

Prof. J. C. Elsom of the physical education department will address members of Agric Triangle on the subject "Plays and Games for Play Days," at the meeting of Agric Triangle in the S. G. A. room of Lathrop hall at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Mr. Elsom has conducted a detailed study of community recreation problems, and has many new games to contribute to the collection of community recreational stunts now in the possession of the organization. Indoor games for rainy days will be particularly emphasized.

"Since the chances of rain during the play days are great in the spring, every member of Agric Triangle is urged to attend the meeting Sunday morning," declared Art Hagen '24, president of the club. Members will thus prepare themselves for any emergency that may arise during a play day.

Home Economics students and members of Prof. J. H. Kolbs rural life class are invited to the meeting. Eighteen members of the course in rural life have signed for play days that are to be conducted under the auspices of Agric Triangle.

PROM IN CAPITOL IS ASSURED BY ASSEMBLY VOTE

Defeat of Heck Bill is Decisive

By a decisive vote the assembly yesterday voted to permit the university students to hold the junior proms and military balls in the state capitol.

The vote, which was a surprise to many student leaders, completely overturned the stand of the senate which had favored the ban against use of the state capitol.

Students Influential

In the senate the Heck joint resolution was passed first without a roll call or discussion. Reconsideration was then asked, but failed by a narrow vote, 14-13. Sophomores then became interested as the fate of the 1924 Junior prom was thus actually endangered, and a decision was given by the judiciary committee Tuesday night to kill the resolution.

The shelving of the resolution is held to mean that the old status of petitioning the governor or the legislature for use of the state capitol for prom and military ball will be continued. Junior leaders next year will be required to petition Gov. John J. Blaine who is expected to grant it as previously.

Credit for legislative results, aside from the practically unanimous action of the assemblymen, is due to a group of students, as follows: Hawley Porter '25, Jack Harrington '25, Ralph Giles '25, Jack McGrath '25, George Fiedler '25, Llewellyn Cole '25 and Gordon Wanzer '24.

SENIOR TRYOUTS FOR CLASS PLAY CONTINUE TODAY

Senior play tryouts will be continued at 1 o'clock this afternoon in Lathrop parlors, according to an announcement made yesterday by Gertrude Johnson, coach for "The Road to Yesterday" to be presented this spring.

Approximately 20 candidates appeared at the tryouts yesterday and were registered for work on various parts of the cast of 14. There are eight men and six women in the cast.

All those who appeared yesterday are expected to appear at the meeting this afternoon, Sidney Thorsen '24, production manager, asserted. Any new applicants may appear at this time also, it was given out.

The tryouts for "The Road to Yesterday" are limited to seniors only. The play will be given as the 1923 class play in the amphitheater at the rear of Bascom hall on June 14 and 15. Many alumni, here for commencement, will attend as a part of class reunion activities.

The play is a fantasy in four acts and takes in two periods, 1923 and 1923. Each character plays two roles to fit in each period.

Union Board Name Contest Closes Tomorrow Evening

The contest which the Union board is sponsoring to get a new name for the dances, ends tomorrow night. A prize of $5 will be awarded to the best name suggested. The name may be one or two words in length, and the special blank published elsewhere in The Cardinal should be mailed to the Union board at the Union building or turned in to any of the members of the board.

UNDERCLASS ACTIVITIES

Several positions are open to underclassmen on The Cardinal business staff. Application may be made to Hawley Porter from 3:30 o'clock until 5:30 on Monday and Wednesday at The Cardinal business office.

APPRECIATE '23 PLEDGE TO UNION

Chairman of Membership Committee to Thank Class For Action

As a result of the action of the senior class in voting 100 per cent to join the Alumni association, at the first senior class meeting Wednesday in Music hall, Leslie F. Van Hagen, chairman of the membership committee of the association sends the following appreciation:

"Editor, The Cardinal:

"The action of the class of 1923 in voting to come into the Wisconsin Alumni association in a body, thus following the precedent of the classes of 1921 and 1922, has the warm appreciation of that association.

"The older graduates of Wisconsin welcome this immense class of sixteen hundred members to their ranks and rejoice in the feeling of confidence that comes from so great an infusion of new blood.

"If the association is to be a live and vital organization, if it is to work out its destiny effectively, if it is to be a power in educational affairs in this state, it will be, in a large measure, because of the constant addition of large numbers of active and intellectually-eager young men and women whose opinions and influence will shape the policies of the association.

"What 1923 has done is a fitting climax to an honorable record which the class has already established. Ten years from now the fact that '23 joined the ranks of organized alumni as a class will probably mean more to its members than any other one thing that the class did. It is a fine action that is most sincerely appreciated by all who have the interests of Wisconsin deeply at heart."

LESLIE F. VAN HAGEN.
Chairman, Membership Committee.

ence on a regular board committee, one sophomore to hold office for the three years."

Gives Proposed Ruling

As amended by the referendum the article will read "Each spring there shall be elected by the qualified male electors of the respective classes, two sophomores and two juniors upon nomination by written petition of not less than 50 qualified electors of the respective classes, these men to hold office for the succeeding two and one years respectively. Before October 25 of each school year there shall be elected by the qualified male electors of the sophomore class one sophomore to hold office for three years. Election of the above members to take place in the manner provided in article III of this constitution."

The amendment concerning the election of graduate members to the Student senate would change the article which now reads "Members of the Student senate shall be chosen as follows:...and one graduate member of the student body, who shall not be a member of the faculty, to be chosen, by general vote of the qualified male electors."

WOMEN'S CONVO CHANGES RULE ON MEMBERSHIP

(Special to The Cardinal)

NORMAN, Okla., April 27—Women journalists eminent in their city or state may now be elected to associate membership in Theta Sigma Phi, women's honorary and professional journalism fraternity, according to a provision made by the national convention meeting here yesterday.

Sophie Kerr Underwood, well known novelist, in addressing the students at the convention said, "Your mind, only a tool, must be trained like any other tool. College is worth while only if it teaches one how to handle his mind. Education today is the acquirement of mental habits. Recognize your own limitations, but not too fully."

Ruth Half, a critic from New York, also addressed the meeting. Twenty-six colleges were represented at the convention.

The Matrix, the fraternity magazine, is to be published oftener, and its circulation is to be open to all women journalists, as well as to the members of Theta Sigma Phi.

BIG TEN PACE MAKERS CLASH IN BIG GAMES

Results to Show Team Strength

GAMES TODAY

Northwestern at Minnesota
Wisconsin at Michigan.
Illinois at Ohio State
Indiana at Iowa.

Results on Conference baseball diamonds today will give some definite dope on comparative strengths of the various teams. One of the teams tied for first place with no defeats will have to drop into lower society when Wisconsin and Michigan play.

The style setting Illini go into action against Ohio State at Columbus and are heavy favorites. But greater upsets have occurred than the possibility of Ohio winning.

Ohio lost to Michigan at Ann Arbor, but by only one score. Their game tomorrow is on their home grounds and Coach St. John has his team primed for the contest.

Illinois Has Good Prospects

Illinois is out for her third baseball championship this year with brilliant prospects. Included in their string of victories so far this spring are Butler, Iowa, Notre Dame and Purdue twice.

Chicago was figured rather strong but has been going bad. They won their first contest from Northwestern and then allowed both Iowa and Northwestern to walk off on the long end of some hard defeats. Chicago may recuperate sufficiently to keep up in the front ranks of the Big Ten.

Michigan is ranked high by most critics for a good chance at the pennant. The Wolverines made a successful southern trip and opened their conference schedule with a close victory over Ohio state.

Purdue is Weak Sister

They have also won from a number of minor schools in their territory. In their last game they defeated the Michigan State normal nine 11 to 0.

Four games have been dropped by the Purdue aggregation already. Illinois gave them their two conference whippings, and Butler and Notre Dame each took a game from them. At present the Boiler-makers look to be one of the weakest of the weak sisters as far as baseball is concerned.

The much touted Indiana team showed up in mighty poor Conference style against Wisconsin. The Hoosiers have some good ball players including two high power pitchers. If they overcome their faulty fielding they should stand out toward the front, for they have batted well in all contests.

Iowa Out For Revenge

Iowa is tied with Indiana in the 500 per cent column which makes their game today a crucial one. The Hawkeyes have the advantage of playing at home and they will not likely forget that but for Indiana they would have had a perfect basketball record and an undisputed right to the conference championship in the season just ended.

Nothing is known of the ability of the Minnesota nine which opens its schedule at home with Northwestern this afternoon. If the Gophers lose they will be slated for a berth down near the bottom of the stack while if they win they have a start and a little more.

SMALL SCORES MADE IN MID-WEEK GAMES

Baseball games played Thursday in the inter-fraternity league were characterized by small scores with the exception of the Deke-Delta Tau Delta game which resulted in victory for the Dekes by a 6 to 1 score.

The Phi Kappa Psi nine took a close contest from Phi Delta Theta by a 7 to 6 score.

The Phi Kappas lost a heart-breaker to the Phi Gams by a 7 to 5 count.

LA CROSSE STUDENTS

A picnic for all former La Crosse Normal school students will be held Sunday evening May 6. All who plan to go call Mr. O. O. White at the University club by Sunday, April 29.

COACH BEGINS KICKING WORK

Coach Jack Ryan devoted most of the time yesterday afternoon in developing kickers. The coach personally supervised the work of the men in kicking the pigskin. Most of them are green at the work of booting the 'va' but the method that the coach used ought to develop some good men.

A few more men report each day so that if the season lasts long enough there will be enough men out to have a good practice. Marty Below turned out in a suit yesterday and got in some good practice. Several others of last year's varsity are putting in an appearance now.

Next week sometime the coach intends to start the men out on some plays so that from time to time they can have a good scrimmage. All the men who haven't showed up so far because of the monotonous work will have a chance to come out and have some real football.

Tom Nichols, center on last year's varsity team, was out in a suit and worked with the linemen for a short time. He can do some work in the absence of Jimmy Brader who has acted as assistant coach last year.

GREEN MEN ON GOPHER SQUAD

Coach Watrous Will Make Selections From Heavy Hitters

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 27.—Batting ability is going to determine the final selections for the University of Minnesota's 1923 ball team, Coach L. R. Watrous has announced.

With a green squad selection of men on the basis of their performances in the field is more or less a matter of toss-up, he declares. The men who can hammer out hits with the willow will be the selection for the nine.

Minnesota has dropped ragged exhibitions against Hamline and St. Olaf. She will face Northwestern at Northrop field Saturday in the first conference game of the season.

Both of the pre-season defeats came under hampering field conditions, a temporary diamond being used for the Hamline game, while St. Olaf was played after a rain storm.

Coach Watrous has pursued the policy of using as many men as possible and giving all a thorough tryout in his search for the best material.

TO BROADCAST DRAKE RELAY RESULTS TODAY

DES MOINES, Ia., April 26.—Track and field fans who are so unfortunate as not to be able to attend the 14th annual Drake relay meet, at the Stadium Saturday can tune in their radio sets and still get the results and some of the real thrills of the western athletic classic.

The Des Moines Kiwanis club, co-operating with the Thomas Electric company and the Register-Tribune will broadcast the results of the meet and fans who have their radio sets tuned in will know of the outcome of various events just as soon as they are over.

Several large magnavox instruments will be scattered about the Stadium and results of the various events will be announced to the fans as soon as the winners are known.

Theodore Carty, of Chicago, who has had experience at big athletic events, and Robert L. Finch, alumini secretary of Drake, will be in charge of the radio announcing at the stadium.

INTER-COLLEGE BASEBALL

The Commerce-Agric baseball game has been postponed from this afternoon until next week. Further notice will be given.

DOLPHIN PRACTICE

Compulsory practice for Dolphin exhibition between 10 and 12 o'clock this morning in the Lathrop pool. Those absent without excuse may not be in the exhibition.

NET MEN MEET HAWKEYES HERE THIS AFTERNOON

Tredwell and Aagesen Play Doubles

Badger net men will raise the curtain on the 1923 tennis season on the Varsity courts this afternoon when they encounter the strong Iowa tennis team in the first conference competition of the season for both teams.

After a week of strenuous work, Coach Linden made his final choices of men yesterday afternoon and announced the lineup for the Iowa meet. Captain Tredwell, Nick Aagesen, Art Moulding and George Bennett are the men who will provide the competition for the Hawks.

Linden Announces Lineup

Tredwell and Aagesen will play together in the doubles match and are sure to provide ample opposition to the best Iowa can offer. Both men are former varsity "W" men and have conference records.

Moulding and Bennett will play together as third and fourth men and are certain to hold up their end of the work creditably.

While the Iowa lineup has not yet been received, it is expected that the Hawks' greatest strength will lie in the prowess of Hector Janse and Ted Swenson, well-known net men who are reported to be pillars in the Iowa squad.

Courts in Good Condition

Both men went through the state tourney in a successful manner and will come to Madison today in excellent condition after long weeks of practice.

The varsity courts on University avenue and Breese Terrace are in fair condition considering the short time that the weather man has allowed to work on them. They are fast and there is just enough moisture in them to keep down the dust.

The match today will begin at 2:30 p.m.

Ohio State to Have Crew Course on Olentangy River

Ohio State university will have a rowing course on the Olentangy river for its crew as a part of the plans for the new stadium at Columbus.

Toronto Soccer Team to Play Pennsylvania Next Fall

BADGERS FAIL TO QUALIFY

(Special to The Cardinal)
DES MOINES, Ia., April 27—Over-eagerness cost Wisconsin her chances for places in the special events at the Drake Relays, Des Moines, Ia., yesterday when all three Wisconsin men competing for honors failed to qualify in preliminary trials.

Captain Spetz was set back twice for jumping the gun in the 100 yard dash and under the handicap he failed to qualify for further competition. Newell, Badger hurdling ace, was also penalized twice for starting early and he failed to make the required speed to be given another chance today.

Donohue failed to qualify for further competition in the high jump.

TRACK MEN AT RELAYS TODAY

Outdoor Practice and Penn Relays Help Badgers' Chances

The stage is set in the natural stadium at Des Moines, Ia., today for the Drake Relays, one of the greatest track and field events in the country, where Badger athletes will pit their strength against that of the finest material in the west and middle west.

The cream of Wisconsin's track squad, 12 men, left Madison Thursday for the great event and, after taking a short workout at Des Moines yesterday afternoon, are ready to do their stuff in the face of perhaps the strongest opposition they will have to encounter during the entire season.

Penn Relays Help Badgers

Because of the rather poor showing the Badgers made during the indoor season, Wisconsin is handed little encouragement by sport fans, but after two weeks of hard outdoor practice in which his men have improved materially, Coach Tom Jones feels that his chances are good for places in the meet this afternoon.

The fact that the annual Penn Relays are being held in the East today will make considerable difference in Wisconsin's chances for success at Drake. Because the Badgers have no outstanding stars this year, Jones decided against sending any representatives to Philadelphia and, as a consequence, his best men are at Des Moines.

Many opposing teams, on the other hand, are crippled by the loss of one or two speedsters who have been chosen to go East while a second rate team goes to the Drake runs.

(Special to The Cardinal)
CHICAGO, Ill., April 27—Playing an errorless game, Wisconsin defeated Chicago 6 to 4 here this afternoon.

The Badgers were without their captain, Rollie Williams, who sprained an ankle in a practice game Wednesday.

The game was close and well played by both teams. Wisconsin was outhit but made their five hits count, and they took advantage of the five Chicago errors.

Pickford Blow in 8th

Pickford hurled good ball for the winners until the eighth inning when Yardley hit a circuit clout with one man on the bases. Radke was then sent in as relief man.

By this victory Wisconsin remains in the perfect percentage column along with Michigan and Illinois. Wisconsin and Michigan play at Ann Arbor Saturday.

PUBLIC OPINION AND BETTER HUMOR

Following on the heels of the Engineers' Annual parade last Saturday has come a storm of varied student opinion, precipitated in part by a Cardinal editorial on Tuesday titled "By Their Works...." and criticizing parts of the parade for vulgarity displayed.

The Cardinal has received a flood of communications during the week, some denouncing and an equal number of others applauding the editorial stand. Early in the week a certain active group of indignant engineers threatened a petition asking for the withdrawal of the writer of the editorial from The Cardinal staff.

Events took an unexpected turn Thursday with the announcement that friends of Professor Kehl, dancing master, were considering libel action against the engineer perpetrators of the Kehl float in the parade. Yesterday the committee in charge of the parade responded and almost outdid themselves in sportsmanship to apologize for the character of the Kehl float. The committee is to be complimented on its immediate and frank reply which will avoid further unpleasantness.

Charges of puritanism and prudishness have been hurled with frequency at The Cardinal this week. Opinions differ greatly as to what constitutes prudishness and as to what constitutes vulgarity. The Cardinal within its right expressed one of those opinions editorially after many students had testified to the same views. The critical stand has since readily been substantiated by a large proportion of university people.

The chief criticism directed at the editorial, however, has been in the general tone that people in glass houses shouldn't throw stones, and direct censorious reference has been made to The Cardinal skyrocket column.

In the present imbroglio of conflicting views, then, one thing is certain; if public opinion has been aroused to the place where it demands a better class of humor from the skyrocket column, the Octopus, and the Engineers' parade, the editorial has served its purpose.

If that public opinion has not been aroused sufficiently and if what our communication writers say is only sham to soothe the hurts of toes that have been tread upon, then the editorial does not achieve its end.

The skyrocket column is a contribution column. The Octopus is a contribution magazine. If they are to be taken as the criticism of the best campus humor and the standard by which Engineers justify their parades, then those who object to the present status of campus humor and who would raise its standard can do so by contributing their criticisms.

Ten students write virtually all the Octopus copy each month. Less than that contribute to the skyrocket column each week. Under such circumstances it is mentally impossible to produce consistently creditable humor.

Public opinion that is strong enough to be more than opinion,—strong enough to act,—can achieve a better campus humor, can achieve it by showing itself in humorous print.

TRADITION'S TRAGEDY
Northwestern grieves today over a campus tragedy, sad and bitter, just as Wisconsin a few years ago grieved at the time of the Jandorf catastrophe when the observation of a cherished school tradition brought with it the tragic result of a man's death.

Wisconsin sympathizes with its sister university at this time of trouble, for Wisconsin knows by bitter experience what the comment and criticism of the press and of the nation will be. College men, "cold-blooded and with a wanton disregard for human life" will be traduced and defamed throughout the land for their so-called petty freshman and sophomore squabbles; their destructive traditions, and their rowdyisms.

Saner men will realize, however, that all the corners of life have their tragedies as well as their joys, and that an accident such as that at Northwestern, tragic though it be, is no more indicative of a guilty and evil tradition than is the injuring of a baseball player the proof of a brutal sport.

Colleges have long had traditions and one of the most cherished and universal is that of the perpetual feud between the first and second year classes. Out of this tradition has arisen much of what is best in college life fiction today. What would Tom Brown be without the hazing episodes, so full of contest and strife, yet crammed with good humor and fun?

That is the spirit of all college traditions,—good humor and fun. The element of battle which is present merely gives it zest and offers the red-blooded life to the game which all are playing. Rivalry, competition,—these will ever be the instigators of achievement and activity.

It is to be hoped that a broad view of the situation will be taken by the authorities at Northwestern. The actions of some few of the men implicated in the fracas are perhaps inexcusable. The knowledge, however, that they are in a great part responsible for the death and injury of their friends will be for them sufficient, indeed, too great a punishment.

The Northwestern episode, however, does recall vividly the picture of events at Cap night some years ago.

Freshmen this year have voluntarily been wearing their new style caps. It will not be long before the annual and traditional Cap night with the ceremonial bonfire and parade will take place.

The Northwestern tragedy has thrown out a reminder and a warning. It is hoped that the freshmen and sophomores this year will remember that other Cap night and the events of yesterday and will have a celebration, glorious and traditional, but sane.

Editor's Say—

AN INTIMATE LITERARY ACQUAINTANCE
(Christian Science Monitor)

It is well to have some system about our reading. Not too much, of course, so that the piquancy of the adventure is dulled; but just enough to make for a rounded approach to a subject. Often we drift into a haphazard course, oblivious to any relation between one book and another. Why scatter our fire, one day dallying over a volume of Victorian memories, the next turning to a work of Scandinavian fiction, then permitting the author of one of the popular "outlines" to send us hurtling, like tailless comets, through the ages? This is like attempting, on a first hurried trip abroad, to familiarize ourselves with all the galleries of Europe; and it is, ultimately, no more satisfying. If only we will allow them, books will arrange themselves in a logical sequence.

Why do we read? Is it because some book is at the moment a best seller, or because all our friends are reading it, or even because we see it everywhere advertised? Rather, we do it because we believe that a certain book contains something for us, something, perhaps, which none of our friends crave. Possibly we have developed a flair for the Victorian age, which grips us with its peculiar and subtle fascination. Then why not read the Victorians, for a considerable period? In the end there would be something to show for our pains, something enduring. And it is hardly necessary to say that there need be no repetition, no monotony, even if we restrict ourselves to recent contributions to an understanding of this subject.

Ours is an age of specialization. In all walks of life, things have become so complicated, so bewilderingly interwoven, that we are most of us forced to seize hold upon some slight silken cord and persistently follow its lead through the green alleys of the labyrinth.

"I hear your roommate has a baby sax?"

"Yeh, and it'll be a orphan soon."

"Waiter, there are just nine things that I want."

"Yessir, and what are they?"

"Hash."

HERE'S A REGENTLEMAN
Ever listen in on a session of the Regents?

"Too many birds and squirrels and small wild creatures are killed around here," says one. "Some action should be taken to protect the wild life in Madison."

"That depends," says another, "on the kind of 'wild life' you intend to protect."

HIP, HIP

Thompson: You say he's a bosom friend, eh?

McGrath: More than that—he's a hip friend.

Keep your BACK TO THE NURSERY

One day a little Blue Boy went through a farm at sixty per. He blew his horn so loud a chicken died of fright.

When the little Blue Boy came back the farmer was waiting with a shotgun.

"Come blow your horn," he said.

But the little boy blew.

College discussions come and go, but the Frosh are always neutral. They ought to be—they just came out of high. * * *

YOU'LL HAFTA PARDON THIS ONE—SPRING AFFECTS THE BEST OF US THIS WAY.

I wandered lonely as a Frosh That's lost in Madison's Seven Hills When all at once I realized A host, a crowd, of Jacks and Jills;

Along the Drive, upon the green Careless of seeing or being seen.

As transient as the stars that shine And twinkle on the Silver Sheet, They stretch their never-changing line

To cover everyone they meet; A thousand meanings in each glance; Each single word fraught with romance.

Canoes may hug the shore; but they Outdo that romance easily. Who cares who looks or what he sees

In such enthralled company? I gazed and gazed, but could not bring

One blush to cheeks so flushed with Spring.

And when my lecture's dull I sit

And watch the girl across the aisle, With jealous eye to catch one look From those dark eyes, one Kewpie smile;

And then my heart forgets its blues

And dances with the two-and-twins.

BY THEIR WORKS YE SHALL KNOW THEM

Editor, The Cardinal:

"By their works ye shall know them," scores again for the engineers. As everyone knows, we are the roughnecks who have no culture, but who have ambition, and we are ambitious enough to accept culture when it is put before us. But can not the rest of the school give us culture?

We have read the Octopus until we are afraid to speak at the dinner table. One of us did once, and the gang got sick. The Octopus, you know, is the cleanest campus humor magazine, but that isn't saying how dirty it is. As to suggestion, we poor engineers cannot hold a candle to some skyrockets.

The shoe that fits too well always hurts, and the owner usually sings out his misery. Our parade seems to have awakened some clever mud-slinger to his own failings. We hope we have. Engineers accept facts only; you must show us concretely, and by Seven and one Saints you have—and we have shown you. We have mirrored the mud of Wisconsin, or did you know there was any?

CALCULUS AND COMPANY.

INCONSISTENCY

Editor, The Cardinal:

Your so-called "editorials" in Tuesday's Cardinal, entitled "By Their Works," seems to me to be just a trifle puerile, if not asinine. After all, even some of the men of other colleges are of more mentality than the average two-year-old. Perhaps two or three of the floats were not of the sort to satisfy the Puritans here, but why condemn the entire school and parade for this reason?

Moreover, this attitude on the part of The Cardinal, as evidenced by this editorial, is neither sincere nor consistent, for a paper which stands so staunchly for purity of thought, speech and action, is belying this stand by permitting the sort of obscenities which are perpetrated in the Skyrocket column daily. Read the column fairly and remember that the effects of the parade come only once a year while we are exposed to the Skyrocket "humor" daily. Woe to Wisconsin morals!

B. A. WEIMER '24.

FOR GOOD HUMOR

Editor, The Cardinal:

No more hopeful tendency has made itself manifest in the editorial policy of The Daily Cardinal than that which was inaugurated in these columns last Tuesday. The editorial entitled "By Their Works," was indeed apropos. It was a long-felt want.

The sooner a campaign is started to abolish some of the vulgarity which is publicly "pulled off" on the streets and campus in the name of university functions, the sooner may we adopt a typically American attitude in these respects.

Far from being merely prudish or puritanical, it will tend to make more wholesome the standards of student amusement and humor here. Our greatest humorists, from Mark Twain to Ring Lardner, have subscribed their names only to clean, up-lifting, yet highly ridiculous fun.

But on the other hand, and as the aforementioned editorial plainly sets forth, the spectacle which was criticized was mainly good. Indeed, in some respects it was very clever, not to say highly satisfying even to our aesthetic sense.

Nevertheless, the affair as a whole becomes analogous to a chain which is no stronger than its weakest link. It is the weak link which is retained in the mind simply because of its unfitness and its highly unexpected appearance. It is hoped that the next such chain which the engineers forge will call forth the hearty cooperation of each for one high purpose rather than that they work to cross purposes.

NORTHWESTERN FRESHMAN IS KILLED IN CLASS CONFLICT

Tragedy Ends Search For Stolen Man

One freshman of Northwestern university was killed yesterday and another perhaps fatally injured in an automobile accident resulting from a varsity class war. Five others were seriously hurt.

Louis Aubre, Chicago, was killed and Ralph Williams, Harley, Ky., freshman, was perhaps fatally wounded in the collision with the car of Mrs. A. D. Winslow, who was returning from the theater with two friends. The freshmen it is stated were speeding along Sheridan road in Wilmette in search of a freshman kidnapped Thursday by sophomores.

The freshman car had been trying to evade a carload of sophomores who would prevent them from the rescue. The two freshmen were riding on the running board of the car.

The class war started in 1921 with the abduction of several freshmen by sophomores. Each year the antagonism has grown worse until last year one student was kidnapped from the campus and never again heard from.

Richard Howell, holder of several world's swimming records, was kidnapped Friday as he appeared in front of his fraternity house, and whisked away into Wisconsin. Scores of students participated in an all-night search for him.

FRENCH AUTHOR WRITES LETTER ABOUT HIS PLAY

Dyspeptics should not see the French play, "Les Plaisirs du Hesard", according to M. Rene Benjamin, the author. Mlle. M. Treille, of the French department, who is coaching the play, recently received a letter from M. Benjamin in which he talks about his play. He says.

"As for my play, nothing can please me more than to have it acted by young people. I wanted to write a satirical comedy, a satire without bitterness, a play of good humor from the first to the last word.

"It must be played with cheerfulness and young people without experience, but who have 'fire' succeed often better than professional actors.

Above all tell them to act naturally, without affectation, to be themselves, and let fancy be their guide.

"And do not invite to the play people who have dyspepsia, for they would not understand either my hero or his adventures.

"I did not wish to write a 'piece a these', Heaven forbid that I ever do that, I did not attack the university or the judges, a great word, somewhat stupid, used by some critics.

"I enjoyed myself, nothing more. I was perhaps somewhat disrespectful, but it is my fate. I love to make fun of society and it is worth the trouble."

"Les Plaisirs du Hesard" will be presented Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in Lathrop parlors.

urged the abandonment of the 10-day to 2 week "razzing" period of initiation, because of the demoralization of the work of the students.

TRACK MEN RUN AT

Wisconsin's four-mile relay team, composed of Schneider, Rossmeissel, Bergstesser and Sherman, has an outside chance to place with the three high teams. Illinois, winner of the Kansas four-mile run a week ago, is doped to duplicate its performance, but there will be worthy competition in the form of a quartet of speedsters from Michigan as well as one from the Kansas Aggies school.

Nebraska and Ames are expected to provide the thrills in the two-mile run with Wisconsin as a possible winner. The Badger quartet finished third at the Kansas runs a week ago and they promise a better showing at Des Moines.

Kansas is expected to feature the shorter relays with fast quartets in the 440 yards, 880 yards, and the mile runs. The Jayhawkers will feel the loss, however, of Norton, star speedster, who has gone East to take part in the Penn Relays.

Captain Spetz will have to work with fast company when he enters the sprint special events. He will fight it out against such stars as Ayres, of Illinois, Erwin, of Kansas Aggies, Tykle, of Purdue, McNutt, of Marquette, and Noble, of Nebraska.

Among the hurdlers of note with whom Newell, Badger barrier man will compete, are Crawford, of Iowa, Towler, of Minnesota, and Kipp of Haskell. The fact that Hubbard, Michigan's dark-skinned track ace, is at the Penn Relays causes Badger stock in the hurdles to rise many points.

Donohue, Badger high jumper, should place with the first three with his ability to clear the bar at something over 6 feet 1 inch. His greatest worries will be in the form of Poor of Kansas, and McElvane of Michigan.

NEWSTheater Music
Should Follow
Trend of Show

By CHATTY

Have you often wondered why it was that in some theaters the organists played pieces which seemed to work well with the picture that was being shown while in others the music seemed to have been chosen simply at random with no rhyme or reason?

According to Mrs. L. Lynn, the organist for the Strand theater, the first case seems to be more frequent the farther west one goes and the latter the farther east one goes. The reason for this she says, is that the moving picture houses in the east depend more upon orchestras than they do on the organ and that the cue sheets which are sent with the pictures are made up for orchestras.

"And the cue sheets are worse than nothing," Mrs. Lynn declared. "I would rather play for a picture picking suitable pieces as the film progressed than follow the cue sheets. Since they are made up for orchestras they do not stick as closely to the theme of the picture as they should."

"TURN TO THE RIGHT"
COMES TO THE ORPH

There is a laugh in every line and a thrill or tear in every five in "Turn To The Right," the comedy which comes to the Orpheum all next week starting tomorrow and presented by the Dorothy La Vern Stock Company.

It abounds in sweet sentiment and honest heart appeal. The authors' treatment of a deeply spiritual theme is so ingenious in its adroit and contrasting situations as to give the play a niche with "Twin Beds," "Fair and Warmer," and other swift-moving comedies. All of which is a grossly inadequate outline of the action of this consumately clever play.

The wittiness of the lines, the more than humor of the situations, the eternal motherliness of its golden-hearted Mother Bascom, the refreshing winsomeness of the country lasses, the breezy crookedness of the two jolly crooks, transformed by the alchemy of their new environment into real business men "on the level"—all this must be seen, not described.

"If the managers of a western theater stepped into a Chicago house and heard some of the things that were being played—Faust for a Chinese film, Italian opera for a Spanish film or an overture for a slap-stick comedy scene, they would be astonished.

"What I try to do is to fit the music to the film as nearly as possible. In order to do this one must have an immense music store in his head. But it is necessary in order to keep in the spirit of the thing."

The Strand was entertaining the crippled kiddies of the Bradley Memorial hospital at "The Bright Shawl" yesterday afternoon. There was a score or more of youngsters at the theater all of them with legs bandaged or braced.

PROFESSOR MASON

RECEIVES HIGH HONOR

The National Academy of Sciences has just announced the election to membership of Prof. Max Mason, research professor of mathematical physics of the university an honor that comes to only the outstanding leaders among men of science. The election recognizes Professor Mason's discoveries and researches in the field of physics. Chief among these was his invention of a submarine detector that played a large part in the World War. Much of his other work, which is less known to the public, is looked upon by scientists of great importance.

PREVENT FIRES SAYS FORESTER

Harry D. Liemann Gives Radio Lecture From University Station

Carelessness is responsible for eight per cent of the forest fires in the United States.

So said Harry D. Tiemann, president of the local section of the Society of American Foresters, in a radio talk at the university station Thursday night.

"You wouldn't smoke a cigarette in a powder factory," said Mr. Tiemann, "but smoking in our dwindling forest areas may do even greater harm. The woods are to use and to enjoy but we must use them properly so that generations after us may also enjoy them. Camp fires should be carefully built and totally extinguished after they have served their usefulness because a rising wind may fan a smoldering mass into sweeping flames."

"This week has been set aside by the President of the United States as Forest Protection week. There are today 81,000,000 acres in the United States of devastated unproductive waste land, an area more than twice the size of Wisconsin, which forest fires have caused."

"For the last ten years we have been burning up the forests at the rate of 7,000,000 acres a year. In 1921 12,000,000 acres were burned over. During the five years from 1916 to 1921 an area of 56,500,000 acres, an area larger than that of the New England states was burned."

"We need the forests today more than ever and it is up to us to keep our nation great by preserving what still remains of the forests. To prevent forest fires it requires constant vigilance and persistent preaching and practicing of the gospel of carefulness."

GOODNIGHT WILL OPEN THE WEEK'S RADIO SCHEDULE

U. S.-China Union Would Save World, Says Hung

"Europe is the world of yesterday and the Pacific is the world of tomorrow," said Dr. William Hung, Chinese scholar who addressed the Chicago Rotary club on the union of the United States and China to save the world.

"If America and China should choose to unite on certain common ideas of humanity, these two would be quite sufficient to bring about a new understanding in which there would not be any international or inter-racial hatred," he said.

Dr. Hung is a graduate of three American universities and professor of philosophy at Pekin.

ENGLISH MAJORS HEAR LEONARD

New Educational Requirements For Graduate Teachers is Announced

English majors must have 15 instead of 12 hours of education courses, beginning with next June, in order to fulfill state requirements and to secure a life certificate to teach, it was announced at a meeting in Bascom hall yesterday.

For a first license they may have a minimum of six hours in education courses and may make up the balance later. The university teachers certificate requirement has been 15 hours in education since 1919.

The departmental requirements are English 90 and 91 for major and 90 for minors. To graduate, majors must either take a grammar examination or English 123.

Prof. Sterling A. Leonard who addressed the meeting, stressed the importance of education A, which is a course in actual experience of English teaching.

English majors who do not intend to teach need take no education courses, Professor Leonard explained.

LABORATORY TO TEST WOOD FROM TUTS TOMB

Samples of wood taken from King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb may be sent to the Forest Products laboratory here.

The request for these specimens will probably be forwarded by the National Research Council to America's representative in England.

The wood is wanted to determine what effect extreme age may have upon the physical and mechanical properties, and upon the glue and durability of the different species.

RADIO STATION TO SEND CODE

The University of Wisconsin radio station, W. H. A. in response to numerous letters from radio fans through the state, is broadcasting a series of instructions on the receiving of radio telegraphy.

These lessons are broadcasted every Saturday from 12:20 to 1:00. They will consist in sending out the regular code, and an explanation on the radio telephone.

The fundamental lessons will be followed by simple messages that are commonly used by the commercial companies. It is hoped that with these lessons the fans will be able to pick up regular messages by the time the course is finished. Hansen concluded.

determine the species of wood as an indication of the forest flora for that period, and the relative durability of the different species.
