ARTIST CHARMS EAGER CROWDS WITH SIMPLICITY

Flutist and Pianist Assist

Approximately 3,600 students and townspeople gathered at the university stock pavilion last evening at 8:15 o'clock to hear Mlle. Galli Curci, coloratura soprano. Manuel Berenguer, flutist, and Homer Samuels, pianist, were the assisting artists.

Simplicity of style marked the concert; the songs most artificial and most involved technically were sung in a simple, sincere manner. The artists' delight in her work was evident throughout the entire two-hour program. She entered joyfully, wholeheartedly into the pieces, no matter of what type—Italian, French, Mexican, Negro, English, and transmitted the true understanding of the numbers to her audience.

Notes are Pure

Mlle. Galli Curci's artistic results, which were of the highest, were achieved through the splendid quality of tone, remarkable pitch shading, and purity of notes.

A widely varied program was given during the evening. The pieces of her native country together with compositions of France and Spain were included in the first group. English selections, numbering four, were offered in the second group of songs, while several flute numbers, well given, added to the informality of the performance.

Voice is Smooth

It is somewhat difficult to pick out the outstanding numbers, so delightful, was the whole concert. The amazing vocal powers of Mlle. Curci perhaps were best displayed in "Hymn to the Sun, from Le Coq d'Or" by Rimsky-Korsakoff. The smoothness of her voice, the wide range always clear "as a bell" were noticed especially.

In direct contrast were the two numbers, "Crepuscule," "Twilight," by Massenet and "Clavelitos," by Valverde. "Twilight," slow and gradually fading, was quite an effective as the saucy Spanish composition.

Who has not heard and delighted in the piece, "The Wren," with the flute accompaniment on the victrola? The original singing was by far more beautiful, and the exquisite blending of the voice of the artist and the music of the flute was remarkable, to say the least. Her voice was even clearer than the flute.

"Dry be that Tear" by Dobson, "Pierrot" by Samuels and "A Little Prayer" by Russell, the English (Continued on page 7)

TO GIVE HORSE SHOW TOMORROW AFTERNOON AT 4

Authorities of the military department decided last night to hold the Horse Show Wednesday on the lower campus. Rain caused a postponement of the affair last Saturday.

On account of the many activities of the week, it was thought best hold the show during the week so that it would not conflict. The events will be run off tomorrow just as they were to have been on Saturday.

"It is unfortunate that the rain spoiled our plans Saturday," Paul K. Robertson '24, chairman of the event said yesterday. "Several hundred people had gathered for the event before the rain began to fall. We expect to see nearly as many out tomorrow afternoon as we would have had Saturday. A week-end afternoon would have been better for it, but tomorrow seems to be the only available date."

Nothing will be omitted from the program tomorrow. All of the events will be run off according to the entries and the prizes will be awarded at the time. The first events will begin about 4 o'clock.

"PANDORA'S BOX" FEATURES DRAMA

With a mass of green boughs as a background for the elaborate costumes, which more than 30 members of Miss Margaret H. Doubler's classes in dancing will wear, the annual dance drama will be presented in the open air theater Friday at 8:15.

"Pandora's Box," the story of how evil came into the world, and "The Six Who Passed While the Lentils Boil," a play by Stuart Walker, will constitute the two drama parts of the program.

"The Six Who Passed While the Lentils Boil" is a light fantastic comedy.

Tickets for the dance drama will be $1 or 75 cents on sale at Smith's music store.

The definite line of march for the 1923 senior swingout was announced yesterday by Maurine Hall '24, chairman of the class processions.

The senior women are to meet on the walk by North hall and South hall, half on each side of the upper campus.

Juniors will meet behind Bascom hall to arrange the line up for the daisy chain.

Sophomores will meet on the walk by North hall, behind the senior women.

Freshmen will meet on the walk by South hall, behind the senior women there.

The juniors, in white, will begin the march when they come from behind Bascom hall in two lines, carrying the daisy chains. They will come down the upper campus and stop on reaching the lower arch.

Following them will come seniors in pairs from the two sides, meeting before going through the arch and coming up in fours.

Varsity Night

Today's Comment on Wisconsin's Newest and Biggest Tradition

Editor, The Cardinal:

As chairman of the Interscholastic weekend, I believe that Varsity night will do as much if not more than anything else to instill into the minds of the high school students who will be here as our guests a bit of true Wisconsin spirit. It will also be an opportunity for the student body to give them a glimpse of a worthwhile tradition. We, the student body, are the hosts of these athletes and their friends. We must take care of them and entertain them while they are here. We must inspire enough of the Wisconsin spirit and enthusiasm in them to make them want to come here for their higher education. I believe that Varsity night, if carried out as planned with the full cooperation of the entire university will make a bigger, broader and deeper impression than anything else that could be done. Let's show them a true Wisconsin tradition.

Coupled with the presentation of the "W"s and the Conference medal, and with the varsity sing and the huge bonfire, this fitting ceremony for the welcome of the freshmen into university fellowship by the upperclassmen, seems a necessary and grand tradition.

Varsity night has the full cooperation of the interscholastic committee. We feel that it will leave in the minds of the 700 visitors next weekend an impression, never to be forgotten, of a tradition worthy to be called truly Wisconsin. A phase of our duty to our school will be fulfilled if this tradition succeeds.

Upon the action of the underclassmen depends the success of Varsity night and with the cooperation of the entire university which it now has, I know it will be an event not only for this year, but for all future freshmen classes to look forward to.

The interscholastic committee will do all in its power to help make this a gala night—a night which will inspire all to sane enthusiasm and will advertise Wisconsin to our guests as an institution of learning in which loyalty and fellowship are the prime factors.

GORDON B. WANZER '24,
Chairman Interscholastic Day.

Profs. Lipari and Ortega to Conduct European Tour

Among the members of the Romance Languages department who will spend all or part of the summer abroad are Professor Zdanowicz, Professor and Mrs. Ernst, Mrs. McGillivray, Miss Dexter, Miss Johnson and Mlle. Pons. Miss Ruth Hurlbut will spend her honeymoon in Europe. Mr. Ortega will conduct a group in a tour of Spain and Professor Lipari one in Italy. The French Guild also plans a group tour abroad.

Heart of Galli Curci Warms To Many New Student Friends

The heart of the great Galli Curci literally overflowed with enthusiasm over the spirit of her audience in the Stock pavilion last night.

"Oh, I love the spirit of the students that showed in their repose tonight. This is the first time that I have sung here in Madison, but I want to come again."

Time after time the prima donna was recalled by the applause of the 3,600 charmed listeners that filled the auditorium.

According to Mademoiselle, they were no more charmed than she, and the notes of her famed "Home Sweet Home" expressed the appreciation that she felt for the response of her student audience. When at last she waved farewell everyone knew that the university had made another friend.

"I can feel the charm which is given to an audience by the presence of university students," she said. "There is such an atmosphere of culture and refinement that, is not found everywhere."

"I love your skyrockets, and I was not surprised when it greeted me, for I have heard it once before. Always I shall remember the greeting I received tonight from so many American young people."

The great singer spoke with an exquisite accent which was not noticeable in her songs.

"This auditorium is a beautiful place in which to sing. The acoustic properties are perfect. I found no difficulty in singing here, whatsoever," was her comment upon the building which the university was compelled to offer the beloved soprano.

SENIOR WOMEN HOLD BANQUET

Blue Dragon banquet for all senior women will be held at 5:30 o'clock Wednesday night in Lathrop parlors.

Elizabeth Kirk, president of Blue Dragon, will be toast mistress. Members of the class who will give toasts are Mildred Downie, Elabelle Capps, Katherine Perry and Reinette Douglas. Entertainment will be furnished by Wilma Trost, Marjiam Mosel, and Natallie Densmoore.

"We have sent over 300 tickets to various houses around the campus, and we are anxious for every senior woman to be present," said Olga Anderson, general chairman, yesterday. "Aside from the house sale there will be an open sale at University pharmacy and the S. C. A. office at Lathrop hall. Tickets are 75 cents," she added.

Plans for swing out and graduation will be discussed, as will also plans for class reunions and arrangements for keeping in touch with members of the clubs.

ST. JOHN'S WINS DRILL 'COMPET'

Guard Tastes Real Soldierly in Hike Through Drenching Rain

The president's guard was marked a close second to a picked company of the St. John's Military academy cadets in the drill competition held at Lafield Saturday afternoon. The drill was very evenly fought, but the St. John's group excelled on the manual of arms.

This was the first time any military organization from Wisconsin ever drilled against an outside group. Officials at St. John's also declare that the "compet" was the first in the history of their organization.

Heavy Rain

Delafield is not on a main railroad, which made it necessary for the Guard, consisting of 7 squads and 4 officers to leave the train at Nashota and hike the 3 miles to St. John's. The last 2 miles were traversed in a drenching rain, and the Guard arrived at the drill hall thoroughly soaked. Consequently uniforms were not in the best of condition, nor the men in a mood for their best exhibition.

St. John's is primarily a military school and every student receives at least two hours of drill each day. The President's Guard does not drill as a unit more than three times a week for special occasions and usually only once a week. Officers who have watched the Guard drill declared that it equals any similar R. O. T. C. unit in the West.

The "compet" consisted of the manual of arms, and the usual platoon movements. The drill was held inside, because of weather conditions in a hall so small as to allow only one platoon to drill at a time.

Expenses Are Shared

Expenses of the trip were shared equally by the Guard members and by St. John's. A special car was provided both ways by the Milwaukee railroad. The Guard left Madison at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and returned at 8:30 o'clock last night, spending over four hours in railroad travel in addition to the two hours occupied in going from the station to Delafield.

1925 BADGER EDITORIAL STAFF CONFERS TODAY

"Plans for the 1925 Badger have sufficiently matured so that we are ready to present them to the editorial staff," said E. G. Fulton, editor-in-chief, yesterday. "Therefore, we ask all who plan to work on the editorial staff to attend a meeting at the Union building, 752 Langdon street, at 4:30 this afternoon, in order that they may familiarize themselves with what we are planning for and how we are going about accomplishing it."

COMMENCEMENT RED BOOK WILL BE PUBLISHED

University Issues Full Program

The Commencement Red Book, giving the complete program for every day during commencement week, will leave the printer's some time the middle of next week, according to Mrs. S. C. Rath of the Administration department.

This small booklet, containing 12 pages of concrete information for the alumni, the graduating students, their relatives and friends, has been published by the university for 12 years.

Comes in Small Size

For the past several years this information has been compiled into a booklet two and a half by five inches, bound in a red cover for greater convenience. Formerly it was put out in the form of a large folder.

A copy is mailed to each graduating student from the registrar's office and additional copies will be available both at the registrar's office and the Alumni headquarters at Commencement time. There will be no charge of any kind for these booklets.

"Until three years ago a copy was sent to every alumni of the university, but as the number grew up to nearly 18,000 it became too expensive to keep up the custom," said Prof. Julius Olson, who is in charge of commencement arrangements.

Sent to Alumni

Small cards were sent out with notices from the Alumni headquarters three weeks ago with all of the commencement advance notices to all of the graduates of the university.

Alumni will be able to obtain the complete Red Book from the Alumni headquarters during commencement week.

"W" WEARERS AND ALUMNI TO HOLD DINNER TONIGHT

The "W" club, which is composed of all wearers of the "W", will hold a banquet at 6 o'clock tonight at the Women's building in honor of the men just voted in and those who will be graduated from school this year.

Many prominent alumni who made athletic records while in school will be present to add pep to the meeting, which will be the first one of this kind to be held by the club.

Plans will be discussed regarding the future athletics at Wisconsin. All "W" men not previously asked are urged to be present.

Review Published By Girls at Barnard is Out Today

The Barnard Review will come out today, according to Martha Semelroth '25, editor. This is one of the largest issues ever published by the girls and consists of 32 pages. The cover design is by Alice Lyon '26.

Other women who have assisted in putting out this annual publication are: Alice Cummings '25, assistant editor; Dorothy Polacheck '25, news editor; Dorothy John '25, humor; Margaret Meyer '25, art; Kathryn Bigham '25, society; and Wilhelmine Mead '23, features.

The publication contains articles about every woman living in the dormitory, as well as accounts of the year's activities.

WEATHER: SHOWERS

Showers are predicted for Madison and vicinity today or tonight and tomorrow. There will not be much change in temperature. The maximum temperature yesterday was 62.9 at 1 p. m. and the minimum was 26.5 at 5 a. m.

Ridgway Gets Mention For Town's Place

Elkhorn Senator Is Talked Of For Position On Board Of Control

Senator E. T. Ridgway of Elkhorn is being mentioned to take the place on the board of control made vacant by the resignation last week of Henry Town.

Senator Ridgway was a former candidate for the position but Gov. Blaine appointed J. D. Morrissey to the place. Senator Ridgway has been greatly interested in questions of social welfare and his friends maintain that he is fitted for a place on the board of control. It was reported today that Gov. Blaine will give Senator Ridgway's name serious consideration.

Mr. Town has resigned because of differences that have existed among the members of the board of control. Mrs. Elizabeth A. Kading was D. Morrissey vice president in spite of the fact that Mr. Town was an appointee of Gov. Blaine's and the oldest member of the board in point of service. It is said that the action of Mrs. Kading and Mr. Morrissey in ignoring Mr. Town brought about his resignation.

BADGERS FALL BEFORE PURPLE BASEBALL TEAM

Northwestern Noses Out Win

(Special to The Cardinal)
By WM. C. MACLEAN

The badgers fell with a bang out at Northwestern field yesterday when the Purple jumped on them in the eleventh inning of a tight ball game and copped by a score 5 to 4.

Rollie Williams and his gang were helpless before the twirling of Chuck Palmer, with the exception of the eighth inning when the Wisconsin boys rapped out a succession of four hits, all of which netted three runs. Palmer sent nine Wisconsin batters back to the bench during the course of the game via the strikeout route. He issued only two free tickets to first and hit one man.

Steggman composed the other half of the Purple battery and he held Chuck Palmer's benders very satisfactorily.

Pickford on Mound

Pickford was on the mound for the Badgers. He allowed fewer hits than did Palmer, but issued more passes. These passes resulted in runs and are not to be overlooked. He fanned five men, all off these coming in the last four innings. Aschenbrenner was his battery mate. He handled his chance very well and was credited with five assists, a rather unusual feat for a catcher.

Wisconsin got the jump on the Purple by garnering a counter in the second inning. With one out, Gus Tebell beat out a slow roller to Dempsey. He stole second. Holm lifted to Nelson. Combacker rammed a single to left and Tebell crossed the plate. Ellingson was out, Palmer to Taylor.

Purple in Lead

The Purple took the lead in the fourth inning. Johnson singled to short and went to second on Steggman's sacrifice. Palmer and Taber walked. Watts singled to center, scoring Johnson and advancing the other runners a notch. Palmer and Tabor scored when Dempsey slammed one at Pickford who misused. The next two men were thrown out at first. Neither team made themselves very evident until the eighth frame, when four hits in a row netted the Badgers three runs. They might have scored further, had not a double play intervened. The Purple manufactured a run in their half of the ninth and tied the score. Bob Nelson drove the ball to right field for two bases and scored from second when Aschenbrenner threw out Johnson.

Northwestern Gains

Northwestern ran off with the game in their half of the eleventh inning. Ham Taylor became exceedingly powerful and drove the ball to deep right field for a Bryant rolled to Holm for the first out then Nelson did the same thing. Holm was fast but Taylor was faster and he slid across the plate with the winning run.

MICHIGAN FROSH RUN OFF TRACK MEET TODAY

The Wisconsin-Michigan frosh telegraphic track meet, so long delayed because of heavy rains at Ann Arbor, will be finished this afternoon, according to word received here by Meade Burke, Wisconsin freshmen track coach.

All events have been run by the Badger frosh at Camp Randall and the result of the meet only awaits a report from Michigan of the marks made by the Wolverine yearlings.

While Wisconsin did not in general make records which equal those made against the Iowa frosh in a dual meet two weeks ago, they performed in such a style as to make the Wolverines show their best work to win.

COACH POINTS MEN FOR RACE

Crew is Working Hard For Meet With Duluth Club

Coach "Dad" Vail is pointing his varsity crew toward the meet Saturday with the Duluth Boat club. The crew this year has been greatly hindered by the inclement weather, and they are not in the best of condition for the strong race that they will have to put up to come in ahead of the Duluth oar pullers.

The crew material at Wisconsin is so scarce that Coach Vail is badly handicapped in picking men with ability and endurance for the first shell. The men at Wisconsin are not crew men, according to the coach. It will take some time before a crew can be developed that will equal those who put out in the years when Wisconsin was at her best in the Poughkeepsie regattas.

Duluth is Strong

The Duluth Boat club is one of the strongest in the country and nationally known. Little is known of their strength, but according to past performances they will be strong, and the Badgers will have to show some good stuff to keep up with them. The Northwestern will arrive here Friday morning to go over the course and get into trim for the race Venetian day.

St. Johns will also arrive at the same time to compete with the second Wisconsin crew. The soldiers will give the second stringers a tough go for the honors of the day. The coach thinks that with some luck both crews can come out of the races with victory.

Plan Changes in Lineup

The crews are working each day on the lake under the coach's direction. Some changes will probably be made today in the lineup. Coach Vail has been considering these changes for some time and now that he has decided upon them he feels that the crew will be decidedly benefitted. After the changes have been made the men will go over the same course to see how they will hold up in their new positions. In the time remaining before the end of the week the men can get accustomed to their new positions and show some good stuff.

PHYSICAL ED MAGAZINE TO BE NAMED IN FALL

"Choosing of the name for the new physical education magazine has been put off until next fall, due to the fact that not enough suggestions have been sent in," Maurice Hall '24, president of the Physical Education club stated yesterday.

The new magazine will be published four times a year and sent to the alumnae that they might keep in touch with on another and with the changes in the department here. "There have been plans for such a magazine for some time, but it has never been realized before. We want to help keep members of the department in close touch with one another," said Gretchen Kronke, who has charge of the choosing of the name.

WOMEN'S CLASS TENNIS SQUADS ARE ANNOUNCED

Tennis squads for the women's inter-class tournament were announced by the women's physical education department yesterday noon.

The first game in the doubles tournament will be played off this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock on the Lathrop courts. Two matches are scheduled, the seniors against the sophomores, and the juniors against the frosh.

The remaining two games will be played Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock when the seniors will play the juniors, and the sophomores will come up against the frosh. At the same time on Thursday afternoon the senior-freshmen contest and the junior-sophomore match will be played.

The tennis teams will be announced this noon. Four will be chosen to represent each class, with the possible exception of the sophomore class where the number may be six.

The squads as announced are: Seniors: Ida Atkinson, Mildred Harpster, Florence Miller and Helen Zuelke.

Juniors: Charlotte Curry, Lois Jacobs, Elaine Mabley, Marion McClintock, Helen Wheeler and Elizabeth Gissal.

Sophomores: Lois Barry, Esther Fifield, Lita Hamilton, Anne Smith, Marion Streng and Frances Tipple.

Ohio Plans Innovations For Annual Cap Night

COLUMBUS, Ohio, May 21.—Several innovations are planned for the annual "Cap Night" at the Ohio State University to be held Saturday evening, May 26, when freshmen will be formally welcomed into the sophomore class.

A cordial welcome to augment the burning of freshmen hats is planned together with a dance for the two lower classes.

Following the usual parade on the campus, the freshmen will burn their caps on Ohio Field. Instead of disbanding as heretofore, they will pledge allegiance to the university and will march to the Long Walk, barred to freshman by campus tradition, where the outgoing sophomores will greet them as the new sophomore class.

University Concert Band Gives Program Thursday

The University Concert band will give a concert Thursday evening in front of Music Hall from 6:30 to 7:15 o'clock if the weather will permit. The program will be of the usual type given by the band.

COMMERCE MEN BEATEN BY ENGINEERS, 8 TO 5

I a game which was closer than the score indicates, the plumbers downed the commerce team to the tune of 8-5 on the lower campus yesterday afternoon.

Kubosch pitched an effective game for the engineers, and was seldom in danger although the men of the commerce school threatened once or twice, only to be halted again. Boshardt replaced Cardinal for the accountants in the fourth inning after the latter struck a hole from which he could not extricate himself.

The bleachers, which were put up for the horse show last Saturday, hindered the game very much, as the leaders found great difficulty in chasing flies over the stands.

TRACKMEN GET HARD PRACTICE

Training For Conference Meet on June 2 is Started

The Wisconsin track team, home from Illinois where it met its first defeat of the season at the hands of the strong Illinois team last Friday, started intensive practice again yesterday afternoon at Camp Randall.

The one event left on the varsity schedule for the spring season is the Western Conference meet which will be held this year at Ann Arbor, Mich., June 2. Badger practice until then will be uninterrupted, and a strong team should enter the lists at Ann Arbor.

Badgers Will be Strong

While Wisconsin mentors entertain little hope of taking first honors in the conference meet, they will enter a team which will be somewhat above the average in Big Ten circles. The Badgers have successfully competed against Minnesota and Chicago in dual meets this spring, and they should be able to duplicate that performance at the conference meet in addition to scoring higher than several other teams.

Illinois is hoped to win the title easily because of the decisive defeats she has handed Michigan and Wisconsin. Michigan looked like a winner during the preliminary season but against Illinois, the Wolverines were almost as powerless as was Wisconsin.

Michigan Weakening

Comparative estimates prove Michigan to be appreciably weaker to points better than Wisconsin, but with the evident decline in scoring ability that Michigan has shown during the past few weeks, Wisconsin may possibly give the Wolverines a battle for second place.

Wisconsin is particularly strong in the runs, having excellent material in the half mile, mile, and two mile runs. There is also good material in the Badger camp for the high jump, broad jump, and pole vault events, but the weight events suffer for want of consistent point winners.

BETAS BEAT KAPPA SIGS BY SCORE OF 10 TO 1

The Betas showed a complete reversal of form since their tie game with the Kappa Sigs last week, and defeated the latter team yesterday by a 10 to 1 score. The defeat forces the Kappa Sigs out of the finals in the interfraternity baseball league, and they will have to be content with playing in the consolation series.

The Tekes will play the Sig Phi Eps at varsity field today and the Betas will contest the Delta Sigma Phi on Wednesday. The consolation series will also be played off this week, the Chi Psi encountering the Kappa Sigs, and the P. A. D.'s against the Alpha Sigma Phi. The winners of these two games will play their consolation game either Friday or Saturday.

The final game between the two surviving all hall games will be played next Sunday at varsity field. A second game will also be played to determine the winner of second place.

MICHIGAN KEEPS LEAD IN BIG TEN BASEBALL RACE

Illinois 7, Wisconsin 1.
Michigan 11, Minnesota 3.
Ohio State 8, Indiana 0.

Northwestern 4, Notre Dame 1.
Iowa 2, Chicago.

Games This Week

Illinois at Michigan, Thursday.
Friday
Chicago at Wisconsin.
Purdue at Indiana.
Saturday
Wisconsin at Minnesota.
Michigan at Ohio State.

By taking a two game series from the Gophers, the Michigan baseball team remained in the lead in the Big Ten standing. If they come through their two hard games this week, the Wolverines should take the pennant with 1,000 per cent team.

Playing on their home grounds Thursday against the in and out Illinois team, the Michigan outfit should have little difficulty in repeating their performance of two weeks ago when they beat the Indians at Urbana. It will be a different proposition on Saturday when the Wolverines move down to Columbus for a return game with the Ohio team, which they barely defeated, 3 to 2, the beginning of the season.

Coach Lowman will bring his warriors back to the local diamond today to prepare them for the final lap in the Conference race. The game with Chicago here on Friday should cause the Badgers little worry, but the road game with Minnesota the next day may go either way.

WE POOR COLLEGE FOLKS

A humor magazine, a book of comic cartoons, a half dozen sensational news stories, and that is all the equipment a modern editorial writer needs to equip him to write a critical analysis of the American college of today.

The more silly the magazine, the more exaggerated the cartoons, the more sensational the news stories, the more searching and comprehensive is the analysis. Such is the conclusion one reaches after reading the editorial in the Chicago Tribune for May 21, and calling to mind similar atrocities committed in the name of editorial writing.

College life, according to the Tribune, "represents the last four years of irresponsibility, of avoidance of reality, of music, and flowers; of gilded youth, fantastic, megaphonic, acrobatic, full of false importance, and indifferent to the future." College men "are full of strange noises and unreal ideas of conduct," and, "as inmates of a school of learning, they have little appetite for learning and an inherent contempt for culture." They are afflicted with "twisted ideas of manliness" resulting from the "tradition of collegiate rowdiness and lawlessness." Those college activities upon which so much stress of value has been laid by the misguided public are declared by this crystalline demonstration of the truth to be merely the activities of "prolonged adolescence and not those of maturity," and college education itself is declared to be only "four years of glorious club life."

If this all be true (and we would not think of doubting the "World's Greatest") then under what sad delusions and hallucinations the college population of today is laboring!

That 50 to 75 per cent of college men who have so long considered themselves as working their way through college and thus learning the realities of life and bearing a burden of responsibility, they are merely sleeping off the effects of a Welsh rare-bit and enduring a terrible night mare. The "World's Greatest" has declared it so, and any comic cartoon will prove it so.

As for the statement that students "have little appetite for learning," why, it is true, but it must be admitted that the little appetite they do have is mighty and strong. That same little appetite can keep them studying in books of water-proof aridity hour after hour day after day, week in and week out, month after month for a period of four years, making them sacrifice the opportunities of business life and compelling them to silence their natural ambitions. Very little appetite, but what there is of it is mighty and strong!

We hold no brief for the outbreaks of student lawlessness and rowdiness that actually have occurred, but we are only thereby reminded of race riots, Herrin massacres (in Illinois), and lynchings in which students have not had a hand as such, and alongside of which student outbreaks have been infinitesimal.

They may be filled with an "inherent contempt for culture," but in all fairness, they must be given credit for the profound attempt they are making to get over it. Long wearisome hours are spent in the study of art, literature, philosophy, languages, and the humanities; or it is that a spirit of mischief and malevolence prompts them carefully to soil the pages of new text books one by one and thus to spite Father Time by wasting his minutes?

One more reading of the editorial has brought us to the conviction that some drug store should carry more complete remedies for dyspepsia, and that such a movement would be gladly sponsored by all colleges.

TWO EXTREMES, ONE END

Opera singing—stock pavilion! How infinitely separated! None would think of combining the two, and yet, last night the two were blended to give 3,600 people the opportunity to hear one of the world's finest singers, Galli Curci.

Madison, with its distressing poverty of the aesthetic and cultural things of life has been enriched by one more of the finest. A few good addresses, a play or two, a scanty number of worthy concerts, and now and then a small art exhibition, this is the height and the limit of Madison's aesthetic and cultural program for the year. May each new addition receive as warm a welcome as did the singing of Galli Curci last night!

Stock pavilion—opera singing! What a need such commingling demonstrates for a concert hall. How much more vivid the realization 3,600 people now have of the need for a Memorial Union—a gymnasium that will hold thousands.

In two ways has the concert served: Madison has been stimulated to a greater appreciation of the finer things of life, and a greater realization of the need of the building which will serve to bring students to that better appreciation of life has been achieved.

ONLY ONE WEEK

In 1914, as a result of galaxy of student entertainments immediately preceding commencement which resulted disastrously in the matter of grades for a large number, the faculty committee on Student Life and Interests was organized. Since that time it has been acting as a controlling force in student affairs.

One of the rules immediately decided upon was that there should be no student parties or entertainments during the two weeks immediately preceding commencement. Consequently the departure of the committee from that rule this spring has become a matter of more than usual interest. Instead of the usual period of two weeks reserved for study, only one week is to be saved this spring.

The reasons for the departure from the rules are two. One is that commencement is a week earlier this spring. The other is that the date of the Interscholastic day is set by the principals of the competing high schools, who desire to have the date immediately preceding Decoration day.

Venetian night and the Women's Field day have as a part of their purpose the entertainment of the visiting high school students. Consequently, these two events have been delayed until Interscholastic day with the resulting crowding of events in the last two weeks of the year.

Past experience has shown that the two weeks period of study preceding examinations is highly beneficial. The fact that the customary two weeks will not be enjoyed this year does not mean that the grades necessarily must be lowered. Honest application this week and next is all that is necessary for a maintenance of marks. Attendance at the various events need have no detrimental effect whatsoever.

As a warning: remember: only two weeks left!

JUVENILE AMERICAN COLLEGES

(Chicago Tribune)

The Mount story from Northwestern has reached Paris and newspapers are commenting on American university habits which seem unusual. The Matin says "the tragedy sheds a great light upon the strange customs of American university life." While the matter is up, it might be worth while for the University of Chicago to correct the Parisian idea that it is popularly known as Northwestern.

The American college, with few exceptions, is the glorification of youth. It represents the last four years of irresponsibility, of avoidance of reality, of music, and flowers; of gilded youth, fantastic, megaphonic, and acrobatic, full of false importance, and indifferent to the future.

There are serious minded young men who work hard to have what the college can give them and work hard to absorb it, but the beau ideal is the contortionist with a megaphone in front of the cheering stands. The young men are full of strange noises and unreal ideas of conduct.

They admire muscular fitness and physical courage. They are good natured and most of them have parlor manners. As inmates of a school of learning they have little appetite for learning and an inherent contempt for culture.

Alexander Hamilton, writing state papers at 16 is an exhibit of the lost colonial culture which was aristocratic. Young men full of juvenile pranks are exhibits of the prevailing democracy of education. They are not hopeless. They have a wrong idea of the cut of the man's toga. If they come to realize that their standards of behavior are childish they will seek others. They have twisted ideas of manliness and for some of these ideas there is traditional justification.

There is the tradition of collegiate and university rowdiness and lawlessness. It goes back to the Italian and French schools of the renaissance, when the student bravos asserted that they were above at least the civil law. It was the contempt of the incipient intellectual for the town. The American college boy knows of the English contest between town and gown. The oldest American universities had their pranks. Newer univers-

SESQIPEDALIANISM

(By a Phi Beta pledge)

In promulgating your cogitations or articulating your superficial sentimentalities, or amicable, philosophical, physiological or biological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity.

Let your conversational communications possess conciseness, compact comprehensibility, concatenated cogency and coalescent consistency. Let your extemporaneous discantings and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility without road to montade or bombast.

Eschew all conglomeration of babblement and asinine affectation. Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic ities and colleges think they lack distinction unless they have juvenile outbreaks.

The vitality of youth needs an outlet for steam, but mud fights, class rushes, hazing, etc., might be attended to at an earlier academic age, when the student is still accustomed to being washed behind the ears by his mother. The college activities are those of prolonged adolescence and not of maturity.

A college education is four years of glorious club life. For the good of democracy it could be different—the beginning of a reasoning maturity, of intelligence, and of culture.

MEIKLEJOHN'S DEMOCRACY—AND POVERTY

Editor, The Cardinal:
The Phi Beta Kappa address of President Meiklejohn was presented with an intellectual and moral power which were most inspiring. It is indeed a fine democratic concept that men of intellect shall but be willing to see the best things of life monopolized by a few but shall insist that they be shared by all.

But in praising education as synonymous with true democracy, why did not President Meiklejohn go one step farther and point out that poverty is the great enemy of education?

If there is anything that our average Mr. Babbitt grows chesty about, it is the wonderful educational opportunities afforded to all in America, and yet statistics show that in the United States only ten per cent of the pupils who enter our primary schools reach even the first year of high school. In Wisconsin the average is better, but yet scandalously low. Here twenty-five per cent of those who enter our schools survive school life long enough to get into a high school.

H. A. L. Fisher, minister of education in Great Britain recently said:

"Here the vast majority of the children who attend the elementary schools must go out in the world to earn a living after they have reached the age of 14."

To realize the ideals of democracy pictured by President Meiklejohn, we must get rid of industrial parasites and establish a social and economic system which will permit our youth to attend school and college and which will also give the grown-ups some leisure for intellectual pursuits.

The group later adjourned to the rooms of the Western Society of Engineers, where the alumni renewed old acquaintances and enjoyed a program of speeches by faculty members and alumni, and a couple of reels of picture sent down by the University Extension showing football games and commencement exercises.

Guests from the Badger Engineering college included the following faculty members: Dean F. E. Turneaure, Professors E. R. Maurer, M. O. Witkovy, O. L. Kowalkie, A. V. Millar, E. Bennett, J. T. The summer training camp period of six weeks at Camp Custer, Michigan, for R. O. T. C. students, will begin June 14. This training is in accordance with programs furnished by the War Department and will supplement courses taken during the school year.

More time for recreation will be allowed this year than in previous years. Better facilities for swimming have been arranged, since a boat house has been completed, and floats and life-saving ropes have been put in Eagle lake. A number of boats have been promised by the American Red Cross.

There will be no scheduled instructions for the opening or closing days of camp, for Wednesday or Saturday afternoons, and for Sundays and holidays. Dances will be held weekly at the hostess house.

The theater will have motion pictures five nights a week and vaudeville shows on Saturday. Boxing will be the attraction on Thursdays. Students will be taken to various places of interest in the neighborhood of the camp, forty trucks having been provided as a means of transportation. Picnics will be given at Gull Lake.

GIRL RETURNS FROM JOURNEY

Isabel Farrington Completes Interesting Trip Around the World

"The only effective way to fully realize how wonderful the United States is, is to leave it for eight months. I believe I took my trip around the world just so I could have the incomparable thrill of seeing 'the lady' in New York harbor from an incoming ocean liner," said Isabel Farrington who returned Saturday evening from a trip around the world.

With Martha Buell she sailed on October 18 from San Francisco for Honolulu where she visited her uncle, Wallace R. Farrington, governor of the island, and from then until her return home, the trip was a continuous thrill.

China is Interesting

Miss Farrington was enthusiastic in her praise of China and its people. "In China I understood as never before the curse of overpopulation. The dirt and ignorance is frightful. It is a very slightly cultivated country," she went on, "and for a peculiar reason. It seems to be one great cemetery, the level plains covered with small humps which are the graves of honored ancestors."

Peking she considered the most interesting city in the world and the harbor of Hong Kong the most beautiful, surpassing, in her opinion, the famous Bay of Naples.

Near Peking her party was held up for 30 cents by Chinese soldiers who forced themselves into her car and would have taken whatever they wanted if the rickshaw coolie had not told them that they were friends of the American council and that it wouldn't be healthy to annoy them.

Phillipine Trip

A few weeks in the Philippines included a trip through the jungle in native boats up the Paxonjohan river where monkeys stared curiously at them from the shore and great reptiles slipped through the water beneath them.

"The Philipinos are the most intelligent and cultured of the orientals and are very anxious for their independence," said Miss Farrington.

In speaking of India she said that the Taj Mahal at Agra was worth the trip alone. "Its marvelous beauty left me almost stunned," she added.

Visits Egypt

In Egypt Miss Farrington cultivated the acquaintance of the camel, "which has any ocean-trip beaten for rough-riding. The poor old Sphinx is pretty well worn."

Their stay in Europe was brief, for the sight-seeing was tiring in the extreme, and they returned several months earlier than they expected. Miss Buell will probably return to Madison today.

"If you ever get a chance to go abroad don't fail to take advantage of it," she said enthusiastically in conclusion.

NO DAMAGES TO BE GRANTED IN LABOWITCH CASE

No damages were granted to Labowitch by the jury in the case which she had against the Blackhawk Riding academy, contrary to the reports appearing in the papers in regard to it.

In reply to the question of the horse's vicious nature and kicking habit the jury answered no. An affirmative answer was given by the jury to the question of Miss Labowitch's contributing to the accident by carelessness in her manner of handling the horse.

When asked what fair compensation for the accident would be the jury replied nothing. The judge asked the jury to give another answer to keep on record as the estimated value of a broken leg in any accident. Therefore the $300, which has been given as the amount awarded to Miss Labowitch is merely an estimate for record and was not given to her by the Blackhawk Riding academy.

RELIC CLUBS HOLD ANNUAL MEET JUNE 8, 9

The Wisconsin Archeological and Historical societies will hold their seventeenth annual field assembly at Oshkosh June 8 and 9.

Arrangements for the meeting are being made by the Winnebago County Archeological and Historical societies, which is an auxiliary of the Wisconsin Archeological and the State Historical societies.

The program for Friday consists of a historical tour, and a picnic at Indian point. The program for the second day of the assembly will be held in the municipal club house. It will consist of an address, round table discussion led by Charles E. Brown, of the State Historical museum and a tour of historic spots west and south of Oshkosh.
