STRICT RULES ARE PREPARED FOR ELECTION

Senate Committee May Change
Places of Balloting This Spring

OFFICES ARE ANNOUNCED

Final arrangements for the annual spring student elections to be held April 28, are being made by the Senate election committee, headed by Maynard Brown '23.

It is hoped that the elections this year will be carried out on a better system than on previous occasions. President Birge and Dean Goodnight both feel that the situation should be improved and are even willing to remove classes from rooms which are particularly well fitted for voting to some other rooms. Thus, room 165, Bascom hall, and the auditorium in Music hall could be utilized. Using these two rooms would make it possible for one man to vote at once and to pass out through another door than the one through which he entered.

The constitution which regulates elections lays down strict rules which must be adhered to by all candidates for office. The essential ones are given below with their respective office.

Rules for Candidacy

The two Badger positions which are open are those of editor-in-chief and business manager. Only sophomores of qualified standing are eligible to run for these offices and only sophomore men and women of such standing are eligible to vote for the candidates. Petitions of candidates to these positions must contain at least 50 signatures.

There are three positions vacant on the Forensic board. These are open to one sophomore and two juniors and all men and women students of qualified standing are allowed to vote in this instance.

Only qualified men students of all classes are eligible to vote for candidates to Union board offices. One sophomore and one junior are to be elected to this board from (Continued on page 2)

Lit Conducts Quotescope in March Number

Guess again and win a prize. The Lit is conducting a Quotescope or quotation guessing contest in its March issue to appear on the campus Thursday morning. The seven prizes are as follows:

Parody on the Outlines of History, by Donald Ogden Stewart; The Beautiful and Damned, by F. Scott Fitzgerald; Outlines of History, by H. G. Wells; The Memoirs of a Midget, by Walter de la Mare; Pyle's Book of Pirates; Queen Victoria, by Lytton Strachey, and The Way of All Flesh, by Samuel Butler.

The contestant placing the most quotations correctly will have first choice of the above list of books, the person making the second best record will have second choice, etc. Members of the Lit staff will not compete.

Decline Reported In Student Illness

Cases of grippe are becoming fewer and less serious, according to Dr. Robert Van Valzah of the university clinic. "Although the infirmary is still crowded, both grippe and scarlet fever cases are on the decline," said Dr. Van Valzah yesterday.

CAROLYN STRAUSS TO BE PARTNER OF BILANSKY AT MILITARY BALL

HYMAN J. BILANSKY '22

Hyman J. Bilansky '22, Milwaukee, is an assistant general chairman of the 1922 Military ball, which will be held in the state capitol on April 7. His partner will be Miss Carolyn A. Strauss '25, Chicago.

Bilansky is a major in the cadet corps, member of Scabbard and Blade, and is advertising manager of the Athletic Review. He is an

Miss Strauss, who is enrolled in the College of Letters and Science, was graduated last year from the University of Chicago high school.

State Principals Victims of Fraud

Authorities Deny All Knowledge of Graduate School Imposter

Hundreds of high school principals in Wisconsin and other states have recently been made the victims of a three-page questionnaire sent out by a man in Beloit, Wis., who is posing as a representative of the Graduate school of the university.

Singing himself as "Sig Lee, General Delivery, Beloit," and saying that he is seeking information under the direction of the Wisconsin Graduate school, he has sent out his questionnaires throughout the country. To answer the questionnaires would involve an enormous amount of work on the part of high school principals.

Authorities Deny Authenticity

Authorities at the university have no knowledge of the man or his questionnaire, according to Dean C. S. Slichter. The first they heard of it was through a letter from a state principal asking for further information. Dean Slichter has notified the Beloit police and is seeking to learn the identity of the imposter.

"The Graduate school requests all high school principals to ignore the questionnaire," Dean Slichter said. "Nobody has been found at the university who ever heard of Sig Lee."

Report of Approval of Robb Unofficial

The candidacy of Carroll E. Robb '24 for the nomination for alderman from the fifth ward has been approved by the university authorities, insofar that they will not interfere, but this approval is not to be understood as endorsing his nomination.

The first precinct, which includes all east of Brooks street, will vote at the Draper school building on Park street. All west of Brooks street will vote at the fire station at the corner of Dayton and Warren streets. The polls will be open from 6 a. m. until 8 p. m.

How Intelligent Is A Student, Queries Commerce Mag

By P. H. J.

A kissing story, an article about theaters, and a clever series of intelligent questions are the most attractive contents of the April number of the Commerce magazine, which goes on sale today.

Probably the most interesting article is the intelligence questionnaire, a series of well-arranged interrogations, said to be fairer and a more sensible test of the average college man and woman than the well known Edison brain-racker—broader than the latter because it is the work of 24 professors on the hill, and not the test laid down by a single man.

The one hundred questions cover current affairs and 17 educational topics. If you like the sensation offered by taking a gigantic quiz in which every department of the university is represented, you will be pleased to try your luck on this series. The best part about it is the fact that there will be no grading.

"Theater Blues," an article based on an interview with local playhouse managers, is the usual "American magazine" sort of thing in which the interviewed gives lots of free advice as well as his ideas on things in general. Arthur Aylward, the writer, has a free and easy style combined with lots of imagination which enables him to supply the necessary background for such an article.

Earl Hanson's "Red Hair and Violet Eyes," the first light fiction offering of the Commerce book, is a co-ed and night-time story that is supposed to have something between the lines. It is nearly all conversation, making it very easy to read.

In conclusion, the Commerce magazine is apparently becoming better month by month. Articles like the questionnaire will no doubt boost the circulation.

UNIVERSITY BAND

The university orchestra under the direction of Major Morphy will appear in its second concert of the season next Sunday afternoon at Music hall.

STRONG FINISH MARKS BADGER INDOOR SEASON

Cinder Squad Has Most Successful Season Since 1916

SPETZ HIGH INDIVIDUAL

By CHAS. J. LEWIN

When the Wisconsin track team won second place laurels in the Twelfth Annual Indoor meet held at Patten gym, Northwestern university, last Saturday, it completed the most successful season experienced by a Badger indoor squad since 1916.

Besides defeating seven other Big Ten teams in the Evanston competition, Coach Thomas E. Jones' speedsters ran away from Notre Dame and Iowa in dual meets. In 1916 the Badgers equaled this record by winning from Notre Dame and Illinois, and taking second place in the track and field games.

Wisconsin scored 22 11-21 points, half of the 44 and 6-7 totaled by Coach Harry Gill's well-balanced Illinois champions, but enough to easily distance other entrants in the meet. The Illini, title-winners for the third consecutive time, captured five first places and enough seconds and thirds to run away from their rivals. Ohio State and Iowa were separated by only 1-6 of a point in their fight for third place. Michigan, Minnesota, Northwestern, and Chicago were bunched in the order named, while Purdue brought up the procession in last place with its 1 and 3-7 points.

Spetz High Individual

Ralph Spetz, Wisconsin sprinter, was individual high point winner. Entered in three events, he copped the quarter-mile run from Pyott, Chicago, ran the fourth, semi-final, and final heats in the 50 yard dash to win fourth place, and then carried the baton for a quarter in the (Continued on Page 7)

Gun and Blade Play Has Setting On An Island Near France

Plot Centers in Normandy Village Community; Has Novel Ending

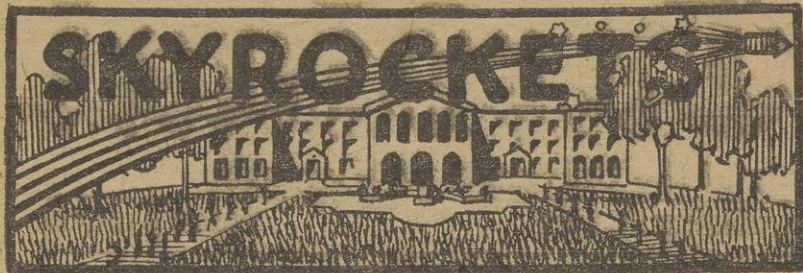

An imaginary island off the coast of Normandy is the scene of action for "The Bells of Beaujolais," a musical comedy to be given by the Gun and Blade club at the Parkway theater on Saturday, March 25.

The appearance of an American yacht at the island over which the duke presides causes considerable excitement in the village. John Bender, the host of the American party, is accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Jessup, a widow; Phyllis, a daughter of Bender; her friend, Belle, and Larry and Tony, two lively young Americans.

The young men find Yvonne and Susette, village girls, so attractive that they rather neglect their traveling companions, Phyllis and Belle. The duke is much attracted by Aunt Sarah, whose conservatism is proof against sudden attachments. The countess makes no secret of her sudden interest in the gallant Bender, who, however, is disposed to be cautious.

Act two finds a masquerade in full swing at the castle. Phyllis and Belle have exchanged dresses with Yvonne and Susette, a transaction which subsequently involves Larry and Tony in considerable difficulty. Aunt Sarah also adds to the confusion by exchanging apparel with the countess. The tangle, however, is skillfully straightened out.

WE took one look at the Commerce Mag and wired our sympathies to Thomas Edison. It's a shame to pick on the poor old boy. What chance has a common, ordinary, inventive genius got against a whole tribe of college profs? When the aforesaid common, ordinary, inventive genius compiled his questions he must have chuckled to himself, but these profs were in such deadly earnest that we bet they have stuck themselves. But we intend to send this questionnaire home, so that when our card goes in with a couple of flunks the source of our income will have a chance to see what we are up against, and use a little discretion before he writes that letter to us.

QUESTION 26 says: What was Mr. Micawber waiting for? We never met Mr. Micawber, but we are willing to bet that he was waiting for the same thing that Dean Goodnight waits for during office hours. And Question 53, What was the Franciscan movement? We scored one there when we answered that it was the original name for a Frisco dance. We heard one bird answer Question 61, Can you locate the North star? with a "Yes! under certain conditions."

CASE X013ZY7

YOUNG man of good birth, learned to whistle while young. Discovered by alienists, at the age of 12½ satisfying the complex scribbendi. Freed because of immaturity. Was caught ten years later in universitate with additional complex chromatica in the company of feminarum. Was arrested after publishing an immoral work called "Red Hair and Violet Eyes" in a commercial magazine. Gave name to police authorities as Earl Hanson. Became violent when placed in cell. Was pacified when the highly colored illustration which accompanied his story was shown to him.

POLICE BLOTTER

HELD on charge of practicing witchcraft, Doc Hull, found attempting to hypnotize class. Placed in pillory.

HELD on charge of operating confidence game, Esther Lindsten, overheard saying "I'm not that kind of a girl."

HELD on charge of violating the parking ordinance, Reuben Chadbourn, found parking his frame against Bascom hall longer than the law allows.

HELD on charge of defacing public property, Kenneth Fagg, name found signed to some drawings of a corrupting nature.

HELD on charge of assault and battery, Professor Slaughter, caught giving a written quiz to a class without previous notice.

Prepare New Rules For Spring Election

among three nominees for each position designated by the board. One sophomore and one junior also are to be elected from men nominated by written petitions containing the names of not less than 50 petitioners from the respective class of the nominee.

There are four vacancies in the Cardinal Board of Control and these positions will probably be the most hotly contested of all. The offices are open to sophomore men and women, although there should not be more than two women on the board, one from the sophomore and one from the junior class. Every enrolled student is in a position to vote for the candidates to these places.

Cardinal Board Positions

Because of the split in the Board last month, which brought about the resignation of Adrian Seolten '23, and several other changes in the personnel of the Board, it will be very interesting to watch the results of the elections to these offices.

Two juniors and one sophomore are to be elected to the Badger Board of Control. These candidates are to be elected by qualified men and women of the respective classes.

On the Athletic board eleven jobs are open. Petitions for nominations to this board must contain the names of at least 25 men and should be delivered to the acting president of the board, Albert Knollin '22, at the Phi Kappa Sigma house, 614 Langdon street.

The president and vice-president aspirants must both be "W" men. There shall also be a representative from each major sport: namely, football, basketball, baseball, crew, track, and cross country. These men must all have won their "W" in the respective sport. One representative from all major sports who shall have won his team insignia shall also be given office. Finally, two non-"W" men shall be elected from the sophomore class. These terms shall last for a period of one year, commencing in the fall after election and ending the following spring.

A fee, which will help to cover the expenses of carrying on the elections, must accompany each petition. These fees average about five dollars. All petitions must be in the hands of the Dean of Men not later than 5 o'clock, Friday, April 7.

This organization, besides Chairman Brown, is composed of the following men: Ralph Axley '23, Horace Powell '23, George Stolley '22, and Ivan H. Peterman '22. Wayne Morse '23, also sits in on the committee.

All students who expect to run for any office should make sure that they have no irregularity in standing at the office of the Dean, and if any irregularity should be found, it should be cleared up so that the candidates may be assured of running in the correct class and with the specified standing.

Increase Quota of Expenditures For War Veterans

Budget For 1922 to Total
$510,000,000; Serves
100,000 Men

The United States Veterans' bureau is requiring for 1922 expenditures in behalf of the disabled ex-service man $510,000,000—more than the entire expenditure of the whole United States in 1897, according to the official statement recently received by the secretary of the faculty, from C. R. Forbes, director of the Veterans' bureau.

"Do these facts indicate that the disabled ex-service man is being neglected?" asks Forbes in enumerating the services of the bureau.

According to the statement, the United States Veterans' bureau is not only paying out more than $1,000,000 in cash every day directly into the hands of the ex-service man or his dependents; but also providing hospital care to 30,000 veterans amounting to an expenditure by the government of $60,000,000 per annum.

Vocational Training Offered

Vocational training, without cost, is being given to more than 100,000 disabled ex-service men. An insurance business for more than 600,000 ex-service men, without any cost of administration to them, is being conducted. The bureau is mailing out 650,000 checks every month, representing $42,000,000.

One thousand new claims are received every day. Four thousand ex-service men and women are employed to carry out the work. Over 60,000 medical examinations are conducted every month.

Herrick to Head A. I. E. E. Next Semester

R. H. Herrick '22 was re-elected president of the American Society of Electrical Engineers, at a regular meeting of that organization on Tuesday, and J. W. Smart '23 is to succeed H. L. Rusch '22 as secretary and treasurer.

Gwilym Prideaux '22, and R. O. Strock '23 were appointed as the senior and junior representatives of the organization in Polygon, the general engineering executive association. The executive committee of the society itself is to be composed of H. L. Rusch '22, Ernst Guillemin '22, and B. G. Bjornson '22, who will cooperate with Prof. Edward Bennett, department of electrical engineering, in furthering the ideals of the association, and in keeping it in touch with national movements.

Sour Audience Fails To Queer Good Orph Bill

By P. H. J.

The sourest audience of the season attended the Orpheum in a body last evening. Until the appearance of Green & Parker, laughs averaged one titter per act, but with the arrival of this pair everybody took off the muzzle and the handcuffs and cut 'er loose. Doris Humphrey's dancers offering grace and agility set a mark that will be hard to beat.

Farrell & Carley

A couple who paste rags and bits of cloth on canvas and produce pictures of battleships and Red Cross nurses.

Ed. E. Ford

With a non-breakable and ultra elastic face, this man shows you what can be done with a ball-bearing frontispiece. A little singing and reciting supplemented his mugging ability.

Sully & Thomas

Much ado about nothing in particular, offered by a pair who are past masters in the art of hokum. When the man came out with a slapstick we thought the act was going to be good, but the unnecessary introduction of the aforementioned tool put the offering in a different category.

Doris Humphrey's Dancers

From start to finish this number has a refinement and a smooth quality that is rarely seen in vaudeville. All the dancers evidence a technique that is remarkable, and the harmony and grace with which the act is offered puts it in a place by itself. The Spanish solo number was exceptionally well done.

Gneene & Parker

This is the act that caused the comatose assemblage to sit up and donate attention. Greene, as the domino colored depot attache, pulled about as many new gags as any act this season, and his lighter tinted partner, provided the necessary back-talk. The song with which the act is closed is unusually soothing. Yes, that's the word.

Alex Melford Trio

Clowns who offer acrobatics that contain several surprises.

"CHEER UP"

"CHEER UP, help up, never give up;" there is a great deal to that motto. It means team work, co-operation, and helping the other fellow. But, most of all, it means keeping up, keeping continually at it in the face of handicaps and adverse circumstances. In a word, it is a motto of cheerful, undaunted teamwork.

This motto is that of the Gun and Blade club, the organization of disabled veterans. It is a fitting motto. The club, living up to its motto, is trying to help "cheer up," by giving a rollicking musical comedy, "The Bells of Beaujolais," Saturday. It is an ambitious undertaking deserving of much support. The play is being put on under handicaps, since every one of the one hundred and eighty men's parts are taken not by men who are necessarily of dramatic inclination, but by the members of the club. That is, the play is an example of admirable team work, since the men are taking part because they are members of Gun and Blade, and because they want to make a successful job of it. What kind of a play will they turn out? Judging from last year's performance it will be a headliner. After all, the spirit is what counts, especially when it is a spirit that believes in team work and never gives up.

HOW LONG IS A STRING?

WHAT should a college man know? a very permissible question considering the emphasis laid upon college education. It is only right that there be some standard of measurement for college students, some way of determining the development of mental capacity, in order to see if college is giving anything in proportion to what it is expected to.

Such a standard is difficult to evolve, and may become rudely disconcerting to its author. Last year Mr. Edison dared to create such a standard. It was a rash dare and brought out much heated criticism from those interested in secondary education. According to his point of view, no one was educated until he had at his fingers' end a digest of "Who's Who" and an unabridged dictionary. Edison's mistake lay in his assumption that a man goes to college to gather facts. A man goes to college primarily to train his mind, and not to learn how to entertain an audience by simulating Railroad Jack.

Though Edison's off-color test created quite a smoke among educational fires, no one built a counter fire until just now; and our own university is the first to blow the smoke back into the faces of memory course advocates. The Commerce Magazine has gotten together a questionnaire which is very fair and sensible compared with its famous predecessor. At the very beginning the Commerce Mag realized the inaccuracy of any questionnaire as an intelligent test, since the major part of education is the development and training of a student's mind, a process that cannot be measured by fact questions. However, realizing that a well rounded college graduate should at least have a surface knowledge of a great many fields, the Mag, with the help of 24 professors, drew up the questionnaire appearing in this month's issue.

It is a far more sensible test than Edison's. Instead of asking a lot of technical or never-to-be-used questions on the temperature at which rubber vulcanizes, or on the longest street in Port Said, the questionnaire contains questions of practical, every day value, which should be in the possession of every well-read, up-to-date man and woman. For example: it asks, "How did Tom Sawyer get his fence whitewashed?" The answer should be known to every American since it is from a well-known American classic. Then again, "Who was Raphael, and what were his chief works?" and other questions of that type which a person must be familiar with to be able to converse intelligently with intelligent people. Besides these fact queries, there are a number that necessitate thinking in their answer, such as "Why do free meals papuerize, but free libraries do not?"

Altogether the Commerce Magazine has rendered a valuable service in compiling from authoritative source a comparatively fair test of a college graduate's education. It would certainly be interesting, and undoubtedly illuminating, to see just how the average college student measured up to this standard.

INDIVIDUALITY

An editorial in a recent number of "The William and Mary Literary Magazine" reads, in part, as follows:

"If a man wishes to get the least that college life has to give him, let him upon his entrance at college connect himself immediately with some organized clique whose every action he must endorse and whose manner of thinking he must accept and guard assiduously."

This points definitely to an evil that the student must attempt to avoid; he must beware of the organization that will tend to stifle individuality; that discourages individual thinking. It is probably never consciously undertaken by any organization, but inevitably comes about. It is so easy to set up a few principles and develop certain ideas that must be defended whether right or wrong and which must suffer no change, that the organization, at first proper and upright in its aims, will become unduly narrowed. The individual member loses himself in battling for the common standard, he is not allowed to advance new ideas, or to cultivate original thought.

There is nothing more wholesome than intelligent discussion, open-minded criticism, bantering give and take; these are all inclined to promote right decisions and the proper solutions of problems. They do another thing—they foster thought. One should be careful not to lose himself in the moss-grown ideas or antiquated standards. The world progresses through individual initiative—Daily Iowan,

Religion Declared To Be Compatible With the Sciences

Prof. Kahlenberg Cites Instances of Newton, Boyle, and Priestley

"Religious Views of Some Famous Scientists" was the subject of an address given by Prof. Louis Kahlenberg, of the chemistry department at the second special Lenten program of the St. Francis society Sunday evening.

Regarding the Darwinian theory Professor Kahlenberg said, "We must remember that the theory of evolution is only a theory, and science makes a very exact distinction between a theory and a fact. Facts are unchangeable—theory is a man-made speculation whereby we discover other facts."

Sir Isaac Newton, a theological student, Robert Boyle, who wrote a religious work, Joseph Priestley, a divine, and Michael Faraday, a member of the very strict Santaminian sect, were only a few of the famous scientists mentioned by Professor Kahlenberg as having distinct religious views which were neither incompatible with religion or science.

Of the chemists and physicists of his own acquaintance, Professor Kahlenberg said, "Never have I heard any one of them say anything derogatory to religion. Among them there is no such thing as tearing down or sneering at religion."

ON STUDENT ATTORNEY

Editor Daily Cardinal:

Because of the fact that several misleading and unfounded rumors are abroad as to why I resigned as student attorney, I find it necessary to state through this column my reasons for said resignation. I realize that with my present class program and the time required for work on the student senate and in preparation for an Intercollegiate debate that I could not do justice to the position of student attorney, consequently I thought it my duty to the university and to myself because of lack of time to resign from the position in favor of another man who has the necessary time required by such an office.

As long as I am writing I wish to add that I sincerely hope that the students this spring will cooperate with the student senate and student court. Neither of these bodies can give efficient student government if the students persist in pulling against them. It is only by pushing from behind with suggestions expressed through the Cardinal and in personal interviews with the members of these bodies that a satisfactory and efficient form of student self-government can be developed.

The student senate will meet the first Wednesday in April to pass legislation concerning the green cap and hazing. What do the students want? Two referendums were submitted last fall to the students concerning the wearing of the green cap, one called for the compulsory wearing of the green cap and was adopted by a large vote. The other called for the wearing of the green cap as a tradition and was also passed by a large vote. In my mind these two are inconsistent because I believe that if a "tradition" has to be enforced it is no longer a tradition. Hence I stand either for the compulsory wearing of the green cap as a compulsory requirement placed upon the freshmen by the upperclassmen or else the wearing of the green cap as a tradition with no compulsion except the loyalty of a freshman to his class and school. I can not and shall not vote in the student senate for a tradition that must be enforced by compulsion. It is my opinion that such a procedure defeats the purpose of a tradition. I hope that at least members of the class of '23, whom I represent on the senate, will express their desires in regard to such questions of student interest before the next senate meeting. After a measure is adopted by the senate, student "razzing" and "beefing" does not make for better government. It merely discourages the senators and leads them to believe that the students themselves do not know what they want. My plea is for more cooperation, more expression of desires of the student body as to what they really do want.

In conclusion, let me throw out this little suggestion, it is very easy to criticize but very difficult to please all the student body at one and the same time.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

BADGER TANK TEAM SHOULD WIN IN 1923

—STEINAUER

Loss of Varsity Stars Offset By Frosh Talent

In spite of the loss of Bill Collins, Lamboley, Huebner, and Davis, the 1923 swimming squad will be a stronger and better rounded team than went down to the conference meet this year according to Coach Joe Steinauer, who is already laying plans for his campaign next season.

Frosh swimming practice will continue until late in May and the four members of the varsity who are graduating in June will act as assistant coaches. Steinauer has several first string frosh who will add to the array of talent that will be left over from this season. At the recent conference meet, which ended in favor of Minnesota over Wisconsin, the Badger squad was weak in the backstroke, plunge and diving events. Next season, Steinauer will enter strong men in all three of these events and he intends to get these men from the present frosh squad.

Steinauer will bring up several suggestions at the next meeting of the swimming association to better competition in the conference meet. Although he is not complaining on the defeat of his squad, Steinauer has a change to suggest in the personnel of the judges and other officials of the conference meets. The officials at the last meet were nearly all taken from the Illinois Athletic club. Steinauer is suggesting that the officials be picked from several clubs and that these same men be used in dual meets as well as in the big finale in order to get them acquainted with the swimmers of the universities. The Badger mentor recommends that officials be chosen from the rosters of the Illinois Athletic club, Milwaukee A. C., St. Paul A. C., and the Minneapolis A. C. He is writing to the conference coaches to get their opinions in writing, but many have already verbally approved of the suggested change in personnel of officials.

Competent Men Not Used

Many competent men are available for duty, and often the best are not called because they belong to one of the minor clubs. For instance, at the conference meet, Harry Hazelhurst and Billy Heyn, two of the foremost swimming men in the West were standing on the side lines with nothing to do. Hazelhurst is a starter and referee of note and Heyn is one of the best divers in the Chicago A. C. Both could have been used to good advantage at the meet.

He would also have the conference teams' records in the dual meets count for something. This year Wisconsin is the dual meet champions, but the title counted for naught when it came to the final showdown.

The medals and relay cup, won by the Badger men, were received yesterday and will be on exhibition beginning tomorrow, in the window of the University pharmacy.

"Before the meet I predicted a victory for Minnesota over Wisconsin by a score of 30-23," said Steinauer yesterday. "I figured that unless Illinois and Chicago could take points away from Minnesota in the backstroke and plunge, we were doomed for second place, as we failed to get men into the finals in these two events."

Minnesota Expected to Win

Illinois was expected to take points away from Minnesota and there was some hope that Chicago would do likewise. In the relay, instead of taking second place away from the Gophers, the Maroons flashed across a close third, thus giving Minnesota two more points. The relay event was not the only thing in which the Badger squad received the short end of the breaks but the plunge and backstroke went the same way and the crowning

Drawing In Preliminary Games Opens 1922 District Tourney

With results of 10 district basketball tournaments determined, drawings for team opponents and time of games to be played in the State Basketball meet were held yesterday under the supervision of General Chairman Hubert L. Perrin. Basketball quintets which won Normal school championships and the sections which they represent follow: Fall Creek, Eau Claire district; Rhinelander, Stevens Point district; Menominee, Stout institute district; New Richmond, River Falls district; Fond du Lac, Oshkosh district; Argyle, Platteville district; Superior Central, Superior district; university high, Whitewater district; Watertown, Milwaukee district; La Crosse, La Crosse district.

The schedule of games calls for the first contest to be played at 4 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the battles will continue until a state champion has been decided on Saturday night.

Results of the drawings follow: Fall Creek vs. Rhinelander at 4 o'clock; Menominee vs. New Richmond at 5 o'clock; Fond du Lac vs. Argyle at 7 o'clock; Superior Central vs. university high at 8 o'clock; Watertown vs. La Crosse at 9 o'clock.

The outstanding game of the first day's card will undoubtedly be the Superior Central-university high game. Madison interest will be keyed to a high pitch as the Badger preps take the floor against the big northern team. Superior has been entered in two previous tournaments, winning the 1920 title and taking third place in the 1921 tourney.

Watertown Has Good Team

Watertown has shown it self to be one of the strongest teams which will compete in the Seventh Annual championship meet. It defeated Columbus, Lake Mills, Waupun, and other strong teams during the regular season, and in the Milwaukee Normal school tournament, defeated three teams to capture the title. Watertown bested Two Rivers, 22 to 10; took Columbus into camp, 17 to 15, and beat Kenosha for the championship by a 14 to 9 count.

Coach Bartha was a football and basketball letter winner at Carroll college. He is depending on Capt. Doettcher and Schultz, forwards; Hoffman and Woelfer, guards, and Archie, center, to put his five in the running.

The La Crosse outfit will stay at the Theta Delta Chi fraternity house during the tournament. Other squads will be quartered as follows: Menominee at the Delta Tau Delta and Sigma Alpha Epsilon houses; Watertown at Phi Delta Theta and Kappa Sigma houses; Rhinelander at the Phi Gamma Delta and Delta Kappa Epsilon houses; Argyle at the Alpha Delta Phi and Sigma Nu houses; Fall Creek at Chi Phi and Delta Sigma Phi houses; Superior at Alpha Sigma Phi and Acacia houses; Fond du Lac will stay at the Park hotel.

Wrestling Squad Finishes Season In Fifth Place

The Wisconsin wrestling team has completed the season rating fifth place with one victory and three defeats in dual meets, and with second place in the 158 pound event of the western intercollegiate wrestling tournament held here last Saturday. Ames, Illinois, and Purdue captured the first four places in the standings column.

The wrestling team for next year, built around Templin as a nucleus, and with all other members of the squad back except Woelfer and Captain Peterman, should be among the strongest in the conference.

Brayton Speaks to Press Club Tonight

Col. A. M. Brayton, publisher of the Wisconsin State Journal, will talk to the University Press club at its meeting in S. G. A. parlors of Lathrop hall at 5:15 this evening. His subject will be "The Position of Colleged Trained People in the Newspaper World."

A new system of weeding out delinquent members of the club will be installed at this meeting. All those who are absent without excuse from two consecutive meetings will forfeit their membership.

Anyone who is unable to attend should notify Kathryn Perry, Badger 314, or send a written excuse to the meeting.

feature came with the 440 yard swim, when Wheeler of Illinois, a freshman, was defeated by Lampher of Minnesota, who had already entered the 100 yard swim. With this victory went glimmering Wisconsin's last hope of victory.

In commenting on the outcome of the meet, Steinauer had no excuses to offer. "The best rounded team won and to them should go the credit of the championship. We have no excuses to offer and are proud of the showing made by our team," said Steinauer.

There will be a meeting of the Varsity and Frosh squads this evening in the gym at 7:30 o'clock at which time captains will be elected and the medals won by the Varsity men will be presented.

STRONG FINISH MARKS BADGER INDOOR SEASON

Track Men Promise Competition For Outdoor Meets

mile relay. Spetz marked up six points.

Capt. "Al" Knollin and Dale Merrick were the other Badgers to win first places, Knollin winning two heats and the finals in the 60 yard high hurdles, and Merrick tying with Landowski, Michigan star, in the pole vault.

The Badger captain defeated the class of the Middle West when he took the hurdles event. Entered against him in the final were Johnson, Illinois, Sargent, Michigan, and Anderson, Minnesota. The Gopher was disqualified for upsetting three hurdles, after Knollin beat him to the tape in a close finish.

The promised pole vault duel between Merrick and Landowski was fully carried out when the men were deadlocked 12 feet 6 inches for first place, leaving the other entries behind at 11 feet 6. They failed in three attempts to clear the bar which had been raised to 12 feet 9 inches.

As usual, Merrick won the toss for the first place medal. He had tied with Gardner, Yale, in the 1921 Penn relays and with Landowski in the Urbana relays, and each time he has correctly called the toss. With supremacy still undecided, the two contenders for Mid-Western pole vault championship will have to await the outdoor season to finish their argument.

McClure and Hamman tied with five other vaulters for fourth place.

"Pete" Platten tied with Moorehead, Ohio, for second place in the high jump. Platten bested a large field in the event. Osborne, Illinois champ, leaped three inches higher than his nearest competitor. Gibson, Wisconsin's second entrant, tied for fourth.

Guy Sundt finished second to Northwestern's point winner in the shot put. Dahl bested the Wisconsin weight man when in his last try heaved the weight four inches farther than Sundt's best mark.

Relay to Illinois

The relay, among other things, went to Illinois which started Schlappizzi, Ayres, Sweet, and Fessenden. Wisconsin finished fourth behind Iowa and Chicago. The Badger quartet was composed of Stolley, Wade, Johnson, and Spetz.

Both records broken were shattered by Illinois men and had been formerly held by Suckers. Capt. H. N. Yates clipped 1 and 2-5 seconds off the half mile record made by D. E. Brown, Illinois, in 1920. Wharton's time of 9 minutes 41 and 4-5 seconds broke the record set up by A. H. Mason, Illinois, in 1916. The downstate athlete ran a beautiful race and finished with a burst of speed which carried him over the line ahead of his mates, Swanson and Scott, and in front of Furnas, Purdue, who led until the last lap.

Three men tied the conference record of 5 and 2-5 seconds in the 50 yard dash. Ayres, Illinois, and Moorehead, Ohio State, equaled the time in preliminary heats, and Brookins, Iowa, negotiated the distance in record time to win the final for Coach George Bresnahan.

nois, 956.75; Purdue, 708.00; Nebraska, 339.00; Ohio, 276.75; Iowa, 235.00.

The Badger gym team will compete in one more meet this season, that given by the Northwestern Gymnastic Society of Minneapolis, on Saturday, March 25. Minnesota will be the only other school in the Big Ten which will enter a team in this meet.

In the fencing meet which was held in conjunction with the gymnastic meet, Illinois got the championship, and Chicago and Wisconsin tied for second place.

Badger Acrobats Place Second in Chicago Gym Meet

Cop Three First Places But Fail to Score Enough to Win

Wisconsin placed second in the Western Intercollegiate Gymnastic meet last Saturday. The first places in three of the six events were won by Badger acrobats, but Chicago surpassed Wisconsin in the total number of points, thereby copping off the first place.

The season started with a fairly bright outlook for the Badgers, but at the end of the first semester, several of the best men, including Kubosch, were ineligible for conference competition. It was only through the able training of Coach Fred E. Schlatter, that several of the men who were practically raw material were brought up to the standard of conference stars. It may be supposed that if Coach Schlatter had had all of his best men eligible to enter this last meet they might have taken first place instead of second.

Medal Winners

Four medals were awarded to the men placing highest in each event. The medal winners in the various events were as follows:

Horizontal bar—E. Carlson, Minnesota, first; Morris, Chicago, second; L. Carlson, Minn., third; Bushman, Purdue, fourth.

Side horse—Kletzien, Wisconsin, first; Hanson, Wisconsin, second; Schneidenbach, Chicago, third; Rudy, Purdue, fourth.

Flying rings—Kessler, Chicago, first; Porth, Wisconsin, second; Leitz, Wisconsin, third; Schneidenbach, Chicago, fourth.

Parallel bars—Porth, Wisconsin, first; Kessler, Chicago, second; Schneidenbach, Chicago, third; Koch, Wisconsin, fourth.

Tumbling—Kitchen, Wisconsin, first; C. Stahl, Illinois, second; L. Carlson, Minnesota, third; Hargrave, Chicago, fourth.

Club swinging—Kessler, Chicago, first; Porth, Wisconsin, second; Moore, Purdue, third; Heimovics, Illinois, fourth.

In total number of points, the standing of the eight schools which entered the meet was as follows:

Chicago, 1117.25; Wisconsin, 1071.25; Minnesota, 1016.00; Illi-

A Friendly Statement Of Friendly Service

"OCCASIONS are rare in a life time which justify the use of the personal pronoun in seeming self-advertisement."

"IT IS ALSO unusual for a merchant, who has served the public for nearly thirty years, to suddenly find himself free from old connections and, feeling a restless urge to continue in active service, to plan a new store, a new organization, and in a new location."

"I FOUND myself in just this position. I have been months in planning and organizing a new enterprise about to be launched and I feel the occasion justifies a personal statement."

"IT IS MY good fortune to have lived my life in Madison. The many years of active participation in the upbuilding of Madison's retail interests have been a pleasure to me. The decision to continue in business resulted from the desire to be identified with the further development of business and community work, and the wish to be of continued service to friends, both old and new."

"THE NEW STORE is to be dedicated to 'Friendly Service.' It is an expression of what my many years of experience in Men's and Boy's wear tell me a modern store should be, the achievement of a cherished ideal."

"THE EQUIPMENT will be new, attractive, and pleasing; planned for convenient service. It will make shopping a real pleasure and I hope that it will convey the feeling of homey, friendly warmth."

"THERE WILL be a large and complete stock of Clothing and Furnishings for men and boys, and shoes for everybody. We will gain our customers and friends by offering quality merchandise at the lowest possible figures. This is made possible by our obtaining complete lines during the lowest market quotation since the 'peak.'"

"I TAKE SPECIAL pride in the new organization because it includes as my associates, two Madison young men. Mr. Harvey B. Dyer, whom you all know has served with me for fifteen years. The good news to the Madison boys and their mothers that we will have charge of an unusually fine Boys' department. Mr. Dyer will also manage the Men's and Women's shoe department which will be given a prominent place. Mr. Edwin J. Conner graduated from the University Commerce Course in 1916. Since then he has obtained considerable practical experience in accounting and salesmanship. He will have general supervision of the office and the other departments."

"EXPERIENCE HAS taught me the great value of efficient, well trained, and courteous salesmen, and the personnel of the new selling force was selected with this object in view."

"MUCH MORE CAN and will be said from time to time by the advertising man. He will enlarge on the various departments, our merchandising plans, and the time of our formal opening. He will convey his message, not by the blaring of trumpets in sensational advertising, but by the use of candid, plain business language. The store will be dedicated to good business, quality merchandise, fair profits, and friendly service."

"IT IS MY earnest desire that this new store may stand out among the foremost of Madison's retail establishments, not in a sense of rivalry or of competition with my esteemed brother merchants, but as a distinct asset and addition to Madison's business institutions. The realization of this I will consider a full measure of success. The friends I have made in my thirty years of former merchandising, mean more to me than pecuniary gain. I trust that in my new location, I will make many new and renew all old acquaintances."

"NOW, IF the proprieties of modesty have been offended by the ego of this announcement, I beg indulgence. I promise that in the future the personal pronoun will not figure in the 'KARSTENS' store publicity."

Yours for "Friendly Service,"

J W Karstens
