5 CENTS

1,000 COUPLES ATTEND NINTH MILITARY BALL

President Harding and General Hoan Send Greetings

Amid daylight scenes and mid-night splendor the ninth annual Military ball, the greatest in the history of the university, was held last night in the state capitol. One thousand medal-bedecked soldiers, sailors, marines and R. O. T. C. cadets accompanied by a thousand beautifully gowned young women combined to wile away four hours of enjoyment.

Letters of greeting to the ex-service men of the university were received from President Warren G. Harding and Brigadier General W. G. Haan of the ball committee.

Promptly at 7:45 Miss Pearl Stewart, ball queen, pressed an electric button in the state capitol which fired nine shots at two-second intervals from a French 75mm field piece placed on the lower campus, and started Wisconsin's most noteworthy military ball.

Officials Receive

The reception was held at 8:15 in the governor's office with prominent state and university officials and the ball chairman and his assistants and their partners in the receiving line. The First Regimental band led by Major E. W. Morphy played during the reception.

Cadet Col. J. Calvin Wolfe and Miss Pearl Stewart led the grand march of 2,000 gayly dressed dancers through the capitol. At 9 o'clock Harry Sauthoff, the governor's private secretary, welcomed the service men in behalf of Gov.

SIX SOPHOMORES ENTER CAMPAIGN FOR BOARD JOBS

Worth E. Shoults '23 and Thomas A. Tredwell '23, candidates for non-"W" members of Athletic board, Blanche Field '23, Thomas L. Dartnell '23, and Arthur Freytag '23, candidates for the Cardinal Board of Control, and Whitford L. Huff '23, candidate for Union board, have filed their petitions with the senate election committee.

Shoults is one of the editors of the Athletic Review and is assistant manager for the college of Letters and Science on the Exposition committee. He is treasurer of Philomathia literary society and a member of the Y. M. C. A. boys work committee. He is a member of Chi Phi fraternity.

Tredwell is a member of the varsity tennis squad and played on the freshman team last year. He was runner-up in the all-university tennis tournament last year and was elected to the honorary freshman athletic association. He is secretary-treasurer of the Tennis and Hockey clubs, is assistant business manager of the Varsity Movie, and is working on the Haresfoot pro-

EXCLUSIVE

Privileged Characters View Showings of Jumbled Varsity Movie Scenes

It was very exclusive. Only the most privileged people were there--just the movie people and the Edwin Booth people, who came to the private showing of the varsity movie to see how their production was progressing.

They sat in scattered groups about the Grand theatre and gazed critically at the various scenes which, by the way, were all very clear and well directed, and which appeared with absolutely no regard for practicalities. The ice boat scenes followed immediately after the languorous Venetian love scene and a breathless group of travelers arrived at the depot to catch a train just after they were last seen on the same rapidly retreating train. But everyone knew this was to be expected at a proof showing and took the oddities quite professionally.

Although it was a sophisticated audience, it was quite appreciative—especially at periods when certain individuals recognized themselves on the screen and responded audibly. "That's real acting," said the director as two young men registered excited interest on the silver screen. What they were interested in one couldn't tell; that is yet to be taken. In fact, one was at loss to see what it was all about. It was all very mysterious and puzzling and very exclusive.

SHERIDAN'S 'RIVALS' IS HUMOROUS, SAY FACULTY MEMBERS

English Professors Praise
Comedy to Be Presented
Today

Sparkling, piquant, bubbling with lively Irish wit is Richard Brinsley Sheridan's comedy, "The Rivals," which will be presented by the Coffey-Miller players in Music hall this afternoon and evening, say faculty members of the English department.

"The Rivals ranks with Goldsmith's 'She Stoops to Conquer' and is one of the best comedies in English literature," said Dean F. W. Roe, when asked his opinion of the play. "It is full of wit and humor of the best sort, and Sheridan is a descendant of Congreve's in cleverness. However, his comedy is much more wholesome than Congreve's; for Sheridan, with Goldsmith, revolutionized and purified the comedy of the eighteenth century. 'The Rivals' is Sheridan's most successful and charming play and will be a relief after all our present-day realism."

Prof. O. G. Campbell also spoke very highly of the piece. "The Rivals' is eminently a play for characterization as it gives every actor an opportunity to portray parts that have become almost as famous as some of Shakespeare's. Lydia Languish and Mrs. Malaprop have become household names, and the keep Irish humor of the play has made it probably the greatest English comedy of the eighteenth century."

FROSH TO GET QUICK JUSTICE AT NOON COURT

Senate Will Sentence Tradition
Breakers at Union Building

A police court to administer quick justice to violators of university traditions has been established by the student senate in co-operation with the sophomore class, it was announced at a sophomore meeting yesterday.

"It is up to the class of '23 to do its duty by establishing the traditions firmly," said Daniel O'Neil, sophomore president. "Any sophomore who finds a freshman violating the rules may bring him before the senate police court which will hold session at the Union building every noon from 12 o'clock until 1:30. This court has the same power as the student senate; the freshman will be sentenced accordingly and punished immediately."

As a help in locating freshmen who are not wearing their green caps, red stripes will be worn on the sophomore uniforms, and those freshmen who "hide behind their uniforms" will be located the more easily. A schedule of freshmen classes will also be kept and the freshmen watched carefully.

"Dan" O'Neil urged that the class of '23 fight the rumor that the $500 tuition bill has been passed. He declared that it has not been passed and that the faculty have arranged an organization to fight the bill.

TO GIVE AWAY FOBS AT EXPO

Souvenirs Will be Made as Engineering
Exhibit

University of Wisconsin watch fobs turned out by the thousands while you wait is the special stunt being planned by Earl Hanson '21, chairman of the shops exhibit of the College of Engineering at the University Exposition. Spectators will see a strip of brass being fed into one end of a specially constructed punch press and completed watch fobs issuing from the other end. These will be given away as souvenirs of the exposition.

A washing machine run at full speed by a water motor will be available for the use of spectators. It is believed by the engineers that it will run in strong competition with the laundry operated by the Home-Economics girls in their model cottage.

Show Shop Work

Examples of the work done in the shops, including foundry work, gear cutting, tool making, general use of the lathe, and work of the blacksmith and carpenter shops will be among the more technical exhibits.

"Turn the crank and write Wisconsin" will be the sign over a mechanical device that will do just that. Nor will it be a rubber stamp but a genuine pencil-written word

SHIFT LINEUP FOR BALL TILT WITH CAMPION

Bat Wielders Play Second Game at Randall
Today

A shifted Wisconsin lineup will take the field against the Campion college nine in the second preliminary baseball game of the season at 2:30 this afternoon on the Camp Randall diamond. The contest scheduled with Milton college yesterday was postponed indefinitely because wet grounds made fast play impossible.

The Badger outfield will remain intact for today's game with the exception of the left field position, in which "Rollie" Williams has displaced Hardell. Williams has the edge on Hardell because of his speed on bases and his ability to work the pitchers for a walk. In center field, Carl Ceaser has practically cinched a regular place, and Snow is billed to perform in the right garden.

The biggest shifts in the Badger squad are in the infield. Lyman, second baseman, has been replaced by Captain "Rowdy" Elliott, who has been transferred from his usual shortstop position. "Chuck" Ruediger is the newcomer in the infield. He will be stationed at third base, and Farrington will take Elliott's job at shortstop.

Allan Davey is slated to catch against the collegians, but Coach Guy S. Lowman is undecided in his choice of a pitcher. Either Allan H. Miller or Charles Paddock, who hurled for the freshman team last year, will do the mound work for Wisconsin.

Team in Good Shape

With the exception of a few sore arms, the team is in good condition after its easy win over Northwestern college. Weakness in base running was the major fault of Wisconsin players in the initial contest, but Coach Lowman expects to overcome this before the

ATHLETIC REVIEW IS ON SALE TODAY

After a delay of two days the second number of the Wisconsin Athletic review, revived athletic publication, will be on sale in four buildings and on the hill today.

"W" men in cardinal and white sweaters will be out in force in Agricultural hall, the Engineering building, Physics-Economics building, and Bascom hall, as well as at the foot of the hill, to distribute copies of the baseball number.

More than 50 photographs of athletic interest have been incorporated in this issue of the athletic review, and there will be large sections devoted to crew, baseball, and track.

SKYROCKET OBELISK

MORITURI TE SALUTAMUS.

The following is a compilation of the Duke's and a certain Third Floor Back with the much appreciated aid of one Baron Bed with whom we have often been associated at home and abroad.

We are just returned from a hard night of tutoring under Ben Turpin for tomorrow's mid-semester's exams. We face tomorrow's tests with renewed vigor as we have learned to read what our neighbors on both sides are writing while appearing to be looking at our watch.

Third Floor Back having come home from a dance, slightly inebriated with the light that lies, etc., etc., alleges that spring has come, and contributes the following:

MENDEI AND SONS' SPRING SONG

He was a typical moonstruck Frosh, and she was a Sweet Young Thing, and they each pursued their separate paths until it came to the spring. They met at a dance in Barnard's hall, and he offered her his wing, and they sailed away in a sprightly hop; remember 'twas in the spring. They twirled around for a turn or two, and he fell in love with a bing; he thought she had most seductive eyes, they were full of the promise of spring. He went back home with his head in the air, and he wanted to dance and sing, for that's what a pair of feminine eyes will do in the season of spring. Then he went quite mad for a week or two, and he wanted to buy her a ring, and he mooned to his friends of her limpid eyes, and he blurted that love was king. But she was a flapper of canny mind; she was wise, was the Sweet Young Thing, and she'd been in love with many a Frosh in the merry old months of spring. So she ran away with a guy with a car, for she didn't care a thing for the brogen heart of the moonstruck Frosh who had fallen in love in the spring. Then he pined and he moped till he grew quite thin, and his heart was full of sting, and he died in the fall, and his last sad words were "Damn the season of spring." So give ear to my tale, beware of the vamps who blossom in the spring, and turn a man's mind to muggy mush, and make him a pitiful thing; when canoes in the lake go swish and plunk, and the silvery tin-a-ling of co-ed voices fill the air, the sweet scented air of spring; beware my boy, go hide your head, heed not the bewildering, and sirenish sighs of the fair co-eds which flourish in the spring. For better far is the hermit's cave with its sorrowful whispering than the false wiles of the fair co-ed which come to life in the spring.

A BALLAD

They were drifting on Mendota
They were sitting in the stern
She had her hand in his'n.
He had his hand in her'n.

The moon waxed pale and paler.
The waves began to churn.
But the two of them kept sitting
Kept sitting in the sren.

But woe, alack, alas, the night
With ire her cheeks did burn.
But still they kept on sitting,
Oh, he will never learn.

Velvet tolled the hour of ten,
Hoheward they did urn—
She with her hand in his'n,
He with his hand in her'n.

ATTEND NINTH MILITARY BALL

John J. Blaine, who was unable to attend, and the official ball picture was taken.

During the dancing, brilliant lights thrown from the balcony played through the marble interior combing on the brightly colored gowns and striking uniforms to make a gorgeous spectacle.

The President's Guard went through the silent manual with bugle accompaniment as special feature at 11 o'clock. Four cadets gave an exhibition, and the dancing continued.

Two of Thompson's orchestras played from a stand erected in the rotunda. Bright arc lights were used throughout the building to enable the staff to take motion pictures of the affair.

The following letter of greeting was received from President Harding by assistant chairman E. C. Caluwaert:

THE WHITE HOUSE,
Washington.

My dear Mr. Caluwaert:

Please allow me to extend through you to the ex-service men of the University of Wisconsin, on the occasion of the Military Ball at the capitol on April the eighth, my hearty greetings and most kindly assurances. As I understand it, the ball is given by the Cadet Corps of the university in honor of the ex-service men in the student body.

I wish we knew more about the number of splendid young men who left their studies in colleges and universities to serve their country in the great war, and what proportion of them have since returned to their academic duties.

For one, I should feel that the sacrifice which these young men made was very much greater in the case of any who by reason of their military service have since been deprived of the privilege of continuing their academic work.

Every encouragement should be extended to the young men who interrupted their college courses in order to enter the service to resume and complete their courses. The college men did a magnificent share of the great work of the war, and it is a great pleasure to make this little acknowledgment of our obligation to them.

Yours very truly,
WARREN G. HARDING.
Brig. General W. G. Haan sent the following letter to the president of the Red Arrow club regarding the ball:

Mr. Robert McCoy, Pres.,
Red Arrow club,
University of Wisconsin,
Madison, Wisconsin.

My dear Mr. McCoy:
I had hoped to get away in order to accept your kind invitation to attend the Military Ball given in honor of the ex-service men by the cadet corps of the university, April 8th. The conditions as to pressure of business in Washington make it impossible for me to get away.

I should like indeed to be present and attend the ball in order to renew my acquaintance with many of the men who belonged to my division, and other ex-service men.

Please present to the club my sincere regrets in not being able to accept and my best wishes for their future prosperity.

Very sincerely,
W. G. HAAN,
Brig. General.

Singing plaintively of her love who has a "Red, Red Nose," Isabella, the maiden aunt of "Miss Quita," played by William Purnell '22, almost succeeds in capturing Ralph Waldo Emerson Smith, who has come to Mexico to escape the aridity of the United States under the eighteenth amendment regime. Waldo, played by Reginald Garstang '22, has about decided to seek solace for life in the plentiful cellar owned by Isabella, when Hubert Townsend '23, in the role of the vampish Paprika, wins his heart.

Around this complication the comedy plot of the Haresfoot club's twenty-third annual production is built. The club will complete its spring tour on April 22, arriving in Madison for the formal first night performance Friday, April 22. A matinee and evening performance will follow on Saturday, April 23.

Purnell played the leading woman's comedy role in last year's performance of "Mary's Lamb," which had such a successful reception last spring. He is president of Haresfoot club and is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity.

THE CONVOCATION CROWD

THE attendance, or rather the lack of attendance, at the all-university convocation Thursday afternoon was a disgrace to the student body and a witness to the threatened collapse of the old Wisconsin spirit.

Out of 7,000 students something like 450 braved the fair weather to attend. A committee meeting of the Exposition would have been better attended. Hundreds of empty chairs greeted the president of the university and the other speakers who appealed for support in putting over the biggest feat of the year.

Various excuses have been offered. The weather was too good to sit inside and listen to speeches. The meeting was not sufficiently advertised. It isn't enough to have banners and front page stories in the Cardinal, posters all over the campus, and a brass band out in front of the armory. It takes more than such feeble publicity as this to pack the armory.

But excuses do not excuse. Had there been a tea dance at some Terpsichorean palace the toddling couples would have been crowded together like bananas on a bunch fresh from the tropics.

Maybe this represents the new Wisconsin spirit. Heaven forbid! It is a mockery of the motto of the university and a burlesque on the motto of the state which supports the university.

Surely, this indifference will not last. The traditions of the past are too firmly rooted to be torn up by a momentary lapse. But the students must resolve that the lapse is only momentary. The hope is that the pendulum will swing far on the other side and that Wisconsin spirit will assert itself again more vital and more achieving than ever.

Meanwhile, the challenge for every student to do his share in getting the Exposition before the people of the state remains. This is a comparatively simple matter and will require but little time away from the pleasures of life.

During the recess every student can approach his friends at home and invite them to attend. Some students may be in a position to address civic clubs on the subject. Others can visit the editor and ask him for liberal space in the newspaper.

This is an appeal which will be gladly met by every true Wisconsin man and woman.

DON'T MISS THE PLAY

THERE are two good reasons why Music hall should be crowded today at both performances of "The Rivals" to be presented by the Coffey-Miller players. First, the play itself is well worth seeing and the character of the players assures a pleasing presentation. Second, the price of admission will be money well invested.

The proceeds of the performances will go to the student loan fund of the university. The benefits of this fund are unquestioned. More than 200 loans were made, averaging $53 per person.

The maintenance of this fund is a matter that should recommend itself highly to the student body. Education is made possible yearly for scores of students who otherwise would be compelled to quit school.

Help this movement and at the same time witness a splendid play presented by high class players. You may attend either at 2:30 this afternoon or at 8 tonight.

CONGRATULATIONS!

AT certain times in the career of every editorial writer, he finds a subject for which the English language does not contain enough superlatives to fill the bill. Such a task is at hand in congratulating those responsible for the Military Ball for the splendid party they conducted last night.

There is no hesitancy in remarking that future social functions at Wisconsin will have to strive hard and heartily to equal the attainments of the ninth annual Military Ball. In every respect and from every view and vantage point it was an unequalled success.

From drill call to taps four altogether too short hours were filled with a wholesome enjoyment that penetrated to the very heart of each of the 2,500 dancers. All in all it was a great event, and the Cardinal takes this means of congratulating the university cadet corps for a party without a parallel.

AVAUNT BETTY!

Dress Form Sidetracked by Ingenious Device Made of Paper.

Apparently the ingenuity of the home economics department of the university extension service, college of agriculture, is unlimited. In a recent booklet issued by the division there is described the method of cheaply and simply making a dress form of paper on which to fit the clothes the housewife makes for herself, without going to the expense of buying a "Betty."

Says the pamphlet: "Many women would make their own clothes if they had some way of fitting them.

an on the farm, for her nearest neighbor is not likely to be accessible when the new skirt is to be reason, the paper dress form—which can be made at a cost of from 50 cents to $1—is very practical and

MOLIERE COMEDY TO BE GIVEN BY FRENCH STUDENTS

A picked cast of French students will present Moliere's comedy, "Le Medicin Malgre lui," popular at the Comedie Francaise in Paris last year, April 27, in the concert room of Lathrop hall.

The comedy was chosen because the lively action and fun are so obvious that they are intelligible even to those who are unfamiliar with French. The plot unfolds the adventures of an innocent young man who is forced to be a doctor in spite of himself, and is ordered to cure a love-lorn maiden who is pretending dumbness because her ambitious father will not let the course of her true love run smoothly.

The complications arising from the double pretence of doctor and patient furnish some highly amusing comedy. All is well at last when the hero wins the father's consent by inheriting a fortune.

The play will be the important annual presentation of the French department. Mlle. Fernande Helie and Madame C. H. Greenleaf, both of the French department, are directing it. The complete cast will soon be announced.

Marinello Phantom Powder

Makes the Skin Soft as Velvet

Produces a waterproof yet harmless coating. A boon for evening use, as it does not rub off. Invisible, and marvelously natural in effect.

The Marinello Phantom Powder is a wonderful improvement over liquid powder in that it does not rub off and soil clothing or lose its beautifying effect. It is a clinging powder that is applied with a sponge after the skin has been treated with milk or water. It is waterproof, but can be easily removed with Marinello Lettuce Cleansing Cream, sold by us.

What the Label Says

Sponge the skin with milk and allow to dry. Then rub sponge over Prantom Powder and apply a thin coating. Rub in with tips of fingers and repeat if necessary. If skin is very oily, dilute milk with water. For wrinkles use sour or buttermilk. When milk cannot be obtained, water may be used. Keeps skin soft and smooth as velvet.

ANNUAL VOTE
BILL IS KILLEDSenate Rejects Gamper
Measure by 12 to 10
Vote

Taking up both Friday and Saturday calendars, the senate worked for two hours Friday, mainly on local matters.

Assemblyman Gamper's bill to make elections for two officers and supervisors annual, met with defeat in the upper house by a 12 to 10 vote. This bill would have repealed the act of 1918 providing for three year terms.

The senate passed the following appropriation bills—$5,400 for public instruction in institutes and reading circles; $31,000 for the legislative library; $4,000 for the potato growers' association; $5,000 to James Salisbury for injuries received at Tomahawk Lake camp; and $5,000 to the state humane officer.

Sen. Bennett's bill to establish a Juvenile Protective Bureau to care for defective and dependent children, passed the senate and now goes to the assembly for concurrence. The upper house also passed the Burke bill permitting the state to buy land held by counties for default of tax payments to be used for forestry purposes.

The Nye bill to extend the time for payment of local taxes to six months as Milwaukee's low now exists, was passed and sent to the assembly. The senate gave final concurrence to the Young bill permitting county to raise the maximum rate of interest on highway bonds from 5 to 6 per cent.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 60 at 4 p. m. The lowest was 39 at 7 a. m. Rain-fall was .68. The sun sets at 6:32.

Heavy rain fell in the lower Mississippi valley last night during the passage of an area of low barometer which is now in the lake region. Much colder in Wisconsin and upper Michigan. Moderate rain fell over most of the region east of the Missouri valley and snow flurries continue in North Dakota and Montana. The temperature continues high in the east and south but is unseasonably low in the west. The thermometer fell to 6 above in Wyoming this morning.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Without a weak spot from A to Z, the Orpheum offering for the last half of this week, including the three performances on Sunday, is all that lovers of this popular form of amusement can wish for. Top-notch honors are divided between three stellar Orpheum circuit acts, in "Step Lively," a dance cycle, featuring Mildred Rogers and her quartet of boys; Stella Tracy and Carl McBride, in "Bits of Exclusiveness," and Howard Langford and Ina Frederick in the skit called "Shopping." Nevins and Mack, black-face comedians, are producing the laughs with their patter and songs, while Miss Jean Boydell, eccentric comedienne, and Monroe Brothers in a novelty act, and the Kinogram pictures complete the bill. There will be matinees today and tomorrow.

President Harding has conferred an honorary membership in the Pi Delta Epsilon honoristic fraternity.

Selenium oxychloride is the most powerful solvent now known to science. It dissolves rubber, glue, enamels, hydro-carbons, and such products as remanel, bakelite, and condensite, which are used as substitutes for amber in making tobacco pipes and other industrial purposes and were formerly considered insoluble in all known solvents. Experimentation on the solvent has just begun, according to Dr. Lenher and the 24 graduate students who are working with him on this compound.

The raw material from which the compound is obtained was once a waste product from the electrolytic refining of copper. Until Dr. Lenher's discovery, selenium oxychloride was considered as merely a laboratory curiosity. The solvent, which is a heavy golden-colored liquid, is rapidly finding its place in many industries.

regular Big Ten baseball season starts.

The Badgers fielded well, and several of their five errors can be ascribed to the poor condition of the field. Bunched hits which gave Wisconsin an early lead over Northwestern showed that the Badgers can swat the ball in the pinches, but the total of nine safe hits, only one of which went for more than one base, has caused Coach Lowman to devote more attention to stickwork.

"The men showed up well in this early season game against Northwestern," said Coach Lowman on Friday afternoon, "but their base running and hitting can be considerably improved. The players seemed to lack alertness, and only two men were successful in stealing bases. The fielding was good, considering the handicap of a muddy field, but a wide-awake interest in the game and more pep is needed before Wisconsin begins the long grind of a conference schedule."

Today's contest will be the first for Campion college which has an untired team. The Campion nine ranks with the best in the Wisconsin "Little Five" athletic conference and is expected to give the Badgers a close battle.

The Wisconsin batting order follows:

A report on the results of the Psychology, intelligence tests given the freshmen of the University of Arizona during last fall was recently presented to the faculty by Dr. F. C. The series of tests show that the men of the freshmen class are on the average more intelligent than the women of that class.

With the help of his committee he has also arranged for a short advertising movie which will be shown at the Strand theatre beginning Sunday. Advertising the exposition by means of street banners, which have been placed all over the city, has been another feature of this committee's work.

Bailey is a member of Phi Gamma Delta. He was business manager of the Home coming programs in 1920 and is advertising manager of the Daily Cardinal this year. He is a member of the advertising club.

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

Mack Sennett's "Small Town Idol," featuring Ben Turpin, Marie Prevost, and Phyllis Haver, is being shown at the Strand Theatre for the last times today.

Passionately and madly in love with the village belle, Phyllis Haver, Ben's troubles begin at the close of the very first episode, which shows a crowd at a race-track with Ben the jockey hero riding at brief notice to a victory.

His triumph is quickly turned to disgrace by the machinations of J. Wellington Jones (James Finlayson) who, with his henchmen and fellow plotters, succeeds in damning the reputation of the small town idol so that he is forced to flee to the city.

In the city Ben has no better luck than in the country. An evil genius still pursues him and he seeks death. He believes he will find surcease from his sorrows in a self-inflicted finish that shall not leave behind him the appearance of suicide. He "doubles" for the hero of a thrilling motion picture in a climax scene wherein the noble youth is shown plunging from a bridge to the waters, hundreds of feet beneath. By some mischance, Ben's dive is a great success. He can't even commit suicide, and, greatly against his will, he is given the hero's role and so finishes out the great "western thriller," the heroine of which is the piquant Marie Prevost. It is in the "picture within a picture," incidentally, that the grand aggregation of beauty, referred to in the opening paragraphs, is shown in a pageantry of perfect loveliness.

A personal appearance is arranged for the village theatre and Ben returns in triumph. The lost son comes home again, the prodigal is fed upon the fattened calf and there is joy over the repenting one—only Ben isn't repenting, since he never did anything to repent of.

But things turn out far differently from his dreams. The villain gets busy, weaves new webs for his innocent feet to stumble upon, and finally, nothing less than a murder charge is brought up against him. The fair Phyllis is again abused in her affections concerning him and is led to believe the worse—from all which evils Ben is finally directed by an ingenious twist in the story which brings the loving pair together and puts the villain where he belongs.

THE GRAND.

"Passion" the ten reel super special depicting the romance of the little French milliner whom the world came to know as Du Barry, which has been playing at the Grand since Sunday, will close its engagement to-night. Pola Negri, the continental star who appears in the leading role, has won a host of admirers by her masterful portrayal of Du Barry, and should she appear in any future screen production, she will receive a warm welcome from the local movie fans.

AT THE FULLER.

"Don't Neglect Your Wife!," the Goldwyn picture now being shown at the Fuller Theatre, is the first story written directly for the screen by one of America's greatest living woman writers, Gertrude Atherton. As in her books, so in this photoplay, Mrs. Atherton gives us the problems of a beautiful, young married woman who has been disillusioned in her husband and has found herself caring for a distinguished editor. The domestic triangle is solved in a very plausible manner, but with a dramatic intensity impossible to attain when the characters involved are the usual flappers one sees too often on the screen.

After all, the mature woman, with her ability to cope with life, is a far more interesting screen subject than a girl whose sole appeal lies in her prettiness. But in Mrs. Atherton's story, the wife happens to be the beautiful Mabel Julianne Scott; the husband, that excellent actor, Charles Clary; and the other man, Lewis S. Stone; all three of whom give sterling performances which make the story take on the semblance of flesh and blood.

The action of "Don't Neglect Your Wife!" takes place in San Francisco and the old Five Points section of New York. The picture was mounted gorgeously by Goldwyn and directed splendidly by Wallace Worsley.

FIRE GUNS ON LAKE MENDOTA AT EXPOSITION

Military Department Will Demonstrate Automatic Weapons

The lake will be cleared for a special demonstration of automatic weapons which will be held by the military department during the University Exposition as part of their exhibit. Automatic rifles, machine guns, and the use of the tracer bullet will all be shown at this time.

Two motion pictures will be shown in the military booths during the entire time the exposition is in progress. "New Glory for Old" is a picture taken of the work of the American signal corps in France. "America in the Air" will show views of American aircraft both in France and in the United States.

The whole exhibit of the military department will occupy two large booths. Radio and signal corps equipment will be set up in one booth, and messages will be received by radio and wireless telephone from the Physics department, according to Major, J. S. Wood.

The ordnance booth will contain aircraft, bombs, machine guns, powders, explosives, shells, fuses, and range finding instruments. The infantry department will display trench mortars, automatic rifles, and grenades.

An exhibit of field artillery, too large to be placed in the booths, will be shown outside the armory.

BREEDER TALKS TO LIVE-STOCK CLUB

"Selling pure bred live stock is the best way to market farm products," declared J. L. Tormey of the Short Horn Breeders' association, in an address to the Saddle and Hurlin club, Thursday evening, April 7. "At the present time it takes one bushel of corn to pay the freight on three bushels of corn from Omaha to Chicago. You would have to write back for more hay to pay the freight on alfalfa shipped from Montana."

Mr. Tormey had just returned from visits to Ames, and the University of Illinois. He declared that the live stock at the University of Wisconsin compared very favorably with that of those two sister universities.

TO GIVE BANNERS FOR AUTOMOBILES

In an effort to place the University Exposition before all of the people of the state, special banners for automobiles will be distributed free of charge at the office in the Union building this afternoon.

These banners are made of muslin, and are one and a half by three feet in size. All those who have machines are requested by the committee to get one of these banners, which are specially designed to be placed on the back of automobiles.

WRESTLING COACH GRAPPLES TONIGHT

After being defeated in 36 minutes by the "Mysterious Conductor" Charley Challenger, former world's champion lightweight wrestler, Coach George T. Hitchcock, Wisconsin wrestling instructor has challenged Challenger to a finish match, two falls out of three, to be held tonight at the Elk's circus.

The "Mysterious Conductor" eagerly accepted the defi, and will meet Hitchcock for the second time to decide supremacy.

On Thursday, Coach Hitchcock surrendered to the traveling grappler after Challenger had subjected him to a series of painful toeholds, from which Hitchcock was unable to escape. He was severely punished. In the match tonight, the hold and all grips which border on the edge of illegality will be barred.

ATHENA CHOOSES JOINT DEBATERS FOR NEXT YEAR

Philomathia Holds Senate Session and Discusses Irish Freedom

Athena literary society elected a joint debate team at a meeting last night that will oppose Philomathia at the fifty-first joint debate next spring. A senate session on the Irish question and a debate on dealings in small grains interested Philomathia and Agricultural literary society.

Athena elected Melbourne Bergerman '22, Samuel Sygman '22, and Abraham Kaufman '22 to be members of the society's joint debate team for next year at a meeting tonight. Stanislaus S. Jordan '22, and Martin R. Kriewaldt '22 were elected as alternates. This team will meet Philomathia's victorious team at the fifty-first annual joint debate to be held next spring.

A no-decision debate on the advisability of freeing all political prisoners now being held in the United States was followed by a discussion of the question from the floor. The affirmative was supported by William Haber '23, and the negative by Edgar B. Kapp '24 and Ted. H. Field '24.

Harold R. Noer, grad, former Athenaeon joint debater spoke to the society of the importance and value of joint debating. Herman Wendroff '22 was elected to the society.

The negative won a debate at a meeting of Agricultural Literary society last night at which Thomas Amlie '22 was judge and critic. The negative asked that the United States government make no move to prohibit trading in "futures" in small grains. Helmer C. Casperson '22 conducted parliamentary drill.

Philomathia Literary society resolved itself into a mimic session of the United States senate and reconsidered action taken on the Irish question on June 6, 1919. Members of the society, impersonating various notable senators, discussed the following resolution: "That the United States senate expunge from its records the blot placed there by the adoption of the resolution in favor of Irish freedom passed June 6, 1919." After lively discussion the motion was carried by a small majority.

Four short addresses on timely subjects, which included "The Crime Wave and the Movie," and "The Mexican Constitution," were presented by members of the society.

CARROLL COLLEGE GLEE CLUB PRESENTS PLEASING CONCERT

By P. B. L.

The Carroll College band, a jazz band of six instruments, played with "pep" by enthusiastic musicians who were dressed as clowns, was the novelty of the program given by the Carroll glee club from Waukesha at the Christ Presbyterian church last evening.

A delightful program, well balanced, ranging from popular and classical numbers to dramatic sketches was given to Madison lovers of talent.

The glee club sang in clear well modulated voices which showed ability. "The Night Is Still", a song by Clark, deserves special praise for the fine expression and harmony. Other songs rendered included, "Carmena Waltz", by Wilson; "Amnipotence" by Schubert; and "Hark! The Trumpet Calleth" by Buck.

Miss Ruth Mattas gave several recitations, "The Selfish Giant" by Oscar Wilde and Elsie Livermore's "In Line", which showed her ability both in dramatic and humorous sketches. Dramatic ability was also shown in the one act play, "A Proposal Under Difficulties", a humorous production which was enacted entirely by the men.

The quartette proved their worth and showed the fine training of their director, Frank Ormsby, lyric tenor, when they sang, "Thinking of Thee," by Drusler, and "One Fleeting Hour" by Dorothy Lee, in blended, harmonious voices.

"Because I Love You", a song by Hawley, sung by Maurice Swain was rendered in a clear pleasing manner.

Freitag is publicity manager of the Octopus, and is actively engaged in work on the University Exposition. He was a member of the Who's Who staff last year. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and of Inner Gate.
