THE LAKE GENEVA YACHT CLUB

The Lake Geneva Yacht Club is one of the oldest clubs on the lake. It was organized in 1874 by N.K. Fairbank, George L. Dunlap, Julian S. Rumsey, General A.C. Ducat, John W. French, John Bullock, A.C. Calkins and Al Lytle.

The racing boats for the first few years were sandbaggers varying from approximately fifteen to twenty-five feet in length, and they sailed against one another with time allowances. Every time the boat came about these sandbags had to be shifted to the windward side.

In 1891 the club was reorganized, and in 1894 it was combined with the West End Yacht Club and was incorporated as the Lake Geneva Yacht Club. The sandbaggers lasted until 1900, then the Class A and B boats of the Inland Lake Yachting Association were introduced. This class B boat which is no longer raced on Lake Geneva was in between the Class A and our present day class E boats. They carried a crew of four, and many of the old sailors who used to sail them still consider them the ideal racing boats for the Inland Lakes.

The club had its own building on Cedar Point from 1906 to 1915 but was not able to renew its ground lease in 1916 to the ground on which it stood which was owned by N.K. Fairbank. In the years that followed until 1926 when the present club site was purchased the races were started from various piers on the lake belonging to club members.

The club now has a number of exceptionally fine trophies, among which the Dr. Schmidt Memorial trophy and the Sheridan trophy are the most coveted. The Sheridan trophy is a miniature silver yacht modeled from Julian S. Rumsey's topsail sloop "Nettie" which won the first race held by the club August 31, 1874. This time-honored race arranged in honor of General Phil Sheridan who came to Chicago in 1869 as Commander of the Department of Missouri. He was a frequent visitor at Lake Geneva as a guest of many of the founders of this summer resort. In addition to the Sheridan and Schmidt trophies are the Wacker, Chalmers, Ripley and Shadow Hills trophies and the cups presented by Col. Pelouze, Martin A. Ryerson, J.J. Mitchell, J.E. Hall, Mrs. M.A. Healy, B.E. Adams, L.Z. Leiter and Mrs. Kate R. Papin.

The present officers of the Lake Geneva Yacht Club are A.F. Gartz, Commodore; H.S. Hamlin, Vice Commodore; Harold R. Hough, Rear Commodore; Ernst C. Schmidt, Secretary-Treasurer and F.A. Anderson, Fleet Captain. The trustees are B.E. Adams, E.P. Ellwood, H.N. Gifford and Col. W.N. Pelouze.

After the War there was a lull in sailing on Lake Geneva, and it was due primarily to the untiring efforts of Dr. Otto L. Schmidt that sailing was restored. He introduced the E boats on the lake shortly after the war to take the place of the B class which had gone out during the war. If it hadn't been for Dr. Schmidt at that time, we would not have the well-organized club we now have. Too much credit cannot possibly be given to him for what he did for the Club and sailing on Lake Geneva.

MISSIONARY TO INDIA VISITS FRIENDS IN WILLIAMS BAY

NEWS ITEMS

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Sawyer had a few friends call at their home on Geneva Street last Monday evening to meet Rev. Brother Basil CSC, of Kenosha, Wis., who has returned to America on furlough after eleven years spent in missionary work as teacher in St. Gregory's High School in Dacca, India.

Brother Basil displayed many beautiful articles brought from India, work of the natives, costumes, weapons, ivory carvings and many pictures. The wood and ivory carvings and embroidery work are extremely beautiful. In one small seed were a dozen tiny ivory carved elephants and some small seeds contain 200 tiny carved ivory elephants, which can only be seen thru a magnifying glass; carved brass vases and rosewood boxes, exquisitely embroidered jackets and silk shawls, also prayer rugs and native costumes and jewelry.

There are 800 students in St. Gregory's High School and six languages are taught in the school.

Rice is chiefly the main crop grown and food of the natives, although it is not profitable to grow, the demand having fallen off since the World War.

The American religious conduct three high schools, 20 preparatory or "middle schools and 100 primary schools, with a total enrollment of more than 7,000 pupils. One high school has a student body of 1,100 and another 750, most all being Anglo-Indian or Indians.

MRS. G. VAN BIESBROECK WAS HOSTESS FOR L.A.S. LUNCHEON

at her home on Constance Blv'd last Tuesday, July 12. There were 44 persons served. Assisting Mrs. Van Biesbroeck were Mrs. Ralph McDonald, Mrs. Roy Johnson and Mrs. O. Hermanson.

Mrs. Walter Jewell and Mrs. D.J. Oetjen will be hostesses for the luncheon on Tuesday, July 19, at Mrs. Jewell's home, 94 Jewell

Williams Bay and vicinity was visited by a severe wind and rain storm accompanied by much electricity Tuesday night, the second in ten days. The rain while it lasted was torrential but did not do as much damage as the one before.

Hundreds of trees were blown down all over the county and a number in Williams Bay. The transformer on the pole on Elm Street was struck by lightning and users of the power in this circuit were without electricity for seven hours. However, our community is very fortunate in the damage done by such storms as it seems to suffer the least compared to other communities visited by the heavy storms of late.

One of the actors in the play at the Belfry Theatre had an exciting experience the evening of the storm when two trees fell back and in front of his car while driving along the highway to Lake Geneva.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Kutzke of Kenosha, parents of Mrs. Leslie Sawyer, her niece Patricia Ann Ecklor, and Billy Ecklor, nephew, are visiting in the Sawyer home on Geneva Street.

CEDAR POINT PARK ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

The association met last Saturday afternoon in the Williams Bay School auditorium for the election of officers.

G.F. Pattlock was re-elected President; L.A. Mc Kenzie, 1st Vice-President; E.J. Geiger, 2nd Vice-President; H.B. Spencer, Sec'y-Treasurer.

Glenn S. Reid was selected Ch'm of Grounds Committee.

Six Directors were elected, names will appear next week. 64 were present with 172 proxies.

Drive, at one o'clock. Mrs. Arthur Anderson, Mrs. Blake Burton, assisting committee.

A DVERTISEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Wares are mourning the death of their infant daughter, born last Friday, July 8, at the Walworth County Hospital. Mr. Wares is a member of the staff at Yerkes Observatory. Their home is in Loch Vista.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Popkin, who live in the Sawyer lake shore cottage each summer, have disposed of their business block and store in Oak Park, and will live in Wms Bay for six months of the year and in Florida six months, making the Bay their legal residence.

Mrs. Popkin is a sister to Mr. D.J. Oetjen. Their daughter, Mrs. Mildred Schwaß, Oak Park, is well known in Wms Bay.

The Williams Bay Committee for the American Red Cross, Mrs. L.A. Hollister, chairman, gave $25.00 toward the Lake Geneva Water Safety Patrol from the funds received in last fall's campaign.

Junior Anderson, son of B.B. Anderson, Cedar Point Park, entertained forty boy friends, including his classmates in the Wms Bay school, at a party for his 10th birthday on July 3rd. The group enjoyed a full day of fun and sport from 10 A.M. to 10 P.M. An outdoor barbecue was one of the novel ways of entertainment, toasting marshmallows and sandwiches. A swimming contest took place in the afternoon. Bruce Lockwood won first prize, Dick and Mel Spence Jr., second and third prizes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Schroeder (May Eckdahl) and son Ronald, Maywood, Ill., are spending some of their vacation with Mrs. Schroeder's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Eckdahl. They spent part of their vacation enjoying a trip to Mexico.

The flowers at the Wms Bay Congregational church, last Sunday, July 10, were a memorial for the late Rev. Arthur F. Newcomb, who died on July 12, 1929, serving as pastor of the church for 14 years.

JULY FOURTEENTH IS BIRTHDAY ANNIVERSARY OF DR. E.B. FROST

To-day, July Fourteenth, marks the seventy-second birthday anniversary of Williams Bay's most distinguished citizen, the late Dr. Edwin Brant Frost, who was a former director of the Yerkes Observatory, who died on May 14, 1935.

Everyone who knew Dr. Frost learned of his deep and earnest belief in the law and order of the universe. In Dr. Frost's booklet-"Science and Religion" Series-"The Heavens Are Telling", Dr. Frost writes as follows-

"As science progresses, order and law become more and more recognizable, in the test tubes or in the stars.

It seems to be a sacred and reverent duty to thoughtful men to go on with the study of these laws and to find man's relation to them. When they bear most heavily against him, he will seek to adapt himself to them, and he will always have as a supreme illustration these words of Christ, "Thy will, not mine, be done."

The quest of science is the Truth within the material universe; that of religion can be no less limited in its range, but refers more particularly to moral truths and the relation of man to the Creator and to his fellow men. It is hard to see why there should be an apparently deliberate effort to develop or to maintain an estrangement between these two forms of effort to gain useful knowledge.

We have no worry about miracles. The marvels of life and growth that are daily seen about us in a natural way seem miraculous almost beyond belief, yet they are observed facts. Who can find the mathematical formula under which that little bulb in my garden, subject only to the environment of soil, water and of air, can send up its shoots in April each year, and develop in its exquisite detail the trumpet narcissus, always essentially the same and gathering up from its surroundings that delicate odor characteristic of it? Beside it may grow the dandelion, subject to the same external conditions, but so different in the result.

Again, we are still very far from understanding how the frail, bright-hued bird can find his way across some hundreds of miles of sea and thousands of miles of land, back again to that maple tree where last year the nest was built. Yet, when at last such mysteries are solved after patient research, it will, of course, be found that they are operations of natural law in God's world. For Omniscience and Omnipotence there are no miracles. The development of a human being is doubtless as complicated as that of a star, but from the atom to the star and from the miracle to the man, we can believe that the same divine power holds sway."

INTERESTING PEOPLE

Mr. Otto H. Amling and family of Maywood, Ill. are at the Jorgeson cottage in Buena Vista. Besides Mrs. Amling, four daughters grace the home, Mrs. Flora Sandvoss (and son, Timothy), Norma, Ruth and Verna. Under the firm name of A. F. Amling and Co. their specialty is roses. There are twelve acres under glass. 200,000 bushes are used for cut flowers and another 50,000 are for garden planting. Some 75 varieties are cultivated.

Between 8,000 and ten thousand tons of coal are used annually and there is a payroll of between 125 and 150 employees.

Welcome to Lake Geneva, Mr. Amling and family.

A WEDDING IN A BEAUTIFUL LAKE SHORE SETTING.

The editor happened along just in time last Saturday afternoon to see a beautiful sight at the Dr. Dinwoody home on Lake Shore Drive in Lake Geneva.

Rev. E. L. Killam was uniting in marriage Mr. Charles Bartlett of Milwaukee and Miss Gladys Healy of Champaign, Ill.

The bride has been teaching in Aurora, where the bridegroom had formerly resided with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bartlett, before going to Milwaukee with Miller, Bryant & Pierce Co.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Healy of Champaign.

The bride's maid was Miss Grace Ervin, Champaign, the best man was a brother, Kaley Bartlett. The ushers were Dr. G. W. Williams Aurora and Frank Wamsley, Milwaukee.

The Edward E. Bartlett's have rented the Dinwoody home for the season.

The bride and groom will make their home in Milwaukee.

CELEBRATE 35TH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Krema, who reside year round in Country Club Estates, went to Manitowoc, Wis. last Sunday to attend a dinner in their honor at the Manitowoc Hotel on the occasion of their 35th wedding anniversary. Manitowoc was the former home of Mr. Krema.

COUNTRY CLUB ESTATES RESIDENT SUCCUMBS TO CEREBRAL HEMORRHAGE.

Within a few hours after reaching the Presbyterian Hospital in Chicago to which she had been rushed after stroke at her summer home in Country Club Estates, Mrs. Elizabeth Deadman, wife of Dr. Frank E. Deadman, passed away.

Mrs. Deadman had been a good neighbor and her passing away was a real loss to her summer friends as well as her city friends.

Mrs. Deadman was active in Club work and was especially interested in patriotic organizations, to which she was entitled to belong, such as Daughters of American Revolution, Daughters of American Colonists, Daughters of 1812. She also was a member of Austin Women's Club and the Austin Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. Deadman was only in her early fifties. The death occurred on July 4th. The Deadmans were among the first to purchase lots and build in Country Club Estates.

Her friends in giving the editor the news stressed the capability for making friends which was Mrs. Deadman's happy faculty.

Stories of 100 Years Ago Around Geneva Lake

Under the heading, "Sixty Years Ago," this series of articles giving reminiscences of pioneer life at the head of Geneva lake was written 40 years ago by Cyrus Church, pioneer settler, for The Observer, the first newspaper published in Walworth. The Walworth Times and Bay Leaves and Lake Geneva Observer, are cooperating in reprinting these interesting stories of early days.

EARLY MAIL FACILITIES

In the year 1837, we received all the mail we had from Chicago. I think I received two letters from home in the course of the summer, and mailed two to Trumbull county, Ohio, to my father. That was about the extent of my mail the first year.

The settlers on the north side of the lake, and further east got their mail at Racine. Visits to the post office you may imagine were not very frequent, and whoever made the trip had to bring mail for the whole neighborhood, but this would not be a burdensome load.

In 1838 a post office was established at Geneva with Andrew Ferguson as post master, and another at Delavan lake, then called Swan lake. The office there was about three-quarters of a mile beyond the inlet. William Phoenix was post master. It was there the settlers at the head of the lake went for mail, and many a time have I followed the trail which led to Mukwonago, to go to the post office. This trail crossed the inlet to Delavan lake, which was then a clear stream with gravelly bottom, the water not more than 12 inches deep. Both these post offices were supplied from Racine.

Some time after, a man by the name of Potter took the contract to carry the mail from Chicago to Madison, making weekly trips. A post office was then established at Bell's corners and William Bell was appointed post master. Quite a number of settlers came there for their mail, chiefly letters.

The postage rate was 25c on each letter. It could not be paid in advance, but must be paid by the one to whom the letter was delivered. There were quite a number of instances where men would call and ask, "Is there a letter here for me?" "Yes." "Well, I want it, but I have no 25c to pay for it, and I can't get the money." Some would shed tears to think that there was a letter from the dear ones far away, and they could not get it. The post master could not trust out postage money, but from kindness and sympathy he would often tell them that they might go to work at some job he would name, and work out the 25c. That meant half a day's work, 50c a day being common wages then. The offer was gladly accepted.

Ingenious schemes were devised by some people to avoid paying postage. Sometimes certain marks were made by the sender on the outside of the letter. (There were no envelopes then, letters being folded and sealed with wax or wafers.) The meaning of these marks would have been agreed upon beforehand, and if the one to whom the letter was sent had not the money to pay the postage, he could tell by a glance at the letter whether or not all was well at the home he had left. Postage on papers was much cheaper, and many times these were sent with certain words marked which, when joined, would convey the message which it was desired to send.

In the early '40s a stage line was established from Southport, now Kenosha, to Beloit. It ran along on the north shore of the lake. A coach and four horses was driven, and carried passengers and mail, supplying the offices at Geneva and Bell's corners. At this time a post office was established at Williams

Bay, with Captain Israel Williams, the pioneer settler there, as post master.

The driver of this coach would announce his coming by loud blasts on a tin horn. The road was in horrible condition some of the way. He would make the trip to Beloit one day and back the next, changing horses once on the road.

After several years the stage route was discontinued, and our office was supplied from Dundee, Ill., a man by the name of Hill carrying the mail weekly. About this time politics commenced running the mail service. In Buchanan's administration Mr. Bell was removed from office and we had a regular "secesh" post master. He kept the office just across the road from Mr. Bell's place.

After Lincoln's election, Christopher Douglass was appointed post master and the office removed to Douglass' Corners, or Walworth village, where it has remained ever since. It was supplied some time from Marengo, Ill., and for a number of years from Darien, then finally from Harvard. It was changed from weekly to tri-weekly, and then daily, coming late in the afternoon.

It is now changed to give us the Chicago morning papers every morning except Sunday.

It is a wonderful change to me, and it is with pleasure that I think of the past, and see what progress time has brought about. We are pleased with the late change to give us the morning news. I see the Elkhorn Independent calls it an "outrage," but it's the kind of outrage we like in Walworth and we take very kindly to it.

FIRE AT FONTANA

The editor happened to be in Fontana last Saturday morning in time to see Fontana Fire Dep't put out a fire which nearly gutted the home of E. Shallenberg on 1st Avenue, across from Butter Nut Inn.

It was necessary to run the hose into a creek at the corner of North Shore Drive for water supply, taking a few moments time.

Fontana needs a water system badly for fire protection.

Fortunately the owner was well insured as clothes and all were destroyed, or badly damaged.

YOU CAN'T MISS WILLIAMS BAY, NOW.

The entrance to Highway 36 where it branches off of Highway 50 has often been passed by, even by residents of Williams Bay, let alone strangers. Ganord Andell, a Chicago policeman, whose wife operates Andell's Resort, and by his work appreciates what giving directions means, spent several days of his vacation in securing contributions toward lighting up the sign at the corner so it can be seen night and day.

He met a hearty response as seen by the list of donors, which is by the way a very good directory of business firms in the Bay.

BEGINNINGS OF ELGIN CLUB

In June of 1873 a party of men from Elgin went to Lake Geneva for a few days fishing. When we arrived at the Lake we engaged Billy Woods (a retired sailor) to take us to the camping grounds in his schooner, which was then the only sail boat on the lake. We pitched our tent near what was then known as Mallory Spring (a beautiful spot, and one of the finest springs to be found). A few days later some of the men went back to Elgin, but Mr. Mosely and I decided to remain a few days longer. A day or two after, on a Sunday morning, at about 3 o'clock we heard a terrific noise, which was caused by a wind and lightning storm. We hardly had time to dress when the rain fell in torrents, and in a few minutes the straw that we had been lying on, was floating in our tent, and we were drenched. The storm lasted only a short time and at daybreak the sun was shining beautifully.

While eating our breakfast I casually remarked that it would be nice to own a lot or an acre facing on the lake for a camping ground and put up a small house, so we could be protected from such a storm as we had a few hours before. Mr. Moseley said " Lavoie, this is a good suggestion, and why not follow it up; we can look up some desirable spot today and whatever we decide on, you can count me in as your partner ". We put the entire day walking on the lake shore passing Morefield's land (which later was bought by Hall of Dundee, and a hotel built). On our way back to camp we stopped at the entrance of the creek, near the present location of the Elgin Club House, and liked that spot so well that we spent a few hours and ate our lunch there.

We found a nice spring a short distance from the lake shore, and soon decided that this would make an ideal camping ground. While there we had a call from one of the natives, who proved to be Mr. Mc Manus, owner of the adjoining property. Mr. Mc Manus inquired about the object of our visit and we told him we were looking for a small piece of land of an acre or so for a camping ground, and we also inquired who owned the property we were on. He said it belonged to an old gentlemen who agreed to sell it to some Chicago party so that it could not be bought. He remarked that he owned better farming land and would sell us an acre fronting on the lake for $200. We went to see his property, which did not compare with what we had seen, and told him that we would think the matter over and see him later.

When we returned to our camping ground that evening we had decided on three locations. Our choice was our present camping site near Mallory Spring which we soon found could not be had. Our second choice was an acre including the creek (now Elgin Club) and the last one, an acre from McManus. As the Mallory Springs land could not be had, we decided to make an effort to get the land near the creek, now Lakeside Park. Mr. Moseley advised me to remain and look up the land matter, then he returned to Elgin. While in Geneva I found the County Surveyor, Warren Beckwith, a man about sixty years of age, thoroughly posted about values of lake front property and the owners. I inquired about the owner of the land we wished and he said it belonged to John Wyckoff, an old man residing at Walworth. He said that the property could be bought as a whole, about 16 acres, but he did not think I could buy one acre. On that same day Mr. Beckwith drove me to Walworth where we found Mr. Wyckoff. He said that he would sell the whole 16 acres at $30 an acre but would not sell an acre. I was so astonished at the low figure that I hardly dared to accept his offer. I told him that one acre was all that I wanted, but if he would take $25 cash per acre I would take the whole piece. After a short time my proposition was accepted. (Continued next week)

THE BELFRY PLAYERS

When the curtain opened for the first showing of "Post Road" last night, there were audible gasps of appreciation from over the audience at the beautiful set created for the play. The antique furniture against a background of blue walls, with white wood painting, was most effective for the New England rooming house setting. Credit for the scene design and execution goes to Frank Wachowiak of Winona, Minn., who has received training in Hollywood.

Mr. Popa of Gary, as director of the play and also playing one of the leading roles, deserves the highest praise for his work in this production, which was one of the most finished plays the Belfry Players has ever presented. The play is to be showing again tonight and Friday and Saturday.

The plot of "Post Road" centers around Emily Madison, a middle-aged spinster, her sister and brother-in-law, a kidnapped infant, and a gang of kidnappers. The Kidnappers find in this old maid a stumbling block in their nefarious, money-making scheme.

The personnel of "Post Road" is made up of the following—Anne Butterfield, Alene O'Holleran, Stewart Mathison (all three of Hebron); Virginia Buell, Olive Longland, Lawrence Trovinger, Joe Diegnan, all of Lake Geneva; Betty Singer, Frances Ambrose, Jane Reynolds, Franklin Roach, all of Williams Bay; Anna May Berman of Darien; and Ben Skalitizki of Walworth.

A group of 35 retired Y.M.C.A. secretaries from the L. Wilbur Messer Chapter of the Chicago Area, who are having a conference at College Camp this week, enjoyed a lawn party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.S. Hotton on Parkhurst Pl., Tuesday afternoon.

"TANNHAUSER" TO BE GIVEN AS MAJOR PRODUCTION OF SUMMER MUSIC FESTIVAL AT WHITEWATER STATE TEACHERS COLLEGE

Preparations for one of the most ambitious musical programs ever presented at the Whitewater State Teachers College are rapidly advancing. This summer as a major production for the festival will be the concert version of the opera TANNHAUSER by Richard Wagner. The festival is announced for Monday evening, July 25, beginning at 7:30 on the front campus of the college. There will be a chorus of fifty voices from the student body. The entire production will be under the direction of Paul McMains, with Mrs. Roxa Pritchett and Winifred Cobb, doing the duo-piano accompaniment. A brass quartet, through the courtesy of Mr. Sidney Mear will assist.

The title role of Tannhauser will be sung by Hollis Newman, tenor. Mr. Newman is a 1938 graduate of the college and from the McMains studios. He is well known for his many concerts and radio appearances.

The role of Elizabeth will be sung by Angela Huenink, dramatic soprano, a member of the student body. Miss Huenink is an active member of the MacDowell and Arion Clubs of Milwaukee and has also appeared as soloist with the Milwaukee Opera Chorus.

Alfred Hotton, baritone, Williams Bay, will sing the arias of Wolfram. Mr. Hotton is a well seasoned artist from the McMains studio and a member of the Belfry Theatre group.

The lesser roles of Venus and the Shepherd will be taken by Janet Nelson, mezzo-soprano and Chapman Leffingwell, tenor, respectively.

The performance will be open to the general public without charge. And as a suggestion, members of the audience would do well to bring campstools, shairs etc, as seats are not reserved and usually chairs provided by the college are filled to more than capacity. In case of rain the concert will be held in the auditorium.

ance during April. The 400,000 persons so aided, represented a 12 per cent increase over April 1937.

ROCKFORD YOUTH DROWNS IN LAKE AT FONTANA

Ray Dunda, 28 years old, of Rockford, drowned at Fontana Beach last Sunday afternoon. Mr. Dunda with a group of friends had come for an afternoon outing on the lake. The members of the party had all been swimming and he was not missed until a few hours later when his clothing was found in a bathhouse, and the guards had gone off duty for the day.

Mr. H.C. Paterson, director of the Water Safety Patrol was called and came from Lake Geneva to Fontana in the New Patrol Boat in seven minutes. He dove for the body and recovered it in ten feet of water. On examination of the body it was found to have been in the water for two hours.

The victim was an unusually good swimmer and it is believed he was seized with cramps, or had heart trouble.

GARDEN CLUB BENEFIT PARTY IS A VERY ENJOYABLE AFFAIR

There are fifteen volunteer guards on the lake to assist the regular guards and an attempt will be made on all beaches to eliminate the cluttering up of the beach. The volunteer guards are in charge of this work.

The Patrol has a new service, that of Lost and Found. Cards will be mailed in the near future to lake property owners asking their cooperation in helping the Safety Patrol to find lost boats and equipment.

About fifty ladies attended the benefit card party for the Williams Bay Garden Club at the E.C. Blo-meyer estate "Sunny Hill" on Tuesday afternoon. Bridge, Lexicon and 500 were played.

First prize for high score in Contract bridge was won by Mrs. Ibsen of Cedar Point Park. Second prize by Mrs. Wm Freytag, third prize, Mrs. L. Henyey. First prize in Auction bridge went to Mrs. Fischer; second prize to Mrs. Austin. Mrs. L.A. Hollister won the door prize. Nearly $50.00 was made for the club.

Assorted cookies and ice tea were served.

TO LOVERS OF LAKE GENEVA

"Lake Geneva Observer" is published particularly for those who live on the shores of Lake Geneva. (Note that the editor uses the name by which the lake is known the world over.). In making a canvass for subscriptions recently some were found who apparently are living on the lake and have experienced no thrill at all from the lake in its various moods. Others travel the world around and come back more thrilled than ever with its beauty.

If Lake Geneva Observer appeals to you, send in your subscription, sponsor or otherwise to help gather material, such as the poem above, historical material such as the Story of Elgin Club or the History of early days. In the making is a series of stories telling human incidents connected with the various estates on the lake.

The paper will be delivered only to subscribers after this issue.
