Three Wolverine Pitchers Fail to Stop Wisconsin Sluggers at Ann Arbor

6,000 SEE BIG BATTLE

(Special to Daily Cardinal.)
ANN ARBOR, Mich., May 30—Three pitchers could not stop Wisconsin here Monday afternoon and the Badgers won a flawlessly played game, 4 to 1.

Home runs by Ceaser and Elliott and a three-base hit by the latter were responsible for the Badger's count. They obtained only two other hits. Paddock held the Wolverines to four safeties, all singles.

Recalls 18 Inning Game

Repeating their final season performance of last year, the Badgers knocked Michigan from chance for first place tie with Illinois. Michigan students, 6,000 of whom saw the game were still talking about Wisconsin's 18-inning game here a year ago today.

Dixon lasted less than three innings. Elliott, who was first up in the second inning, greeted him with a home run. Rollie Williams walked to open the third and scored on a four-base line drive by Ceaser over the left fielder's head. Elliott's clout was the longest here this season, and Ceaser's blow ended Dixon. The final Badger score came in the eighth inning when Elliott drove R. Williams in with a three-bagger.

Michigan scored its lone tally in the seventh on two hits and a base on balls.

The box score:

COMMENCEMENT BEGINS SUNDAY

Pipe Of Peace Used First Back In 1891

The Pipe of Peace ceremony, first used by the class of 1891 in accordance with the old Indian custom of extending the hand of friendship and brotherhood, will be revived this year at the ceremony, held on the evening of June 12 on the lower campus.

The pageant, representing the old custom of the Wisconsin Indian tribes, consists of two principal parts, the presentation of the calumnet, or great pipe, and the calumnet dance and chant.

Miss Helen H'Doubler's classes in dancing will give the appropriate calumnet dance, assisted by the State Historical society in properly presenting the picturesque ceremony. The setting on the lower campus will be a ring about 100 feet in diameter with a rack for a pipe, an Indian drum for the chant and a bonfire of red fire for the burning of the sacred tobacco. Philip E. O'Neil will deliver the Pipe of Peace oration, and Wayne Morse will be the junior recipient. Samuel Becker will be the Medicine man.

Red Books Will Be Mailed to Seniors

Seniors whose work is incomplete, and who are planning upon attending summer school, may attend the baccalaureate and class-day exercises, and may sit in the panoramic photograph, but are not permitted to march in the procession or to sit with the seniors at the exercises.

The Red book, containing all information concerning commencement, will be mailed to each senior on June 5. Extra tickets for relatives may be obtained by applying in person to the office of the faculty secretary, 151 Bascom hall.

Boyd Predicts Drop In Price of Music

John L. Boyd, head of Boyd's orchestra, has sent out the warning for all social chairmen not to sign orchestra contracts for next year, as the price of orchestras will drop. With the same aim in view, a joint meeting of Pan Hellenic association and Intrefraternity council will be held tomorrow at 7:15 in Lathrop parlors to vote upon a resolution which asks that all music contracts for next year's fraternity and sorority dances be prior to September 25.

Wisconsin's orchestra prices are higher than Michigan, Illinois, Iowa or Purdue among Conference colleges, but this is the first definite action to lower them. Walter Porth, '23, one of the committee appointed to present the resolution at the joint meeting of the organizations, will select a committee to work with Boyd and Thompson this summer for the purpose of reducing prices.

Library School to Graduate 23 Women

Twenty-three women students of the Wisconsin library school will be graduated at the Commencement exercises to be held at 8 p. m., on June 8, in the lecture room of the public library.

With this issue, the Daily Cardinal will suspend publication for academic year, 1921-22. The first issue of the summer session edition will appear on Monday, June 26, and the first regular issue of the 1922-23 Cardinal will be published on Tuesday, Sept. 19.

Dr. John Huston Finley Will Speak at Baccalaureate Exercises

Approximately 1,000 students will receive degrees this year for completing the required amount of work in the various colleges of the university.

The 1922 commencement will begin Sunday, June 11, with the baccalaureate exercises in the men's gymnasium at 4 p. m., at which John Huston Finley, LL. D., former commissioner of education for the state of New York, and president of the University of the State of New York, will speak.

Class Day.

The Ivy oration will be given by David J. Mahoney and the Ivy ode by Katherine E. Rockwell and Eleanor Sheldon; the planting of the Ivy by William K. Collins.

Pipe of Peace Ceremony

At 10 p. m. the Pipe of Peace ceremony will be held on the lower campus. This is to take the place of the senior class play, and plans have been completed to make it a bigger celebration than in other years.

Commencement day activities will begin at 8:45 on Wednesday morning, June 14, with a university procession, which leaves the upper campus.

At 9:30 a. m. the commencement exercises will be held at the agricultural pavilion. Commencement orators will be Sterling H. Tracy, representing the College of Letters and Science; Ray T. McCann, (Continued on Page 8)

After the review the cadet corps will march to the upper campus to attend the exercises in a body.

Twenty-one Gold Star mothers will be guests of honor at the services. They will be escorted to their seats by the members of the University post of the American legion.

Maj. John S. Wood, commandant of the military department, will read the Gold Star role and will direct the wreath bearing ceremony.

IN MEMORIAM

The literary marsh has lost a carp, Walt's gone, crank up the psalter and the harp.

For delving 'mongst his stock of brass and tin, He chanced to find the synonym for Schwinn.

No longer will that gall inflated pate

Afford the Cardinal a paper weight, No longer will his rancid, spavined prose

Necessitate the holding of ones nose.

For once the shouter has no word to say,

Of course the world will miss the asses bray,

The Sigma Nus will miss his sickly grin,

But not a soul will miss the bray-ar, Schwinn.

No longer will the pouter strut and prance,

Walt's gone, on with the music and the dance.

Large Sum To M.E. Hospital By Marshall?

Reported Former Judge Made Request Denied By A. A. McLeod

It is reported today that R. D. Marshall, former justice of the supreme court, who died last week, has left the sum of $500,000 to the Methodist Hospital here.

Judge Marshall was a wealthy man and he left a large estate.

A. A. McLeod, clerk of the supreme court, who was very close to Judge Marshall, denied today that there is any provision in the Marshall will, leaving $500,000 to the Methodist Hospital. Mr. McLeod said that he was familiar with the contents of the Marshall will. He stated further that it will be filed for probate in several days.

BOOKLET GIVES UNION HISTORY

The complete story of the Memorial Union is told in the new book, "The Memorial Union," written by Prof. E. A. Gardner, which is now out and which will go to every subscriber tomorrow.

"It is a highly commendable piece of work," said Prof. W. H. Kiekhof of the Economics department, in criticising the book. "It is a graphic portrayal in words and pictures of the university's need of such a building and gives an excellent account of what the Union Memorial will mean to the whole university."

The history of Wisconsin's growth from '49 up to the present day is portrayed in picture and story. The frontispiece shows the entrance to the new building under which is a statement of high commendation for the whole project from Pres. E. A. Birge. Words of support and praise from influential alumni as well as active university leaders, depict the hearty support from those in the college and out.

Lake Mail Service To Begin June 1

Marine Mail service will begin operating June 1 on Madison lakes, it was announced by Postmaster W. Devine this morning. Contract for the work on Lake Mendota is in the hands of Rolf Anderson and on Lake Monona by W. C. Wirka. Possible service to Lake Waubesa later on was intimated by Mr. Devine. Service will not be given to cottages other than those who have a regulation box placed in deep enough water to allow of the carrier approaching without endangering his boat. One trip a day will be made until Sept. 15 when the season closes. It is understood that the present camping season will be the largest ever experienced along the lake shore as all the cottages have already been taken for the season.

Agrics Will Do Research Work

Students of the agricultural economics department will receive one or two hours credit for special research work done during the summer months, in the study of the experience of retired farmers in certain localities of the state. The students will fill out a questionnaire to be supplied by the agricultural department from information obtained from the farmers and will write an essay on the facts gathered.

Questionnaires may be obtained on application to Guy M. Peterson, 307 Agricultural hall.

MEMORIAL DAY

MARKED by appropriate ceremonies for the occasion, the university will conduct exercises this morning in honor of Wisconsin soldiers and sailors who lost their lives in service. May 30 has been set aside as a day to pay our respects to our soldier dead.

To too many of us Memorial day means just another holiday, a time to take a much-needed rest, go on a picnic, or do a little reviewing for exams. We should devote at least a part of the day to paying our respects to the men who gave all they had that we might live in safety.

Much has been said of the achievements of Wisconsin men living, and they are notable achievements worthy of all praise, but enough cannot be said of Wisconsin men who died before their great opportunity came.

Students and alumni will shortly erect a building in honor of the university men who died in the great war. Today would be an excellent opportunity to honor the men in another way. It will be a simple thing to attend the exercises on the campus at 10 o'clock, but it will mean a great deal to the Gold Star Mothers who will take part in the ceremony to know that we have not forgotten, and that the sacrifices they made was not in vain.

AN END AND A BEGINNING

A GAIN Commencement. In a little more than a week some hundreds of seniors will go forth with recognition of four years' achievement. All have been successful; many have been extremely so, and will leave with their breasts gilt-laden, heavy with golden symbols of excellence. Wisconsin has offered them her best, and they have helped themselves. Now it is their turn to give to the world.

Today they are seniors, crowned with dignity in this little world. For four years they have been here, in the whirl of study, play and activities; they are ripe, seasoned with experience.

Tomorrow they will be freshmen, yearlings in a greater world. They, together with a verdant host of others, will start at the bottom. This sheepskin scroll, these gilded trinkets, will mean little then. The world no longer winds its watch with a key; it has no time to read Latin. It looks for results, whatever the source.

Seniors, the world will little note nor long remember what you did here; but it will ever need the spirit you have learned here. The world is sick; it needs your work. For years you have received, received the best Wisconsin had to give. Now it is for you to give.

Wisconsin's graduates have a great record for achievement, for gifts to the world. They have builded this state; many have gone beyond and done great things for the nation and the world.

Seniors, you will be graduates tomorrow. Go, and do likewise

"OLD WISCONSIN'S JEAN VALJEAN"

"OLD WISCONSIN'S JEAN VALJEAN," a poem in memory of Henry Cochems '98, one of Wisconsin's greatest orators and athletes, who died in Chicago Sept. 27, 1921, was written by John Talleyrand McGiveran '77.

Henry Cochems, who came from Sturgeon Bay, holds the university record for shot-put and hammer-throw, and participated in many athletic and literary activities while at the university, including sophomore semi-public, joint debate, sophomore class president, president of the University of Wisconsin Republican club, track team four years, substitute on the football team, vice-president of the Athletic association, and vice-president of the Western Intercollegiate Athletic association.

The poem follows:

OLD WISCONSIN'S JEAN VALJEAN

He is not dead, he is with us yet
Although his spirit has been called home.
That benign smile we can ne'er forget;
He will live in the galleries of Greece and Rome.

Wisconsin ne'er bred another like that:
Physical excellence and mind so keen;
Silver tongued giant and Marathon man:
A Demosthenes and a Jean Valjean.

He is not dead, hear that merry strain?
Rippling strong with its ring of cheer.
Though his allotted span was cut in twain
In the joy of life he lived many a year.
Thank God for knowing a man like that,
Just loaned to enlighten and broaden the scene.

Please God keep the pearly gates ajar
For Old Wisconsin's Jean Valjean.

A RETROSPECT

ANOTHER year has gone its way and in its trail have come success and disaster, triumph and despair, joy and sorrow. It is customary to say of each expiring year that it was the most successful the university has ever witnessed. However, since such a bold statement smacks of convention rather than an original discovery, and since the success of a passing season cannot be appropriately and absolutely compared with its predecessors, is it not sounder to say that this year has been happily successful and to leave out obvious observations?

Success is measured by accomplishments and it is beyond the bound of human ingenuity to measure one year with another. Of course, many original and commendable activities have been ventured upon with interesting results. The deeds have been so obvious as to call for no comment.

Last year was a good year. It proved the fact that the Wisconsin spirit is not a mere name, not a vague platitude, but a living, ever present force, a powerfully moving stream. That stream is the Spirit of Wisconsin which has for over 70 years flowed on irresistibly towards a goal.

STUDENT COURT ELECTIONS

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:
In order to explain why sophomore Agrics were not permitted to vote in the Student Court elections on Friday, the elections committee calls attention to the following extracts from the referendum which governs elections to the Student Court:

"The juniors in the above named colleges (Letters and Science, Agriculture, Engineering, Law, Medicine, and Commerce) shall be supplied with ballots and shall from and in their respective colleges elect one of the five so nominated. The sophomores in the colleges of Letters and Science, Engineering, and Commerce shall similarly elect one of the five so nominated."

It will be noted that no provision is made for sophomores in the College of Agriculture to either be nominated for the office or to vote for the office. It is probable that the small registration in the College of Agriculture is responsible for this ruling of the referendum. The elections committee, whatever their wishes might have been, had no recourse other than to act as the referendum directed. And it is because of this fact, and no other that sophomores in the College of Agriculture were denied a vote.

Belle Knights '23 was the spectacular batsman, making 2 three base hits, one of which brought 3 home. Irene Clayton '23, Emma Stevning '23, Dorothy Williams '23, and Belle Knights '23 played good games for the juniors, and Dora Harris '24, Esther Bilstad '24, and Josephine Snow '24 played well on the sophomore team.

"We are anxious to make this system do the most good possible to the new women, and make them feel themselves a part of the university as soon as possible, but to do this we will need the co-operation of all the women," said Jeanette Kennan '24, general chairman of the system.

Jazz Music Is Unwholesome, Declares E.B. Gordon; Urges Parents To Stop Sensualism

"When the people of this country realize that jazz music is unwholesome and evil, then we shall have passed a milestone on the road of progress," said Prof. E. B. Gordon, in his talk at the luncheon of the Kiwanis club today at the Y. M. C. A.

"Young people are excessively emotional, and jazz music makes an appeal to the baser emotions. Parents and educators should make a desperate effort to do away with this over-indulgence. If the young people of today are not given the opportunity to give vent to their emotions in a decent fashion then they will find a much worse outlet.

"I cannot speak about music without associating it with life. Due to the automanizing of industry the American working man has more leisure hours on his hands than he ever had before. To find some way to fill in those leisure hours in an educative manner is the problem confronting the world today.

"We must find a way to train these people to enjoy their leisure hours in pleasure that is uplifting. Certainly there is no type of enjoyment that is more beneficial than music. The old conception of music as being a past time for a few aesthetic souls has passed and today we recognize it as a social agency whose worth is beyond accounting.

"By means of the radio we are now broadcasting music into the hearts of the hills where lonely ranchers can enjoy their long evenings. The coal miner in his shack can have the pleasure of the opera in his home. The farmer on the prairies can also have his entertainment due to this new invention.

As an added feature of the program the University Quartet sang several songs.

Turneure In Appeal For Y.M.C.A. Work

President of The Local Institution Says Funds Are Needed

Prof. F. E. Turneure, president of the Madison Y. M. C. A., has issued an appeal to Madison citizens for funds for the institution. In his letter, Prof. Turneure says:

"In spite of carrying a $10,000 annual interest charge on the bonded indebtedness, the Association has not made a general appeal for operating funds since the building was opened.

"We shall have to do so this year because our work has grown. The Association has already invested $2,000 in our boys' camp, and it will be necessary for us to add another thousand this season. The boys' work budget for 1922 is $8,400, of which only about one-half is covered by dues. There is no income for the large work with industrial men which the Association is developing. Yet this work alone is important enough in itself to justify a general appeal for aid. These are but a few of the items. To be exact it will take $9,250 to enable us to close our year's work without a deficit.

THE BEAUTY CONTEST

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:
Now we are introduced to a type of publicity campaign initiated by one of our well-known, and respected university magazines to fill up its columns with the stamina of education. And, again we might say that it is the most amazing spectacle, nay even tending to be phenomenal and supernatural at the strange coincidence of having a certain two or three individuals chosen out of the struggling masses of manhood and womanhood at this glorious institution of higher learning, for both of all of the campaigns representing the youth of Wisconsin.

A recent beauty contest contains in its memorable and sacred recesses certain individuals whom we often wonder over frequently in deep thought and then give up in despair at a fair and logical analysis of the situation.

Of course we all agree that these representatives of certain qualities, and who are supposed to possess the superlative degree of such, are entirely representative of the student body. The huge inflow of ballots proves this. There were perhaps, not underestimating the returns in the least, about 1000 turned in at said magazine's office. Over 6000 male students are enrolled in the university.

Once upon a time when I was a little boy, a great big man said to me, "Son, the world of ours is composed of many, a very great many doors. These doors block our paths, and in order to get through them one must either exert enough force himself or must have another do so in order to swing the door toward the opener and go through." Our recent "Beauty Contest" made me think of this little story, because certain facts which are apparently "prima facie" seem to emphasize that from somewhere outside the individuals in question, considerable force must have been applied to open the door.

"Meet 9,999 of y'r old buddies of 1917-1919."

This slogan for the Thirty-second division re-union, to be held here in August, has been adopted by the executive committee in charge of arrangements as preparations for the gathering are getting into full swing.

Letters from all over the country are pouring into the local headquarters promising attendance. A number of communications have been received from men who are in hospitals suffering from the effects of service, but want to keep posted on the re-union.

Early indications point to easy fulfillment of the estimate of a 10,000 attendance, committee members say. The capitol will be headquarters for the convention. Special preparations are being made for mothers and relatives of the men attending. Banquets for each regiment are planned. Histories of the Red Arrow division can be secured from the adjutant generals of either Wisconsin or Michigan.

Our recent was greeted with

Last Sunday we announced that not only would we build a fine new addition and remodel our present quarters, but would add a clothing department featuring

The announcement was very gratifying to the student body if we can correctly judge by the numerous congratulations we have received from men who know and appreciate these good clothes, The Style Clothes of America.

In our new clothing department we will always say to you, "It pays to buy the best." But the best need not be—and in this store will not be—coupled with high prices.

Ours will be a brand new clothing store with all brand new merchandise; no war fixtures; no war rents; no top heavy overhead; no losses to make up; no regrets. In short, a store unfettered by the many evils brought into the clothing industry by world war conditions.

Everything will be new here, even our merchandising plans under which you will be able to come here and for a fair and reasonable price buy clothes that lead in style, in quality and in dependability.

We will have a very interesting announcement to make when you return to school next semester. It will pay you well to put off buying your fall suits and overcoats until you get back, for here at The Co-op you will be able to buy the finest grade of young men's clothes at POPULAR PRICES.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

VARSITY TRACK SQUAD TRAINS FOR BIG MEET

Dope Favors Balanced Aggregation From Illinois

Having completed the dual meet season with wins from Iowa and Chicago and with defeats from Illinois and Minnesota, the Varsity track team is working into top form for the Conference meet to be held at Iowa City next Friday and Saturday and for the national track and field games to be staged at Stagg field, Chicago, on June 16 and 17.

Although the dope bucket took a flop when the strong Badger squad was defeated by a single point in the meet with Minnesota on May 20, Wisconsin possesses a number of individual stars who are sure to cop enough points in the contest next Saturday to place among the leaders of the Conference.

Spetz Outstanding

Spetz is the outstanding star of the Badger squad, his time of 21 4-5 seconds for the 220 yard dash being the best record established in the Conference this year. In the indoor Conference meet at Evanston this spring Spetz was high point winner with first place in the quarter and fourth in the 50 yard dash.

Platten, the premier Badger high jumper, is another performer who should count points at Iowa City on Saturday. He has lifted two jump records this year, the first being the Wisconsin annex record which he raised to 6 feet 4 3-8 inches, and the second being the local record at Minneapolis which he moved up to 6 feet 4 3-4 inches.

Knollin Supreme Hurdler

Captain Knollin of Wisconsin retains supremacy in the hurdles with the exception of Anderson of Minnesota who beat Knollin in both the high and the low jump and in the high and the low stick in the recent dual encounter. The Badger captain handed Anderson a beating however, at the indoor conference and may repeat. Stolley is a fast running mate to Captain Knollin in both hurdle events.

In the field events Sundt will be Wisconsin's best bet. He has placed consistently in every meet this year and is considered to be one of the best shot putters and broad jumpers in the Conference. Johnson in the quarter, Hohfeld in the half, Ramsey in the mile and Schneider in the two mile, will put in strong bids for Wisconsin in the middle and long distance runs. Ramsey and Johnson are experienced men, and they clipped off their respective events in time which compares favorably with the foremost Big Ten performers.

Dope Illini to Win

Merrick, stellar pole vaulter, will renew his fight with Landkowski of Michigan for Conference honors in the pole vault. Merrick was tied by the Michigan star for first place at both the indoor Conference meet and at the Illinois relay carnival.

There is little doubt among critics that Illinois, with a well balanced team which can take a number of seconds and thirds as well as several firsts, will run away with the Conference title. For second place it is not so easy to pick from the remaining schools, one that holds any great advantage. Wisconsin winner of second in the indoor conference will undoubtedly be a strong contender again, but the Badgers will be hard pushed by Notre Dame, Minnesota, and Michigan.

Limit Number to 10

The national meet held at Chicago was a complete success last year and will be even larger this year. The number of entries is limited to 10 from each school, and schools from all over the country

Golf Team Meets Purple Tomorrow

The Badger golf team will meet Northwestern university on the Maple Bluff course tomorrow in the last home match of the season. With only one defeat behind them, and that by a very close score, the Wisconsin team has an excellent chance of taking second, or possibly first place in the Conference meet to be held on June 19th.

The schedule of coming matches is as follows:

May 21, Northwestern at Madison.

June 16, Northwestern at Evanston.

June 19, Conference meet at Indian hill course, north of Chicago.

In the first match of the season, Wisconsin defeated Beloit college 21 to 0. The second match was lost to Chicago university by the close margin of 12 to 9. Chicago and Wisconsin are appearing as the two strongest teams in the Conference. In the third match, which was played against Minnesota, at Minneapolis, Wisconsin won by the score of 18 to 6. The last match, which was played last Friday on the Maple Bluff course, was won by the Badgers from the Gophers by the score of 15 to 3.

Prospects for the close of this season and for next year look very bright. Of the six men on the squad, four will be back in school next fall. The two who are graduating are Capen and Bauer. Four of the six men on the squad will be chosen to represent Wisconsin at the Conference meet on June 19. The following men now compose the golf squad: Capt. Frost, Pope, Stegeman, Bach, Capen and Bauer.

Tennis Men Take on Michigan Team Today

The last home athletic event of the season will take place on the varsity tennis courts this afternoon when Coach Lindens men will attempt to take the Michigan net stars into camp. The match is scheduled for 2:30 p. m.

Captain Tredwell and "Bub" Gotfredson will try to atone for their failure to place in the finals at the Conference meet, which was held at Chicago last week. There is little question but that the two Badger stars are as good as anything in the Big Ten Conference, but they have lost matches this season when both men were a little off form.

Michigan has a crack performer in Medkel, who survived all of the preliminaries at the Chicago meet. He will be matched against Gotfredson in the singles match this afternoon.

The Badgers will line up as usual, with Tredwell and Gotfredson working in the main doubles event and the Moulding-Hastings combination playing the other Michigan team.

are allowed to compete. Coach Jones is entering the same men who are picked for the Conference meet, the 10 best to make the trip.

Rossmesiel, Moorhead, and Wall, Varsity distance men who were to have made the trip have all suffered from illness that has left them in such poor condition that none of them will be able to run. The following men are the ones who will leave for Iowa City on Thursday:

Badger Entrants

High and low hurdles—Captain Knollin, Stolley.

100 and 220 yard dashes—Spetz.

440 yard dash—Johnson, McClure.

Distances—Hohfeld, Ramsay, Schneider.

Pole vault—Merrick, Hamann, McClure.

Shot put, broad jump, and javelin—Sundt.

Hammer—Nichols.

High jump—Platten and Gibson.

WASHINGTON IS NEXT OPPONENT OF BADGER CREW

Outcome Will Probably Decide Whether or Not Oarsmen Go East

The varsity crew has commenced rowing over the two-mile course twice each day in preparation for the race with the University of Washington, which will take place on Lake Mendota on June 12.

The coming race will be of special importance to the Badgers, in that it will probably decide whether or not they will partake in the Eastern races at Poughkeepsie a week later.

The outcome of the meet with Manitoba last Saturday makes Coach Vail's oarsmen rate with the fastest crews in the country, and a victory over the Westerners would make the Badgers loom up as strong contenders for honors in the Eastern meet.

Headed by Capt. Toepfer, and composed of men who are speedy, although only of medium weight, Wisconsin has a crew this season that is the equal of any ever turned out at this institution. Puestow, Oakerstron, and Prehn are veterans who rowed on the eight that lost to the champion Duluth Boat club only by a narrow margin last summer, and Jones, Scheutz, Crozier, Johnson and Hanley are fully as capable as were the veterans whom they displaced.

Considerable rivalry has come between the Wisconsin varsity and the seconds, and the latter eight loses to the senior outfit by but a few feet daily.

Interest in Big 10 Meet Centered In Second Place

(Special to Daily Cardinal)

IOWA CITY, Ia.—With Illinois conceded first place in the annual Big Ten track and field meet by a comfortable margin, a large share of interest in the meet at Iowa City next Saturday will be centered in the race for second place expected to develop between Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio State, Notre Dame and Iowa. Which of these teams will be runner-up is something difficult to dope.

Last week Minnesota defeated Wisconsin in a dual meet by 68 to 67, and Wisconsin took second place in the Big Ten indoor meet before outdoor competition got under way. Ohio State, chief representative of the Big Ten at the Penn relays, made an unexpectedly strong showing and is possessed of numerous stars. Notre Dame, with a splendid collection of sprinters, weight men, and Murphy in the high jump, will make the going hard in several events.

Michigan does not have a well balanced team, but the best Wolverine performers will score points in their pet events. Iowa won the third national intercollegiate meet at Chicago last June, and on characteristic performances the Old Gold squad may be expected to rise to the occasion this year just as Bresnahan's men are accustomed to do.

Wisconsin seems to have fallen off since the indoor season, but may come back strong on Saturday. Michigan and Minnesota have been gaining rapidly. Iowa was in top form for the Iowa state meet last Saturday and should do better in some events.

All of which calculations take no account of the strong teams to be sent by Missouri Valley universities. Missouri, Kansas, Nebraska, and Ames should all cut in heavily in several events.

The second annual gymnastic exhibition, including a wand drill and general gym program representative of the past semester's work under Coach F. E. Schlatter, was held in the gymnasium Saturday night immediately before the Venetian Night parade.

BALL TEAM TRIMS MICHIGAN AGGIES

The Wisconsin baseball team defeated the Michigan Aggies, 10 to 1, at East Lansing on Saturday afternoon. Christianson and Hoffman pitched the entire game for the Badgers, and held the Ags helpless while his mates pounded out an easy victory.

Commerce Men Stack Up Against Medics

The Medic and Commerce baseball teams will battle for the inter-college championship at 4:30 tomorrow afternoon on the lower campus.

"The game will undoubtedly be the hottest of the intra-mural season," said Manager "Eddie" Borgelt yesterday. Both nines have come through their schedules with a clean slate and both are out to cop the title. I look for some fast playing tomorrow."

 "A Whole Summer to Play In!"
 —and here are the clothes she wore

"Twas All in the Tilt She Gave Her Hat"

Of course the sunlight on the water and the rare day in June helped some, but 'twas hinted that he fell mostly for the tilt of her chapeau, which was a smart sports model of gros-grain ribbon with the sauciest possible tassel of fringe.

Sport Hats, $2.50 and up

Harmony in Costume—

Even to her hankies. She always insisted on tangerine linen hankies to match her ratine, on orchid for her orchid sport silk, and right on down the list, 25c each—and pure linen.

For Summer's Curriculum

For the class room of the open—she choose from these frocks of sheer organdie, gingham, and even chintz in the quaintest of quaint styles, dotted Swiss and printed crepes, each prophesying summer's gayeties in terms of youthful models.

They Accused Her

of being a flapper—and envied most heartily her cleverness in dressing, and the smart things she wore, especially an intriguing little necklace of jade and silver. The jade beads were joined with a filmy silver chain and ended with a tassel of beads. And with the necklace, she always wore a set of ear drops—jade, aussi, and made to match. Each was $3.50.

She Wore a Fetching Outfit composed of an Iceland wool slip-over in the softest shade of blue that deepened the color of her eyes. The white brocaded stripe Fan-Ta-Si Silk skirt was a fitting complement—he admitted that she was a perfect picture. The sweater $5, and the skirt $10.50.

Before She Left Madison—

She went to the Ladies' Barber shop at Manchester's, and had her hair trimmed a bit, and curled most becomingly. "One must always look one's best," she said, "and I've found that to be the very best place in town for hair bobbing."
