THETA XI WINS INTERFRAT TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Alpha Gamma Rho Places Second; Zilisch is High Scorer

By DON MORRISSEY
Displaying a well balanced team with strength in practically every event, Theta Xi fraternity yesterday afternoon won the annual inter-fraternity track meet in the annex of the men's gymnasium, piling up a total of 31 points.

Alpha Gamma Rho, with 26 points to its credit, placed second, and Phi Kappa Psi won third place, barely nosing out Pi Kappa Alpha by half a point, with a total of 17½ points.

Three teams, namely Delta Upsilon, Sigma Nu, and Beta Theta Pi tied for fifth place, each having a sum total of 15 points. Delta Sigma Phi, Kappa Sigma, Sigma Chi, Sigma Pi, and Tau Kappa Epsilon were the remaining fraternities with teams in the field, each finishing in the order named after the triangular tie for fifth place.

Theta Xi Wins Relay
The Theta Xi team was also victorious in the relay race, finishing the distance in the fast time of one minute 40 and four-fifths seconds. Second and third places were won by Delta Upsilon and Beta Theta Pi respectively.

Although no records were broken in any of the events, several unusually good marks were made. Schwarze, by putting the shot for a distance of 44 feet seven inches, easily outdistanced the remainder of the field in this event.

Another good mark was established in the mile race when Carter stepped the distance in four minutes 42 and three-fifths seconds. Carter won the race by a beautiful spurt during the tenth lap, passing Piper, who had led the field from the beginning. The quarter mile race was likewise negotiated in excellent time as Hill broke the tape far in advance of the remaining runners.

Some excellent skill was also displayed in the high jump and pole vault events. McGinnis, who won the former, made five feet eight inches for the winning jump, defeating his nearest competitors by almost two inches. Jones won first place in the pole vault when he cleared the bar at an elevation of 11 feet six inches.

Zilisch is High
From the list of those competing in the meet, Zilisch, Jones, McGivern, McGinnis and Carter were the outstanding stars with sum totals for each ranging from 10 to 15 points. Zilisch was high individual

GARDNER COACHES UNION BOARD MEN

Founders' Day Representatives Meet Tonight at A. T. O. House

Approximately 150 men, representatives of various towns in the state, will meet tonight at the Alpha Tau Omega house to receive a message from Prof. E. H. Gardner with regard to the part students may play in arousing enthusiasm in their home communities for the Founders' day program, to be held in February.

Professor Gardner, who addressed a similar group of women this week, on call of Mortar board, will address the men the Union board is getting together. Tentative plans have been laid by faculty members of the cooperative committee, for a series of alumni meetings to be held all over the country on Founders' day.

It is proposed that the student celebration of the birthday of the university be held in Madison. The traditions of the institution will be explained by prominent members of the faculty, alumnae body and students.

Milwaukee Club Promotes Dance In Hotel Pfister

For the entertainment of university students sojourning in Milwaukee during the holidays, the Hares club, Walter E. Bauman '24, manager, will give two dances on Friday, December 21 and the following Friday night, December 28.

Bauman has secured the Fairbanks orchestra with Merrill Taft '24 starring at the sixophone position for the first dance.

A week later at the second dance Marty Below '24 and Russell Irish '24 will appear with the Varsity serenade quartette. Al Thompson's star orchestra will furnish the music for this second occasion.

OTIS TO SING AT TODAY'S CONCERT

University Orchestra to Give First Concert of Season at 3 O'Clock

The university orchestra will give its first concert of the season this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Music hall. Major E. W. Morphy will conduct the orchestra. Baritone solos by Edward N. Otis will be a feature of the program.

Orchestral numbers from the works of the greatest composers of this program. The concert will open with presentation of the Schubert overture to the opera "Rosamunde," followed by the prelude to the opera "Lohengrin" by Wagner.

"Last Spring" by Graig will be given in the first half of the program, and the entire suite from "Sigurd Jorsalrar" by the same composer, will be the feature of the second half. This suite includes the introduction "In the King's Hall," the intermezzo, "Borghild's Dream" and the "Triumphal March" finale.

The program will include one movement from Tchaikowsky's symphony "Pathetique," and a "Slavonic Dance" by Dvorak. "Marche Celebre" from the suite by Lachner will be the closing number of the program.

Edward N. Otis will sing in English "Pleading" by Elgar, and Chadwick's "Bedouin Love Song". Mr. Otis is a senior in the college of engineering, and is a student in the voice department of the school of music.

Work of the orchestra for the entire semester has been centered on the program for this concert. The difficulty of the superior type of selections presented by this organization make impossible preparation and giving of more than one concert each semester.

ENGINEERS TO GIVE CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

"We want 600 engineers in Music hall Tuesday evening," said Dean A. V. Millar. "We have made extensive preparations and are certain of having a good time."

The program will start promptly at 7:30 o'clock and will be over at 8 o'clock. A 20 piece orchestra composed entirely of engineers and an engineers' chorus will lead the singing. Dean Turneaure will preside. A short Christmas talk will be given by President Birge.

All engineers, students and faculty members, and employees in the College of Engineering and their wives have been invited to attend.

BAPTIST CLUB WILL PRESENT BIBLE DRAMA

"The Spirit of Christmas," a bible drama, will be presented by members of the Young People's organization of the First Baptist church at 6 o'clock tonight. This is the first of a series of bible dramas which the organization will give in connection with its religious education program. The play was written by a university student, Mabel V. Duthey '24 who is also directing the cast. The leading parts in the drama will be taken by Edgar Vestal, grad; Carter Harrison '26, and Arthur Wald '24.

STATE OFFICIALS PROFFER CAPITOL FOR PROMENADE

Nolte Receives Permission to Use Building From Superintendent

Official sanction for the use of the capitol for the 1925 Prom was given to Clifford S. Nolte '25, general chairman yesterday by John Meeks, superintendent of public property. The letter, granting permission from Meeks states "I take pleasure in offering you and your committee the use of the capitol and its facilities," was received yesterday.

Several weeks ago Governor Blaine proffered the capitol for Prom, and the letter is an annual formality from the department of public property.

The letter is as follows:
I have your letter of December 8, in which you request the use of the capitol building for the annual junior Promenade to be held February 8, 1924.

Asks Care for Building
This letter is to advise you that I take pleasure in offering you and your committee the use of the capitol and its facilities. You may have essentially the same privileges that the prom committees have enjoyed in the past, in return for which I only ask that you see to it that the strictest care be taken of the building and its furnishings. Use the building as you would your home. You will also be expected to compensate several members of this department, such as, the police and elevator men who will have to be on duty most of the night, as has been done in the past.

You may erect a stand for the orchestra in the rotunda, however, this must meet with the approval of the State Chief Engineer, Mr. Mack.

Expresses Pleasure
I think I voice the sentiment of the authorities in the capitol when I say that we welcome the student body and invite them to enjoy themselves, and we trust that they show their appreciation by conducting themselves in an orderly manner.

JOHN MEEKS,
Superintendent of public property.

The legislature last spring rejected a measure which would prohibit any party from using the capitol building for a function at which admission was charged. The vote was approximately 63 to 23.

This year, as in former years, the governor invites the student body to use the capitol for its Prom, and the general chairman applies for permission to the department of public property.

SEAL SALE DEADLINE IS SET FOR MONDAY

The deadline for turning in the money from the sale of the Christmas seals has been set for 2:30 o'clock Monday. The money should be turned in to the S. G. A. office between 10 o'clock and 2:30 o'clock.

Crucible is carrying on the sale of the stamps this year, through the district chairmen of S. G. A. and through representatives in fraternity houses.

Seven hundred dollars worth of stamps have been sent out, and so far $150 worth of stamps have been turned in, according to Esther Field, who has charge of the sale.

MRS. ROSENBERY TO SPEAK AT LATHROP

Mrs. Rosenbery will speak at Y. W. C. A. vespers at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at Lathrop parlors. It has been an annual event for Mrs. Rosenbery to address the girls at this time of year at Vespers programs. The program topic will be Christmas, and Mrs. Rosenbery will give a pleasant Christmas message to all those present.

Hunter Advises Students to Buy Tickets Monday

Students and faculty members are urged by Paul F. Hunter, gym ticket official, to secure their series basketball tickets on Monday since on Tuesday the remaining tickets will go on open sale to the public.

Mr. Hunter stressed the fact that the Monday sale was exclusively for the students and the faculty members so that the university people may be granted all possible priority in the purchase of basketball tickets over the general public.

"More than 150 Marquette tickets are at the gym; they will also be placed on sale for Monday only," Hunter said. It was also stated by Hunter that on Tuesday tickets for any or all the remaining series will be on sale.

SLOGAN CONTEST TO CLOSE MONDAY

More Short, Snappy Slogans For 1925 Prom Needed, Says Callsen

The Prom slogan contest will close at 6 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Although more than 80 slogans have been submitted already, there is still a chance for someone to write a better slogan and to win the $5 prize which will be awarded the winner, according to Helen Callsen '25, chairman of the slogan committee.

"We want shorter, snappier and more original slogans than have been handed in so far," Miss Callsen said. "The slogans should convey the idea of a democratic Prom in a new and striking way."

Examples of some of the best of the 80 slogans submitted are: Our Prom for "U"; The Ace of Prom; The Prom to Remember; Wisconsin's Prom for You; The Higher the Fewer; and The Prom of History.

Last year's prize slogan was A Prom for Every Badger and The Prom of Proms characterized the Prom of 1923.

There is no limit to the number of slogans an individual may submit; each will be given equal consideration by the members of the slogan committee who will act as judges. The slogans will be judged Tuesday and the winner will be announced in The Cardinal Wednesday. All slogans should be mailed to Helen Callsen at 615 North Henry street.

Two Unannounced Acts Close Vodvil; That's That 'Til—?

Union Vodvil was crossed off the university theatrical calendar last night for another two years—or maybe one—and the mark that was left is bright red. It will stay so for a few weeks to come. Bill Purnell, director, and an ensemble of 10 very vodvillian acts are responsible.

Besides rose, onion and cabbage bouquets, last night's performance brought forth two tricks not on the program.

In the first Producer Purnell arrived on the stage feel first, ably but protestingly supported by Hall, Eddy and stage hands. Bashful Bill after the show denied that his act was as advertised "99 per cent nerve and 1 per cent ability."

In the second stunt five unknown judges slipped an official judgment slip to General Chairman Gordon Wanzer which read:

"From the standpoint of finish, vaudeville value, applause, originality and general likeability we name in order as Vodvil's best acts, first, 'Feet Features' and its lithe perpetrators too numerous to mention; second, 'How Do You Do, I'm Sure' with Messrs. Hall and Eddy; third, 'Do Re Mi' with Misses Douglas and Hinsdell, and Mu Phi Epsilon; and special mention, 'I'm a Smart Guy,' or Roy Goodlad.

GLEE CLUB PLANS EXTENSIVE TOUR NEXT SEMESTER

Organization Competes in Central Contest on February 18

The Wisconsin Glee club is planning one of the most extensive tours ever attempted by the organization Robert Nethercut '24, president of the club declared yesterday.

If the club wins the Central Intercollegiate Glee Club contest to be held in Chicago February 18, it hopes to go to New York for the National contest, as it did last year. Many cities in northern Illinois and Iowa may hear the Wisconsin singers if present plans materialize. Plans are also being made to sing in St. Louis.

Go To Milwaukee
Concerts at several Wisconsin cities are already on the schedule, including one at the Pabst theater, Milwaukee, on Washington's birthday, February 22. Arrangements have also been made to sing at Wauwatosa the day before.

Either Fond du Lac, Watertown, Oconomowoc or Sheboygan will hear Wisconsin Glee music February 23. Both Columbus and Richland Center will be on the itinerary if arrangements are possible.

The home concert will be given sometime in March.

Sing "On Wisconsin"
At present the club is practicing on a part arrangement of "On Wisconsin," by Robert Nethercut which it hopes to sing at the Chicago concert. "The Bedouin Love Song" by Arthur Foote from the poem by Bayard Taylor, has been selected as the special light number by the Wisconsin singers. "Morning Hymn," by George Henschel will be the prize song of the contest, which all clubs will sing.

ART SORORITY HAS SALE AT PHOTOART

The Delta Phi Delta art sorority will continue its sale of articles at the Photoart shop on State street tomorrow from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night.

The sale is a Christmas sale of Christmas cards, jewelry, carved ivory, book ends, letter holders, block-printed scarfs and dyed goods, dolls, and baskets of all kinds.

All the articles being sold have been made by members of the society and members claim that the prices are very reasonable.

ENTERTAIN KIDS AT "Y" PARTY

Members Will Escort Children From Neighborhood House

Members of the Y. M. C. A. will journey to the Neighborhood house, 768 West Washington avenue, at 6:30 o'clock tonight where 100 eager youngsters will be waiting to be conducted to the annual Christmas party at the Y. M. C. A. building.

Members and their friends are signing up at the desk in the Y. M. C. A. lobby to meet the children. Each one is to select the name of a child whom he will conduct to the party from a list prepared by Miss Braxton of the Neighborhood house.

"The party is an annual treat which the children are looking forward to with almost frantic eagerness," Miss Braxton said. "I am asked about it from morning till night."

The children gathering about the Christmas tree will be entertained by stories told by their hosts. Carols and recitations will be given by the children. Santa Claus will come in with a present for each boy and girl invited. Ice cream cones, lollypops, popcorn balls and cookies will be served by the social service committee under the supervision of Leland W. Williams '24.

HESPERIA ALUMNUS ADDRESSES SOCIETY

R. O. Eggum '04 Tells Members
Forensic Training is Invaluable

"Today, the greater number of students are taking business courses and do not see the value of training derived from literary and forensic societies," declared A. O. Eggum '04, an alumnus of Hesperia speaking before the society Friday night. Twenty years ago the majority of the students who participated in literary and forensic events were pursuing studies of a professional nature. It is necessary for the business man to be able to present his ideas as well as the professional man. In the business world we are constantly called upon to perform many duties and to do them as emergency tasks."

E. S. Jedney, former Hesperia joint debater also addressed the society.

The debate: Resolved, that all income derived from federal, state, and municipal securities be taxed, was won by the affirmative team. C. W. Damsheuser '25 and R. H. Bennett L 1 were the members. The negative was upheld by V. R. Dunn '26 and B. R. Masslich '25.

Ralph Axley L 2 conducted parliamentary drill.

A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the Castalia-Hesperia debate. This is the first time that these two societies will meet in debate, and the event is expected to be hotly contested.

Deutsche Verein Club to Present Xmas Songfest

The Christmas meeting of the Deutsche Verein will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night in Lathrop parlors. The program will be Christmas songs by the Bruns and Morgan children, the reading of the Christmas story from the Gospel of St. Luke by Mr. Voss, the recitation of some poems by Max Kosorius, and the reading of a sketch by Professor Morgan. Admittance is by membership ticket.

STUDENTS WISH TO HEAR SNOW LECTURE

Many students who have been hoping that Prof. Benjamin Snow's famous lecture on snowflakes will be repeated this winter in order that they may have a chance to attend, will be disappointed in the announcement that it will not be

Frosh Outraged! Plumber' Janitor Sports Green Derby

A freshman cap appeared on the hill Saturday morning.

Upperclassmen, faculty and frosh alike stopped as they hurried past on their way to classes to witness the phenomenon. Had the poor fellow wearing the cap lost his mind? Was this some fraternity initiation stunt or the result of a freak bet? Or was this perhaps an actual sign that there would be a mild winter this year, comparable to seeing a robin in January or violets in February?

Probably all these guesses were wrong. For the fellow was washing the windows of the Engineering building. He was the janitor of that institution, and not a freshman. Mystery still veils his reason for choosing such eccentric headgear.

The suggestion was made by one of the witnesses that the freshman class take steps to prevent all persons not members of the class of '27 from wearing the green cap. It was felt the freshmen would be protected against having their distinctive apparel profaned by outsiders.

ORIENTAL MAGIC PUZZLES CHINESE

International Club Sees Feats of Hindu Houdinis With Cards

Hindu magic, Chinese music, and a Chinese sword dance produced Oriental atmosphere Friday night, when the foreign students of the Far Eastern countries presented a program, at the meeting of the International club. Miss Mary Johnstone was elected the representative from Wisconsin to attend the convention of foreign students held in Indianapolis, December 26 to 30.

Chiang Cheng played a vertical Chinese fiddle. To the accompaniment of this, Cheng mimicked a girl's singing. A sword dance, with two foils was demonstrated by Shu Ling Wang. This dance was full of quick motions and required dexterity in handling the swords.

Indian magic practiced by Hans Raj Prasad, and Rupchand Dhir, dressed in native costumes, puzzled the crowd. This was done through card tricks with a magician's wand.

given again until next summer and not again next fall.

The snowflake lecture is regarded as one of the "events" of the school year, and most students make an effort to hear it at least once during their college career at Wisconsin. This year no public announcement of the date for the snow talk was made and many of those who anticipated attending the lecture did not know the exact date.

Lambert Murphy is now making a tour of the Pacific coast cities with the quartet of Victor artists.

Ruth Garwood to Guide Students Through Europe

A student summer tour through Europe next year has been planned by Miss Ruth E. Garwood, of the Spanish department.

The tour will last 76 days, from June 26 to September 10, and will include travels in England, Belgium, France, Switzerland and Italy.

A few of the special features of the trip are a journey through the English lake district by steamer and automobile, a three-day excursion through the Thames valley, Oxford, and Stratford-on-Avon, the battle fields of Chateau-Thierry, and Rheims, a visit to Monte Carlo, a stop at the Chateau of Chillon, Switzerland, and through the Rigi, the picturesque Swiss mountains.

BARNARD ALUMNAE ENTER PROFESSIONS

What does college do for women? Recent statistics show that out of the 4,000 Vassar alumnae, 877 are housewives, 1,216 are following professions, and 1,823 are following no profession. A survey made of Barnard graduates for 1923 exhibits that 89 stayed at home and that 132 turned to professions.

COLLEGES TURN TO SCENARIO WRITING

Ohio Professor Predicts English Curriculum Will Include
Manuscript Work

Within the next few years, courses in scenario writing will be included in college curricula as part of the training in English, says Prof. Ralph Fanning of the department of fine arts at Ohio State university.

"The use of the moving picture as an educational medium has been established," Professor Fanning declares. "It will also come to be employed by colleges and universities as such in the near future."

Prof. L. A. Cooper, of the English department who is giving a course in the technique of the drama says, "The time isn't ripe, so to speak, for a college course in scenario writing. Then movies are in too chaotic a state for one thing. Salaries of all the big stars are being cut. Scenario writing has not reached a stage where it could be of definite value to college students.

"Columbia university does have a course in scenario writing. But the scenarios written at the present time are of such a type that as a training in English they would not have great weight. Demands of producers, too, are extremely varied. But it is quite possible that the character of scenario writing is changing and that with this change will come a demand for such courses in colleges."

The "Star Spangled Banner" played on a Christmas morning, will be the first music sounded by the new chimes in St. Augustine church, Brooklyn, New York. No other chimes in the vicinity of New York have a range of notes sufficient for the national song.

Conference
Wire ServiceINVITE FRATS TO JOIN CONFERENCE
BOWLING TOURNEYSentiment Favors Entering;
Meet Held From January
15 to February 2

George Berg, director of intramural athletics, is the recipient of a letter from the athletic director at Ohio State in which an invitation is extended to the fraternities at Wisconsin to join the Western conference interfraternity bowling tournament.

Through membership in the conference, fraternities are enabled to compete with each other at different institutions, and the winners are awarded handsome cups. Thus competitive games may be arranged between the same fraternities at various schools, and between different fraternities at different schools, both local and national chapters.

Teams Bowl at Home

The teams from each university do not meet at any one place as in a tournament; however, a specific time is set aside during which time the bowling will be done, and the scores are sent in each night to one institution, which would act as a clearing house on the scores and announce the winners of the matches.

Last year Ohio State took the initiative in the movement and four Big Ten universities took part in the tournament. Ohio State contributed 43 teams, Michigan entered 25, Minnesota gave 11, and Illinois put nine aggregations into play.

May Accept

Sentiment seems to favor the idea and it is quite possible that Wisconsin will accept the invitation. All of the fraternities interviewed so far were highly in favor of the plan and the remaining organizations will be gotten in touch with immediately.

The tournament last year was held from January 15 to February 2 inclusive and it is intended to hold the coming tourney at about the same time.

More Athletes,
Less Athletics,
Is Camp's Plea

Is Walter Camp sounding a great truth when he says that the trouble with college athletics is "that there is too much athletics and too few athletes."

He gives one something to ponder over when he points out that every week many thousands of persons crowd into stadiums to watch 22 men in action. Thousands of dollars are spent yearly to perfect these 22 athletes and the other students derive no benefit from this expenditure. He says, in "The World's Work," the boy of today certainly needs the development of "courage and strength and wits and skill as athletics do develop them."

Why deny these splendid opportunities to the great majorities of boys for the sale of the annual Big Game and the annual Regatta, he asks.

In these words is food for thought on the part of college officials and graduate bodies.

HAWKEYES' 1924 GRID
CARD ABOUT COMPLETE

IOWA CITY, Ia.—Games scheduled with the University of Wisconsin and Butler college have nearly completed the football card of the University of Iowa. Coach Jones' men will meet the Butler team at Iowa City, November 8, and will travel to Madison to entertain the Wisconsin homecomers on November 15.

Only one more game remains to be scheduled. Coach Jones is negotiating with several teams to open the season at Iowa City, October 4, but has made no final arrangements. North Dakota Agricultural College of Fargo is a possibility.

The entire proceeds of Fritz Kreisler's tour of Germany, which he is now making, will be donated to the relief of intellectuals in Germany who have been impoverished by the conditions which followed the war.

OHIO NEEDING HIGHER MORALE,
ALTERS CARD

Some sport has been poked at Ohio State for scheduling Indiana and Purdue, so-called weaker sisters of the Big Ten conference, for grid games next fall. This should prove a good thing for Ohio. The team is in a rut. It has been losing consistently. What it needs more than anything else is a different mental attitude. A few victories, after the long spell of defeats, will have the proper psychological effect, even though the beaten opponents do not represent the strength of the conference teams in general. Ohio State has the material, the coach and the spirit to win if it can only shake off the sleeping sickness of defeat.

WRESTLERS MEET
TOMORROW NIGHTHitchcock to Give General Instructions For Holidays to Men

"All wrestlers out Monday at 7:30." Coach Hitchcock wants all of his men at the gym at this time. He said the meeting would be short and snappy and that general instructions for the Christmas holidays would be given.

"The men are fast rounding into shape and are in good condition," he said. "The following men are the best in their respective classes: 115 pounds, Goodman and Bentson; 125 pounds, Captain Benbow and Withworth; 135 pounds, "Bob" Holmes, Wheeler, Sherbert and Mantell, the last two are new men but are going very good; 145 pounds, Zodtner, Posepny and Monkwitz, also Frye and Jacobs, new men; 153 pounds, Gregor and Shada; 175 pounds, Stipek, H. Holmes and Brackett; heavyweight, Bieberstein."

E. L. Hanson, a 115 pounder, dislocated his elbow this last week and will be out for a month. The coach is hoping that he recovers sooner, because he is one of the main cogs on the varsity team. He also said that Captain Benbow was going very good. "Chubby" Goodlad is also out and is getting into condition. Chapman, another varsity caliber man, will be eligible next semester.

The team taking part in the meets this year will be chosen from the above mentioned men. The first meet is January 26 with Chicago and the coach thinks the team will be in good shape by then.

scorer with 15 points while Jones was next with only one less counter.

All the events were hotly contested, resulting in the tying of many positions. In the low hurdles race Stone and McGivern tied for first place, while Guthrie and Jones tied for fourth place in the high jump. The same situation was true in the two mile race when Piper and Read crossed the tape together. Competition for honors in the broad jump was even closer as three men, namely O'Neil, Jones and McGivern, had to content themselves with a tie second place.

The 1922 meet was nowhere near as even as the meet yesterday. Pi Kappa Alpha won the event easily last year by piling up a huge total of 44 and three-fourths points. Alpha Gamma Rho, its nearest competitor, had but 27 points, while Alpha Tau Omega, Theta Delta Chi, and Sigma Nu won the remaining places in the order named.

Following is a summary of the results of the events in the meet: 440 yard dash—won by Hill, Alpha Gamma Rho; Flueck, second; Milliman, third; G. Smith, fourth; N. Smith, fifth.

880 yard run—won by Carter, Theta Xi; Campbell, Sigma Pi, second; Cassidy, Theta Xi, third; Silverwood, Delta Upsilon, fourth; Taylor, Tau Kappa Epsilon, fifth;

BADGER SKI CLUB
PLANNING BIG
MEET FEB. 9THTo Import Snow if Necessary; Star Jumpers Back in School

The Badger Ski club plans an active winter of participation in local and national tournaments, judging from facts given out by Gordon Taylor, grad and former president of the club.

The big tournament on the local slide, has been scheduled for Feb. 9, Saturday, afternoon following Prom. This meet cannot be postponed or changed for any reason, Taylor says, and in case there is no snow that week it will be imported from the northern part of the state. In former years when an emergency arose, snow was secured in carload lots from Eau Claire.

Many Similar Meets

This tournament will be one of many similar meets to be held in the middle west this year. The Badger Ski club is a member of an association to which about 20 such organizations belong, each of them holding an invitation meet each year. Representatives from Wisconsin will compete in many of these tournaments.

The National Ski tournament will be held at Brattleboro, Vermont, probably on Feb. 24. In conjunction with this meet, a college meet may be held on February 23, with Minnesota, Wisconsin, Dartmouth, and McGill (Canada) jumpers competing. In case it is decided to hold this latter meet a number of local men will enter in both the National and the college tournaments.

Star Jumpers Back

The Badger Ski club this season has all the star jumpers of last winter back again with the exception of Sverre Strom. Gordon Taylor and George Martin, president of the club, have both won honors in the past, as have Dennis Murphy and Clyde Strachan.

The most consistent point winners in the meets, however, are expected to be among the new members who have just entered the university this fall. Bjerne Mortenson, who came here direct from Norway, jumped 160 feet in one meet in his native country. Carmichael and Waterman, two members of the Norge Ski club of Chicago, are other new men with considerable experience. PUCK CHASERS TO CONFER TOMORROWCaptain Johnson Will Meet
Men in Gym at Noon

Prospects for the coming hockey season will be discussed at a meeting to be held tomorrow noon, at 12:45 in the trophy room of the men's gymnasium. Capt. E. E. Johnson '24, has called the meeting in order to become better acquainted with the men who are planning to try out for the team, and to lay plans for an early start at practice, after vacation.

Plans are under way to have work on the ring begun during vacation, in order that no time may be lost in starting work as soon as weather permits. Games have been scheduled with Michigan and Minnesota, and prospects for a strong team are good, with several of last year's men back.

There is room for several new men to take the place of those who graduated last year, and Capt. Johnson is anxious that all men who are interested, be on hand at 12:45 tomorrow.

Bob Blodgett '23, a star of last year's team will coach the Badger puck chasers during the coming season. Blodgett is a firm believer in winter sports, and has been a figure in all winter competition at Wisconsin during the past few years.

He takes the place left by Dr. Viner, who will be unable to coach this year. Viner is still rated as an amateur, and does not wish to lose that rating by accepting a regular position as hockey coach.

CAIRNS POST GETS COLLEGE VETERANS

The university American Legion post will merge with the William B. Cairns post of Madison, according to reports Thursday night at the December meeting of the Cairns post when Alfred T. Flint, historian this year, was chosen as commander for 1924.

Givern, Phi Kappa Psi, tied for second; Smith, Alpha Gamma Rho, fifth. Distance—20 feet six and one half inches.

Pole vault—won by Jones, Pi Kappa Alpha; Farwell, Phi Kappa Psi, second; McGinnis, Beta Theta Pi, third; Walsh, Beta Theta Pi, fourth; Carlson, Theta Xi, fifth. Height—11 feet six inches.

Shot put—won by Schwarze, Theta Xi; Harmon, Kappa Sigma, second; Aller, Phi Kappa Psi, third; Finley, Alpha Gamma Rho, fourth; Radke, Tau Kappa Epsilon, fifth. Distance—44 feet seven inches.

Relay race—won by Theta Xi; Delta Upsilon, second; Alpha Gamma Rho, third. Time—one minute 40 and four-fifths seconds.

ECKIE CHOOSES
Tackle; Grange at Half

Another Wisconsin All-American tackle has been announced.

Martin R. Below, tackle and captain of the 1923 Wisconsin football team has been selected as right tackle on Walter Eckersall's All-American mythical eleven. The honor has followed Below throughout all of Eckersall's selections this year.

Marty Below is the third Wisconsin tackle to be placed on an all-American team in the past seven or eight years. Cub Buck was the first, then Ralph Scott was given the honor in 1920 and now Marty takes a turn.

Eckersall places no other Wisconsin men on either his first or his second teams, but he awards a place at right guard on his third team to Bieberstein, stellar Badger linesman. No other men from Wisconsin were given places on any of the three teams.

Grange seems to be a unanimous choice for a halfback position, having been placed on practically every mythical eleven drawn up this fall. He is the only man from the Western conference to be picked for a backfield position on Eckersall's first team. Workman and Kipke, from the Big Ten conference, draw berths on his second team, while Martineau is placed at left half on the third team.

The center and the complete left side of the line on the first team is composed of Conference players. It is the same combination which Eckie placed on his all-conference, his all-western and now his all-American team. The combination is made up of Ecklund at end, Below at tackle, McMillen at guard and Blott at center.

No conference team except Michigan placed more than two men on the three teams. Minnesota, Illinois and Wisconsin were each given two places out of the 33 berths, while the Wolverines took three places. Of the 33 places, conference men were awarded 10.

Marquette, undefeated throughout the season, was given consideration in placing Dilwig at left end on the third team.

Mandell Given
Decision Over
Sauer in Fight

Spike Madell '24, proved Friday night at La Crosse that a university man can use his fists as well as learn calculus, when he earned a shade decision over Charlie Sauer in their semi-windup before the American Legion club.

The crowd expressed their approval of both boxers after the bout by giving them a rousing ovation. Every round was full of action. The first was even, although Sauer did most of the leading. In the second, Spike caught Sauer coming in and sent him back on the canvas with a straight left jab to the jaw. Sauer came back strong for the rest of the round, but could not overcome the knockdown lead.

Sauer went down again in the third when Madell clipped him on the jaw with a right cross. He was up immediately and forced Madell at the bell. In the fourth, Charlie attempted to even matters and bored in, taking wild chances. Madell took a lot of punishment and then punched his way to an even decision for the round with left jabs and hooks. The crowd gave both men an ovation as they left the ring.

"Anthony Dare" is a new book by that prolific artist, Archibald Marshall. It is a series of sketches giving the life of the hero from the time he is sixteen until his school days are over, and his future settled for him by his brother.

SLAM WITH DISCRETION

A custom of rather uncertain origin and which on its face has good fellowship and sport as its motive but which nevertheless lays open a very possible way for giving rise to unpleasant feelings, is the almost universal practice among organized groups on the campus of giving "slam" parties just before the Christmas adjournment.

The majority of these "slams," which are usually cheap presents accompanied by poetry or prose, ostensibly clever, are usually pointed at some peculiar trait in the individual and by a process of exaggeration these things are used so as to produce general hilarity and laughter.

All of this is good and productive of a jollity and fellowship perfectly harmonious to the Christmas spirit. But sometimes these "slams" contain barbs which hurt—little insinuations which unintentionally cause pain and a sick heart which have to be covered over with a quick laugh and enforced gaiety.

Infirmities and peculiarities in individuals are things which true friends never scoff at, and no matter how pleasantly the object of the joke may take the quip, there often is left a sore spot which rankles and gives rise to at least a momentary blueness.

And in this college life, students are so often prone to be thoughtless. It is one of the indications of youth and carefreeness. But this plea is too often an alibi for the sinner and he must stop and make a place for consideration in his philosophy.

And so in these Christmas parties which the fraternities, sororities and other groups are now planning be careful of the barbed thrust which might sting and hurt just for the price of a joke. If you draw John Doe's name as your victim, be sure that your plans for fun at his expense are clever and witty, but not tinged with a remark which refers to an unavoidable characteristic or a forgotten event which may be a bitter reminder.

COLD COLDS

Now that the colder weather has at last set in, the clinic reports that the calls at the infirmary have increased considerably. In spite of the fact that no severe cases of grippe have been reported and the fact that this has been a particularly healthy year, nevertheless it does seem that a bit of care might prevent some of these reported cases.

When the cold blast sweeps across the lake and strikes the unwary passerby on State street, it is natural that disastrous results should occur if the throat is not covered and if some consideration to the changing climate is not given.

And then there is the matter of exercise. If students would exercise regularly and prepare for the more vigorous times of the year, the attendance at the university clinic would be appreciably reduced.

Personal care will go a long way toward increasing the health average of the school.

DOCTOR'S ORDERS

Whether the general state of pessimism which just now seems to pervade the student attitude is a chronic condition and is more or less annual in its presence, is a question, but certain it is, that at this time, theoretically so jolly, there is an air of despondency and gloom which seems to have settled upon the student, especially in regard to his class work.

This statement is no idle guess, but is an evident fact, easily read on the faces of the many who daily climb the hill. This one despairs of ever passing that course, that one groans at the thought of a mark in that subject—and so it goes. Discouragement and pessimism have crept their way into the student heart and in some cases have chilled the enthusiasms of even the most tenacious optimist.

It may be that this is an annual event, it may be a mere general dyspepsia of the student body, it may be an assumed air of indifference—but whatever it is, it should be the holiday's business to eradicate all this and to bring back confidence and enthusiasm.

It is the college editor's usual plea to study hard during Christmas vacation, to write topics and theses, to catch up on all back work, etc.

But, don't do it. Leave all your work as it is now. Forget that there is such a thing as school and for a space of two weeks live life as it ought to be lived. Sleep, eat regularly, exercise, read whatever you please, rest up.

And then eat three meals a day of substantial food, and eat them slowly and regularly. This school day method of guzzling down a few bites at almost an hour of the day leads straight to that dyspepsia and indigestion which is so often the cause of pessimism.

Then read, read anything. Leacock may make you feel better than Santayana, so take Leacock. These prescriptions are for a health and restoration of vitality, not for literary knowledge.

Every morning run around the block, go horse back riding, milk the cows, or do something to put back the flush into the cheeks. Many an activity man in the university is running on a bilious constitution just because he fails to take heed to some of nature's requirements.

And then if anything worries you, forget it. Forget that you have a "con" average in math, that you can't understand the attitude of the "only woman you care for," that "John dear" is so inattentive, that your best friend deserted you. Two weeks of oblivious bliss will show the silver lining to any cloud.

This is the doctor's prescription. Miss and Mr. Student, a clean bill of health and a contagious optimism is expected on your part when you return

THE RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS AND INTERNATIONALISM

Definite steps in the direction of world unity and broad internationalism have been noticeable in the forward march of civilization. Small nations have been combined into huge empires and the world, at present, is governed by enormously large states among whom the business and peace of the world is decided. The close of the World War made the necessity for even closer alliance between the states of the world more obvious than it had ever been before. War brought national jealousies to the front and prevented a broad unselfish viewpoint. It is inevitable, however, that internationalism of some stable kind must supplant the present disunity among human governments. Nations from time to time, have endeavored to establish peaceful relations with each other in order to promote better understanding. The Rhodes scholarships are a means to this end.

These scholarships in Oxford university are given to the best of our American college graduates, not to turn them into English partisans but rather to make them more useful citizens of the United States and the world. The close contact which these students have with their English cousins during their time at Oxford gives them an insight into the thoughts and lives of the English people which will make them fairer judges of their activities in the international milieu. Whatever part the Rhodes scholars may take in the direction of the affairs of the United States is not blindly ignorant but rather founded on an intelligent study of at least one nation other than their own.

Any attack on the purpose of the Rhodes scholarship plan shows an unlightened viewpoint such as the Rhodes scholarships are aimed to correct. Such ignorant fear of a neighboring government has retarded the progress of civilization since men first began to band themselves into tribes. Surely two, three, or four years in an English school cannot influence any man of the Rhodes scholar type in any way which is detrimental to his own country in which he has spent from eighteen to twenty-two years. The foolishness of such an attack is too apparent to merit explanation.—The Michigan Daily.

Editor the Cardinal:
Sorry to spoil a good yarn, but if the Cardinal continues to refer to me as the nephew of Jim Corbett, people may begin to believe it. Of course, it isn't true, nor did I ever say it was.

I did tell one of the boxers in the gym that it was a family joke that Corbett was a "forty-third cousin or something" and I believe he passed it on to Coach Ray Moore substituting "an uncle" for "or something" and leaving the rest of the story to die an undeserved death.

Incidentally, to say that the champion is responsible for my miserable knowledge of boxing is only casting reflection upon a great and clever fighter.

"Pittsburgh Plus" System is False To Economic Law

"To assert that the practice of the 'Pittsburgh plus' is the result of the economic law of supply and demand is fallacious in logic and economics."

This was the statement of Prof. John R. Commons, of the economic department, in the testimony which he made in characterizing the "Pittsburgh plus" steel pricing practice.

Professor Commons also referred to the practice as being roughly uneconomic and unfair. Before Special Examiner John W. Bennett of the federal trade commission, he ridiculed the claim of the steel mills that this practice exists because of the law of supply and demand, and stated that it owes its existence to the control of the steel mills.

FLAPPER PLAY IS OFFERED BY PYRE

Curtain Club Production to Deal With Shaw's Fanny O'Dowda

"Fanny's First Play," by Bernard Shaw will be presented by the Curtain club January 15 at the high school auditorium, according to Prof. B. Q. Morgan of the German department. The production will be under the general charge of Prof. J. F. A. Pyre of the English department.

"The play is characteristic of Shaw's technique," Professor Morgan stated, "and both the inner play and the prologue epilogue have those qualities which make Shaw the delight of the public and the despair of the critics."

The production is completed in three acts and deals with a young flapper, Fanny O'Dowda, who has written a play and requests her father to permit the play to be produced on her birthday. The play itself is the production of Fanny's play, while the prologue serves to introduce Fanny, her father, the producer and the critics.

Those who will take part in the production are:

Prof. R. W. West, Prof. Smilie Blanton, Prof. G. Showerman, Prof. W. G. Rice, Prof. Warner Taylor, Prof. E. H. Byrne, Mr. R. A. Young, Mr. W. M. Ross, Mr. C. L. Fernberg, Mr. C. E. Cason, Mrs. P. B. Potter, Mrs. B. Q. Morgan, Mrs. J. G. Fowlkes, Mrs. S. J. Cleveland and Miss Bertha Ochsner.

Requests should be sent to the all-star concert series management, 638 Langdon street before January 1.

A few wigs of hair are the only features which have determined the identity of feminine forms walking briskly down State street during the past few frosty days. The tips of red ears peeping out from under sheep-skin coat collars, pulled up over the heads of other figures like tortoise shells, have served as identification marks of the masculine sex.

Winter apparel has been leaving the shops in great quantities during the last few days, which have beheld the streets lined with figures bundled in sweaters, gloves and scarfs.

Lumber-jack shirts of every color and description are as popular as any other type of cold weather protectors on these snappy days. Zippers have been selling in great numbers, but they feel that their place is still at home until the snow invites them to strut down the streets in their full glory, snugly hugging the ankles of feminine wearers.

Spanish Papers Are Preserved, Ortega Explains

"In America, a newspaper is read hastily, then discarded. In Spain, the reverse is true," declared Prof. Joaquin Ortega of the department of romance languages, who has been a newspaper man in Spain.

"A newspaper in Spain costs a penny, but there Spaniards preserve it. Each citizen has his own favorite newspaper, which he buys in the morning, and carries around with him all day, to be taken out and read carefully during his spare moments," said Prof. Ortega.

The tender care which is given a newspaper is cited by the example given by Prof. Ortega, of a Madrid newspaper which was read by three different groups in the provinces. The same newspaper was saved and traded to the butcher for a pound of meat. He used the newspaper for wrapping meat.

COUNT YOUR SHEKELS; DO YOU FIND $35.52?

WASHINGTON—The per capita money in circulation in the U. S. today is $35.52, according to the annual report of the controller of the currency. In 1914 the average per person was only $17.83. During the same period the total stock of money in the country increased from $3,738,300,000 to $8,603,703,000. The report said this extraordinary increase in the money stock was due to the succession of enormous favorable trade balances during the war years.

AUSTIN, Texas — At the University of Texas the negative hour system was abolished by the board of regents. A funeral was held to commemorate its death, those who were apt to flunk out because of it being the chief mourners. This system has been replaced by the old one of cuts.

MILES LECTURES ON LOWER TARIFF

Farmer is Hardest Hit; Must Have Reduction in Rates

The lecture yesterday afternoon in Bascom hall by H. E. Miles, chairman of the Fair Tariff league, showed to what a great extent the tariff has been carried. The tariff to begin with, was to bring the claims from foreign low paid labor to the American standard, it was the differences in the causes of production.

The miracle of American production is the invention of machinery which can produce an ever increasing amount of manufactured articles with very little labor. This fact brings the cost to a very low price, and thus the tariff maintains the domestic market, Miles showed.

Now the tariff costs us three to five billion dollars for this protection, and we accept the protection and do not look to the application of the principles. The farmer, who makes up a third of our population is hit the hardest. "He sells 89 per cent on a free tariff, but must pay tariff for what he buys. Is there a difference in thievery and protection?" Miles said.

"A just tariff, adequately but not excessively protecting American industry and labor, lowering the cost of living, considerate of our changed position in world affairs," is the purpose of the Fair Tariff League.

SUMMER CARDINAL HAD 900 READERS

Of the 4,768 students who attended the last year's summer session here, 900 received The Cardinal. Subscriptions poured into the office and one thousand copies were being printed daily, according to circulation records.

Subscription figures compiled by the Cardinal business office show that 20 per cent of the summer session students were loyal "Cardinalists."

Rooming houses, fraternities and sororities usually supply houses of 30 and 40 persons with from only two to five papers. All in the house have access to those papers; therefore, it is estimated that each issue of The Cardinal reached virtually the entire summer enrollment.

Advices from Paris state that New York will have a Passion Play after the style of Oberammergau during the Holy week next year. Four principal actors in the European Passion Play have been acquired to come to America for the production. Unlike the Oberammergau performance the New York production will be presented indoors.

INDIANA GIRL OF 15 WORLD'S CHAMPION CANNED FOOD JUDGE

Charlotte Moore.

Charlotte Moore, 15-year-old Muncie, Ind., high school girl, is the world's champion canned-food judge. She was awarded the title at the recent International Live Stock Exposition.

Deep Silence Reigns in Libe as Stars Peek Through Windows

A vast, pillared, book-walled interior whose high frescoed ceiling has heard nothing but silence since the last sound of hammer and chisel completed its mighty creation. Silence. But not the chill silence of death and everlasting oblivion, but one full of deep, though unspoken, meaning and wisdom.

For each night but one when the shadows thicken in the four darkening corners above and the fall

Gothic windows let shine through a star from the dark purple sky cold without, hundreds of small bright white lights appear here and there that give eyes to the ceiling, yet keep this self-same in shadow.

Forms, all silent and still, tread noiseless the length and breadth of the place and then become fixed while time moves merciless on. And silence with energy spent pants booming with the rhythmic beat of life, full of sorrow and suffering.

With an agonized twist or groan of pain and discomfort, the forms now struggling with prey, grasp and then lose hold of the slippery things they must capture, 'til weary and weak with their efforts, they circle the pillars, departing.

And the lights one by one are at length engulfed by deep darkness and the high frescoed ceiling of the "libe" hears nothing but silence, now deathly.

Music Teachers To Participate at Eastern Meet

Prof. C. H. Mills and Prof. P. W. Dykema will take part in the meeting of the Music Teachers' national association at Pittsburg. The meeting has been called for December 26, 27 and 28.

Professor Dykema will give the report of the committee on community music of which he is chairman, and he will read a paper on the subject of "Some Impressions of an Itinerant Consultant" at the same session.

Chas. N. Boyd, president of the association, and J. Vick O'Brien, director of music at Carnegie Institute of Technology, will be initiated into membership of Phi Mu Alpha, Sinfonia fraternity of America, during the convention.

Professor Dykema is national supreme president of this fraternity.

Graduates Hold Christmas Party Wednesday Night

The graduate association will hold its Christmas party next Wednesday, according to Claude C. Kennedy, president of the organization. The party takes the form of an informal dance, and will be held in Lathrop parlors. During the evening there will be mixing stunts and games. An admission charge of 50 cents will be made.

"The graduate association holds parties and dances about one every Monday in the S. G. A. rooms.

"These Monday evening meetings are a kind of social hour. On the average of 75 of the 733 members now in Madison attend each week. After supper the visitors play cards, have a musical program or speeches, Kennedy said.

DEMOCRATIC BOLT AIDS INSURGENTS

Agreement on Committee Assignments May End House Tie-up

WASHINGTON.—A statement declaring the transportation act of 1920 to be the "broad issue" involved in the fight over the chairmanship of the senate interstate commerce committee, was issued today by Sen. LaFollette.

"In the last election," Mr. LaFollette said, "the Progressive voters of the country overwhelmingly declared for the drastic revision or repeal of the Esch-Cummins railroad law. In every state where that act was an issue, the senators who voted for it were retired to private life and men elected who were pledged for its repeal or drastic amendment. Freight rates on coal, agricultural products and all other commodities are too burdensome to be longer born by either producers or consumers.

"The Progressives regard the last election as a clear mandate from the people of the U. S. to this congress to enact without delay new and just railroad legislation.

"To have stood for Sen. Cummins as chairman of the interstate commerce committee would have been a surrender to the special interests concerned in the maintenance of the Esch-Cummins railroad law in its present form.

"During the past two years Sen. Cummins has used his chairmanship of the interstate commerce committee to prevent the amendment of this repudiated law.

"Sen. Howell and Sen. Couzens are vigorous champions of public ownership of public utilities. The election of either one of these senators to the chairmanship of the interstate commerce committee would be a clear and distinct victory for the Progressives in the senate and the country.

"Should the guard refuse to accept either Senators Couzens or Howell, the election of Sen. Smith, former chairman of the interstate commerce committee, and a man who voted against the Esch-Cummins law would also be a clear-cut victory."

TWO MORE PRELIMS ON GOPHER NET SCHEDULE

MINNEAPOLIS.—Games with Grinnell College, Iowa, on December 28 and 29, both to be played at Minneapolis, will complete the pre-season schedule of the University of Minnesota basketball team, which this winter appears stronger than it has for some years past. Beating Notre Dame's strong team in the first of two contests and barely being nosed out for the second game gives a line on the Minnesota conference prospects.

In Racey, Gillon, Lidberg, and Bourquin, Dr. L. J. Cooke, head-coach, has some new material that means real strength to the team. These men, with the veterans of last year, promise to place Minnesota well up in conference competition. Cy Olson, veteran guard and captain, is playing a strong game this year, while Cy Pesk, also a veteran, is the high scoring forward of the quintet. Lidberg, a football star, has been a basketball surprise. His all-around athletic ability promises to mean nearly as much on the floor as it does on the gridiron.

IOWA RELAY TEAM GETS INVITATION FROM EAST

IOWA CITY, Iowa.—Coach George T. Bresnahan of the University of Iowa track team has received an invitation to bring three of his runners on the championship mile relay team to New York City for the Millrose A. A. games on January 29, 1924.

The Millrose A. A. composed of employees of the John Wanamaker store hold a big indoor meet annually on the Madison Square Garden track. Inasmuch as the event comes very early in the season, Coach Bresnahan has not yet decided whether he will allow his men to compete.

CO-EDS SHOULD MAKE OWN BEDS, SAYS MAYO

Dr. W. J. Mayo, Rochester, Minn., doesn't believe girls should get out of the habit of making up their own beds when they go off to college, he said at a meeting Tuesday of University of Minnesota regents.

About 50 Badger high schools sent athletes to the 29th annual interscholastic track meet held in Madison last spring by the University of Wisconsin athletic department.

"Y" Men to Vote On New Organic Law on Tuesday

The proposed constitution for the national Y. M. C. A. which was drawn up at the national convention in Cleveland last October will be presented for ratification by the University Y. M. C. A. at a Christmas luncheon Tuesday noon in the fellowship room.

Prof. Arnold B. Hall will speak in favor of the new constitution. Ratification by a majority of the local organizations is necessary before it can replace the present constitution. All Y. M. C. A. members are urged to be present.

The senior cabinet, junior counsel, sophomore commission, and freshmen committee members who meet on different days of the week for luncheon will all meet Tuesday noon. About 80 committee men will be present besides the lay members. All Y men may vote on the proposed constitution regardless of other affiliations.

Copy of First U. S. Newspaper Shown In Madison Museum

"It is designed that the Country shall be furnished once a month (or if any Glut of Occurrences happen, oftener) with an account of such considerable things as have arrived unto our Notice." So did the first newspaper in the country, Public Occurrences, published in 1690, announce its purpose.

One of the first and only copies of the paper ever printed is now on exhibition with other old newspapers in the State Historical Museum.

Public Occurrences was the first attempt to publish a paper in America. It was begun by Benjamin Harris, bookseller and proprietor of the London Coffee House in Boston, who had fled to America after suffering fine and imprisonment for publishing libelous matter in London. His paper was immediately suppressed by the governor of Massachusetts.

Early Political Cartoons

The Massachusetts Spy, published in 1774, was one of the most fearless and influential papers just before the Revolutionary war. It is interesting for the cartoon which it printed at the top, of a scotched snake, each peice a state, and a dragon, with the inscription "Join or Die."

The Columbian Centinel, published in Boston by Benjamin Russell used another interesting cartoon showing from week to week the states as they voted for the Federal constitution, each state being represented as a pillar in the temple. In the copy at the museum New Hampshire is represented as taking the first step toward ratification and so is half-raised. Over the pillar is written, "It will yet rise."

First "Yellow Journalism"

The New York Herald, first example of "yellow journalism" begun in 1835 by James Gordon Bennett, has some remarkable advertisements on the first page, most of them of patent medicine. The following is characteristic:

"OBSERVE: No chemists or doctors are allowed to sell the genuine Brandreth Pills. They are few, nevertheless, who have not a counterfeit article for sale. Therefore neevr go to them."

Museum Newspaper Collection

The State Historical Museum has one of the finest collections of newspapers in the country. According to Miss Beecroft, who has charge of the newspaper files, there are 30,000 bound volumes of newspapers, dating as far back as 1656 for foreign papers, and 1724 for American papers.

The collection is comparable probably to none in the United States except the Congressional library in Washington. Every year from 500 to 600 volumes are added.

The library is now receiving 50 out-of-state dailies, 35 state dailies, 250 weeklies and 100 miscellaneous papers.

Voice, Mind, Body, Reveal Truths in Oral Expression

By Gertrude M. Johnson

"It is in making endless additions to self, in endless expansion of its powers, in endless growth, in wisdom and beauty, that the spirit of the human race finds its ideal," says Matthew Arnold.

Perhaps the most significant value in the oral interpretation of literature may be found in the first statement, in the possibility of making endless additions to self through such exercise as interpretation makes necessary.

Though we are busy people in a busy world still our ordinary occupations employ our faculties only in a small degree. It is too often the negative and restricting emotions—anger, envy, greed, revenge that are active and exercised in the business of life.

It is necessary for us to reach into realms of more beautiful thought and emotion giving our higher faculties play through the imagination, in order that we may

Dibble Sketches Seven "Strenuous Americans" Humanly

"Strenuous Americans" by R. F. Dibble. Boni and Liveright, New York, 1923, $3.00 at the Book Corner.

H. D. S.

At last, a book of biographies that is not concerned with the mere details and works of the persons of whom the biography deals! The biographies are sketches, interesting sketches of interesting people. We don't care so much to know when they were born or where they died, but we like to know what kind of people they were, and in this clever book by R. F. Dibble, we get what we want.

The title "Strenuous Americans," suggested to us at first biographies of Lincoln, Roosevelt, and Washington, but we were very much surprised, and also pleased, when the very first personality we encountered in the book was Jessie James—at last something different!

Representative Americans

The people treated are not so much outstanding people as they are representative Americans, and a book of biographies of such people is very interesting indeed. Seven Americans are treated, Jesse James, the notorious fugitive; Admiral Dewey, the outstanding military figure; Brigham Young, the religious enthusiast; Frances E. Willard, the social reformer; James J. Hill, the industrial magnate; P. T. Barnum, the hilarious showman; and Mark Hanna, the capitalist-politician, each one a personality of outstanding qualities, whether good or bad, but each one treated from a more or less neutral point of view, giving a clear picture of their lives and characters.

Too Much Personality

Sometimes there is almost too much about their characters to let us absolutely agree with Mr. R. F. Dibble; we wondered at times where he could have gotten so much information, but that really makes not much difference. The people are portrayed to us not as glorified heroes, but as human beings that have done something extraordinary.

Dibble's style and method of portrayal are excellent. There is a vein of sarcasm, almost of cynicism, running throughout the book which makes it most pleasing. Dibble puts his whole personality in his portrayals, he tells us quite frankly what he thinks about the matters at hand, but does not thrust his opinions upon us. He tells them quite nicely and informally and then lets us draw our own pictures of the personality.

foster ideals that shall inform our daily conduct.

Interpreter Needs Experience

Let us make no mistake. The oral interpretation of literature is one of the most educative—and we use the word advisedly and in its broadest and best sense, activities, in which we can engage, because in order to interpret literature, which is a record of life, we must know, not a little, but a very great deal of everything. The interpreter needs to invite all experiences that can extend and clarify his vision, deepen his understanding, refine and broaden his sympathies and enable his impulses.

For this exercise we have before us all the poetry and all the drama of all people in all ages; records

Hawaii Has Visits From Santa Claus; And, Also, Bananas

By PETER C. LANI

Many people have asked me, "Do you have Christmas in Hawaii? What do you do, and does Santa Claus roll down the chimney?"

"Oh yes, Santa comes every year to the land of Hawaii. On Christmas morn he fills my stocking with toys and candies and he does not forget all good little girls and boys either."

And there is more than this in connection with Christmas at home. The first sign of Christmas in Honolulu appears in the advertising columns of the newspaper—"Do Your Christmas Shopping Early!" Later—oh much later—Christmas trees emerge from the holds of ocean steamships; and barrels of cranberries. The finest turkeys are raised in the island, but reinforcements from the mainland United States arrive in arctic apartments.

Weather signs? Well, I don't know what to say. But on Christmas Day, as on the Fourth of July, we go swimming, canoeing, bathing, paddling, surf-boarding or tanning on the beach at Waikiki. Perhaps it rains, and, quite likely, it rains hard. Quite as likely, not! Except for welcome rainbow valley showers, of "liquid sunshine," Honolulu enjoys somewhere near 300 days of ideal weather.

Close signs of Christmas are postoffice and newspaper announcements that a certain steamship departure means the last chance for Honoluluans, or Honolulu-ans, to send a Yuletide package or letter to San Francisco, Chicago, Merrie England or New York, or other places.

There are more Buddhists than Christians in the Territory of Hawaii, and, of course, there are many who are neither. But everybody says "Merry Christmas," just as everybody says "Happy New Year." The spirit of Santa Claus is everywhere.

The Santa Claps of the frisky reindeer sleigh and chimney approach always finds Hawaii's Isles a little difficult. But he never forgets to return. His jingle-bells may be agitated around the rims of sky-piercing craters, where the white blankets of real winter lie; and at home chimneys are mighty scarce; few Honolulu houses have chimneys—we'll roast.

But Santa's pack, however he carries it, is as full of good things here as everywhere, for Honolulu shops are glad some stores for choice—American establishments rich in satisfying variety, Chinese treasuries of Celestial temptations, Japanese bazaars galore, and the Hawaiian curio mines. Automobile or fountain pen, pianola or ukelele, Paris gown or a can of Van Camp beans. We have them all at home.

Church bells aplenty sing for Christmas. Visitors often remark on the number of churches, garages, jewelry stores, ice cream shops, and boot-blackening palaces. Now they are just beginning to notice the number of theaters. Educational institutions put on Christmas plays and pageants. Teachers come to Honolulu from the other islands for the Christmas holidays.

Christmas eve means fireworks usually, and carnival. It means religious observance for many. For many it means jollification and for some it means a violation of the Eighteenth Amendment—oh yes, we have no whisky but we have bananas.

In short, Christmas, with meteorological exceptions, is the same here as it is the world over—especially with the young girls and boys. And what a variety of children Honolulu can show, at a Christmas celebration! It is among the children that East meets West and the ends of the earth give joyful greeting, one to another—Merry Christmas.

of all the struggles and victories of which life is capable. That the human instrument which is to reveal these matters to others needs training of a most complete kind is obvious.

Body, mind, voice—all must act as revelators of the truths to be expressed. Mental vigor, integrity and alertness must be cultivated.

Music Events

The university orchestra will give its annual first semester concert this afternoon at 3 o'clock in Music hall auditorium. The concert is open to the public free of charge.

The Mozart club will present a sacred concert at Christ Presbyterian church under the direction of Alexis Baas, this evening at 7 o'clock. Alexis Baas, baritone and Ben Eilert, tenor, will be soloists. Margaret Otersen, accompanist, and Dr. Charles H. Mills will be at the organ.

The normal department of the Wisconsin School of Music will give a Christmas party Monday evening.

Juvenile pupils of the Wisconsin School of Music will appear in a piano, violin and reading recital Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock.

A program of Christmas carols will be given at a meeting of Sigma Alpha Iota, honorary musical sorority, at the home of Dr. C. H. Mills, 2119 Jefferson street, Monday evening, Dec. 17.

Choral union will sing choruses from Handel's oratorio "The Messiah" Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 in the auditorium of Music hall. This is the only public concert which Choral union will give this semester.

A program on the subject of "The Orchestra" will be given at a meeting of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary musical sorority, Tuesday, Dec. 18.

A piano recital of the piano pupils of Wheeler School of Music will be held Tuesday evening at the Wheeler hall.

Special musical numbers will be given at the Christmas party of the music clubs of the Wisconsin School of Music.

The Women's Glee club is preparing a program of ensemble and solo numbers to be given in open concert early in January.

100 Singers Will Appear in Choral Concert Program

Solos and choruses from Handel's "The Messiah" will be sung by Choral Union in concert Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Music hall.

The solo parts will be given by Katherine Reid '26, soprano, Mrs. John A. James, contralto, William E. Ross, tenor, and David F. MacPherson '27 bass.

More than 100 singers, members of Choral Union, will sing in the choruses. Frances Landon, instructor of piano at the school of music, will be accompanist, and Prof. P. W. Dykema will conduct the singing.

Eleven choruses from the oratorio will be sung by the chorus, including "And the Glory of the Lord", "For Unto Us a Child is Born", "Glory to God", "His Yoke is Easy", "Behold the Lamb of God", "Surely He Hath Borne Our Grievs", "And With His Stripes We Are Healed", "All We Like Sheep Have Gone Astray", "Since by Man Came Death", and "Worthy is the Lamb". The well known "Hallelujah" chorus will be sung also.

Soprano solos will be "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth", and "There Were Shepherds Abiding in the Fields." Mrs. James will sing two alto solos, "He Shall Feed His Flock Like a Shepherd" and "He Was Despised."

"Comfort Ye My People", "Thy Rebuke Hath Broken His Heart", and "Behold and See if There be Any Sorrow", will be sung by the tenor soloist, and "Thus Saith the Lord" will be sung by the bass soloist.

This is the first of three public concerts which Choral Union will give during the year. The other two will be given sometime during the second semester.

Column Right

Books and Things—Cabbages—Kings—as penciled by Ever Sharp

At last this column is able to print that letter of a Chinese editor about which much mention has herein been made. It will probably tickle you immensely. You may have sent one or two manuscripts to publishers yourself and know how such matters are handled in America when the manuscripts are not accepted. A printed card, precisely like a million others in a drawer in the editors desk, is the usual return. Of course they are brutally frank, yet between the a bit of laughter on the part of the a bit of laughter on the part off he editor.

Whether the American way or the Chinese is the better is a question. You can now judge for yourself. Here it is.

"Host honored brother of the Sun and Moon:

Your slave is prostrate at your feet! I kiss the ground before you, and implore you to authorize me to speak and love. Your manuscript has permitted itself to be looked upon by us, and we have read it with enchantment. I swear on the tombs of my ancestors that I have never read anything more exalted. It is with fear and terror that I send it back. If I allowed myself to print this treasure, the president would immediately order me to use it forever as an example, and forbid me to dare to print anything inferior. My literary experience enables me to declare that such literary pearls are only erected once in ten thousand years, and this is why I take the liberty of returning it to you."

As a matter of fact, it would be almost worth-while to be a Chinese writer in order to receive such letters. It would seem that unsuccessful writers would endeavor to keep on being unsuccessful so that they might have their manuscripts returned in such a manner.

According to Michigan statistics, it looks as though it is stupid to be bright. A Michigan psychologist has collected figures from a questionnaire sent to members of the class of 1912. Only 98 of the 257 asked answered the questions, but according to this number the men who were prominent in campus activities rather than campus scholarship during their sojourn at Michigan are now drawing the highest salaries. In other words, these men who belonged to such honorary societies as Michigamau and Sphinx are averaging $10,000 a year and the Phi Betes are averaging only $3,000.

True enough these figures may be, but one can not help but wonder if the Phi Betes were not more reserved about answering the questionnaire than the activities men. Usually they are, you know,—not that I am defending the cause of the Phi Bete—it doesn't need it and if it did I would be the last to do it. Then too, you must remember that the Phi Bete is the sort of a person who isn't interested in financial gain as much as he is in spiritual and that he is the sort of a fellow who is very likely to enter academic work and—well you ought to know pretty well what sort of salaries are paid for teaching. So there may be more than one explanation.

In talking over books which are making our elders cringe and think the world is going to the demnition bow-wows, which are making women's clubs and parents and teachers associations tremble with fear that their dear charges minds may be sullied, a friend and I decided that most of these "questionable" books are written by women. There are "Three Weeks", "Gray Towers", "Anne Severn and the Fieldings", which for the most part are perfectly nice but which in one or two places run pretty wild. "Black Oxen", and one could go on. You know that the author of "Flaming Youth" is anonymous but it's a fifty-fifty bet that it is a she. The women's clubs had better start house cleaning right among their own numbers.

COOLIDGE FREES 30 WAR CONVICTS

Order Ends Fight Which Has Raged Since Close of War

WASHINGTON — President Coolidge today ordered the release of all remaining imprisoned violators of war laws.

About 30 persons will gain their liberty as a result of the order. They were convicted in various cases at Chicago, Kansas City and Sacramento.

The action was taken upon recommendation of the special committee appointed to investigate the question of amnesty and upon the advice of the department of justice. Immediately upon receipt of the president's order the justice department began preparation of the necessary warrants.

The prisoners will be released as soon as the warrants reach the federal penitentiaries in which they are incarcerated.

A White House statement announcing the release of the prisoners said: "It is announced today that the president and Atty. Gen. Daugherty, after conferring together and considering the joint report prepared by Honorable Newton D. Baker, Bishop Charles H. Brent and Gen. G. J. Harbord upon war-time prisoners have decided to adopt and follow the majority recommendation of the committee and according to the president today, in conformity with the recommendation of the attorney general has commuted the sentence of all the remaining war-time prisoners convicted at Chicago, Kansas City and Sacramento to the terms already served.

"Warrants of commutation are being prepared and soon as signed by the president will be sent to the wardens with instructions to release the prisoners."

The order issued by the president ends a fight which has been in progress almost continuously since conclusion of the World war to bring about the release of those convicted for violation of laws enacted for war purposes. The cases were reviewed upon two separate occasions by Pres. Harding and each time clemency was granted to a limited number.

TED COX LEADS GOPHER GRID ELEVEN IN 1924

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The choice of Ted Cox, Minnesota's big right tackle, to captain the 1924 football team has met with general approval on the University of Minnesota campus and among followers of the team. Cox's election gives the captaincy to a St. Paul man for the first time in exactly 10 years. Boles Rosenthal, captain of the 1914 team was a St. Paul man, and one of the best players who ever wore a Gopher uniform. Minneapolis had the captain this year, Earl Martineau, while the 1922 captain was a North Dakotan, Oliver Aas.

ANTON LANG MAY COME TO MADISON

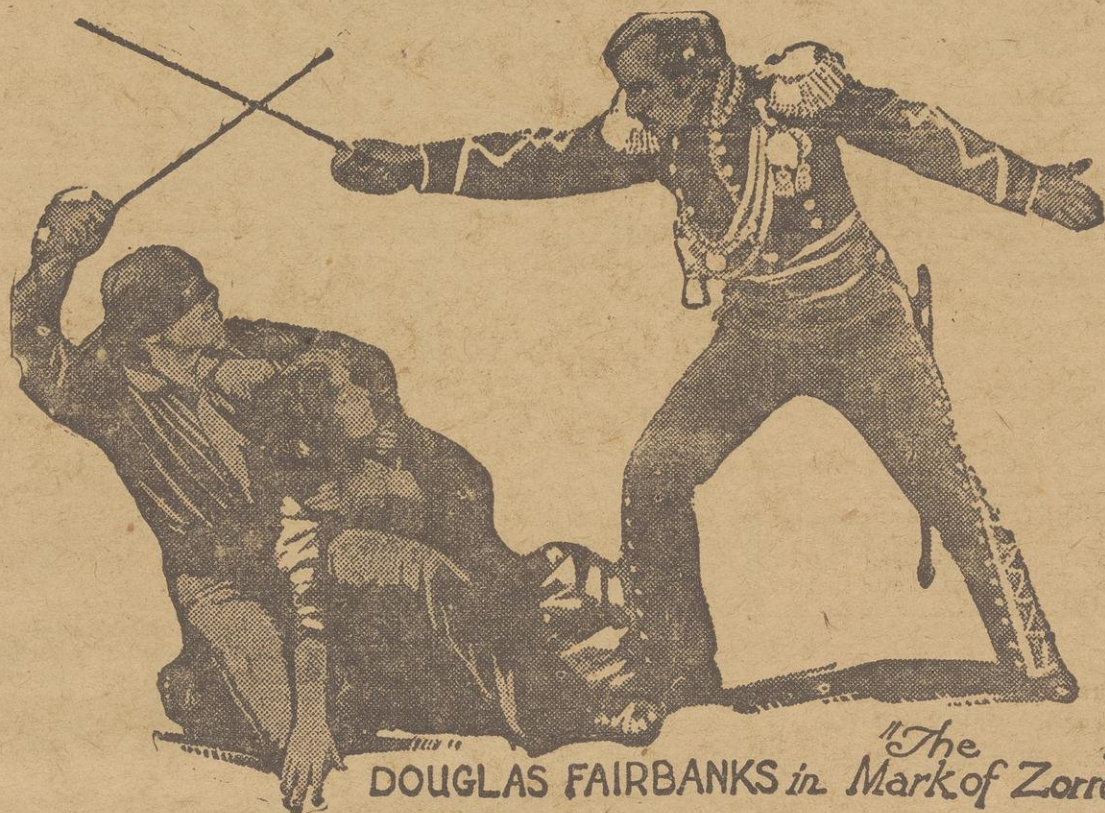

An attempt will be made to bring Anton Lang here, famous for years as the Christus in the passion play at Oberammergau, according to plans of the Madison Ministerial union, the Rev. Frazer Bell, president of the Union said yesterday. This matter will be discussed at a meeting next Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. Lang and 40 of his fellow players will be in Milwaukee April 28 to May 3 to sell and advertise pottery and paintings produced in Oberammergau. The company of players recently arrived in New York. They plan to create a market for their goods in this country to aid their starving people in Germany.

MOVIES USED TO TRAIN WOLVERINE GRAPPLERS

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — Coach Barker of the University of Michigan wrestling team is going to use every agency known to the profession to get the sport on a firm basis in the Wolverine camp this year. In order that he might better teach his green matmen the science of the game Barker has arranged with a moving picture concern to make a reel that will demonstrate how a wrestler should perform. In order that the demonstrations may be accurate and teach only the correct form Barker himself will go into action.

The keyboard is pounded by fists and elbows in the newest system of piano technique exploited by Henry Colwell, an American pianist, according to a communication from Germany.

LIT MAG. DELAYED BY MISHAP, OUT MONDAY

Due to a mishap in the printing of the December Literary Magazine, the issue did not appear on the campus last Thursday, as the editors had announced. Late Friday afternoon several copies were offered for sale on the hill, and tomorrow the full issue will have arrived and will be put on sale.

The issue contains interesting sketches by Oscar Riegel '24, John Schindler '24 and Mary Elizabeth Hussong '25, and a group of four poems by Miss Laura Sherry.

The cover is based on a winter scene in which is shown a snow covered pine standing alone in a snow drifted space.

PURPLE GETS HUGE MAIL ORDER GIFT

A gift of $3,000,000 to Northwestern university by Mrs. Montgomery Ward, widow of the former head of the mail order house, to be used for establishment of a huge medical and dental center on the new McKinlock campus on Lake Shore Drive, was announced by President Walter Dill Scott last night.

TRIUMPHS IN OPERA

MACBETH AS LUCIA

Amid scenes of greatest enthusiasm, Florence Macbeth making her season's debut in "Lucia of Lammermoor" with the Chicago opera company, was acclaimed as the greatest singing actress of the present century. Although her line of ancestry goes back to Macbeth, once King of Scotland, Miss Macbeth is proud of her American birth and of the fact that all her musical education has been at the hands of an American teacher.

SMALL GRID TEAMS MAY ADMIT ANOTHER

GALESBURG, Ill., December 13. —The question of admitting a tenth member to the Midwest football conference will be the principal business at the third annual meeting in Chicago Saturday it was stated today by Coach John Van Liew of Knox college today.

Lake Forest and Monmouth college are mentioned as likely candidates for the tenth position.

Knox and Millikin are the present Illinois members. The others are Coe of Cedar Rapids, Ripon of Wisconsin, Carleton of Northfield, Minn.; Lawrence of Appleton, Wis.; Beloit, Cornell college of Mount Vernon, Ia., and Hamline of St. Paul, Minn.

PROF USES LADIES' KERCHIEF FOR FILTERS

Most men believe that there is nothing more impractical than a woman's handkerchief. Not so the professor who teaches bacteriology and kindred subjects at a high class woman's college in The Bronx.

The professor had been discussing the carelessness of wealthy girls in caring for their personal belongings and had just been telling how he had found a solid gold fountain pen in the hall and how the owner accepted the returned valuable nonchalantly, remarking that she had forgotten all about it.

"Why," continued the professor, "in a single day I have picked up 17 ladies' handkerchiefs around the building. These I do not attempt to return. I use them as filters in the laboratory. Most of these handkerchiefs are pure linen and resist acids much better than ordinary filters."

LA FOLLETTE TO PICK CANDIDATES

Makes Plans For Presidential Primaries in Conference With Rogers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Following a conference here between A. T. Rogers and Senator La Follette it was learned today that a conference will be called for Madison or Milwaukee soon after Jan. 1 at which time plans will be made for putting a complete list of delegates in the field as candidates in the state presidential primary on April 1.

The candidates will be committed to a Progressive platform having the endorsement of Senator La Follette.

A campaign is planned along the same lines as that of 1920 when candidates running under the slogan of La Follette Progressives committed to a platform rather than to the senator personally swept the state. Mr. Rogers left today for New York announcing he will return in a few days to Madison to confer with Governor Blaine, Atty. Gen. Ekern and other Progressive leaders. Atty. Gen. Ekern is now in Washington.

WASHINGTON—Federal Judges nominated included J. Stanley Webster for the eastern district of Washington; Robert A. Inch for the eastern district of New York; William A. Cant, for the district of Honolulu. Other nominations included: Dist. Atty. Roy L. Morse for the eastern district of Wisconsin.

Council Authorizes Aide For Treasurer Carl Moe

An assistant to City Treasurer Carl Moe was authorized Friday night. The office will carry a salary of $800. Provision for the office was made in the 1924 budget.

Pierce, Greeley and Hanson, Chicago, consulting engineers, were retained by the city council Friday night at the request of E. E. Parker city engineer, to advise in the construction of the new sewage disposal plant to be erected south of the city. The contract asks $50 a day for time spent on the work by members of the firm and $20 a day for subordinate assistance. The total cost is not to exceed $1,600, the work to be completed in six weeks.

Mr. Parker was instructed to complete construction of the residence on the Theodore Christianson farm part of the new sewage disposal site. Ald.

But--

This Is the One We Recommend!

Why?

FIRST because it's a mighty good one.

The shoulder and collar are hand-shaped, insuring a permanent fit to the coat. The materials in the suit are excellent—good worsted, and fine satin. If it hadn't these features we wouldn't sell it.

SECOND because it's very reasonable in price, quality considered.

That means that you can afford to buy another when the style changes, or you outgrow it. You never can wear it out.
