REVELERS WAIT FUN-GOD'S CALL FOR JAMBOREE

Second Annual Costume
Dance Held at Lathrop
Tomorrow

Promptly at 8:45 tomorrow night the music for the Jamboree grand march will begin, and the motley crew of masqued revelers will fall into line at Lathrop hall, and marshaled by big "Scotty," will be led past the five judges of costume prizes.

Unmasking will come immediately after the grand march. Then the regular dancing and mixing will begin and will last until the staging of stunts later in the evening. Several organizations are planning surprise stunts which will also form part of the program.

Offer Spectator's Seats

Many are expecting to buy spectator seats for admission to the balcony where they will have a good view of the entertainment. These seats will be sold at the door for 25 cents each. Regular admission tickets to the floor cost 50 cents apiece and may be obtained at the University pharmacy and Morgan's. The supply was completely sold out yesterday but more will be on sale today. Tickets for individuals and groups are especially in demand.

Eight Dancers Perform

The entertainment will include a song and dance skit, a sleight-of-hand act which the stunt committee promises will be the real event of the evening. A group of eight dancers have been especially trained for the occasion and will furnish the one act of aesthetic value on the program. Great secrecy accompanies the plans of this act, though they have been worked out to the minutest detail, and the audience is promised a pleasant surprise.

Music for the dancing will be furnished by Red Hawkins and his best orchestra. Refreshments will be served during the evening, and are guaranteed to satisfy hunger and thirst of the revelers.

STATEMENT IS MADE BY STUDENT SENATE ON LYNAUGH TRIAL

The jury at Jefferson has acquitted Matthew Lynaugh in his trial for the murder of Carl Jandorf, a student in this University, which occurred last year.

The Student Senate representing the student body desires to state that the matter has now terminated. There is no legal recourse from this decision. The case has been tried according to law, and we accept the decision.

President.

DALLAS LORE SHARP TALKS ON EDUCATION

Prof. Dallas Lore Sharp of Boston university will speak this afternoon at 4:30 in 165 Bascom hall, on "Education for Authority." Professor Sharp has been studying the problems of education from a new angle and his articles on the subject in the Atlantic Monthly have aroused much discussion.

Professor Sharp is a teacher of English literature, and also the author of several books. Some of these are, "Where Rolls the Oregon," "The Hills of Highham," "The Lay of the Land." The English department is making every effort to have a large attendance at this lecture.

BOTH CLOSERS ARE CONFIDENT OVER OUTCOME IN DEBATE CLASH TONIGHT

STERLING H. TRACY '22

Tracy is a member of the Forensic board, the Student senate, the editorial staff of The Daily Cardinal, and of Sigma Delta Chi. Last year he closed one of the semi-public debate for Philo. He won the sophomore oratorical contest.

LEO H. KOHL '22

Kohl, closer for Hesperia, is the man on whom his society pins its hopes for winning the joint debate tonight. He closed one of the sophomore semi-public debates last year. Kohl is president of the Student Religious council.

CHINA DRIVES MOVE RAPIDLY

Canvassers Turning in Subscriptions for Mayhew and Childs' Funds

Another step in the campaign for Wisconsin-in-China was made last night when several faculty members spoke at the various fraternity houses. This part of the drive will be continued and four fraternities will be canvassed in this manner tonight.

The drive among the men is separate from that among the women. David Lacey '21 is in charge of the rooming house canvass, and Robert Christy '23 has charge of the canvass in the fraternities. The $3,000 allotted to the men will go to the maintenance of the actual work of Jack Childs in China.

Prof. F. E. Sharp is heading the faculty canvass and yesterday turned in a report that showed subscriptions from the departments of the university which were double their last year's subscriptions.

The drive among the women which is under the direction of Gladys Haskins '22, is for $1,800 for the Mayhew fund which will be devoted to the education of the two Chinese girls who are now at school in Mills college near San Francisco, and who hope to come to Wisconsin next year. This drive closes Friday noon.

"The drive for Wisconsin-in-China is under full swing in a very encouraging manner," said Prof. R. H. Whitbeck, general chairman of the drive, yesterday afternoon. "The only difficulty we have to combat is that we have not enough canvassers for such a large student body. We are anxious for volunteers for the work."

PRESIDENT BIRGE IN MILWAUKEE TODAY

President E. A. Birge will go to Milwaukee today to deliver the opening address in the series of lectures conducted in Milwaukee by the University of Wisconsin Extension division.

JOINT DEBATE HELD TONIGHT AT MUSIC HALL

Philomathia and Hesperia
Meet in Golden Anniversary Event

The fiftieth annual joint debate will be held tonight in Music hall, when Hesperia and Philomathia Literary societies clash in the biggest forensic event of the year.

"Philomathia has a good chance to win. We have worked hard, and we have the best side of the question. We do not under-estimate the ability of Hesperia, however," declared Sterling H. Tracy '22, closer for Philomathia.

Leo H. Kohl '22, closer for Hesperia, said that while all members of the Hesperian team are new at joint debating, their best efforts would be put forward. "Hesperia looks forward to a hard scrap; a good interesting debate."

Members Attend in Bodies

Members of Philomathia and Hesperia will enter Music hall in a body, and will take their seats on opposite sides of the hall, the left section being reserved for Philomathia and the right for Hesperia. Both before and during the debate there will be much enthusiasm on the part of the rival organizations, say officials of the societies. Literary classes in argument and debating will also attend, and the speeches will be discussed later in these classes.

I. Arnold Perstein '21, president of Athena, will introduce Gov. John J. Blaine, who will preside for the evening. Thus the society not debating will have a part in the program. The forensic board hopes that this action will establish a precedent.

Question on Japanese

"Resolved, That all Japanese resident in the United States should be granted American citizenship," will be the question for discussion. Philomathia will support the affirmative, and Hesperia the negative.

The opening speaker will be Charles D. Assovsky '21, who is on the affirmative. F. Halsey Kraege '22 will be the first speaker for the negative. Robert B. Stewart '23 and Ralph E. Axley '23 will be the second speakers for the two sides. Sterling H. Tracy '22 will be closing speaker for the affirmative, and Leo H. Kohl '22 will close for Hesperia. The affirmative will also be allowed a rebuttal speech of six minutes.

Seventy minutes will be allowed each side to present its arguments. No speech will be longer than thirty minutes nor less than twelve. The rebuttal speech allowed the affirmative will be six minutes.

To Have Six Judges

Judges will be Gov. John J. Blaine, Chief Justice Robert G. Siebecker, Judge John Vinge, Judge M. B. Rosenberry, Prof. E. B. Skinner of the mathematics department.

MAKE CHANGES IN CON EXAM SCHEDULE

Several items in the schedule of Condition Examinations published in yesterday's Cardinal were incorrect. The time for the Botany exam is from 1:00 to 3:00, Room 301, Biology building, in stead of 1:00 to 3:30. The exams for French and Spanish, listed as starting at 3:30, will start at 1:00, and will close at 3:00.

The revised schedule is published in today's issue.

MELODY

Composers Pound Out Scores of Scores For Prize Prom Pedal-teaser.

With only two days remaining for contestants to enter in the Prom fox trot competition, campus Irving Berlin's are assuming feverish expressions and pianos are emitting tortured sounds. The agony, however, will soon be over, for no entrants will be accepted after 6 o'clock Saturday, January 15.

The judges for the contest will be Mrs. Lucille Cooper, Leon L. Iltis of the school of music, Majel Hooper '23, Julia Van Aken '22, and Cecil Brodt '22. No judge can play for any contestant.

The rules governing the contest are as follows:

1. Piano only may be used for tryouts.
2. There is no limit as to kind of music submitted.
3. The theme must be original.
4. The score may be submitted with or without words.
5. The contestant may be of any class.
6. A written score must be submitted for final judging.
7. Entrants may play or have someone else play their scores.

UNION BOARD OPENS NEW DANCE SERIES

Tickets for the first of the series of Union board dances tomorrow night in Lathrop parlors will be on sale at the door. The price is $1.

The dances are to be exclusively student affairs and attendance will be limited to 75 couples. Thompson's best orchestra will play.

The over-crowded conditions of local dance halls, which have proven inadequate for the number of students who wish to dance on week end evenings, has led the Union board to hold regular student dances. They will be staged every Saturday night and probably on some Friday nights.

And we're studying with a will,
When hark! We hear a mourn-

That drives away all previous joys.

No din caused by a drunken brawl,
No painted Indian's hideous
call
Could so annoy or so appall
As that saxophone across the hall.

He'll never stop, it seems to us,
Till we go in and make a fuss,
Or till we use a wrench or ax
To smash his head or that tin sax.

We're all prepared to stop the din
That issues from that horn of tin;
Though for tonight he's ceased
to play,
We're going to smash that horn
some day.

THE BOAT RACE ON SPORT LIST FOR SATURDAY

Will Compete in Conjunction With Inter-class Hockey
Tourney

With the first annual iceboat race scheduled for Saturday, January 18, in conjunction with the inter-class hockey tourney, three owners of speed crafts have entered the meet. They are Laurence
P. Warner '22, Frederick A. Pabst
'22, and Henry M. Blum '23.

The boats will start from a point in back of the gymnasium, but Thomas E. Jones, chairman of the athletic department, has not yet held consultation on the distance of the course. The athletic department is planning to make the iceboat race an annual event if enough interest is manifested by students, and a meeting will soon be held to form a University Ice
Yacht club.

Hockey players of each class are practising daily in preparation for the inter-class hockey meet. The captains for each class team are:
Adolph O. Teckmeyer, seniors;
Gilbert G. Grieves, juniors; John L.
Murdock, sophomores; William W.
Deadman, freshmen. The captains will choose the four septets from the men who have been working out on the ice. The tournament will be opened at 2:00 on Saturday afternoon when the seniors go into action against the junior team.
The freshmen and sophomore squads play the second contest of the afternoon, and the championship will be decided by a game between the winners of the two preliminary contests.

COMMUNITY MEET IN MOCK STYLE IS AG TRIANGLE BILL

Prospective farmers and farmers' wives will stage a rural community meeting in Ag hall at 8 o'clock tonight under the auspices of Ag Triangle. The meeting is to be on the order of a typical "Punkin Holler" rural gathering and that atmosphere will be carried throughout. The Ag and Home Ec schools are planning many features for the evening among which will be a Swiss yodeler, singing by the Ag Triangle, eats of the rural order, and program features.

The hit of the program is expected to be the talk by "The Local Cheese Maker." This individual tells of the many experiences gained at the Dairy School and his plea for increased wages is said to be plaintive and compelling. It is proclaimed an instructive and humorous lesson on how not to make cheese.

Ags and Home Ecs are urged to come in country costumes in order to carry out the spirit of the rural atmosphere. Attendance is not limited, and all colleges are welcome to attend. Ten cents admission will be charged.

SOUTHWICK SCORES HIGH IN READING OF "TWELFTH NIGHT"

BY H. B. P.

Showing an unusual ability to impersonate his character, and a real charm in his interpretation of the play, Henry Lawrence Southwick thoroughly delighted an enthusiastic audience with his reading of "Twelfth Night," last evening in Music hall.

All of the registrations were so excellently executed that it would be difficult to discriminate between the impersonations of the different characters; indeed the versatility of Mr. Southwick was shown again and again during the presentation by his distinctive handling of the several parts.

Much applause was registered during his characterization of the exuberantly funny Sir Toby Belch, the uncle of Olivia, and during his deft handling of the dual impersonation of Cesario and of Sebastian.

As a gruff sea captain, whose brusqueness was only a cloak for a generous heart, as a prattling jester, now as the illusioned steward-suit of the countess Olivia, and again as the amorous Orsino, who also woos the countess, Mr. Southwick was inimitable.

Many will recall his reading of Cheridan's "The Rivals" last year and his rendition of Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar" two years ago.

W. A. A. HOLDS PARTY SATURDAY FOR ALL UNIVERSITY WOMEN

A party for all university women is being planned for Saturday afternoon, January 15, from 3 to 6, in Lathrop hall, by W. A. A. This party is an annual affair and is in charge of Jo Doring '23, who promises good music, refreshments and stunts.

Posture was accepted as a point-winner at the meeting of W. A. A. Tuesday evening, January 12. A high standard of posture must be maintained for nine consecutive weeks, during which time three posture tests must be successfully passed by those wishing to win points in this way. Volley ball was also accepted as a regular sport.

Mary White and Charlotte Voorhees were initiated into the association.

Era of Buggy Gone Forever Says Dealer

"The buggy is a joke, nowadays," said R. G. Nuss of the Nuss Implement Co. yesterday, when asked whether or not the buggy would ever again gain popularity.

"I am the only dealer in Madison who sells buggies," continued Mr. Nuss, "and throughout the past year I sold only two buggies. In years past, I have sold as high as 125 buggies in one year; and it was not uncommon for Madison dealers to sell a total of 300 buggies in a year. The only people who will buy buggies nowadays are old couples who prefer to be old fashioned. If there is a youngster in the family a buggy will never do. The chief reason, of course, for this decline in the buggy market is that a good horse, buggy, and harness are just as expensive as some cars, the expense and trouble of upkeep is much greater, and the satisfaction from the standpoint of speed is much less."

ANNUAL DEBATE IS HELD THIS EVENING

ment, and Edward A. Fitzpatrick of the state board of education.

This is the first appearance of Governor Blaine before a university audience, so his introductory remarks will be received with interest.

Alumni who have been joint debaters have been in conference with members of the teams for some time, giving them suggestions and instructions. Neither side will receive communications of any kind from persons in the audience during the debate, in accordance with the usual practice.

Is Golden Anniversary

This is the golden anniversary of joint debating, the debate having been held each year without a break since 1871. This is a record of achievement of which few organizations can boast.

The spirit of the joint debate can best be understood by reading the instructions to the judges:

"The judges are instructed to base their decisions on the merits of the debate, not on the merits of the question. In estimating excellence in debating, the judges may apply standards of their own choice, except that they are requested to consider both argument and presentation.

"At the close of the debate each judge, without consulting his colleagues, writes 'affirmative' or 'negative' on a slip of paper. The presiding officer then examines the ballots and announces the decision."

'21 CONFERENCE ON VOCATIONS WILL BE 8TH ANNUAL MEET

The 1921 Vocational conference, the preliminary meeting of which will be held Wednesday afternoon at 4:30 in Lathrop hall concert room, for freshman and sophomore women, is the eighth annual conference.

The first vocational conference at Wisconsin was held in 1912, and there has been one every year since then except in 1916 and 1919. In 1916 a series of conferences was substituted for the usual talks, and in 1919, the conference was omitted because of disorganized conditions due to the war.

Prof. S. W. Gilman, of the commerce department, will speak at the preliminary conference on Wednesday. He will be introduced by Dean F. L. Nardin. His subject will be on the part that college education plays in vocational preparation.

ROBINSON GIVES FIRST TALK IN RELIGION SERIES

"Culture and education do not make unbelievers of college students," said Daniel S. Robinson, professor of Philosophy, in his discussion "Is Religion Dead, or Dying," delivered yesterday afternoon before a large assembly of students in Bascom hall.

"Since religion is the philosophy of life," continued Prof. Robinson, "the educated man will necessarily view religion from a different view point than the ignorant Hottentot. As long as man retains his present characterization he will be religious, and religion cannot be done away with."

This, talk by Professor Robinson is one of a series given under the auspices of the Congregational Students' association, to encourage thought on religious questions.

THE LYNAUGH CASE

THE students of the university feel keen disappointment over the verdict of "not guilty" in the recent Lynaugh case. Most students expected that the jury would convict Lynaugh of manslaughter in some form. They had a right to expect such conviction. The case should have been a test of a principle—whether or not an officer has the right to shoot dead a person who informs him that he is arresting without warrant an innocent man. The students expected Lynaugh's conviction not for vindictive reasons, but for reasons of common justice. They hoped that the court would declare that no person, whether he wears an officer's badge or not, is entitled to wantonly take the life of a law-abiding citizen.

While apparently the technicalities of our criminal code, the verbosity of Lynaugh's attorneys, and the malicious lies and insinuations against the university have ignored justice, there is nothing for those who expected Lynaugh's conviction to do but accept the verdict in a spirit of sportsmanship. Despite that student "lawlessness" and "vandalism" that sprang from Attorney Clancey's fertile imagination and slanderous tongue, the students will accept Lynaugh's acquittal as every law-abiding citizen should accept it.

While the students regret that Lynaugh was freed, they also regret most profoundly that the attorneys for the defense should have seen fit to maliciously slander the university and perpetrate unfounded lies about university students. If ignorance of university conditions were bliss, Mr. Clancey and his colleagues would have a perpetual lease on paradise. To anyone who has the slightest knowledge of university conditions, the falsity of Clancey's slanders become immediate obvious. The university has not, does not, and will never tolerate a tradition which requires the "seizure of parts of buildings," the "theft of barber poles," or "the theft of a buggy one a year, so that they (the students) can burn it." Mr. Clancey's branding the university students as "high toned" and "paupered sons of the affluent" is even more false and outrageous than his statement in regard to university traditions. The university is open to all classes and it draws from all classes. The student body is a cosmopolitan group. It has, moreover, as fine a spirit of manhood and womanhood and as splendid a purpose of citizenship and service as any group existing. Mr. Clancey's deluding verbosity would fall on deaf ears if he spoke to those who are familiar with the university—but, unfortunately, all are not familiar.

The maligning of the university seems to be a popular pastime throughout the state. When a newspaper needs a feature story, the name of the university is slandered. When a politician desires to throw mud at his opponents, blackest lies relating to the university are perpetrated. When, in our courts of justice, an attorney wishes to free a person who has wantonly taken human life, infamous exaggeration and falsehood about the university are put forth as arguments.

The university regrets this condition in itself. It regrets more that lies and insinuations have been here and there accepted. It regrets especially that such falsehoods should be used in our judicial procedure.

If some effective means of awakening the people to the real conditions in the university should come from Mr. Clancey's misrepresentations, perhaps the recent Lynaugh trial would not be all loss.

AN ACTIVE ALUMNI

THE calumnies heaped upon the university demand some counter action. The means by which this action shall be taken is open to discussion. Student efforts have checked somewhat the insidious reports, but such reports still make their appearance. If anti-university propaganda is to be stopped, if lies pernicious to the university are to be counteracted, the alumni must play its part.

We have an alumni organization which undoubtedly has considerable achievement to its credit. However, the activities of the alumni have not gone far enough. There has been no concerted effort to combat the prevalent falsehoods in regard to the university. Conditions have reached a point where alumni action—united and effective action—is necessary.

There are Wisconsin graduates in every section of the state. There are, moreover, among these graduates in every section, men and women of prominence and importance. If these alumni took up the fight to protect the university from insult, if these men and women carried the effort to show the people the true condition of the university into every part of the state, we should soon see satisfactory results. Student mass meetings and individual efforts, Cardinal editorials and stories may check the anti-university forces, but they cannot stop them. The university needs the support of its influential alumni throughout the state. These men and women whose opinions carry weight and who know the facts, can keep the name of Wisconsin free from slanders and lies.

An active alumni support is what the university needs to counteract the unfounded statements of these maligners of truth who are so prevalent. Such an alumni is a sure means to success.

SCREEN 'EM

Varsity Movie Cast Grows as Beauties Report For Tryouts

Beauty of countenance is not a prime requisite for actresses in the Varsity movie. Indeed, according to members of the tryout committee, beauty often has little to do with the decision as to whether a woman will "screen" well. Personality and individuality of feature are important considerations.

Preliminary tryouts for women will be completed next week, when the committee will proceed with men's tryouts. The committee desires that all women thinking of trying out call Robert Holcombe, at B. 8465, between 12 and 12:30 p. m., or between 6 and 6:30 p. m.

The cast of the production is to be large and there are many places to be filled.

Literary society will be held at 6:30 instead of 7 on Friday night, in order to allow members to attend the joint debate.

Order of Executive Committee.

GISHOLT METHODS SHOWN IN MOVIES

The industrial methods used by the Gisholt Machine company of Madison were graphically explained by five reels of motion pictures last night at the Engineering auditorium. How the different products are made and how the intricate machines are operated were plainly shown.

The process employed in the manufacture of the fly wheels and special parts calls for the use of very involved machinery. The foundry, milling room, plating room, and others were shown in operation.

The civic attractions of Madison were outlined in the first reel by pictures of the city, and scenes of the surrounding lakes. The Pericidograph, one of the products put out by the company, was also shown.

THREE COMEDIES TO BE PRESENTED BY FRENCH CLUBS

A French comedy without French wine would really be a tragedy, and it is the expressed intention of the French clubs putting on the three French plays on Wednesday, January 19 at 7:45 p. m., in the concert room to avoid such a situation.

In "Franches Lippees," the first of the comedies to be presented, the restaurant scene, it is said, loses none of its reality by the use of artificial food and drink. Neither does the effort of the principals to avoid paying the bill tax one's credulity.

Domestic trouble is involved in the second of the two comedies. "Rosalie," the maid believes "strike and the world strikes with you, work and you work alone," and consequently refuses to answer the door bell, when her socially ambitious master and mistress are giving a most brilliant dinner, until her wages are raised. The question then is, "does she answer the bell?"

The more poetic and artistic play of the group is "Il Faut Qu'une Porte Soit Ouverte ou Ferme," by Musset.

The first comedy will be presented by the Under-graduate French club, and the last two plays by the Graduates club. Tickets will be on sale in 312 Bascom hall, and at the French house. The admission is 35 cents including war tax.

SOCIAL SERVICE IS CONFERENCE TOPIC

All forms of Social Service will be presented, including the industrial. So many women of the university have signed in the Y. W. C. A. office for Social Service work that a lively interest is assured for the conference.

Members of the committee are: Helen Kasbeer '23, chairman; Helen Stevenson '21, Mildred Brooks '23, Mabel Winter '22, Miriam Arey '23, and Frances Beecher '23.

and The Joy of Selecting New Evening Clothes

We have anticipated the evening dress problem, the ever exacting, discriminating and ultra fashionable co-ed, by placing on exposition the most beautiful of the newest fabrics for evening dresses.

Only one pattern of each—therefore originality and individuality assured. However, we have many, many patterns to choose from. Wonderful brocaded velvets on metal cloth, baronet satins, taffetas, and brocaded satins in all the new shades, jade, orchid, rosewood, tea race, French blue, and all bizarre and unique combinations.

We would suggest your seeing the unique pattern of tinsel velvet in its vivid and exotic colorings, blue, gold, jade, and henna, the French blue velour pattern on gold cloth, the bizzare piece of batik velvet, and the striking black velvet on gold cloth.

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

Louis Glenn in "Love" which is now showing at the Strand theater is a tense dramatic story of a girl's struggle to bring the happiness to her sister which poverty denied her. How Fate comes against her and how at the last moment the cloud does turn inside out provides many moments of tense interest. Louise Gloum is charming and James Kirkwood and Joseph Kilgour are prominent in support. In addition a comedy cartoon will also be shown.

AT THE FULLER

As on the stage, the action in the screen version of "Kismet" which will be shown at the Fuller theater, beginning tomorrow, covers but a single day. But a day in which there is crowded a series of incidents that cover the whole range of human emotions and which is as rich and diversified in color as the "Magic Carpet" itself.

Otis Skinner, as Hajj, the beggar, who asks for alms in the name of Allah at the door of the Mosque of Carpenters, in that day between sunrise and sunset, rises from poverty to affluence, and travels a distance on the road of adventure rarely achieved by some even in an entire lifetime.

To perfect the illusion of time, from the first faint streaks of dawn to the blue velvety depth of night, "Tony" Gaudio, the cameraman, introduced many new and novel lighting effects, which will mark a distinct milestone in the art of motion picture photography.

She has been in North and South America, Europe, Asia and Africa. Now, after a visit in Washington, D. C., she is on her way to Australia and New Zealand. She is one of the five women members of the Royal Geographical society. She was awarded with the order of the British empire for services rendered during the war, when she reported conditions in the German colonies in Africa.

What will the population of Madison be when the copper box to be placed in the cornerstone of the First Central Building next Monday is dug up?

That's the subject of an interesting display in the window of the Merchants & Savings Bank. In 1837 the population of the city consisted of one settler. Ten years later 632 had made this site their home. The chart prepared by the bank shows not only the city's development for every decade of its history but contains estimates of Madison's population for 50 years in advance.

The estimates were worked out scientifically by the Chamber of Commerce and are based on the city's past growth. According to the estimates, this year will give Madison a population of 39,966. In 1930 there will be 60,000 souls here. Ten years later its number will expand to 90,000 and in 1970 Madison will be a city of 295,000.

So say the estimates on the chart of the Merchants and Savings Bank. The window also contains the copper box, new coins, bills, city newspaper, and other documents that will go into the cornerstone of the city's largest bank and office building.

At present there are 4,288 acres in the city proper, exclusive of the university grounds. Madison will increase to include 30,000 acres in its confines, it is estimated, to provide housing space for its future 295,000.

If the box isn't dug up till 2011 or thereafter, which is probable, what will Madison's population then be? The chart doesn't guess that far ahead.

KLETZIEN HEADS COMMERCE GROUP

Advisory Body Reorganized With New Officers and Constitution

New officers were elected and a constitution adopted by the Commerce Advisory commission at a meeting held for the purpose of reorganizing that body as established last spring.

Officers chosen to head the commission are: E. A. Kletzien '23, president; Robert B. Stewart, vice-president; Charles Hawks '23, assistant vice-president; R. E. Ecke '23, secretary; Ralph Scheinplug '23, treasurer; Walter Anderson '23, guardian; P. V. Cheli '23, sergeant-at-arms.

The Commerce Advisory commission is a service organization for commerce students, particularly freshmen in the course who are in need of advice and help with their scholastic problems. It works in co-operation with the Commerce club and by this method a record is to be kept of each commerce student covering his entire course. This record will be used as a basis for recommendation upon graduation. Another feature of the commission's activity is to advertise the Commerce course among High school students throughout the state. A new plan of campaign for this purpose was actively discussed at the meeting.

"YUKON TRAIL" GIVEN IN ILLUSTRATED TALK

A "Yukon Trail" story, with illustrated slides, will be given by the Rev. H. H. Lumpkin, of Grace Episcopal church, at the Badger club in the Y parlors Sunday evening. In addition a musical program has been arranged, and refreshments will be served. The hosts and hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. M. H. Mendenhall, of the office of the Dean of Women, Mr. and Mrs. Burr Jones, and Dr. C. E. Allen. The program starts at 8 o'clock.

HUMOR MAGS ARE FOR COMPARISON PUT IN LIBRARY

Copies of all the humorous college publications received as exchanges by the Octopus have been placed in the periodical room of the library for reference, together with a full file of the Octopus from the first number.

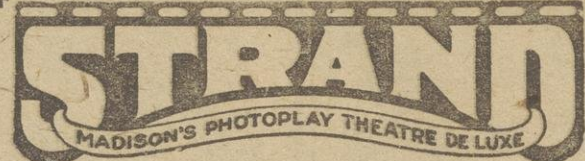

The Octopus editors did this in order that students might be able to compare the Octopus with other publications of equal rank, and criticize it with a connoisseur's background.

By studying the type of humor which is most effective in these, it is expected that students will also be enabled to write more acceptable contributions for the Octopus.

Among the exchanges listed are the Harvard Lampoon, Princeton Tiger, Yale Record, Cornell Widow, Michigan Gargoyle, California Pelican, Pennsylvania Punch Bowl, Brown Jug, and Penn State Froth. There are many others, as practically every college publication humorous is on the Octopus exchange list.
