AWARD KEYS TO BADGER SELLING CONTEST WINNERS

Big Annual Yearbook Subscription Drive Will Commence Monday

Keys of a design proclaimed "to be the most attractive on the campus" will be awarded to persons doing the most meritorious work in the Badger subscription drive to be opened Monday, Willis G. Sullivan '24, business manager, announced yesterday.

Plans for the drive which, according to Sullivan, it is hoped will be the most thorough ever staged by The Badger, will be discussed at a meeting of the entire Badger staff at 4:30 o'clock today in 220 Bascom hall.

A collection of keys of an aggregate value of approximately $200 will be awarded to the best workers this year. Half a dozen designs have been received by Sullivan from Boston and Milwaukee jewelers and were proclaimed so attractive by members of the staff, Sullivan said, that keys were accepted over other suggestions for awards.

300 Workers Start

The key chosen for the subscription award will be made from a design selected by popular choice, Sullivan announced.

A golden key valued at $20 will be awarded to both the man and woman student securing the highest number of subscriptions. Silver keys will be given to the second highest man and woman solicitor. The three highest runners-up in both the men's and women's contest will be awarded bronze keys.

More than 300 workers will start work on the hill and in houses Monday. The subscription staff has enlisted the services of one representative in every fraternity and sorority house and in as many rooming and boarding houses as could be reached.

Today's Meeting Public

"The drive this year will be the most interesting of recent years," Dan Sceber, in supervision of the campaign, said yesterday. "The award of keys is a new idea and if we could only show the designs to everybody, there should be incentive enough to start working hard.

"The news that the Badger is way ahead of the schedule of other Badgers and knowledge of the fact that everybody is working hard this year is leading everybody to expect a good Badger. In keeping with a policy of thoroughness, which we are trying to pursue, we hope to put on a fast and furious campaign. The keys are worth the effort and we are sure people will work for them."

Ellis Fulton, editor-in-chief, Willis Sullivan, business manager, Sceber and others will give talks at the meeting today and will explain the work of the campaign to the workers. The meeting will be open to anyone interested in competing for the awards.

6 O'Clock Tonight Is Deadline On Senior Summaries

The list of names of all students whose senior summaries are in the Badger office, which have been posted in the various buildings will be taken down and finally checked up at 6 o'clock tonight. No summaries will be taken in after that time.

Students are advised by Ellis Fulton to read the lists to make sure that their summaries have been received. Anybody who does not find his name listed should come to the office no later than this afternoon. All students who are taking graduate or undergraduate degrees between now and February of next year are eligible to come in.

The lists of graduates, letters and science and journalism seniors may be found in Bascom hall, those of engineers, in the Engineering building, of agricultural students in Agricultural hall, law students in the Law building, and those of medical students in Science hall.

Castalia Will Give Roosevelt Program Tonight in Lathrop

A Roosevelt memorial program will be given by the newly elected and probationary members of Castalia literary society at 7 o'clock tonight in the S. G. A. room, Lathrop hall.

The program is as follows:

A musical number by Margaret Bell '26; a humorous debate: Resolved "That the Rough Riders was an appropriate name for Roosevelt's volunteers." The affirmative will be upheld by Rozetta Segal '26 and Lois Gaskell '24; the negative by Virginia Reck '27 and Elizabeth Bloom '28.

The brief humorous incidents in Roosevelt's life will be told by Margaret Meyer '25. Ethel McKeegan '24, will read a prepared paper on Roosevelt. Roosevelt poems will be read by Frances Perlowski '26.

Formal initiation for new members will be held a week from today.

MILWAUKEE TRAIN LEAVES AT 10.30

Railroad Provides Diner Accommodations For Students In Urbana Yards

With every reservation filled, indicating that nearly 500 rooters will make the trip, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway announces final plans concerning the special train to the Illinois game.

The special, leaving Madison at 10:30 o'clock tonight, will be operated between Madison and Chicago without a stop and between Chicago and Champaign over the Illinois Central on a non stop schedule, returning the same way.

Regular meals will be provided at the game as well as en route. Reports from the Chicago-Illinois game indicated an acute shortage of eating facilities at Urbana, and to eliminate this, the diner of the special will offer this complete service to the rooters at prevailing prices.

In compliance with the rules of the university, separate sleeping accommodations have been provided for men and women, seven cars being occupied exclusively by men and four by women. The remainder of the equipment consists of an Olympic observation car furnishing dancing facilities, a dynamo baggage car to provide electric lighting, and the diner which will be picked up at Chicago.

The railroad has ordered a large electric sign for the rear of the train with the words, "University of Wisconsin Student Special," with a football in the center, somewhat similar to the sign used for the Michigan special last year.

REDUCED RATE OFFERED ON NORTHWESTERN LINE

The Chicago and Northwestern railroad has announced that although it offers reduced rates for the trip to the Illinois game and return, they will not provide a special train or through cars. Accommodations are to be obtained on the regular trains leaving Madison at 5:40 o'clock this afternoon, connecting with the Illinois Central at Chicago, and arriving in Champaign at 5 o'clock tomorrow morning.

By leaving here at 5:40 o'clock tomorrow morning, with a change at Chicago, the traveler can reach Champaign at 5 o'clock.

ILLINI ATHLETIC BOARD DEMANDS CLEAR STATEMENT

Telegram to Cardinal Regrets Loss of Gerber; Wants Grange Cleared

The following telegram was received at 7 o'clock last night at the Cardinal office from Earl Schwemm, student president of the athletic board of control.

Students of the University of Illinois greatly regret that anything has happened to disturb the relations between Illinois and Wisconsin. No one regrets more than Illinois the loss of Ed Gerber.

Statements from Commissioner Griffith and Director Huff have established that Illinois had no hand in filing charges against Gerber.

We do feel that the University of Wisconsin through its director of athletics and athletic council should make a clear cut statement that in their knowledge there is not the slightest basis of fact for the rumor which was wired out of Madison to the effect that Harold Grange has played professional football.

Blame Correspondent

Wisconsin has stated through Director Jones that it does not intend to protest Grange. We believe that his statement should go farther and state, if it is the truth, that Wisconsin has nothing on which to base a complaint against Grange. If it has, we should welcome it and it should be presented.

The "charge" against Grange has been manufactured out of whole cloth. Great harm has been done to a player whose record is as clean as a hounds tooth.

If this has been done by irresponsible correspondents, they should be smoked out.

Appropriate Spirit of Board

If Wisconsin has no iota of fact to bear out the rumor about Grange, let it issue ringing statement to this effect, and this, we believe, will clear the atmosphere and tend more than anything else to restore the friendly and historic relations between our two universities.

We appreciate the spirit of the student athletic board as evidenced in its message.

The Daily Illini, Earl Schwemm Student President, Athletic Board of Control.

KELMAN DESCRIBES HINDU PHILOSOPHY

Student of Indian Conditions Speaks on "Undercurrents of Thoughts in India"

"The undercurrent not the conscious thoughts of the Indian people will bring about the understanding of the people of Great Britain and India," Miss Janet Kelman said, who has been studying the working conditions for women in India last night in her address at the Illinois game.

In Hindu philosophy Miss Kelman explained, it is believed that even great men and women are too small to be taken seriously by God, and this results in a peculiar attitude towards life.

"The belief that all nature comes direct from the divine source brings out a sense of nearness to nature which is illustrated in Indian poetry," stated Miss Kelman.

"The people believe that God is both the good and evil in them, which excuses the man who steals from his neighbor because it is God in him who makes him do this!"

Miss Kelman told of the belief that a man passes through thousands and thousands of lives, and caste. One of the predominant institutions of India is a symbol of the kind of life he lead before.

"Any person who interferes with a person in trouble," continued Miss Kelman, "is interfering with the divine power."

India is handicapped because, in looking forward only to these thousands of lives, she loses ambition.

In the discussion following the lecture, Miss Kelman answered the question of the advisability of a separation of Britain and India. "No, in my opinion, such a separation would not be wise, for India's great power is in her ability to cooperate with Britain."

"Ghandi" will be the subject on which Miss Kelman will speak next Monday at 4:30 o'clock in 165 Bascom hall. Ghandi, who is an important political figure in India, has such a unique history that one lecture will be devoted entirely to him.

DRAMATIC FRATERNITY INITIATES FIVE SENIORS

Five seniors were initiated into National Intercollegiate Players, honorary dramatic fraternity, last night in Lathrop hall. The members and initiates lunched together and after a short mock session adjourned to the formal ceremony. Those initiated were Roberta Loudon '24, Reinette Douglas '24, Laurence Hastings '24, Porter Butts '24, and Walter A. Fray'schi '24.

HAVE PAID LESS THAN $100 IN Y. M. DRIVE

Less than $100 had been turned into the offices of the all-university Y. M. C. A. finance campaign at a late hour last night. Officers are not pessimistic over the results because they believe the workers have either not seen their students or have not reported to the office.

Ryan and Below Hopeful as They Speak From Train Steps

Wisconsin moved to Urbana last night. While only the team will be actually there today, the spirits of more than 2,000 students are with the team as much as if they were there themselves.

As the 5:40 o'clock train pulled out of the C. & N. W. station yesterday afternoon there were 2,000 cheering students on the platform bidding the team good-bye.

A few hundred students gathered on the lower campus shortly before 4:30 o'clock to march down to the station. A half a dozen volunteer musicians furnished music for a few songs before the march began.

Crowd Jams Station

The ranks of the marchers were swelled at every street crossing and soon a thousand were streaming down Langdon street toward Wisconsin avenue, shouting and singing as they went. At the corner of Wisconsin avenue and Mifflin street the marchers turned and went around the square.

When the line of marchers reached King street the team, coming to the station in trucks, caught up with the head of the procession. The ranks divided to make room for the trucks, and as the team passed through the crowd sang Varsity.

At the station the team members had difficulty in getting to the coaches because of the crowd. When all were on board the crowd began to yell for Below and Coach Ryan. Ryan had gone on through the train for a conference but Marty was prevailed upon to come to the platform for a moment.

Yell for Gerber

"Everybody happy?" he yelled. In answer to the chorus of "yeas" the captain said, "Well, we'll try and keep you that way."

Just before the train pulled out Ryan came to the car platform.

"We want you to know how much we appreciate this very wonderful demonstration," he said. "Every representative of Wisconsin will be in there doing his best Saturday, and we know that you will take the result in good spirit regardless of the outcome. We appreciate your coming to see us off."

After Ryan went back into the coach the crowd called for various members of the team. Shouts of "Gerber, Gerber," drowned out the noise of the trains and the band. Gerber did not appear, however, and it was announced that he did not make the trip.

Meet Team Sunday

A specially built wagon that will hold 30 players will be used to meet the team on its return from Illinois Sunday morning. The wagon, which will be painted cardinal, is being built on the chassis of an old truck.

The seats will be built around the outside, with room for the cheerleader on top. Students will pull the wagon with ropes from the station. The wagon will be kept on the lower campus throughout the year. It is being built at the Service building and will be completed tomorrow. The team will arrive some time Sunday morning, but the exact time is not yet known.

Committee Elected To Prepare Outer Gate Constitution

Organization of Outer Gate, non fraternity men's club, was under way at a meeting in the cabinet room of the Y. M. C. A. last night.

A constitutional committee was elected to prepare a temporary constitution for the organization. F. G. Chandler '25 is chairman of the committee. Other members are J. G. Hecker '25, M. E. Fitz '24, H. A. Murray '25, and L. J. Rieselback '24.

Approximately 40 men attended the meeting which was marked by argument and continual interruption of procedure.

CRACK ARTILLERY BRIGADE FORMED

20 Best Horsemen to Be Chosen For Duty on State Occasions

An innovation in university military circles has been started with the formation of a crack artillery brigade composed of men selected on a competitive basis.

Cadet Majors John C. Dawson '25, and Bowman K. Breed '24, are in command of the unit. Captain Rhinehart and Lieutenant Erickson of the military department will act as supervisors of the organization.

The brigade will consist of 20 members chosen from the artillery officers who show the best form in riding. It will be used in exhibition drills and one state occasions.

An artillery officers club was formed at the meeting. Officers elected are: Bodman K. Breed '24, president; John Purvis '24, vice-president; Paul K. Robertson '24, treasurer, and Hugo A. Murray '25, secretary. Major Brunzell, Captain Rhinehart, and Lieutenant Erickson were unanimously elected honorary members of the club. The name of the new organization will be announced later.

Cadet Lieut. Rutte, chairman of the dance committee, announced the Military Ball which will be held in Lathrop gym, December 8. Doughnuts and cider were served at the close of the meeting.

Women from Michigan who are planning to take the trip to Madison for the Michigan-Wisconsin game are required to register in the office of the dean of women at least three days before the train leaves. A chaperon fee will be charged, the amount depending upon the number of women going.

Thousands of Rare Plants Given to Botanical Museum

Approximately 6,000 different species of rare plants, some of which are undoubtedly new to botanists, were recently brought to the United States by Prof. G. S. Bryan, botany department, and Francis Macbride, Field museum, Chicago, on their return from an expedition to South America made under the auspices of the Field museum.

Professor Bryan collected algae, fungi, lichens, liverwort, mosses, ferns and their allies, and Francis Macbride collected specimens of flowering plants. Half of Professor Bryan's collection has been given to the Field museum, and half of it has been brought to the botany department for display in the botanical museum. Professor Bryan plans to use a large amount of the material in his research studies, principally mosses and liverworts.

The expedition, which sailed from New York last February, went via the Panama canal, down the west coast of South America, to Callao. From Callao, they went to Lima, then by train over the western mountains to Cerro de Pasco, which is 14,200 feet above sea level.

Watch For Ambush

With a pack train they went over the mountains, 75 miles further into the interior, and established a base camp. They made three separate trips from there into the interior, near the headwaters of the Amazon river, which is practically a wilderness, with just a few small native settlements.

These trips took about five months. A number of specimens were collected under great difficulties, and one of the problems was the safe preservation and packing of the samples.

A few of the natives were somewhat hostile, as they did not understand what the "white men" were doing. As Professor Bryan and Macbride were collecting different varieties of plants they could not do their collecting together, but were obliged to work alone during the day, both returning to camp at night. It was necessary to keep a close watch for any possible surprises from ambush.

Is Preparing Articles

The fear of the natives for the unknown was amusingly illustrated by Professor Bryan, as he told of trying to photograph an interesting group of natives working before the door of their hut.

Thinking that the camera was a new kind of gun, they all dropped their work and fled. It was some time before Professor Bryan and his companion could "live down" the story as spread by the natives in this locality.

Professor Bryan took more than 400 pictures in his travels, including many plants and some animals, views of mountain ranges, mountain gorges, streams, and rocks, and photographs of natives at work and engaged in various celebrations. He is now preparing several magazine articles giving a general description of the country and the experiences of traveling in unfrequented mountain regions through dangerous mountain passes.

Work is Difficult

"I wouldn't take anything for my experience," said Professor Bryan, as he described a trip by automobile which they took over a 75 mile stretch of mountain road, which was little more than a path for pack trains. This particular path was the nearest approach to a road. "In the mountains in this region and afforded just width

Reserve Supply of Water is Kept in Attic of Bascom

Above the heads of students hurrying from one room to another in Bascom hall, high up in the attic just below the flagstaff on the roof is a great water tank 18 feet in diameter and 12 feet deep in which the heating plant keeps a reserve supply of water in case a fire should break out while the pressure pumps are out of order. Should this happen two streams of water could be thrown on the flames for 15 minutes at a pressure of 45 pounds.

This reserve supply of water proved its worth at the time of the burning of the dome on Bascom hall in 1915, when without the aid of human hands it put out the fire and saved the remainder of the building.

As soon as the fire was discovered an increased supply of water was pumped into the tank causing the water to overflow and run down through the halls. The fire consumed the dome in spite of the efforts of the firemen, but as soon as the flames reached the tank the overflow put them out.

GOODMAN—John Zolkoski was sentenced to six years at Waupun when he pleaded guilty to a statutory charge brought by a 16 year old Goodman girl.

Team Entrains For Illinois Title Fight

STUDENTS ACCORD
REAL SEND-OFF
TO GRID PLAYERSTeam Arrives at Urbana This Morning For Crucial Game of Season

After two weeks of strenuous practice during which time Coach J. J. Ryan has been trying to correct the faults and weak spots in the line, the team departed for Urbana at 5:40 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The turnout which the students accorded the team yesterday resembled that of three weeks ago when the Badger grididers returned from Indiana after their overwhelming defeat of the Hoosiers. Approximately 2,000 students were at the depot to see the team off and the cheers of the crowd combined with the playing of the impromptu band was proof enough that the team is backed by the students to a man.

The loss of Gerber is a severe blow to the squad and leaves Coach Ryan in a bad predicament. The position will be filled by either Bentson or Miller, both men having been used in practice during the last few days.

Schneider May Start
It is also improbable that Schneider will start as he is still suffering from injuries received in the Minnesota game two weeks ago. Eagleburger and Williams will both undoubtedly see action, although the former will probably be given the call to start. The rest of the squad remains intact and few changes are expected in the lineup when the team takes the field Saturday.

The result of the game will force one of the teams from further conference title consideration. Both aggregations have clean records, although Illinois has two clean victories to its credit, while one of the Badger games resulted in a tie score.

Enter As Under Dogs
Coach Ryan and his men will arrive at Urbana this morning making the Inman hotel their headquarters while at Illinois. A light signal drill will be in order in the afternoon but this will be the extent of the practice, as it is intended that every man be in the best of condition when the team takes the field Saturday.

Wisconsin will enter the game with Grange and his teammates as the under dogs and according to all reports, Illinois is favored to win. Coach Ryan and his men are determined to disprove this statement and it is certain that the game will result in one of the hardest conference frays this year.

MANY WOLVERINES TO SEE GRID GAME HERE

That the Michigan team will be backed by a goodly number of loyal supporters at Camp Randall a week from tomorrow is indicated by the advance sale of tickets to the Wolverines.

According to a statement issued by Paul Hunter, who has charge of the ticket sales, the authorities at Michigan have already sold their first allotment of 2500 tickets and have wired for 500 additional ones, in addition to asking that 500 more be reserved for them.

This promises that the Wisconsin-Michigan game will be witnessed by approximately 4000 Maize and Blue supporters. It speaks well of our rival and shows that a good spirit prevails at Michigan.

GOPHER GRID PLAYER
DEVELOPS PARALYSIS

Ralph Holmberg, one of Minnesota's line reserves, has developed partial paralysis of the left side, it was announced on Wednesday. The paralysis is not due to any sports.

Students at Illinois will not use the campus for surveying purposes anymore.

New Shell Ordered For Oarsmen Will Be Here By Spring

A famous builder of racing shells has been given the contract for a new boat for Wisconsin's oarsmen.

The work was awarded to George Pocock of Seattle, Wash., who builds the Washington crew's shells. The Pocock family is noted as builders of racing shells through their work for many of the leading crews in this country. At present Pocock is working on Wisconsin and Harvard boats, according to "Dad" Vail. A brother of Pocock is in the east building boats for Yale.

The shells are entirely a Pocock product, the work of these people having become so well known that they are left to their own ideas of shell building entirely, instead of the contracting school making suggestions as is usually the case.

The new shell is expected here in time to take to the water for the lake work in the spring.

DENIES ILLINOIS
PROTESTED GERBERProfessor Pyre Brands Rumors
False at Rotary Club
Luncheon

Rumors that University of Illinois officials protested the eligibility of Irv Gerber, Wisconsin tackle who was found ineligible for conference competition by the athletic council here Wednesday, were branded as false by Prof. J. F. A. "Sunny" Pyre, head of the council, who spoke to Rotary club at a luncheon given for the Badger gridiron squad and coaches today.

Professor Pyre also scoffed at talk about Wisconsin protesting an Illinois man, presumably "Red" Grange, the Illini's ball carrying marvel.

"There is nothing to it," the professor said.

He declared a great deal of the criticism directed against the Wisconsin athletic department was due to the fact that those who criticize have little knowledge as to the conditions and situations which confront members of the department.

Below had little to say except that the team would step out into Huff field "rarin' to go."

COLUMBIA "C" CLUB
WANTS STAFF CHANGE

The crew section of Columbia's "C" club has recommended to the university committee on athletics that James C. Rice, for 17 years in charge of crew activities, be supplanted by Miller, freshman crew instructor.

The meeting at which this action was taken was attended by 50 "C" men, new and old, who asked that such a step be made.

Rice may be let out entirely, as Miller has refused the suggestion that he should retain the former coach as assistant.

The annual race for class championship was on among the women's hockey teams when the whistle blew at 3:30 o'clock yesterday and the senior sophomore game began. An hour later and the first lap of the race was over—the sophomores had defeated the seniors by a 2 to 1 score.

The greater part of the play was in senior territory, and had the sophomores consistently followed the ball through chances are they would have been able to roll up a still greater score on the class of 1924. Both teams were guilty of bunching around the ball, and as a result two individuals of the same team often hampered one another.

Hockey Established Here

With eastern society turning hockey as a diversion, and eastern newspapers carrying prominent write ups of the games, it is gratifying to note how long the sport has been established here at Wisconsin. The sport was introduced into this country by Miss C. M. K. Applebee, the present head of the physical training department of Bryn Mawr college. Miss Cynthia Wesson, the Wisconsin coach, was a pupil of Miss Applebee's, and undoubtedly ranks next to her in ability and prominence as both coach and player in this country.

Well, they're gone—may they get to Illinois safely and full of fight!

For the benefit of the hundreds who didn't show up for the send-off, the team left for Illinois at 5:45 o'clock last night, amid the cheers from a crowd of about 2000. Marty Below and Ryan said a few words, putting a lot of confidence in the gang at the station.

It sure was great to see all the boys on those army trucks. Talk about impressiveness—oh man, when the crowd made way for the trucks to pass and all sang Varsity. Any coach in the country would feel proud of his job and team.

Just a few words about the little gang of musicians who turned out. They certainly must be handed a lot of credit for making so much noise. It's a shame that more of the band players in this school don't turn out for a thing that makes "Spirit" an institution at Wisconsin. Get a little pep there gang and let's see what you do when the team comes home on Sunday.

Joe Steinhauer announces that the last of the time trials in swimming for the frosh fish will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the gym pool. Many of the frosh tried out last Friday and some excellent time was made.

After a two week period of practice, the regular varsity squad and the successful frosh swimmers will tangle in the annual frosh-varsity meet. Numerals will be awarded to the winners.

If the records hung up in these preliminary trials is any indication Wisconsin should have some extra luck in swim meets this year.

Coach Ryan asked the members of the Rotary club to consider that the Badger team is composed of comparatively green material. He said that it is not an exceptional team, but a real bunch of fighters.

Emphasizing the fact that the rules of the Big Ten must be adhered to at all times, Prof. J. F. A. Pyre, chairman of the athletic council, gave a brief talk. He declared that the greatest need in intercollegiate activities is mutual confidence.

Bud Jackson pledged the support of the business men of the city to the squad.

EXCELLENT SEATS LEFT

Sale of tickets at student rates for the Michigan game on November 17, was closed at 5 o'clock yesterday. Approximately 7,000 tickets have been sold to students. There are plenty of excellent seats available when the ticket sale is thrown open to the public next Monday according to officials. Students will be able to obtain all the tickets they wish at $2.50 a ticket.

Zupke is worried about the rumors of Grange's eligibility. Who can blame this gent for worrying?

Today the freshmen and sophomores clash at Camp Randall. Two-thirty is the time set for the annual affair, and every loyal freshman and soph will be on hand. We need more class spirit in this school, and today's the time to show your colors. You turned out for the bag rush, and came out pooped but game to the finish—now let's see you out there on the Camp at 2:30 o'clock.

Barofsky will the freshmen against the sophs at a halfback position with Bondi and Megue as his running mates. Coach Jones hasn't decided on who he will use in the other positions yet, but you can be certain that the frosh will have a lineup that will give the sophs a good battle.

These ops will have such men as Ans Mark, Stew Porter, Mike Stone, the Harmons, Scanlon and Classman in their lineup, and may spring a surprise on the cocky frosh in spite of their being outweighed plenty.

STRUGGLE TODAYYearling Team is Rated "Best in Years" By Coach
Jones

The ancient feud between the freshmen and the sophomores will be resurrected tomorrow afternoon at Camp Randall when the newcomers take on the second year men in their annual football turmoil. The game is scheduled to start at 3 o'clock.

While this year's freshman aggregation is rated "the best team in years" by Coach Tom Jones, it is going up against some stiff opposition in the sophomores. Practically every man on the sophomore team is a member of the all-Americans which has been scrimmaging against the varsity daily.

The freshmen have also taken some licks at the varsity but they have not been called upon as often as the all-Americans.

Frosh Point to Fray

The frosh have been pointing themselves for this battle for the last three weeks, however, and they are all set to give the sophomores the battle of their lives.

Because of the great number of men on the sophomore squad the lineups has not been picked definitely, but the frosh will start out with the following men:

FRESHMAN ENGINEERS

The student branch of the A. I. E. E. will inaugurate a new custom tonight when the students and faculty of the electrical department will meet with all freshmen engineers at the Electrical laboratories. Experiments will be performed in the various departments of the laboratory with the idea of giving the underclassmen the opportunity of becoming acquainted with the courses that they will meet with in their junior and senior years, thus, perhaps, helping them in the selection of their studies.

INFORMATION PLEASE

Student directories are out and it is with a sense of relief that one turns to them in looking up a friend. It is not too extravagant to say that the advent of the directory has simplified student life considerably and where committee work is concerned has made a marked difference. No more must one ask an acquaintance where so-and-so lives or whether he knows the telephone number of that freshman who is on a certain committee.

The directory supplies the information. But unfortunately, the directory is not always to be depended upon. It contains a few mistakes, and not a small number of students have changed their addresses since it went to press. In these cases what is to be done? True enough, the correct information can be had at the registrar's office. Yet the registrar's office is open only eight hours each week day. Saturday afternoon and Sunday it is not open at all. Consequently he who seeks information during these periods must wait patiently until the office is open and perhaps allow an important call to go unanswered temporarily.

The remedy for such a situation is self-evident. An information department in connection with the university central would serve the purpose. A record of all errors or changes in the student directory could be kept on file at the university exchange as well as at the registrar's office. Thus the registrar's force could be well relieved of the duty of supplying such information and the new department would render a twofold service.

SCIENCE BOWS

Once more science bows to the University of Wisconsin. Once more this institution holds the beacon and cuts the path to new discoveries, to new sources for research, to new matters of interest.

At the invitation of the Field museum at Chicago, Prof. G. S. Bryan of the botany department with Francis MacBride of the museum made an expedition into the Peru wildernesses in search of rare plants. Running great risks of contracting disease the two men spent months collecting plants of the Amazon district.

It was with the primary purpose of establishing a firm botanical foundation in certain fields and with the secondary purpose of trying to bring to light new plants which might be of economic value that the expedition was made. At this time it is difficult to tell just what new discoveries will be added to botany as result of the trip. At least, however, new breeds of corn and a new kind of potatoe were found and the large number of plants which were discovered, most of which have not been recorded so far, will form a new foundation for botany. The records which were made will make it possible for new products to be evolved with comparative ease.

The cryptogamic plants, or those of the fungi variety, which were collected on the expedition, are to be kept at the university for research work and they will form a splendid addition to the collection which the university already possesses. The collection is one of the finest and rarest of its kind in the possession of any institution and will serve Wisconsin well in the field of science.

JUSTICE TO ALL

At this time of the academic year, universities and colleges throughout the country are in the midst of their weeding. Homeward go many aspiring youths to enter business or to loaf away their time at father's expense at home instead of at school. The colleges and universities rid themselves of a great deal of dead wood and they breathe with a new freshness and vigor at the change.

Some universities are in a peculiar predicament in respect to weeding and are forced to carry weeds with them through the semester instead of shipping them home. Such universities the world criticizes; justifiably or not it places them among the institutions where any fool can stay. As a result, the diploma of those institutions may fall in value and the alumni who hold the diplomas may be done an injustice.

Last June the University of Michigan dropped approximately 500 students as a result of unsatisfactory work. Many fond parents may have cursed the Michigan powers that be for curbing their children's aspiration. Citizens of Michigan may have thought that the university was committing an injustice. As a matter of fact, Michigan was acting in quite the opposite way; it was playing fair with its students. For probably the greater majority of those who were dropped had no business at any university either because they did not have the mental abilities for acquiring knowledge as it is supposed to be acquired at a university or because they were simply in school for a good rah-rah time. Neither class of students belongs at a university; they are wasting their time and the time of their fellows and their teachers.

It would be better for them and their associates if they went into business. Furthermore, if a student is actually incapable of learning, it is unjust to him to allow him to remain in a university.

Thus it is that Michigan, untrammled, has been able to render not only herself, but her students, her alumni and the cause of education a service by an act which on the face of it seems to many people unfair. There is such a thing as freedom of speech and there is also such a thing as freedom of action. It seems unfortunate that not more institutions have freedom of action as does Michigan.

BRIGHT LIGHTS AHEAD

From the unemployment agencies come encouraging reports of happy prospects ahead for the job-seeker. It is not from the agencies on West Madison street, Chicago, or the soldiers and sailors unemployment agencies that these reports come, but from the agencies that cater to the "high-ups" of business, the bankers, general managers, corporation presidents out of jobs. For, strange though it may seem on the surface, there are such concerns that take care of the unfortunate top-notched. They bring the high-salaried position and the capable man out of work together.

At present there are more positions than there are capable men for them, and the question is: what has brought about this state of affairs? Either the number of positions is increasing faster than men are being trained or else men are not working as industriously or as profitably as they used to.

If the former case is true, who or what is to blame? Perhaps the universities and colleges are not doing their work efficiently; perhaps in spite of the fact that they are handling greater and greater numbers each year they are not fitting as many men as they have in previous years, perhaps they are giving too many a superficial education and too few a thorough education. If the universities are to blame, at any rate a student can instruct himself independently of others.

If the latter case is true, the question is put directly up to those who have not yet had an opportunity to show their metal in the business world. If industry and application are all that are needed to put one man ahead of the next, then it rests with the individual and he is entirely responsible for the fruits of his labor. For industry and application are two qualities which, while they can be somewhat developed, can not be taught.

Big organizations and some of the smaller ones too, we are told, are begging for men of ability to help them in their work. There is not a dearth of jobs; there is an abundance of them, and he who goes into business in the next few years will have only himself to thank or blame for his success or failure.

A member of the staff recently wished it announced that just because the name of this paper is "The Cardinal," that's no sign that it's subservient to the pope.

If the coeds think they are razed now, they should look in the Badgers of ten years ago.

G'Mawnin'.

We escribe this pillar of polite piffle in almost complete ignorance of what is in the rest of the deet but we would wager the integrity of the junio class against a collar button that, the new directory be- ing out, that there will shortly be a list of Foxes, Wolves, 'Cats, Springs and Lloyd Georgcs in it. Never has failed yet.

Wonder why the Phi Psis don't buy Del Tally a tent— and a turban.

Another sure thing is that—Yes, we are going to beat Illinois—but what we mean is that we often hear conversation not meant for public display. F'rinstance

She: Was that your fiance with you at the dance the other night?
She 2: No, that is just a close friend.

That made, no doubt, a big im- pression, as the elephant said, looking at his foot-print in the wet ce- ment.

SORORITY COMPANIES

Editor the Cardinal:

The

annoucement was made through The Cardinal that the military units at the university are contemplating using the sororities on the campus as mediums through which they might keep themselves from sliding down the social scale unto the plane which humane, Christian public opinion all over the world is putting the military man. Last night news dispatches carried the following statement made by Rebecca West, novelist:

"When women stop idolizing soldiers, war will cease. The German women held up the courage of the soldier as a virtue to their children, now they are reaping what they sowed."

It will be well for all sorority groups to think deeply on these words.

PROPOSE COURSE IN REAL ESTATE

Doctor Ely Head of Research Institution Which Proposes New Course

A new four year course with the study of real estate as its major has been proposed by the Institute for Research in Land Economics and Public Utilities, of which Dr. Richard T. Ely, of the economics department, is director.

If the proposed course is approved by the board of regents, Wisconsin will be the first university in the country to have a four year real estate course. Studies in real estate and land values are now being taught in this and other universities, but there is at present no four year course with real estate as its major. It is possible that the new course will be offered beginning next September.

Doctor Ely, who is interested in the question of land values, is head of the Research institute, which proposed the real estate course at a recent conference in Madison. The conference, which was held for the purpose of bringing education and business into closer harmony, was attended by a number of well known educators and realtors from all over the United States and from Canada.

Major J. R. Grant came from Victoria, B. C., to confer with Doctor Ely, Prof. E. M. Fisher, and other members of the institute on problems of land values and public utilities. A prominent speaker at the conference was Dean J. M. Walters, Georgia Tech. Dean Ralph E. Hellman, Northwestern university stated that the school of commerce of that university may consider offering a course similar to that proposed at Wisconsin.

Whether the course will be established under the department of commerce or the department of economics has not been decided.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION CLUB PLANS ORCHESTRA

Plans are being made by the Physical Education club for the formation of a club orchestra to play at women's class organization parties and other social affairs. Violin, piano, and saxophone players have already been secured for the dance orchestra.

Cornet, banjo, and saxophone instruments are needed. Players to complete the orchestra will be chosen at the tryouts Tuesday night in Lathrop hall, after the W. A. A. meeting.

Members of the club interested are asked to call Dorothy Dodge '24, at B. 6784.

"Landscape in German Paintings" was the subject of the illustrated lecture delivered by Prof. Frederick Bruns last night at the open meeting of the German club in Lathrop parlors. Miss Katherine Reid '26, sang several German songs.

Academic Studies Hold Interest of Summer Students

Academic studies, rather than professional work, claimed the interest of more than three fourths of the students who attended the 1923 summer session according to a report prepared by Dean S. H. Goodnight, director of the session. Of the 4,710 students who enrolled in the session, 3,896, or almost 83 per cent, were in the College of Letters and Science. Some 331 were enrolled in the College of Engineering, 105 were in the Law school; and 378 were in the College of Agriculture.

A total of 1,477 men and 2,419 women were included in the 3,896 in Letters and Science. Agriculture enrolled 161 men and 217 women, including home economics. Engineering enrolled one woman and law enrolled five women.

The total for the session included 2,068 men and 2,642 women.

PLAN CELEBRATION FOR ARMISTICE DAY

Wesley Foundation Will Honor Ex-Soldiers and Discuss World Politics

A special celebration of Armistice day is being planned for Sunday at Wesley foundation. Boys from the service will welcome all, and act as ushers for the morning and evening meetings. A special invitation has gone to various groups, including the federal board students.

Dr. Edward W. Blakeman, minister, will speak at 10:45 o'clock on "Our Nation and Her World Influence." Patriotic music will be sung by the student vested choir.

In the evening at 7 o'clock Prof. Selig Perlman of the department of political economy, and others will lead a round table on "What is Happening in Germany?" Dr. Perlman will lead with the house organized in parliamentary fashion and freedom of two minutes will be allowed to anyone present. "We desire to know the truth," said Lawrence O. Denyes, president of the Wesley forum, "and we hope the different opinions may be expressed freely."

AGRIC ENGINEERS MEET AT CHICAGO THIS WEEK

E. R. Jones of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture, vice president of America's Society of Agricultural Engineers will be on the program of the convention to be held at Chicago this week.

Land clearing activities in the country will be outlined by John Swenehart, agricultural college, who is chairman of the committee on this work.

F. W. Duffee also from Wisconsin, whose silo filling tests attracted wide attention early this fall, will give the gathered farm engineers an insight into this unique piece of work. Duffee tested the various makes of machines for efficiency of operation and the manufacturers of silo fillers obtained for the first time some accurate scientific data on what their machines could or could not accomplish.

PLASTER USED IN ART SUGGESTED FOR CASTS

"We do not have the time, money or facilities for carrying on experiments at the present time," declared Miss A. W. Reed, superintendent of the infirmary and hospital, in answer to the question as to whether or not a plaster used in Miss Delta Wilson's modeling classes in the department of applied arts would be tried in making casts for cases of infantile paralysis.

Last spring it was thought that this plaster used in the modeling classes would be better than that ordinarily used as it could be spread thinner and still not break.

"An experiment has not yet been made, and not until the medical department is enlarged and we have the facilities for carrying on experimental investigation will we attempt anything of this sort," Miss Reed said.

GOPHERS' HOMECOMING SET FOR NOVEMBER 17

Minnesota's Homecoming is to be on Nov. 17. This year the game will be played at Northrop field between Minnesota and Iowa. The next Homecoming will be played at the new Minnesota stadium. Unique among Minnesota alumni gatherings is that of the graduates of the Law school, class of '04, who began holding an annual reunion the year after their graduation while the annual reunion of the entire university alumni was not begun until 1914.

PASS STRINGENT RULES FOR FAILS AT PURDUE

DEMONSTRATE CARIBOU THEORY TO ENGINEERS

The Caribou development is one of the largest of recent hydro-electric projects and contains many novel features.

Faculty Members Show Their Skill In Art of Cookery

When you sit in class and smile knowingly at the professor as he talks about cooking to illustrate a certain point in the lecture, it is possible that he is quietly laughing up his sleeve at your supercilious expression, especially if you are a home ec. Why? Because 17 members of the faculty cooked the food served at the Kiwanis party last night.

Home baked potatoes, steak, pumpkin pie, and apples were prepared by Prof. Richard C. McCaffery and Prof. Ray S. Owen, in their shirt sleeves and aprons, assisted by Dean Harry L. Russell and Dean Frederick E. Turneaure, who did the kitchen work.

Others who assisted are Prof. Andrew W. Hopkins, Warren J. Mead; Victor Lenher; Edward Bennett; Gustave L. Larson; and Walter M. Smith. They were good.

INEFFICIENT OFFICIALS CAUSE OF CRIME TOLL

The large crime toll in America is caused by the inefficient official methods was the statement of L. M. Shearer made before the Lions club yesterday noon. Sheriffs, in their two years terms, hardly have time to become acquainted with the duties of their offices, and the low salaries paid to district attorneys fill the positions with the young men seeking a name. Mr. Shearer solved some of the mysteries of solving mysteries.

Marion C. Barber and K. S. Reynolds Take the Vows

Baskets of yellow chrysanthemums, palms and cybotium ferns, illuminated by cathedral candles formed an altar for the marriage of Marion Childs Barber, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert S. Barber, Minneapolis, to Karl Storrs Reynolds, son of W. S. Reynolds, Sturgeon Bay. The wedding took place on Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are graduates of class of 1923. Mrs. Reynolds is a member of Delta Zeta sorority, while Mr. Reynolds is a member of the Delta Upsilon fraternity.

A group of Delta Zeta sorority sisters of the bride attended the wedding. Among them are Betty Kerr, Detroit, Mich., Jessie Frederick, St. Louis, Mo., and Marjorie Adams of Oak Park, Ill. Delta Upsilon fraternity brothers present are John Fladoes, Menominee, Charles Jensch, Hudson, Dale Merrick, White Bear, Harry Barnes, St. Paul, Minn.

The wedding couple have left on an eastern trip. They will be at home after December 15 in Sturgeon Bay, Wis.

Few Students Ever See Old Landmarks On Upper Campus

Many students "have eyes but cannot see" the many interesting things on the campus. The crowds of young men and women dashing from one building to the other probably never noticed the plate high up on a tree near Lincoln terrace with the figures 1876; although they may have passed it or congregated on the steps of Bascom hall many times.

Among other things, a queer dormer window in South hall has a track above it which may have, at some time, been used to haul hay.

Although oratory practice is now confined to the porch of Science hall, the jutting window sill on the first floor was once used for that purpose.

How many know where the Wisconsin radio comes from, and how many know if the instruments on North hall or those on Sterling hall determine the weather?

Untiring Masters Make Ugly Braces In Science Hall

Have you ever wondered, as you hurried hill ward to your 8 o'clock, what those untiring masters below the level of the green turf in the south corner of Science hall were so skillfully and silently shaping and conceiving?

Down there amid the hum of whirling belts and roar of blow torches, cold metal is hammered into many useful yet horrible things. There are ugly braces for the injured spines and crooked arms and legs of the little crippled children at Bradley Memorial hospital. There are x-ray apparatus, cinematographs, and various instruments for the Medical school.

One tubular instrument, in the process of making, contains a lens, a knife like hook, and a lamp. When it is applied to the heart of an animal, it will cut the valve, so as to cause some sort of heart disease. The sick animal can then be studied, its symptoms and behavior applied to the human being.

In this dark basement room, with its peculiar workshop odor of leather and steel dust, even sleeping quarters and gymnasiums are made for the innocent pet rats which will later be used by the medics.

When again you round the corner at Science hall, see the men busy at work on horribly useful things, below the green turf of the campus.

SECOND EDITOR OF CARDINAL DIES

Former Student and Newspaper Man Succumbs at Home in Menomonie

Malcolm Campbell Douglas, the second editor of The Cardinal, a member of Athenae Literary society, and Delta Upsilon fraternity, died at his home in Menomonie Monday morning. He was stricken with paralysis Saturday.

Mr. Douglas is widely known as a newspaper man in Wisconsin. He was managing editor on the Milwaukee Sentinel from 1901 to 1908, and since 1912 he has edited and acted as associate publisher of the Dunn County News.

He was born at Monroe in 1872 and in 1893 graduated from the University of Wisconsin.

Coming to Milwaukee, he began work as a reporter and in 1897 became city editor of The Sentinel, which position he held until 1901 when he succeeded George H. Clements as managing editor. He was city editor of the Milwaukee Free Press in 1908 and later night editor of the St. Paul Pioneer Press. He was a former president of the Milwaukee Press club.

Mr. Douglas was married in 1897 to Miss Hetta Stewart. Two children survive. Funeral services were held on Wednesday at the home of Mr. Douglas' mother, Mrs. A. S. Douglas, at Monroe.

BLAINE MAY CALL SPECIAL SESSION

Between $600,000 and $700,000 in Appropriation For State Institutions

Whether or not a special session of the state legislature will be necessary to appropriate funds for state institutions, probably will be determined today when the emergency board meets at the call of Governor Blaine. Estimates of officials today placed the necessary emergency appropriations between $600,000 and $700,000.

Another application for additional funds was filed with the board today by the state tax commission, which asked for $15,000. A detailed financial statement of the commission shows that available funds for the present year total $238,861, while estimated expenses will be $254,612, based on expenditures of the first three months of the year. Unless additional funds are allowed, the commission said, it will be required to curtail its work, and reduce the force of assessors of incomes or present salaries.

The university has asked the emergency board for appropriations of approximately $300,000 as result of failure of the legislature to make operation appropriations. It is estimated that normal schools will require between $300,000 and $400,000. Two members of the emergency board are understood to favor the school appropriations.

The tax commission reported that a comparison of expenses this year with last showed an increased cost of approximately 6 per cent this year. It advised against reduction in the salaries and number of assessors of income, declaring that such action would reduce efficiency. It was said also that if no additional funds were allowed, employees who would necessarily be dropped from the force should be notified immediately. The commission further said that unless the funds are allowed, and it is decided not to reduce the force of assessors, it will be required to discontinue entirely work now being carried on before the close of the year.

Kappa Sigma Gets Permit to Build On Mendota Shore

Permission to begin work on a $55,000 three story fraternity house has been granted to the Kappa Sigma building association by G. H. Mason, building commissioner on Langdon street back of the Tri Delt house. The contract has been awarded to John H. Findorff and Son. The plans were drawn by Frank Riley, architect.

William M. Gardner '23, and Horace Risteen '15, have charge of the plans. The house will be completed by September 1, 1924. It is to be of old colonial style in hollow tile and red brick. A large front porch the width of the house will face the lake and the terraced lawn leading to the lake.

On the side of the house facing the court will be a panelled plate glass window reaching to the third floor, and an 18 foot drive will come down from the street.

On the broad roof surrounded by a railing the men will hold their parties. The house will accommodate thirty-two men.

PROF. GILMAN HITS IMPOLITE STUDENTS

"What a Chance to Be a Thoroughbred," Steve Says at Convo

At this 'crazy period of the world' there is an opportunity for teachers and students to rise above their fellows and become thoroughbreds, according to a statement made today before the commercial section of the seventieth annual convention of the Wisconsin Teachers' association by Prof. S. W. Gilman.

"What a chance to be a thoroughbred," exclaimed the speaker, "When 90 per cent of the young people one meets are discourteous, when 90 per cent of the other students have a sullen, look and scowl, when the great majority do superficial, slipshod work going in only to the first layer of difficulty; when most students fail to answer up and respond promptly and allow themselves to drift into slack and inefficient ways; when almost every student allows himself to get slouchy in regard to habits, garments, linen and fingernails; when the great majority of young people are spending money with a reckless disregard for money value, squandering the savings of those who are sacrificing to help the educational plan; when most students put pleasure and all things first that ought to be in second place—what a chance for a thoroughbred to be conspicuous," Gilman says.

CHICAGO—Charles Hatcher, retired merchant of West Lake, Wis., dropped dead yesterday while waiting in the outer office of a doctor he had come here to consult. Heart failure was the cause.

The great Illinois stadium, one of the largest in the west, has cost to date upwards of $1,700,000, and is the gift of 19,000 alumni and students. This price, however, does not provide for the completion of the great halls beneath the two stands, and other necessary work.

The mammoth structure covers eight acres, and each stand is 546 feet long and the top is 112 feet above the level of the playing field. Altogether there are 17 miles of seats, and when more seats are needed the south end can be enclosed, and after that the north end, making a total seating capacity of 120,000.

The stadium exterior will be of red brick and white stone, a new note in stadium construction, which harmonizes with present and contemplated campus buildings.

Far more spectators can watch the game from the sides of the gridiron within the limits of the goal posts than in any other stadium.

In spite of the huge crowds that congregate here for the great games of the season, the entire crowd is gone in eight minutes.

It is the center of a vast system of intramural athletics as well as an intercollegiate arena. Last year

MAUDE ADAMS
DESERTS STAGE
TO FILM "KIM"

Has the star fallen? So it might seem when one reads that Maude Adams is going into the movies. Such a decision on her part is a hard one to understand, since it was only a few years ago that she played in Barrie's "A Kiss For Cinderella" and did it beautifully. And now she is going into the silent drama, and audiences will no longer be able to delight in her light voice and inimitable laugh.

Although Maude Adams is deserting the stage, she is doing it in a characteristic manner. She is not turning to the playing of light rot in the movies as John Barrymore did for a time and other stage celebrities have done when they became hard up. Maude Adams is going to do Kipling's "Kim" and if there is any one who should do "Kim" for the movies, it is she. That is just the kind of a part in which she glories and shines.

Furthermore, she is going to do it in first rate fashion, for she is setting off for the wilderness of India. This picture, and some others in which Maude Adams as a member of a company is interested, will be colored. A new production of colored pictures based on a new patent attracted Maude Adams' attention and now she is trying to help in putting the undertaking across.

What will come next? Will Julia Marlowe, holding the hand of E. H. Sothern, turn to the motion picture industry for a livelihood following in the footsteps of Miss Adams? Will Jane Cowl offer her services to the Hollywood magnates and do her "Romco and Juliet" for them? Will William Gillette follow them to the silver sheet? Maybe so. But one hears a deep plea go up from the throng of legitimate drama lovers and that plea is: "Do not desert us forever."

EDUCATIONAL SHOWS

FEATURE NEXT WEEK

Next week will be one of the great weeks in showdom, because every theater in town will be able to offer something exceptional.

For the first part of the week, the Strand will present Hoot Gibson in the "Thrill Chaser," which shows the popular actor at his best. As an added attraction the pictures of the Central-East Side high school game to be played tomorrow will be presented. From Wednesday to Saturday the Strand will present Colleen Moore in "Flaming Youth." This picture is heralded as one of the most daring sensations that has been released and is claimed to be a more than startling society exposé.

The Madison will show for the whole week Buster Keaton's first feature length comedy "Three Ages" which is said to be not only the funniest but also the most interesting of the Buster Keaton pictures. His partner in this film is Margaret Leahy, the protegee of Norma Talmadge, who was picked as the English beauty during Norma's stay in England.

The Majestic will present, also for the whole week, Kenneth Harlan and Florence Vidor in the western picture "Virginian," the screen version of the novel and play by the same name.

Norma Talmadge will flash over the screen of the Parkway in "Ashes of Vengeance" throughout the next week. It is a play of the time of Charles V. and is supposed to be one of the most striking pictures of Norma Talmadge's.

The features at the Orpheum are worth noticing also. From Sunday to Wednesday the main feature will be Ben Bernie and his orchestra in "The College Syncopators." Beginning Thursday the main attraction will be the musical comedy stars John Hyams and Leila McIntyre in their new skit "Honeysuckle."

BY TORMENTOR

DAILY BULLETIN: Bill Purnell had a good night after Union Vodvil tryouts. The end of his pencil, however, is chewed off.

We didn't know how necessary women were until we couldn't have them in Union Vodvil.

TORMENTOR wishes to announce that he has gone into the field of editorial writing and will produce a Cardinal editorial Sunday entitled, "The Double Standard" which will interest every Wisconsin student interested in dramatics.

The whole show this week seems to be at Illinois.

The Tormentor will go back stage at the Parkway next Monday and will see Oscar so that he can give you some real inside dope on the Madison theater world.

The Haresfoot club thinks that just because its show for this year is called "Twinkle Twinkle" that all the members of the cast will be stars.

The Alpha Phi chapter had a laugh session over the Haresfoot name. They probably don't go in for this heavenly stuff.

Pi Upsilon Delta initiated last night and the five initiates furnished a week's supply of humor for Roy French.

It seems rather queer that a dramatic society, however, should hold its initiation in the dean of women's office.

Again, — "Watch for the Double Standard."

RACING STORY LACKS PLOT BUT HAS HUMOR

"Little Johnny Jones" Presented at the Strand Produced by Warner Brothers Featuring Johnny Hines

By HIT and MISS

Johnny Jones had the usual racing story plot, if it could be said that it had any logical plot at all. The story opens in a supposedly small town, which looked more like a side street of Hollywood—and certainly no town regardless of size could contain that combination of overgrown small town hicks and magnificent race track.

An old fashioned, gentle eyed, loving hearted mother in appearance—and yet Johnny's mother had the true betting instincts of the race track. Her looks would make you think she would spank Johnny for the mere thought of professional racing rather than cheering him on energetically.

A good deal of time was spent in comical by-plays and clever lines to stretch the winning of the race and winning of one girl into a five reel picture—but the lines were clever and Johnny Hines carried them off with his usual humor.

His manner of packing seemed a perfect duplication of the method employed in these parts just before vacations—and his reason for having such quantities of shoes because it was "a long walk home" would be a good one to use with the family.

Of course it is quite possible for the daughter of an English nobleman to marry a jockey, even though rich Americans are considered quite beneath them in caste. Johnny's success with his lady love is a good example of the wonderful optimism of movie life. Perhaps filmdom will be a solution of the problems of democracy.

The art titles, especially the colored ones, were of the best.

College Education Is Password To
"Highbrow Eleven"

A college education, despite opinions to the contrary, still has its uses. For instance, nobody can get into Ben Bernie's "Highbrow Eleven" without it. The "Highbrow Eleven" is an orchestra, specializing in dance music and appearing at the Orpheum next week.

It has acquired its title because of the 11 members, seven are college men. The other four attend classes between vaudeville engagements.

Six colleges combined to make Ben Bernie's band what it is today. Ben Bernie graduated in 1911 from the College of the City of New York. He spent two years at the Columbia school of mines, abandoning the idea of engineering to do a violin in vaudeville.

Brian, the cornetist, is also a Columbia man. Ray Erdman says he achieved the distinction of leaving Yale "by mutual consent." Mickey Cray, the trombonist, studied at

ORPH PROGRAM
NOT SO BAD,
SAYS SHEVIE

By SHEVIE

Not so bad—the bill at the Orph this half. Sometimes we think the audience is amiss in its distribution of applause. Arnaud brothers were decidedly the hit of the bill as far as comedy was concerned.

The Two Davies

Give the bill a fair start with an Australian comedy juggling act.

Stine Trio

Much applause from the seats was partly deserved. Two young stars were really the hit of this act.

Arnaud Brothers

Real comedians. They depended on no stale jokes to get their act to Thompson's best or Boyd's first, by way of diversion.

Frank L. Whittier and Company

Whittier was the better actor of the two men in the comedy entanglement, "In Wrong."

Lewis and Dody

The weakest spot of the bill.

The Village Vagabond

A novelty act with Russian setting, dances and music. We thoroughly enjoyed the accordion solo although the audience apparently did not. We would have liked more from Mme. Nowitski—she of the very black eyes and quick movements.

the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Johnny Johnson came from the University of Indiana to be one of the pianists and arrangers. Jay Leonard, saxophonist, and Joe Breitenbach, banjoist, come from Swarthmore.

While in college they used to play at glee club concerts. Later some of them formed an orchestra to play for fraternity dances. Mr. Bernie, who was filling a vaudeville engagement recently near Hanover, N. H., met the men at a Dartmouth dance to which he had been invited by some of his young fraternity brothers. He liked the way they played and proposed taking them to Broadway for theatrical purposes, and they took him at his word and Gotham by storm.

PORTLAND, Ore.—The proposal for a state income tax apparently has been defeated by a narrow margin, according to returns of Tuesday's special election.
