Day By Day With The News

By C. O. S.

Residents of Wisconsin confidently expect that Cal will come to this state bringing his fishing pole, a publicity agent, and a horde of reporters with him. His coming would prove a boon to Wisconsin business men and resort owners depending upon summer tourist trade. All roads will lead to Wisconsin if President Coolidge picks his summer home in the northern part of the state where speckled trout play and a few virgin pines proudly lift their heads to the sky. The fact is, however, the president has not definitely decided upon Wisconsin; he has only assigned an investigator to inspect suitable camps. Perhaps he has neglected to ask Mrs. Coolidge.

Henry Ford driving an automobile of his own make was injured in an automobile accident Sunday night and is now recovering in a hospital at Detroit.

The Wisconsin assembly objected yesterday to the holding of a meeting in the assembly chamber to protest against raising of the arms embargo against Mexico. Assemblyman Charles Budlong declared, "If this is some pacifist committee complaining that our country is all wrong and some other country is always right, I object to their meeting in this assembly chamber."

Three hundred miners trapped in a mine near Johnstown, Pennsylvania are conceded little chance for rescue.

Can a Judge

Pick the Jury?

Judge Clarence W. Dearth of Munice, Indiana, believed in picking good juries. Therefore, according to testimony in the case now before the Indiana senate court of impeachment, Judge Dearth selected a jury commissioner who would overlook all the non-respectable citizens. Said commissioner carried a little red book around in his pocket wherein he jotted down the names of the good church members, W. C. T. U. members etc. to serve on the jury to try liquor law violation cases.

Some of the hand-picked jurors did not own real estate as required by law, a fact which made the lawfulness of Dearth's good intentions all the more doubtful. His case was further complicated when he ordered the suppression of the Muncie Post-Democrat which had criticized him.

Judge Dearth's plea is that he was selected on a law enforcement platform that made it necessary for him to pick only the desirable jurors. When asked, "Do you think there could be an impartial jury on a liquor case made up of women of the W. C. T. U.," he replied, "Yes, they have acquitted some in liquor cases, some this term."

Whipping Post

For Minnesota

The passage of a whipping post bill has been recommended in the Minnesota state senate. In opposing the bill, Judge Charles Bechoef of Ramsey county said:

"It would be turning back the clock of civilization a long time. There as a time when there were 130 capital offenses in England and continental Europe, and small crimes incurred most unusual punishments. The Constitution of the United States provides against unusual punishments, and even though the whipping post may be unconstitutional, it surely comes dangerously close to the borderline. There is great need today for more effective means of combating crime, but it is not necessary to go to the extremes of the whipping post."

Romance In The Floating University.

A dozen engagements and two marriages are reported to have occurred among 75 young women and 400 young men enrolled in America's first floating university. Its promoters have hinted that they will use three ships on the next trip.

The first will carry young men who would study and bachelors be. The second will be inhabited by young women alone. The third will be of the co-educational type. We predict that a grand rush will be made to the gang-plank of the last.

UNDERSTANDING IS TOPIC OF FOURTH INTERNATIONALE

Meiklejohn Leads 60 Students in Venture at Banquet Last Night

"We will discover whether separate individuals—from the north and south, from the east and west, rich and poor, cultured and uncultured—can understand each other. We are going to talk about the world make our thoughts clear, try to understand each other."

With these words Prof. Alexander Meiklejohn opened the first annual gridiron banquet of the Fourth Internationale held at the Park hotel last night.

Many Nations Represented

Thereupon, 60 representative men from China, Japan, Switzerland, England, the United States, and other far and near climes embarked on an expedition into understanding.

John Fairbanks '29 opening the discussion suggested that the problem of nationalism must be considered, that nationalism found in the outward display of "our country, first of all" spirit and existing today in China where the Cantonese seek to set up their ideal of a nation.

Offer Panaceas

Tun Yuan Hu '27, spoke for a larger internationalism in which the individual must know himself first of all and from that knowledge sense his relation to others in the world. Krishnarao S. Shelyankar, Grad, closed the trio of introductory speeches.

With these speeches adding a philosophical setting the banquet took on somewhat of the gridiron spirit with various speakers offering their particular panaceas for reforming the world of international affairs.

BING EXPOUNDS YOUTH MOVEMENT

Secretary of British Federation Tells of European Effort for Understanding

The youth movement pervading Europe is a spiritual awakening seeking truth and sincerity, explained Harold F. Bing, organizing secretary of the British Federation of Youth who spoke under the auspices of the Wisconsin Student forum in Lathrop parlors yesterday. World peace is possible only when there is understanding and sympathy between the peoples of different countries. The youth movement of Europe is abolishing the animosity felt among people who are separated by various boundary lines and bringing them together with a common purpose, Mr. Bing believes.

At the time of the World war it was the youth of the country that entered enthusiastically. It felt the idealism of "a war to end war." There were then only a few who understood the hypocrisy of warfare. The movement began before the war, and was a revolt against mechanism, materialism, and the affectations of human nature. Mr. Bing stated that the movement is in no way a definitely organized association except for the smaller divisions within the large group.

Potter to Explain U. S. Relations With Nicaragua

Prof. Potter, an authority on this phase of international happenings will take as his subject, "Relations Between the United States and the Spanish American Republics."

"All of us who want to understand what has happened and what is likely to happen in this field must try to get the fundamental facts about these republics rather than any misleading abstract ideas or sentimental prejudices," contends Prof. Potter.

Kansas Sheriff Arrests N. U. Debater for Telling of Efficient Bootleggers

A member of the Northwestern university debating team, Standford Clinton, so debated in Manhattan, Kans., Monday that the district attorney has issued a subpoena for him. Clinton is alleged to have asserted in his arguments that liquor could be purchased in Manhattan in less than five minutes. The statement angered and displeased the county officials at Manhattan, which is the seat of the state agricultural university and the subpoena was issued.

Although the Northwestern debating team was scheduled to appear against Kansas university last night, Clinton was ordered to appear before the magistrate this afternoon.

The county attorney is anxious to know who gave the young man the information and he added that liquor could not be purchased in five minutes. He stated, "If liquor can be obtained in this town so easily it is my duty to learn about it. If not, the young man should be more careful in his charges because his statements probably carry weight with his audiences. It's such loose talk as that that reacts against the enforcement of the prohibition law."

BASEBALL MEN TO LEAVE FOR SOUTH FRIDAY

Sixteen Men to Make Trip;
Behind

More than a score of young men who aspire to swing bats and run bases in defense of Wisconsin's inter-collegiate baseball reputation this season entertained themselves at a bit of outdoor practice on Randall field yesterday afternoon.

The Badger baseball men haven't had what could be called a good outdoor workout this year, and since they start on the spring training trip through the south tomorrow, it is not probable that they will get one before they go into action against Southwestern University at Memphis Saturday.

Team Not Picked

Although Coach Guy S. Lowman has not yet definitely selected all the men who will make the trip it is probable that at least 16 will be picked. All but two or three of the 16 are already certain of going but the remaining places must be filled from doubtful candidates.

"Rollie" Barnum, on the trail of his ninth major letter, will lead the team as acting captain in the fore-mentioned absence of Capt. George Stoll, pitcher, who is now ineligible. Stoll will stay behind to write off an examination, and will if successful join the team at Clinton, Mississippi.

Stoll Not Going

Although the absence of Stoll takes most of the kick out of the Badger pitching staff, the men are hopeful of improving their attack in order to balance their weakness in the box.

Einar Jacobson a lanky youth who pitched several games for Wisconsin last season, is the only experienced hurler with the team. He proved effective then and would undoubtedly be a dependable man if he could master his lack of control when there are men on the bases.

Other pitchers who may develop are Thelander, Stubecky, Claussen and Ellerman. Thelander and Stubecky are stars from last year's freshman squad, but both have yet to pass the test of heavy duty.

Barnum Behind Plate

The other half of the battery division is well taken care of by Rollie Barnum, whose steady improvement last season was a source of pleasure to Badger fans. Barnum has good baseball sense and a snappy throw to second, both of which help out a catcher considerably. Though he is not an especially heavy hitter, he is dangerous at all times, and most especially in a pinch.

As has been remarked before, the infield and outfield lineup are more a matter of juggling than of development. With the exception of third and second base, every one of the fielding tasks can be given to an experienced man.

Infield Strong

Mike Murphy and Johnny Decker, dependable members of last year's inner garden quartet, will be back at first and short respectively, while Gene Rose and Don Cameron or Phil Koenig will complete the infield.

Larson, last year's captain, Donagan and Burbridge, are all back after their old outfield jobs. Donagan or Larson may be shifted into the infield, and Massey who saw action in a few games last year, is again bidding for a place.

The complete southern schedule follows:

Southwestern University at Memphis, April 2.

University of Mississippi at Oxford, April 4 and 5.

Mississippi College at Clinton, April 6 and 7.

Mississippi Agricultural College at Starkville, April 8 and 9.

St. Louis University at St. Louis April 11.

FROSH BASEBALL

Freshman baseball candidates have been asked to report at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon at Camp Randall to Coach Uteritz. They have been instructed to wear old clothes.

TRAINING TABLE TIPS

THE SOUTHERN TRIP
WE ENTER THE RELAYS
RECORDS

It won't be long now until the baseball men get what they've been after these many months—that nice trip through the sunny south.

We offered our invaluable services as bat boy for the trip but Coach Lowman said he guessed the pitching staff would do. Suppose we will have to go home.

Last year the Wisconsin team didn't do so well in its competition with southern teams. The Badgers lost something like five out of eight games and had a lot of hard luck into the bargain. This year with George Stoll devoting his highly developed baseball brain to matters of mere study, it appears that the trip may again not be too successful. The one object, however, of the spring trip is conditioning of the men to actual playing conditions, and this it accomplishes pretty well.

Other conference baseball teams, notably Ohio State and Chicago have already nearly completed their spring trips. Ohio State dropped two games to Georgia last week, 7-2 and 4-2, but won from Furman College, 8-4. Chicago lost one game to St. Louis University and divided a two-game series with Arkansas. From which one might infer that it is the usual thing for conference teams to bungle their early season games in the south. Correct.

Coach T. E. Jones, track, has announced the entrance of some thirty men in the Kansas relays, April 23. While not more than half of these will actually make the trip, it is at least edifying to know that Wisconsin will be represented in the relays. Last year, Chuck McGinnis' second in the high jump was the only place won by a Badger trackman.

The relays will provide excellent practice for Wisconsin's championship-seeking tracksters, for it will bring them against the strongest college performers of the middle west who can muster in one year.

Only one Wisconsin man, Schwarze, now holds a record in the K. U. Relays. Schwarze's shot put of 49 feet 10 1/2 inches has remained untouched since 1925, even before the determined attacks of John Kuck, Kansas State Teacher's College star. Kuck put the shot 49 feet 2 1/2 inches to win first place last year.

Though Wisconsin swimmers placed fourth in this year's Big Ten meet, the Badgers still hold two conference swimming records. Herschberger's 50-yard mark of 24.1 seconds stayed put as did the record set by Wisconsin's great 1925 160 yard relay team. This time of 1 minute 18.4 seconds wasn't even threatened because of the substitution of the 200 yard relay in a 50-yard tank.

The crew practiced yesterday as usual. Only two and one-half months to the Poughkeepsie regatta.

Michigan Star After New Record in 220-Yard Swim

IOWA CITY—A new world's record in the 220 yard free style will be the goal of P. C. Samson, University of Michigan swimmer and holder of the American inter-collegiate mark, when he competes in the National Collegiate A. A. championships at the University of Iowa, April 15 and 16.

According to Matt Mann, the swimmer's coach who announced his record intentions, Samson is capable of shattering the recognized world's record of 2:15 610 now credited to John Weissmuller, Illinois A. C. The Michigan star will aim for a mark of 2:15, which would supersede the time of 2:15 2-10 by Weissmuller in 1925 but not yet acted upon by the International Federation.

Samson won the Western Conference title in the 220 with the time of 2:18 2-10, a new American inter-collegiate and Big Ten record. He also took the 440 yard free style in 5:09 8-10, establishing another American inter-collegiate and Big Ten standard.

The Crusaders Are Packing

Tonight at the mystic hour of 1 a. m. approximately 85 men will leave Madison on the famed Haresfoot trip. Today they are rushing around making final preparations for their two weeks' journey throughout the Middle West and they are beginning to forget the hours of grueling toil spent in making "Meet the Prince," a show worthy of the University of Wisconsin.

This week also there are two other organizations leaving our campus to spread the good word about Wisconsin and to carry her banner into other walks and other fields. They are the championship Men's Glee club and the baseball squad. The Men's Glee club will sing in 11 principal cities of three states, taking in for the first time the northern section of Wisconsin.

These three groups represent distinct phases of undergraduate activity which is so often railed at by the more conservative members of the faculty. We have heard their criticism and we agree with them to the extent that sometimes too much time and energy is consumed on them. Perhaps the students do not get quite such good grades during the strenuous days of practice and rehearsals. But the university should appreciate the fact that the reaction throughout the state and the Middle West which is caused by these organizations is entirely to the university's benefit.

The professor who goes to Oshkosh to give a commencement address; the president of the university giving a talk before the annual Engineers' convention in Appleton; and the chorus girl who smiles at the inhabitants of Sheboygan are all working toward one goal—carrying the name of the university to all sections of our state and strengthening the alumni by bringing them together under the banner of Alma Mater.

We remember particularly the work of Haresfoot two years ago when Pres. Birge was presenting his budget to the members of the legislature for the consideration. Eighty travelling salesmen for the university, dressed as chorines aroused interest in the university's problem and were able to carry President Birge's message to communities in this state as well as to alumni organizations in nearby cities.

We feel that there is a good deal of justifiable criticism laid at the doors of these activities, but it must not be forgotten that they are serving the university in a manner which could hardly be attempted by anyone else.

So we wish you luck, members of Haresfoot, the Glee club, and the baseball team. We know that you will realize that you are representing Wisconsin wherever you go and that you will make all who see or hear you appreciate the greatness of the university of which we who know her are so proud.

Good bye and good luck!

The Open Season on Books

Periodically we are painfully reminded through the agency of the Historical library that a study cycle exists at the University of Wisconsin just as the business cycle exists in the economic world. The only difference being that the study cycle is measured in periods of two or three months while the business cycle extends over some years.

At any rate we are now suffering, with the library a peak in the study cycle. Witness the reserve shelves of the library. Dash in there some hour of the day in search of a book put on reserve for some course. Yes, it is the open season on reserve books.

In some of the courses which we are now pursuing, ten books were placed on reserve for the purpose of allowing students in the course the privilege of study without the trouble of searching out call numbers and applying. All ten of the books have been spirited away into oblivion. They might be returned before school closes in June; perhaps eight of them will find their way back. The rest will mold in the cobwebs of some lodging house. That is just one course out of several hundred.

We go to a shelf and select a book for some other course. Someone has evidently been before us, for it has been mutilated to the extent that 18 pages have been torn out to serve as a pony for some conscienceless individual.

It takes no discerning intellect or world-wide experience to see that such conduct on the part of a few of us requires little courage or sportsmanship to snare a book and hurry it home under the arm and cause the majority the trouble of going uninformed.

Somebody Lost a Pin

We found a sorority pin or something of the sort yesterday. It is a gold quill with a black enamel "Q" on it, and the initials J. W. S. on the back. We're stumped. We don't want to keep it as the loss of it may be breaking some poor girl's heart. We know how it is because we've lost our fraternity pin during our so-called checkered college career. The safety clasp on our pin is even more nervous than Secretary of State Kellogg. We can't depend on it to stay put.

If the young lady who lost the pin will call at the Daily Cardinal office any afternoon and ask for the editor with the Swedish name she will get her jewelry back. No questions will be asked, and no payment for the ad is necessary.

This paper wishes to announce that it will maintain a fearless editorial policy in regard to lost fraternity and sorority pins. We shall insist that all lost pins be returned unless sufficient reason for not returning them is given. Something has got to be done about the increasingly high mortality rate of pins as spring advances.

We will admit that balmy weather, aesthetic environment, and an unreasonable moon that mellows the temperament are factors working against us. But we must fight, brothers, to hold high aloft the torch of independence, to resolutely insist upon our property rights, and to let no outside influence swerve us from our course toward higher knowledge.

No, we're not drunk. We are a teetotaler, in spite of insinuations hurled at us by misunderstanding members of the W. C. T. U., whom we wish we could make our friends. We do plead guilty to the intoxication of spring, however, and that explains this temporary editorial aberration.

On How to Edit a Newspaper

A communication to the editor published in yesterday's Cardinal carried a criticism similar to thousands of others offered verbally and in written form to thousands of editors throughout the historical march of journalism in the United States.

It carried that note of cock-sureness that spoke plainly the phrase "If I were editor." Another case which might be catalogued as "back seat driving." We have often heard criticisms such as this one answered with the following terms, "Oh, yes, everybody thinks he knows how to run a newspaper." But that in itself is insufficient; it fails to explain the whole question.

A good many people seem to recognize what are to them remediable imperfections in their daily newspapers. It is only natural that they give voice to them. Some of it can be utilized by the paper in question, but the greater part cannot. The critics lack a comprehension of the difficulties attendant to the editing and the publishing of a newspaper, and most always the misconception arises from the fact that the critic has a misconception of the function of the newspaper in relation to its public.

No newspaper can be omniscient. The Daily Cardinal is no exception. As in the selection of what is to be printed as news, a newspaper must use discretion in its selection of editorial subjects. It can only select the high points and discuss them in its editorial columns. It cannot side-track its purpose for community betterment on some petty event which bears no significance to the community as a whole.

This, my dear readers, is a contribs column conducted by the erstwhile Zopelka. Fear not to read on, for none of the humor is his.

Contribs, if you failed to make rockets this time, continue attempting. Proceed—

C. W. READING

from forester to store manager

"After graduating from Illinois in June of '22 I started to learn the business of wood preservation with a company whose president was a close personal friend. As I learned more of the work, I could see less of a real future in it.

Having heard of Kresge methods and Kresge prospects, I investigated as thoroughly as it is possible for an outsider to do. This convinced me that there was more opportunity for advancement with this company than with any other I knew anything about.

All my friends argued against the idea of my becoming a stockman in overalls. They laughed at me for giving up an almost sure thing to go to work for a big corporation where no one knew me.

Today, as a store manager, I can smile at these friends for I am making more money than any of them. I have gone further socially, financially, and in every other way, than would have been possible in so short a time in any other business.

And I have just started! With the company expanding as it is, the opportunities are unlimited."

Now, Seniors . . . . . it's up to You!

Your college career will soon be over. And then you must choose your life work. How important it is that you get started right.

And it is entirely up to you! You may start in a position that pays well now, but which offers little or no opportunity for advancement. Or you may start for a little less in a job where there is much to learn, but which offers an unlimited future to those who are faithful and willing to work and study hard.

We start college men at the bottom. But as they learn and advance we pay them more. In a few years they may become store managers—dignified positions which pay high salaries.

If you are interested in the job with a future, write now to our Personnel Department. We will send a man who has already found success with this organization, a graduate of your own college, to meet you and tell you more about our business.

HIBBARD RETURNS FROM TRIP EAST

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Back After Discussion on Student Religious Conditions

Mr. C. V. Hibbard, general secretary of the university Y. M. C. A., returned Monday from a trip to the east, where he attended a meeting called by the committee on social and religious surveys held at Columbia university. The purpose of the meeting was a review of the last chapter of this survey by various college presidents, deans and religious workers.

Conditions in 24 colleges have been studied for the past 4 years by impartial experts, and a survey is being written by them on this subject.

One of the major questions discussed at the meeting was the responsibility of the university itself for the moral and religious life of the university among both faculty and students. The general feeling was, as a rule, administrations are not living up to their responsibilities in this direction.

One of the deans present said, "One of the most perplexing problems, certainly the most fundamental, which the students face in their religious experience, is the kind of apologetic which passes for religion among too many religious workers today. If students and faculty members are to be vitally influenced by religion, a definition of religion must be found and a body of religious practices and experiences built up, which will square with the demands of the most rigid intellectuality."

Dr. Schafer Speaks on Pioneer Days This Afternoon

Dr. Joseph Schafer, superintendent of the Wisconsin Historical society will give an illustrated lecture at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon in the art exhibit room on the fourth floor of the Library building.

At this time Dr. Schafer will show slides of 50 original sketches of scenes and incidents on the California trail in 1849 during the gold rush. These drawings are unsigned, and the identity of the artist is uncertain.

The probable identity of the artist will be discussed at the talk, for Dr. Schafer has made extensive inquiry into the subject. The lecturer will discuss the evidence which points to a certain individual as the one to whom we are indebted for these interesting memorials of the California trail.

OGG HEARS SCHOLARS' REPORTS IN NEW YORK

Prof. Frederick Ogg, chairman of the Political Science department, returned yesterday from New York where he attended meetings of the Social Science Research committee on Human Migration and the executive committee of the American Council of Learned Societies. Professor Ogg is chairman of the Human Migration committee in which capacity he heard and considered reports submitted by scholars on migration.

Returning from Columbia, Mr. Hibbard attended a conference on student supervision in Chicago. The purpose of this conference was to formulate a plan for national organization of Y. M. C. A. work among students.

CANOEING FOR CREDIT OFFERED TO WOMEN

Canoeing is being offered for the second year for sport credit in the women's physical education department. There are 50 enrolled in the course and 12 on the waiting list.

To enroll in the course it is necessary to swim 22 lengths of the Lathrop pool and to float for 15 minutes. Persons who fail to pass this test cannot enroll in the course.

There are three sections thus far, one at 11 o'clock Mondays and Wednesdays and two at 11 o'clock Tuesdays and Thursdays. Canoes are obtained from the University Boat House for the course. As soon as the water is sufficiently warm work on canoeing tests will begin. These tests demonstrate the correct way to upset and right canoes and are the same as those given yearly at the canoeing conference held in the east by the Camp Directors' association.

Miss Elizabeth Hastie, of the women's physical education department is in charge of the sport.

APRIL 15 LIMIT FOR ELECTION PETITION

Candidates for all positions contested in the coming spring election must have their petition signed by 25 qualified voters, a $3 election fee, and all their publicity plans in the office of the dean of men by April 15, according to Bryant, student senate election committee head.

Recommended Union board candidates are the only exceptions to these requirements. Contrary to previous announcement junior candidates for Union board have only to complete 10 hours of Union work to be eligible to run, whether they are recommended or not.
