Guard Surrounds University

44 Arrests; Campus Afire; 10,000 Rally

By The Cardinal Staff

Strikers and police battle across campus for the second straight night Tuesday after a 7:30 rally on the Library Mall.

As the night time violence continued, Mayor William Dyke left open the possibility of imposing a curfew on the troubled city should the need arise.

Units of the National Guard made their initial appearance last night on Park St. in front of the Humanities building. It was reported that National Guardsmen were positioned at all military connected institutions on campus.

As of Cardinal deadline (midnight) 40 persons were arrested stemming from Tuesday's disturbances.

The University Hospital reported eight students were treated for teargas and minor lacerations; Madison General Hospital reported ten police officers treated.

Eight buildings were firebombed as of midnight last night. They were: Devine Towers, 626 Langdon; Law Library, 975 Bascom Mall; Education building, Cardinal reporters compiling this story included Leo Burt, Dan Lazare, and Walt Bogdanich.

1000 Bascom Mall; Navy ROTC, 1610 University Ave; New Library site, the corner of Park and Langdon; an apartment building at 1123 East Dayton; Communications building at Murray and Johnson; and J. S. Timlin Lumber Co. 2702 University.

After an initial attack on the Army ROTC T-16 building, the battle centered around the Park St. area between University and Langdon, culminating in a virtual police siege of the Union at approximately 10:45.

With the first floor heavily gassed, students were trapped on the second floor with no avenue of escape for more than a half hour. Police reportedly fired a tear gas cannister directly in the building through a window near the ticket office. Police blocked all

An Editorial

Fire This Time

A sign displayed at the Moratorium March on Washington eight months ago read "Fire Next Time."

All over the nation, hundreds of thousands of students are bringing that fire on home. For it long ago became obvious that the power elite which runs this country just was not going to listen to peaceful marches and refused unilaterally to stop not only their genocidal actions on the Southeast Asian people but their police state tactics on dissenters at home.

Eight months ago, Richard Nixon could afford to sit flippantly in the White House and watch football on television as nearly half a million chanting, nonviolent Americans walked under his window.

Today, Richard Nixon must justify the murder of seven students, must calm the fears of his big business allies as they see this country coming down in ruins about their ears, and must summon every ounce of state force at his fingertips to attempt to halt rioting on the majority of campuses throughout the nation.

The cannon fodder of the war are beginning to bring the war back to where it belongs—in the streets of the nation from which it began.

And it is not only the universities which are beginning to shake at their foundations. In Ohio, the same troops that shot at students, also shot Teamsters off the roads as they attempted to put a halt to scabbing in their present strike.

The Stock Market fell nineteen points Monday. And the United Auto Workers sent a telegram to protesting students at Boston University, expressing their solidarity with the student movement.

In light of this development of a nationwide movement, sparked by the Cambodian question, it is clear that we must begin a renewed drive to get out into the broader community immediately and begin to talk with the working people of Madison about how we can struggle together against a government and a war which is shafting us all. We must move off this campus, in action and ideology and that move must be one of our major efforts in the days ahead.

For in many ways, it is those kinds of links and alliances that the men who run this country fear the most. A tremendous effort has been made to clamp a heavy lid on erupting campuses throughout the country. One of the best ways we can fight this immediate repression and the more profound reasons for it is by bringing the entire working community of this city into the struggle with us.

And simultaneously, we must not allow the strike to die on this campus simply because the guard has come. The third demand over which we are striking states unequivocally "End University complicity with the war."

We must continue to fight for that demand now that the Guard is here.

Tactics must be developed which will avoid direct confrontation with the Guard. We must insure that every hour of the day this campus is in a state of disruption complete enough so that the University's normal functions will come to a complete halt. We learned about demonstrations and the Guard during last year's black strike. We must carry those lessons onto success.

Over the past few days we have allowed a very dangerous attitude and outlook to develop toward the kind of demonstration we are conducting. The point of every mass action has become showing defiance in the face of police force. We have grown fearless but we have been unable to translate this fearlessness into meaningful or useful action.

The police and the Guard are a wedge between the powers that run the capitalist system and the people. The Guard, for example, is composed to a large extent of men attempting to avoid the draft. We must learn to move around them.

Some of our numbers did exactly that Monday night and Tuesday night when fires broke out in several business establishments, notably Kroger's. These small groups of people asserted for all of us the demand we are making to control our lives, just as the Southeast Asian people are demanding control over their own lives. Kroger's, a symbol of exploitation to the entire student community, has been razed to the ground.

But such actions can, at this stage in history, only be carried out by small groups. The masses of people must use their energies in just as crucial ways: in organizing the community and in continuing to shut down the University through disruption.

We are not only turning the tide but becoming the tide.

Violence, Strikes Hit Campuses Nationwide

By JUDY ROYSTER
Cardinal Staff Writer

As the national student strike officially got underway Tuesday, demonstrations against Richard Nixon's Southeast Asian policy and against the killing of the Kent Four rocked college campuses across the country.

Kent State University itself has been shut down and all students and faculty have been sent home. Half of the 800 National Guardsmen stationed there will leave today.

The University of Maryland in College Park, one of four schools where the National Guard has been called out, reported no violence yesterday. The only activity appears to have been one draft card burning. The 200 National Guard troops stationed there will leave by noon today.

At Ohio State University in Columbus yesterday, there was a minor confrontation with the Guard, although all of the approximately 200 Guardsmen had left the campus by nightfall. There was one arrest reported yesterday. Altogether, over 600 students have been arrested in Columbus, most of them on curfew violations last week.

Boston University has been closed along with the following colleges in the Boston area: Harvard, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Boston College, Boston State, Amherst, Tufts and Brandeis among others. At Boston University, the National Guard is on alert following damage to Army ROTC buildings. Boston also received a message of solidarity from the United Auto Workers.

Classes were suspended indefinitely at New York University, following a decision by the students and faculty to close the school for the remainder of the year.

At approximately 5 a.m. Tuesday, the Transportation Center at Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill. caught fire, causing an estimated $150,000 worth of damage. This is the second fire in a little over a week at Northwestern.

The American flag has been flying at half mast at Wisconsin State University-Whitewater and at Illinois State University in Normal, Ill.

In other action throughout Illinois, approximately 500 students raided the Administration Building and ROTC offices at Northern Illinois University at DeKalb. Also at DeKalb, the U.S. flag was lowered and in its place was raised a black flag with the word "Kent" on it. At the Chicago Circle Campus of the University of Illinois, two raids on the ROTC building were conducted, with one arrest.

Extensive damage from fire occurred Monday night at the Navy-Marine recruiting station in Lafayette, Ind., the home of Purdue University. Five warrants for disturbances occurring at an Army ROTC awards ceremony at Purdue were issued Friday. Three of the warrants have been served.

Notre Dame University in South Bend, Ind., was basically quiet Tuesday following a 3:30 attempt to burn a ROTC building.

Informational picketing went on Tuesday at the University of California at Berkeley. Monday night two Molotov cocktails were thrown at a steam plant near the Navy ROTC building.

At Niagara County Community College in New York approximately 100 students seized control of the administration building. At Lawrence University in Appleton, Wis., 11 were arrested during a sit-in in the Army recruiting center. At the Wisconsin State University at Oshkosh, there are street blockades and confrontations with police. Twenty-two are known to be in custody, mostly for unlawful assembly. At the University of Idaho in Moscow there was a fire in the Navy ROTC building.

The ROTC building was occupied by about 150 students at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant. The Military and Naval Science Building at the University of Nebraska was also occupied by 200 students. Students briefly held the Navy ROTC building at the University of Virginia.

In addition to the above mentioned colleges, the following are participating in the national strike in one way or another:

Wisconsin State Universities at LaCrosse, Steven's Point and Platteville; Edgewood College in Madison; Ripon College; the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee; Beloit College; Marquette University, Milwaukee; Brown; Pennsylvania State; Columbia; Trinity College; Tulane University; Rutgers; University of Miami, Ohio; Dartmouth; Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, Va.; Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y.; Illinois Wesleyan University; University of Illinois; State University of Iowa; Buffalo State University; Goddard College, Vermont; Stanford University; University of Houston; University of Tennessee; and the University of California, Davis. The list is incomplete.

Guard Called Up

exits from the gassed building.

After the 7:30 p.m. rally a crowd of 3,000 marched to building T-16 on the corner of Linden and Babcock Sts. There, police teargas dispersed them.

Demonstrators then grouped in the Library Mall and Park St. areas where the battles raged until approximately 11 p.m.

Particularly intense clashes occurred at the corner of State and Park St., and on University Ave. near Barnard Hall. Protesters standing on Bascom Hill returned tear gas canisters fired at them by police who were then grouped by the Humanities building.

Demonstrators on University Ave. showered rocks on passing police cars causing what appeared to be extensive damage.

Barricades were built and set aflame at the intersection of Park and Langdon, before police moved in to clear the area and gas the Union.

As of Cardinal deadline, scattered "vanguard" actions by small groups continued.

Rhodes Leads Taft; Wallace In Runoff?

George C. Wallace took a slender lead Tuesday night in his bid to reclaim the Alabama governor's office—a vital step if he is to fashion another presidential challenge in 1972.

But his race with Gov. Albert Brewer was so close it appeared neither man would gain a majority. That would force a runoff Democratic primary June 2.

In Ohio, Gov. James A. Rhodes fashioned a commanding margin over Rep. Robert Taft Jr. for the Republican nomination to run for the Senate.

A major imponderable there: the voters' reaction to election eve turmoil on the campus, and the shooting death of four Kent State University students by National Guardsmen.

As governor, Rhodes, who had repeatedly vowed to keep campus disorder under control, sent the National Guard to Kent State. Taft had criticized Rhodes for using Guardsmen in earlier campus incidents.

John H. Glenn, the former astronaut who was the first American to orbit the earth, held a narrow edge in his contest with Howard H. Metzenbaum, a Cleveland lawyer and industrialist, for the Democratic Senate nomination.

Dyke, Police Officials Decide Against Curfew

By MAUREEN SANTINI
City Editor

As the city of Madison turned into an armed camp Tuesday night with National Guardsmen surrounding the campus and students battling police and attacking buildings the city council calmly conducted its routine business with no mention of the street activity until more than three hours after the meeting began.

Shortly after 11:30 p.m. Mayor William D. Dyke announced that no curfew would be imposed on the city Tuesday night.

He said he had met with Police Chief Wilbur Emery, Dane County Sheriff Vernon Leslie, Gov. Warren Knowles and a representative of the National Guard. They decided, according to the mayor, that "the nature of the mob would not have lent itself to a curfew."

"There is no reason to believe (campus disorders) will cease," Dyke told councilmen. The council "probably faces a more grievous situation than any council in the history of this city," Dyke said.

Dyke asked aldermen to leave word where they could be reached today if it becomes necessary to call an emergency council session.

According to the mayor, an estimated 2,500 persons were involved in Tuesday night's activities. He said 800 lawmen were presently on duty, a combination of Guardsmen, Dane County and city police.

Anyone wishing to enter the City County building where the council meets (also the home of the jail), was required to sign in and out.

National Guard troops were stationed immediately outside the building. Madison policemen guarded the inside of the building.

Ald. Eugene Parks, Paul Soglin and Dennis McGilligan introduced a resolution asking for an immediate end to the Southeast Asian war. Ald. Harold Kluberantz introduced a similar resolution. A public hearing on the issue is scheduled for next week.

Ald. Soglin, Ward 8, lashed out at the council for being part of the Silent Majority.

"The Silent Majority is sitting right here in this room," Soglin charged. "You have a choice—and it's a very unfortunate choice —between President Nixon and me.

"You guys are so scared of Gene (Parks), Dennis (McGilligan) and myself," Soglin continued, "because whenever we open our mouths on any question we taint it. One of these days we're going to come out for god mother and country and then what are you going to do?"

At one point, a woman, possibly a member of the Madison Peace Action Council, shouted out to the council, "Your business is being carried on in the streets." She was gavelled down by Council Pres. Leo Cooper, acting mayor.

The council referred the issue of a possible conflict of interest of City Zoning Administrator Wayne Simpson to the city Board of Ethics.

The Madison Tenant Union last week released information that Simpson was a landlord and land speculator in addition to his city post. The ethics board will report back to the council next Tuesday.

Nixon Promises June Pullout From Cambodia

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. forces will penetrate no deeper than 21.7 miles into Cambodia without congressional approval and American troops will be out of that country by June 30, President Nixon told senators and congressmen Tuesday.

Speaking to members of the House and Senate foreign affairs and military committee in two separate sessions Tuesday, Nixon reportedly gave assurances the U.S. incursion into Cambodia, announced last Thursday in a nationwide address, would be no deeper than 30 to 35 kilometers—18.6 to 21.7 miles.

The chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., told reporters Nixon would come to Congress for approval should he decide it was necessary to make a deeper penetration.

It was also Morgan who said Nixon plans to have U.S. forces out of Cambodia by June 30.

Nixon met in the morning with members of the Senate and House Armed Services Committees and in the afternoon with those of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and the House Foreign Affairs Committee. From all these committees—especially the Senate Foreign Relations panel—there has been a measure of criticism of the presidential course in Indochina, and Nixon obviously was seeking to still it and increase his support.

U.S. troops opened a third front in Cambodia Tuesday but bad weather and heavy enemy fire limited it to a landing of 500 troops who prepared an artillery and patrol base.

About 6,000 U.S. and South Vietnamese troops in the nearby central highlands were committed to the operation when the bad weather hit. Their objective was to knock out enemy headquarters and base camps in northeast Cambodia.

The first heavy enemy resistance since American troops poured into Cambodia on Friday to open a second front came at Snuol, in the Fishhook area 200 miles south of the central highlands area.

There about 2,000 North Vietnamese dug in at Snuol and in surrounding rubber plantations prevented a U.S. armored column from occupying the town eight miles from South Vietnam's border.

The first front opened last Wednesday in Cambodia's Parrot's Beak south of the Fishhook. It is in charge of South Vietnamese troops with American advisers and U.S. air and artillery support.

Sources in the field told Associated Press photographer Charles Ryan that the operation in northeast Cambodia ran into trouble from the start.

Ryan, reporting from Pleiku—50 miles east of the operation's target in Cambodia's jungled mountains, said the Americans' planned helicopter assault was stalled by thick mist in the target area.

When the helicopters were able to reach their landing zones, several came under heavy enemy fire. At least one battalion of some 500 men was forced to turn back to South Vietnam, field reports said.

Enemy troops, reported to be backed by Vietnamese they had freed in Cambodia pushed to within 27 miles of Phnom Penh Tuesday.

A Cambodian force of about 450 men stationed along a road southeast of Phnom Penh pulled back Monday about two miles.

The major commanding the force said he estimated the opposing forces at about 3,000. He said it was a mixture of Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars aided by liberated Vietnamese nationals and sympathetic Cambodians.

He said without reinforcements he would be unable to stem the drive effectively. There were a few minor probes against the Cambodian positions Monday night.

Chevron Charged in Oil Spill

NEW ORLEANS, La. — A federal grand jury indicted Chevron Oil Co. Tuesday on charges of willfully violating government regulations which resulted in a massive oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico earlier this year.

The 900 separate offenses alleged in the indictment—announced jointly in Washington and New Orleans—could result in fines totaling $1.8 million if the firm is convicted on all counts.

U.S. Atty. Gerald Gallinhouse said in New Orleans that he hoped to try the cases within six months. He said an investigation of another oil company operating in the Gulf of Mexico would begin next Tuesday, and added that still other firms will be investigated in the future. Gallinhouse declined to name any of the firms.

Senate Committee Approves Blackmun

WASHINGTON — The Senate Judiciary Committee unanimously approved Tuesday the Supreme Court nomination of Judge J. Edgar Blackmun, President Nixon's third choice to fill a year-old vacancy.

The 17-0 committee vote pointed toward early Senate confirmation of the 61 year old Rochester, Minn. judge, a close friend of Chief Justice Warren E. Burger.

Majority leader Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., said it is possible the Senate may take up the nomination Friday.

In Rochester, Blackmun said he was "deeply honored by the action of the Judiciary Committee." Referring to last week's hearing on his nomination he said "each and every member of that committee, while penetrating in examination, was most kind and considerate to me."

TAA members are instructed that the strike vote passed at last night's membership meeting will go a paper ballot today.

WISM RADIO is attempting to organize a call-in program for tomorrow afternoon to allow listeners to pose questions of University and City officials concerning the current disturbances.

The home of University President Fred Harvey Harrington was firebombed at approximately 1 a.m. this morning. It was not known whether the residence, located on North Babcock Drive across from Schlieter Hall, was occupied.

Railroad Victim Dies

MADISON (AP)—Ross C. Pech 23, a University graduate student from Manitowoc, died Monday of injuries suffered April 21 when his leg was wedged under a railroad car wheel. Pech's leg had been amputated. Witnesses said he was crawling under the halted string of freight cars when the train began moving.

Antiwar Protest Intensifies

State of Emergency Declared on Campus

By CARDINAL STAFF

Violence in protest of the Cambodian War reached a new level of intensity yesterday as striking students and police engaged in pitched battles throughout the campus area.

A state emergency was declared by Chancellor Edwin Young at 2 p.m. after an unknown number of national guard units had been ordered in by Gov. Warren P. Knowles.

Numerous arrests and injuries to both sides were reported.

After a 1 p.m. rally on Van Vleck plaza, an apparent change of tactics by strike leaders resulted in greatly increased violence.

Crowds of several thousand fought police with rocks and bottles at the Monroe St. draft board, Bascom Hill and the Library Mall in the major battles of the afternoon.

A march of 3,000 people from the rally via the Nuclear Research building on Breese Terrace ended in a battle with police at the draft board.

The clash there was of furious intensity, as students pelted police with hails of rocks. Rapidly shifting winds rendered police tear gas ineffective. Students were eventually dispersed by charging lines of club-wielding police.

Less than an hour later protesters on Bascom Hill stoned police gathered on Park St. Massive volleys of gas cleared the hill of demonstrators, who returned shortly after the gas had sufficiently dissipated.

Afterward, demonstrators engaged police in intensive rock and gas battles near the Memorial Union and on the Library Mall. The Union was heavily gassed, forcing a couple to evacuate their choking infant from the building.

Cardinal reporters who compiled this story are, Leo F. Burt, Dan Lazare, Walter Bogdanich and Jeff Rose.

Morning activities were more disorganized. Several classes were disrupted and scattered skirmishes occurred between strikers and police.

Late morning tactics saw two large groups of several hundred each being formed to disrupt traffic and man obstructive picket lines at Social Science, Bascom, Commerce and Van Hise.

Class attendance was unofficially estimated at 50 per cent for yesterday morning.

At noon, Protection and Security head Ralph Hanson said, "things weren't too bad," with only one official classroom disruption reported.

"I don't think there is too much support for this thing," Hanson said. "They are not going to get many people to stay out of classes for these four demands."

Hanson said, "I think they could have mobilized 10,000 people if they had called for a memorial rally for those killed at Kent State, but those four demands. The first one is OK, but the others."

The afternoon rally saw a call for new tactics. "This morning was f--ked up," said one speaker. "People have got to get together in tight groups—that's the only way not to get ripped off."

An alternative tactic of "non-obstructive educational picketing" was proposed but quickly rejected by the restless crowd.

Subsequent speakers at the rally warned the crowd "we didn't come out here for a picnic."

Black students announced their support for the strike if "we're out there for real; we ain't for no bullshit."

One student said "This is the time for serious organization. There is no time for flower games. This is no time for non-obstructive picketing."

He spoke of the police on campus. "Them cops ain't throwing bubble gum. We've got to get it together. The only way is not to picket but to deal with them on a visible level. Retaliation is what we've got to have."

The tenants of 438 N. Frances, an apartment building above the Boot Barn, have opened their doors to all students requiring medical aid for the duration of the strike.

Young Declares U in 'Danger'

By GORDON DICKENSON
Cardinal Staff Writer

"It has become necessary for me to make a declaration of immediate danger on the Madison campus," Chancellor Edwin Young said at a Tuesday press conference after a day of violent confrontation between students and police during which the campus was saturated with tear gas.

Young declared the campus off limits to all but faculty, staff, students, police and reporters during the state of emergency.

Any person on the campus must show written identification upon request of a police officer or "other personnel responsible for law enforcement or maintaining the peace." Any person who refuses to show identification upon request will be subject to arrest. The penalties for violation are up to $500 fine and up to 90 days in jail.

Young said he agreed with the decision to call National Guard troops to Madison, but stressed the decision was the governor's.

He added that people overestimate his authority and events determine the actions taken in most cases.

"I have a great deal of respect for the intelligence of the Guard," Young said. "Many people feel safer with the Guard on campus."

Young added he supported calling out the Guard because there should be enough law officers around so police don't feel outnumbered when surrounded by a mob. He characterized the policy "firmness through strength."

When asked if it is possible for the University to be closed down completely, Young said, "I hope not. It is my intention to continue the operation of the campus and to make it possible for students to attend their classes."

In response to another question Young said the administration is not "soft on offenders." "Students are entitled to have all the rights of other citizens and due process is slow."

Young said he is determined to see no one dismissed except for good reasons. If a person's continued presence on campus is likely to be a threat, Young said that person will be suspended. In other cases, students arrested will be referred to the proper disciplinary procedure.

There were no reports on class attendance Tuesday, Young said.

School Board Will Approve Advisory Seats For Students

By HARVEY GORDON

In what has been declared a first in the state, preliminary approval was given Monday night to seat two non voting student members on the Madison Board of Education.

Final approval should come before the board May 18. The measure passed by a vote of 6 to 1 with Albert Gillis dissenting.

"I frankly resent having something presented as a policy matter in one night and rammed down my throat," he said.

"This proposal is really innovation in action," said board member Eugene Calhoun, who presented the proposal of the Madison Youth Council (MYC) to the board.

"Because this has to be done in a short period of time (before the end of the semester) there may be some trial and error involved," he conceded.

Under the proposal, the Madison Youth Council would conduct primary elections May 18 in each of the four high schools where more than two candidates filed, to narrow the field to two.

The election itself will be May 21 to select the final two candidates who will then serve a one-year term beginning June 1.

Robert Peterson, MYC president indicated that he would like members to lobby before the city council and state legislature to bring about a statute that would permit the two nonmember students to vote.

Present state law forbids board members to vote unless they are 21 years of age.

Women's Liberation Conference This Weekend

A weekend statewide Women's Liberation Conference will begin with a lecture by Kathy McAfee, co-author of "Bread and Roses," Friday night at 8 p.m. The conference will be held at the Methodist Church, 1127 University Ave., Madison.

Kathy McAfee is a member of the New York Leviathan staff and is currently active in a women's liberation group in New York. In "Bread and Roses," she related women's liberation to the overall radical movement.

Saturday morning will feature a panel of women in different walks of life discussing "Women's Oppression: What do we all share?" beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday afternoon, participants will break into small workshops.

Scheduled at 2 p.m. are: Alternative Family Structures, Legal Rights, Women's Struggles Around the World, Abortion and Birth Control, Social Implications of Biological Differences, and Women in High School.

Scheduled at 4 p.m. are: Organizing Skills, Lesbianism, Actions: When and How, Welfare Mothers and Day Care, Vocational Channeling in Education, and Working Women.

A special workshop for men is tentatively scheduled for Saturday morning. Saturday evening a general meeting will be held, and Sunday will feature a picnic at 11 a.m.

Housing and babysitting will be available.

Kroger Destroyed by Early Morning Blaze

By JON LASH
Cardinal Staff Writer

The cause of the two alarm fire that gutted Kroger's supermarket at 515 University Ave. early Tuesday morning is still under investigation, according to city fire marshal John Tappen.

No facts will be released until the investigation is completed, Tappen said.

Firemen were to pull down the two standing walls to avoid danger. No decision had been made by Tuesday afternoon on whether the building would be reconstructed, according to David Jones, public relations man for Kroger Wisconsin headquarters in Milwaukee.

The loss from the fire is absorbed by the Kroger chain, Jones said, not by the store's manager

Lowell Zimmer.

The store's 30 employees will be reassigned to positions in other Madison Kroger stores.

Three truck companies and four engine companies with about 50 men were called to fight the blaze which began shortly after midnight and continued for several hours, spreading to a three story frame rooming house on Conklin Pl. immediately adjacent to the rear of the store. In addition a two story frame house across Conklin Pl. as well as the Nygard and Steen tire shop were threatened by the flames.

Onlookers watched all night as firemen battled the blaze. Several people expressed happiness at the event while others seemed impassive or angry.

Firebomb Thrown in Home of U Professor

By ELLEN GONIS
Day Editor

The home of Col. Joseph T. Meserow, professor of aerospace and head of Air Force ROTC here, was firebombed Monday shortly before midnight.

The bomb was thrown through a second floor bedroom window at his 746 Miami Pass home where it blew open a closet door and set the clothes on fire.

City fire marshal John Tappen said the fire was fairly well restricted to the bedroom area.

According to Meserow, the clothes in the closet were "completely incinerated." He estimated

He estimated the property damage at between $2,500 and $3,000.

Meserow said he and his wife were sleeping in the back bedroom when the bomb was thrown through the front bedroom window.

After it exploded, Meserow said he jumped out of bed and opened the door to the other bedroom where he saw the flames. He then ran to the yard for a water hose to put out the fire before firemen arrived.

Tappen said there has been some investigation into the firebombing but, "We're not in any position to make any statements about it."

THE OAK STREET BEACH—
a great place to study

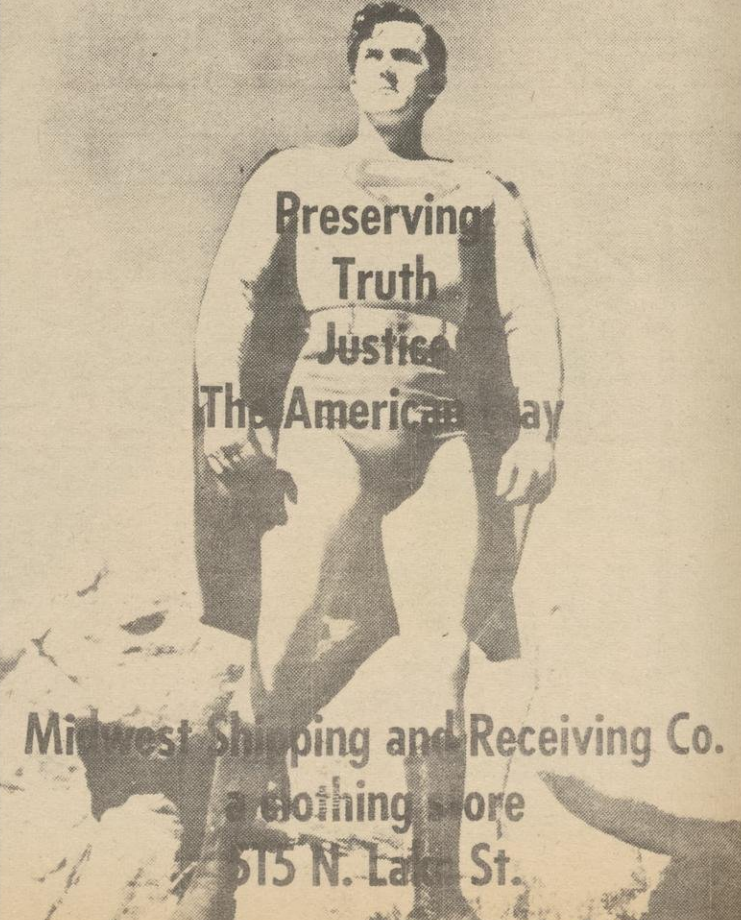

Summer school isn't what it used to be. We've compressed over 330 courses in fully accredited graduate and undergraduate programs into easy-to-take day or evening sessions. Over a short two month period. Because the staff at Roosevelt has planned—your courses won't interrupt what you have planned (work or mellow moments). The sun feels great on your back while reading at the beach. An interesting way to get something accomplished—we think. A little class now could give you a lot later. First summer term begins June 22. Second summer term begins August 3. Evening classes begin June 22.

National Guardmen Assist Ohio State Demonstrators

COLUMBUS, Ohio (CPS)— The Captain of the National Guard troops stationed at Ohio State University invalidated the mayor's 8 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew order and invited students to camp out on the grass of the Oval, according to the Ohio State Lantern, the student newspaper.

About 1,300 Guardsmen are stationed at the Columbus campus due to disturbances resulting from the administration's unwillingness to deal with student demands.

Guardsmen have been among those contributing to a legal defense fund for those arrested, according to the Lantern, and several Guardsmen have pledged their entire checks for the time spent at the university to the defense fund. Many of the Guardsmen have taken the students' side, according to the Lantern, and a lot of them are in the Guard only to keep out of Vietnam.

The official death toll is zero, but the National Guard made an unofficial estimate of three deaths. The disturbances are still in progress.

The disturbances began when 11 demands of the Ad Hoc Committee for Student Rights and 19 demands of the Afro-American Organization were not given university attention. Women's Liberation and the Third World Solidarity Committee joined in support of the demands along with people in the department of social work at the university who staged a walk-out last week.

Following the lack of administration response to the demands, which included repeal of university restrictions on speakers, 50 per cent student vote on all faculty committees, and end to ROTC on campus, more black teachers, an expanded black studies program with the establishment of a department of black studies, more black students, and a request for the dismissal of three administrators including the vice president of student affairs, the student assembly endorsed a class boycott until the administrators would do more about the demands than just "pat students on the head."

Violence began when students began throwing stones at police. Police responded by shooting into the crowd with bullets and rock salt, according to the Lantern which estimated the crowd at about 6,000.

Extensive damage was reported on fraternity row, where police reportedly shot into houses and threw tear gas. In one fraternity house, 15 38-caliber bullet holes were counted in one window alone. Computer damage was reported, but not confirmed.

The National Guard is still on the campus, but has negotiated to keep all Columbus police off the campus this week. The Guard reportedly has said that people who wished to camp on the Oval, central campus park, would not be harassed.

THE DAILY CARDINAL

from the united front

In light of the crises provoked by the intensified war in Vietnam, Cambodia, and the rest of South East Asia and the intensified repression in this country a national general strike of the university communities has already begun. In Madison the United Front has been formed to aid in implementing this strike.

In conjunction with the National Demands we have four demands:

1. WE DEMAND IMMEDIATE WITHDRAWAL FROM S.E. ASIA.
 2. WE DEMAND THAT ALL POLITICAL PRISONERS BE SET FREE AND THAT THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN PAY $30,000 RANSOM FOR THE MILWAUKEE 3.
 3. WE DEMAND AN END TO UNIVERSITY PARTICIPATION IN THE WAR MACHINERY—INCLUDING: AN END TO ALL MILITARY RESEARCH AND THE IMMEDIATE SHUTTING DOWN OF ROTC AND THE ARMY MATH RESEARCH CENTER.
 4. WE OPPOSE THE OPPRESSION BY THE U.S. CORPORATIONS OF WORKERS AND PEASANTS AT HOME AND ABROAD; AND WE DEMAND THE END OF THE GOVERNMENT'S STRIKE BREAKING ACTIVITIES, AND SUPPORT THE RIGHT OF PUBLIC EMPLOYEES TO STRIKE.
- The United Front urges all community groups to join us and actively support these demands.

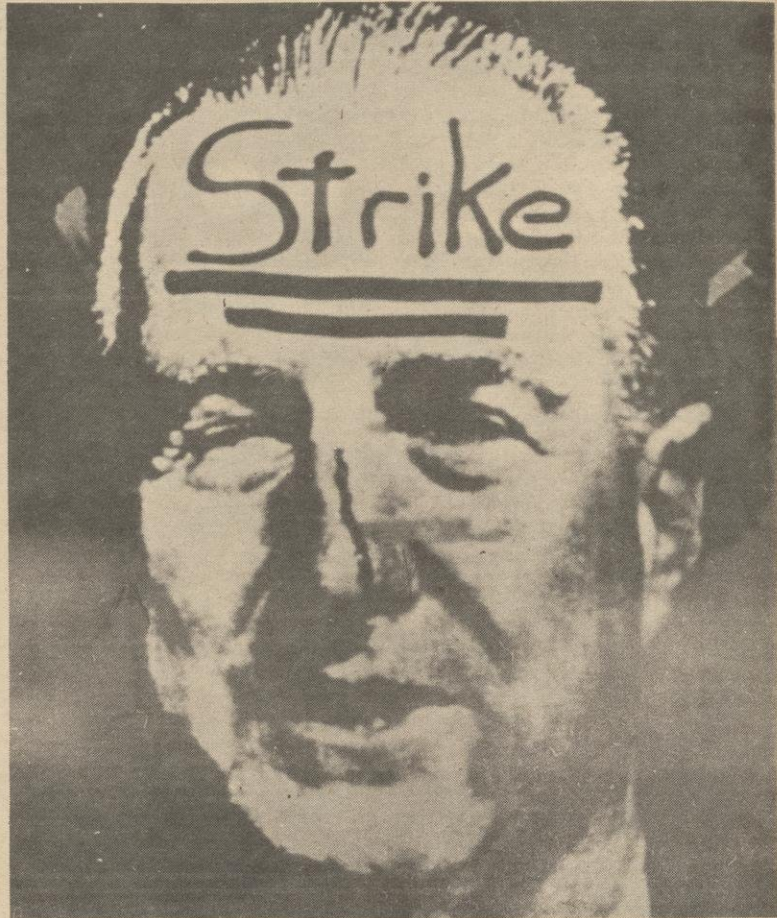

These demands are essentially the same as those for which tens of thousands of people are fighting in all parts of the country.

The importance of this development calls for a strike which will surpass anything previously achieved at the University. This time we must SHUT THE UNIVERSITY DOWN—not just classes, but research as well. We will deny Nixon, Agnew, Mitchell and their corporate sponsors this institution. We will begin this struggle to the working community of Madison, to their offices, factories, and homes. We recognize that THIS IS THE TIME for a national network of strikes, unprecedented in size and determination.

To bring this about we will need far more than the formal participation of the United Front, we will need the informal participation of the great majority of strikers.

The United Front urges a GENERAL MOBILIZATION OF ALL PEOPLE TO STRIKE and oppose the oppressors. People should join the work committees, form their own, and they must be complemented by large numbers of informal project groups created to communicate our struggle by word and by action.

Join us as individuals and groups willing to build this strike.

medical and legal information

Gas cannot kill you. But a stampede to escape it can hurt people. Remain calm and walk away. If there is a wind, walk at right angles to the wind. TEAR GAS & PEPPER GAS: 1. IMMEDIATELY wash face with eyes closed. 2. Flush out eyes with water (boric acid solution if possible). 3. Change clothes.

DO NOT RUB your eyes—tear gas is a powder and rubbing gets it into your eyes.

Water will make your face burn at first but it helps: There is water in the lake and library fountain.

MACE: 1. Flood eyes with water. 2. Wash skin thoroughly. 3. Patch eyes for one hour.

MACE CAN CAUSE BLINDNESS. It is a liquid and is sprayed in a straight line 15 to 25 feet. Goggles can protect you. Also, if you turn your back and walk away, DO NOT USE VASELINE!

INJURED PEOPLE: 1. Check breathing. 2. Bleeding. 3. Burns. 4. Blows from clubs.

IF PERSON IS NOT BREATHING: 1. Lay him on his back. 2. Check mouth and throat for any foreign objects. 3. Raise shoulders slightly and tilt head back; make sure tongue is not blocking airway. 4. Push lower jaw forward. 5. Pinch nostrils shut. 6. Place your mouth over victim's and exhale (This will take a little more force than you think)

If unconscious victim vomits, make sure he does not choke and suffocate himself.

BLEEDING: Apply direct pressure; ABSOLUTELY NO TOURNIQUETS!

BURNS: Cold water and Butesin ointment. If serious, go to hospital.

BLOWS: Apply ice pack; elevate injured limb. If bones are broken: immobilize the limb; splint with newspapers and wood.

SPLINTING IS NOT the same as SETTING a bone. HEAD INJURIES: Bleeds profusely: stop this with direct pressure. Concussions may result. The symptoms are: dizziness, vomiting, headache, sleepiness, vision changes.

NEVER LEAVE AN INJURED PERSON. KEEP HIM CALM.

Shock can kill people. It is caused by panic and/or loss of blood. Symptoms: cold clammy skin, rapid pulse, dilated pupils. Treatment: have victim lie down with feet propped up (unless bleeding from head). Cover him to keep him warm. Keep him calm. Talk to him.

THE MEDICAL CENTER WILL BE LOCATED AT 515 N. LAKE STREET (LAKE ST. STATION, DIFFERENT DRUMMER). TELE. 257-6112.

DO NOT UNDERESTIMATE INJURIES. IT IS BETTER TO OVERTREAT.

SPLINTING A SPRAIN IS BETTER THAN NOT SPLINTING A BROKEN BONE. BEWARE THE UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL MAY GIVE NAMES TO THE POLICE AND YOU MAY BE ARRESTED FOR RIOTING.

LEGAL INFORMATION:

1. Number to call if arrested: 257-2702.
2. If arrested, say NOTHING! You may be nervous, but SAY NOTHING!
3. Stay with people you know.
4. Make sure someone knows you have been arrested.
5. Remember the badge number of the policeman who arrested you, the location and witnesses.
6. If arraigned without a lawyer enter no plea: SAY NOTHING!

in a riot...

When you are in a riot situation, form into groups of three or five.

Always stay together, get a code name for your group such as Lin Piao, Red Army, etc. Buy surgical masks for tear gas, they also hide your identity. Don't rub your eyes. Wash only with cold water. Don't soak handkerchiefs, masks in vinegar, it doesn't work. Don't use vaseline.

When you are in a riot situation, form into groups of three and five.

Don't accept any orders or materials from people you don't know. Always stay moving, to stand still is to be trapped. Don't stand on street corners and watch. There are no bystanders in a riot. Constant mobility is the only guarantee of your safety. Stay away from main streets, move on side streets and back alleys if you know them. Always look for an exit, for an escape route. Always know where you are, always look around.

Where there is political leadership in a demonstration accept that leadership. Political leadership is usually distinguished by selection of targets. People who tell you to trash indiscriminately are either fools or provocateurs. Trash highly selective targets, know your real enemies and do real damage.

When you are in a riot situation, form into groups of three and five.

Remember Che's three rules: constant vigilance, constant mobility, constant mistrust.

wis. women for peace

Wednesday the Wisconsin Women for Peace will continue their campaign to make the people aware of the product, Death, which their tax dollars buy. As they have done for the last three weeks, W.W.P. will sponsor the appearance in various parts of Madison of a Spector of Death. These silent figures will symbolize the deaths of American men and the people of Indochina which our cooperation with the repressive government of the United States makes possible. Waging war makes our government increasingly repressive of working people at home as well as abroad.

As citizens who believe in truly representative government of, by, and for the people we can no longer allow the people to be fooled by those who get rich and powerful by waging war in a distant land. Our campaign is non-violent, non-obstructive, and is intended to speak to the consciences and awareness of passersby.

On April 15 Betty Boardman of the Wisconsin Women for Peace, was arrested by Shorewood police in front of the Internal Revenue Office on University Ave. and charged with loitering and vagrancy. She was dressed in black with her face painted white to represent Death, and stood in silence while arrested. A representative of the Coca Cola Co. called the police. Mrs. Boardman was released on her own recognizance after spending four hours in the Dane County Jail. Her trial is scheduled for May 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the Shorewood Village Hall.

On April 22 six people stood in front of the IRS representing a Spector of Death for three hours without being arrested.

On April 29 the Spector of Death appeared at the draft board on Monroe Street and at the Armed Forces Recruiting Station on Gorham Street and stayed there for three hours again. Anne Greene, who represented Death at the IRS, was threatened with arrest by the Shorewood police, and left after a few minutes.

revolutionary reminders

It would benefit all persons involved in the strike to keep these few revolutionary reminders in mind.

1) People should get themselves into small action groups of friends. The police have developed a much used tactic of busting individuals. Staying together in tight groups will help prevent individual arrests. If you are arrested, do not yell other persons' names. Your small groups should have a collective name which people should use to identify each other.

2) Do not trash small businesses—keep in mind that the enemy is the imperialist system and that is what the strike is opposing. Be disciplined.

3) Do not endanger others in the strike, both with careless actions and escalating tactics in the middle of a crowd which may not be prepared to follow you and which would be trapped in the heavier police response your action would invite. Be sensitive.

4) Remember that the National Guard can and may shoot to kill. However, keep in mind that many are young, draft dodgers, and opposed to the war in Vietnam. These Guardsmen should be spoken to if possible. Past experience has shown them to be far more responsive to communication than the local police.

Letters to the Cardinal

Stop It Now . . . Or Else

The University of Wisconsin Student Mobilization Committee is totally appalled by President Nixon's latest attempt to deceive the American public.

The President alleges that we have three alternatives in Southeast Asia. He has chosen the most untenable: to "clean 'em out." This will mean a major expansion of the combat war into the Cambodian countryside. Cambodia rapidly becomes another Vietnam. This clearly demonstrates once again the fraudulence of his peace ploys: Vietnamization and troop withdrawals contingent on enemy actions. The advisors which Nixon has sent to Cambodia are the same sort of advisors that Kennedy sent to Vietnam almost ten years ago; men in khaki with M-16's and orders to kill and destroy. This alternative is no alternative at all, it is merely a continuation of the current bloodbath policy. The people of this country cannot and will not tolerate this, Vietnam, and the murders and lies connected with it, have taught us much. We will build, with more determination than ever before, a movement of the people of this country to stop the war now.

University of Wisconsin
Student Mobilization Committee

Once Again

Madison Veterans for Peace denounces President Nixon's decision to expand the war in Southeast Asia by ordering a large number of U.S. ground combat troops into Cambodia.

We are not, however, so naive as to believe Nixon when he stated we have scrupulously respected Cambodia's neutrality and that we have never moved against enemy sanctuaries there, since some of our members were involved in secret ground combat actions in Cambodia and Laos as early as 1968. We see the decision to publicly widen the war as a premonition of the further expansion of U.S. forces into all of Southeast Asia with the always present possibility of Chinese intervention.

The President suggested there were three alternatives. We feel that a fourth alternative, and the most rational and humane one, would be to withdraw all our troops now and allow the peoples of Southeast Asia to determine their own destinies.

In Thursday's address, Nixon stated the majority of Americans were in agreement to withdraw from Vietnam. It takes no special insight to see that the policies of Nixon's administration are not in agreement with the majority. The announcement, on which the Congress had not even been consulted, inaugurates a new direction in American government—government without the consent of the governed.

This country cannot receive honor or achieve a just peace by fighting an unjust and dishonorable war. The best way to support our brave men over there is to bring them back alive—NOW.

And Again

With the invasion of Cambodia and the bombing of N. Vietnam the anti war movement has already begun to pay for its retreat on April 15. As it became obvious that no settlement was forthcoming in Paris, the ruling class began its effort to diffuse the anti-war movement. All sorts of reformist campaigns, from ecology to women's liberation, sprang up to divert the movement from the war. The SMC refused to call a national demonstration against the war, instead calling for many local demonstrations, with drastically reduced political impact. At the last national SMC conference the Workers League emerged the only tendency ready to resist the ideological pressure of the bourgeoisie, the only tendency calling for a national demonstration with the Vietnam war the central focus.

The escalation of the war in S.E. Asia poses with new sharpness the necessity of a working class anti-war movement. The war is not a moral issue and cannot be fought on a moral basis. It is a class issue and requires a class program.

The Workers League is calling for a mass demonstration in Washington on Memorial Day. It will fight in the trade unions as well as among the youth for the widest possible participation in such a demonstration.

After jumping the gun Monday night, Tuesday saw Wisconsin join the first day of a nation wide student strike protesting American intervention into Cambodia and the continued expansion of the Indochina war. A few of the actions were symbolic—most of them weren't. Kroger's burned at 2 a.m. Arson? Most people think so. The fire department won't say, but then, they're still investigating. Confrontations led to gas, busts, and squad cars playing chicken on Library Mall. As daylight faded police settled into an uneasy campus occupation.

Black Politics in the South, Part VII

Blacks Form Party To Win June Primary

By WALTER EZELL
Feature Editor
Copyright, 1970, The Daily
Cardinal

CHARLESTON, S.C.—Two black candidates for the state legislature here are using the threat of a fourth party in hopes of achieving victory in the June 9 Democratic Primary.

"It's like a man buying a shotgun for the protection of his house," said one of the candidates, "You hope to God and pray you won't have to use it."

Charleston attorney George Payton, who used the shotgun analogy, said no candidate can be elected with just the black vote in Charleston. He needs at least 10 to 20 per cent of the white vote. The idea is not to vote for a man because he is black, Payton said, but because of his "dedication and capabilities."

Payton talked about blacks' disillusionment with the Democratic Party and the origins of the United Citizens' Party (UCP).

"Some decided it best that Negroes no longer be captives of the Democratic Party. Some Negroes went into the Republican Party. This opened the eyes of the Democrats, who needed the black vote."

"The state party turned their backs on the Humphrey-Muskie ticket." The Humphrey-Muskie electors in South Carolina lost because the white Democrats deserted, Payton said.

Deciding no longer to be a captive of any party, "a group of 68 or 69 concerned citizens formed the embryo of a fourth party," which now consists of the 10,000-plus petition signatures required to become a legally recognized party in South Carolina.

The party is used as a threat or persuasive measure, Payton said, because blacks have never gotten past the primary to the November election.

"The result of the UCP was the Democratic Party started making appointments to party posts," the highest appointment being vice chairman of the state organization. "We decided to see if the Democrats would support blacks in an election."

The drive has exceeded the required number of signatures by several thousand, but the leaders of the party move are waiting until June to submit the signatures to the appropriate state officials.

Unless the Democrats can hold most of the black vote, Charleston County will go Republican in November.

The message to Democrats is clear: either they support two blacks in June, or the entire slate of eleven will go down in November.

The chief obstacle that keeps blacks from winning elections is, white racism. In Charleston this racism has taken numerous specific institutional forms. Full-slate voting laws, at-large election districts, and annexation of white suburbs have all been used to dilute or obstruct the black vote.

The full slate law means that in Charleston, which sends 11 members to the state house, the voter—who may be confronted with a slate of several dozen candidates, must vote for exactly 11 names. If he votes for less than eleven candidates, his vote will be thrown out. As Payton put it, "You vote for yourself twice and against yourself nine times."

At-large districts mean that in Charleston there are no districts which have a black majority. There is only one district and a majority of the voters in it are white.

The result of this is that in a county which is more than 40 per cent black, there are no black elected officials.

The full slate law may be challenged in the courts. Republicans challenged the law unsuccessfully several years ago, but not on the same grounds as the UCP organizers would, Payton said.

The suit would stand a chance, he said, "if the issue was raised that the full slate law is a violation of a person's right not to vote for someone who's political philosophy differs from his own, or someone he doesn't even know."

Payton traced the history of annexation and election law changes in Charleston County, explaining their effect in diluting the black vote.

"Before 1952," he said, Charleston had the ward system for electing city council. Between 1950 and '52, wards 7, 9 and 12 became predominately black. In 1952 the elections were changed to ward residency for candidates and at large elections. This means that everyone in the city would vote on the candidates from ward 7.

By 1956 whites had started moving away from the city. Negroes became a majority of the population although the voting age population was 56 per cent white.

"They realized that by '60 or '62 they would have to annex the white suburbs across the bridge. In '64 they did it again, but went around the black areas," Payton showed me a map in which the annexation followed a jigsaw pattern around what he said were areas of black residency.

In 1969 Charleston officials made it easier to annex the suburbs necessary to keep a white majority. "They got the right from the state legislature to accept petitions signed by 75 per cent of the residents. The former procedure required a referendum," Payton said.

The area within the city's '52 boundaries is now 80 per cent black, Payton said.

Payton said he is convinced that a major purpose of the annexations was to dilute the black vote. "If we could get the minutes to the meetings, they would bear this out. But a court order is about the only way to get the minutes."

The next step, Payton said, is consolidation of city and county governments. "This could be productive," he said, "but I'm opposed to it."

"It does not make any provisions for black folks. The way you would have to become a member is to be elected at large. Of the 70,000 registered voters, 20,000 are black. No Negro could be elected."

"The only way a Negro could become elected is for white people to become liberal minded."

"It is my opinion that consolidation is strictly for the purpose of usurping the black vote."

Payton indicated he believes that incorporation of North Charleston, a suburb of Charleston, was also opposed for such reasons.

For Charleston's white officials to stay in power, they will someday need to annex the white votes in North Charleston, and incorporation of North Charleston as a separate city would be an obstacle to such a move.

Furthermore, incorporation would make it possible to condemn some of North Charleston's old housing and would open the opportunity for black developers. "The politicians in Charleston will by consolidation move into a position of power over North Charleston."

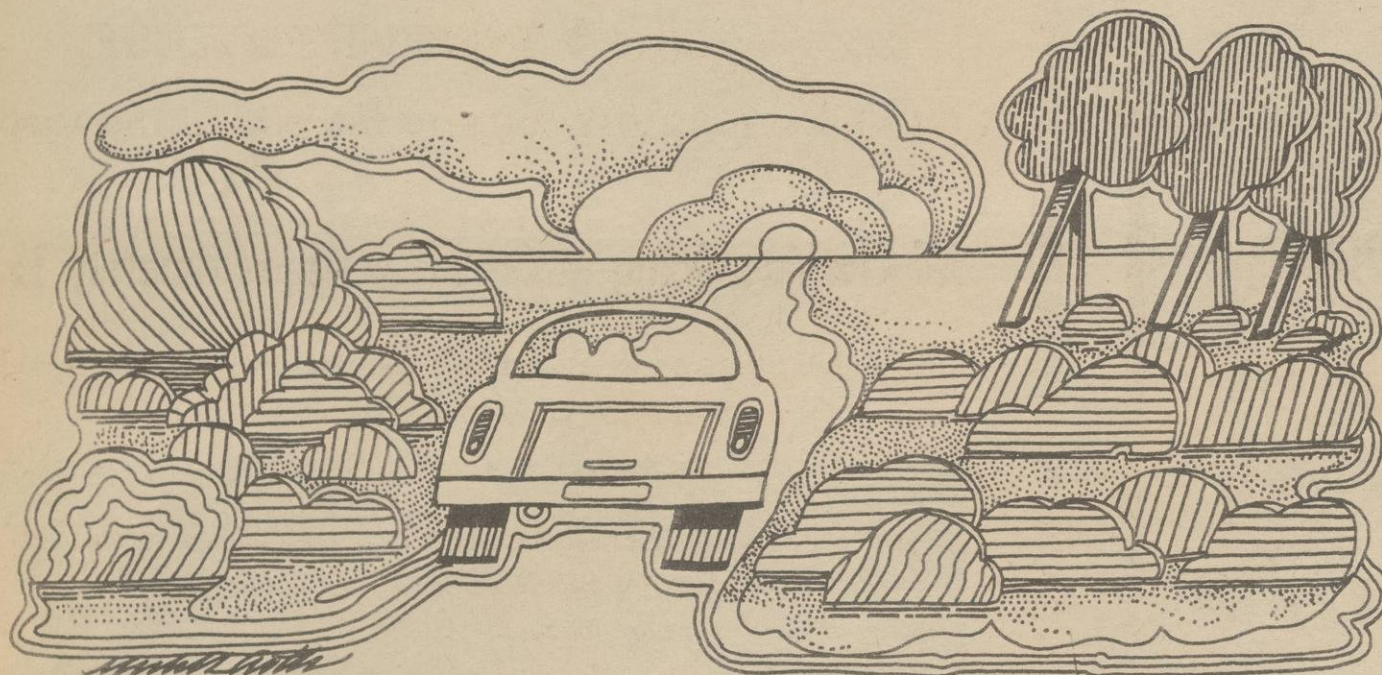

In spite of the obstacles, Payton indicated some optimism. For one thing, he believes, blacks are using their political potential with increasing sophistication.

"By 1972 Negroes will have their greatest political strength since the Civil War. They're going to be a jolly green giant all over the South."

"The time is coming when no candidate will be elected without the black vote."

At the conclusion of the interview, Payton gave a message to students. "One of the great-

MODEL OPEN 1-5 DAILY

After much soul searching, I've decided that having a sports page would be completely incongruous to the atmosphere on this campus and on campuses and in communities throughout the country.

I am a human being first and a journalist somewhere after that.

I urge you all to read the following thoughts expressed by Lewis Leader, Sports Editor of the Daily Californian, two weeks ago during demonstrations at Berkeley.

THIS IS BY NO MEANS A SUPPORTING STATEMENT OF THE ACTIONS GOING ON HERE ON CAMPUS. It is merely an attempt to force each individual to think about what has happened, about what might happen in the future and about what he or she will do about it.

As one valuable member of mankind, he or she owes it to him or herself and all her brothers and sisters throughout the world to do so.

Jim Cohen
Sports Editor

THURSDAY AFTERNOON—I am sitting up in the Daily Californian sports department. Somehow, I just don't feel that I can report the "happenings in the world of sport" as if nothing else is going on this campus. Because a hell of a lot is going on.

People are being gassed & clubbed. Tear gas and rocks are in the air. There have been perhaps 50 arrests in two days. Dozens of people have been injured. The entire campus is in a state of turmoil. As I write this I can see police pushing a student into a window on the terrace. Chancellor Heyns has made his usual statement, and declared the campus to be in a "state of emergency."

Sprout Hall has closed its first floor offices for the day. The San Francisco Symphony, scheduled to play at King Hall Thursday night, has postponed its performance. Yet the athletic department has decided to continue on with its full schedule of athletic events.

The sports world has almost always continued on its own way, oblivious to the events of the country. Sports are considered to be an integral part of America's society. Yet, when events affect that society, the sports world wants to continue as if nothing has happened.

When President Kennedy was assassinated, National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle decided to go ahead with the full schedule of NFL games on the Sunday following the Friday assassination. The reasoning was that the country needed something to turn to in that time of national tragedy. But many people, including many of those who had to play, felt that it wasn't the time to turn their thoughts away from what had happened.

"I really felt a tremendous revulsion to playing, and I think many of the ballplayers felt the same way," Dave Meggysey of the St. Louis Cardinals told me this afternoon about playing that day. Meggysey said that in talking with other ballplayers the majority opinion was that the game should be postponed, possibly to the end of the season.

When Martin Luther King was assassinated in April of 1968, Walter O'Malley, then President of the Los Angeles Dodgers, said that the scheduled league opener with the Philadelphia Phillies would be played. Finally, after the Phillies said that they would forfeit rather than play the game, the game was postponed.

Likewise, when Robert Kennedy was assassinated only two months later, there were those familiar lines like, "Bobby would have liked the games to be played."

Here at Cal the sports world is going to continue with its full slate of events—crew, baseball, and tennis here, track and field and golf away. More than one athlete is not happy with this. However, because they know they face the possibility of severe punishment if they don't participate, they are faced with difficult choices.

There are many of you who will feel that the sports page is a brogating its responsibility to the sports world because you will not find normal sports coverage in today's paper. But things are not normal on this campus. Anyone can see that. The least we can do is stop and think about what has been going on, on this campus. If we choose to ignore what is happening, we work to perpetuate the problems. We cannot adopt a "business as usual" attitude by pretending nothing is wrong, as those who keep athletic events going have chosen to do.

If the sports world wants to continue on as if it is operating in a vacuum, it will. But, I don't live in a vacuum.
