RELIGION MEET TO COMMENCE ON THURSDAY

President Burton of Minnesota Will Speak at First Convocation

The Religious conference will open with an all-university convocation Thursday afternoon at 3:30 at the armory when President M. L. Burton of the University of Minnesota will give the first address. President E. A. Birge will preside at the opening of this conference and will introduce President Burton. A choir of 200 voices will furnish special music.

The central university committee announced the complete program for the conference as follows:

Separate meetings for men and women will be held Thursday evening and Friday afternoon. Admission to the men's meeting will be by ticket only. Tickets may be secured free of charge at the Y. M. C. A. office.

The committee is anxious to have it understood that there are no strings attached to these convocations. There is no admission charge, there will be no collections and there is no drive for anything back of it. All the convocations are free to those who wish to take advantage of the opportunity.

The program includes some of the strongest religious and educational leaders in the country. Wisconsin students will be given an exceptional opportunity in hearing these speakers through personal interviews as well as from the rostrum.

JUNIOR PLAY CALLS FOR LARGER CAST

More than 30 juniors have signed up to try out for the junior class play "Cheating Cheaters." The lists have not been closed and students can hand in their names to members of the committee or Foster Strong, production manager. There is a large range in the types of characters to be played and the parts offer opportunity for very clever acting.

The action centers about two gangs of crooks, one led by a charming young lady and the other by an equally charming young man.

"DAD" ELLIOTT COMES HERE AS CONVO SPEAKER

A. J. "DAD" ELLIOTT

A. J. ("Dad") Elliott, heralded as the human dynamo and recognized throughout the country as one of the greatest religious leaders in American college work, will be the speaker at the all-university convocation Thursday evening in connection with the Religious conference held this week.

"Dad" Elliott is the international secretary for the west of the Young Men's Christian association and has held this position for about 15 years.

He is well known as a speaker to college men and women and the University of Iowa Weekly says of him, "People who hear Elliott speak, whether in public address or in private conversation, cannot escape the feeling that he is mightily interested in the human race as a whole and in college students in particular. There is a sort of breathlessness about his activities, a snap and dash and go that stamp him, a man of purpose. He is a man who knows college men and the $156.54

The Edwin Booth, Red Domino and Twelfth Night Dramatic societies have contributed $156.54 to the Memorial Union building. This is the amount realized on the joint production, "The Marriage of Kitty," which was played Jan. 23, at the Fuller opera house.

Ronald W. Ramsay, president of the Union board, acknowledged receipt of the sum in a letter to George Crownhurst, business manager of the production, in which he thanked the societies for their work. The letters follow:

WOMEN'S CONVO TONIGHT AT LATHROP HALL

All Co-eds Required to Attend; Discussion of Women's Activities

A variety of subjects of general and definite interest to university women will be discussed at the S. G. A. convocation to be held in the concert room, Lathrop, tonight at 7:30. All co-eds are required to be present. House and sorority chaparrones are invited.

Prof. A. B. Hall will talk on Wisconsin spirit, and the general topic of co-ed activities. The question of new and more songs for the university will be discussed by Helen Harper, chairman of the committee which has been perfecting plans to interest students in the composing of all-university songs. It is probable that some definite plans will be formulated.

Dean F. Louise Nardin will speak before the meeting on the general subject of the spirit of the university women.

A new plan by which the women will be divided into groups, each under the supervision of a leader, will be proposed and discussed preparatory to its inauguration next fall. The plan will be outlined by Marcie Hinkins. Hazel Wright will discuss the point system for women's activities, and Louise Weld will talk on the qualifications for elections.

Millionaire Janitor Mourns for Riches Lost in Ash Can

The Million Dollar Janitor is sad these days.

He has retired into the cellar of the University club to bemoan the tragedy of the safety pin that could not hold. The grime of ages cannot hide his grief, it pierces even the mask behind which he has hidden these many years.

The Million Dollar Janitor was a little suspicious. He carried his pocketbook in the inside pocket of his vest. To make it even more binding he pinned it securely with a large safety pin.

When he operated on the furnace at the usual hour Saturday afternoon he removed the vest and parked it near the ash bin.

The many cares of "janiting" made it necessary for him to go elsewhere for a short time and when he returned the vest was still there, the safety pin was in its customary position, but the pocketbook containing $40 in cash, a check for $50, and a certificate for $200 had disappeared.

The ash man and his father knew nothing about it. The student waiters had not seen any suspicious characters in the vicinity. The professors all admitted needing the money but stoutly maintained innocence.

And so the Million Dollar Janitor is sad. Perhaps he will be unable to send the regular monthly check to his daughter who is attending college in the east. Perhaps he will not be able to pay his income or luxury tax. Perhaps the high cost of soap and water may cause him to bathe himself as in the past, in tears.

COSTUME BALL TO BE STAGED ON MARCH 27

"Varsity Jamboree" Will be Given by Senate and
S. G. A. at Armory

March 27 is the date that has been set for the holding of the "Varsity Jamboree," the big all-university fancy dress party to be held in the men's gymnasium.

The affair is being given under auspices of the student senate and the S. G. A., and gives promise of being the second biggest social event of the season, surpassed only by Prom.

Limited to 800

To prove that the affair is to be out of the realms of the ordinary mixer, the number of people who will be admitted has been limited to 800, and no more than that number of tickets will be sold. Only those in fancy dress costumes will be allowed to attend, and an effort is to be made not to have students come in couples, but rather to form groups and come as such.

Prizes are to be awarded for the best group representing some idea. Six people will be the minimum number to constitute a group, and any less than that will not be considered for prizes. However, if students are unable to get into a group competing for a prize, they are equally welcome to come individually.

Smith General Chairman

Wyman Smith has been selected as general chairman for the affair, and Amy Jobse and Robert Rewey are acting as assistant general chairmen. The committee for the Jamboree have been appointed, and all members of committees are to meet Friday noon at 12:45 in Music hall. The committees that have been selected are as follows:

Publicity—Leon E. Kaumheimer, chairman; Kenneth Harley, Walter Schwinn, Marion Roth, Mary Boyd, Frieda Rummel, Robert Herz.

Ways and means—Clarence Jeerndt, chairman; James Lindsay, assistant chairman; Helen Snyder, Harold Lamb, Janet Lindsay, Dorothy Fritsch, Ruth Reed, Margaret Brown, Elizabeth Chandler, Margaret McDowell, Caryl Parkinson, Marjorie Severance, Bierney Miller, Van Pinkerton, Richard Marshall, Lela Hendricks, Ronald Ramsay, Joe Holbrook.

Burial committee—William Goessling, chairman; William Collins, James Hempsing, Harold Ray, William Delaney, Finn Aanesen.

Stunts—"Sparks" Dodge, chairman; George Martin, Julia Van Aiken, Harold Taylor, Maurice Field, Alice Aletha White, Adeline Bertling, Mary T. Voorhees, "Gus" Tuckerman.

Music—Reuben Chadbourn, chairman; "Mike" Crosby, Virginia Lovell, Marion Thrush, Gladys Hawthorne.

Grub committee—Everett Grubb, chairman; Lawrence W. Hall, Milton Bormann, Hazel Wright, Margaret Woodruff, Charles Carpenter, Walter Barr, Alonzo Ward, Verna Tucker, Omar Goerlitz.

HINTS TO TEA HOUNDS

1. Hair must be parted in the exact center, plastered down on each side with Bandoline. Curly hair should be waved each week to be kept in proper shape.
2. Suit must always be buttoned to the neck. The lower the collar, and the narrower the tie, the better.
3. Excitement must never be permitted. Calm and collected attitude must always be paramount. Always be blase, and most of the time bored.
4. Always take a homely woman, so that people will talk about you. Dance every dance, never uttering a word until the end, when you force a smile through your Colgate teeth, and remark, "Quite nice, eh?"
5. Clap only two or three times,
quite lightly.
6. Drink tea from right hand, eat biscuits always from the left.
7. Try to raise a moustache. The very attempt will be distinguishing.

BOOST the crew! This year's efforts mean next year's actuality.

AND THEN HE CURLED UP
Then to the tea dansant did he adjourn,
Time hanging on his hands—

And cheek-to-cheek she murmured, "You sweet thing
You dance divine—you've nothligious conference tomorrow after-

Acacia fraternity at dinner at 6:00

a member of the Minnesota chapter.
Dr. J. P. Graves, president of Ripon College and national president of the Acacia fraternity, will be present to meet President Burton and to greet the chapter.

The many men on the Wiscorsin faculty who have come from Minnesota are to be given an opportunity to meet President Burton through the courtesy of the Acacia fraternity which extends an invitation for an informal reception at the lodge at 8:15 Thursday evening.

There will be no formal program
but it is expected that President Burton and Dr. Graves will speak.

Football Star Weds Following Summer Romance

A summer romance culminated in the marriage of Steven H. Polaski, university freshman football and basketball star, Kappa Sigma pledge, a mechanical engineering student and Miss Constance Boller at Nashotah, Wis., last week,
friends of Polaski have learned here. Mr. Polaski has left the university and will go to work, but no other plans have been made thus far, friends say.

Polaski was graduated from St.
John's military academy at Delafield last June, after a brilliant athletic career. Miss Boller was working at the Red Circle Inn, a well-known hostelry at Nashotah conducted by Polaski's father, when he returned home. Apparently it was a case of love at first sight, his friends say.

Friday, Feb. 20, Polaski left for his home, and the marriage followed last week. He is 20 years old.

TANK ARTISTS MEET MAROONS

Varsity Swimmers to Face Stiff Tilt With Chicago Team Here Saturday

Coach Joe Steinhaner will stack up his swim artists with the Maroons in a dual swimming meet here next Saturday night in the gymnasium tank.

The Chicago squad is one of the most formidable of the "Big Ten" and will undoubtedly be one of the strongest contenders for the conference honors at Northwestern, March 20, the date of the conference meet. The Badgers are training intensively this week and intend if possible to comeback strong after their defeat by Northwestern last Saturday.

In an aquatic tilt with Illinois last Friday night the Maroons swamped their opponents, winning the contest by a score of 42 to 26. Meagher of Chicago proved himself a sure point winner in the plunges when he broke the conference record in that event by negotiating the distance of 60 feet in 17 seconds flat.

Another Maroon, Ries, can be counted on as a man who will make a good showing in the approaching meet, according to the results of the Illinois-Chicago battle. He is a star performer in the sprints, taking first places in both the 40-yard and 100-yard swims.

Throughout the year Steinhaner's squad has been handicapped by the want of a good man in the 150-yard back stroke and so far the best that the Badgers have been able to do in this event was to place third. Wiethaup of Wisconsin would probably have ranked among the best back stroke men of the conference this year had he not been ineligible.

The lineup which is to face the Maroons has not yet been announced but it is expected that a few changes will be made.

EDWIN BOOTH PLANS BIG YEAR'S PROGRAM

At the meeting of the Edwin Booth society last night an extensive program of dramatic activity was planned for the remainder of the semester. The club's calendar for the rest of the year includes an open meeting of two or three acts, contributions to the programs of the joint meetings of the three dramatic societies several Sunday-night informal meetings at Stidgen's, and an all-university dance.

The dance will probably be held May 1, and will be made the big Pre-Prom event. In addition to this spring's program the club has started preliminary work on their "Jubilee" next year, which will be twentieth anniversary of the founding of the club.

In consideration of the work ahead of the club for next year, Edwin Booth decided to hold try-outs for new members. These try-outs will be held within the next two weeks, and will be open to all men of the university. Because only a few are to be chosen the try-outs will be unusually strict, and those winning out will be considered pledges until they have taken successful part in some club production next fall.

Weather

Highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 33 at 3 p. m. and the lowest was 18 at 4 a. m. Precipitation was 0. Sun will set at 5:48 p. m.

The barometer is low in the central and western states. It is warmer in the east and south and in the Rocky Mountain regions. The barometer is high in the northwest with much colder weather. Minimum of 28 degrees below 0 was recorded this morning in northern Manitoba. It is snowing along the northern border and raining in the Great Basin.

RARE LITHOGRAPHS FROM LONDON TO ADORN "PEP" BUILDING WALLS

Seven rare examples of the best in the lithographic art, all by English artists, have just been received from London to decorate the walls of the department of economics in the Physics-Economics building, and are on exhibition this week. They were secured through a bequest of the late Judge John Barnes of the Wisconsin Supreme court and were framed by his Wisconsin associates in the insurance business, at the suggestion of Michael J. Cleary, former insurance commissioner.

With funds donated by Judge Barnes, Prof. R. T. Ely, of the economics faculty, secured the lithographs through Campbell Dodgson, director of the print room of the British museum and high authority on prints. All are the work of members of the Senefelder club, which comprises the English lithographers of note and several American artists, who banded together in 1910 to combat the commercialization of their art and pledged themselves to break their stones after the taking of a limited number of prints.

The seven prints include works by Harry Becker, F. Brangwyn, A. Belleruche, M. Bone, C. R. D. Nevins, John Copley, and Miss E. M. Henderson. Several are scenes in industrial life.

These pictures represent another step in the effort to enrich the interior of university buildings with works of art that will impress themselves up on the minds of students of passing generations.

Through his interest in the movement, Judge Barnes placed a gift in the care of Dr. Ely to be expended for works of art. A few years ago, part of the funds were devoted to the purchase of six Irish paintings which now hang in the Wisconsin high school.

ELLIOTT TO SPEAK AT RELIGIOUS MEET

conditions that they are living in. Moreover, he is a man possessing the rare gift of being able to draw as if by magic."

The president of one of the western universities at which Mr. Elliott recently spoke said of him, "In a measure very unusual his personality is truthful, virile, and engaging. He has mastered the psychology of speaking to college students. He presents the fundamental truths of the Gospel entirely in the terms of our modern life. He is delightfully free from every trace of cant and inane religious platitudes. He speaks with the directness, boldness and the nerve of well educated judgment, deep conviction, and seasoned experience."

As president of the Y. M. C. A. in his junior and senior years, "Dad" was easily the most influential man at Northwestern. His achievements in the religious field made him a marked man, and immediately after his graduation in 1902 he became the religious secretary of the Brooklyn "Y", where he developed a large and effective work among men for several years.

While at Northwestern, "Dad" also made a marvelous record as an athlete. For four years he was the star end of the varsity eleven, being named all-western end in 1901. In the spring of the same year he was made captain of the university track team and was also a member of the relay team. The archives of athletics show that he breasted the tape in the hundred in ten and one-tenth seconds, and that as a broad jumper he held a record of 21 feet, 3 inches.

The first student conference at Lake Geneva, Wis., in 1895, was attended by Mr. Elliott. He has taught classes on personal evangelism at both the Asheville and Lake Geneva conferences, where he promoted personal work and evangelistic campaigns among the colleges.

COMMERCE CLUB TO GIVE DANCE

At the regular meeting of the Commerce club last night, plans for an all-university dance to be held Friday evening, March 19, were discussed.

The dance, which will be held in Lathrop gym will be limited to 300 couples. Tickets will not be limited to commerce students as in the past, as it will be an all-university dance. Thompson's orchestra has been secured for the event. Tickets will be put on sale this week.

Membership was discussed briefly, it being decided to have all those interested in becoming members hand in their names, classification, and a list of activities in which they have taken part. There should be handed in to the commerce department on the fourth floor of the P. P. E. building. Membership is not open to other than commerce students nor to freshmen.

Commerce pins which are sold every year to members of the commerce course are now on sale and may be purchased at the Y. M. C. A.

THE RELIGIOUS CONFERENCE

STUDENTS expect to attain an all-around development as a result of their four years of university training. They anticipate new outlooks upon life and a deeper insight into every phase of human nature. In the satisfaction of these desires, the university is performing one of its greatest services.

An unusual opportunity to come to know a vital but too often neglected side of life is to be presented by the Religious conference. There is perhaps a tendency to minimize the influence and importance of religion in modern life. Only a thorough examination of our economic and social problems will reveal the fundamental part which brotherhood and unselfish idealism must play in their solution.

The contribution to student development, the broadening of student outlook, which the Religious conference should accomplish can be gauged by a consideration of its leaders. Their ranks include the country's greatest men and women in religious and educational work. They represent many faiths. The conference is broadly non-sectarian in plan and spirit. They are bringing to Wisconsin men and women the fruits of years rich with experience.

The contribution of the conference to students of Wisconsin should be an inspiration which will mold their lives while in the university and after undergraduate days are left behind. Wisconsin men and women awaken to her needs, who will unselfishly work for a bigger, better university. The conference should stimulate hundreds who have been slow to acquire the Wisconsin spirit. The unequalled opportunities for study and mental growth which students enjoy is not realized by a large number.

The conference should awaken a new attitude toward university life. Its function as a training ground for the battles of after life will be impressed by leaders who know university life and all its potentialities. A narrowness of outlook, a lack of broad vision, has been indicated as a characteristic of university students everywhere. Student thought after the stimulation which the conference speeches will bring should be wide in its scope.

The conference should act as a powerful stimulus to more active personal endeavor and to unselfish service to the university. It can realize its full possibilities only through the unqualified support of the student body. It deserves and should receive the whole-hearted backing of every Wisconsin student who wishes to build up the university through the broadening and strengthening of his own life.

DOES COLLEGE PAY?

"DOES college really pay?" is a question that bothers not a few people. There seems to be some strength in the argument that after all college satisfies a craving of the mind but goes only a little way in satisfying the body with the physical necessities of life. That is, college may fulfill the desire one has for knowledge, but is not an altogether sure bread-getter.

With graduate chemical, mechanical, and electrical engineers getting only $90 a month with a semi-annual advance of $10 for two years (this is exactly what a certain gas company now offers for trained technical men and what the government is offering to graduate engineers of two years' experience), and milk peddlers getting $150 a month and commission, it is not surprising that many undergraduates get disgusted and think, "What's the use?"

The know that they can go out into the world, learn some trade and in a year or so earn more per week perhaps than their instructors are earning in a month. But they do not know that just know the whole wage scale is in a state of supreme disorder and confusion, that the present scale is bound to revert to a properly proportionate state whereby he of higher intellect and training will demand the higher pay.

Just such a movement is now on foot. The laborer got his present high wage because he organized and went after it. The trained of mind, profiting by the laborer's example now place their demands on the table and it is inevitable that they be acceded to.

If pecuniary reasons alone bring the student to the university, he can rest assured that the time is not far off when the financial reward of the man who has acquired a technical college education will far exceed that of the unskilled, unschooled man.

GUYER BOOSTS FOR RACE BETTERMENT

Says College People Must Take Active Steps for Race Betterment

"College cannot make brains in spite of the notions of some fond parents," said Prof. Michael F. Guyer last night in an address to the Physical Education club on Women's Place in Race Betterment.

"We are born with a certain mental and physical equipment, and that is after all the thing which must play the biggest part in determining what we are to become. Heredity has been estimated by a London authority as being at least five or ten times as important as environment or training," continued Professor Guyer.

An appealing situation of the world's rapid increase in the number of insane, epileptics, and various other mentally and physically unfit is facing the public at the present time partly as a result of the war and partly because our modern policy of caring for the weak and unfit prevents their extermination by natural selection. The modern eugenicist wants to accomplish humanely what nature would do rudely; first, by preventing the mating of the unfit, and second, by mating good stocks as far as possible.

"To give lives to the state is quite as important as to give them for the state," continued Professor Guyer, "and in this matter college students play a very pathetic role. From 20 to 30 per cent of the college men of the country, who are supposed to be the nation's finest strain, do not marry at all, and another large per cent have no children. Among the women who graduate from college, nearly 50 per cent remain single, and of those who do marry, the average number of children is only one for every two families. When we realize the huge birth rate among illiterate and feeble-minded classes, we see that we are approaching a crisis indeed."

Professor Guyer suggested as one remedy the establishment of colonies for the separation of sexes among the feeble-minded and insane.

SPANISH CLUB TO STAGE PLAYS

Plans for two Spanish plays to be presented in the near future were discussed at the meeting of the Spanish club in the Alpha Xi Delta lodge last evening. The plays which have been selected are "Sabado Sin Sol," by the Quinteros brothers, and "Las Solteronas." They are to be given in the concert room of Lathrop hall at 8:00 p. m., on March 10.

The remainder of the evening was spent in singing Spanish songs, and in carrying on group conversations in Spanish. The date for the next meeting has not yet been decided upon.

JASTROW TALKS ON FORCAST OF HUMAN FATE

Second Lecture on "Physical Cults and Systems"
Draws Large Crowd

Prof. Joseph Jastrow again attracted a record breaking attendance to his lecture on "The Prediction of Fate," Tuesday afternoon in Main hall. This was the second of a series of eight lectures on "Psychical Cults and Systems; Past and Present." Yesterday afternoon Professor Jastrow contrasted and compared alchemy and astrology, and the influence they have had on past and modern thought in determining the prediction of fate, and their influence on modern science.

"The prediction of fate was the central idea motivating the ancients in their early work in alchemy and astrology," said Professor Jastrow. "The people believed in omens and augers and all kinds of superstitious cults. The use of alchemy and astronomy appeared just a step higher than the earlier beliefs and came to have great importance in predicting future events.

Astrologers Preceded Scientists
"From the attitude of some people, these sciences are in bottles of alcohol in museums, they have no bearing on modern cults and systems. But the chemist and the astronomer are in a direct line with these earlier scientists. The alchemist developed the laboratory habit, and the astrologer, the observing habit, and both of them, the library habit. All three, good habits to possess. They thought by analogy, their systems depending on symbolism and superstition."

"Most elaborate of the early astrological practices was the reading of the horoscope. By means of the stars and their arrangement the fortunate and unfortunate days of the individual were foretold. Often a man's whole life was guided by the star under which he was born. Astrology was used by the medical man who would only perform operations on the so-called lucky day, and then he was not responsible for the results.

Prediction by Palmistry
"Closely connected with the horoscope was practise of predicting fate by palmistry, by the nature of dreams, and fortune telling. The introduction of cards, 52 in a deck, made it necessary to develop the cult of fortune telling into a system, giving each of the various cards, some meaning, bearing great portent in the future of the individual who was having his fortune told.

"Folk-lore is another form of this magical and mystical method of thinking, a form which has been handed down and adopted in almost its identical form. Folk-lore makes all wishes come true. It is a type of thought presented to children so commonly today.

"This type of thinking should be kept up and elaborated," declared Prof. Jastrow. "It should persist not only in children, but the latest and newest theorists should benefit and profit by mistakes made through inability to distinguish between the objective and the subjective, the early blunder made by scientists.

"The alchemist had to be an astrologer too, because his reactions in chemicals only worked when the stars were in their proper relation to each other.

"Today the chemists and astronomers have found the missing link, and the power of prediction has been made certain by the application of mathematics."

WILLIAMS IN ROPER JOB?

Local Collector of Revenue Proposed for Washington Place

Burt Williams is being urged as a compromise candidate for appointment to the position of United States collector of internal revenue to succeed Daniel C. Roper, who has resigned. Mr. Williams is being boosted as the deviser of the new plan of collection, and as a supervisor of collections in many states before he accepted charge of the consolidated districts of Wisconsin. He is understood to have the backing of democrats, including Joseph Martin, national committeeman, and Joseph E. Davies, former chairman of the federal trade commission.

The collector's power of strict or liberal interpretation of prohibition laws, has caused a sharp fight between the "wets" and "drys" at Washington. Mr. Williams is being urged as a "compromise" candidate.

RESERVATIONS AGAIN VOTED BY U. S. SENATE

Fourteen Democrats Join
With Opposition in Vote
For Changes

WASHINGTON —The republican peace treaty reservation declaring the right of the U. S. to decide all domestic questions under the league of nations was readopted by the senate today by a vote of 56 to 27 after repeated efforts by the democrats to amend it had failed.

Fourteen democrats voted with the solid republican membership for the reservation. On its original adoption last November the vote was 59 to 36 with eleven democrats voting in the affirmative.

The democrats who voted for adoption today were:

Ashurst, Arizona; Chamberlain, Oregon; Gore, Oklahoma; Henderson, Nevada; King, Utah; Myers, Montana; Nugent, Idaho; Phelan, California; Pittman, Nevada; Reed, Missouri; Shields, Tennessee; Smith, Georgia; Thomas, Colorado; Trammell, Fla.

WASHINGTON — The peace treaty will be thrust into the political campaign under plans of senate leaders who have agreed to drop the compromise negotiations which they believe have reached a hopeless stage. Unwilling to consume more time in dickering over compromises, the leaders have agreed to put the treaty away and turn their attention to urgent legislation.

This means that the treaty would become a dominant issue in the approaching political campaign and that the American people would be called upon to express their views on the question of ratification, modification or rejection through the ballot box. Both sides heretofore have fought off stubbornly this eventuality but they are said now to have come to look upon it as inevitable.

The treaty would be taken out of the senate and saved for the fight at the polls by a call for the final ratification vote and its resultant failure of passage, if the plans of the leaders materialize.

MRS. EDDY TALKS FRIDAY AT CONVO

Noted Member of "Flying Squadron" to Replace Miss Conde, Who is Ill

Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy, who is one of the members of the "Flying Squadron" of Y. W. C. A. speakers, who will present campus problems and association work to college women, will speak Friday afternoon to the women of the university on the subjects of the questionnaire which is being discussed in all the rooming and sorority houses this week. Mrs. Eddy, who is also acting executive of the foreign department of the National board, will take Miss Bertha Conde's place because of the latter's illness.

The questionnaire, which has been prepared by the university Y. W. C. A., takes up practical social and personal problems of Wisconsin women and each group of girls discusses thoroughly the points outlined, and takes a definite stand on them. Each questionnaire will be returned to the association office and turned over to Mrs. Eddy as an outline for her address.

Mrs. Eddy has traveled with her brother-in-law, Sherwood Eddy, the evangelist, speaking with him on many of his tours. She is well known to students interested in foreign missions as she has spoken in many colleges and universities all over the United States and is recognized as a pleasing and eloquent speaker.

RED GAUNTLET ADOPTS JUNIOR ADVISORY PLAN

The junior advisory system and the spring social program were the questions discussed at the Red Gauntlet meeting held last night in the S. G. A. room in Lathrop. About 80 sophomore women attended the meeting, which had the two-fold purpose of a social and business gathering.

After listening to the report of last year's Junior advisory committee and their recommendations, the society decided that work on the advisory system should begin in the spring. The following were nominated to take charge of this work:

Auta Lyman, Mabel Winter, Katherine Ely, and Gladys Haskins.

Heretofore the vice president of Yellow Tassel has had charge of junior advisory work, but, since it is advisable to begin this work before the class elections are held, the class of '22 has separated the two offices. As soon as elections have taken place, the committee will begin sending out questionnaires to all women in the class asking if they will return next year, if they will take advisers, and how many?

The Red Gauntlet party for Blue Dragon, set for April 10, will be the next event on the social program. The party will probably be made a "Story Book Ball," featuring "Alice in Wonderland." An outdoor party for Green Button may be given in the near future.

Miss Douthart, the new dean of Sophomore women addressed the society.

Five Million Damage by Cold in Florida

MIAMI, Fla.—Damage estimated at over $5,000,000 was done to fruit and vegetables in south Florida, by the extremely low temperatures of last night. Vegetable fields north of Miami were practically wiped out while early reports show the damage to the south to be about 75 per cent.

Temperatures last night were the lowest ever officially recorded there for March, 34 degrees.

OCTOPUS GETS FINE MATERIAL FOR NEW ISSUE

Editors Grade Contributions to Fill Vacancies on Staff

The board of editors of the new Wisconsin Octopus met last night to consider the material for the March issue, "New Thought." All copy that had been submitted was offered to the board for its dictum. Because of the surplus, there was a careful elimination process. Each contribution was anonymously considered. After consideration, the author was credited with the amount and grade of work contributed. This system of grading is employed to enable the board to fill the present board vacancies.

Besides the written material, there were any number of startlingly original pen drawings. In the number and grade of cuts, the new Octopus will far excel the last issue. There were in these sketches some "new thoughts" that will give even the futurist a little food for thought.

The Baptist and Congregational churches are holding student suppers tonight. The University Methodist church will hold prayer meetings at 5:00 every afternoon during the conference.

FOOD POISON IS EXPLAINED

Miss Bachman Describes the Dangers of Botu-
linus Bacteria

Botulinus poisoning, which has recently resulted in the death of several people in Detroit and New York, has never been reported in Wisconsin.

According to Freda Bachman, food bacteriologist at the College of Agriculture, the poison, which is produced by bacterial life, has thus far been found only in spoiled food. Not all spoiled foods contain it, but even slightly spoiled foods may contain it, and Miss Bachman strongly advises housewives to discard all food containing the least evidence of decomposition.

"Cooking a food infected with these bacteria has been found to destroy the poisons produced by them," says Mrs. Bachman, "and housewives will 'play safe' by heating foods thoroughly, if there is doubt in the recognition of the odor proper to the product.

"Botulinus poisoning is not the common type of food poisoning, called ptomaine poisoning, which causes stomach and intestinal disorders soon after the infected food has been eaten. Botulinus poisoning is due to a powerful toxin which a certain kind of bacteria produces, and usually no symptoms in a victim appear until 36 or 48 hours after eating the infected food.

"It is a type of poison which affects the nervous system and causes no fever. Victims generally 'see double and imagine that their eyes are in bad condition. They do not feel ill until the poisoning has been absorbed by the nervous tissues of the body. The sickness due to the poisoning may last a few days or so as long as a few months. It has been known in central Europe for some twenty years, where it was first found in sausage, and later in ham. In this country it has been found in various canned foods such as olives, stringed beans, asparagus, corn, peas and in spoiled forage crops such as moldy hay."

"In the processes of canning foods, no air remains in the container if it has been properly sealed. A great many bacteria cannot grow under these conditions, but Bacillus Botulinus finds these conditions ideal for growth.

RARE PICTURES ARE RECEIVED

University Gets Fine Art
Treasures Through Judge
Barnes Gift

Seven rare examples of the best in lithographic art, by English artists, have been received from London to decorate the walls of the department of economics in the new Physics-Economics building at the university and are on exhibition this week.

They are secured through a bequest of the late Judge John Barnes of the supreme court and were framed by his Wisconsin associates in the insurance business, at the suggestion of Michael J. Cleary, former insurance commissioner.

Prof. R. T. Ely of the economics faculty, secured the lithographs through Campbell Dodgson, director of the print room of the British museum. All are the work of members of the Senefelder club, which comprises the English lithographers of note and several American artists, who banded together in 1910 to combat the commercialization of their art and pledged themselves to break their stones after the taking of a limited number of prints.

WHOOPIING COUGH STATE EPIDEMIC

470 Cases Reported; Many Children's Lives Lost Each Year

An epidemic of whooping cough is prevalent in several parts of the state, according to the state board of health. At the end of February there had been reported 470 cases as against a normal number of 230. This, it is believed, represents a small proportion of the total number actually present.

"Hundreds of child lives have been sacrificed to whooping cough in Wisconsin during late years," says a statement from the board, which points out that whooping cough is "by many persons regarded as a trivial malady which the children should acquire early and 'have over with'."

The greatest danger is to children less than a year old. It is in complications and after-effects that principal trouble lies, for bronchopneumonia and tuberculosis are "only too commonly the result of a supposedly 'harmless' case of whooping cough.

"Never take a chance on a mild case of whooping cough. Have a good doctor and follow his instructions. The older and stronger the child, the better able he is to resist the after-effects. In adults the disease, if it occurs at all, is usually mild.

WEBB DELIGHTS MADISON FOLK

Concert An Unqualified Success; Pianist Also Excellent

Murray Webb, Madison's own opera soloist, who appeared with Miss Grayce Bernard in an eloquent song and piano recital at Christ Presbyterian church last night won the hearts of friends and strangers and time after time he was recalled to favor Madison music lovers with another of his seemingly inexhaustible supply of songs.

The audience refused to leave until Mr. Webb had answered three encores. Miss Bernard, too, was received with great approval.

Mr. Webb's delightful rendition of the prologue to Ruggiero Leoncavallo's Il Pogrammi. The Clowns was most pleasing. The opera is a musical description of a tragic side of Italian life and was sung in Italian with all of the vigor, revenge and remorse which its composition must have felt.

Miss Bernard, a noted Russian ballet soloist, opened the recital with the sextet from Lucia. The number was played with exquisite grace and ease.

Other numbers by Mr. Webb were The Star, by Rogers; Another Hour With Thee, by Vanderpool; Vision Fugitive from Herodiade, by Massenet; Aria from Zaza, by Leoncavallo. A little Grey Home in the West, by Lohr; Obstinat, by H. de Fontenailles, and One Year, by Burleigh. Several other numbers were sung as encores, among which were Mother of Mine and Somewhere a Voice Is Calling. Miss Bernard appeared in The Prelude from Rachmanioff's opera, The Wind, valse chromatique by Godard, besides several encores.

Mr. Webb is spending a few days in the city before leaving for New York where he is to make his debut as a baritone concert soloist. He is a pupil of Ettore Campana, Italian Metropolitan opera singer.

BUSINESS MEN SUPPORT PLAN OF MEMORIAL

State Body Praises Work of University in Train- ing Men

Hearty endorsement of the project of the Memorial Union building has been made by the directors of the Wisconsin Manufacturers' association. A circular letter has been sent out to manufacturers and merchants throughout the state urging them to support the cause with their contributions.

"Wisconsin graduates a large number of trained men and women each year who play an important part in the development and affairs of the state and nation," the letter declares. "Many of these are to be found in the commercial institutions of Wisconsin, and many more trained young men and women will be available in the future to play a part in our industrial and commercial development, greatly to the benefit of the industries of the state, the University of Wisconsin, and the state at large.

"Because of the splendid sentiment of this memorial, the great social need of the men students, and the present and potential value to the industries of the state through closer affiliation with the university, the directors urge the manufacturers and merchants of the state to support this most worthy cause."

That the present enrollment of 7,000 students in the university, of whom almost 5,000 are men, has greatly overcrowded every facility, the letter points out. Since educational needs will be heavy, recreational facilities cannot, in all probability receive much assistance from the state for some time. The idea that the building will be a fitting memorial to almost 4,000 students who served in the war and more than 100 who gave their lives is also stressed.

SOCIAL SERVICE CLASS IN STUDY OF LOCAL FIELD

Group Under Prof. Gillin Works
Among Families of Dane
County

The demand for trained social workers has resulted in the offering of a new course in "Methods of Social Service," with practical field work in Madison and nearby towns, which is being given this semester by Prof. J. L. Gillin, of the department of sociology, aided by a trained Red Cross worker from Chicago. It will also be offered in the summer session.

About 84 students, including several men, are enrolled in the first session of the course, and of these, 24 selected young women are carrying on the prescribed field work.

The field work, which requires 150 hours during the semester, is carried on among families in Madison and Dane county towns, in co-operation with the Red Cross and Associated Charities, under the direction of Miss Helen Clark, Chicago, who has been sent to the university for the present semester by the American Red Cross. The 24 young women, who are all graduate students and seniors with training in sociology, expect to undertake social service work as a vocation.

WOLFE POINTS PRISON DOORS TO PROFITEERS

Says Merchants Who Ask Exorbitant Prices Will be Prosecuted

"There is no use of pussy-footing. Merchants who are charging profits of 50 per cent or more on their wares are just prying open prison doors," said U. S. District Attorney A. C. Wolfe Tuesday morning on his return from La Crosse. "If I get evidence that Merchants are continuing to charge extortionate profits, prosecutions will follow, and I shall ask for jail sentences. They are not going to get the same profits on spring stocks as they have been getting. I expect the purchasers to cooperate with the department in preventing profiteering."

"Merchants must appreciate that they owe an obligations to their customers. The public must obtain goods at a reasonable cost."

"I can't prosecute the steel trust or anyone else outside of the jurisdiction of the western district. The conditions I am dealing with are here. Indictments will be returned by the grand jury against retailers unless merchants abandon their exorbitant profits."

Advertising Talks With Students

WHAT is advertising? A definition—The time and effort-saving device in the sale of goods just as power and machinery are in the production of goods.

— W —

Advertisers in The Daily Cardinal are serving the student body. Madison merchants who make a real effort to supply the wants of students are consistent in telling of their efforts through The Daily Cardinal.

— W —

When a man has something to offer to you, he tells you about it. Conversely, if he is not interested in supplying your wants he has nothing to say to you.

— W —

Advertising builds confidence. Advertising builds good will. Students have full confidence in Daily Cardinal advertisers, for the good will of students is built up through the student daily.

— W —

Advertising is news. Cardinal advertising is all of particular interest to students, directed to serve their needs. Make a practice of reading the advertising news daily in The Cardinal.
