STUDENT GIFTS WILL CARE FOR FOREIGN NEEDY

Friendship Fund Will be Christmas Offering of University to Students in Foreign Countries

Organization of plans for collecting contributions from students toward a gift which will constitute Wisconsin's share of the Student Friendship fund, is well under way. Committees to have charge of the raising of the fund have already been appointed and collection of voluntary gifts will commence December 11.

The Student Friendship fund is a Christmas gift to be presented to foreign students in foreign lands, from the universities and colleges of this country. Contributions take the form of voluntary gifts. All universities and colleges are organizing, and making preparations; Wisconsin is also marking time, and has accepted the opportunity to contribute her share.

Locally, the student Christmas gift will receive the united support of students and faculty, as well as prominent city organizations. Miss A. L. Marlatt spoke to the Campus Religious council on the Friendship fund, and the representatives of the council will propose plans to their respective church organizations. Euthenics club has pledged

Open Sale of Vodvil Tickets Begins Today

Tickets for Union Vodvil, to be presented next Friday and Saturday, go on sale today. Patrons may obtain tickets by applying at the box office of the Parkway theater.

A great many desirable seats for all performances are available to those who arrive early, because of the larger capacity of the new theater. Fraternities that have not made reservations for blocks of seats will find several sections left for all performances.

An eight-page souvenir Vodvil program with a two-color cover is being prepared for this year's production. The booklet will be distributed free of charge.

Finance Campaign is Continued This Week

The annual finance campaign of the "Y" is being continued this week on account of the interference of mid-semester examinations last week. Indications are that the campaign is approaching the half way mark. James Buxton '22, general chairman, has sent out word to the canvassers to report the results of their canvass.

A meeting of the canvassers yesterday reported fine co-operation on the part of the student body. The spirit of the campaign is to give every one a chance to help. Worth Shoults, who is chairman of the fraternity division, reports that the work is making good progress.

Dot, Bob, and Port Promise Novel Act For Union Vodvil

"Oh Gee!"—but what are they "Oh geeing" about? That's the secret. But anyway you saw their picture—a couple of tux's, a silver evening dress, and a grand piano, all in the spotlight. Sounds good, doesn't it?

Then the Butts brothers hand you all some quips and quanks, and some original dance steps, and leave "Dot" Cremeer all by herself at the piano.

"I'm Looking for a Bluebird to Chase My Blues Away," warbles "Dot," pathetically. You know how they do it—"Port" dashes in—thinks he's the Bluebird—and with a little harmony ends up with "If You Knew."

Where does the "Oh Gee" come in? That's the grand finale—a lively song and eccentric dance—lots of pep and a crash-bang ending, and it's all over but the shouting.

LARSON IS NAMED RHODES SCHOLAR

The Rhodes scholarship for Wisconsin has been awarded to Melville Larson, a student at Lawrence college, it was announced by officials of the Rhodes trust. Larson lives in Neenah.

The 62 candidates, who were chosen from 506, will enter Oxford university in October, 1922, on three year scholarships. The fund provides for $1,750 a year for each student.

Blue Dragon Ring Sale Closes Today

The final sale of Blue Dragon rings will be held Tuesday and Wednesday in Lathrop hall between the hours 9 to 12, and 1 to 4:30.

Louise Fritchie '22, in charge of the orders, urges those who have not yet purchased their rings to avail themselves of this opportunity, as the representative from the jewelry firm will not return again in February, as first supposed.

Orders may be taken later, but at an additional expense, as the 10 karat and 14 karat rings will be $14 and $15, instead of their present price of $8.40 and $10, war tax included. A deposit of $3 is required now with the remainder to be paid at a later date. They will be ready for delivery the first of February.

Composers For Prom Fox Trot Are Sought

A contest for all student musicians and composers is being planned by the 1923 Prom fox trot committee, and an urgent request is being made that all who have talent in this line submit a fox trot for this year's Prom.

Judges will be picked from the school of Music, from musical interests outside of the university, and from the students, this year. In this way a balance will be obtained, and a fair judgment assured.

DIRECTORIES TO BE DISTRIBUTED NEXT THURSDAY

Delay in Delivery is Caused by Out of-State Printing Contract

Four thousand student directories were shipped from Des Moines, Iowa, last Saturday and will be here for distribution by the end of the week, according to Mrs. E. H. Roth, university editor.

Although the directories are more than two weeks later than in any previous year no one seems to be directly responsible for the delay. As no local company would handle university printing for the maximum price required by the State board of printing, the contract for all university printing was let to a company in Des Moines, Iowa. The time necessary to get copy to the plant and proofs corrected seems to be the primary cause for the delay.

The requisition for the printing of the directories was sent in October 6, and proofs were soon returned, but because of the gauntlet of red tape through which all university printing must pass the directories were delayed until this week.

"Directories will not be available until the last part of this week," said Miss Martin, secretary of the registrar, "and then only during the afternoons."

Slogan Deadline is Set For Saturday

But five days remain before the close of the Prom slogan contest, the deadline of which has been set at 5 p. m., Saturday, Dec. 10.

Although only a few slogans have been submitted up to date, at least three of the attempts showed possibilities of winning the $5 prize which is to be awarded.

The best of the slogans submitted, emphasize the two salient points suggested by this year's Prom committee—beauty and representation. Committee members are pleased with the response, but desire a larger number of contributions from which to make the final selection.

A box for the slogans has been placed on the porch of the Union building.

LOMAX LECTURES ON WEST TONIGHT

Cowboy anecdotes, songs, and ballads will make up the lecture, "Songs of the Cowboy," which Prof. John A. Lomax of the University of Texas will give tonight in 165 Bascom hall. The speaker comes to Madison under the auspices of the Forensic board.

Professor Lomax has a background of western experience which is said to make his lecture a vivid picture of the life of the plains which he describes. He has been a Sheldon fellow for the investigation of American ballads at Harvard university, and has twice been president of the American Folklore society.

The lecture will begin at 8 p. m. Admission will be 50 cents.

DELTA PI DELTA FOUNDED HERE BY JOURNALISTS

New Professional Fraternity is Established For Purpose of Perfecting Scribes For Future Work

Delta Pi Delta, professional journalism fraternity, has been founded at the university. Five honorary and 14 charter members were initiated, and six men were pledged.

The purpose of the organization is to bring students in the Course in Journalism into a closer relationship and to more perfectly fit them for their profession than is possible in their regular scholastic work.

Students from the four classes are eligible to Delta Pi Delta. The one restriction is that they be enrolled either in the regular Course in Journalism or in the Course in Agricultural journalism.

It is the intent of the organization to secure a chapter house for the second semester of the present academic year, and several possible locations are now under consideration.

The honorary members are Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, director of the Course in Journalism, and Professors Andrew W. Hopkins, Grant M. Hyde, E. Marion Johnson, and William A. Sumner, of the Course in Journalism.

Charter members include William F. Bloecker '22, George W. Greene '22, Rodney C. Welsh '22, Herbert H. Brockhausen '23, Richard H. Crosse '23, G. Lowell Geiger '23, Eric M. Halling '23, Charles J. Lewin '23, Harold T. McClelland '23, Edward J. McDonough '23, Walter J. Pfister '23, Fred S. Siebert '23, Hubert F. Townsend '23, Fred L. Kildow '24.

Agics and Home-Ecs Write College Music

"The song writing contest for the college of Agriculture and school of Home Economics will begin today, according to B. B. Langen '23, chairman of the Agricultural College Federation song writing contest.

"The purpose of the contest," says Langen, "is to obtain several lively songs for agric and home-econ gatherings."

First prize consists of a silver cup. A bon-bon dish or cigarette case will be awarded to the one receiving second honors. The third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh places will receive honorable mention.

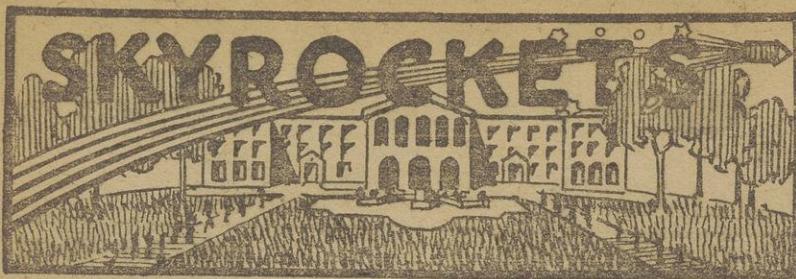

The agric, home-econ, faculty member, or alumnus from either school is eligible to enter the contest.

Essays must be handed in at the administration office, Agricultural hall not later than January 14. Judges will be announced later.

THE blood-curdling spectre of the mid-semesters has passed, and with the passing, December has blown in, with the good cheer of the holidays. Snow covers the sidewalks, and merrily, once more, the students slide on the ice and on their ears as they hurry to and from their classes. Galoshes and sheepskins have come into their own, and the red nose is more popular than the powdered nose. Long reign King Winter, the peppiest season of the year.

AND, now that we have mentioned the fact that the holidays are bearing down upon us, don't forget, boys, to pick your Christmas gifts early.

THIS column is starting a campaign, the sole object of said campaign being to find out why the shade in the Kappa living room is always down. Any information will be gratefully received, and inappropriately published in this column.

THE LYNX, a new name among our contributors, sends in the following bit of gore. It appears that no less than 13 men, exactly a baker's dozen, have been ejected from a rooming house on University avenue, because they used hair oil and tonic, and so mussed up the wall paper. Regardless of the fact that they preferred only the best brands, the dean would not listen to their plea.

GRADUATE WORK IS OFFERED TO COLLEGE WOMEN

List of Fellowships in Over 40
Subjects at 10 Colleges is Published

A complete list of graduate fellowships open to women, published by the American Association of University Women, has been filed in the office of the Graduate school, 157 Bascom hall.

The list includes 39 subjects in which fellowships are offered to women graduate students by universities, colleges and organizations of the entire country. Among those listed are: Chicago, Columbia, Cornell, Harvard, Johns Hopkins, Leland Stanford, Milliken, Northwestern, Wellesley, Yale, and state universities.

The booklet, which is the first of its kind ever published, was compiled by the Appointment Bureau and the Library of the Women's Educational and Industrial Union, Boston, Mass. Its purpose is to inform women graduates of 1922 of the opportunities for graduate study.

The booklet gives detailed information as to the author of the fellowship, its title, the college, the amount of money included, its duration, and the duties required of the holder.

The subjects in which the fellowship are offered are: agriculture, anatomy, anthropology, archaeology, architecture, art, astronomy, biology, botany, business and commerce, chemistry, economics, education, engineering, English, geology, history, home economics, industrial research, languages, law, literature, mathematics, medicine, mining, music, pathology, pharmacy, philosophy, physics, political science, psychology, natural science, physical geography, scientific

THE real big question on everybody's tongue today is: "What do you think of next year's football schedule?" Just as though no one was worrying at all about whether derbies are going to be worn more this year than last.

First Frosh: "See that man over there? He's the captain of the team."
Second: "Yeh?"
First: "See the pipe in his mouth?"

Choir to Entertain at Stoughton Sunday

A benefit concert was given by the University Methodist student choir at the Stoughton, Wis., high school Sunday night, Dec. 4, at 7:30 o'clock.

The concert was arranged by Doris Simonson, supervisor of the public school of music, and it was directed by Lowell L. Townsend, professor in the school of music here. The choir, consisting of about 40 voices, gave a selection of ten anthems.

A free concert will be given at the University Methodist church in Madison next Sunday at 8 p. m. The same program will probably be used.

Railroad Jack To Visit State Schools

Railroad Jack plans to make his debut in school circles of the state during the winter. He has been given recommendations from Gov. John J. Blaine, Edward A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, and John Callahan, superintendent of public instruction. With these and other backers, John has quit his outdoor activities and will confine himself to lecturing in the schools for six months. He will retain headquarters in Madison. Jack is planning to visit every normal school and college of the state. He will be on the program at the state teachers' meeting Dec. 8 and 9. County superintendents will meet here Jan. 16 to 20 and Jack will also display his memory wares to them.

Purdue Hopes For Banner Grid Season

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—Purdue University will be ready in another year or two to retrieve its lost prestige on the gridiron. This is the opinion of athletic authorities here. Although in the number of games won the past season was disappointing, followers of the team were cheered by the fighting spirit, which, they declare, was characteristic of Purdue teams of a decade ago, but which has been noticeably absent in recent years. Although twelve men will be lost to the football squad by graduation there will be a number of veterans back next year. Ferd Birk is one of the stars who will be lost. Capt. "Zeb" Carman is another regular who will leave. Carman has held down an end position for two years. Other regulars to go are Ray Miller, end; E. B. Wagner, halfback; and J. E. Meeker, fullback. Some of the second string men played in a number of games and will be keenly missed. They are Bob Watson, E. S. Rate, W. L. Spencer, "Shorty" Macklin, C. E. Israel, J. C. Kepple and C. D. Merrill.

WEATHER

High barometer with cold weather prevails in the southwest from the plateau region to the Gulf of Mexico. Temperatures of 15 degrees are reported in New Mexico, and zero in Wyoming. A series of lows are moving eastward through Canada. One of these is crossing the Great Lakes accompanied by snow falls of an inch or two. Another is crossing the Canadian plain accompanied by chinook, with temperatures around 45 degrees in northern Montana and Alberta.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

PENN STATE IS PICKED AS BEST ELEVEN OF EAST

Cornell, Harvard, and Navy Are Next in Order

Penn State is ranked as the best eleven in the East, according to the calculations of the New York Times sport expert. Cornell is given second place, with Harvard and Navy tied for third, and Lafayette and Yale tied for fourth.

Although Penn State was tied by Harvard and Pittsburgh, the Nittany Lions demonstrated marked superiority over other teams. They are credited with victories over Lehigh, Georgia Tech, Carnegie Tech, and the Navy. Against stiff opposition, Bezdek's eleven scored 230 points and had scored against it only 49, an average of slightly more than 5 points a game. Penn defeated Washington State, 21 to 7, on the Pacific coast Saturday.

Cornell showed overwhelming power against all rivals, earning the title of Dobie's Juggernaut. The Big Red team beat Dartmouth, Columbia, Pennsylvania, and Colgate, but its schedule was easier than that of Penn State.

Harvard tied Penn State, which defeated the Navy. On the other hand, Navy trounced Princeton, which later got the verdict over Harvard. Lafayette had championship aspirations, but the games carded were far from being real tests for a title claimant. Army was the big disappointment of the East. It lost to Notre Dame and Navy in two big games. A big shake-up in coaching staff and methods of play is due to strike the lieutenants' camp.

Ranking on the basis of the year's performances follows: 1, Penn State; 2, Cornell; 3, Harvard, Navy; 4, Lafayette, Yale; 5, Washington and Jefferson; 6, Pittsburgh; 7, Princeton; 8, Army; 9, Syracuse; 10, Dartmouth and Georgetown.

Close Pennant Race Promised Next Year

The changes which were made in the athletic schedule of many of the conference schools last week promise interesting pennant races in all lines of sports during the coming year.

The Badger football schedule does not seem to have met with general approval. The Wisconsin eleven is so consistently strong that few of the coaches in this part of the country are anxious to add them to their schedules.

The substitution of Indiana for Northwestern is hailed as a relief to fans who are weary of seeing what usually develops into a one-sided struggle. With a new coaching system now well in hand, the Hoosiers should be in a position to furnish worthy opposition for Richards' team next fall.

Iowa has a strong schedule booked for next fall, in contrast to the one just completed. Negotiations have been completed for game with Ohio State, and for one against Yale. It is unfortunate that such a schedule was not arranged for this year, as Coach Jones loses several of his outstanding stars.

Notre Dame was jiggled about by the conference coaches, and it is doubtful whether or not Rockne's eleven will face a single conference team with the exception of Purdue. The Hoosiers will not appear on the Iowa schedule, and the negotiations for a game with Wisconsin seem to have fallen through.

Wisconsin will not meet Ohio State next fall, but officials of both schools seemed favorably inclined toward resuming gridiron connections within the next year or two.

Elliott Chosen For All-Western Eleven

After being chosen for right half on Walter Eckersall's all-conference team last week, "Rowdy" Elliott, premier Wisconsin back, was awarded the same position on the Tribune expert's all-western first eleven last Sunday. He is the only Badger backfield man who placed on the all-western team.

Two Wisconsin linesmen were placed on the third team, with none on the second. Bunge earned center and Brader right tackle on the mythical third eleven. Men who undoubtedly would have been mediocre players in such fast company as the Big Ten conference were awarded places by Eckersall. These players scintillated in their minor associations, but, on a basis of comparison, it is hard to see how they rated positions over very evident Big Ten stars.

Frat Basketball Opens Next Week

Inter-fraternity basketball will get under way next week, when the first round of the series between Greek letter societies will be played. The schedule will be drawn up today at noon, when the executive committee will meet for that purpose. Coach Meanwell of the varsity squad, George Stolley, and five elected members from the fraternities will compose the executive committee.

Thirty-seven fraternities entered teams in the league, the entry list being considerably greater than in previous years. Many of the teams have been working out in preliminary games and some lively competition is expected when the series gets under way.

The same eligibility rules as were in force last year were adopted. No "W" or "aWa" men will be eligible to play on the teams.

Pennsylvania Enters Oxford Relay Games

It has been definitely announced by the track management that Pennsylvania will be represented by a relay team in the Oxford-Cambridge relay game and other English meets next spring. There is also a possibility that the team will compete in other European countries after the conclusion of the meet in England.

No decision has yet been reached as to what distance the men will run, and at the present time the members of the team have not been chosen. According to present plans the runners will sail early in March and will return in April. The trip as now planned will provide for two weeks of travel and two weeks' stay in Europe.

Track Manager Bennet has recently been in communication with the University of Sydney, Australia, in an effort to bring an All-American relay team to the carnival on Franklin field next spring. It was found, however, that due to the expense which will be incurred through the European trip, the Athletic association cannot afford to finance the team from Australia this year. A tentative date in 1923 has been offered the Sydney runners, and it is likely that they will appear in this country at that time.

BADGER MEN DRILL HARD FOR AGGIE CONTEST

Definite Lineup is Still Undecided; Gibson Works Well at Center

The Badgers commenced the final week of practice by an hour's open scrimmage against the 4C business college team. The preparation this week will be characterized by a number of open practices.

While no official score was kept, Meanwells' squad had no difficulty in keeping their opponents away from their basket, and in penetrating the 4C defense. Ceaser and his cohorts seemed to have recovered from the stage-fright which possessed them in the first open practice, and the play ran along smoothly most of the time. The passing and shooting was improved and at times the teamwork was carried on in mid-season fashion.

The consistent improvement in Gibson's work is noticeable. He is rapidly acquiring proficiency at the Meanwell style of game, and his shooting is becoming more accurate. One of the most pleasing features regarding his work is the manner in which he accepts and heeds coaching. He profits by his mistakes, attempting to overcome the errors as fast as they are pointed out by Coach Meanwell.

Doctor Meanwell's choice of men for the various positions has been limited down to about eight men. The job that seems to be causing him the most worry is that of back guard. Tebell seems to have the edge on most of his opponents, but he is hardly tall enough for the position. Irish is being tried out, but his playing is ragged at times, and he will need considerable drilling before he will be able to stop the on-rushes of some of the veteran forwards who will face the Badgers.

Ceaser, Gage, and Johnson worked out at the forward positions last night. The latter continues to improve steadily, and he will likely be used a great deal this season. One of the pleasing features of his play is the nature of his passing. He never passes the ball backwards, but holds off his opponent until one of his teammates in the direction of his own basket is free.

Not much is known of the strength of the Michigan Aggies this year. The Junior Wolverines are, however, fast becoming known for their strength in athletics, and are almost on a par with Marquette, Notre Dame, and the other lesser schools of the mid-west. The game, therefore, promises to be no walk-away for Meanwell's men, although a victory may reasonably be expected.

The Badgers, on the whole, look much better than they did a year ago at this time. If they continue to improve at their present rate, the team which faces Iowa in the opening conference game should be almost as perfected as was the machine which closed the season last spring.

GYM SQUAD MEETS "Y" IN FIRST TILT

The gymnasium schedule, as arranged at the meeting of representatives from each of the Big Ten schools in Chicago last Saturday, is as follows:

Dec. 17—Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. at Milwaukee.

Mar. 11—Chicago at Madison.

Mar. 17-18—All Conference at Madison.

There will also be another meet with Milwaukee "Y" at Madison, and a dual meet with either Minnesota or Illinois. The dates for these meets have not been definitely decided as yet. Wisconsin will also be represented at the Northwestern Gymnastic society meet at Minneapolis early in April. The return meet with Milwaukee "Y" will be late in January or early in February.

The varsity team is practicing now in preparation for the meet with Milwaukee. The team which will represent Wisconsin at this meet will be picked on Friday, Dec. 16.

VARSITY TRACK TEAM BEGINS INDOOR WORK

Wealth of Material Gives Promise of Strong Squad

With the improvements on the annex completed, preliminary work for the 1921 indoor track season began in earnest yesterday afternoon. A large number of last year's veterans and new recruits worked out on the covered oval where they will meet from now until Christmas on four afternoons a week at 4:30 in preparation for the meets after the holidays.

From all present indications, Wisconsin will have a strong team this year. Aside from the wealth of material back from last year's squad, many new men are coming to the front this season. The inter-class meet Saturday brought several cindermen of varsity calibre to light.

Robert Wallis, a sophomore, showed up exceptionally well in the hurdles and will be a promising addition to the team in that department.

E. E. Schneider '24, a member of the cross country team who ran in the conference meet this fall, ran a pretty race to win the mile in the underclass meet Saturday, and showed possibilities of development into a strong varsity squad man.

James Gibson '24, cleared the bar in the high jump at six feet against the freshmen and will help to fill a much felt want for men to back up "Pete" Platten '23, the only veteran jumper on the squad this year.

B. K. Slaughter '24, will help out Sundt and Gude in heaving the shot in the meets this season.

George Tomlinson '24, and Elmer Krieger '24, give promise as future stars in the pole vault. In poor condition and with almost no preliminary work, Tomlinson vaulted 11 feet 6 inches in the meet Saturday, tying for first with D. H. Jones, a freshman. Krieger went over at 11 feet for third.

J. J. Hurley '24, has shown up well in the dashes and in both the broad and high jumps.

C. B. Roberts '24, who was high point man in the frosh-soph meet with firsts in the 40 yard dash and the broad jump attended the University of Pennsylvania last year and will not be eligible to compete in the varsity meets until next year.

MATS FOR VARSITY WRESTLERS ARRIVE

The new mats and punching bags for the varsity wrestling squad have arrived and will be ready for use Wednesday, according to Coach Hitchcock.

Only 35 men of 110 men who are signed up for the sport can be handled under present conditions, but with the new equipment all can be accommodated.

The first meet will be held January 14 with Lawrence college, Appleton, and men are now engaged in making weight for the contest. No team has been picked as yet, although there is a great deal of material.

Coach Hitchcock wants several big men, weighing from 175 to 200 weight classes.

INDIANA WILL HAVE BIG GRID YEAR IN 1922

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Indiana university is going into football on a bigger scale than ever before attempted next fall, and expects to have the largest coaching staff in its history, Edward O. (Jumbo) Stiehm will continue as head mentor and will be assisted by two or three paid assistant coaches. Every man at Indiana will be asked to come out for football.

THE STUDENT DIRECTORIES

THE purpose of the student directories seems due to be defeated for the first semester at least. But six weeks remain before semester examinations and the directories have not yet appeared.

The fault cannot be placed upon the registrar's office, for the lists were given to the printers in ample time for a speedy completion of the proofs. And the corrected proofs were returned to the printers with no unnecessary delay. That there has been needless delay somewhere is evident. For several years the directories have been issued to the students before Thanksgiving. If this could be accomplished in other years there should be no reason why this one should be an exception.

It is entirely probable that much of this delay can be accounted for by the fact that an Iowa firm is publishing the directories for 1921-1922. The contract was perhaps awarded to the Des Moines firm on a purely business basis. It is probable that this firm could publish the directories at a cheaper rate than could competing firms. Without some such economical reason as this the university would not be apt to have the directories published out of the state.

With even a possible saving in the cost of publication, this year's experience should prove to be a valuable lesson. Directories are badly needed. They are needed more at the beginning of the school year than they are at the end. With no directory at hand to consult, students are forced to spend no end of time in acquiring the information desired. All student activities, all student publications, the various committees for special events are unnecessarily handicapped by the absence of the directory handbook.

The experience of this year should be remembered when the next contract is let. A saving in cost of publication may be more than offset by delay and inconvenience resulting from an unwise contract.

EXAMINATIONS

Midsemester exams are for the most part over—many are the turned-off alarm clocks this morning. Some recall with pleasure a particular or several papers, and some are trying hard to forget a disastrous outcome. For many of the freshmen especially this last week has been crucial, but the strain is over now. A few will drop out at this stage; the majority will live on, the life of the student.

After an extended effort there is usually a relaxation. It is fairly natural to expect that for a short time recitations and preparations may be below par. They should not be, of course, but it can be expected. And then, before the next exams, the bucking will start in anew; so the masses oscillate.

We are expected to get at least something out of the courses we take. Practically the only way to test our assimilation is to give an exam. In most cases, conscientious effort throughout the term does not collapse totally in an examination. In many cases, an intensity of effort for a short time before the exam is sufficient to get by. Usually, the rapidly and necessarily superficially assimilated is rapidly forgotten, but it is often done.

It taxes no concentrated thought to realize that by far the better method is that of getting one's courses as the term progresses. Knowing what is best and doing it, do not always go together, but perhaps if it is brought forward often enough some may be converted to the ranks of those who need not fear exams; and that is worth something.

STUDENT FRIENDSHIP

IT is said that many of the universities in Europe are running twenty-four hours a day; that is, they are working in shifts to get the maximum use out of the capacity of the buildings and equipment. Besides that, the students themselves are working long hours and doing everything within the limits of human power to get an education as soon as they can in order to get to work and help rebuild their devastated countries.

They are working under great handicaps. They are without many of the necessities of life, they are undernourished, and many are actually in dire want. In spite of their sufferings and privations they are striving after an education that will increase their power of service to their country.

Next week every student in the United States will be given a chance to make a voluntary Christmas gift to students who are willing and even anxious to go to school all night to get an education. It looks like a pretty good Christmas present, doesn't it? Now is the time to think it over and be ready to respond when the Student Friendship Campaign begins.

IT DOESN'T PAY

Stealing doesn't pay. First of all, it is unsocial; it is unfair to the community as a whole. Then, the real loser is the person who does the stealing and not the one stolen from. Moral degradation and deadened conscience is far worse than losing wealth.

Cribbing, or cheating in quizzes doesn't pay. Obtaining a mite better grade can never compensate for the intellectual loss and the weakening of moral fiber that must result. We like to think of ourselves as going out to be leaders of the future generation. What sort of leadership will we give if we cannot play fair with our professors now? There are two lines of a poem that run something like this:

"Thou must be true thyself
If thou the truth wouldest teach."

Cribbing can never put us in a position to tell the truth. — Cincinnati (Ohio) University News.

Illingworth Renders
Admirable Program

Superb Enunciation and Voice
Timber Feature interesting Repertoire

Nelson Illingworth gave a magnificent display of dramatic singing last night at the Madison high school auditorium. Illingworth believes in the words of the song. Sometimes he shouts, again he croons, and he nearly always makes faces. The slightest shade of meaning is reflected through facial expression. With his face, he needs no scenery or costumes.

As a singer of dramatic songs he is at his best. In "Edward" he reached a dramatic climax seemingly impossible for a single voice. In the "Erlking" his interpretation was superb. And in his closing number, the "Two Grenadiers" of Schumann, his audience was completely carried away. Among other things he sang some native Maori songs which called for immense vocal skill. They ranged from a simple chant to a veritable war-dance of song.

All of his songs were in English and in English that could be understood. If all singers could sing the English language as Illingworth does, there might be such a thing as opera in English.

Assisting the singer at the piano was Gordon Campbell, whose accompaniments were excellent.

Dr. Baum Reads Poems to German Club Meet

Dr. Kurt Baum, one of the better known modern German poets, will read from his poems and ballads at the next regular meeting of the German club, which will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. in Lathrop hall.

Dr. Baum is both poet and dramatist, but he has met with greater success in his poems. At the outbreak of the war Dr. Baum was studying in the British museum. He came to this country in 1915 and has since lived in Milwaukee. At present he is working with the Society of Friends (Quakers) in their efforts to feed and clothe the starving children of Europe.

The public is invited to the recital. No admission charged.

Kiwanis Club Plans Program On Christmas

At a meeting of the executive committee of the Kiwanis club, another children's party similar to those given for the past two years in the strand theater was authorized. A committee is arranging details. Music, especially the singing of Christmas songs, will form part of the program.

Orpheum Bill Is Pronounced Good By Critic

By L. G.

The principal thing of interest about the Orpheum bill for the first part of this week, is that it is good speaking with the average run in mind. The usual variety is there but in an unusual quality. Even juggling aroused more applause than usual, and the last act held the audience until the curtain, something which speaks well for itself.

Ethel and Ward Shattuck

They succeed in disguising their act for a few minutes, but they need not have taken the trouble. Although it is a hard job to convince an audience that a juggling act has any excuse for being, the Shattucks accomplished the feat. The club work and variations of the hoop complex were the features.

Raines and Avey

This pair, although appearing at times to have just graduated from the burlesque circuit, succeed in revamping the old wheezes into a shape that pulled laughter from the crowd. Their delicate and not too subtle handling of the risque helped to put them across.

Joe Thomas' Saxotette

For a time, this act seemed to be carrying away all the evening's honors. Shifting instruments made no difference in the work done; the five men accomplished the trick of harmonizing saxophones and humor in more than a passable fashion. The clowning antics of the leader seemed to pall at times, but not enough to mar the effect of the whole act.

Helen Higgins and Betty Braun

The evening's best act. The flexibility, physical and artistic, of the girls throughout a program of dancing is deserving of all the credit they can gather. The solos, a Persian affair and a roguish caper in an alluring black creation, were the best work of this pair. Horace Bentley at the piano, at times, made the instrument ashamed of itself for ever serving less syncopating hands.

George Morton

In a black-face monologue called "The Black Dot," offered a running fire patter that stumbled a few times, but succeeded in pleasing the rest of the audience. His average is fair plus.

Four Lamy Brothers

With little effort, these four had the audience entirely on their side. The fact that the brothers kept the audience until the end of the show says all that is necessary. Oh, yes; there was the usual clown in the act.

40 Ribbons To Be Awarded Poultry Men

The Badger Poultry club of the university will hold its first poultry show on Dec. 8, 9, and 10, at the Poultry building. All students are eligible to compete and admission will be free. The show will open its doors daily at 1:30 and close at 8.

J. P. Clemens and William H. Frederick have charge of the show, assisted by J. R. Bollinger, and M. H. Edwards. Profs. H. G. Halpin, D. H. Reid and H. B. Hayes, will be official judges and will award a total of 40 ribbons to the prize winners, basing their awards on the merits of the birds, and the ability of the students to train them for exhibition. Four championship classes will receive ribbons. The Badger Poultry club will endeavor to establish the poultry show as an annual exhibit and it is hoped that fowl fanciers of the university will take an active interest in it.

New Beavers Building May Be Open March 1

Work on the new seven story office building of the Beavers is a month ahead of schedule and the structure is expected to be ready for occupancy on March 1, according to S. A. Oscar, secretary. The contract calls for completion by April 1. Practically half of the space available has already been taken by insurance companies and business and professional men.

Lincoln's Doubts of Hell Caused Infidel Comment —HAMBRECHT

"To those who know Lincoln, the story of his conversion to Christianity, as related by William E. Barton, does not come as a surprise," said George P. Hambrecht, head of the vocational board, who is perhaps Wisconsin's closest student of the life of the martyred president.

"All of Lincoln's actions and words indicate that he was a sincere Christian, though he was a man who made no public display of his religious convictions."

Among students of Lincoln's biography, the existence of The Christian's Defense has long been known, and the story of Mr. Lincoln's conversion by this work has been a tradition. Mr. Hambrecht has made many efforts to obtain a copy of the work to add to his Lincoln library. Mrs. Barton obtained a copy only after prolonged search.

"The idea that Lincoln was not a Christian seems to have been rooted in his reluctance to accept certain dogmas and teachings that were held essential to orthodoxy in his day," Mr. Hambrecht said. "Mr. Lincoln expressed some doubt as to the existence of 'hell fire' for the punishment of sinners. To doubt a burning hell was in his time sufficient to stamp one as an infidel in the minds of many religious persons."

"There is no evidence that he was a church member, but there is much evidence of his deeply religious nature and his belief in divine guidance. We know that he frequently knelt in prayer, and if we did not know this his life and utterances would afford proof of his high Christian character. He was a constant church attendant."

In collecting Lincoln data, Mr. Hambrecht has recently received interesting letters from William O. Stoddard, Madison, N. J., third assistant secretary to Mr. Lincoln in Washington, and the only living member of the Lincoln family. One letter relates Mr. Stoddard's part, as an Illinois editor, in first bringing Mr. Lincoln's name prominently before the public as a candidate for president, and the other tells hour in rifle practice before he determined the pattern of army rifles with which the troops should be equipped.

Dr. N. A. Goddard, Well Known Here, is Dead

Word has been received here of the death of Dr. N. A. Goddard of Milwaukee who died at Appleton last Friday of a stroke of apoplexy. Dr. Goddard is well known in Madison. He was a traveling doctor and Madison has been on his itinerary for a number of years. Dr. Goddard's home was at Milwaukee.

Sister of Local Man Injured in Auto Crash

Mrs. Rhine Altenberg of Davenport, Ia., sister of J. A. Egan, 109 E. Dayton st., was severely injured a few days ago, when an axle of the automobile she was driving broke and the car crashed into a telegraph pole. Her four-year-old son was not injured. Mrs. Altenberg sustained several broken ribs.

$8000 Gateway Arch is Tribute to Badger Roads

Above is the $8,000 Gateway Arch, connecting Rock county, Wis., and Winnebago county, Ill., which is to be erected on the southern city boundary line of Beloit, as a tribute to the good roads movement. The arch will join the Meridian highway, traversing Illinois, with the celebrated system of highways of Wisconsin, and will stand as the southern gateway to Wisconsin, the entrance to the Play Grounds of the Middle West.

The over all height of the arch is to be 35 feet, the height in the clear 24 feet, the width over all, 52 feet, the width of the arch in the clear, 32 feet. The pillars will be 10 feet wide and 6 thick, the structure reinforced concrete filling with Bedford stone facing. The lettering is to be two feet high by two inches deep, and the base of the pillars are to be of granite.

The width of the highway at this point is 66 feet, and the width of the concrete road under the arch will be 18 feet.

Ceremonies in connection with the gateway were held recently in Beloit.

305 Applications for Water Service in 1921

During the last year, 305 applications for water service have been granted, according to figures presented to the city water board last night. This is the largest number for Madison since 1916. These were practically all for new buildings actually in construction.

A revision of rules with the inclusion of present rates and regulations were adopted by the board. Pamphlets are to be printed soon containing these changes and the present rates.

Madison's drinking water is pure. Every Monday a test is taken for bacteria. The results of tests, presented at the meeting, showed no evidences of harmful bacteria, such as colon bacteria and the like. A few years ago the water of Madison was contaminated but that was a time when the water was forced by suction. Now it is forced by pressure. A sudden break in a pipe running through a contaminated source will not endanger the public. The only loss is the water that escapes. That affects merely the water department and not the people.

Irish-Britain Peace Parley Breaks Down

Truce to Continue; Sinn Feiners Refuse Allegiance to Crown

LONDON — The Irish peace negotiations have broken down, according to statements in responsible quarters today and the Dail Eireann delegates are expected to return finally to Ireland tomorrow or Wednesday.

Correspondence in connection with the negotiations will be made public by the government, it was stated, and Premier Lloyd George is expected to make an explanatory statement.

On the government's side it was indicated the argument will be that the refusal of the Sinn Fein to accept allegiance to the king made an agreement impossible since that condition was insisted upon by the British and was an essential preliminary to securing any assent from Ulster.

The truce still remains in effect and no immediate resumption of hostilities is looked for.

The Sinn Fein it is declared, refused even a conditional promise of allegiance contingent upon a settlement, the most it offered being to "recognize" the king as head of the commonwealth of free nations.

The truce continues to exist until notice of its termination is formally given, and both the government and the Sinn Fein say they have no intention of giving that notice. Both sides feel, it is declared, that the course of events will be bound to involve a renewal of hostilities.

AT THE GRAND

In a picture in which much of the action takes place in a "haunted" church, where the lamps are flickering constantly, where spooks are opening and banging shut the doors and windows, and where apparitions seem all the time to be rising from and disappearing behind the pulpit, more than the ordinary degree of responsibility is imposed upon the photographer. The artistic success of "A Midnight Bell," Charles Ray's latest comedy now showing at the Grand, proves George Rizard, Mr. Ray's chief cameraman, to be a wizard.

One of the outstanding features of the production is Mr. Ray's facial monologue while seated alone in the church pew in the dead of night, seeing eerie things and hearing weird and fearful noises. In this scene the star displays fine artistry, but here again credit must go to the photographer for picturing the star's overwrought imaginings with such consummate skill. The tunnel scene is another in which the cameraman was put to the test and showed himself to be an expert. To bring into visibility the operations of a band of crooks in an underground passageway called for co-operation between the cameraman and the electricians of the Ray staff. The finished picture reveals that Mr. Rizard was able to annihilate darkness and obstructions and show the audience just what the human weasels are doing beneath the earth's surface.

N. D. Joins Badgers in Attack in Rail Rate

WASHINGTON—Orders of the interstate commerce commission for general increases in freight rates were held to be illegal in a brief filed in the supreme court today by the state of North Dakota joining in the Wisconsin railroad rate case. The brief contends that the orders were illegal because the commission directed blanket increases which operated to deprive the states of power to regulate commerce within their borders. The commission also was held to have assumed jurisdiction over state rates and to have increased them without examination of each rate involved. The Wisconsin case in which the brief was filed challenges the control of the commission over passenger fares within states. North Dakota has pending a case which challenges the commission's control over both passenger fares and freight rates.

'Big Four' Plan New Entente

Draft of Substitute to Anglo-Jap Alliance Considered

TO INCLUDE FRANCE

Proposed Plan Is Cause Of Delay in Naval Cut Agreement

WASHINGTON—The draft of a quadruple entente which would serve as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, it was learned today from authoritative sources, is now under consideration by the governments of U. S., Great Britain, Japan and France.

This is said to explain the delay of the Japanese government in announcing its decision concerning the question of the ratio of naval tonnage. It appears that as the problem of warship tonnage is connected with national policy the two matters are being discussed together.

There was a growing impression today that if the entente can be worked out satisfactorily Japan would not insist on her request for a 70 per cent ratio of capital ships as against the 60 per cent suggested in the American proposals.

The inclusion of France in the preliminary negotiations for the entente has attracted interest.

It is understood that the draft of the entente has been prepared with special reference to the U. S. constitutional system under which the senate has the treaty making power.

Quarantine on Corn Shipped Into State

Corn Borer Causes Lid to Be Placed On Infested Districts

A quarantine order prohibiting shipment of corn and a number of vegetables into Wisconsin from corn borer infested districts of Ohio, Michigan and several eastern states, was issued today by the state department of agriculture.

The areas affected by the order include one county in the southeastern corner of Michigan, practically the entire northern border of Ohio, Erie county, Pa., about one-half of New York and Massachusetts, and a part of Massachusetts.

All of these areas are infested by the European corn borer which proved to be injurious this season.

The regulation, signed by C. P. Norgord, commissioner and S. B. Fracher, state entomologist, prohibits the importation of the following products into Wisconsin from the infested areas: Corn and broom corn, al sorghas, sudan grass, celery, green beans in the pod, beets with tops, spinach, rhubarb, oats and rye straw as such or used as packing, cut flowers or entire plants.

UNION CANNOT USE RESTRAINT WHILE PICKETING

Supreme Court Rules in Foundry Case; No Broad Rule Given

WASHINGTON—Organized labor has no right to picket during a strike when it involves importunity, the supreme court today declared. The decision was delivered in an appeal brought by the American Steel Foundries Co. growing out of a strike at Granite City, Ills.

The court declared no broad rule could be laid down in the matter of picketing, however, but that each case must be considered on its merits to determine whether the picketing constituted restraint and intimidation.

Cities Must Regulate Dancing, Says Ruling

Dancing and dance halls are a matter for local regulation and not for state unless specific statutes are violated, Atty. Gen. Morgan advised Alvin B. Peterson of Prairie du Chien, in an opinion today. He told then that the city council had power to enact ordinances, under its police power, governing the conduct of all public places where dancing is allowed. Complaints had been made in Prairie du Chien against dancing in ice-cream parlors. The city council took the stand that regulation was a matter of state concern. Atty. Gen. Morgan pointed out that the state could not interfere unless a particular statute was violated. The time when dancing must stop may also be determined by city ordinance, Mr. Morgan said.

Huntley Dupre, foreign representative of Ohio State University, gave first hand information to the committee heads Sunday afternoon regarding the terrible conditions under which students in the war-stricken countries of Europe are struggling, in order to hasten reconstruction.

Mr. Dupre left no doubt in the minds of those in charge as to the worthiness, and the extreme necessity of assistance such as the Friendship fund will render.

Working on the national advisory committee, and giving their valuable support to the project, are many prominent persons, among whom are Jane Adams, James Rowland Angell, Herbert Hoover, Woodrow Wilson, and Marion Le Roy Burton.

The students to have charge of the collection of the individual gifts on the campus are Frank W. Kuehl '21, business manager of the 1921 Badger, general chairman; Helen Cheetham '22, organization of women, and Richard D. Meade '22 of men. Cyril Erickson '22 will be responsible for all publicity, collection, conferences, entertainments, and programs.
