A Few Glimpses Into The Interior of Appleton's New Postoffice

What will Appleton's new $167,000 postoffice look like inside? Most of us have seen pictures of the new federal building construction of which was started last Monday. We therefore have a rather general idea of how the structure is going to look from the street and soon will get a more clear idea of the exterior as construction progresses. But it will be a long time before the building is finally completed so that many people can see the inside. Let us suppose the building has just been opened and we are going on a tour of inspection.

Public entrance to the building will be on the N. Superior St. side. Three large bronze doors will provide entries into a spacious vestibule and this vestibule will open into the lobby. The lobby will run the entire width of the building on the east side and part way of the length along the south side. Floors will be of terrazzo with marble trim. Service windows will be placed along the entire length of the east lobby. At the northeast corner will be the registry window, then the money order window, postal savings window, C.O.D. window, general delivery window, two stamp windows and over toward the southeast corner will be a large parcel post mailing window. Letter and package drops will be placed at the southeast corner. Dimensions of the vestibule are to be 32 by 6 feet. Lobby dimensions on the east side will be 20 by 70 feet and on the south side 16 by 45 feet. Three desks for the convenience of the public will be placed in the lobby, two on the east side and one on the south side.

600 Lock Boxes

Four sections of lock boxes will be located in the south lobby. There will be 400 small or ordinary sized lock boxes, known as number 1 size. In addition there will be four larger sizes, 120 No. 2 boxes, 32 No. 3, 40 No. 4 and 8 No. 5, making a total of 600. There are 372 such boxes in the present postoffice.

Present plans call for a beautiful lobby with about double the floor space of the lobby in the present building. At the southeast corner of the building will be the public stairway to the second floor. At the northeast corner on the other side of the lobby will be located the office of the postmaster, a room 16 by 26 feet and adjoining this directly to the west will be the assistant postmaster's office, 16 by 21 feet in size. These offices will be finished in red birch. This type of finish was specified at the request of Wisconsin hardwood manufacturers, who wanted to see a Wisconsin wood used in the new building. Almost all the offices in the building will be finished with this material.

Plans now provide for the lobby side walls to be made of Caen stone, which is in reality a plaster composition or imitation stone. Information is now being sought on the difference in price between this imitation stone and marble, with a view to building the side walls of marble if the price is not too high.

The money order and registry room will adjoin the postmaster's office on the south and the stamp vault is to be next to the assistant postmaster's room. A C. O. D. room is to be set off on the north side of the general workroom which occupies a large portion of the ground floor space. The office of superintendent of mails is to be on the south side of the building, also on this ground floor. The balance of the floor will be given over to the general workroom for the clerks, with the exception of a long narrow mailing room at the back or west end of the building. This mailing room is to be 50 by 14 feet and will have a large scale in the center. Four doors will lead from the workroom to the mailing room and five doors go from the mailing room out to the mailing or loading platform next to which the trucks will be parked for loading or unloading mail sacks. This platform is to be 80 feet long and 14 feet wide.

Second Floor Plans

There will be a second story over about two thirds of the building. Part of the workroom, however, will have no second story above it. Over the very center of the workroom will be suspended a look-out gallery for the use of postal inspectors, and officials of the local postoffice. This gallery affords the user a bird's eye view of the workroom and enables him to see at a glance how all the work is conducted in the handling of the mails. Space in the workroom will be approximately double that in the workroom of the present building. Wood block flooring will be used in the workroom. The room will be finished in yellow pine.

Numerous offices are planned for the second floor of the building. There will be five on the east side, five on the north side and one on the west side. Two of these offices are assigned to postal inspectors, one will be assigned for civil service examinations, two for internal revenue collectors, one to the United States Department of Agriculture, and probably one apiece for headquarters of the U. S. Reserve Officers Association, and for a recruiting office. These offices will be assigned later. Most all the offices will have the red birch interior finish. Each office will be equipped with a laboratory of its own. Second floor plans also provide for a swing room, which is a room for employees who are off duty. This is to be 40 by 24 feet in size and will be finished in yellow pine. Toilets will be provided on both first and second floors. The first floor will have two fire hose racks and the second floor will have three. Both floors will be equipped with drinking fountains.

The large boiler room in the basement will be 43 by 64 feet and will be equipped with two boilers. The fuel room is to be on the north side of the building and will be 22 by 54 feet in size. The balance of the basement space will be utilized for storage purposes.

Grass plots will be in evidence on all sides of the building, with the largest open space on the south. Some of the space to the south and west will be used for parking area and the lawns will be on the outside edge of the property. A spacious concrete driveway will run along the side of the loading platform on the west end. The new building will be so constructed that ample room will be allowed for expansion in future years. Additions can be built to the south or west sides, and a complete second story can be made whereas plans now call for only a second story over about two thirds of the structure.

Almost all of the equipment in the workroom and first floor offices will be new. Some of the best of the present equipment will be reconditioned and used in the several small office rooms on the second floor.

Briggs Will Have Charge of Union Lenten Meetings

The union theatre meetings during holy week will be presented to residents of Appleton for the first time this year. An attractive program has been arranged by the city ministerial association and the religious work committee of the Y. M. C. A. Dr. C. A. Briggs, superintendent of the Appleton district of the Wisconsin Conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be the speaker at the meetings, which will be conducted Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday noons. Representatives of the Episcopal, Lutheran, Congregational, Presbyterian, and Evangelical churches will be chairmen of the meetings, one to preside each day.

Dr. C. A. Briggs

Each day at 12 o'clock a ten minute concert will be presented by the Zuelke Broadcasting orchestra under the direction of Col. E. F. Mumm. Congregational singing will be led by George Nixon for a five minute period, after which an opening prayer will be given by the presiding pastor. Dr. Briggs' talks will be started at about 12:17. The central theme of his address will be "The Christ, the Son of the Living God." On Monday he will speak on "The Dreamer Christ;" Tuesday, "The Cosmopolitan Christ;" Wednesday, "The Lonely Christ;" Thursday, "The Comrade Christ;" and Friday, "The Conqueror Christ."

Men and women from all denominations are invited to these meetings. Similar meetings were tried out in Eau Claire last year, where they proved very successful.

For those whose lunch period will not permit attendance at the theatre meeting, arrangements have been made for one shop meeting during the week at each of several industrial plants. Arrangements have already been completed for brief services at the Appleton Machine company plant, Tuttle Press, Appleton Woolen Mills, and Valley Iron Works. An instrumental duet under the direction of Tom Temple will furnish music and talks will be given by Rev. R. A. Garrison, of the Presbyterian church; Rev. W. R. Wetzler, of St. John church; Dr. L. D. Utts, of the Episcopal church; Rev. J. F. Niensstedt, of the Emanuel Evangelical church; and the Rev. W. W. Sloane, director of religious education at the Congregational church.

The proposed ordinance providing for the employment of local labor at a minimum wage scale was discussed at the meeting of the Appleton Trades and Labor council Wednesday evening. The labor council suggested that mechanics and skilled laborers as well as common labor be included in the provision for employment of local labor. The ordinance was inspired by a petition presented to the common council several weeks ago by the trades and labor council, asking that local labor be given preference on public work. Alderman Philip Vogt, chairman of the ordinance committee, and several other council members attended the meeting.

A public hearing will be held March 31 on the labor ordinance recently presented to the council. The ordinance provides for the employment of home labor at a minimum wage scale on all public work. The ordinance was the outgrowth of a petition presented to the council by the Appleton Trades and Labor Council several weeks ago requesting that local labor be given preference in public work. A minimum wage of 50 cents an hour is established for unskilled labor.

Water from seventy wells at rural schools was forwarded to the state laboratory for a purity test this week. Miss Marie Klein, county nurse, and A. G. Meating, county superintendent of schools, secured samples. Teachers and pupils co-operated in determining the depth of the well, its type, age, and kind of casing used, all of which information is necessary for the test. The work was done at the suggestion of Supervisor John H. Niesson, Kaukauna, who stated that the drouth of last summer was accompanied by danger of well contamination and the spread of disease by drinking impure water.

Dr. R. J. Winkler, who is connected with the Bolton-Mielke clinic, has purchased the office and residence of the late Dr. Fred Dehne, Hilbert. He expects to take over the office about April 1.

Albert Kielgas, Appleton, was arraigned in municipal court Thursday on a charge of non-support. In default of $500 bond, he was committed to the county jail to await trial on April 10. Kielgas is charged with neglecting to provide for his three minor children.

BERG HAS EARNED RE-ELECTION

Men in public office who have discharged their duties in an able and praiseworthy manner and are seeking re-election deserve the unqualified support of the voters.

This is true of Judge Theodore Berg, who has presided over the municipal court of Outagamie county for the last six years. He has announced his candidacy for re-election.

Judge Berg was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge A. M. Spencer. He brought to the position his experience as a practicing attorney for twenty-five years and as city attorney for three terms. His able handling will be admitted by all who are familiar with its operation.

It is no small task to conduct the affairs of the municipal court these days. The complexity of modern life brings an increasing procession of offenders and justice seekers before the judge. The advent of the automobile with its traffic offenses, accident cases and damage suits has placed a heavy burden on the shoulders of this lone servant of the people. His work is painstaking and tedious, requiring his presence at his desk day in and day out, even to the exclusion of time in which to conduct his campaign for re-election.

Records of the court show that Judge Berg has handled 5,999 cases in the lower branch and 1,732 cases in the upper branch of the court up to March 1, 1931. He has been thoroughly fair and consistent, prompt in the administration of justice and capable in the handling of the difficult situations frequently confronting the court. His record has never been subject to the severe criticism sometimes heaped upon the court. His decisions have stood the test of appeal to a degree that is greatly to his credit, since the number of reversals is negligible.

Re-election is due a man who has discharged his duties so outstandingly well if he chooses to run again. A vote on his behalf will be a splendid recognition of his past services.

A BAD PRECEDENT

An example of state officials using their power for selfish purposes is seen in an amendment to the Cashman highway bill passed recently by the Wisconsin legislature. It grants a license fee of five dollars annually on small trucks used by farmers instead of a ten dollar fee originally specified.

Objections came from many sides on a proposal of this kind, but the farmers were in the majority in the legislature and the amendment was forced through.

While the farmer is in a serious situation with milk and produce prices at a point almost below cost of production, and perhaps is in need of help, we do not believe in granting it this way. It smacks of a form of charity obtained simply because the farmers had the power to do it.

There should be equality in taxes instead of partiality. Many small merchants, contractors and others in the cities using light trucks in their businesses are in just as deplorable a condition as the farmer these days and are entitled to just as much consideration. A bad precedent has been set and leads the way for other groups to usurp their power in legislative bodies to pass measures for their own financial advantage.

Nothing can tear down good will towards public officials as quickly as a show of selfishness rather than fairness in the discharge of their duties.

A PAVEMENT AT LAST

It is good news to motorists that the gap on state trunk Highway 26 in Fond du Lac county is to be paved this summer. This stretch of approximately twenty miles is an important link in a through paved highway from Fox river valley points to Madison. Its surfacing with concrete removes an unsatisfactory road for heavy travel, with its sharp corners, narrow roadway and clouds of dust.

This is a good example of the value of placing with the state highway commission the power to choose the roads on which taxation money should be spent. The commission will be enabled to complete a network of arteries extending from one end of the state to the other, without the patchwork and yearly detours characteristic of the past.

Fond du Lac county has been liberal in its paving but has been obstinate about completing Highway 26. This road is a short cut from Waupun to Oshkosh and diverts traffic which might otherwise go through the city of Fond du Lac. Business men no doubt felt that some trade might be lost to the city if travelers were induced to circumvent the city as a matter of saving time, but the number who would do thus is comparatively small compared with those needing this improvement so as to reach the state capital conveniently. There are other cases like this where the state must step in if paving is to be accomplished. The increased revenues from the four cent gasoline tax now seemingly assured will permit other needed work of this kind.

MAKING MONEY GO THE LIMIT

There is an adage which says, "Buy when everybody wants to sell, and sell when everybody wants to buy." It fits exactly the program set up by the sub-committee on building of Appleton Citizens Committee on Unemployment.

It will be the aim of this sub-committee to bring to the attention of the public the desirability of building or improving homes now because costs are the lowest they perhaps will ever be. Business may turn the corner any time and start the trend upward. When that happens, costs are sure to be higher.

Young couples contemplating matrimony would be wise to take the step now if the employment of the bridegroom is reasonably permanent. A home can be built and furnished at the lowest prices in years, and money they may have accumulated for their start in married life will equip them much better than when prosperity abounds. Now buying is light and prices are at the lowest ebb because everybody wants to sell. Prosperity makes everybody want to buy, and prices go up with demand.

This opportunity also ought to be of interest to war veterans. If they have a liberal bonus coming to them under the adjusted compensation act, it would pay them to borrow from the government at 4½ per cent interest and apply this money on a home while building and real estate are down. The remaining funds usually can be obtained from a building and loan association so the home can be paid for on a basis approximately the same as rent. Such use of the bonus money would be commendable and would mean as much to a family in future security as the life insurance represented by the certificate.

RAILROADS AND TRUCKING

Railroads have come to a new viewpoint concerning the motor truck, invader of the freight field. The Chicago and Northwestern Railway has announced "store door" delivery.

Motor truck delivery has had its advantages to the shipper in the convenience of loading in and out of his own door without the payment of extra delivery charges to and from a freight depot. This appeal has given the trucks a volume of short haul business, leaving the railroads with an increasing problem.

Railroads have made the country what it is today, connecting east, west, north and south with a complete service that is fast and sure. They have contributed large sums to public taxes, and have actually built up many a community. Many concerns recognizing their value and their right to exist have refused business to truck lines even though some saving was possible.

Whatever will help the railroads to stay in business and make a reasonable profit is worth encouraging. The progress of the nation depends on continued prosperity of our transportation system.

NEWS REVIEW

A Digest of Events and Trends for Busy People

A surplus of $24,000 was reported in the operation of the Appleton Water department at the annual meeting of the commission. The surplus, it was pointed out, was not due so much to an increase in the number of users, but rather to increased consumption by present users, due to the drought of last summer and fall. Arthur Dimick, assistant secretary of the water commission, stated in his report that despite the larger amount of water pumped, operation costs increased only $4,200 over the preceding year. A decrease of fifty per cent was reported in the number of new services added to the system was given as an indication of the reduction in building operations last year. During the year 1930, 721,300,000 gallons of water were pumped, an increase of 73,430,000 over 1929. Part of the increased consumption was caused by an attempt to extinguish the fire at the city dumping grounds on S. Superior street, where it was estimated 500,000 gallons of water were used over a period of several weeks.

Nine bridge tenders were employed by the street and bridge committee Tuesday, in place of six hired in former years. The establishment of the eight hour system created jobs for three additional men. They will begin work April 1, when navigation officially opens. Salaries have been fixed at $70 per month. The bridge tenders are Jan Jansen, William Menning, Gustave Knoll, David Seekins, James Vander Heyden, Michael Hoolihan, Michael Klein, Otto Eeke, and Tony Smith. Five of these were employed as bridge tenders last year.

Greunke Brothers Construction company, which has the contract for excavation for the new postoffice, is hauling the dirt from this job to the ravine between Superior street and the fair grounds. An alley will be constructed at this place when the fill is completed. The postoffice job will produce between 25,000 and 30,000 yards of dirt.

A committee of nineteen, appointed at the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Fish and Game Protective association Monday evening, will meet at the Actual Business college next Tuesday evening to select a list of officers for the association next year. H. L. Bowlby, formerly secretary of the association, was named chairman of this committee, which also includes Oscar Kunitz, Steve Otis, M. M. Bacon, Walter T. Hughes, Richard J. Meyer, Max Schwab, Mark Catlin, Barret Gochnauer, and Ray Challoner of Appleton; Charles Steidl, Stephenville; J. J. Jansen, George Ega, T. W. Lindstrom, and W. R. Harwood, Kaukauna; L. Buchman, A. L. Collar, W. L. Schroeder, Victor Behrend, and I. E. Schmidt, Hortonville.

Under a plan of opening the government locks on the Fox river between Lake Winnebago and Green Bay, fish from Green Bay will be given unobstructed passage to spawning grounds in the Fox and Wolf rivers, and Lake Winnebago. The locks will be opened every night from April 15 to June 1. Lower gates will be opened at 7 o'clock each evening and closed at 10 o'clock; upper gates will be open from 10 to 11 o'clock; and lower gates will be open from 11 to 12 o'clock. The plan was suggested to Nelson Wightman, government engineer, by Charles F. Hart, president of the Oshkosh camp of the Wisconsin Hunting and Fishing Protective association.

Five hundred pupils from the Roosevelt Junior high school and St. Theresa school presented the sacred cantata, "Gethsemane to Calvary," at the Lawrence Memorial chapel Wednesday evening. Dr. Earl L. Baker, supervisor of public school music, was the director, and Miss Irene Bidwell was the accompanist. Four soloists from Lawrence Conservatory of Music assisted. Hazel Gloe, soprano; Enid Smith, contralto; Wilfred Viilo, tenor; and Marshall Hulbert, bass, participated in the program.

Activities for the Salvation Army for the ensuing year will be planned by Salvation Army corps officers from Appleton, Sheboygan, Green Bay, Eau Claire, Superior, and Oshkosh at a meeting in this city April 1 and 2. The meeting here is one of three sectional meetings arranged for Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

Peter Van Oudenhoven, route 6, Appleton, was conditionally appointed county motorcycle officer on Tuesday afternoon, to succeed Andrew Miller, who died two weeks ago. The appointment is subject to the approval of the highway committee, which will meet at the court house Monday. Mr. Van Oudenhoven has been in the employ of the sheriff's department for the past three years as deputy sheriff, and will continue in that service. If his appointment is confirmed by the highway committee, he will begin his new duties on April 1.

R. M. Orchard, an assistant in the state attorney general's office, will address a mass meeting of the Appleton branch of the Pure Milk Products Co-operative association, now being organized, at the court house Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. His subject will be "Truth." Farmers interested in the association are invited to attend the meeting.

Preliminary plans are now underway in Appleton for the organization of a truckmen's association, as a unit of the Northern Wisconsin Truckmen's association which is now being organized. Meetings were to be held at Green Bay and Fond du Lac this week, and Appleton truckmen were expected to hold a meeting early this week. The association will carry on an educational campaign as to the trucking industry, educate drivers in the courtesy of the road, and promote general welfare of the industry. Under the present plan, local units will be formed and will elect delegates to a general meeting of the association, when that association is definitely organized. Local units will meet once a month.

Sunset players of Lawrence college will present "Cock Robin" a three act mystery play by Philip Barry and Elmer Rice, at Lawrence Memorial chapel on April 24. Rehearsals have already started. Chestley Gebhart is production manager, and he will be assisted by Herman Schweger, Appleton. "Cock Robin" is said to be one of the most difficult plays ever attempted at the college.

Lucille Kranhold, Charles Peerenboom, and John Reeve, all Appleton students at Lawrence college, were recently initiated into Sunset Players, Lawrence college dramatic organization. Students from out of the city who also were initiated are Marcus Plant, Vera VanderWolff, Russell Dukat, Lucille Schwartz, David Fulton, and Edith Koselka.

Two Appleton boys, 15 and 16 years of age, were placed on parole by Judge F. V. Heinemann in juvenile court Tuesday, following their plea of guilty of passing worthless checks. The checks were drawn on the Outagamie county bank and ranged from $5.50 to $10.50. Under a condition of their parole, the boys are to go to work and repay the checks.

Appleton's revised smoke ordinance went into effect Tuesday. Though the ordinance was revised to protect the health of Appleton residents, it is flexible enough to permit firing and cleaning of boilers and locomotives. John N. Weiland, city building inspector, is cooperating with business and industrial plants by suggesting firing and draft control methods that will eliminate unnecessary smoke.

Approximately $29,000 is disposed of in the will of the late Henry A. Schmitz, who died suddenly early in March. The petition for administration of the will estimates the personal property at $25,000 and real estate at $4,000. One son, the Rev. Herman Schmitz, and the Appleton State Bank are administrators. The income from the estate is to go to the widow as long as she lives. Gifts of $300 each are first to be made to St. Joseph church, Appleton; St. Mary and Holy Name churches of Racine; and the Catholic Central Verein. The eight children of the deceased, Elizabeth, Henry, Mary Hopfensperger, George, Cecelia Kaufman, the Rev. H. L. Schmitz, Rose, and the Rev. Alfred M. Schmitz, will share equally in the estate upon completion of the trust.

Five students were selected from seventeen who tried out for entry in the annual William Heiss Oratorical contest, which will be held at the Appleton High school April 16. The five chosen are Harold Hauert, Gordon Herman, Charles Widsteen, Isaiah Sigman, and Vernon Beckman. Faculty judges were Miss Sophia Haas, Bruno Krueger, and Clare Marquette. Miss Mary Carrier, forensics coach, conducted the try-outs. The contest, which is limited to high school boys, is sponsored by the class of 1916 in memory of William Heiss, a member of that class, who was killed in the World war. Heiss was prominent in oratorical work, and was an outstanding member of his class.

The Wisconsin Conference of Social Work has made an appeal to the city of Appleton, through a letter to Mayor John Goodland, for a contribution to assist in carrying on its work for the passage in the legislature of an efficient public relief law, extension of probation, and the establishment of a state crime detection bureau.

All snow fence in Outagamie county has been taken down and piled along the highway where it will remain until next fall. Highway Commissioner F. R. Appleton has announced that farmers will not be permitted to use the fencing for temporary hog or chicken coops this year, as they did in other years.

Greeks Hold First Church Service in Appleton

For the first time in the history of Appleton, a local church opened its doors to the Greek Orthodox population of this city for the conduct of a religious service. A beautiful and impressive service was given at All Saints Episcopal church on Wednesday morning by the Rev. Father Christus Pappas, pastor of the Greek Orthodox church at Sheboygan. George Farmakes, Neenah, assisted in the ceremony. Forty-five Greeks from Appleton, Green Bay, Kaukauna, and Oshkosh attended.

Since there is no Greek Orthodox organization in Appleton, persons of this faith are obliged to attend services at Fond du Lac or Sheboygan. The service Wednesday was specially significant since it was a church holy day, the Annunciation of the Blessed Virgin Mary. Dr. L. D. Utts, rector of All Saints Episcopal church, assisted John Smyrneos in arranging for the service.

The ceremonies began about 9 o'clock. Two babies were consecrated during the service. Greek Holy Communion was also celebrated.

Though no plans have been made for future services for the Greek population of the city, Dr. Utts expressed the hope that arrangements may be made whereby this element may have opportunity to conduct at least one service here each year.

Knowing Our Children Better

By

Edith D. Dixon

Do Fathers Enjoy Their Children

Have you had the experience of the young father of 23 years who felt totally perplexed and somewhat overwhelmed when first faced with the responsibilities of fatherhood?

He tells us that he searched the literature to find out what a father's job might be and discovered that all the books were written for mothers. He turned to his friends only to find that their ideas on the subject were quite as chaotic as his own. He finally came to the conclusion that if he wanted to understand something about a baby, he must study his own first hand.

Being now the father of four, he ventures to mention a few of his discoveries based upon his own serious observation. The first is that babies will make you welcome. They will go more than half way. Second, babies prefer not to be fondled. Third, when not overwhelmed with entertainment, they will rise to the demands of the occasion and entertain their parents.

In discovering that children can be entertaining, he has also learned something about the art of being entertained. He never laughs nor does he participate beyond the necessary minimum of cooperation.

Here is an instance—Ruth, aged 3 climbs into a chair beside his in the living room shortly before bedtime and indicates by a number of general remarks that she wishes to be entertained. "Young lady," he responds, "couldn't you tell me something of interest?"

Ruth begins at once, "I used to be a little boy. That was a long time ago. And before that I was a little Japanese baby. Japanese babies are very cute. I am being a little girl now but by and by I will grow to be a man, perhaps a cowboy. I have two children."

"Is that so? What are their names?" replies her father with perfect seriousness.

"Their names are Betty and Boy. I must put them to bed, they are sick. Good night."

Her father kisses her good night and then remarks, "That was an interesting story. You must come and see me again."

So she does go to see him nearly every evening in the living room.

Some parents are heard to remark, "I have no time to listen to such foolishness." Others may not turn the child away, but they go on with what they are doing and fail to give attention. The child in consequence does not return. Many parents amuse themselves with children as though they were toys. They laugh at them, but few appreciate them.

Children are delightful but if you wish to find delight in them you must take time to cultivate a taste for their society.

INSTALLMENT II

His past, before his coming to Wichita, was clouded with myths and surmises. Gossip said this; slander whispered that. Rumor, romantic, unsavory, fantastic, shifting and changing like clouds on a mountain peak, floated about the head of Yancey Cravat. They say he has Indian blood in him. They say that he has an Indian wife somewhere, and a lot of papooses. Cherokee. They say he used to be known as "Cimarron" Cravat, hence his son's name, corrupted to Cim. They say his real name is Cimarron Seven, of the Choctaw Indian family of Sevens; he was raised in a tepee; a wickiup had been his bedroom, a blanket his robe. It was known he had been one of the early boomers who followed the banner of the picturesque and splendidly mad David Payne in the first wild dash of that adventurer into Indian territory. He had dwelt, others whispered, in that sinister strip, thirty-four miles wide and almost two hundred miles long, called

Yancey Cravat.

No-Man's Land as early as 1854, and later, known as the Cimarron, a Spanish word meaning wild or unruly. Here, in this strange unowned empire without laws and without a government, a paradise for horse thieves, murderers, desperadoes it was rumored he had spent at least a year (and for good reason). They said the evidence of his Indian blood were plain; look at his skin, his hair, his manner of walking. And why did he protest in his newspaper against the government's treatment of those dirty, thieving, lazy, good-for-nothing wards of a beneficent country! As for his newspaper—its very name was a secandal: The Wichita Wigwam. And just below this: All the News. Any Scandal Not Libelous. Published Once a Week If Convenient. Wichita, professing scorn of the Wigwam, read it. Wichita perused his maiden editorial entitled, "Shall the Blue Blood of the Decayed Couth Poison the Red Blood of the Great Middle West?" and saw him, two months later, carry off in triumph as his bride Sabra Venable, daughter of that same Decay. Sabra Venable, at sixteen, might have had her pick of the red-blooded lads of Kansas, all the way from Salina to Winfield. Not to mention more legitimate suitors of blue-blooded stock up from the South, such as Dabney Venable himself, Sabra's cousin, who resembled at once Lafayette and old Lewis, even to the premature silver of his hair, the length of the fine, dolichocephalic, slightly decadent head, and the black stock at sight of which Wichita gasped. When, from among all these eligibles, Sabra had chosen the romantic but mysterious Cravat, Wichita mothers of marriageable daughters felt themselves revenged of the Venable airs. Strangely enough, the marriageable daughters seemed more resentful than ever, and there was a noticeable falling off in the number of young ladies who had went to drop around at the Wigwam office with notices of this or that meeting or social event to be inserted in the columns of the paper.

During the course of the bountiful meal with which the Venable table was spread Yancey Cravat had eaten almost nothing. Here was an audience to his liking. Here was a tale to his taste. His story, wild, unbelievable, yet true, was of the opening of the Oklahoma country: of a wilderness made populous in an hour: of cities numbering thousands literally sprung up overnight, where the day before had been only prairie, coyotes, rattlesnakes, red clay, scrub oak, and an occasional nester hidden in the security of a weedy draw.

Coat tails swishing, eyes flashing, arms waving, voice soaring.

"Folks, there's never been anything like it since Creation. Creation! H—!! That took six days. This was done in one. It was history made in an hour—and I helped make it. Thousands and thousands of people from all over this vast commonwealth of ours" (he talked like that) "traveled hundreds of miles to get a bare piece of land for nothing. But what land! Virgin, except when the Indians had roamed it. 'Lands of lost gods, and godlike men!' They came like a procession—a crazy procession—all the way to the border, covering the ground as fast as they could, by any means at hand—scrambling over the ground, pushing and shoving each other into the ditches to get there first.

"They came from Texas, and Arkansas and Colorado and Missouri. They came on foot, by G—d, all the way from Iowa and Nebraska! They came in buggies and wagons and on horseback and muleback. In prairie schooners and ox carts and carriages. I met up with one old homesteader by the roadside—a face dried and wrinkled as a nutmeg—who told me he had started weeks and weeks before, and had made the trip as best he could, on foot or by rail and boat and wagon, just as kind-hearted people along the way would pick him up. I wonder if he ever got his piece of land in that savage rush—poor old devil."

He paused a moment, perhaps in retrospect, perhaps cunningly to whet the appetites of his listeners. He wrung a breathless, "Oh, Yancey, go on! Go on!" from Sabra.

"Well, the border at last, and it was like a Fourth of July celebration on Judgment day. The militia was lined up at the boundary. No one was allowed to set foot on the new land until noon next day, at the firing of the guns. Two million acres of land were to be given away for the grabbing. Noon was the time. They all knew it by heart. April 22, at noon. It takes generations of people hundreds of years to settle a new land. This was going to be made livable territory over night—was made—like a miracle out of the Old Testament. Compared to this, the Loaves and Fishes and the parting of the Red sea was nothing—mere tricks."

Pausing only a moment at the sideboard to toss off three fingers of Spanish brandy, like burning liquid amber, Yancey patted his lips with his fine linen handkerchief. "I've tasted nothing like that in a month, I can tell you. Raw corn whisky fit to tear your throat out. And as for the water! Red mud. There wasn't a drink of water to be had in the town after the first twenty-four hours. There we were, thousands and thousands of us, milling around the border like cattle, with the burning sun baking us all day, nowhere to go for shade, and the thick red dust clogging eyes and nose and mouth. No place to wash, no place to sleep, nothing to eat. Queer enough, they didn't seem to mind. Didn't seem to notice. They were feeding on a kind of crazy excitement, and there was a wild light in their eyes. If you had a bit of food you divided it with some one. I finally got a cup of water for a dollar, after standing in line for three hours, and then a woman just behind me—"

"A woman!" Cousin Armita Greenwood (of the Georgia Greenwoods), and Sabra Cravat echoed the words in a shocked whisper.

"You wouldn't believe, would you, that women would go it alone in a fracas like that. But they did. They were there with their husbands some of them, but there were women who made the Run alone."

"What kind of women?" Felice Venable's tone was not one of inquiry but of condemnation.

"Women with iron in 'em. Women who wanted land and a home. Pioneer women."

From Aunt Cassandra Venable's end of the table there came a word that sounded like, "Hussies!"

Yancey Cravat caught the word between his teeth and spat it back. "Hussies, heh! The one behind me in the line was a woman of forty—or looked it—in a calico dress and a sunbonnet. She had driven across the prairie all the way from the north of Arkansas in a springless wagon. She was like the women who crossed the continent to California in '49. A gaunt woman, with a weather-beaten face. Rough hair, and unlovely hands, and boots with the mud caked on them. It's women like her who've made this country what it is. You can't read the history of the United States, my friends, without learning the great story of those thousands of unnamed women—women like this one I've described—women in mud-caked boots and calico dresses and sunbonnets, crossing the prairie and the desert and the mountains, enduring the hardship and privation. Good women, with a terrible and rigid goodness that comes of work and self-denial. Nothing pictureque or romantic about them, I suppose—though occasionally one of them flashes—Belle Starr the outlaw—Rose of the Cimarron—Jeannette Daisy who jumped from a moving Santa Fe train to strike her claim—but the others—no, their story's never really been told. But it's there, just the same. And if it's ever told straight you'll know it's the sunbonnet and not the sombrero that has settled this country."

"Talking nonsense," drawled Felice Venable.

What Shall We Have For Dinner Today?

SEA FOODS TEMPT APPETITES OF THE MOST FINICKY

During the Lenten season the housewife is always looking for new ways to disguise old dishes, especially fish, which rises in popularity at this time of the year. Even in households where fish is not a favorite dish it can be prepared in so many tempting ways that all prejudices are removed. And the housewives fortunate enough to live near the great fishing centers of the country are always alert to learning just another way of serving oysters, halibut, white fish or others of the great variety.

A luncheon dish that practically always meets with favor but is not too commonly served is creamed oysters on toast. The richness and flavor are increased by adding a few slices of mushrooms. Little energy and time are required to prepare this dish, yet it contains many of the essential food elements needed in our daily diet. The rack. Sprinkle with half the salt and pepper. Cover with stuffing, using three-fourths of the mixture. Put the second slice of halibut on top. Dot with butter and seasonings. Place the remaining stuffing on top of this. Bake uncovered in a hot oven (485° F.) for 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Bread Stuffing

- 1 qt. soft, stale bread crumbs
- 1 small onion, finely minced
- ¼ cup butter
- ½ to 1 tbsp. mixed poultry seasoning
- 1 tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 1 egg
- ½ cup milk

Heat the butter and onion together. Cover and simmer until onion is tender. Break the bread into fine crumbs and add seasonings. Mix well. Combine the cooked onion, beaten egg and milk and add to the crumb mixture, mixing lightly, and use for stuffing.

Tomato Cream Sauce

- 1 tsp. flour

calcium content of oysters is above that of meat but much lower than that of milk. So when you serve creamed oysters you are increasing the amount of calcium in your diet. And of course, milk furnishes us with all the food essentials.

Creamed Oysters on Toast

- 1 pt. oysters
- 1 cup milk
- 1 cup water and liquid drained from oysters
- 1 tsp. butter
- 1 tsp. flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 dash pepper
- 1 tsp. celery salt
- 1 cup sliced mushrooms sauted for 5 minutes in
- 1 tsp. butter (may be omitted)

Clean oysters. Drain liquor through cheese cloth to remove any shell portions. Simmer in their own liquid until limp and edges curl. Drain and add white sauce prepared of milk, water, oyster liquor, butter, flour. Season with salt, pepper, celery salt and add mushrooms. Serve on toast. Yield: 4 servings.

Variations: ¼ cup cooked celery, ¼ cup shredded pimento, 2 tbsp. chopped parsley, or 2 hard cooked eggs, sliced, may be added for variation.

Stuffed Halibut Roast

- 1 lb. slices halibut steak (½ in. thick)
 - 1 tsp. butter
 - 1 tsp. salt
 - 1 tsp. pepper
- Wash the fish, remove the skin, and dry. Place one slice on the roaster

- 1 tbsp. fat
 - ¼ tsp. salt
 - 1 Dash pepper
 - 1/3 cup milk
 - 1/3 cup water
 - 1 1/3 cups tomato puree
- Prepare a white sauce of the fat, flour, salt, pepper, milk and water. When ready to serve add hot tomato puree. Yield: 6 servings.

Savory Shrimp

- 1 onion, sliced
- 1 tbsp. butter
- ½ cup milk
- 1 cup cooked peas, fresh or canned
- ½ cup cooked rice
- 1 cup shrimp, fresh cooked or canned
- ½ tsp. salt
- ¼ tsp. paprika

Olga Rosenberg, Appleton, was picked up by Appleton police Thursday evening, arrested for vagrancy, and committed to the county jail. She pleaded not guilty to a hearing in municipal court this morning and was bound over for trial April 1. Up to noon she had not furnished bond of $25 and was being held at the county jail.

The board of directors of Appleton Chamber of Commerce has conducted a "still hunt" for new members, with the result that nine new and one renewal memberships have been reported. President H. A. Schlitz is well pleased with the results of the quiet campaign that has been carried on, and believes unusual success has been attained with the amount of prospect cards worked on. An effort will be made to conclude the campaign by April 3. The chamber now has approximately 400 industrial and individual memberships.

A Dodge coupe belonging to Earl Velin, 802 N. Oneida street, was stolen from Soldiers Square sometime between 9 and 10 o'clock Thursday evening. The car is a 1926 model bearing the 1930 license number D-89-712. No trace had been found of the car up to 10 o'clock Friday morning.

The cost of conducting the primary election in Appleton on March 17 was $1,152, according to figures compiled by City Clerk Carl Becher. There were but 4,364 votes cast, making the cost of each slightly over 26 cents.

Appleton High school chorus will present a program at Green Bay on Friday, April 17, as the last of three concerts given by the Fox River Valley Musical Festival association this winter. The chorus is directed by Jay I. Williams. The first concert was held at the Roosevelt Junior high school in Appleton, and the second at Oshkosh last Friday evening.

The weekly rehearsal of the valley council boy scout drum and bugle corps was abandoned this week owing to the fact that many of the members of the corps participated in the cantata presented by the Roosevelt Junior high school and St. Theresa school students at the Memorial chapel. The rehearsal will be held on Wednesday evening next week.

John Normile, Kaukauna, was sent to jail for ten days by Judge Theodore Berg in municipal court this morning for being drunk. He was arrested by Assistant Chief of Police J. E. McFadden at Kaukauna.

ROOSEVELT SCHOOL NOTES

By Jean C. Owen

J. Adams Puffer of Boston, who is spending two weeks in the city, addressed the student body and faculty of Roosevelt school. In this talk he stressed the value of giving all possible attention to the choice of one's life work. During the course of the talk he gave several factors which would help determine the right type of work.

The Dramatic club dramatized several one-act plays; the Chef club mastered several appetizing dishes; the Debate club held a number of debates; the Fine Arts club made some attractive posters; Gift club made novelties, and Handicraft club made some pretty reed baskets. The Aero club is sponsoring an airplane contest to be held the last week of school. Three types of planes can be entered: the stick model, the commercial model and the scale model. Prizes are to be awarded in each event.

School closed for the spring vacation on Thursday as the northeastern teachers' convention at Oshkosh is today.

Kimberly News

The village board and Kimberly water commission held a joint meeting Wednesday to work out details of the proposed new village hall. This meeting was adjourned from March 18. The board decided not to select or purchase a site until the voters have given their decision concerning the hall. The water commission signed a petition to pay to the general fund of the village, on demand, $18,000 surplus earnings from the department. The board adopted a resolution to place a referendum before the people of the village at a special election to be held soon after the local charter election for the purpose of settling the question of the erection of a new village hall.

Twenty-two candidates running for various offices in the village have placed their nomination papers on file with the village clerk. Names which will appear on the village ticket are: for president, Joseph Doerfler; trustees, John Bernardy, Henry J. Kilsdonk, Martin Van Heeswyk, Henry Van Dyke, Joseph Kuborn, Peter Hofacker, Ferdinand Harp, William Senecal; clerk, Paul A. Lockschmidt, Louis Thein; treasurer, L. Otto Mauthe, Ben J. "Seventeen," Booth Tarkington's incomparable story of youth, love, and summertime, will be presented by the Kimberly high school April 7 and 8, under the direction of Miss Winnifred Lynch. The play has been presented successfully by high schools and colleges all over the country. Several of the characters in the Kimberly production have had previous experience in dramatics and the rehearsals indicate a successful presentation. The play deals with a love-sick young man of seventeen summers whose chief delight seems to be to play the eager swain of a baby-talking doll-faced girl who has set the entire opposite sex agog by her appearance in the town. Despite the dress suit, which happens to be his father's, his sisters' interference in their brother's business, and the competition he gets from his friends, "Seventeen" wades through triumphantly. Humor pervades the entire play.

The Home Economics girls of the Kimberly school entertained the football and basketball boys at a 6 o'clock dinner Wednesday. Mr. Roberts, Mr. Harper and Buck LeMay gave short talks.

Joseph Jacobson, Kaukauna, who is charged with failing to stop and give assistance after injuring pedestrians, will probably not be tried for several weeks. The trial date of March 24 was deferred to April 2, but at that time will again be postponed owing to inability of the defendant's attorneys to be here. Clifford and Dilweg are representing Jacobson, who is at liberty under bond. Jacobson is alleged to have struck Mr. and Mrs. John Skalmusky as the couple was walking along the highway near the Holy Cross cemetery entrance several weeks ago. Mrs. Skalmusky sustained a fractured skull and her husband suffered minor injuries.

A Message To The Voters Of Outagamie County

The Honorable Theodore Berg, Municipal Judge, was born in Appleton, Wisconsin, January 24, 1875. He graduated from Appleton High School, received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Wisconsin in 1898, his Bachelor of Laws degree from the University of Wisconsin Law School in 1900 and was admitted to the bar of this state the same year. After 25 years of practice, during which he served three terms as city attorney, he was appointed Judge of the Municipal Court of Outagamie County to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge Albert M. Spencer, and took office on the 25th day of July, 1925.

Since that time Judge Berg has discharged his judicial duties with such uniform regularity, courtesy, fairness and ability as to win the commendation of all observers. The following figures, compiled from the official court records, indicate the tremendous volume of cases handled by Judge Berg during his incumbency:

Cases Disposed Of In Municipal Court During Incumbency Of Judge Berg

	Lower Branch	Upper Branch	Total
July 25, 1925 to January 1, 1926	581	113	694
January 1, 1926 to January 1, 1927	942	263	1205
January 1, 1927 to January 1, 1928	1236	286	1522
January 1, 1928 to January 1, 1929	1017	305	1322
January 1, 1929 to January 1, 1930	1054	338	1392
January 1, 1930 to January 1, 1931	1063	359	1422
January 1, 1931 to March 1, 1931	108	68	174
Totals	5999	1732	7731

throughout the county, civil jurisdiction, both at law and in equity, to $50,000, and criminal jurisdiction in all cases except homicides. During Judge Berg's term it has disposed of 7731 cases and administered more than $64,000 in fines, costs and officer's fees. The business of the Municipal Court is so constant and so voluminous that it is in daily session from 9 a. m. until 5 p. m. throughout the year. Its calendar is regularly filled for more than a month in advance. 1732 of its cases, during Judge Berg's term, have been upper branch cases requiring the same procedure and involving the same judicial duties as cases brought in the Circuit Courts of the state.

Of this number of cases handled by Judge Berg, only 23 were appealed to the Supreme Court. Of the decisions so appealed, 16 were affirmed, the appeal from one was dismissed, and only 6 were reversed. This outstanding record compares most favorably with that of any other judge in the state.

This court is now presided over by a judge of established ability, integrity and industry. His outstanding record, his proven ability, his long experience are public assets which should be conserved in the interests of public welfare and economy.

The importance of the Municipal Court as a unit in our judicial system can hardly be over-emphasized. It has jurisdiction of all ordinance violations, justice court jurisdiction

The arduous duties and dignity of his office do not permit him to make a campaign in person. Today and every day, he is serving you at the courthouse.
