"LOAN OF A LOVER"

FARCE TO BE PRESENTED AT LIBRARY HALL, DEC 19.

Under Auspices of Self-Government Association—Strong Cast of Characters.

December 19 at Library Hall a farce comedy entitled "The Loan of a Lover" will be given under the auspices of the ladies of the Self Government Board. Those who will appear in the cast are W. H. Pyre, Miss Anne Scribner, Miss Henrietta Pyre, E. D. Jenner and Donald A. MacDonald. The farce is an exceptionally good one and contains many touches of originality which are bound to make it a great success.

Between the acts of the play, music will be furnished by Nitschke's orchestra and the Girls' Glee Club. An admission fee of 25 cents will be charged to defray the expenses of an Art Exhibit which will be given by the Self Government Board. This exhibition will take place from January 7 to 12 and will be held on the third floor of the new Library building.

Miss Stillman, president of the board, states that considerable expense will be incurred in getting up this collection of art gems and for that reason a large attendance at the play is desired. The exhibit will consist of oil paintings, water-colors and reproductions of famous Italian pictures. These will be obtained from Chicago, Milwaukee and other points. It is the intention of the board to make this exhibition free to the public.

JOINT DEBATE COMING

TAKES PLACE IN LIBRARY HALL DECEMBER 14.

Both Teams Ready for Contest—Income Tax to be Discussed—Much Interest in Outcome.

The interest manifested in the Joint Debate is rising higher and higher as the time approaches when this important question is to be debated.

Both teams are beginning to get their arguments in order for delivery. They are at present selecting judges to act on the debate, but up to the present time they have not yet come to any definite conclusion.

The question to be debated is, "That the adoption of a general income tax levied by U. S. Government is contrary to the best interest of the nations; it being mutually conceded the government stands in need of revenue; that such a tax would be constitutional; that it become a law; that it remain in operation at least fifteen years; that it be under an efficient civil service; and that an inheritance tax shall not be available for federal purposes."

Philomathia has the affirmative, and Hesperia has the negative of the question.

The debaters are A. V. Smith of Waukesha, Solomon Heubner of Manitowoc and J. E. Brindley of Madison, representing Hesperia.

The men that compose the Philomathian team are P. W. Boehm of Wausau, N. T. Hancock of Tomah and L. G. Lohr of Milwaukee.

Hesperia, who won from Athenae last year, will compete against Philomathia. Philomathia which is the youngest society on the "hill" will do her best to win the laurels from Hesperia, who by her last year's victory has a great deal of confidence and support back of her.

Handball Tournament.

The handball tournament was continued again yesterday. A great deal of interest is shown in these games which is manifested by the fact that many spectators may be seen standing beside the handball court while these games are being played. Smith and Taylor, seniors, played against Peterson and Stover, seniors, yesterday, resulting in a victory for Smith and Taylor.

Gaffin and Minahan, sophomores, played against Leighton and Erickson. The latter succeeded in winning three out of five games. The games played today were as follows:

Best and Kelsey, freshmen against Adamson and Kress.

Gust and Angell against Curtis and Mabbitt.

Egyptian Mathematical Papyrus.

Professor Slichter will discuss the contents of the oldest extant mathematical book before the Mathematical Seminary, Wednesday at 4 o'clock in room 120, Library building. All students, especially those intending to teach mathematics, will be welcome at this meeting.

TRACK WORK BEGINS

WINTER TRAINING STARTED LAST NIGHT.

Dates Fixed for Dual Meets—Home Field-day, May 11—Intercollegiate, June 7.

Many track candidates responded to the call of Coach Kilpatrick for the indoor work this winter. Nearly all of the old men have reported for work, but the showing of the new candidates is rather light therefore Coach Kilpatrick wishes to say again that any man who has ever taken part in track athletics should report to him at the gymnasium in the afternoon, each day from 2:30 until 6 o'clock.

From the present indications, we will have to develop the last year's team and all old men should make it a point to enter into this fall training. As has been stated Chicago and Illinois have many good new men, and in order to develop a team to beat them, we will have to put forth every effort.

An indoor track team will be sent to the Central A. A. U. to be held in Milwaukee the first week in March, while meets will be arranged with Beloit and other colleges in the meantime.

Coach Kilpatrick wishes to say that the dates for the spring meets have been arranged. The annual spring meet of the University will be held May 11. Illinois will be at Madison May 18, and will meet Chicago at Chicago May 25. The team will then enter the Inter-collegiate meet at Chicago June 7.

The management wishes to state further that if we make a creditable showing at the Inter-collegiate meet at Chicago, the team will be taken to the Pan-American Exposition to be held at Buffalo, New York. This fact alone should induce all persons who have any ability in that direction to come out and reap the benefits of a consistent indoor training.

Short Course Students Arrive.

The members of the second year class in the Short Course in Agriculture will reach here today and tomorrow. Then after getting their boarding places and rooms selected they will start for Chicago where they will attend the Live Stock show. Prof. Carlyle is already at Chicago making the necessary arrangements for their coming. Prof. Carlyle will make arrangements so that the students will be able to make a thorough inspection of the stock yards and packing houses thus making the trip as profitable as possible. About 100 students will take advantage of this trip and receive credit for the work.

Washburn Observatory.

The telescope will be pointed at the moon tomorrow night. If the weather permits, some interesting facts are to be observed.

JASTROW'S BOOK—"FACT AND FABLE IN PSYCHOLOGY."

Essays On Occultism, Spiritualism and Hypnotism—Discusses Their Psychological Significance.

"Fact and Fable in Psychology" is the title of a recently published volume of essays by Professor Jastrow of the University of Wisconsin. Though the essays have already appeared (in part) in Scribner's, Harper's, The Popular Science Monthly and other magazines, their revision and publication in book-form is a welcome contribution to the literature of psychology.

Misconceptions have arisen in psychology for the simple reason that "fact and fable" have become so closely interwoven that they are no longer distinguishable from each other by the uncritical observer. "Misconceptions in psychology, as in other realms, are as often the result of bad logic as of defective observation, and both are apt to be called into being by inherent mental prepossessions. Some of the essays are more especially occupied with an analysis of the defective logic which lends plausibility to and induces credence in certain beliefs; others bring forward contributions to an understanding of phenomena about which misconception is likely to arise; still others are presented as psychological investigations which, it is believed, command a somewhat general interest."

The nature of these "apparently irregular phenomena of the mental world" to which Professor Jastrow refers is obvious from the titles of the essays: The Modern Occult; The Problems of Psychical Research; The Psychology of Spiritualism; Hypnotism and its Antecedents, etc.

The essay on the Modern Occult gives an historical survey of Occultism and discusses Theosophy, Spiritualism, Alchemy, Astrology and Phrenology together with Christian Science and other forms of occult healing. The second essay deals with Psychical Research, its problems, its attitude, its interests, its relation to psychology and its investigations in hypnotism, subconscious activities, hallucinations and telepathy. The Logic of Mental Telegraphy gives a remarkably clear and logical discussion of thought-transference. The Psychology of Deception shows the role played by suggestion, expectation and distraction of attention in sleight-of-hand exhibitions. The Psychology of Spiritualism exposes the devices employed at seances and points out the psychological factors to which the medium has recourse to dupe his audience. Hypnotism and its Antecedents traces the history of hypnotism in the various forms of ancient mental healing, mesmerism, animal magnetism, Braidism, etc., and shows the significance throughout of unconscious suggestion. The Natural History of Analogy treats of the prevalence of analogy in superstitions and folk-lore, in the interpretation of dreams and the telling of fortunes, and discusses analogy in relation to mental evolution. A Study of Involuntary Movements is based upon a series of experiments conducted in the psychological laboratory of the University of Wisconsin; the relation Continued on fourth page.

Indoor Track Work.

The beginning of track work marks the commencement of a series of pleasant and profitable indoor meetings. Besides keeping up the interest in athletics during an otherwise dull season this preliminary work, although not very severe, results in a great deal of real benefit to the candidates. The importance of doing this work cannot be overestimated. Many a man who has no decidedly marked athletic ability has developed into a very fair performer by working faithfully during the winter. The opportunities for individual attention from the coaches are greatest at this time of the year and new men ought to realize this and profit by it. Since this work can be substituted for the regular gym work, it entails no expenditure of extra time and cannot be otherwise than of the greatest benefit both to the individual and his college.

R. Palmer, J. C. King and A. A. Nicholais of the senior class in engineering were in Oshkosh during the Thanksgiving recess preparing charts and getting general information upon the inter-urban street railway between Oshkosh, Neenah, Appleton, Menasha, and Kaukauna. The electrical test of the system will be carried on during the Christmas recess. These men will write their theses upon this subject under the general instruction of Prof. Swenson of the Engineering department.

The outlook for the Agricultural College is very bright. Not less than 300 have applied for admission into the short course and everything is in readiness to receive them. The faculty are looking forward to one of the most successful years' work in the history of the College of Agriculture.

High School Department.PRIZE OFFERED.

By Badger Board to High Schools. The Literary committee of the 1902 Badger Board has decided to present a 1902 Badger to the high school student who presents the best literary contribution for this year's annual. Address contributions to W. F. Moffatt, 360 Langdon St., Madison.

This contest is open to all high schools and the Board hopes that the high school students will take advantage of the offer. All contributions must be in by Jan 1.

Waupun.

The Waupun High School has at present an enrollment of one hundred and eighteen pupils. The courses are: Modern Classical, German, English and General Science, all accredited at the University.

The year is divided into two semesters of 19 weeks each, and examinations are held at the end of each semester unless the pupil is exempt by a standing of 90.

The corps of teachers is composed of G. F. Loomis, principal, Miss Lovilla Mosher assistant principal, and Mrs. Bliss and Miss Susie Lowell as assistants.

Our library is composed of some 1,200 volumes. The laboratory is well equipped with physical apparatus also simple and compound microscopes for use in botany classes.

A football team was organized this fall with good material. There has been some trouble in securing games only three having been played this year. The first was against Wayland Academy, second on home grounds, which resulted in a tie. The second a return game at Beaver Dam resulting in a victory for Waupun, score 6 to 0. The third game with Beaver Dam High School on home grounds, Beaver Dam was defeated. Score 22 to 0.

of involuntary movements to muscle-reading (so-called thought-reading) is indicated. But space will not permit an enumeration of all the topics of the essays.

Professor Jastrow adopts what may be called a "common sense" attitude towards the pseudo-mysterious in psychology. He shows that the action of ordinary natural forces amply suffices to explain phenomena which for generations were held to be manifestations of the occult and the supernatural; and he points out the psychological principles to which the tricks and mechanical devices of conjurers, spiritualists, and divine healers owe their success. Not only does the character of the subject-matter make the volume intensely interesting; Professor Jastrow's reputation as a psychologist—it may be remarked that he is President of the American Psychological association—invests his essays with an additional interest.

Thanksgiving Day at the Hall.

Mrs. Comly, matron of Ladies' Hall, gave a banquet to the Hall girls on Thanksgiving afternoon. About sixty of the Hall girls and their guests were present. The decorations were in pink. The tables were arranged in the form of a star and ornamented with pink candles and satin. The center-piece was a large bowl of chrysanthemums, and at the corners were pink candy straws tied with satin ribbon.

The banquet was followed by a few toasts presided over by Miss Agnes Merrill. The toasts were as follows:

"The Cardinal," Miss Foley.

"What are We Thankful for," Miss White.

"The Men," Miss Ballard.

"Priscilla, Old and New," Miss Kratz.

"The Freshmen," Miss Post.

The evening was spent in dancing and games in the gym.
