BADGER CRITIC SAYS 1922 BOOK IS FAULTLESS

Annual Typifies Inter-relation of State and University

By CARSON F. LYMAN

Criticisms and suggestions for improvement are such popular reactions, among human beings in general and university students in particular, toward any undertaking successfully carried out, that when a piece of work is done so thoroughly that the average layman is forced to pronounce it faultless, the situation is little short of marvelous.

The 1922 Badger is as nearly faultless in its content and appearance as the most critical judge of year-book publications could wish it. One would be at a loss to venture any proposals to make the book a better one, unless he were so greedy as to suggest that the 750 pages which the book contains were not enough, but were so fascinating that he would like to see just twice as many.

Dedicated to the state of Wisconsin The Badger typifies in a pictorial and literary way the interrelation and unity of that commonwealth to its highest educational institution. Just how every school and department of the university is dependent upon the state for its success, and an idea of how much the state owes them in return for its progress in agriculture, business, medicine, engineering and culture is exemplified by illustrations and explained rhetorically by some of the state's most prominent men. Chief Justice Marvin B. Rosenberry, Frank W. Hoard, Walter J. Kohler, Arthur T. Holbrook, Magnus, Swenson, and Governor John J. Blaine.

RE-ELECT PURNELL TO HEAD HARESFOOT

William H. Purnell '22 was re-elected president of the Haresfoot club at the annual meeting held last night in the Haresfoot loft in the Union building. David J. Mahoney '22 was elected vice-president, Reginald W. Garstang '22, secretary, and Thomas A. Tredwell '23 was chosen treasurer.

Carl E. Bronson '22 was re-elected manager of the club, and will head the production staff for the twenty-fourth annual musical comedy which will tour the state next spring. Walter K. Schwinn '22 was re-elected publicity director, and keeper of the Haresfoot.

Plans for the writing of the book and music for the next amateur play will be made by a play committee, headed by Wells Carberry '22, and consisting of I. M. Ramsdell '23, and Hubert F. Townsend '23. This committee will make plans for the annual prize contest, and will conduct the reading of the plays.

CARDINAL BOARD MEETS
The Cardinal Board of Control will meet today at 1:00 sharp in the Union building. Editorial writers are requested to be present.

COLD, BUT HOT

Heroine in Play Freezes Before Sweltering Audience

"Are you cold, Johnson?"

"Nearly frozen."

"Here, pull this fur coat around you."

Last night while everyone was sweltering with the heat, James Brader '23, William Tannewitz '23, Donald Marvin '22, and Harold Benson '24 at the joint-production meeting were presenting a one-act play, "The Brink of Silence", with the scenes laid in the region of ice and snow and the Antarctic circle.

The story is that of an explorer, Darton, played by James Brader, who was thought lost in his last expedition. As his wife had married again, believing him dead, he refused to return to civilization and remained hidden in this depressing region with one companion, Mac Ready, played by Don Marvin.

Both Brader and Marvin portrayed their roles excellently, giving vividly the feeling of the atmosphere and the oppression of that dreaded silence and the effect it had upon them.

Two strangers who enter seeking warmth turn out to be young Dalton, played by Harold Benson, and his companion, Johnson, played by Tannewitz.

Darton had finally succeeded in the expedition in which his father failed, and he told of his success, not knowing that it is his father he is speaking to.

The father does not give in to the temptation to reveal his identity and the play ends with the words "Isn't it funny? He called me Mr. Cole!"

BALL SQUAD PLAYS ILLINI

Second Game With Suckers Staged at Urbana Today

A short batting practice yesterday put the Wisconsin baseball team on edge for its important game with Illinois at Urbana today. Smith, freshman southpaw, served his left-handed slants to the Badger batters to accustom them to the delivery of "Lefty" Barnes, Illinois hurler, who will probably pitch against Wisconsin today.

Coach Guy S. Lowman left for Urbana yesterday afternoon at 4:10 with thirteen members of the baseball squad. The men remained in Chicago last night and will arrive in Urbana a short time before the game begins.

Either Forrest G. Paddock '23 or Herbert O. Christianson '23 will pitch for Wisconsin this afternoon. Paddock failed to tame the Illini batters last Saturday because of the cold weather. The sophomore star is a warm weather pitcher, and if conditions are favorable today, Coach Lowman will give the hurling assignment to him. Christianson is also in condition to pitch a full game and he will be held in reserve. Allan Davey '21 will be in the catcher's position.

Wisconsin presents the same lineup in the second contest against Illinois as in the first game, with the exception of one position. Carl F. Ceaser '22, whose ankle was injured by a ground ball in the second inning of last Saturday's game, will be replaced in left field by Rolland

PLAN BANQUET FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC ATHLETES MAY 28

High School Men to See Baseball Game and Venetian Night

Entertaining the entire group of high school men after the state interscholastic track meet, May 28, with a banquet at the university Y. M. C. A. is the latest feature added to the entertainment list for the Inter-scholastic week end by the committee. University "W" men, old Wisconsin athletes, and the Inter-scholastic committee will attend the banquet, which is being planned by Willard Duncan '21. Entertainment, consisting of four acts, will be given by the Haresfoot club, under the direction of William H. Purnell '22.

The banquet will be held immediately after the track meet, and the prizes for the meet will be awarded at the dinner. Every high school man is expected to attend. The visitors will see the Venetian night parade directly after the banquet.

Free tickets to the Chicago baseball game, as well as admittance to the canoe tournament Saturday morning, and a trip around the lake are other features of the entertainment that the high school visitors will receive.

The fraternities on the campus are making the arrangements for keeping the men over night and for all meals. Dexter Brown '22, assisted by Eliot Kiser '22 is in charge of this work, which will make complete arrangements for the 150 high school men who will visit the university for the track meet.

"WISCONSIN LIFE" IS PRESENTED IN PICTORIAL REVIEW

1922 Badger Catches Cross-section View of Students at Work and Play

In a pictorial review of the broader aspects of Wisconsin activities, the "Wisconsin Life" section of the 1922 Badger catches the wide range of opportunities which the university offers for student energy.

The pages cover in cross-sections of the campus the student at work and at play. Classroom and laboratory work go hand in hand with the extra-curricular activities connected with the Varsity Welcome, the annual Homecoming celebration, the spirit rife at Election day, and the various phases of out-door life which Wisconsin offers both in winter and summer. A group of pictures of those alumni who have gone out into many fields of service to represent the university in their work is included in this section. A sweeping vista of the campus from the steps of Bascom hall concludes these pages.

Pages devoted to the publications of the university and headed with typical copies of the magazines and papers published throughout the year, contain an idea of the scope which Wisconsin journalists cover in presenting varied news and features to the satisfaction of many tastes. The Activities section gives recognition to all phases of life, some of which are merely touched under "Wisconsin Life." The symmetry of effect carried out in these pages is indicative of the high standard of artistic production carried out from cover to cover, in the opinion of the faculty advised. There is a distinctive touch given to a section which often resulted in the mere routine handling of organizations and events.

DISTRIBUTION OF BADGERS STARTS TODAY

Annual Will be Given Out at Music Hall 8 A. M. to 5 P. M.

As promised yesterday, the 1922 Badger is here and distribution will continue throughout today and tomorrow from 8 until 5. Due to the break down of the car in which the Badgers were shipped they have been unavoidably delayed for three days, the original distribution day having been set for Tuesday May 17. As it is, they are here three weeks sooner than last year.

"Have your stubs and cash or checks ready," declared "Cap" Rasmussen. "Thus we will be able to get the Badgers distributed with much greater speed. We have practically a pay as you enter plan of distribution and hope to get most of the 5,000 Badgers distributed today."

The distribution scheme follows: Purchasers will enter Music hall at the north door, that is the one leading out on the hill, and exit through the south door. Those who have paid for their Badger in full, either the $4.50 this semester or the $5.00 the second will present their stubs at a table placed at the farther door above which signs will be placed dividing this group into three sections as follows: A-E, F-N, O-Z. After the stubs have been stamped they must be presented and filed in order to obtain the Badgers themselves.

Those who have paid only the $1 deposit will present stubs at tables placed under the balcony dividing the purchasers into the following groups: A-C, D-G, H-K, L-N, O-R, S, T-Z. The balance due and the receipted stubs must then be presented at the table at the other side of the auditorium where the Badgers will be given out.

MENORAH BANQUET RESERVATIONS DUE

Reservations for the tenth annual Menorah banquet to be held at the Woman's building tomorrow night must be made by noon today at Badger 3019.

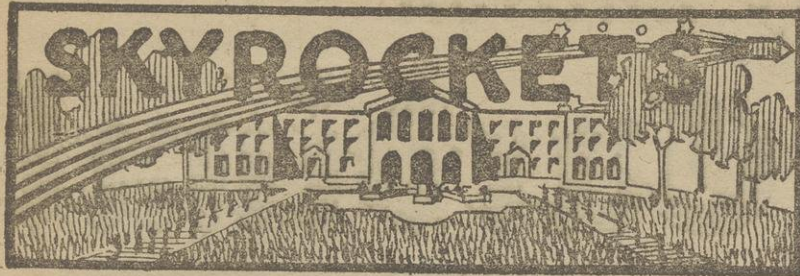

The committee in charge sent out about sixty invitations to alumni last week, and judging from the replies received to date over 100 members and alumni will attend.

President I. I. Rotter, '21, will preside as toastmaster. Lieut. Levinson, prominent Chicago attorney, former vice-president of the inter-collegiate organization and a Yale graduate will be the speaker of the evening. Short toasts will be given by Prof. B. H. Schlomovitz, of the Marquette Medical school, Prof. L. B. Wolfenson, and I. A. Perstein, '21.

MEMORIAL UNION FUND INCREASED

The University of Wisconsin Memorial Union building fund was enriched to the extent of $232.31 this week by a donation from the Gun and Blade club. The amount represents half of the proceeds from the club's recent musical show "The Maid and the Middy."

The Memorial fund also received a donation of $372.35 from the Engineers' Minstrels which gave a performance some months ago.

AT last we know what we are going to major in. After a fling at Engineering, English, and Economics, it appears that a major in the University Catalogue would be as representative a course as possible. We know it by heart, now, almost.

As mentioned in the col. a day or two ago, MISS PRINT offers to answer any questions on beauty, health, or manners in society. Here is the first bit of interrogation sent in:

Dear Miss Print:

I am only a Kappa and therefore not very sophisticated, but on the advice a young lady who has already received one of your confidential doses of heart-balm, I am coming to you for aid.

1. Is it proper to put one's elbows on the counter at Lawrence's?
2. Should one describe the Sig Chi formal while attending a Chi Psi party?
3. How should a girl act when a boy is holding her arm and they meet Dean Nardin?

ALL EARS.

Dear All Ears:

1. The recklessness of it overbalances the propriety of the act.
2. Yes, if you have no regard for your evening gown.
3. Don't worry, All Ears, that's the man's business.

"I'm flat on my back," said a young man, after the steam roller had passed over him.

BADGER SATIRE SECTION REALLY SAYS SOMETHING

By the Skyrocket Ed.

Written in the manner of regular Badger copy, the Satire section of the 1922 Badger, edited by A. Donald Marvin, is a running satire, real satire, on the upniversity life and activities. From the lovely title page of the three co-eds entering the Libe with books under their arms, but with smiles on their lips, to the final jests sprinkled among the advertisements, the whole section maintains a fine sense of humor and wit, rarely overstepping the bounds of good taste, and with no risque or suggestive situations exposed.

We find the usual cracks taken at the Deans, the Dead-ication, and the Senior section. Follows a page of "Campus Fixtures," and then the sports section, with the Hookey team, and a page of bathing beauties. Among the activities we find S. G. A. considered, the stage, with a real Haresfoot show in operation, and the Junior Promenade. Pan-Hellenic receives its full share of praise and blame.

A rather new note is struck in campus triangles, while the advantages of fraternity life are flamboyantly exhibited. From then on the section runs into squibs, pictures, and sketches, all written with a good sense of satire, and all really saying something. Which is, all in all, rather new.

JAPS BEAT NORTHWESTERN

Waseda university, Japan, won the second baseball game of its American tour from Northwestern university, by a score of 17 to 1.

The Japs made 14 hits during the game to two for Northwestern. Kubota, Waseda's shortstop, made two triples, three singles and a base on balls in eight times at bat. The Northwestern nine made six errors contributing materially to the Jap tallies.

ALUMNI CLUB HELPS STUDENTS GET JOBS

A welfare committee has been appointed by the Wisconsin Alumni club of Chicago to help Wisconsin graduates to secure positions in Chicago.

"This committee," says Edwin C. Austin '22, chairman, "will exercise its best efforts to help any graduate or undergraduate who intends to come here in June or next fall, and we hope that the students will feel free to avail themselves of the committee's offices."

All students who are interested in securing a position in Chicago should write as soon as possible to Edwin C. Austin, 11 S. LaSalle street, Chicago, giving their age, previous residence, class, the degree they are seeking, the nature of the work desired, and any practical experience they may have had.

BADGER DESCRIBES ORGANIZATION IN SPECIAL SECTION

A typical view of student organizations, their nature and functions is presented in the "Student Organization" section of the 1922 Badger. A better portrayal of campus life could hardly be presented.

To portray the things worth while in college and their rewards is the chief function which this section performs. Phi Beta Kappa is justly given the honor position in the listing of the organizations. Following the lighter moods of the student come the organizations of fraternities and sororities, and the organizations of a chiefly social nature. Clubs organized by students having common interests such as the Norwegian club, the Philippine club, and the Southern club, are also described.

WASHINGTON—Appointment of James M. Beck, New York, as solicitor general, was announced Thursday by Atty. Gen. Daugherty.

ANNUAL EGG SHOW IS OPENED TODAY

The second annual university Egg show under the direction of the Poultry club will open today at the poultry building of the College of Agriculture. The exhibition will continue tomorrow.

Exhibitions from commercial producers and demonstration farms from various parts of the state will be shown. High school clubs and students will also have exhibits to compete for prizes and ribbons. D. H. Reid and O. N. Johnson, of the Poultry department, will act as judges.

TRACK SQUAD MEETS ILLINI AT CHAMPAIGN

Badger Team in Most Important Event of Season Today

What will be the most important dual track meet for the Wisconsin track squad will be held this afternoon when the Badgers meet Illinois at Urbana. Twenty track and field men left yesterday afternoon at 4:10 for Chicago. The men will arrive in Urbana this morning.

Illinois has a clean record of victories on the track. The Illini are rated as Big Ten indoor track champions, and have an intercollegiate champion and a Big Ten record holder on the squad. Brede holds the intercollegiate record in the javelin throw. He heaved the spear 192 feet 9 inches against Michigan last Saturday. Dewey Alberts, Illini high jumper, holds the conference high jump record. Coach Harry Gill has molded together a well-balanced combination of field and track men on his 1921 outdoor squad. The Illini defeated Michigan last Saturday 82 to 65.

Coach Thomas E. Jones has entered a Wisconsin track team that has reached its best form. Every Badger runner and field man, is in top-notch condition for the biggest dual meet of the season. Albert J. Knollin '22, holder of the conference indoor high hurdles record, has been clearing the sticks in championship fashion. He is entered in the 100 yard dash also. Capt. Clyde Nash '21 is one of the best half-milers in the conference, and Mark H. Wall '22 has clipped 2 seconds off the mark hung up by three Illinois milers in the Michigan meet. The Badger squad will be represented by strong entrants in every event. In the field events, Guy M. Sundt '22 will throw the javelin, and put the shot. He is also entered in the broad jump which event he won from Illinois last year. In the quarter-mile run, Paul D. Kayser '21 will meet a strong combination in Donohue, Fields, Schlappizzi, and Sweet.

"Wisconsin has a fighting chance to beat Illinois," said Coach Jones yesterday. "Every event will be closely contested. While Illinois appears to have the edge on us in the field events, the Badger runners may overbalance this advantage. Illinois is reputed to have the best dual meet track team in the country. However, every Wisconsin man is in excellent shape and prepared to give Illinois a hard battle."

CRITIC CALLS 1922 BADGER FAULTLESS

and make-up. The art work is exceptional and includes colored reproductions of nine elaborate paintings, beautiful color printing, clear-cut engravings made from unusually good photographs, and cleverly designed ink drawings.

Originality is the keynote of every department and section. There is of course the same system of organization used by all year-books, yet details of arrangement, design, engraving, and make-up are so totally different and new, that one can find little reproduction of former volumes.

The natural beauty and appeal of the University of Wisconsin is set forth in eight pages of elaborately printed photographs of familiar scenes. A second series of photos shows university departments and buildings in contrast to related fields of work throughout the state, and brings out the interdependence of one upon the other.

1,000 Seniors in Section

The senior section, to which 100 pages is devoted, contains the photographs and summaries of over 1,000 members of this year's graduating class. The page designs in this section are especially new and attractive. The field of activities is thoroughly covered with each department securing as much space as its importance and magnitude justifies.

A section new in Badger annals is that devoted entirely to Wisconsin Women. It is marked by a illustrations which are marvels of good photography and printing.

Wisconsin life is graphically reproduced in a pictorial section filled with photographs of campus events covering almost every phase of undergraduate activity, both in and out of the classroom. One picture of Jack Childs' work in China came all the way from that country just to be inserted in this department.

Athletics Has Recognition

Athletics for both men and women make up a large section of the book, but have no more space devoted to them than they deserve. The group of campus organizations, including honor societies, fraternities, sororities, and clubs have by far the largest section of any in the book with 178 pages devoted entirely to their photographs and personnels.

Faculty and student body alike are playfully "razed" in the Badger satire, the section designed to give campus characters and leaders an opportunity to see themselves as others see them. There is little of the risqué type of humor, yet the section can, without mincing adjectives, be called "spicy."

MAKES HIGH SCORE IN SWIMMING MEET

Josephine Snow '24 won first honors in the annual swimming try-outs at the department of physical education held Wednesday night. She made a grade of 94.

Anything is representative of another thing only so far as it is a true picture, and the 1922 Badger is therefore truly representative of the university. Editors, managers, and staff members have set a record with this book that challenges the efforts of future staffs. Credit, unstinted, is due them for unceasing effort which has resulted in a masterpiece production.

TODAY IS BADGER DAY

THE 1922 Badger is out today!

Important as our precious text-books may be as a general rule, today they will be relegated by common consent to a place of minor importance while the student body takes a day off to meander through the campus art gallery, the 1922 Badger.

The Badger is more than an art gallery. It is a graphic history of the activities of the university presented in an intimate, human manner, while at the same time it strikes a serious note.

The 1922 Badger has been called the "Year Book with a Mission." The mission of the present edition of the Badger is set forth in its foreward, which expresses the ideals of the editor as follows:

"The basic ideal of inter-related service is the foundation for the development of the University and the State of Wisconsin. Their advancement or retrogression is coincidental. Separated in their aims and aspiration, the result is a two-sided failure; united, their achievement is unrestrained.

With this in view, the 1922 Badger assumes for its mission the privilege of throwing light on a few vital points of contact, with the aim of establishing better coordination and crushing insidious rumors propagated by the misinformed. Wisconsin's progress through education depends upon a fine spirit of inter-appreciation and respect between the state and its highest institution of learning. The state gives continuous being to the university; it is for the university to return new life to the state.

The 1922 Badger believes in the university; it is its mission the privilege of throwing light on a few vital have been met in the various departments of the university. Agriculture has contributed power and impetus to state-wide farming; Law has developed a sound statesmanship; Commerce has left its mark in every business center; Medicine has provided a strong defense in Wisconsin against under-development and the inroads of disease; Letters and Science has brought wisdom and culture to the homes and institutions of the commonwealth; and Engineering has given to the state better bridges, factories, and roads, and, at the same time, developed the state's natural resources."

The 1922 Badger is a monumental achievement in which more than two hundred students have given their time and energy. That this staff has done a big job well will be the verdict of everyone who has occasion to see the book.

The Cardinal congratulates the editors of the Badger and their assistants on the mighty fine piece of work they performed in the production of this great book.

THE VIRTUE OF EXCUSES

ALL thinking men, college men in particular, are grappling with the roots of the social problem which now, more than ever, challenges the constructive forces of forward-looking minds. Professor Ellwood of the University of Missouri has struck the crux of the matter when he says in one of his much-discussed volumes that the social problem is the problem of living together.

Living together implies the exercise of intensely human virtues; it implies compromise, sympathy, and broad-heartedness. It implies also the art of excusing other people's shortcomings and foibles to ourselves. We are so often in the habit of excusing ourselves to other people that it is about time we began to excuse other people to ourselves. The art of living, in short, implies the art of forgiveness.

A fruitful phrase from a Roman poet may not here be amiss. It was Ansonius who said somewhere, "Forgive many things in others; nothing in yourself." More of the spirit epitomized in this classic thought, more warding off of self-conceived harms will contribute much to a more congenial campus life, indeed to a more congenial world life.

Each person lives in his own little sphere of struggle and in the stress of his activity and temporary maladjustment is liable to fail to conform to the ordinary every day courtesies. But let us not be too harsh. Let us not judge too severely the man who passes us on the street, absorbed as he may be in what not; nor him who may be abrupt in manner or jar us with his impatience. He means well.

Let us then learn the virtue of excuses, and we will get along a thousand-fold better.

BULLETIN BOARD

KANSAS FRATERNITIES

In a recent survey at Kansas University it has been found that less than one-third of the students are members of Greek letter fraternities. There are 664 men and 378 women who are members of social fraternities. The professional fraternities have a membership of 787 students. The survey also shows that the fraternity students are good students carrying a higher average than the non-fraternity men.

BAR INCREASE IN NAVAL BILL

Insurgents in U. S. Senate Show Strength in First Test Vote

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Republican insurgents allied with democrats leaped into control in the senate Wednesday and broke up the "regular" program calling for a $500,000,000 outlay for the navy next year.

On the first test of strength the insurgents demonstrated they are not only able to overthrow many of the naval affairs committee's recommendations, but that they can also muster sufficient votes to force the adoption of virtually any kind of a disarmament proposal they see fit.

They are not disposed to go to unreasonable extremes, their leaders declared. It is probable that they will go no further than adopting the Borah amendment, which requests the president to enter into negotiations with Great Britain and Japan for an agreement to curtail naval building.

After days of spirited debate the test between the factions came on the committee's recommendation increasing the house appropriation for recruiting, transportation, and other purposes from $3,500,000 to $4,500,000, a boost of $1,000,000. The line up follows:

For Increase.

Republicans—Ball, Bursum, Calder, Cameron, Colt, Edge, Elkins, Frelinghuysen, Ernst, Hale, Keyes, Lodge, McCumber, McKinley, Moses, Nelson, Newberry, Poindexter, Spencer, Stanfield, Sterling, Sutherland, Wadsworth, Watson (Ind.), Weller—26.

Cho-Cho, Famed Health Clown, To Speak Here Soon

Cho-Cho.

Cho Cho, the famous health clown, is the man whose boyhood has been described to the rural school children of Dane county by the county nurses, Miss Gertrude Burnson and Miss Mabel Danielson. He will appear, in person, at the Dane county rural commencement exercises in Madison, June 3.

Cho Cho was a model school boy when he was young. He lived with his grandmother, who taught him carefully all the rules of health. The complete story of his school days is told in the "Rhymes of Cho Cho's Grandmother," by Mrs. Frederick Peterson. At first, Cho Cho thought he wanted to be a farmer when he was older. But he enjoyed so much playing his game of health that he decided to teach other children the rules.

With droll antics and jolly jokes, he demonstrates the right way to eat, bathe, sleep, and brush the teeth. He tells of his wonderful visit to the country where he met his friend, the cow.

Boy Chess Wizard Plays With Children "Pawns"

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn.—Sammy Rzeschewski, eight year old wonder of the chess world arrived here Wednesday. He participated in a match with 14 local players, in which school children were used for the pawns upon a large board arranged in the auditorium.

If all men were to get what they deserve we should have to build more jails.

Johnson, Jones (Wash.), Kenyon, La Follette, Lenroot, McCormick, McNary, Phipps, Townsend, Willis—16.

Democrats—Ashurst, Broussard, Caraway, Dial, Glass, Harris, Heflin, Hitchcock, Jones (N. M.), Kendrick, King, McKellar, Overman, Owen, Ransdell, Reed, Robinson, Sheppard, Simmons, Stanley, Underwood, Watson (Ga.), Wolcott—23.

EDUCATORS PRAISE UNIVERSITY AFTER INSPECTION TRIP

President of Kentucky University Visits Campus With Special Party

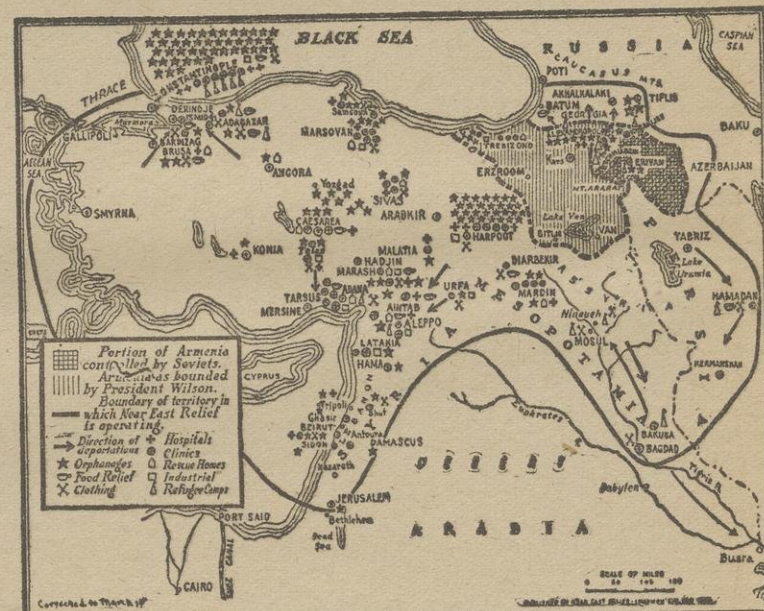

"The spirit of the University of Wisconsin is reflected in its interest in research for the good of the commonwealth," declared President Frank L. McVey of Kentucky university yesterday afternoon after an inspection tour over the campus. Mr. McVey was with the party of 25 men who are making an inspection tour of Ohio, Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin universities. All praised our university to its greatest extent. Gov. E. A. Morrow did not arrive in Madison with the delegation.

The party was entertained by the Madison club, Rotary club and visited the Agricultural college and campus in the afternoon.

CHICAGO—Judge K. M. Landis of the federal court Thursday refused to sentence William Zweyer, found guilty of robbery, because he appeared before him in the uniform of a U. S. soldier. Zweyer asked for leniency because of his record in the world war. The judge continued the case and cautioned him not to wear his uniform to court again.

The Newest Near East Geography

THE accompanying map aims to show the extent of the operations of Near East Relief and also by contrast how comparatively limited is the Armenian area in the Near East controlled by the Bolsheviks.

Wherever in the Near East there are destitute Armenians, Syrians, Greeks, Jews, Assyrians, or others, needy and oppressed, regardless of race or creed, there Near East Relief follows. From Constantinople to Bagdad, from Port Said to Baku, even into Persia, the protecting arms of Near East Relief have reached until today its work is far more extensive outside the country of Armenia than within.

Legion Head Defends Publicity for "Slackers"

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—A vigorous defense of the war departments action in giving widest publicity to the slacker lists is made by F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the American Legion. "Publication of the lists in newspapers is the only satisfactory means of protecting the innocent and punishing the guilty," Mr. Galbraith declared.

"That the slacker lists contain names of men who honorably served their country in the time of its greatest peril, only strengthens the conviction that the lists should be given the widest publicity."

KENTUCKIANS LAUD MADISON

Progressive Southerners Like Spirit Here; Guest of Rotarians

"The great spirit of progress shown by the activities of the university and the city of Madison," were lauded by a delegation of Kentuckians, including the state superintendent of public instruction and university officials, at the weekly luncheon of the Madison Rotary club at the Park hotel Thursday noon, at which they were guests. Gov. E. P. Morrow of Kentucky was unable to attend.

"Although we have not been here long enough to understand the university, we have nevertheless felt the great spirit of learning and progress for which Wisconsin is justly famous," declared President McVey, of the University of Kentucky, in a brief address. "We are here to find out what people are doing in other places, and if we can take the spirit of Wisconsin back with us, our journey will not have been in vain."

Other speakers included Dean Cooper of the college of agriculture of that state; George Colvin, superintendent of public instruction; Stanley Reed, delegate at large, and President E. A. Birge of the University of Wisconsin, who introduced the speakers.

Mr. Colvin, speaking of agriculture in Kentucky, said that originally Kentucky was the dairy center of the country, having been the home of the Shorthorn and the Jersey cattle in the early days. He said that tobacco is the leading crop of the state. More than 60,000,000 poundy of burley tobacco was grown there last year. The Kentuckians were taken through the capitol and visited the university again this afternoon. They will leave tonight.

EXPLAIN CHINA CHILDREN WILL

Unique Program Will Be Given Friday in Madison Church

A unique program to place the life of the Chinese plainly before Madison citizens will be presented Friday night at 7:45 in the Pilgrim Congregational church by the Jessie McKee Missionary circle of the Christ Presbyterian church. The program was to be given in Orton park but owing to the dampness will be given indoors.

Slides furnished by the University Extension division will be shown, and as each group of views is flashed they will be explained by the children. The lantern will be operated by three children, Franklin Clark, Gladys Van Nette and Preston Arthur, and the following children will act as "explainers":

Life on the Water Ways of China: Walter Miller, Paul Icke, Ellsworth Masby. How the Chinese Travel: Frederick Joachim, Margaret Rimmel, Helen Stutz. How the Chinese Trade: Donald Hastings, Henry Hall, Vance Seickler. How and What Chinese Eat: Virginia Ellis. How They Worship: Philip Icke. How They Bury Dead: Paul Icke.

Imagist Poetry Easy Prey To Parodists

"Imagist Poetry," was the subject of a lecture given Wednesday night at the city library by Miss Corinne Bacon, of New York city. The lecture was the third of a series on poetry given as part of a course in book selection at the library.

"Imagist poets," said Miss Bacon, "seek to express themselves in simple, direct language without the old stereotyped decorative forms. The work of this group falls an easy prey to parody." To illustrate this, Miss Bacon read a number of humorous parodies of imagist poems, and followed by reading humorous parodies by good natured critics.

LEGION HOLDS FESTIVAL HERE

Gala Week Beginning On May 30 Featured by One-Ring Circus

An American Legion Gala Week featuring a one-ring circus and carnival extraordinary will be staged by the Madison American Legion Post the week of May 30th.

Opening on the Illinois Central lot Bedford & Dayton streets, the night of May 30 and running through the week to June 4 former service men, members of the William B. Cairns Post will have under their auspices the L. J. Heth circus and shows.

In addition the Legionaires will give away an Oakland touring car of the very latest model and so far the only one of its kind in the state. The car is on exhibition at the Oakland garage.

A parade with two military bands of twenty pieces each will open the Legion's spring festival. Two free attractions staging one-death defying act and a beautiful exhibition of horsemanship will be shown twice daily.

The Heth shows that have been secured by the Legion for the big attraction of the week "showed" in Madison last year. Their all around cleanness won for them such commendation.

The show is much larger than last year having 16 attractions, as many rides and numerous other exhibitions and performances.

This Gala Week undertaken by the Legion is the first public activity undertaken by Madison servicemen. The former soldiers and sailors are planning on being able through the proceeds to fit up quarters for their Post.

Tickets for the automobile given away can be purchased at many stores around the Square or from any Legion member.

OCTOPUS BOARD ELECTS MEMBERS

Freshman Number Planned for Next Year at Meeting

The newly-chosen board of Octopus editors elected as members of next year's staff, Roman Bollenbeck '23, and Cecil Kirk '22, at their first meeting yesterday afternoon.

Bollenbeck is a sophomore in commerce and a member of Skull and Crescent, and Kirk is a junior in Engineering. Both men have contributed extensively to the Octopus.

The Freshman number of the Octopus coming out Wednesday of the second week next year, was planned. Contributions must be in by May 31. This course is rendered necessary because all copy has to be in the hands of the printer three weeks before beginning of school.

New features to be introduced next year were discussed, including the increase to 40 pages, and the introduction of a high school page every month. This will take the place of the entire number that many eastern schools devote to high schools, and will be made up of contributions from high school students throughout the state.

Members of the board follow: Paul Leach '22, Wells Carberry '23, Frank Gray '23, Edith Worthington '23, Pennell Crosby '22, Charles Demarest '23, Margaret Brabant '23, Charles F. Fitzimmons '23, and Horace Gregory '23.

PERFECT PRINT IS ACHIEVED IN 1922 YEAR BOOK

Unusual Balance and Artistic Effects Are Result of Care

"The 1922 Badger has been put out on a commercial basis," said Thomas Coxon, editor, speaking of the superior work which characterizes the printing processes of the year-book. "All of the work has been followed out from a commercial standpoint, thus assuring a perfect job of printing."

Every detail of printing and make-up in the Badger shows careful attention to details and the minute things which are so essential to the success of any publication. This extreme care and attention has resulted in a book that approaches the ideal of perfection. New methods of presenting the old and essential features give the book novelty.

One of the chief innovations in the printing work is the use of pictures worked out in four color processes. These pictures, used inside of borders, form the division sheets between the sections, and are an especially artistic feature of the book. They are printed by the use of a different plat for each set of colors.

Perfection Was Aim

The scenic section is nearly perfect in its construction. The register is perfect and no irregularities in color have occurred. All of the many sections are marked by perfect page balance, and each page is a single perfect unit, resulting in absolute symmetry.

Special credit must be given to F. W. Fitzgerald, superintendent of the Meyer-Rotier company, and E. A. Gustavson, who had charge of the page construction. It is only through their complete cooperation that the perfectly balanced sheet was achieved.

Another particular feature of the book is the especially engraved borders, each of which is a unit of four sides. They were printed in separate runs to insure perfect work.

The printing job in the 1922 Badger is the result of careful planning and attention to details, and the result is a degree of perfection that could scarcely be expected.

ORCHESTRA OFFERS UNUSUAL PROGRAM

The New York Philharmonic orchestra will give the following program next Monday evening at the university gymnasium:

Prelude to the Meistersingers — Wagner.

Rhapsody, The Culpit Fay — Henry Hadley.

Tone Poem, Death and Transfiguration — Strauss.

Symphony No. 4 — Tchaikowsky.

The orchestra is conducted by Joseph Stransky and Henry Hadley. It ranks according to Dr. Mills of the Music school, among the best three or four American orchestras.

Tickets are on sale at Smith's Music store, or may be obtained by mail order from L. J. Pickard, 429 Park street. Student prices are $1.50 and $1.00.

ORIGINAL POETRY IN COOKE TALK

Edmund Vance Cooke showed the importance of poetry in connection with every phase of life, in his talk last night at Music hall. The reading of several of his own poems, of which he has written a great variety, accompanied the lecture and forcibly illustrated his points.

Under the group which Mr. Cooke called "Impertinent poems" were three, Hush, Don't You, and Desire. "Little Tot poems" were: At the Concert, The Sin of the Coppenter Man, and Talk of the Two-Year-Old.

"Home Folks" poems were: Somebody Calls it Home, Father, and Plain Private. "Fragments of Philosophy" were Unverstaendlich, Fin de Siecle, and How Did You Die.

"Rimes of Real Religion" were: Heaven, Why de Debbil, and Fours. The group "Each for All" was illustrated by the selections The Uncommon Commoner, and Mother Goes a-Marching.

Mr. Cooke was entertained after the lecture at a luncheon given by the Forensic board at the University club. The Madison high school had hoped to have him stay over till today and repeat his lecture of last evening, but other engagements made this impossible, as he left early this morning.

BAND GIVES SECOND OPEN AIR CONCERT

The second open air concert was given last night by the First Regimental band. A large and very enthusiastic audience attended.

"The students and people of Madison are evidently well pleased with our concert," said Major E. W. Morphy, the conductor, "for there were many more out than there were last week. These are the first out-door concerts that have been given by the University band for several years."

The following selections were presented: "Stars and Stripes Forever," Sousa; Vorspeigel to the opera "Die Meistersinger," Wagner; "My Isle of Golden Dreams," Blaufuss; "A la bein-Aimee," Valse, Schuett; "Second Conn. N. G. March," Reeves; Overture "Fra Diavolo," Amber; "Festival March," Borch.

SLOGAN CONTEST TO CLOSE ON SATURDAY

More slogans for the 1923 Badger slogan contest were received yesterday. The contest for the most suitable slogan which will represent the purpose or spirit of the new annual will close Saturday noon. A prize of $5 is offered.

"The time for submitting in your slogans is very short," said Horace Powell '23 yesterday. "Think of a good slogan, and take it to the Badger office at the Union building. A novel idea may win the five-spot."

Cool and charming for summer is this blouse of grass green silk embroidered with lilies-of-the-valley. It is made on kimono lines with short, loose sleeves and is gathered into a quaint little band collar which gives an unusual neckline.

U. S. CO-EDS PLAY AT BEING SPARTANS

Photo shows the start of a race at Cincinnati University, an event in a series of Greek games which the girls played in Greek costumes.

Shades of Atalanta, look what our modern young college thing is doing. These are University of Cincinnati girls who are cavorting about the college campus in Greek costumes to help raise funds for the university's athletic treasury. They are staging a race in a series of Greek games which they played in Greek costumes. The Spartan women and even the most Grecian of all Greeks, Isadora Duncan, could find no fault with the "atmosphere."

RETAIL AD MANAGER GIVES ADDRESS TO CLUBS IN BANQUET

Ad Club Elects Marshall Field
Official to Honorary Membership

"It is a bigger thing to sell an institution to the public than it is to sell the merchandise," said Mr. G. R. Schaeffer, retail advertising manager of Marshall Field & Company, in an address delivered before the Commerce students in the auditorium of the Physics-Economics building Thursday afternoon at 4:30. "Confidence and patronage are given to the store which provides merchandise of the highest quality," he said. "Marshall Field & company emphasize the word quality in all of their advertisements."

In his talk Mr. Schaeffer outlined, with the help of slides, the constructive merchandising policy of Field's, in which quality forms the basis of competition while price is the second consideration. By establishing a responsibility the firm is able to get the confidence of the people and create a right impression in the minds of the public.

Field Ads Shown

Typical forms of advertisement run in the Chicago papers were shown on the screen and the ideas expressed in the make-up explained by Mr. Schaeffer. A recent series to sell the public on the idea of reading advertisements were shown in addition to slides illustrating the different forms of copy used to advertise the sections for women and those for men.

"We also supply advertising ideas to merchants selling our goods," said Mr. Schaeffer. "About 60,000 merchants receive the benefit of our syndicate service."

He explained the budget system by which the firm regulates the amount of advertising done by each department and told how many copy-writers are assigned to each of them.

Mr. Schaeffer was entertained at dinner last evening at the city Y. M. C. A. by the University Advertising club and the Madison Advertising club. He gave a short talk at the dinner.

BALL SQUAD PLAYS ILLINI AT URBANA

Williams '23. Ceaser didn't make the trip with the squad.

Coach Carl Lundgren will probably start "Lefty" Barnes against the Badgers. Barnes proved effective in every inning except one in the Saturday game. He has the edge over McCann for the pitching job. Jackson, the Suckers' third pitcher, hurried his team to a 5 to 2 victory over Iowa on Monday.

With eight straight victories to its credit, the Illinois team appears to be the strongest nine in the conference. The Illini have a clever fielding, hard hitting combination, and with three good pitchers, Coach Lundgren has a team strong in every department of the game. Wisconsin has demonstrated that it can hit the ball, but poor work on the bases and inaccurate fielding overbalanced the clouting power of the aggregation.

The Badgers will make a last desperate attempt to break the Illini streak. A victory today will enable Wisconsin to tie for the championship provided Michigan defeats Illinois in one of their two struggles and the Badgers win the remainder of their games.

"Wisconsin will make an uphill fight against Illinois," said Coach Lowman yesterday. "We have not been able to get in a good practice since the game last Saturday because of the bad condition of the diamond. Illinois has what looks to be a championship team, but the Badgers can be depended upon to up a hard fight. Paddock will probably start the game, and Barnes may pitch for Illinois. The game will be a close one with Wisconsin having an outside chance to win."

CHESS BY WIRELESS

New York University and Penn State are planning a chess game to be played by wireless. One of the N. Y. men on the team is a wireless operator. It is thought that since there will be little chance for argument the game will proceed amicably.

FRENCH REFUSE TO TURN WAR ENGINES IN SILESIA ON POLES

French tanks in Kattowitz, one of the disputed cities in Upper Silesia.

There are thousands of well-armed French soldiers in Upper Silesia, but they refuse to turn their guns on the Poles, who are determined to take possession of the territory despite the German victory at the recent plebiscite. France sides with Poland, while English leans the other way.

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

Margaret Loomis, formerly a dancer in vaudeville, has the leading feminine role opposite Thomas Meighan in William DeMille's new Paramount picture, "Conrad in Quest of His Youth," which is now being shown at the Strand theater. In this new production Miss Loomis portrays a widowed countess, who, before her marriage to the Earl of Darlington, was a popular London show girl. After the death of her husband, she secretly visits her old chum, also an actress. The two plan to play in the stock company at a small English village.

Conrad Warrenner, an army officer, who, believing himself prematurely old, has been seeking his youth, has about given up hope, meets the Countess, of whose identity he is ignorant and falls in love with her. Then follows a delightful romantic climax and through love Conrad finds his youth.

The added attractions are a comedy cartoon, a Paramount magazine, and a Prizma natural colored picture "In Trouville."

AT THE GRAND

A strong and exceptionally interesting story, with a star role entirely suited to the exquisite charm of Shirley Mason, is "Girl of My Heart," presented at the Grand theater last night for the first time here. It is a screen version of Frances Marion Mitchell's novel "Joan of Rainbow Springs."

Based upon the experiences of an orphanage girl who began life as a nameless foundling, the story takes one into a Southern home of wealth and thence West to the Indian country, where the heroine and the young man she loves are precipitated into various perils of intrigue and hatred. The details of the story's development are most skilfully handled, and Miss Mason's work irresistible appeal.

AT THE FULLER

Eugene O'Brien fans, and there are many, will have the pleasure of seeing the star in the best production he has made during his entire screen career when Selznick picture "Worlds Apart," opens at the Fuller theater today.

Mr. O'Brien plays the part of Hugh Ledyard, a scion of an old, illustrious family, who is jilted by the girl of his choice because of her desire for more money. His dreams shattered, and bitter against all mankind, he marries a girl whom he has met through his intervening when she attempts suicide. They live together for appearance sake, he never knowing anything of her past until a guest at their home, a rough, uncouth individual, for whom Hugh has been turned down by his former sweetheart, is killed. A servant accused of the crime, turns out to be his wife's father.

The manner in which the mystery is solved is an entirely original one, and the injection of an Oriental atmosphere into the story adds greatly to its interest.

The story is by John Lynch, and the theme has been very ably emphasized and brought out through the fine direction of Alan Crosland.

Mr. O'Brien is aided in his characterization by some of the screen's foremost players, among whom are Olive Tell, a star in her own right, W. H. Tooker, Florence Billings, Arthur Housman, Louise Prussing and Warren Cook.

"The Sweetheart Shop"

"The Sweetheart Shop," a musical comedy that has attained pronounced success in New York, Chicago, and Boston, for the past year, will be the attraction at the Fuller theater Saturday, May 21, matinee and night. The original company comes here headed by Harry K. Morton direct from four weeks at the Columbia theater, San Francisco.

The book and lyrics are by Anne

Calwell, who has to her credit many notable successes, including "The Night Boat," and all of the Fred Stone vehicles of the past four seasons.

The music is by Hugo Felix, whose charming "Madame Sherry" and melodious "Pom Pom" are well remembered. There is a real and entertaining story told in "The Sweetheart Shop," which is an establishment for the furtherance of matrimonial bliss, a sort of marriage mart where would-be husbands and wives can meet, and where a 12 months' guarantee of the proper deportment of the contracting parties in each wedding adds stability to the great adventure. It is all properly light, humorous and novel in situations enlivened with plenty of hilarious, refreshing and alluring melodies.

BLIND STUDENT GETS

SCHOLASTIC HONORS

Frank Mobley, a senior student at Colorado college has proved that total and permanent blindness constitutes no bar to the heights which the person handicapped may ascend for he has just been elected to Phi Beta Kappa. In addition to simply being a student, which one should imagine would be sufficient burden in itself he plays the piano and violin, attends all athletic contests.
