GLEE CLUB IN LAST CONCERT HERE TONIGHT

Eight Students Make Final Appearance; Burleigh To Play

TO GIVE NEW PROGRAM

The last home concert of the season, given by the University Men's Glee club tonight in Music hall, will be the final appearance at the university of eight students who belong to the club.

The students who graduate in June are: Howard M. Sharp, Kenneth F. Damon, Alfred R. Cotton, Thomas K. Brown, Alfred E. Willet, Robert E. Lane, David R. Jones, and Earl D. Brown.

Thirty To Perform.

The program to be given tonight is almost entirely new, and according to Prof. E. E. Swinney, will be one of the best ever used in Madison. It is the first time that the Glee club has appeared a second time here during its season's schedule. About thirty voices are included in the personnel of the chorus. The only other concert of the season is to be at Richland Center.

One of the features of the program, especially provided, is solo work by Cecil Burleigh, professor of violin at the University School of Music. Mr. Burleigh has earned for himself a national reputation both as a composer and a virtuoso and the program will contain some of his own compositions.

Announce Program.

The program for the Glee Club concert tonight follows:

1. Landsighting Grieg
2. My Lady Chlo—Clough-Leighter Maiden Fair, O Deign to Tell Me Haydn
3. Suite in D Major Leclair (1697-1764)
- Allegro—Sarabande—Tambourin Mr. Burleigh

Mrs. Caton and Miss Gunderson Please In Faculty Recital

Delightfully pleasing was the faculty recital given by Mrs. Glenore D. Caton, soprano, and Miss Helen Gunderson, pianist, at Music hall last night. The audience responded with repeated applause to the numbers.

"Sheep and Lambs," by Homer was one of the most popular of the offerings of Mrs. Caton. The soft melody of the piece worked up to a rapid climax which well displayed the tonal quality of the singer.

The other numbers in the group of English songs which closed the vocal program, "Berry Brown," by Ward-Stephens, "Wake Up," by Phillips, and "At the Well," by Hageman, were well contrasted with the Italian and French compositions of the first part of the concert.

Miss Gunderson, in her interpretation of the "Keltic Sonata" of MacDowell, showed her ability to enter into the moods of the composer. Her technique was especially commendable and was exhibited not only in the soft melody parts, but also in the heavy chord playing.

BOARD PRESIDENT GIVES OPINION ON JOURNAL ARTICLE

Cardinal Staff and Board Harmonious; No Replacement Demanded

The following communication from Ralph E. Balliette '23, present president of the Cardinal Board of Control, explains an article appearing in last evening's State Journal relative to the status of the present news editor of the Cardinal, Fred Brewer '22, and the relations between the staff and board at the present time:

Contrary to the headline in the State Journal of Thursday, March 23, the Cardinal Board of Control did not "demand a new editor," but merely requested that the managing editor submit a recommendation for the position of news editor on the ground that the present news editor, Frederick Brewer, because of numerous other activities, was unable to give sufficient time to his work to cover the news on the campus.

Mr. Sale, managing editor of the Cardinal, has made the following recommendations: that Mr. Brewer be given further assistants to help cover the campus news, and that Brewer be retained in his present position in order to break in a new man. Sale followed his recommendation with a statement to the effect that Brewer had expressed his willingness to be relieved of these duties because of his other work.

The Board of Control did not consider the investigation of other members of the staff, as reported in The State Journal, except to make inquiry concerning scholastic eligibility.

The board will consider Sale's recommendation in regard to the news editor at its next meeting.

The reason why the Cardinal contained no mention of the proceedings of the meeting Wednesday afternoon was due to the fact that the board did not give any official information on the subject to any newspapers.

The purpose of this communication is to correct any misunderstanding that may have arisen as a result of the State Journal article. The relation between the Board of Control and the Cardinal staff is, at the present time, entirely harmonious.

(Signed)

RALPH E. BAILLETTE,
President,
Cardinal Board of Control.

The first round of games in the Seventh Annual State High School Basketball tournament which is being staged on the armory floor again today resulted in victories for the University of Wisconsin High school, Rhinelander, New Richmond, La Crosse, and Fond du Lac. The initial series was featured by the University high's 13 to 11 win from Superior, by Rhinelander's overtime victory over Fall Creek, and by the unexpected defeat which La Crosse handed the highly touted Watertown five.

The first day's games were a direct contrast to those of the initial round of last year's tourney. Every contest was close and exciting, and no loser was completely outclassed.

Watertown Brings Band

That interest in the meet is statewide was evidenced by the fact that no team was without supporters in its opening game. The Watertown aggregation was the largest, a special trainload carrying some 400

PI PHIS LEAD

At last we are able to announce a Pi Phi triumph. Since the col. announced the possession of a Wallace reducing record by the Pi Phis the music dealers assure us that they have sold similar records to every sorority on the campus.

"I'LL DO IT—so help me Wim-pus!" cried the broken down man in a voice of grim determination.

BLESSED MARCH!

I love to gaze at little lambs, A-frisking on the heather; But it's not lambs, it's calves I see,

In March's windy weather.

SPRING FEVER.

WE FIND upon investigation that the reason the Phi Psi's delayed the building of their new house so long was to collect the unemployed brothers about the country to put on the job.

NO—they weren't so hard to find but the civil service exam included a sobriety test.

THE HOUSE HAUNTED?

That reminds us of Florence Schroeder—a Gamma Phi. "Did that room with all the hard benches in it used to be your chapter room?" she quizzed one of the Phi Psi brethren about their old State street mansion the other day.

BEG PARDON

For the benefit of any of the loyal readers of the col. who may be embarrassed in their eleventh hour attempts we beg to say that the D. G. number is F. 65 not F. 76, as given in Wednesday's col.

THE DELTA DELTA DELTAS have been neglected in the col. for almost too long, but then we honestly haven't a thing to tell you about them that is the least bit interesting. Regardless of that, however, we met two of their Indiana transfers last night and do now venture to assert that the chapter down there must be way ahead of the other Hoosier sororities.

WE DON'T know how they rate it but it seems that Polly Kelso has signed up to play with the Theta Chi frat club ball team this season and can be found practicing with them on Gilman street most any afternoon.

WE DOUBT IT
"Of course she's mine," my brother cries,

"Although she goes with other guys—

Now there's a splendid A. T. O. Who takes her to each two buck show,

A Phi Gam takes her out to feed

A Deke, a Delt, and a Sigma Nu,

A Teke, a Sig, and a Chi Phi too,

Take her to the many dances That they hold upon their ranches;

Still I can't kick a bit at this, For she off' tells me, with a kiss, That I'm in truth the only one To whom she's ever given one."

*"Kissograph" Inventor
Got Start At Indiana*

In the future when doubting wives test the adoration of their hubbies by means of the "kissograph," which registers the kick of an osculation, they may thank an Indiana University graduate for the opportunity. J. V. Breitweiser, of the University of California's department of education, inventor of the "kissograph," graduated from Indiana in 1907, receiving his master's degree in 1908.

The instrument is said to measure the linear extent and millimeters of blood pressure resulting from mistletoe, stolen soul, and other varieties of kisses. It is an adaptation of the sphygmomanometer, a machine psychologists in criminology use to detect lies.

PENN U. INVESTIGATES UTILITY OF FINAL EXAM

The University of Pennsylvania has opened a campaign to find out on the final examination question. Final examinations were recently abolished in the Wharton School and steps are now being taken to have them eliminated throughout the university. Opinions of the students will be obtained by a straw vote conducted by the Pennsylvania, the daily university paper.

Dean Johnson, of the Wharton School, feels that if the vote shows a desire to have examinations discontinued that the result will be of great value. He is also making inquiry among the faculty members concerning the examination controversy.

Women Meet Tonight In Basket Tourney

The second double header in the women's basketball tournament for class championship will be played tonight at the Lathrop gymnasium beginning at 7:15. The seniors, who beat the sophomores last week, will play the freshmen; and the juniors, who beat the freshmen last week, will meet the sophomores.

The sophomore-junior game is expected to be a hard fought one as the teams are well matched, and the rivalry of the two classes is very keen. The different classes are to meet in the gymnasium to support their teams.

Passion Play Cast Drawn; In Rehearsals

The principal characters of the Passion Play have been appointed, and rehearsals are held twice a week. Those in the cast are: A. J. Engelhard, Al Barrat, Marvin Wellentine, John Sachs, Philip Trainor, John Harrington, James Brader, Ray Casserly, Vincent Conlin, Gilbert Schmitz, James Coyne, Joseph Blankenheim, Earl Harrington, Ed. H. Lyons, Master Richard Heimerl, Francis Slightham, John L. Bourke, Thomas N. Burke, Theodore Sachs.

The object of the play, as outlined by the Catholic Woman's club, is to be a big community project of an educational nature. People of all denominations are invited to attend. They will find a presentation of the last days on earth of Jesus, as historically correct, as it is possible to present them, outside of Oberammergau. Every detail of costume and home life of that period, will be reproduced. Special scenery is being built, and striking lighting effects will result from the re-wiring of the Parkway for this event. The speaking parts are all taken by men, all of whom are highly trained speakers with voices adapted to this line of reading. There are six scenes in the Passion Play.

Scene I—The house of Zacharias, the high priest. Here the raising of Lazarus has caused a bitter discussion among the enemies of Christ. Despite the warnings of Zacharias, it is here decided to destroy Him.

Scene II—A road leading to Bethany, over which passes Abner, the blind minstrel. In this scene, which is one of extreme beauty, Abner cries to Christ, who is passing, "Jesus, Son of David, pity, have mercy on me!" Christ restores his sight, and Abner glorifies God—"Oh God, Thy sunlight poureth in my soul like music."

Scene III—The house of Caiphas. Enters Judas. "Your words give strength. I love not hardship. It was a bitter struggle. It was no easy thing to give up the Master."

Scene IV—The garden of Gethsemane. Christ: "Whom seek ye?" The mob: "Jesus of Nazareth." "I am He. Judas, dost thou betray the Son of Man with a kiss?"

Scene V—The praetorium of Pilate. Pilate: "There is a hidden greatness in Him, that inspireth awe. I have seen the very best at Caesar's court. I have witnessed Roman stateliness toned with Grecian culture, and thought that nature could refine no further, but Christ surpasseth all. Peace. Bring hither water till I wash my hands. I am innocent of the blood of this just Man. Look ye to it."

Scene VI—The road to Calvary, and the Crucifixion in tableau.

Lawrence Club to Give Concert Here Next Tuesday Eve

The Lawrence college Glee club will give a concert Tuesday evening in the First Methodist church. The club is one of the foremost college glee clubs of the middle west. It is composed of 36 men trained by Dean Carl J. Waterman of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music.

Several soloists will take part in the program. Winfield Alexander, tenor; George C. Mechelson, baritone, and Harry Wilson, lyric-soprano tenor, will appear.

In addition to the program of choruses and solos by the glee club, there will be several numbers by two quartets, one composed of freshmen and the other of experienced singers who have sung with the club in past years.

Prospective Jobs
For '22 Engineers
Outlined By Mills

About 70 Wisconsin senior engineers have been interviewed by representatives of the Bell telephone system in regard to prospective employment with the company. The group of representatives who will conclude their work today have outlined the organization of the Bell system in detail for the benefit of the engineering students, showing them some of the possibilities and the scope of the field.

The problem of the Bell company is to get men who are able to anticipate the needs of the system and plan far enough in advance to take care of these needs when the time comes, and they are looking to the engineering colleges and technical schools to supply them.

"Every year we employ 500 to 700 college men," declared Mr. John Mills, assistant personnel manager from the engineering department of the Western Electric Co., in New York City. "We lose 4 to 5 per cent of these during the first twelve to fifteen months, because either we or the men have made a mistake. We lose another 4 to 5 per cent from all other causes. This means that our ranks are rapidly becoming filled with college men. In our organization, college men will find unlimited opportunity for advancement, provided that they have had the proper technical training and are fully alive to the executive responsibility entailed, at a remuneration that will enable them to take their places in the professional field along with men of other professions."

Y. M. LAUNCHES MEMBER DRIVE

Campaign is First in Five Years; Clark Heads Drive

The opening gun of the first formal membership campaign to be held in five years by the Y. M. C. A. was fired by Prof. Karl Young in a talk at the Fellowship meeting last evening. The campaign will end March 30.

"Thousands of men make use of the "Y" through its service department, and hundreds are working on committees and yet many of them have never taken out formal membership cards," "Dad" Wolf remarked last night.

Committees have been organized under the leadership of Manley Clark '22, the vice-president of the "Y." The Cabinet committees, the Junior council, Sophomore commission, and Inner Circle have pledged their complete support.

Members of Inner Circle have agreed to secure two members a piece each day from the freshman class.

The "Y" is this year 40 years old and has many of its members in all parts of America and in many foreign countries. Among the many countries in which Wisconsin graduates are taking a prominent part in "Y" work are Hawaii, China, Japan, the Philippines, India, South America, South Africa, Egypt, and nearly all of the European countries.

Many of the leading association workers in this country are former members of the Wisconsin association. C. V. Hibbard, who developed the army type of work in connection with the Russian-Japanese war, and who was chairman for the overseas work in New York city during the great war, was a member at Wisconsin.

Hesperia and Athena Hold Soph Tryouts While Philo Debates

The picking of the personnel of the sophomore semi-public debating teams will be the regular order of business at the meetings of Hesperia and Athena literary societies this evening. Philomathia will have a debate as usual.

In Athena the representatives for the Freshman Declamatory contest will also be chosen. All the sophomores and freshman have been asked to have material prepared ready for the tryout.

The question which will be debated by the sophomores who try out in Hesperia is: "Resolved, that it would be advisable for the United States to reconsider its decision and enter the Genoa conference." A business meeting and election of officers will follow the program.

The debate which will be held in Philomathia has to do with the adoption of a unicameral system of government by Wisconsin.

Plant 300,000 Acres Of Potatoes in State

About 300,000 acres of potatoes will be planted this spring by Wisconsin farmers according to the estimate of J. G. Milward, potato specialist at the university college of agriculture. More than enough potatoes are raised in Wisconsin each year to satisfy the consuming public of the state, he says, with six million bushels, allowing more than two bushels of tubers to each person in the state. The high production record for the state is 36 million bushels. A total of 12 million bushels of tubers were shipped out of the state last year.

BY WAY OF WARNING

IT is seldom that this page lends itself to criticism of men or their books. We believe, and no doubt rightly, that discussion here should be confined to generous praise for our institutions, to dissertations on free speech, or to essays on metaphysical subjects. But, after noting what a wide circulation Baron Mynde's little volume, "Poems of Pessimism" (The Applesore Press, Chicago), has attained among students, we believe that it is our duty to defend our institutions against the insidious attacks made by Mr. Mynde.

Lack of space forbids us going into details concerning the wearisome style or the general mediocrity of this book, as well as denies to us the pleasure of quoting more than one example of the author's perverted art. We have selected the poem given below merely because it is one of the shorter ones and because it will serve as well as any to illustrate Mr. Mynde's lack of insight into human nature. It is taken from page 37 of the book:

The Age of Jazz

From the time that Adam wore short pants until the great millennium

We view the road of progress in past and future too;

From maximum to minimum we trace the giddy pendulum,

From simian to Superman, from red blood down to blue.

But student and philosopher alike have made an oversight;

They show what demon rum can do and what tobacco has,

They love to write with trenchant spite of sins they lay to appetite,

But they have quite forgotten what the Devil owes to Jazz.

The artist ever strives for art, the student favors intellect,

The tea-hound longs for toddling and other manly joys;

The architect is circumspect but strives to keep his self-respect;

But who can praise the jays who make Wisconsin Illinois?

We go to see a movie show to while away a quite hour away,

But leave before the orchestra commits a modern wheeze.

At dejeuner and matinee we have to stand the roundelay

Some silly hick would fain inflict while banging at the keys.

Our solons have forbidden us to dye by way of aniline,

If we see moonshine after dark, by day we see their cells;

They quarantine our nicotine, but leave at large the tambourine,

The saxophone and trombone, the rattles and the bells!

O that some orator of power, with gift o' gab or eloquence

Might show the Special Session how these syncopated crews

Are driving hence with violence our ancient peace and innocence,

Are priming us for murder with their "Novelties" and "Blues."

'Tis not enough to criticise or analyze their crimes aright,

We only boost the gate receipts by giving them the razz;

So aconite and dynamite are fittest for the parasite

Who syncopated our miseries and tortures us with Jazz!

Close study of the above bit of verse—one is almost tempted to say doggerel—reveals the lawlessness and paganism of the author, to say nothing of his utter lack of sympathy with the times. We believe that one who pokes fun at our modern music is as far behind the age as the man denies the existence of evolution or the writer who shuns free verse. To doubt that there is real art in jazz music is as silly as to deny that there is harmony in a boiler factory.

Nor should we fail to point out the author's manifest Bolshevik leanings. When we recall the present unstable state of society, it is evident that Mr. Mynde does not have the best interests of the country at heart when he callously advises recourse to toxins and lethal weapons.

Again, the author's appalling lack of religious knowledge and feeling is exposed when he refers to Adam as wearing knee breeches and to Satan as making use of jazz to help him gain his ends. It is a well established fact that Adam died some time before the invention of trousers; and if the archfield uses jazz it is merely because as a fallen angel he still retains some element of good.

Believing that this book is sure to have a demoralizing influence on the student mind, we wish to point out that a large sale of "Poems of Pessimism" here may encourage the author to greater, and perhaps even more undesirable, efforts in the future.

Lost Is Found-- Show "Stranded" Goods In Window

Did you ever go to some "colossal or heart-rending production" and become so absorbed in the moving drama before you that you became oblivious of the world of reality and in a sort of dream left the picture palace leaving behind you a trinket, article of clothing, or package?

If you did, and if that palace happened to be the Strand theater, you will probably find your long lost articles on display in the Commercial bank window. One shoe, several pairs of rubbers, a trio of stockings, many caps, any quantity of jewelry, and all sorts of personal articles are here displayed in second hand store array. The gem of the collection is a nicked and evidently over-used razor of the old one piece type. All of this miscellani is tagged and numbered and may be obtained upon identification.

SENIORS AT U. OF UTAH WEAR WIDE SOMBRERO

Seniors at the University of Utah are perhaps the most spectacularly dressed class in any college. While on the campus they wear regular wild-and-woolly cowboy hats and fantastically colored knit vests. Juniors of the same institution wear khaki shirts and corduroy trousers.

Kappa Sigs And Betas Charter Qrph And Cheer

By P. H. J.

The players at the Orpheum for the last half of the week were probably entertained as much as the audience last night when the Kappa Sigs and the Betas chartered the house for the first performance. We are at a loss as to how to describe the acts because each offering was greeted with extraordinary applause and cheer regardless of its relative merit.

This does not mean, however, that the applause was undeserved. Most of the acts were unusually good, especially the offering of Edith Clifford, a most original comedienne, who sung songs containing—what do you Americans say?—kick.

One noticeable thing about the bill was the keynote of originality. Each act contained some novel feature, making the bill surprising as well as pleasing.

The Florenies

European equilibrists who flirted with gravity as they revolved in mid-air on a small pedestal-like arrangement. Quiet grace and self-contained ease characterized the act throughout.

Hanley & Howard

Described as "two percolators of comedy" this pair made a good start, but after the uporous reception afforded by the "college boys," Miss Howard failed to return for the second number and there was no further percolation. Her partner explained that the gal had met with an accident, but after the show we found out that the misfortune was merely a ripped sock.

Eileen & Georgie Stone

Assisted by a pianist and a violinist, the Stones put on some dancing that was not only well received but was well worth receiving. The Egyptian number of Miss Stone, although well done, was a little long. Her glib-footed partner made a good supplementer.

Newport, Stirk & Parker

The contrast between the clumsy capers of the men and the graceful antics of the girl won the trio a skyrocket.

Edith Clifford & Co.

To use an archic expression, Miss Clifford knew her stuff. Songs that were absolutely new gained for them so much applause that she felt she could get a little informal, and therefore called out Jimmie Brader's name and announced that

Young Jones is Dead

A—Is that so?
A—Yes, he was just getting nicely started, you see he only finished college last June.

B—Well, he did have a good education.

A—Yes, he spent a lot of time and money getting it.

B—I understand his folks had to make some sacrifices to send him to school.

A—That's true, I know the family well, but young Jones was a bright boy, he made the most of his opportunities.

B—How so?

A—While going to school, he worked on the side to pay for a five thousand dollar policy in the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company.

B—Then his education was not ALL theory?

A—Oh, no! Well you see the Northwestern Mutual maintains an office in Madison to instruct students and others in the value of life insurance.

B—Is that so? I'll have my boy call, he is the University Agency?

A—Why, they are men that every student should know:

Mr. Mc...e, Mr. Geo...

Comb Honey Topic Discussed at Apis Bee Keeping Club

"Comb Honey and its Production" was the subject of a discussion given by Dr. R. H. Siebecker, Wisconsin apiarist, at the semi-monthly meeting of the Apis club, held on Tuesday evening in the Entomology building.

The Apis club has recently been organized in the university to promote scientific bee keeping. Its purpose is to bring together all men and women of the university, faculty and students alike, who are interested in bee keeping. Although Apis clubs have been organized in all parts of England, the Wisconsin club is the first one known to be organized in the United States.

The officers of the association are: George E. Marvin '23, president; James A. Lotz '22, vice-president; Richard Butler '24, secretary-treasurer.

Urge Use of Lime In '22 Soil Plans

The crushing of more limestone and the application of more phosphates is the 1922 program for Wisconsin soils, according to Griffith Richards, soil extension specialist here.

"The soils that are in the greatest need of lime are not getting it now," said Mr. Richards yesterday, "but with the rapid introduction of the portable crusher, and through the cooperation of the limestone crushing industries it will be made available to more farmers than ever before."

More than 30 portable crushers are in use in the state now with an average capacity of from two to three tons an hour. Five thousand tons were crushed between April 1 and October 1, farmers owning the crushers and charging 15 cents a ton for crushing. Rock county is reported as making the greatest progress thus far in domestic rock crushing.

Rules Blaine Has Access to Tax Reports

Tax Commission Can Disclose Returns To Governor Says Morgan

The present secrecy clause to the income tax law does not prohibit the tax commission from disclosing to the governor any information in its possession respecting violations of the tax laws or regarding fraudulent income tax returns, Atty. Gen. William J. Morgan, informed Sen. George B. Skogmo, in an opinion today.

"The secrecy clause in the original income tax act was very sweeping," the attorney general declared, "but even as it stood then it did not preclude the governor from obtaining full knowledge of all income returns.

"It is not to be presumed that the legislature would intend or endeavor to exclude the chief executive, the representative of the state sovereignty and charged with the constitutional duty of law enforcement, from access to any state paper however privileged such document might be as to the public.

"But the legislature did not let the matter rest on presumption. The tax commission is commanded to consult and confer with the governor of the state upon the subject of taxation, and to furnish the governor from time to time such assistance and information as he may require."

"All returns, reports, records, correspondence and files in possession of the tax commission or under their control as well as knowledge or information not in writing must be furnished if requested by the executive."

Referring to the amendment to the present law, which would extend the time from three to six years that income returns may be investigated the attorney general says that "such amendment need not be adopted before the three years now specified in the statute have expired in order to retain jurisdiction for the years that would otherwise pass out of the statutory period going back in the collection of taxes.

"Statutes for the collection of back taxes are remedial and such statutes may be made retroactive."

Germany Given Moratorium In Part for 1922

Reparations Commission Lays Down Rules To Govern Payments

(By the Associated Press)

PARIS—A partial moratorium has been given Germany for her reparation payments in 1922, according to a decision of the reparations commission made public here on Wednesday.

The plan carries with it a specific obligation on the part of Germany to raise 60,000,000,000 marks, paper, in additional capital taxes; to float an internal loan to balance her budget; to stop the exportation of capital and make the reichsbank independent; to radically reduce expenses; to submit to a system of supervision through obligatory consultations with a commission on guarantees, and either to float an international loan or to make a levy on capital to raise a substantial sum for reparations.

The moratorium is conditional upon the fulfillment of the conditions of the commission by May 31, which may be revoked later if Germany does not continue to comply with them.

The commission calls for the execution of the Cannes agreement, providing for the payment of 720,000,000 gold marks and of 1,450,000,000 marks in goods during 1922. As Germany has paid about 282,000,000 gold marks in ten payments, there remains a balance of 438,000,000 marks due.

The balance is payable by 18,000,000 marks on April 15, 50,000,000 marks monthly from May to Oct. 15, inclusive, and 60,000,000 marks each Nov. 15 and Dec. 15.

The goods reparations are payable 950,000,000 marks to France and 500,000,000 to the other allies as far as they place orders.

The British will receive 26 per cent of the import tax on German goods and other similar funds credited against the merchandise account, but, if Germany fails to deliver the goods ordered, she must pay the balance in cash.

WOMEN REGISTER FOR NEW SPORTS APRIL 3

Women may register for new spring sports April 3, 4 and 5, from 10 to 12 and from 3:30 to 5:30, in the main Lathrop gymnasium. Tennis, archery, quoits, track and field, swimming and dancing are the sports being offered. A few corrective classes will be maintained for those needing prolonged work.

BADGER PRINTING AND ENGRAVING BEAT SCHEDULE

Printing work on the 1922 Badger, which will appear May 1, is 15 days ahead of contract schedule, it was learned yesterday. Engraving work is one month in advance of its deadline. The cover supply is ready and waiting.

The Campus Life section of 30 pages, a complete pictorial history of the school year, beginning with the arrival of students in Madison and ending with summer school, is completed. Each page is topped by an appropriate heading in orange and black.

The frontispiece drawing is ready for the press. It is done in four colors, as are all other sectional headings, including one by Neysa McMein, which heads the Woman's section and directly precedes portraits of representative Wisconsin women.

The duotone section will contain 14 plates of campus scenes and will be the only one in a college annual this year. The Badger will be the only college yearbook to appear in a 9 by 12 page size.

Chance to Decide Life Investment In College—Davis

"The opportunity to decide one's greatest life investment generally comes in university life," declared Dr. Ozora Davis, president of the Chicago Theological seminary, in an address on "Life Investments," given before more than 200 students Tuesday night at the annual spring banquet of the Congregational Students' association.

"Appeal to taste and temper," said Dr. Davis, "is the primary factor to take into consideration. What we like best, we do best; what we do best, we like best. The inclination of the training of college men and women is certain to come to a head through the conscientious application of the most useful abilities, and the need of the field will always be present to spur on the ambitious prospect."

Something New Kessenich's

Every day we hear expressions of astonishment from women who are looking over our spring selections; they are amazed at the great variety we are offering this season and pleased at the reasonable prices that our kind of merchandise can be bought for.

We feel that it might not be amiss to call attention to some of the outstanding features of our Spring collections, because it is rare that a store or shop in any but the very large cities dares to gather apparel in such complete variety.

Women who read fashion magazines are acquainted with—Blackshire Dresses, Peggy Paige Frocks—the remarkable sextette of gowns worn by Irene Castle. The hand made frocks direct from Paris called "Bab"—and many others that are acknowledged in a class far above the average. All of these are sold here exclusively.

In addition we have the best lines of tailored suits and wraps usually sold in New York City's most fashionable shops. There are three piece wraps and three piece suits—there are knicker and sport suits, sport skirts and the outdoor frocks that are worn by the tennis and golf players.

There is wonderful handmade lingerie trimmed with real Irish and filet laces, all made in Paris at prices way below what similar American made undergarments are sold for.

There are sweaters of every variety, some made in England and many made in Switzerland—there are handmade and tailored blouses of sheer cotton fabrics and fine silks, the like of which have never before been shown in Madison.

And so we could go on, but a leisurely visit here will be a style revelation to Madison women and it is our greatest pleasure to show how reasonably all these superior items can be bought.

persons, and a band arriving about 8 o'clock in the evening.

The University high-Superior clash was easily the big event of the day's card. The gym was crowded to capacity as Captain "Pinky" Stehr led his Whitewater champs out onto the floor, and the cheering rivalled that of a varsity game. The large crowd of fans who are supporting the Badger preps almost went wild with joy when the final gun announced the fact that the hardest battle of the day had been decided in favor of their favorites.

Rhinelander Wins Overtime

The light Rhinelander five was the first aggregation to arrive on the scene of action. The northerners looked small and lost on the big floor during the preliminary shooting, but they appeared to have more basketball in them than did the Fall Creek team, which came onto the court a few minutes later.

Directly after Fred Young, Big Ten conference referee, blew the whistle which marked the opening of the tournament, Hoehn, of Fall Creek, missed two chances to score the first points of the tourney by spoiling as many free shots. It fell to Bohn, midget Rhinelander forward, to taste the first blood by scoring a long range field goal. Bohn continued to find the basket at regular intervals, and the end of the first half found his team on the long end of a 7 to 5 count. A basket by Miller tied the count by the time that the first half ended. Fall Creek would have had a five or six point lead had Hoehn displayed any skill whatsoever in the art of tossing free throws.

Sampson came to Bohn's aid in the second period and sent two counters through the hoop, but the Fall Creek boys began to get a proper focus on the basket, and the score became tied at 11, just two minutes before the time was up. Neither five was able to do any more scoring before the gun sounded, and it was necessary to grant an extra five minutes in which to decide the winning team. Sampson made a basket on the tipoff, but Koehm followed suite, again tying the count. Shortly before the overtime period was over, Captain Trajai made his only basket of the game, completing the scoring.

The entire last half was filled with excitement, although even the winners did not display any of the kind of ball that is capable of taking the title. Had either of the Fall Creek forwards, Hohn or Neuman, been able to make a decent percentage of their free throws, the winners of the Eau Claire normal tourney would easily have been able to remain in the running for the championship.

New Richmond Cops

The next game appearing on the schedule was that between Menominee and New Richmond. The personnel of the former aggregation had changed considerably since last year, and their speedier adversaries stepped into the lead as soon as the whistle blew. Captain Peterson, of Menominee, came back with two baskets and a trio of free throws, however, which left the count at 10 to 7 at halftime.

New Richmond opened up in the second half with a fast passing game that completely smothered their opponents. Captain Hawkins commenced to steal through for short shots at the hoop, and he never failed to score when he got within a reasonable range. It may be safely stated that Hawkins is one of the fastest basketball players who ever stepped onto the armory floor, and his sensational dribbling and shooting were among the big features of the day. If he keeps up at his present pace, the small guard

Tourney Chatter

The La Crosse five scored the largest number of field goals, as well as the largest number of points, in yesterday's games. This is particularly surprising when it is considered that La Crosse is supposedly one of the weakest aggregations entered, and that Watertown was conceded a good chance for the state title.

Captain McKinley of Fond du Lac was the high field scorer of the day yesterday with a total of six field goals. He is a small man, but knows how to handle the ball and shoot well. Hawkins, stellar New Richmond guard, tied with McKinley in the number of points scored, but four of the latter's counters were made via the free throw route.

The Menominee team possesses a player who, we believe, is the only one of his kind entered in the tournament. He is only 16 years of age, but he measures 6 feet 2 inches in height, and weighs 167 pounds. Although he still has lots to learn about basketball, he handles himself well, and gives much promise of developing into a future "Setter."

It was a shame that, after Watertown people spent so much money in coming over here, their team couldn't have won at least its first game.

stands a good chance of rating among the best players in the tourney.

Fond du Lac Fast

The Fond du Lac-Argyle tilt opened the evening program. The Fondy outfit was exceedingly light, but were fast enough to establish an early lead which was never seriously threatened. During the third quarter the trailers staged a comeback which brought the score up to 16 and 9, but the Argyle players failed to make use of their opportunities to shoot, and Fond du Lac romped away on the long end of a 21 to 11 score.

The winners of this game handled the ball fully as well as did any team that played yesterday. Every man knew his game, and the teamwork was good at times. Breitzman, playing a guard position for Fond du Lac, was a wonder at handling the ball. He dribbled and dodged his way down the floor like a real veteran, and managed to cage three baskets. Captain McKinley led the scoring in this clash with a total of six field goals.

University High Looms Big

The University high-Superior clash was a nip and tuck battle all the way. They started off with a bang when McCreary caged a ringer after less than a minute of play. Ohit, star Badger running guard, followed suit with a basket, but the northerners went into the lead on a long counter by the veteran, Camp. Stehr kept his team in the running by making three free throws while McCreary made only one, the score standing at a 5 to 5 tie at the end of the quarter.

Stehr kept on making free throws as soon as the play was resumed, and Otis increased the lead by caging a basket from the middle of the floor. Both teams bungled several chances to score on short shots, keeping the score from climbing as high as it should have. Just before the half ended, Holzworth brought the score to 10 to 7 by sending a long shot through the hoop.

The second half of this game was unique in that neither team scored a single field goal, all of the points being made via the free throw route. Neither team displayed particularly good teamwork, although both maintained strong defensive formations. With five minutes left to play, Kennison's foul gave McCreary the opportunity to tie the count. Stehr immediately got the lead back as a result of McCreary's foul. Superior had another run of hard luck at basket-shooting, even McCreary missing two more chances to score on free throws.

On the whole, it may be said that the University high team looked fully as good as did any that played last night. The team showed it-

ANTIGO ACCEPTS BID TO CHICAGO BASKET TOURNEY

Strong Northerners to Play in Interstate Meet
April 5-8

The Antigo High school basketball team has been invited to participate in the interstate tournament which is to be conducted under the auspices of the University of Chicago, April 5, 6, 7, and 8. The school has notified Coach Alonzo Stagg, famous football mentor who is in charge of the tourney, that the invitation has been accepted.

The Antigo team won all of the games of its regular schedule, including two decisive victories over the Rhinelander high school team, which is now representing the Stevens Point district in the state meet being held here. The team broke in the first tournament game, however, and lost to Rhinelander. The break was only temporary and the northern aggregation came back and severely drubbed some of the teams from which the district winners had hardly been able to win.

The management of the Chicago tournament has carefully considered the case, and feels that Antigo has the strongest high school team in the northern section of the state. It has not been decided as yet what other Wisconsin quintets will participate in the meet, but it is probable to believe that the winner of the state tourney which is now being carried on here will be extended the invitation.

self to be capable of playing a high class brand of ball, but Holzworth fell way below expectations. McCreary was easily the stellar performer on the Superior team, in spite of the fact that he weighs only a little over 100 pounds. He was a dangerous floor man, and has plenty of free throwing ability.

La Crosse Upsets Dope

La Crosse completely upset the dope by handing the confident Watertown aggregation a 25 to 13 beating. Watertown had a good attack, but the men seemed lost on the floor, and the speedy La Crosse guards smothered every offensive rush before it was well started. Everyone kept waiting for Watertown to make a spurt, but it never came, and the supposedly weaker team kept on piling up a safe lead. In the last half, the Watertown defense weakened considerably, and the fast Kesab-Tobias combination kept on sending the ball through the hoop with monotonous regularity.

The whole town of Watertown must have been in the bleachers last night.

Almost all of the teams are light, but they appear to be better coached than were those who participated a year ago. A number of good forwards and guards were included in the lineups, but the pivot man on practically every team proved to be woefully weak. Tobias, of La

TEAM DEPARTS FOR LAST GYM MEET TONIGHT

Enters 12th Annual Tilt of Minneapolis
Society

The Varsity gym team will enter tonight for Minneapolis where it will compete in the twelfth annual meet of the Northwestern Gymnastic society. It will be the last meet which the Badger acrobats will enter this season.

Unusually more talent is displayed in the meets of the Northwestern Gymnastic society than is found in those of the Big Ten. Many of the contestants are middle-aged men who have devoted most of their lives to gymnastics. Competition is not limited to colleges, but includes some of the German gym societies, known as "Turnvereins."

200 in Meet

More than 200 contestants will take part in the meet this year. Two mass exhibition numbers, one by the Knights of Columbus, and the other by the St. Paul Turnverein will be held. The latter number will be gymnastics and pyramids performed by women.

Three cups will be awarded for team prizes. They are traveling cups, and will be retained by the teams which win them the greatest number of times in five years. There are also six traveling cups awarded to the individuals who take first place in each of the six events: Horizontal bar, parallel bars, flying rings, side horse, tumbling, and club swinging.

Schlatter Takes 12

Coach Fred E. Schlatter is planning to take 12 men with him on the trip. The following have been selected: Porth, Bumer, Leitz, Hanson, Stevens, Koch, Rand, and Pfleger. Four other men will be taken along. These men will be selected this afternoon. Among them probably will be Kitchen and Kletzien.

Fourteen teams are entered in the meet. Only two schools from the Big Ten conference will compete, Wisconsin and Minnesota. Other colleges which will send teams are St. Olaf's, Luther college, and Stout institute. Teams will also be sent to Minneapolis for this meet by Augsburg seminary, St. Paul Y. M. C. A., Minneapolis Y. M. C. A., Knights of Columbus, St. Paul Turnverein, Margaret Playground of St. Paul, Palace Playground of St. Paul, and the South High school of Minneapolis.

Crosse, was the principal exception, as he scored four field goals while holding his famed opponent, Archie, to a single basket.

Today, at the stroke of two—and again at half after seven in the evening—soft orchestra music will hush the throngs of fashion devotees; flowers of spring will bloom in banks of palms, and everywhere bowers of blossoms will proclaim the reign of spring.

Then, at the hour, portals concealing the secrets of many days of careful planning will swing lightly aside. And, as if magically spirited from the sunny boulevards of gay Paris, pretty young women will trip forth clad in creations such as only the genius of Paris can inspire. Callot, Lavin, and Premet have sent masterpieces in the art of designing. Switzerland responds with sweaters and scarfs of wool and silk that reflect the joyous sports world of St. Moritz; and not to be outdone, designers of our own land interpret the Spirit of Spring through the medium of fabric and needle.

In wraps and frocks alike, fabric and style combine to achieve grace of line. Materials are exquisitely soft and supple—crepes and lace, or wool for street wear.

Drapes, drapes, drapes! Befitting the art of Grecian sculptors are these frocks of almost classic simplicity.

Sports clothes come in for their share of the honors—such delightful surprises await you.
