DAVIS IS ELECTED PRESS CLUB HEAD

Twenty-nine Members Voted in; Will Be Initiated Next Semester

John E. Davis '25 was elected president of the Press club at the meeting held last night in the Union building. Other officers of the organization are Alicia Grant '26, vice president, Irene Norman '25, secretary, and John F. Weimer '25, treasurer.

Twenty-nine new members were voted into Press club. These will be initiated at the first meeting of the new semester. They are:

Rice Miller '26, Rosemary Stone '26, Muriel Markham '27, Esther Hawley '26, Emma Plappert '26, Grace Burroughs '27, Catherine Williams '27, Eunice Schmidt '26, Marguerite L. Anderson '26, Alice Drews '26, Benita Spencer '25, Esther Fossage '27, Ruth Stevens '26, Rose Mantell '27, Florence Allen '27, Mary Brandel '27, Daisy Gennaw '27, Rachel Kelley '27, Helen Fleek '27, Louis Mrkvicka '25, Nelson Jansky '26, Harland Gilbert '25, Lester Malzahn '25, Alexander Way '28, Stanley Kalish '27, Kenneth B. Butler '25, Morris Klefeker '27, Marion Kahlenberg '27.

Bernardine Chesley Will Be "First Lady" at 1926 Prom

Bernardine Chesley '26 is the leading lady of the 1926 prom.

The first announcement of the selection of the queen was made last night by Chairman Clifford Huff, and the question of "who will be it?" which has been puzzling the campus is now answered.

Both the chairman and his partner were rather non-committal in regard to where, when, why, and manner of the asking, and the curious who want to know all about it will have to remain unsatisfied. Miss Chesley stated that "he asked me following a dance which we attended last Friday night." That's all there is to it.

This year Miss Chesley is associate editor of the Badger, member of Crucible, junior women's honorary society, treasurer of Y. W. C. A. and member of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, and Pi Beta Phi sorority. Her home town is Armour, South Dakota.

GET SHOT BEFORE YOU GO HOME, SAYS DOCTOR

A suggestion has been issued by Dr. W. A. Howry of the student health department, that all students going home for the Christmas vacation should be vaccinated before they leave because of contagious diseases in various parts of the country. An epidemic of small pox is raging in the northern part of Wisconsin.

GERMAN CLUB GIVES CHRISTMAS PROGRAM

The Christmas meeting of the German club will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the German House, 508 N. Francis street. The program for the evening will consist of songs and readings by members of the club and the assemblage.

OCTOPUS STAFF TO HOLD MEETING ON THURSDAY

A compulsory meeting of the business staff of the Octopus will be held at the Octopus office at 1:45 o'clock Thursday noon. All those who are now members of the staff and those who are trying out for staff positions are asked to attend. Clark Hazelwood, business manager, will outline the business program for next semester.

Frances Williams Speaks to Women on Negro Students

Two hundred and twenty-five freshman women banqueted with their sophomore discussion group leaders last night in the Wesley Foundation. Members of the sophomore commission, the Y. W. C. A. cabinet, Miss Mary Anderson, secretary of Y. W. C. A., Alice F. Miller, assistant dean of women, and Miss Jean Hoard of the Wisconsin university high school were also present. Bernice Winchell, president of sophomore commission, presided, and gave a short speech of welcome to which Katherine Ehrhart '28, replied.

Miss Frances Williams, national secretary of colored students, spoke on the difficulties encountered by colored students, and explained the work done for them.

TODAY IS DEADLINE FOR PROM SLOGANS

The deadline for prom slogans has been set at 5 o'clock tonight, according to Louise Mautz '26, who is in charge of the slogan committee. Slogans can be turned in to her at 110 West Gilman st.

C. M. Bice Wins Championship Cup at Poultry Show

C. M. Bice '27, won the grand champion cup awarded by the Badger Poultry club after judging at the sixth annual poultry show, yesterday afternoon.

The second champion prize was won by F. D. Crutcher '25; the grand female cup was won by W. Griffith, a short course student, and L. O. Stokstad, another short course man, won the cup for the best male bird in the show.

In the white class, F. D. Crutcher '25, annexed the second prize. C. M. Bice '27 received the first premium for the best bird in the solid color class. In the parti-color class, L. O. Stokstad, short course man, won first, and Leone Breton '25, received the second prize.

The men who are in active charge of this year's show were O. A. Hanke '25, general chairman; R. J. Elmer '27, arrangements; H. A. Menz '28, awards; H. L. Kropp '25, publicity, and C. M. Bice, show secretary.

ENGINEERS HOLD CHRISTMAS SING

President Birge Will Deliver Message at Third Annual Concert

Christmas carols by the audience, chorus, and a special twenty-piece orchestra, a Christmas message from President Birge, and a Christmas solo "Birthday of a King," will typify the third annual engineers' song-fest at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Lathrop concert room.

The personnel of the orchestra is unusual in that it consists entirely of engineers and children of the engineering faculty. Engineers who play in it are:

M. S. Cook '26, E. H. Ballard '28, and Robert E. Zinn '27, cornets; Ralph A. Smith '25, clarinet; James K. Manning '28, oboe; H. P. Robinson, '27, flute; Millard B. Smith '25, saxophone; L. W. Heise, cello; Russell A. Nelson '26, violin, and Harold F. Haase '25, John B. Seastone '26, and John A. Babbe '26, violin. Prof. J. T. Rood of the electrical engineering department will play his violin.

Prof. E. B. Gordon of the extension division has directed the rehearsals of the orchestra and also the practices of the chorus, in which 25 engineers take part. He will lead the singing tonight.

"Birthday of a King" is the vocal solo which Mrs. M. O. Withey, wife of Professor Withey of the mechanics department, will sing. Mrs. J. W. Watson will accompany her on the piano, and Russell A. Nelson '26 on the violin.

Dean A. V. Millar of the College of Engineering has arranged the Christmas gathering assisted by the following freshman engineers:

R. W. York, Harrison A. Smith, D. J. Roberts, H. S. Merz, W. W. Meade, W. T. Gill, S. D. Durand, C. D. Case, S. G. Burgess, F. W. Bassett.

50 STUDENTS ASK FOR WORK DURING RECESS

Already 50 students have signed up for work during the Christmas recess, according to the employment bureau of the Y. M. C. A. Men who want students to take their permanent positions for the holidays may list their wants with the bureau. Advertisements are being run in the three Madison newspapers asking employment for students, who remain in the city for the vacation and who want work during that period.

ITALIAN CLUB WILL HEAR PROF. DUDLEY

Prof. W. H. Dudley of the university library will lecture this evening on Italy before the Italian club at 7:30 o'clock in 220 Bascom hall. Professor Dudley has spent some time in Italy and has made a number of slides of places which do not originally meet the eye of the tourist. He himself colored many of the slides which he will use to illustrate his generalized talk. Frederica McBain '27, president of the club, which was organized last year, will preside.

WEATHER

Mostly overcast and Thursday. Probably snow flurries. Much colder.

67 DEPARTMENTS PREPARE EXHIBITS FOR EXPOSITION

General Manager Urges Students to Advertise Four-Day Display

A day's work at Wisconsin—a vivid cross-section of the university at work will be shown in the university exposition which will be held under the direction of the Union board at the armory on April 16, 17 and 18. The 67 departments of the university will contribute exhibits, and in addition, about 15 special displays of general interest, of Wisconsin life, will be included.

"The united efforts of 800 students and the cooperation of the faculty is needed to make the exposition a success," said Eugene Tuhar '25, general manager, yesterday. "Each student should make an opportunity during the holidays to interest people in the exposition and induce them to come."

Wide Range of Exhibits

Through the university exposition, the taxpayers of the state will have a chance to see what the university is doing, and the parents will be able to view the university at work, and other persons who are interested in the university as a future school for their children will be given an idea of what it accomplishes.

Special machines and laboratory equipment valued at half a million dollars will be used for exhibition purposes, in order that a concrete picture may be obtained. The exhibits will range in character from the circulation of blood in a frog's foot, revealed by a powerful microscope, to an electric furnace which, operating under 40 kilowatts of power, and at a temperature of over 70 degrees Fahrenheit, will cast melted steel into molds.

Held Every Four Years

Charts and diagrams will show the work accomplished by the different departments.

The university exposition is arranged every four years, having been held in 1915 and 1921. Only one other enterprise in the country resembles it in character, an exposition of the Iowa State Teachers' college in Ames, Iowa. However, the Ames exposition does not approach the Wisconsin exhibit in scope or magnitude.

Each high school in the state, all churches, Rotary clubs, and every civic organization will receive material announcing the exposition.

TWO PLAYS GIVEN BY FRENCH CLUB

Typical Foreign Atmosphere and Humor Displayed By Student Actors

By L. B.

Spontaneity and humor and emotional intensity, typically French, which were well displayed in the two productions presented by the French club last evening, created a decidedly foreign atmosphere.

In the first play presented "L'Ete de le Saint-Martin," translated, "Indian Summer Love," the part of Briqueville, a rather testy old fellow, was excellently played by George Hocking '25, who has played successfully in several French plays. The object of this gentleman's rather open affections was the striking French beauty, Adrienne, Ingeborg Severson '26.

The part of Madame Lebreton, the most difficult in the play, was brilliantly executed by Gladys Harloff, grad. Harold Griffin '25, as Noel, the impetuous youth, gave action to the farce.

Subtle humor with touches of pathos, introduced by the maiden Blanche, played by Louise Barbee '27, existed in "The Grammaire," a one-act comedy. The political aspirations of Cabusset played by Maurice Leven '25, and the carelessness of Jeanne, the servant, form the nucleus for the humorous situations of the story.

STAR CANDIDATES SPUR TRACK MEN TO BETTER WORK

"Out With the Old and in With the New," is Saying of Track Squad

"Out with the old and in with the new" is a saying that can be applied to track teams as well as to New Year's parties as will be demonstrated during the track season this year.

There are several men on this season's varsity squad who have come up from last year's frosh squad, ready to step into the place of any varsity man who shows the slightest signs of faltering.

Chief among these is "Chuck" McInnis, star of the frosh-soph meet and the fraternity meet. He will work well in the high jump, pole vault and both high and low hurdles. Other good men in these events are Muller, Fox, Hestwood, Jirtle and Stehr.

Best in Half Mile

Dash men and quarter milers who will be ready to fill any vacancies left by older men on the varsity of they fail to live up to expectations, are Francis, Burdick, Annis, Frackleton, Dougan, Voight and Wheeler. Francis is also a broad jumper.

Although the half mile will be the event in which Coach Jones will have the best material with Captain Valley, Carter, Hilberts and Cassidy traveling the 880, such men as Laughlin and Ecklund will give these men the keenest competition.

Keen Competition Seen

Distance men of last year's varsity will be pushed for a place on this year's team by Meissner, star miler on last year's frosh team; Cohen, member of the championship harrier squad; Schutt, winner of the mile in the fraternity meet, and a cross country man, and Gaudynski.

This keen competition for places on the first squad will be good for the team as a whole and will play a large part in developing a championship team. As Coach Jones says, "Competition makes a man."

AUSTIN, Texas.—In order to revive the art of hand-weaving as used in colonial days, fifty girls at the University of Texas are studying weaving in the textile class taught by an instructor in the home economics department. Girls weave their own scarfs of various colored wool thread in plaids, stripes or plain colors.

BUTLER TILT TICKETS ON SALE THURSDAY

Tickets for the Butler game, the remaining games on series A, and series B, go on open sale at 8 o'clock Thursday morning, Paul Hunter announced last night. All the series C tickets are sold out, and of the B series there are only 17 left, which promises a merry scramble for about 17 minutes. Mr. Hunter also said that all "W" men should call for their tickets to the Butler game not later than today.

So It Seems

Armed with the many shortcomings of his squad, as shown in the Wabash game, Meanwell is working his men hard in daily drills this week. Butler comes Friday night and proves a good opponent for a pre-season game, in fact right now would seem to be superior to the Wisconsin quintet.

Basket shooting is one of the duties of the week in the red building. With 41 tries at the basket against Wabash, 10 were sent through the hoop. Although Wabash did not get near the hoop as frequently, the batting average of the Hoosiers was much better.

In free throws, too, much practice must be held. One out of six was the record against Wabash, which is, after all, not much of a record.

Although Spooner is in shape to start against the Indianapolis quintet Friday night, it is probable that Doc will keep him out and save him for Big Ten games later on, unless he finds it necessary to send him into the fray in the closing minutes to pull the game out of the fire.

The Franklin-Purdue game Friday night will offer chances for more comparative scores, if they count for anything. The Badgers meet both Purdue and Franklin later in the season.

With Captain Graham ineligible, Coach Kent of Northwestern has his hands full preparing for the first game with Notre Dame a week from Friday. But the Purple is coming up in athletics, especially in football and basketball, and Kent's teams will most likely show 'em better basketball this year.

Coach Taylor, of Minnesota, is

GOOD CONDITION OF ATHLETES TOLD BY WEIGHTS CHEST

Men Tested Before and After Playing; Lost Weight Shows Staleness

A most important device, called the weight-sheet, is used by the football and basketball coaches to learn the physical condition of their men.

Before and after practicing, the men mark down their weights on the chart. The second marking will show a decrease in weight, depending on the condition of the man, the strenuous work, and the temperature. There have been cases where a man lost 12 pounds in an exceptionally hard game on a warm day, but this is uncommon, the usual range being from four to eight pounds.

For the next day the lost poundage is made up again, if the man is in good condition, but if he is not, the man is stale and will have to be laid off for a time until he is in condition again.

another exponent of the short pass system in basketball. He has taught his squad its use, and in the North Dakota game his protégés scored four field goals in the first minutes of play, largely through the effectiveness of the short pass.

Kassel, of Illinois football fame, has proved to be a star on the basketball floor also. In the DePauw game he showed his caliber and Coach Craig Ruby feels more optimistic.

Iowa is in a bad way—the Wabash game showed that. With Captain Janse out, things are dim in the Hawkeye camp. Coach Sam Barry is putting all his time on the

Three Years Mainstay of Badger Line; Tackle on Camp's All-American in 1912

Last but not least in the list of famous Badger athletic heroes of yore is big "Butts" Butler of football renown.

Butler came to Wisconsin from the East where football is supposed to be played on a higher plane of technique than out here in what Easterners consider the wild and woolly west. He was well founded in the fundamentals of defensive play for which the East is especially noted.

For three years he was the whole right side of the Badger line while he held down the tackle position. In that grand and glorious year in Wisconsin's football history, 1912, when the Badgers romped over Big Ten teams at will to the conference championship, Butler came under the eagle eye of Walter Camp, authentic selector of all-American teams, and was placed on the famous scribe's first all-American team.

"Butts" was perhaps the biggest tackle in the way of avoid-dupos who ever held a position on a Wisconsin eleven, and his last year of competition his weight slowed up his playing to a considerable extent so that he failed to repeat his performance of 1912 of placing on Camp's team. Even at that "Butts" outplayed every opposing tackle that he met that season with the possible exception of a giant colored tackle on the Michigan Aggie eleven.

When not romping around in the moleskins the big tackle tossed the shot on Coach Jones' track teams. He won his "W" in the weight development of the guards and hopes to hold Butler Saturday night.

TWO OHIO STATE CAPTAINS-ELECT 19 YEARS OF AGE

Cunningham, Football, and Black, Cross Country, Star During Past Season

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 16.—It isn't often that a lad still in his teens gets to captain a varsity squad at a Big Ten institution but Ohio State has two such captains-elect. "Cookie" Cunningham, who will lead the Buckeyes on the gridiron next fall, is one and Crayton K. Black, who will pilot the cross country team is the other.

Writers Laud Player.

Cunningham at 19 has the further distinction of having been a practically unanimous choice for all-conference end in football and all-conference center in basketball. He has also been picked on one-third all-American teams this fall and has been given honorable mention by a number of writers who can't count the country.

Black from Columbus.

Cunningham's folks named him "Harold" but he was long since dubbed "Cookie." Just why, no one seems to know. His home is at Mt. Vernon.

Black is a Columbus product. He is also a member of the varsity track team.

After his graduation Butler coached the gridiron teams at Western Reserve college with considerable success. At present he is engaged in the poultry business in New Jersey.

WISCONSIN'S SPIRIT CARRIES ON AT ORPH, COMMERCE BANQUET

Entire Program is "a la Wisconsin," Student Crowd Gives Yells

That Wisconsin spirit does not begin nor end with the football season and continues through the entire year was the keynote of the banquet and Orpheum party given last night by the Madison Association of Commerce for the varsity grididers, all-Americans, freshman football men, and cross country team. Everything, from the food, menu, and even the Orph party which was attended by scores of university students, was "a la Wisconsin."

Governor J. J. Blaine headed the list of speakers, taking as his subject, "The State and Football" at the banquet held at the Park hotel at which M. B. Olbrich was toastmaster. Mayor I. Milo Kittleson spoke on "Madison, the Football Center." Coach Jack Ryan took "Yesterday, Today and Tomorrow" as his topic and spoke of football in general, stressing the great amount of football learned from Notre Dame this year, and the stiff opponents scheduled for next season.

Harris Sorry to Go.

Jack Harris, captain of the 1924 team, spoke on "The Year Just Past." "I am sorry my football days are over," he said. Steve Puskis, captain-elect, expressed optimism for next year and declared the 1925 team will be a team of fighters. Emerson Ela, past president of the Association of Commerce, spoke on Wisconsin spirit.

Music by Jess Cohen's orchestra, singing of "On Wisconsin" led by Miss Katherine Reid, Moose quartet, and Union Vodvil act by Solbraa and Goodlad were features of the program during the banquet.

The party then broke up and marched to the Orpheum, where a mob of enthusiastic students met the players and sang as the pep band led them into the theater. Cheers were led by Shorty Walsted, even the actors participating in the cheering and singing. The theater was decorated with Wisconsin pennants; even the chorus bore the Cardinal and White colors.

Steinauer Makes Merry.

Enthusiasm ran high and the track suit and the football suit found their way into the habitats of the actors.

"And what are you doing?" she twitted.

"I'm bowing for Joe Steinauer," said the little actress.

"I read where Charley Chaplin has been picking 'em young; I wonder how he missed you!" was Joe's retort and the party continued.

COACH OUTLINES WORK FOR COMING BASEBALL SEASON

Warns All Squad Candidates to Be Careful of Scholastic Standings

Coach Guy S. Lowman outlined the coming baseball season and warned about 25 new candidates for the squad to be careful of their scholastic standings at the baseball meeting last Thursday afternoon.

"There is not an ocean of material on hand, but we will try to make a winning team out of what we have," Coach Lowman said yesterday. "With only three men as a nucleus for the squad next season, there will be plenty of work to be done, but the response to the first call for candidates was very encouraging."

Three Varsity Men Back.

Captain Ellingson, Dick Steen and Einer Tangen are the only men who played last year, and much is expected from these men this year. The candidates for the battery position include Lamboley, who played catch on the Varsity some last year, and Rollie Barnum, who was catcher on the frosh squad last year, and Stan Clausen, Art Lustig, and Bob Trimlin, who are out for the pitching staff.

Two Out for Bat.

Lutsig and Trimlin both worked with the frosh last year, and Clausen was used on the Varsity squad. Other promising candidates are Russ Coleman '26, E. F. Donagon, last year's frosh captain, O. M. Edwards '27, Paul Jehle '27, Lloyd Larson '27, Leonard Schmidt '26, Fred Teich '27, George Tyle '27, Harold Wheelan '26, and "Red" Martell '27.

No practice will take place until the first of February, when the batteries will begin indoor work, and actual practice will start in the early spring.

LIGHTS ERECTED, HORN TO WARN SLIDERS, DEEP TRACK IS SAFE

To encourage greater student participation in outdoor winter sports, improvements are being made on the toboggan slide, and additional skating rinks will be placed on the lower campus, according to George W. Martin, director of winter sports.

The toboggan slide will be ready as soon as the lake freezes and enough snow falls. Lights have been put up, and a loud Klaxon in the nature of an automobile horn will be connected. A button pushed at the top of the slide, warns the tobogganers at the bottom. The track ranges from one foot deep at the top, to three feet deep at the bottom.

Skating classes for men, under the direction of George Martin, will begin immediately after Christmas vacation. New rinks will be constructed on the lower campus.

NORTHWESTERN TO ERECT STADIUM AND FIELD HOUSE

Alumni Will Back Project to Be Completed By Next Fall

Northwestern has joined the ranks of the universities to build new stadiums. At the alumni football banquet held at the Auditorium hotel in Chicago the chairman of the board of trustees announced that a new stadium and field house will be ready for use when the grid season gets under way next fall.

Has 54,000 Capacity

The new stadium will have a capacity of 54,000. A novel feature of the stadium will be a basketball floor under one of the main concrete stands with a seating capacity of 8,000. This will be one of the largest seating capacities for basketball games in the conference.

With new stadiums at Ohio, Illinois, Minnesota and Purdue recently completed, and Indiana's and Wisconsin's big plants in the course of construction, and Chicago and Northwestern planning to have theirs done by next year, the Big Ten conference can boast of a group of stadia superior to any similar group of universities in the country.

Schools Average 50,000

When all of these structures are completed the total seating capacity of the Big Ten schools for any one game will be 512,000 or an average of over 50,000 for each stadium.

NEW YORK CITY, N. Y.—Official plans for Student hall, an immense structure to be erected on the campus at Columbia college, were made public the other day. This building will house all the various activities of the college. A huge dining hall will accommodate five or six hundred students, grill rooms, lounging rooms, and offices for the various campus publications will occupy the first four floors of the 15-story building. Dormitories will occupy the upper floors of the building.

ROTARY INTER-COLLEGiate

There has been much comment in the conference about a rotary football schedule. This is the system now used in basketball, and is proving very satisfactory. The plan implies each of the Big Ten universities would play four or five conference games a season so that in two years it would have met every team.

This has the disadvantage in disrupting such annual affairs as the Wisconsin-Minnesota game, such a contract as that between Wisconsin and Chicago, but it is felt by many that the advantages of the proposed system would far outweigh these objections.

At a meeting not long ago in Chicago of alumni representatives from eight conference schools all were in favor of this rotary plan.

The student body here should give it consideration, so that the sentiment can be ascertained.

We are in favor of it on the grounds that it will abolish the barter and chance of making out football schedules from which come many misunderstandings and much hard feeling. In addition, the conference schools would become better acquainted with each other, and, besides a varied program would incite a great deal of interest that is not possible now.

It would insure good schedules for each team in the conference.

OUR FREEDOM

In answering the charge that the local newspapers are largely responsible for the absence of many good athletes at Wisconsin the editor of one of the papers declared that "it might have been a good thing if the freedom of discussion permitted sport writers in other Madison papers, were extended to the Daily Cardinal."

It is evident that this editor believes that the Daily Cardinal is curbed and its news censored by some board or faculty committee.

To the contrary, however, the Daily Cardinal is absolutely free in what it has to say, in its news policy and its editorial policy. In witness of this fact are editorials which have appeared in recent issues of this paper.

The sport department is as free as the editorial or any other department of the Daily Cardinal, and anything which appears in its columns should be taken, not as matter that has been dictated by some power beyond the staff or censored by a committee especially designated for the purpose, but as matter which has been determined upon and written perfectly freely.

WISCONSIN NEEDS A COACH

Madison is known the country over as being one of the best sites for winter sports in the world. There are opportunities for carrying on more forms of winter sport here than almost anywhere else in the country. Wisconsin's winter carnival may sometime rival that held by Dartmouth. Wisconsin's ski club defeated all comers last year at Lake Placid. Ice boats made in Madison are famous from coast to coast. Tobogganing has always been encouraged here, and bobbing has been a popular form of amusement.

As for skating, every one knows what it amounts to here. And yet, although the athletic department encourages almost every kind of winter sport here, hockey seems to be, perhaps not overlooked, but certainly not encouraged to any great extent. There is some first class material for a hockey team in the university; there is plenty of opportunity for practice, but it is impossible for players to organize and coach themselves.

Hockey has been looked upon as one of the most important minor sports here, but so far no hockey coach has been secured for this year. Doubtless it is difficult to secure such a coach, but according to a statement which came yesterday from the athletic department, no great effort has been made along this line.

The Minnesota hockey team has been practicing since December 1 in an indoor rink. Wisconsin has no indoor rink and no immediate prospects for one, but the lagoons at Lake Wingra have been frozen since before Thanksgiving. The members of last year's team have gotten together and with the help of a graduate have run through some practices. But they can not do the job alone.

POLITE MANNERS?

"Ha, ha, ha! Did you hear how he pronounced a-r-g-u-m-e-n-t? Ha, ha!"

"Who?"

"Why, the prof, of course. He can't pronounce English. Wonder where he's from?"

When in a large lecture room well filled with students perhaps 100 murmurs and snickers such as this are audible, there is ample reason to believe that only too many of said students are lacking in sympathy, understanding, and true sense of humor.

There are several foreign professors on the hill who have not mastered English accent. They often mispronounce the most common sounds and give strange emphasis to their sentences. But those sounds are not to be thought of as common in their native languages; perhaps they do not exist in their languages at all.

One might make caustic observations on how an American sounds with his college French or German in Europe. One might also say that over there only young children find such mistakes funny.

The truth of the matter is that in this country also only small children laugh at such things, with the exception of the ill-bred.

MAKING STUDENTS TREMBLE

For the last few weeks the lives of those students who happened to cross the lower campus during the latter part of an afternoon have been endangered by a couple of track aspirants who have been practicing throwing the hammer about that particular lot.

A hammer, such as is used in field events, is a heavy round ball attached to two wires. The performer grasps the ends of the wires in his hands and swings the mace about him in a circle until it has attained sufficient momentum, when he lets go of it. He can determine to a certain extent where the hammer will land, but he can not determine exactly.

And for that reason those who practice hammer throwing on the lower campus endanger the lives of the students who are within a radius of 200 feet. If that heavy ball hit any one, it would cause a serious, perhaps a fatal, injury.

The track aspirants would do well to carry on their performances at Camp Randall, the place which is designated for such practice.

Pet peeves no. 2—the gent (he can not be called otherwise) who parks his gum in drinking fountains.

Carnegie Tech complains that its "varsity" is too much like the latest jazz selection. Ours is said to be a first class funeral dirge as it is sung now. Perhaps we could trade music with Tech and satisfy everybody.

It is evident that this editor believes that the Daily Cardinal is curbed and its news censored by some board or faculty committee.

To the contrary, however, the Daily Cardinal is absolutely free in what it has to say, in its news

PRODUCTION STAFF DESIGNS SCENERY

Settings and Paintings For Pre-Prom Play Made Entirely By Students

Plans for stage production of the pre-prom play, "The Rescuing Angel," by Clare Kummer, have begun, according to Mark C. Porter '26, production manager of Wisconsin Players. The entire scenery for the play will be built by the production staff of the players under the supervision of Eugene Kane '26, stage manager.

The designing, painting and planning of lighting effects will be done by the art structure class, under the supervision and direction of Prof. A. N. Colt, of the art department. This is the first time that the entire setting for pre-prom play has been designed and built by students.

The play will be presented by the members of the Wisconsin Players under the direction of William Janowitz, and the general supervision of Prof. Gertrude E. Johnson, both of the speech department.

More workers, especially carpenters, are needed at once, if the stage production of the play is to be a success. Offices on the production staff are still open, and appointments will be announced soon. All those interested may attend the meeting of the production staff at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in Lathrop concert room.

Committees Work on Southern Club Mardi Gras Plans

Committees have been at work preparing for the leading social event of the Southern club—the Mardi Gras, which will be held February 20, 1925, at the Cameo room. The date was first set for the middle of January, but because of the proximity of the final examination period, it was postponed until after the Prom.

This year, as last, the decorations will be beautiful and unique, with the distinct Southern atmosphere. Efforts are being made to make this year's Mardi Gras even more brilliant than the one of last year.

Clever specialty acts will be engaged for entertainment of members of the club and their guests. Immediately after the Christmas recess, the committee chairmen and their workers will be announced.

Emanuel Benson's orchestra has been engaged to furnish music.

YULETIDE PLAY IS GIVEN IN LATHROP

35 Women Take Part in Pa- geant Given at Y. M. C. A. Vespers

"An Open Christmas Hearth," a Yuletide pageant, was presented at the Y. W. C. A. Christmas vespers service in the concert room, Lathrop hall, on Sunday afternoon. The pageant was directed by Margaret Campbell '25 and Miss Hoard, of the Wisconsin high school.

The story of the play was laid in the dreary palace of the "Land of Efficiency," where the people are so matter of fact that they have lost all their imagination. A strolling player comes before the princess and her court and tells them about the first Christmas. The princess wish that they could have a real Christmas, is granted.

The cast included the princess, Alice Brown '26; jester, Marcella Ehrman '27; a strolling player, Jean MacGregor '28; Alicia, Jane Gaston '27; the councillor, Mary Reising '28; the accountant, Mary Echiverier '26; Neil, Genevieve Jones, grad; spirits of holly, Esther Rosenberg '25, Catherine Rice '25, Helen Hafstadden, grad; spirits of mistletoe, Mabel Butler '27, Doris Taylor '27, doll, Margaret McClemon, grad.

Jumping jack, Patricia Childe '28; rag doll clown, Genevieve Jones, grad; spirit of Christmas tree, Lorraine Cheeseman '26; Lord of Misrule, Virginia Skinner '27; Mistress Molly, Betty Simmons '25; Dame Minee Pie, Lorraine Burdon '27; Robin Hood, Ruth Mantell '28; Maid Marion, Margaret Stedman '28.

DEPARTMENTS PREPARE EXHIBITS FOR DISPLAY

Many high schools are expected to send delegates.

Expect 20,000 Visitors

The center of the state's educational forces will present to the 20,000 visitors who are expected, the spirit of the students of the university, and will show the interrelation between their training here and the work they will take up as citizens of the state. Each field of activity, presented accurately and completely, will give the visitor a picture of life which cannot be obtained in any other way.

The directors of the exposition have procured one and a half rates for the round trip for people who attend the exposition.

HOLD CHORUS TRYOUTS FOR "IVAN-HO" TODAY

Preliminary tryouts for all chorus positions in "Ivan-Ho," the 27th annual musical comedy production of the Haresfoot club will be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the concert room of Lathrop hall, according to Gordon Arey '24, vice president of the club. The call is for those in the chorus of "Twinkle, Twinkle," those who were in dancing classes last year and any others who care to try out.

Christ Church Pastor to Undergo Operation Today

Dr. George E. Hunt, pastor of Christ Presbyterian church, was to undergo a minor operation late today at a local hospital as a result of an infection. His condition is not considered serious, however.

NOW LET AN AVALANCHE of Christmas Shoppers Descend!
THE CO-OP IS READY

THE gay whirl of holiday buying—the excited last-minute rush to fill up the Christmas list—the delightful, intoxicating, just-before-vacation fever can't sweep us off our feet. We like it!

Thousands of students and faculty throng our aisles throughout the year, descending in deluges at semester beginnings, but none do we welcome so gladly as the holiday crowd. We can take care of you!

These two days before leaving for home—blessed word!—give you just time to dash in and pick up the gifts you must have to make Christmas complete.

Our sales people know you—they're familiar with your wants, and can make suggestions about the gifts most longed for by every member of the family. They have ideas, and at their finger-tips are our great stock of marvellously, satisfying holiday offerings, from the staid to the frivolous, from dainty trifles, fit for remembrances, to substantial gifts that will win lasting appreciation.

Remember, these stocks have been gathered at the dictates of nearly thirty years' knowledge of what you want. Where else, search the wide world over, could you shop with such certainty of satisfaction?

The Co-op—the students' store—in its bright dress of holiday green and red, over-flowing with gifts, is a-tip-toe to serve you!

Pyrex Dishes

What gift shows more thought than the one that really lightens someone's work? Pyrex baking dishes, pretty to look at, easy to clean make a delightfully useful gift that will gladden any mother's heart. Single pieces and special sets in boxes.
