BASKET BALL TEAM

SEASON'S PRACTICE SOON TO BEGIN IN EARNEST.

Several Teams Want Games—Good Material at Hand—Captain and Manager Chosen.

Basketball as an indoor winter sport is assuming a great deal of importance in athletic circles this year. A few years ago the game was almost unknown in the West, but has been gradually introduced into the great universities with much success. Three years ago the first basketball team was organized at Wisconsin. Walter P. Hirschberg was captain. Games were arranged and the team met with indifferent success. Last year two games were played, one with Minnesota and one with Wayland Academy. Our boys went down in defeat before the Minnesota team, but were successful in the game with Wayland.

This year it is proposed to have a star basketball team. At a meeting last week Hirschberg was re-elected captain and Dr. Elsom business manager. Under the able direction of these men new material will be developed and games will be arranged with some of the best teams. Messrs. Carter and Potter, who played last year on the star team at the Milwaukee Normal school, are here this year and will prove valuable men.

Communications have been received from several good teams requesting games. The West Superior Normal school wishes to arrange a series of three games and a challenge has been received from the Armour Institute team. The Armour boys made an excellent showing last year, and will afford a good game if it can be arranged. A mighty effort will be made this year to wipe out our defeat by Minnesota, and if games can be secured a hard battle will take place. It is possible that practice games can be arranged with Wayland Academy or Lawrence University.

The team will be out for practice within a week. Practice will be held on Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays, the time to be announced later.

There is now no reason why Wisconsin should not support a good basketball team this year. Teams are now supported by all the great universities, both eastern and western. The game is one of the best indoor sports for winter, and is especially beneficial to track men, as it develops the wind and endurance to a high degree.

Address by Mrs. Mabel L. Conklin.

The men of the University are fortunate in having the privilege of hearing this earnest and gifted woman. Mrs. Conklin has spoken with great success in Harvard and other eastern colleges, where the students have been unanimous in their high commendation of her ability as a speaker and of her pleasing personality. For several years she has been engaged in the work of the White Cross Society in New York and Brooklyn. Her work is attracting widespread attention and unanimous praise.

Mrs. Conklin will address the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon at the usual time and place. All men are invited.

—Miss Hattie Heller, '99, is spending a few days in Madison.

Engineering Building Renovated.

The engineering faculty have been very fertile in plans and very untiring in labor the past season. As evidence of this, one need but look at the extensive improvement and remodeling which has taken place in the engineering building.

All the machinery has been painted white, thereby adding greatly to the general appearance of the machinery. However the aim of those in charge was to obtain better light and to stimulate cleanliness on the part of the student. The lathes and instruments will be kept clean and this will necessitate carefulness on the part of the students. The lathes have been rearranged into a compact body this becoming handier for instructors and more commodious for the students.

Among the extensive improvements has been the obtaining of great economy in power by a new contrivance which has been added. Instead of the old arc lights which have been previously used, a Western Electric dynamo has been substituted which is applied to large incandescent lights of a new model. Each lathe has also been provided with a separate light.

The electrical laboratories have been renovated and placed in new quarters. Each division of the department is now separated, thus eliminating confusion.

Perhaps the greatest improvement is the new heating and ventilating plant which will certainly be hailed with joy by every engineer.

Certainly the engineering faculty deserve high praise in the work which they have accomplished, and Wisconsin need not be afraid to boast of one of the best of engineering schools.

Track Team.

All men who intend to try for the track team will be called out very soon to get in shape for a series of indoor meets to be given this winter. The freshman class this year has not shown up as well as expected; still with some of these men together with such men as Hahn, Breedsteen, McGowan, Schule, Burdick, and some other good material in last year's team, we ought to have a very strong team. The work of last year's team fully demonstrated the fact that the indoor work is absolutely necessary for the development of a strong team, therefore the men should all turn out for the winter practice.

Coach Kilpatrick is very busy getting a number of indoor meets for this winter. In all probability meets will be arranged with Notre Dame and Illinois.

Football Practice.

Owing to the snow and general bad condition of Camp Randall the football squad were given nothing but signal practice last evening. For over half an hour both the regulars and the scrubs were run through their plays by Coach King and his assistants. Several changes were made in the Varsity line up. Cochems was transferred from left end to left half, his position at end being filled by Abbott. Skow has not yet returned from a trip home to vote and his place at center was covered by Remp. The remainder of the line up was the same as in Saturday's game.

Weekly Convocation.

The convocation will be held tomorrow at twelve as usual. Prof. Haskins will address the students. His subject has not been announced.

HIGH SCHOOL COLUMN

ACCREDITED SCHOOLS HAVE SPACE IN CARDINAL.

Object to Keep Secondary Schools in Touch With University and With Each Other.

A circular letter has been sent to about one hundred or two hundred and fifty accredited high schools in and out of the state, explaining the object of the High School department. The letter reads as follows:

The Daily Cardinal, the official paper of the University of Wisconsin, is sent this year, as in the past, to your school by the University, free of charge, the object of this being to keep the accredited schools in touch with the University and with each other. To facilitate this the Cardinal will reserve a column for the schools, and in this there will be published articles on high schools and academies, and communications from them concerning their work.

It is especially requested that each school interest itself in this column and strive to make it a success. Appoint one or two correspondents, and send in articles at least once in three or four weeks. Make them of general interest. Give your enrollment, staff of teachers, number of courses in your school, athletic news, societies formed, and literary work done. Tell about your school entertainments and money raised, your library and laboratory facilities, and everything else that the different schools of this and neighboring states care to know.

Although this letter was not sent to all of the many high schools of the state, the Cardinal wishes it distinctly understood that all schools are invited to send in contributions to this column. As the letter suggests, the object of this is to keep the high schools of the state in touch with one another, and to bring them into closer connection with the University, where so many of the High School students plan to spend their college life. If all the schools in the state enter heartily into the plan, the High School department will be a success, and the pride of all the schools which aid it by their contributions.

The letters from the various schools should deal with affairs which are of special interest to high schools, and should be made as entertaining as possible. The Cardinal would also like to urge that the communications be sent in at regular intervals because if the matter is not attended to regularly the High School Department will fall in its purpose. On the other hand if every school does its part and sends in an interesting letter at regular intervals the column devoted especially to high schools will be made one of the most successful features of the paper.

—Miss Marie Kohler, '01, is at her home in Sheboygan on account of the death of her father.

—G. S. Phelps, secretary University Y. M. C. A., went to La Crosse on business this morning.

—Proof sheets of the student's directory have been placed on one of the bulletin boards in Main Hall. Any corrections should be handed to the registrar at once.

Track Work.

Now that the weather prohibits any out door work with the exception of football, it is time that track men turned their attention to the development of material for the indoor meets. The pursuance of a policy of holding such meets resulted last year in a series of very enjoyable athletic meetings and in the development of considerable material for the regular team in the spring. Wisconsin has appreciably dropped from her former preeminent position in track athletics and only the inception of a policy of hard, continuous hustling can regain that position for us. The Cardinal hopes that this matter will be taken to heart and receive the attention of all men qualified to enter into such work.

Some Alterations.

The executive committee of the Board of Regents has granted the use of the library part of the old Library building to the School of Music. The building will be altered considerably to meet the demands of its new employment. The report is that a number of new windows will be cut in the walls and a new entrance made on the north side. It is to be hoped that this will be done carefully and artistically. The peculiar style of the building will make this difficult, but the success attained in the apparently hopeless task of making a fairly congruous edifice out of old Main Hall leads one to think that it may be done. The old library possesses the possibility of being one of the most picturesque buildings on the campus, and we can only hope its alteration externally will be left in competent hands.

Incidentally, it seems to be about time that something was done to improve the interior appearance of Library Hall. While we have grown oblivious to the cheap and shifty pedestals upon which the statues stand and have some of us, perhaps, outgrown our pristine impulse to tuck in Minerva's background around the edges, strangers notice these things and the impression is unfavorable, to say the least.

It might also be suggested that a new name might be found for the hall and building in order to avoid the confusion which now arises when the new library and the old library are mentioned.

Local and Personal.

—Harry McNeill, '02, was at his home at Sheboygan a few days.

—Mr. P. Husaboe of De Forest was about the campus Wednesday.

College Finances.

According to recent educational reports there are about four hundred colleges in the United States. The value of the grounds, buildings, and apparatus of these colleges amounts to $150,000,000 in interest bearing funds, from which they derive their yearly support. There are more than twenty colleges in the country that have each income-producing property of more than $1,000,000. Harvard has more than $10,000,000 and Yale has about $5,000,000. Chicago has $8,000,000, Cornell $6,000,000 and Johns Hopkins $3,000,000. Columbia has a yearly income of 425,000. Among the other colleges that possess interest-bearing funds of at least $1,000,000 are Brown, Western Reserve, Princeton, Tulane, Wesleyan, Amherst and Rochester. The wealthy Universities of Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota and California have each a yearly income, secured by state legislation, considerably more than the income of $1,000,000. Four-fifths of the productive funds of colleges are invested in bonds and mortgages. A few colleges have large amounts invested in stocks and a few, such as Harvard and Columbia, have invested largely in real estate. In regard to the expenditure of these incomes different plans prevail at different institutions. In the University of Michigan, two-thirds of the income goes to instruction and one-third to administration. In the University of California four-fifths goes to instruction and one-fifth to administration. The salary of the better paid American professors is about $2,000, and of other professors $1,500. Two or three colleges pay a very few of their professors as much as $6,000. The present tendency is toward an increase in the salaries of professors and a decrease for instructors.

The most remarkable athletic event of the past month and perhaps of the entire year was the quarter mile run by Maxwell W. Long at Columbia on the New York Athletic Club grounds. He covered the distance in 47 4-5 seconds, beating the world's record by nearly one second. In other words, during his entire journey around the track he was running at the rate of a hundred yards in 10.9 seconds. When it is remembered that there are not more than a half a dozen who can run a single hundred yards in 10 seconds, one is able to realize the significance of this remarkable feat.

A great many students are finding that a typewriter is almost a necessity. When we remember that one can get through with from three to ten times as much work on a typewriter as with a pen it does not seem strange that they are coming into almost universal use.

The Madison Cycle Co. at 113 State street rents all makes at very reasonable rates and also carries a full line of typewriter supplies.
