MUSEUM EXHIBITS REMBRANDTS AND FRENCH POSTERS

Sixty Photographs Are Unusual Because of Variety and Completeness

Over sixty photographic reproductions of Rembrandt pictures, collected by the State Historical society, and twelve posters issued by the railways of France, are now being exhibited in the State Historical museum.

C. E. Brown of the State Historical society, in speaking of the Rembrandt collection, said that the display was unusual because of its variety and completeness.

"Rembrandt has succeeded in rendering the head in a realistic, characteristic, and at the same time a picturesque manner. He depicts the inner life and is the painter of the soul," said Mr. Brown today.

LOYALTY NEEDED FOR SUCCESS OF RELIGIOUS CONVO —ROE

Dean Answers Committee
Question—"What Can I Do?"

That personal liberty and responsibility are needed from every committee member taking part in the coming religious conference, was the statement of Dean F. W. Roe at a meeting of the chairmen of the Campus Religious conference held in the Union building last night. This was in answer to the question "What Can I Do," the subject of Dean Roe's talk.

"I am interested in the conference," said the dean, "not from the statistical point of view, but from the personal viewpoint. How much influence will this conference have in helping those who take part in it to become better Christians? What transformation will result among those who have a direct contact with the meetings and will such a transformation be of a lasting character? A satisfactory answer can be given to these questions only if every student attending any or all of the religious meetings puts his whole heart into the Christian and moral side of the conference rather than the social element connected with it.

"The world has grown much faster in knowledge and religious equipment than it has in morals, and it has lost a great deal of its faith and confidence in Christianity, especially since the last great war. It is because of this that the religious conference is of so great an importance. The students are too much absorbed in their own affairs and business men too interested in a means to an end to take account of their fellow classmates and business associates.

"The conference should bring us back to the first principle of Christianity which is love. By love is meant active good will backed up by the Golden Rule. It is this love which is the heart of Christianity and it is the religion finds a distinct uniqueness."

This talk was followed by a short business meeting at which the reports of the various committee chairmen were given.

NIGHT EDITORS AND ASSISTANTS

All night editors and night assistants on the staff of The Daily Cardinal will meet at 4:30 this afternoon in the Union building.

Teachers Will Get No Salary Increase

University teachers will receive no salary increase within the next three years, it was authoritatively learned today at the registrar's office.

Instructions sent out to deans of the various schools and heads of departments in regard to the making up of the budget for the two year period beginning September, 1923, declared that small increases in the amount allowed for salaries by the university finance committee which makes up the budget, would all be absorbed by the increased number of instructors.

The salary budget for the present school year is approximately $3,400,000. For the year 1922-23 the salary budget is smaller, totaling only $3,263,000.

The Badger basketball team will take the home floor tonight for the last time this season. The Maroons, by virtue of recent victories over Illinois and Minnesota are now rated among the first-water teams, and are certain to make a mighty effort to win from Wisconsin.

Coach Norgren appears to have hit upon a winning combination, and the same five will face Meanwell's team tonight that won from Illinois a week ago. Both teams have been playing improved ball during the past few games, so that dopesters are not favoring either quintet in the advance dope on this evening's tilt.

Will Use Same Team

Doctor Meanwell will likewise use the same combination that has worked so well against Illinois and Minnesota. Captain Ceaser and Taylor will play forwards, with Gibson starting at the pivot position. Rollie Williams and Gus Tebell will do the guarding. The Badger coach is well fortified with substitutes, however, and Gage, and Irish will undoubtedly be called upon to relieve the regulars. The former has been used in every

Cover of New Octy Uses Portrait of Historic Personage

The cover for the Historical Octopus appearing next Wednesday is completed and on the press. Heinz Rubel '23, who is responsible for the cover, explained it when interviewed yesterday, as follows:

"We resurrected a portrait of the founder of the university from the Historical library, and, after dusting it off, found it photographable into a cover. It is a new departure on the part of the Octopus—this running of pictures of famous men.

"The portrait is done in three shades of yellow, two shades of red, and one of black. The frame is Egyptian and the picture Connip-ton. Descendants of the revered man say it looks more like him than he does himself."

BLOECHER MADE NEW PRESIDENT OF PRESS CLUB

Elect Gladys Peterson Vice-President; Col. Brayton to Address Next Meeting

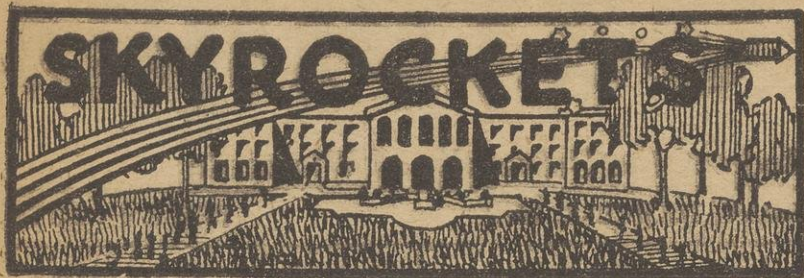

William F. Bloecher '22, was elected president of Press club last night at a regular meeting in Lathrop hall. Gladys I. Peterson '23 was chosen vice-president, and Kathryn Perry '23, secretary and treasurer.

Rodney C. Welsh '22, Porter Butts '24, and Betty Wadmond '23 were elected members of the executive committee for the present semester.

Col. A. M. Brayton, editor of the State Journal, will speak at the next regular meeting, which will be held March 21, it was announced.

No definite date for Pi-nite, which is the club's annual frolic, could be decided upon because of a conflict in dates for the engaging of the Lathrop concert room.

Plans for the Press club's activity in the varsity Jamboree were discussed and several suggestions concerning innovations were considered.

NOW that the Gopher chapter of the WE ARE HERE has been found to be an advertising campaign, would it be too much to suppose the Badger chapter has been formed to promote a little personal publicity that will appear very soon? If the Kappas were not such a bunch of blooming atheists and, therefore, entirely averse to crosses, we would suggest that it was their private scheme. However, considering that the black maltese cross is a relic of the curio-hunting fetish during the late fracas and fricasse, and further, that there are a number of sea-going A. T. O.'s who wear the little black cross, we are sure that the mystery is near its solution.

WITH the season this far along, is your engine still running smoothly? Or, like us, are you burning a too thin mixture of midnight oil and finding that you are overheating and missing fire? Now that all lecturers have cleared the ground and are settled for heavy work, can you pull the grade without slipping into low? This is our misfortune, and although we attempted to recover by feeding more stuff, we find too big a load in the rear seat.

OUR old fashioned contrabands who used to sing of the delightful benefits of the wild March winds are without the needed spice for their concoctions. The modern poet is more sophisticated; he speaks anent of fashions removing the life-giving spirit from the wild winds of early spring. 'Ray! Poetry shall always be, no matter how brief the skirt or how roguish the wind.

THE N. O. L. TRYOUTS

A BIG achievement for Wisconsin among mid-western colleges last year was the fact that its representative in the Northwestern Oratorical League contest won the classic, making the fourth victory for Wisconsin in thirty-five years of contesting.

Class oratorical contests have been announced to take place in two weeks. By a process of elimination in the sophomore, junior, and senior contests, contestants in the final contest will be chosen, the winner to represent Wisconsin at the N. O. L. this year. The fact that the N. O. L. ranks as the premier undergraduate oratorical contest in the country should be sufficient incentive to secure a record turnout in the preliminary contests.

The coming tryouts offer excellent opportunity for aspiring speakers—the art of formal speaking is an enviable one and training such as may be procured by going out for these contests should not be overlooked.

That Wisconsin has in the last two years taken a first and a second place speaks well and it is reasonable to expect that our present high standing will be maintained if sufficient of the oratorically inclined on the campus seriously get out for the coming contests, so that the very best may represent us.

SPRINGTIME

NOW are the days when we can leave for class, comfortable in scarf and overcoat, and go out into the open again two hours later and feel like sprinting around the campus in a track suit. Then, at night when we turn out the light and open all the windows, we realize that the blankets are none too many. Such are the first signs of spring.

The youthful spirit, it seems, responds most quickly to weather changes, especially when the change admits of laying aside part of one's heavier wearing apparel. The hatless, coatless, or the muffler and galosh clad students make a very sensitive barometer—too sensitive, however, for the greatest physical well-being of the student body.

In caring for personal health, many of the students are in that intermediate stage, beyond where fond parents advise and they need not worry, but before that where they seriously concern themselves about the matter.

It is a bit early in the year for the traditional scholastic "spring fever," but just the right time for being laid up with any of numerous clinical spring fevers. Many can save themselves the opportunity of getting full value in medical attention for their semester's medical fees, by not being too barometrical in attire.

COLLEGE ROT

IF any college activity ever earned just criticism to the effect that students in college in lieu of anything better to do were resorting to rot in the nth degree, it is the Anti-Effeminacy Club at Northwestern. Following is an editorial which appeared in the Indiana Daily Student recently:

THE CALL OF THE WILD

This is an age of strange happenings. People are becoming quite accustomed to outlandish occurrences; especially the unusual, spasmodic outbreaks peculiar to college life. The public is gradually growing more tolerant of what it deems an unconventional younger generation, but its forbearance is occasionally imposed upon, each time with the result that colleges become the victims of ridicule.

It appears, to judge from the satirical editorial comments of the press, that Northwestern university students have succeeded in giving the orthodox another shock. Bizarre college vogues of the past are totally eclipsed with the advent of the so-called "Anti-Effeminacy Club," a "chapter" of which has recently been installed at Northwestern.

The organization appears to be composed of certain male members of the student body and devoted to the tremendously important task of re-establishing simon-pure masculinity and of obliterating the feminine characteristics which have infected our young manhood. The zealots have solemnly consecrated themselves to their worthy cause and we are expected to pray for a better day when our deplorably effeminate manhood shall be once more brought back to virility.

They have placed a ban on everything feminine. No more shall the walks of the Northwestern campus resound with the soft pat of male feet encased in galoshes, for the galosh has been pronounced effeminate by the holy crusaders. Cigarettes, likewise, will be barred, for the cigarette shall be henceforth known only as a feminine luxury. Bell-bottom trousers, and narrow neckties shall be added to the junk heap. Violation of any of the rules by members of the "club" shall be punished by death. The call of the wilds has been sounded!

After all of this, is it to be presumed that "pink-tea enthusiasts" and other effeminate male students of Indiana university will immediately repent, and order at once one cave man costume complete, with full-sized bludgeon?—Indiana Daily Student.

The girls of the University of Wyoming have changed the slogan of the florist, "Say It With Flowers" to "Say It Yourself, John." They are asking the men not to send flowers when taking them to a dance, thereby lessening the pressure on the men's pocketbooks, and also taking compassion on the flowers.—Ex.

In its successful campaign for a new stadium, the University of California put itself in the situation, not of asking donations, but of selling seats in the stadium for the next ten years.

The cup will be displayed in one of the downtown stores sometime before the dance. Second and third prize posters will be rewarded with ribbons. The deadline for submitting the placards has been set for March 31. The judges and the place to bring the posters will be announced later in the Daily Cardinal.

No restriction as to size, material, or motif will be made, except that each notice must bear the general information to be advertised. The following facts must be included: the name, Freshman Frolic; the place, Lathrop gymnasium; the orchestra, Jesse Cohen's nine-piece group; and the date, Saturday, April 29. The fact that refreshments are to be served might also be mentioned.

Musicians Wanted For Haresfoot Pit

If you are a musician and can play any kind of orchestral instrument, you are asked to try out for the Haresfoot orchestra. Drummers, cello players, and bass viol artists are especially wanted.

Although the orchestrations for the show, "Kitty Corner," have not yet arrived, John Mokrejs '23, orchestra leader, is desirous of getting in touch with prospective pit men in order that practice may be started as soon as the score is finished. Mokrejs may be reached at Badger 975.

Hebrew Union Will Award Prizes For Oratorical Contest

Arousing the interest of Jewish students, strengthening the modern position of Judaism in America, and furthering the progress of Jewish ideals, are the purpose of the prize oration contest which will be conducted by the Union of the American Hebrew Congregations, according to Prof. Louis B. Wolfenson, of the Semetic language department.

This contest is to be held in 25 of the colleges and universities of the country, of which the University of Wisconsin is one. Two prizes, one of $50 and a second prize of $25, will be awarded to each school. The competition is open to all Jewish students, and the orations are not due until the middle of April or May. The subject may be on any thing of Jewish interest, or of any of the problems.

The orations when completed will be read before the Jewish Students association of the university, and those judged to be best will be sent in to the national award committee in Cincinnati. Only one prize will be awarded to a student, although they may submit as many orations and essays as they wish to. These orations should not be less than 2,000 words or more than 2,500 words long.

Signal Club Plans Spring Activities

J. R. Stein '23 was elected vice-president of the Signal club at meeting of the organization Tuesday night in the armory.

The club plans to give several novel entertainments this spring including an over-night hike, an will probably take part in the St. Patrick's day parade and Military ball.

The work of the unit during the winter months has been restricted to lectures and theoretical studies in the art of signaling. On account of the severe weather no out door work has been possible, but with the coming of spring the Signal corps unit of the R. O. T. C. will again take up practical work in the field.

The corps, established in the fall of 1920, has grown rapidly and now offers practical training to all students and furnishes the latest equipment obtainable.

"Students in electrical engineering are most interested in this training," said Capt. J. A. Ballard, director, "for it includes a large amount of work in radio signaling and wire communication."

Crowd Church To Hear Oratorio On Saul's Conversion

It is not often that one has the opportunity of hearing such presentations as the oratorio "St. Paul" as presented by the vested choir of the University Methodist church Sunday evening. The choir is under the direction of Prof. Lowell L. Townsend. A number were turned away because of the lack of seating facilities.

"Saint Paul" was written by Felix Mendelssohn, and is one of the greatest oratorios ever written. Therefore to say that the choir did full justice to the work as a whole means much more than saying that the singing was especially well done in certain parts. In the chorus parts, the clean attacks, the brilliancy and fullness of the contrapuntal work, and the absolute balance, seemed as natural and easy as the singing of a more experienced chorus.

The theme of the oratorio has to do with the story of Saul and his conversion to the Christian faith. It would really seem that Mendelssohn was under the influence of divine inspiration when he composed this immortal music, and the singers seemed to actually feel the spirit of the work in their interpretation.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

VARSITY TRACK MEN WILL RUN AGAINST IOWA

Hold Last Indoor Meet of Season Here - Saturday

Because the showing made by the strong Iowa entries at the Illinois relays last Saturday, the last dual meet of the indoor season with the Hawkeyes, which is scheduled for Saturday afternoon in the gymnasium annex, takes on a formidable aspect.

In the three days which remain before the meet, Coach Jones is striving to round the squad into the best possible shape to meet the speedy Iowans. With Wall and Finkle lost to the team for the season, he faces the problem of building up an entire new set of distance runners. The Iowans are not especially strong, however, in either the mile or the two mile, having lost their star cross country performer, Ristine, at the end of the first semester. Peterman of the Hawkeye squad is their mainstay in these runs at present, and is a good man at both.

Rossmessel Looks Good

Rossmessel, Moorhead, Tschudy, Schneider, Wille, Ramsay, and Powell of the Badger string are rapidly developing to fill the places of the two lost stellar performers in these departments. Carl Rossmessel especially, looks good, and can be depended upon to give Peterman a hard run.

Wilson, the Iowans' veteran sprinter, who won the 500-yard dash at the Illinois relays, setting a new record for the distance, will be hard to beat in the quarter mile. Johnson, who came within an inch of nosing out the Hawkeye in his race at Urbana, will give him a fast race on the Madison track, with which the Iowans are unfamiliar.

440 Men Fast

In Wilson, Keppler, Brookins, and Morrow, Coach Bresnahan of the Iowa squad has developed a fast quartet of 440 yard men, to stack up against Spetz, Stolley, Johnson and Ellison of the Badger team. A one mile relay may be arranged, with the same men running who broke the Illinois record in the meet last Saturday.

In the shorter dashes, Brookins is the Hawkeyes' star performer. The Iowa flash took the 75-yard dash at Champaign in the fast time of 8 seconds flat. With Knollin at his best, the 40 yard affair Saturday in the annex will be an interesting contest.

Should Win Pole Vault

In all the field events Wisconsin excels the Iowa team. Platte and Wilson can be counted on to win the high jump against Hoffman and Rick of the Hawkeye aggregation, and in the broad jump, with Sundt doing better than 22 feet regularly the Badgers should be able to chalk up another first in that event. Merrick is practically unbeatable in the pole vault and will have McClure, Mammann, and Tomlinson to assist him in beating the Iowa vaulters.

The shot put is not to be such an easy event for the Badger squad. Belding, the giant Locke, and Aubrey Devine are three husky football stars who will toss the leaden pellet in the meet against Sundt and Gude. None of these men have been tried in previous meets, however, and, although it is certain they have the necessary beef and brawn, it remains to be seen whether they have the skill which Sundt, the Badger veteran, has acquired through long experience.

Badgers Strong in Hurdles

Wisconsin's remaining strong point is the hurdles. Here, Knollin, Stolley, Newell, and Wallis should win from Belding, Erockins, Shope, and Rick.

The meet Saturday will be the only opportunity Madison supporters of the team will have of seeing their team in action on its home grounds, as the Conference contest at Evanston is set for a week from Saturday, and will close the indoor season.

The contest will also mark Coach

Boxing Champs Will Be Decided by Bouts

Boxing champions in the inter-class tournament will be decided this afternoon when eleven mitterslingers who have survived the elimination trials will step into the ring under the watchful eye of Manager "Eddie" Borgelt.

The following boxers will enter the padded ring for a fast series of bouts; Gould, Fortier, Learnard, Le Veille, Comstock, Moore, Russell, Jorgenson, Stipek, Pearson, and Fabera.

Under the new plan of barring all previous winners in the inter-class matches which have been run off, a great deal of new material was uncovered and winners are likely to give last year's title-holders a hard lift.

Prospective entrants from the all-university tournament which will be held later in March are already beginning to work out in the boxing room. Coach Borgelt is putting his men through their paces. The stocky battler steps a few rounds each day with his proteges.

Matches in seven classes, according to weight, will be scheduled. Winners of each will be awarded a medal.

KAPPA SIGSTAKE TWO IN BOWLING

The Kappa Sigs took two out of three games from Alpha Chi Sigs in the inter-fraternity bowling league last night.

The match was the first of a series of three to play off a triple tie for third place between the Kappa Sigs, the Alpha Chi Sigs, and the Tekes.

On Thursday night the Kappa Sigs will meet the Tekes, and next Tuesday the Alpha Chi Sigs will roll against the Tekes in the final game to decide the winners of the third, fourth, and fifth place cups.

Post Basketball Squads For Women

Women's basketball squads were posted Monday. The lists are as follows:

Juniors—Pearl Anderburg, Jeanette Cavanaugh, Alma Fenn, Nancy Lorentz, Jessie McClymont, Kathryn Perry, Ruth Reilly, Marion Whiting.

Sophomores—Mary Altdoeffer, Janice Boardman, Margaret Callen, Marie Carpenter, Charlotte Curry, Elizabeth Elsom, Mabel Jobse, Dorothy Kao, Janet Marshall, Bernice Scott.

Freshmen—Margaret Hennecke, Gertrude Kittleson, Dorothy Mathis, Annette Mayhew, Dorothy Nelson, Margaret Pergande, Mary Schneider, Harriet Thorp.

The second teams which were chosen after the squads and first teams, are as follows:

Juniors—Rose Deutch, Iris Fellows, Marjorie Jones, Dorothy Meyer, E. Muehlberger, Helen Paul, Marjorie Ruff, Elizabeth Tuttle.

Freshmen—Lois Carrel, Eleanor Harris, Dorothy Howell, Dagmar Iverson, Margaret Ives, Leilla Ludden, Mose Nathanson, Melvina Sver, Edna Walter.

Bresnahan's first return to Wisconsin since he took his position as Iowa track coach in the fall of 1920. The Iowa coach was formerly one of Wisconsin's greatest cross country stars, running on several and captaining one Conference cross country team. After the war he held for a time the position of cross country and assistant track coach at his Alma Mater, but left to assume the duties of head track coach at the University of Iowa. Since his advent to Iowa City, he has put the hitherto unheard of Hawkeye track team definitely on the cinder map. The intense enthusiasm which he has aroused for the sport and the material which he is rapidly developing into stars is fast leading the Iowans into the championship class, and again Wisconsin has proven itself an unrivaled school for developing coaches.

SWIMMING SQUAD IN CONDITION FOR PURPLE CONTEST

Will Meet Northwestern Saturday With Good Chance to Win

The Varsity swimming squad is in tip-top shape for the meet with Northwestern university at Evanston on Saturday. With nothing but victories behind them, the Badgers stand a good chance of defeating the Purple tank men.

Northwestern always has one of the best swimming teams in the Conference, but this year their standing can not be readily determined. They have been defeated by Minnesota and Illinois. The score of the Illinois meet was 36 to 32, the same as the score by which the Badgers defeated the Gophers last week. Moreover, Northwestern gave Chicago a bad beating, and the Maroons were regarded as one of the best teams in the Big Ten.

May Save Best Efforts

The Northwestern coach, Tom Robinson, has been in the game for a long time, and some people think he is saving his best material for the all-Conference meet to be held in the University of Chicago gymnasium on March 16 and 17.

Although Wisconsin has taken dual meets from Illinois and Minnesota, both of which teams have defeated Northwestern, the margins were so close, both in the defeats which these teams suffered from the Badgers, and in their victories over the Purple, that it looks as if the scores for the coming meet will be very close.

Steinauer Has High Hopes

Before the meet with Illinois several of the Purple tank men were reported to be unable to enter the water, but as a matter of fact, only one man, Agnew, was not used. Paver, one of their best men in short swims was sick for a short time, but is now well again, and will probably be entered in this meet. Northwestern also has a good water basketball team, and they expect to compete with the Badger water quintet on Saturday.

Although Coach "Joe" Steinauer has high hopes of winning the meet, he is confident that the Purple will at least give his men a hard fight. Collins and Koch, the two star divers on the Badger squad, are also in the best of condition, and ought to place in the diving events.

game this year, and has never failed to come through with a brilliant floor game and a basket or two.

The Badgers will battle hard tonight in order to maintain their chance to land in second place. Michigan has completed her schedule and is certain of at least a tie for the runner-up position unless Illinois was able to win from the Boilermakers last night. In the latter event, Michigan and Wisconsin may tie for third place in the conference.

Chance for Triple Tie

The present Wisconsin team has a good chance to finish up as well as did their predecessors a year ago. If two games can be annexed from Chicago this week, the team will have lost four games. Purdue's nine-game schedule prevents any possibilities for a triple tie such as was experienced last season. If the three teams stand tied for second place at the end of the schedule, Wisconsin and Michigan can feel well satisfied, since both Illinois and Purdue won sufficient games while playing ineligible men to get a good hold on the major positions in the percentage column.

The local team's recent successes and the fact that it is the last game of the year have caused a lively demand for the tickets. The few that were left after the exclusive sale yesterday afternoon will be distributed to the public at open sale today.

Women Announce Pin Tourney Teams

Women's bowling teams were announced yesterday as follows:

Seniors—E. Katz, B. Blanding, C. Voorhis, F. Mahorney, H. Meyers, A. Arnquist, and D. Sumption.

Juniors—M. Killam, Esther Harris, C. Parsley, H. Zuehlke, E. Baird, L. Addington, and E. Hess.

Sophomores—K. Fuller, I. Stevenson, R. Staudenmeyer, R. Nolte, M. Kowalke, L. Larson, and L. Clancy.

Freshmen—D. Haskins, J. Calliss, L. Norman, M. Duvie, L. Busch, V. Van Tassel, and L. Sylvester.

The highest individual average was 166.5 made by Katherine Fuller, 1924.

Canceling of War Debts Subject of Varsity Debaters

Will Meet Michigan and Illinois In Triangle Debates Friday

The matter of canceling the Allies' war debt to the United States will be the question debated Friday evening, March 17, by Michigan, Illinois, and Wisconsin at these universities. Each school will have an affirmative and a negative team, the negative in each case debating before a foreign audience.

Wisconsin's affirmative team, which will debate against Michigan in Music hall at 8 o'clock, is composed of men who have had an abundance of experience in forensics of all kinds. This team will be captained by Sterling Tracy '22, who successfully represented Wisconsin in the Northern Oratorical contest last year. The other two men on this team are Robert B. Stewart '23 and Francis Karel '23. Professor Rarig to Criticize

Following a precedent started at an earlier debate this year there will be only one judge who after the debate will analyze the various speeches. Prof. F. W. Rarig, head of the department of speech at the University of Minnesota, has been secured to act in this capacity.

The negative team, which will represent Wisconsin at Illinois, is composed of Henry Blake '25, Fred A. Moreau '22, and Phil G. Deicher '23.

"In the light of the present discussion as to the canceling of the Allies' war debt," said Tracy last night, "we feel that the question is most timely and will interest a great portion of the student body. Often debaters have the tendency to abide by the old wornout subjects of debate manuals. In the debate next week we hope not only to win for Wisconsin, but to present an informative debate on a vital present question."

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 52 at 11 a. m. yesterday, the lowest 27 at 7 a. m. today. Precipitation .06 inches. The sun sets at 5:54.

Ross Will Spend Summer Studying Mexican Conditions

Dr. Edward A. Ross, professor of Sociology, will travel to Mexico this summer in an effort to determine whether or not the peon, the real laboring man of Mexico, has benefited from the revolution that for ten years has kept that country in a state of turmoil.

Dr. Ross, who has traveled extensively in South American countries and is familiar with the language and customs of the Spanish speaking races, will travel about among the peons conversing with them in their native language, and trying to learn from them just what they think about the revolution.

"What is a revolution to the actual people aside from the changes in the exterior political changes and dramatic gestures? What has the revolution done to Mexico? Is it basic? Does it pay? These are some of the questions Dr. Ross will ask in his 11 weeks tour and from the information he receives and from his own observation he will write a book.

Dr. Ross is now at work on the third volume of his account of the Russian revolution, but considers Mexico a more fruitful ground for an inquiry into the nature of revolutions, because the disturbances in Mexico have subsided while the difficulties in Russia have not yet been definitely settled.

Summer Session to Offer 400 Courses

The summer session of 1922 of the university will offer about 400 courses to be given in the College of Agriculture, College of Letters and Science, College of Engineering, Law school, School of Education, School of Music, and the Medical school.

Suitable courses will be offered to instructors in normal schools and colleges; to high school teachers, supervisors, superintendents, and principals; to teachers in the grade schools, and high school graduates and undergraduates.

Fees for the six-week course will be $22 except in the Law school where the fee for the 10-week session will be $35. Summer school will begin June 28 and will end August 4.
