FOURTEEN BAGS WON BY SOPHS IN CLASS RUSH

Freshmen Obtain Only
One Bag During Battle

Thin spirals of smoke, scraps of tattered clothing, and here and there a group of boys tugging at a piece of burlap in imitation of the older men who themselves tugged at huge bags a few hours before is all that remains of the 1922 class rush, won by the sophomores by a score of 14 to 1.

What had been a seething mass of men trying to move 15 bags either in one direction or the other surrounded by approximately 2,000 students and citizens of Madison quickly dispersed after the result of the contest was announced.

Battle 15 Minutes

Shortly after 1 o'clock Leslie R. Gage '23, chief of police, fired the pistol which sent men of two classes rushing toward the line of bags. For 15 minutes the men pushed and tugged at the bags. Then a revolver shot signalled the men that the rush was over.

The crowd was silent for a moment except for sporadic cheering by the sophomores wherever it was evident that a bag was theirs. The cheering increased as the student police brought reports of bags credited to the sophomores. Finally Gage raised his pistol again and fired twice, indicating that the second year men had been victorious.

Sophos Get First Bag

A perfectly executed plan of attack on the part of the sophomores proved to be too much for the yearlings and after the first minute of the rush the result was never in doubt. Bag number 1 was carried clear back to the starting line by the sophomores before the freshmen could reach it.

Sophomores Hold Advantage

Although the sophomores were considerably outnumbered, the 10-yard handicap proved to be a sufficient advantage to enable them to get the bags and move them back over the line. From that point until the rush ended it was a case of trying to hold the advantage, as it is next to impossible to move one of the bags after it is knocked down.

The rush was orderly in every way. Both classes displayed good sportsmanship and the police had little difficulty in preserving order. Sophomores resorted to the usual deportation methods during the morning. They did not reduce the numbers of the yearlings sufficiently to give them any decided advantage but they did succeed in harassing freshmen who happened to be wandering around the streets unescorted. Two sophomores directed a stream of water upon the freshmen as they left the annex.

The clinic reported that approximately a dozen men had come there for treatment immediately after the rush but no one was seriously injured. Several of them were knocked out temporarily but they were soon revived.

Hembre, Seering Enter
Ingvald O. Hembre, a student in the College of Agriculture, announced his candidacy for junior member to the Student senate yesterday. Hembre is a member of the varsity wrestling team and played football on both the freshmen and sophomore squads. He is also a member of the A. C. F. board, and the A. S. A. E., the Agric. Literary society, and Alpha Chi Rho.

Harold A. Seering announces his candidacy for one of the junior offices of the Student Senate. Seering debated intercollegiate against Washington university last year. He is a member of Delta Sigma Rho, national honorary forensic society, one of Philomathias joint debaters for this year, and a member of the Forensic board. He participated in the sophomore semi-public debates of last year. He is also on the staff of the 1924 Badger.

DRIVE'S QUOTA TO BE GAINED

Mrs. Al Ringling Gives $10,000
For Luther Memorial
Campaign

With $64,000 pledged on the first day of the $150,000 campaign for Luther Memorial over 250 workers are looking forward to reaching Madison's quota of $75,000. Mrs. Al. Ringlin of Baraboo, widow of the famous show man, has contributed $10,000.

Mrs. Ringling has selected a front window as a memorial. She was in Madison last Sunday to attend the service at Luther Memorial and to visit the new cathedral.

All day yesterday students and townspeople were approached for gifts for the cathedral. The soliciting began Friday night with an opening dinner at the Woman's building. Prof. Julius Olson, Madison chairman presided. Prof. Olson made a plea for devotion to patriotism and religion.

"Unless you have some idea that it is greater than your material self, you cannot justify your existence," he said. "It is essential, it is absolutely important that a nation justify its existence by being subservient to some high idea, something greater than its physical, material selfhood."

Dean F. Louise Nardin also spoke. She has taken an active interest in the progress of Luther Memorial.

Prof. O'Shea Addresses Hoosier Teachers' Convocation

Dr. M. Vincent O'Shea, professor of education, gave an address on "The Constructive Treatment of Education Problems", when he spoke before the annual convention of the North Central Teachers' association, held in South Bend, Indiana, Oct. 13 and 14. Professor O'Shea will return to Madison today.

Two thousand teachers from the northern counties of Indiana gathered for the convention this year. Sessions were held in school auditoriums, and in the First Presbyterian and First Christian church of the city.

A number of noted educators addressed the meetings of the convention including N. L. Englehardt, Teachers college, Columbia university, L. V. Koos, of the University of Minnesota, and Charles H. Judd, director of the School of Education, University of Chicago, who spoke on "A Half Century of Educational Expansion."

PRICE OF 1924 BADGER WILL BE RAISED OCT. 17

Need More Subscriptions Before Proceeding With Yearbook

Possibilities of subscription to the Badger at the present price schedule will be continued until Tuesday morning when the price of $4 on cash payment or $2 on first and $2.50 on second payment will be advanced to $5, Howard Lyman, business manager, announced last night.

Next 3,000 More

"Only 1,000 of the necessary 4,500 subscriptions are in at the present time," Lyman said. "Unless we get at least 3,000 more subscriptions, we can't proceed with the Badger on the basis of our original plans. We will have to revise our plans entirely and produce a book far inferior to what we had intended and far inferior to last year's standard."

Have Drive At Game

The subscription drive carried on between the halves at the games yesterday yielded a large number, Lyman said. The total reported at the Badger office last night would not be more than 1,000, according to Willard Kirchner '24, circulation manager.

Jessie Morton '24, led the list of canvassers with 309 points last night. Canvassers get one point for every $2 subscription and two points for every $4 brought in. Mabel Crumney '24, held second place among the women with 212 points. F. J. Kovis continued to hold high place among the men with slightly over 200 points.

SENATE ISSUES 4 ELECTION ORDERS

Four major rules regarding nominations and the November elections were issued yesterday by Maynard Brown '23, chairman of the Student Senate elections committee. Violations of the rules subject the candidates to penalty.

That there must be no advertising of any kind on the campus or about the city is the content of the first regulation. Neither printed or hand made posters, placards or hand bills may be used.

All nominating petitions should be in the hands of the election committee before 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, October 20. Publicity for the election bulletin must be turned in at the office of Dean Goodnight or to Brown.

Nominees' publicity should be run in The Cardinal before the announcement of their candidacy by the elections committee. It frequently happens that candidates will wait until the last minute before elections and then run the story of their nomination in The Cardinal. If this or any of the other regulations are broken the Senate will exact penalty from the offenders.

HORSES, CATTLE DIE IN FIRE AT FARM

Fire totally destroyed the cattle barn at the Sunset Point farm, owned by Fay Hammersley, last night. Seventeen cows and one calf were burned in the blaze which illuminated the sky for miles around. The Camp Randall fire company received the call at 10:20 o'clock and fought the flames for two hours.

Thousands of students and Madison people, attracted by the light in the sky, gathered to witness the fire. Two horses were seen running frantically through the fields, their hides and manes ablaze. It is believed that they are dead. Many tons of hay were destroyed.

WEATHER: CLOUDY
Partially cloudy is the prediction for today and tomorrow. Slightly warmer weather for today is also promised.

REGENTS REMIT FEES TO BAND

Action Allows Juniors and Seniors $30 Refund at Commencement

Juniors and seniors in the university bands are to receive their incidental fees, amounting to $30, at the university starting this year as the result of action taken by the Board of Regents in their meeting Thursday.

The resolution passed by the Regents provides that a student shall join the bands with the understanding that he is to serve for the entire year and is to take part in the commencement exercises. Freshmen and sophomores still receive military credit for band work but are also required to play for commencement before credit will be given.

The new project places Wisconsin bands upon the same basis as those of other conference schools.

The Regent's offer will attract many men to the bands and will increase the services of the organizations to the school, according to Major E. W. Murphy, band director. Money to pay for the fees will be furnished from a combined fund made up by the commencement committee, the military department, and the athletic department.

"We have worked for this new plan for some time and now we are in a position to give the school and the Regents the best in the way of music that we can provide," Major Murphy said yesterday.

Judge Rosa Will Give Talk at Y. W. Tomorrow

"Taxation," a public lecture by Judge Charles D. Rosa, of the state tax commission, which will be given at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the Y. W. C. A. auditorium, will be an explanation of the fundamentals of taxation and will concern itself with local and state tax problems.

A wide experience in public affairs and finance enables Judge Rosa to speak with authority on the subject. For 20 years he was a practicing attorney in Rock county. He served two terms in the state legislature and was municipal judge of Beloit for six years. He is a graduate of Beloit college and the University of Wisconsin Law school, and is at present a member of the state tax commission.

This lecture is one of a series of talks on vital topics that is being given under the auspices of the Dane County League of Women Voters. It is open to the general public, and students in commerce, journalism, law, political science are especially urged to attend.

Varsity Gets First Score in Second Quarter of Game

BY CHAS. J. LEWIN

A 75-yard dash for a touchdown in the last minute of play robbed Wisconsin of a shutout victory in its second preliminary football game with South Dakota State college at Camp Randall yesterday.

As it was, the Badgers romped off on the long end of a 20 to 6 score, counting one touchdown in the second quarter and two more in the third.

Schutte Nabs Pass

With a crowd of 4,427 fans ready to leave the stands, fullback Schutte nabbed a short pass on his own 25-yard line and cutting in from the sidelines broke away from the field, evaded the Wisconsin secondary defense, and slipped past Shorty Barr for Dakota's only score. E. Welch missed a dropkick in the try-for-point.

Barr Misses Goals

It was a game of lost opportunities for both teams, Wisconsin, especially lacking the final punch when it neared the Dakotan's goal line. In the first quarter, no less than four opportunities to count were thrown away. Three other chances went for naught in the second half. Barr missed three dropkicks, two from his 20-yard line.

South Dakota was also in position to count several times, but intercepted and grounded passes kept them from scoring until the dying moments of the contest.

Gibson Is Hurt

Coach John R. Richards' gridmen outplayed their opponents by a wide margin. It was loose playing that prevented the Badgers from amassing enough points to win several football games.

Although Schutte's long run was the outstanding feature of a somewhat dull contest, Wisconsin backs also scintillated with a brace or more of dashes down the arena. Eagleburger broke away for a 45-yard run around right end shortly after the start of the second half. Gibson reeled off 25-yards before he was hurt in the third quarter.

Complete 19 Passes

Completing 19 passes of 32 attempted, the Badgers gained 336 yards by means of the aerial offensive. The longest heave netted 35 yards, one was good for 35, and others gained from 15 to 25. South Dakota threw pass after pass in a last-half effort to gain a victory, but the prairie dogs completed only eight of their 21 attempts. Schutte and his mates, free time and again, invariably muffed the ball.

Reserves In Line-up

Three substitutes, two in the line and one in the backfield, started for Wisconsin. Smith and Schernecker were the reserves in the left side of the line, and Eagleburger worked in Capt. Rollie Williams' left half position. In the second half, Carlson and Saari relieved two injured halfbacks, and several substitutions were made in the forward wall.

Despite the use of reserves, the Wisconsin line held with enough strength to force South Dakota to resort to its pass offensive instead of working on the ground. The college team made only five first downs and most of those were the result of throws from the right hand of quarterback Welch.

Score In Second Period

Unable to score in the first quarter, Wisconsin finally succeeded in shaking its jinx and Gibson went over for a touchdown in the second

GIRLS SEEKING COLLEGE LIFE

Letters to Dean Show Demand For Education Increasing Among Women

"Tell me how I may earn my way through college," is the cry of many letters which Dean F. Louise Nardin is receiving as a result of an article which she wrote for the Woman's Home Companion, and which deals with girls and their chances for earning their way through college.

The letters, which come from all parts of the United States, show the interest her article has aroused, especially among girls who have not the means of procuring college education. There are letters from working girls, and high school girls all expressing a willingness to do anything to educate themselves.

"We are not particular as to the kind of work, but will do anything that will get us through," states one letter which comes from the south, and which contains one of those tragedies of life seldom known about. It is from two sisters, one of whom was valedictorian of her class in high school and was given a scholarship to her state university, but was unable to go, because of the financial distress of her family.

Not Afraid of Work

Another, who had a taste of university life before her father became an invalid, thereby making it necessary for her to go to work, writes for advice. She says that she is "not afraid of work" and is willing to give up her position and seek new fields if by doing so her "dream of a college education may be realized."

School Means Work

"Would I be foolish to give up my position which is wellpaying and pleasant, to go to college?" asks a California girl. She knows fully that if she does go to college it will mean that she will not have the freedom that she has now, and that she would not only have to work hard, but would have to practice

Six Hundred Seniors Arrange For Pictures

Six hundred senior pictures to be used in the 1924 Badger have already been arranged for according to information given out by Madison photographers yesterday.

One studio reported that on one day 50 pictures were taken by a single photographer, the first sitting being held before breakfast. As a rule approximately 25 pictures are taken each day.

The Badger editors have issued a second warning to seniors that no summaries or pictures will be accepted at the office after November 1. Correction in summaries can be made later in November when the proofs will be returned by the printers for that purpose.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

WISCONSIN WINS FROM DAKOTANS BY 20 TO 6 SCORE

Long Dash at End of the Game Spoils Shutout

period, thus duplicating his feat of last Saturday. Barr returned a Dakota punt to the hostiles' 30-yd. line. He threw a pass to Gibson for 15-yards and another to Irish put the pigskin on the aggies 2-yard line. Two tries by Taft narrowed the distance to a half yard and Gibson scored on the third down. Gus Tebell place kicked for the extra point.

No further scoring took place until the second half. By a 45-yard dash, Eagleburger put the oval on Dakota's 20-yard line. Two passes succeeded, but Taft fumbled on their ten-yard line and it was Dakota's ball. Wisconsin got to the 5-yard line on another exchange of punts and several passes. Nothing happened until Gibson received a 15-yard pass and line plunges brought the oval to Dakota's four-yard line. Saari going over for the score. Tebell again kicked goal. The last marker came in the same period when Barr passed 23 yards to Saari who ran over the goal line with a tackler hanging on his back.

Play surged up and down the gridiron in the remainder of this period and the fourth until Schutte pranced for 75-yards to a score.

Taft Punts 60 Yards

Merrill Taft was an outstanding star for Wisconsin. The tall full-back gained more yards from scrimmage than anyone except Eagleburger. His plunges ripped the Dakota line open from tackle to tackle. Taft played a whale of a game on the defense, backing up the line with the effectiveness of a Guy Sundt and intercepting or grounding hostile passes. His punts averaged 60 yards.

Passes Are Good

Eagleburger and Gibson were steady ground gainers, and Barr shed several tacklers each time he returned a punt. The quarterback lost ground only once in the 32 times he called forward pass plays. He attempted one dropkick from the 40-yard line and sent the ball to the last white line although he slipped and fell on his back during the kicking process.

Tebell and Irish were scintillating Badger linemen. They spilled interference, nabbed ball-carriers on the defense, and received many passes for gains on the attack. Alton, who played center in the last period, blocked a South Dakota punt and Jab Murry recovered it on Dakota's 10-yard line for a pretty piece of line work late in the game.

Schutte was the only Dakota player who had any luck in carrying the ball. Ray Owens, the Dakota "shine", failed to shine. He gained but 12 yards in the few times he was given the ball.

The line-up follows:

Tebell	R. E. Sundet
Murphy	R. T. Smith
Hohlfeld	R. G. Backman
Nichols	C. Coffey
Schernecker	L. G. Fenn
Smith	L. T. J. Murray

TO RUN SPECIALS ON NORTHWESTERN

The Chicago & Northwestern railroad announced that it will provide special train service to both the Minnesota and Michigan games. The special for Minnesota leaves Madison at 9:30 o'clock Friday, November 3, arriving in Minneapolis at 7:30 Saturday morning.

The Wisconsin football team will leave for the Michigan game at 5:40 the evening of November 16. The student special will probably leave about the same time on Friday, November 17.

Special train service will also be provided for the Indiana team, 125 piece band, and approximately 200 rooters. The party leaves Bloomington the morning of October 21, arriving in Madison about 10:30 the same morning.

The Chicago Milwaukee & St. Paul road has already announced its special trains and rates to Minneapolis and Ann Arbor.

W. A. A. Sign Posts to Be Placed on Hike Points

The first of the new W. A. A. hike sign posts will be inaugurated formally at a picnic at the end of one of the official hikes next Thursday evening.

These new sign posts, which bear the W. A. A. monogram and the name of the hike, are to be placed at the exact half way points of the hikes. This will settle all arguments as to the exact place, and will also call attention to the hiking activities of the university women.

Just 40 of regular hiking gives 25 points in W. A. A. towards membership and higher emblems. All women may hike for credit if there is a member with them and the hike is recorded within 48 hours. The picnic is under the management of Norma Carl '23 and Esther Bilstad '24.

Official five mile hikes are: Tenney park, Black factory, tent colony, fish hatchery, Fair Oaks, Nakoma trading post, Sunset Point.

Physical Education Club Will Hold First Picnic

The Physical Education club will hold its first get together at a picnic Tuesday night at the field house.

A new system of physical education junior advisors will be put into operation, each junior bringing two freshmen in the course as their advisees. The picnic is primarily for the new women.

"This picnic is to arouse interest in the club and to get the new women acquainted with the other physical eds and with the principles of the club," said Irene Clayton '23, president of the organization.

English Instructor is Successful as Poet

Miss Marion E. Ryan, instructor in the department of English, has had the honor of having three of her poems accepted by "Child Life," a new magazine for children, published by Rand-McNally company. Her first poem, "Caterpillar on the Wall," recently appeared with full page illustrations. Another verse, "Sliding," will appear in February and sometime later in the spring her third poem, "Lily Queens," will be published.

TICKETS TO ALL GAMES WILL BE SOLD BY MAIL

Applications Are to Be Filed in Order of Receipt

Applications are being received by mail now for the remaining Conference football games, through the office of the athletic department exclusively. Applications are being filed in the order that they are received, and tickets are distributed in the same way.

The rule will be "first come, first served." A certified check, self-addressed stamped envelope, and, if registered, ten cents extra, must accompany all applications.

Distribution Limited

Because of the increasing interest in football each year, and the limited capacity of the unfinished stadium, the athletic committee has found it absolutely necessary to limit the distribution to four tickets to any one person. This rule will be adhered to strictly.

At the rate the demand for seats is growing, it is a question of a short time only until it will be necessary to limit the distribution to two tickets to one person.

Those wishing to go in a party may make application together, but the tickets will be distributed in the order received. Tickets will be mailed early in the week of each game. A complete record will be kept in the office of all applications and all tickets issued.

If any ticket is sold at a higher price than paid for, the person who originally bought the ticket will be placed on the black list and never again be allowed to purchase tickets at the university. This drastic action has been made necessary to prevent ticket scalping, and the university can hold only the original purchaser responsible.

"With the addition of new concrete stands built during the past year, we expect to accommodate 27,500 people for both the Indiana and Homecoming games," says Paul F. Hunter, in charge of ticket sales. "It behoves everyone who is planning to attend, to get applications in at once. If all will use the application card, it will facilitate matters very much."

Applications for the Indiana, Illinois, and Chicago games are coming in by the hundreds in every mail.

LIT SOCIETIES TO EXCHANGE JUDGES

Three men from each literary society will act as judges of debates conducted by another society, according to a plan inaugurated Friday evening by the men's literary organizations. Plans for the forensic banquet and annual forensic mixer were discussed also.

Philomathia at its Friday meeting debated the question: "Resolved that the grade point system to govern participation in activities be adopted by the University of Wisconsin." The winning team was composed of H. A. Hofaker '24, G. H. Tomlinson '24, and E. L. Erickson '23. The negative was upheld by R. H. Licking '23, H. C. Albert '25 and M. A. McDonald '24. The affirmative declared that the present scholastic standing was due to the grade point system.

Initiation speeches were made by W. E. Jerving '23, and W. T. Peterson '24. New members elected to Philomathia were G. S. Darby '24, C. Hiken '24, J. Snydacker '24, H. Fung '24, and L. W. Houghton '25.

Hesperia argued the question, "Resolved that the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill should be repealed." The negative team composed of L. L. Chapman '25, C. C. Fransen '25, and F. C. Stuart '25 won the decision over C. W. Damshauser '25, F. Axley '25, and G. J. Fiedler '25. Initiation speeches were made by B. C. White '23 and A. Cady '25.

Athenae's program consisted of the debate "Resolved that no fraternity or sorority be allowed to pledge freshmen until the second semester." A. J. Nerad '23 and E. B. Kellerg '24 presented the negative; while W. G. Haber '23, and M. Steinberg supported the affirmative.

TSCHUDY WINS AGAIN IN CROSS COUNTRY MEET

Makes Good Time Over Muddy Three Mile Course

Making good time over the muddy three and one half mile course Lionel Tschudy, crack Varsity harrier, gained new laurels by breaking the tape in yesterday's cross country time trials.

Tschudy was the winner in the Varsity tryout on October 7, and was doped to repeat his performance yesterday. The rangy trotter, although a new man on the quad this year is consistent in showing a clean pair of heels to the Badger veterans.

Valley is Second

Valley, placing second, ran a splendid race and finished with a remarkable burst of speed. He was the peer of freshmen half-milers last year and now promises to make a name in Conference circles.

Wade, "W" man, and Schnieder, "aWa" winner copped third and fourth as named. These two runners set the pace at the start of the race. They were beaten on the return stretch only after a hard fight on the part of Tschudy and Valley.

Moorhead and Ferry also turned in good time for the course, coming in not far behind Schneider. Rossmeisel, Link, Chase, and Bergstresser were the other men to finish in the first ten positions.

Meet Michigan Saturday

The majority of these 10 men will probably be picked to represent Wisconsin in the dual meet with Michigan next Saturday. Ramsay and Daniels, two worthy veterans, who did not compete yesterday are to be reckoned with in choosing the team. Ramsay has won his "W" in cross country, and when in shape will undoubtedly worry the present leaders of the squad.

The men who finished between tenth and fifteenth places merit mention for their efforts. Named in order of finishing they are: Piper, Smithyman, Trier, Lange and Grubb.

5,427 Persons Attended South Dakota Contest

There were 5,427 people at the South Dakota game yesterday, an increase of about 1,000 over the attendance at the Carleton game. Bad weather kept many away from each contest.

The larger number of people, mostly students, were in the west stand, while the east side was almost empty. The young boys who crawled through the fence were about the only ones to occupy the part that has just been completed.

The Indiana game will see both stands filled almost to capacity as shown by the applications for tickets received at the gym.

“SPLENDID ISOLATION”

WISCONSIN fighting spirit was splendidly demonstrated yesterday, on the lower campus and at Camp Randall.

Never was finer spirit shown than that which defeated the freshmen, than that which defeated the invading horde from South Dakota. A splendid fighting spirit, in “splendid isolation.”

Iowa U yesterday showed her fighting spirit in the Yale bowl. The blue was humbled; today the nation sings the glory of the Big Ten Conference, of Cornhuskers, of corned huskies. Iowa did it.

Wisconsin yesterday impressed the agricultural college of South Dakota with the Badger prowess. The newspapers of Brookings undoubtedly will admit that Wisconsin is pretty good.

Iowa has humbled the East. Chicago last year humbled the East. Wisconsin students last year showed by a 99 percent vote that they want their team to have a chance to humble the East.

Meanwhile, Wisconsin remains in her shell of “splendid isolation.” Why?

BADGERS OR SMILES

REPORTS from the Badger staff indicate that less than one fourth of the year book's expected subscriptions has been realized. The goal is 4,500; only 1,000 slips have been turned in.

Such apathy concerning the institution's annual is astounding. The Wisconsin of the past has wanted its Badger. It has been proud of the book that has been called America's greatest and finest college annual. It has subscribed heavily.

The meaning of the appalling lack of interest in the 1924 Badger is a matter for conjecture.

It is possible that past Badgers have been bolstered up merely by the method of subscription taking? that the siren smiles of co-ed campaigners have been the basis of the year book's success? that Wisconsin men of the past have merely been buying smiles with Badgers thrown in?

Is it possible that Wisconsin students do not value their annual for itself? that their desire for the book and their desire to see the staff succeed are not worth $4?

If these things be true, all that has been said of Wisconsin spirit is a lie.

Or does the responsibility for the subscription slump rest on those who are conducting the campaign? Is the slump caused by lack of enthusiasm on the part of solicitors?

Certainly the spirit of the old-time campaigns of co-ed competition has been lacking. The difficulty of readjustment to a new kind of campaign may have brought about the present predicament of the Badger.

Whatever the reason, the present situation of the Badger is serious; and the responsibility of remedying that situation may be met only by the student body as a whole.

The subscription campaign will continue until Tuesday. The next three days will tell whether Wisconsin is to have a Badger worthy of Wisconsin.

PAY FOR THE BAND

THE action of the board of regents providing that members of the university band shall be paid $30 a year for their services shows a spirit of fairness and appreciation for service which is commendable. It also assures the existence of a first rate band throughout the year; for members are not to be paid until after they have remained for the Commencement exercises.

This action of the regents is a good case of enlightened self interest. The band has been of immense service to the university. By showing tangible appreciation of that service, the regents have made it certain that the service will be continued.

Extend Contract Time Limit For Organizations

The deadline for organizations to sign contracts for their pages in the Badger has been extended from last night to Saturday, October 21.

Only forty of the 200 organizations on the campus had signed a contract at noon yesterday, making an extension of the deadline necessary.

November 15 has been set for the deadline on group photograph settings. All contracts must be paid in full on that date also. Copy for the organization pages must be in the Badger office not later than December 1.

No radical change will be made in the make-up of the pages this year.

Madison Theaters Offer Variety Of Shows This Week

Madison theaters are showing a great variety of productions this week and the movie or legitimate theater fan will find no difficulty in selecting his favorite type of show.

The bandmaster, Sousa, who plays at the Parkway Monday matinee and evening, will be followed at that house by the screen version of “Disraeli,” which George Arlis made famous on the boards five years ago. A society play with the racey title of “Mother's Millions,” and featuring May Robson, will be seen there twice Saturday.

The first part of the week at the Orpheum seems to have the edge on the second. George Lovett, a prototype of Eva Fay, who likewise claims the possession of supernatural powers, will put on a mysterious band act the first days of the week. There will also be five other acts of the usual stuff, and a miniature revue is featured for the second half.

Thrillers are the vogue at both the Grand and the Strand. “Fast Mail,” a sort of “Perils of Pauline” picture, will last all week at the former playhouse if it proves as popular as the proprietors expect. Kathrine McDonald will be shown at the latter theater in a typical oriental affair and will be followed by a successor to “The Old Nest” called “Remembrance,” written by Rupert Hughes. It presents the father's side of Hughes' other sob picture.

Bebe Daniels' admirers will have an opportunity of seeing her the second part of the week at the Majestic, where she plays the role of a society belle in “Pink Gods.”

S.G. A. Lide Has Books By Poole, Van Loon

“Millions” by Ernest Poole, “The Breaking Point” by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, “Adrienne Toner” by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, “This Freedom” by A. S. M. Hutchinson—you've all heard folks talking about them, but have you been able to get a copy to read it?

The opportunity is opened to all women through the S. G. A. library which has added approximately 50 new volumes to its shelves. These include the best and most representative of the recent fiction.

The women have shown excellent co-operation so far, and most of the books have been coming in on time. The rate is 2c a day, with an additional fine of one cent a day and increasing at a constant rate of one cent more a day for every day over time.

Other good books just added are: “Glimpses of the Moon” by Edith Wharton, “The Best Short Stories of 1921” by Edward J. O'Brien, “The Tale of Trion” by William J. Locke, “Gentle Julia” by Booth Tarkington, and “The History of Mankind” by Hendrick Van Loon.

Although the new books have only been here three days there already has been great demand for them, according to Harriet Green '24, head chairman of the library.

Tea Room is Used as Home-Ec Laboratory

The Rendevous, one of Madison's tea rooms, was purchased by the university, December, 1921, that it might be used as a laboratory by the home economics students taking the course in institutional management.

During the past year it has been managed by Mrs. Sims, a graduate of the University of Indiana. Mrs. Sims was formerly manager of the Marshall Field tea rooms. In addition to managing the Rendevous, she is taking charge of Lathrop cafeteria, and the dining rooms of Chadbourn and Barnard.

The tea room is principally patronized by students and faculty members. During the past year there has been a great increase in the number of patrons.

Doctor Baker to Speak To Engineering Students

Dr. Ira Baker, professor emeritus and formerly head of the department of civil engineering of the University of Illinois will speak on “Factors Necessary for Highest Engineering Success” at a meeting of engineering students at 11 o'clock Wednesday, October 18. Junior and senior engineering students will be excused from their classes in professional subjects to attend the lecture.

Fashion Went a 'Wandering'

IN Spain she saw slender dancing girls with rainbow-hued shawls draped about their sinuous forms.

"Lovely!" said she. "I will make a note of that drape." And she did.

In Russia a peasant sleeve caught her eye. It was wide, and gayly embroidered, and oh! so graceful! "Alluring!" said Fashion.

Then she went to Egypt where she happened upon the girdle of a queen—a girdle of sparkling jewels worn low over beautiful hips. Fashion coveted that girdle. "I will copy it; it will go marvelously with the soft, straight silhouette for fall."

Many more lovely things she noted on her journey. Into her trunk went matelasses, brocades, monkey fur, materials with pebbly surfaces. And home she went—to Paris, where flying fingers gave form to her inspirations.

And what did she make? That is something which will remain a secret unless you come here. Then, and only then, will you know. So come. You will spend an enchanted hour among the most wonderful modes of Fall!

Rotunda at Chadbourne is Taken Out to Reduce Fire Hazard

"The doing away with the rotunda in Chadbourne hall will greatly reduce the fire hazard to the girls in the dormitory" said Miss M. C. Little of the halls and commons, who has charge of the remodeling of the hall.

The rotunda in the center of the front is being taken out, and the center stairway is being removed. Two new staircases made of concrete and iron are being built on the north and south side of the hall, which will lead out to a north and south entrance besides the central one. This new arrangement will make space for reading rooms for the accommodation of state residents.

on each of the upper floors. The bell room where mail service and callers are attended to will be stationed in the front of the hall. While the housing space will not provide for a greater number of girls than the regular 150, there will be a removal of the guest suite where mothers and members of the Board of Regents are entertained, to the first floor.

Painting decorations on the outside improve the appearance of the hall remarkably. The front porch was completely remodeled this fall, and many rooms repainted. Only 80 girls are now living in the hall until the completion of repairs. Chadbourne Hall is fifty two years old, and is said to be the oldest dormitory in the country.

Rooms at Barnard hall, which was opened nine years ago, are being redecorated, hallways repaired, and new floor coverings distributed. A complete remodeling of Barnard parlors was made last fall. One hundred and fifty girls stay at Barnard. Both dormitories are solely for the accommodation of state residents.
