TO TAKE ACTION AGAINST CLOAK ROOM THIEVERY

Will Watch Wraps in Buildings to Catch Offenders

To put an end to cloak room thievery in university buildings an organization has been started by representative men in each college who will watch the various places where coats and wraps are kept.

Each building has an organization of its own, and then men will work in shifts in order to prevent the racks from being left unguarded. The cloak rooms in the library and gymnasium also will be watched in this manner.

Commission Aids

"The student police commission is indignant over the petty stealing which has been going on at the university for several years, and is taking an active part in apprehending the guilty parties," Gus Tebell '23, chief of the commission, said last night.

The commission has charge of all student disorderliness, and is endeavoring to put an end to undesirable practices. The members are: Gus Tebell '23, chief, Edward H. Gibson '24, and Charles B. Puestow '24.

$25 Reward Offered

The reward of $25 for the apprehension and conviction of the guilty parties was passed by an unanimous vote of the Student senate Wednesday night.

The students found guilty of theft were dismissed from school without any publicity, in former years, but in case of conviction now full publicity and punishment will be given the guilty party.

Since the reward has been offered no cases of stealing have been reported but on the day it was offered two overcoats were missing. There will be no let up in vigilance until someone has been caught, and the reward stands until then.

Anyone caught who is not a student will be turned over to the city courts.

Persons who have any knowledge of the thefts may report to Herbert D. Hentzen '23, chairman of the executive committee, Maynard W. Brown '23, or Lucius P. Chase '23.

Poultry Judgers Take Seventh Place in Meet

4,000 OCTYS TO BE READY WEDNESDAY

Octy's largest number, replete in holiday humor, will take its last bow for the year Wednesday, December 13, when the Christmas issue will spread its mirth throughout "Collegeville".

"A slogan, "Take an Octy Home for Christmas", has been adopted for this number", said Hubert Townsend, editor. "This is one of the best issues of the year, and it is therefore quite appropriate to take home. The humor and art are far above par, and a good share pertains to Christmas."

"The Proof in the Pudding" is the title of the cover. It was drawn by Townsend, and has been declared by several critics to be the best one of the season.

A number of subscriptions for the Octopus have been given as Christmas presents, according to Arthur Towel, business manager. One subscription has been ordered to be sent to Las Vegas, New Mexico.

Several hundred extra copies, making a total of 4,000, are being printed to handle the increased sales.

Fine Arts Department to Show Military Pictures

Portraits of the military and political leaders of the allied nations during the World War will be on view Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock at the State Historical Museum. At 4 o'clock, William H. Varnum of the Department of Fine and Applied Arts, will give a short talk on the paintings.

The pictures, which include portraits of Premier Georges Clemenceau, Lloyd George, ex-President Wilson, General J. J. Pershing, the King of Belgium, and many others were painted at the close of the war by half a dozen of America's leading portrait painters in order that a true pictorial record of the great men of that important period in the world's history might be made permanent. This work was of the American Federation of Arts and the Smithsonian Institute. After it has finished a tour of this country this exhibition of portraits will be permanently placed in the National Portrait gallery in Washington, D. C.

The pictures will remain in Madison for a week under the auspices of the Madison Art association.

AG LIT VICTOR IN WET DEBATE

Hesperia Debates Sex Problem

Castalia Discusses Politics

The Agricultural society, defending the affirmative, won the decision over Athena literary society in the second meeting of the Agrics with a hill society. The question argued was "Resolved, that the 18th Amendment to the Constitution of the United States should be repealed."

The winning team was composed of Harry T. Clements '24, first speaker, Edwin H. Rohrbeck second speaker, Edwin H. Rohrbeck '24, Schaars '24, closer. The Athenian second in order, and Marvin A. team consisted of S. M. Soref '23, Edgar J. Smith '24, and Eugene Meyer '24, closer.

The main points of the affirmative were first, that there is a considerable evasion of the amendment with a resulting contempt of laws in general and the prohibition enactments in particular; second, that the eighteenth amendment is not in harmony with the rest of the Constitution, in that it too closely regulates personal activities; and third, that prohibition would be enforced more surely and effectively if purely in the control of local or state powers and that consequently public opinion would be much more strongly behind the desired enforcement.

Judges were Donald Mowry, Alvin C. Reis, and George Mathews.

In Hesperia's regular meeting, Fred J. Moreau presented a talk, and a tryout speech was made by Laurence Gram '26. The remainder of the meeting was devoted to a debate "Resolved, that Sex Hygiene be taught in the Public Schools." The winning negative team was composed of E. G. Jandrey '24, W. R. Seeman '25, and Bruno Walszak '23, while the affirmative consisted of V. R. Dunn '26, L. J. Wilbert '25, and O. T. Banton '23.

Philomathia held no meeting. Political discussions, involving the ship subsidy bill, the policies of Senator Robert La Follette, and the significance of the last national election, composed the program of Castalia Literary society.

Prof. J. T. Rood, of the Electrical Engineering department will address a meeting of the Madison section of American Institute of Electrical Engineers, at the auditorium of the Engineering building at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, December 12. "Railway Electrification" will be the subject of Professor Rood's talk. Special films showing electrification of railways, especially of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, are to be shown to illustrate the lecture. Anyone desiring to attend may do so.

They've All Got Prom Dates But Gordy, Says Cub

"Say! Kitty! Got your Prom date yet?"

"Me? Yah!" chortled the petite blond cubette at whom the question was launched, and giggled her way down the stairs on the trail of an embryo news story.

We followed the footsteps of the petite one to the library, and halted on the threshold to inquire of a passing queen in a fur coat of some expense, and a smile of some expense, "Going to Prom?"

"Shure. Boy, you belong in the long and dismal list of foolish questioners. I had my Prom date last April, in spite of the rain. You know I'm engaged now, and when he asked me he said he'd show me that he meant what he said, and he asked me. He's the—?"

We escaped at this critical point, feeling like the poor guy who had a date on a moonlight night with a peach which he thought was a persimmon after it gave one long look at the mellow moonlight and poured forth in soulful accents, "Don't that give you the meanest kick?"

To resume our interrupted general trend, we recovered as soon as we reached open air on the other side of the fount of all learning in time to ask a short course student with four books and a notebook under his arm, and a shine on his nose, the eternal question, "Got your Prom date yet?"

"Yah! Met a queen at the Punkin Holler Community meetin' that knocked me off my feet, and on the way home I thought I would beat Gordy to it and ask her. She took me, so we're gonna go."

This was getting tiresome, and we revolved in our head some way of getting the desired information from many instead of from these limited number of specimens. We thought of calling a mass meeting for all persons with prom dates or getting the Commerce mag to send forth some questionnaires on the subject, but decided that tempus was fugit and more would ditto before the returns would come in, whereas we wanted the dope for today's daily sheet.

So—we asked every one we met on the hill, and the answer was, "I have." Except one. In front of Bascom hall we met Gordy Wanzer and inspired with joy at our success to min. and hoping for some real dope we pipe, "Got your Prom date yet?"

"NO," says Gordy. "And I won't have for some time."

"Better hurry up." Most of the good ones are taken now and you won't be able to get one," we suggested gently.

"Ha-Ha", laughed Gordy merrily.

Plan Entertainment For Basketball Spectators

Entertainment between the halves of the basketball games for the coming season is being planned by T. E. Jones, chairman of the department of physical education.

The entertainment probably will consist of a demonstration of a squad from one of the other departments, musically a quartet, or a band concert. The purpose, will be to bring the work of the other department before the public.

"The gym, boxing, the wrestling squads and the fencers already have spoken for places," said Coach Jones, "but since the tendency of the spectators is to become excited during the halves, it would be better to use some form of amusement which would quiet them. As boxing would only tend to increase the excitement, the selections will probably be made from the other squads."

BUSINESS STAFF

Freshmen and sophomores desiring positions on the business staff of The Cardinal are invited to call at the business office between 2 and 4 o'clock this afternoon or 10 and 12 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Fire Causes $5,000 Loss At Chemistry Building; Research Work Is Lost

No Skating Probable Until After Holidays

That there is no probability of ice skating until after the Christmas vacation even if present cold weather continues is the statement made by the University Weather Bureau.

Several cold nights will freeze the bottom of the lake, as it is almost freezing temperature now, but it will take a long stretch of cold weather to freeze over the entire body of water.

The lake should be ready for skating immediately after the Christmas holidays if low temperature prevails in the intervening time.

HOLD Y. W. C. A. BAZAAR TODAY

Program Will Continue From 1 to 12 P. M. at Lathrop Hall

The Y. W. C. A. bazaar will be held from 1 to 12 o'clock today at Lathrop hall which will be converted into the old English town of Devonshire.

Tottenham Row, the main street of the village, will be bordered with booths in true old English style. Ye Olde Gift Shoppe, with a large stock of articles from the Madison merchants as well as the sorority and women's rooming houses, gives splendid opportunities to solve many of the Christmas gift problems.

Gus Tuckerman '23, is to hold a whirlwind auction sale at the gift booth at 5 o'clock which will offer a chance to get all sorts of bargains from flatirons and slippers to stationary, ties, books, and lingerie. Any thing that you see and ask for will be put under the auctioneer's hammer. A complete display of relics showing Madison, its belles and beaux as they used to be, will be shown in the Old Curiosity shop.

A dance will be held in the parlors from 2:30 until 12 o'clock, with four different orchestras to furnish music. The Phi Gam orchestra will play from 2:30 until 4 o'clock, the Tkes from 4 until 6 o'clock and the Alpha Xi Delta's all-co-ed orchestra will play from 6 until 8 o'clock. In the evening the regular Union Board dance will be held.

The Cheshire Cheese Inn will be open throughout the entire bazaar, and will serve a regular dinner à la carte.

A program given by the Varsity quartette of old English carols and a one word sketch under the auspices of the University Players and an original song and piano act by Mildred Rodolf '25, in the Concert room at 3:30 o'clock.

The county fair under the direction of Mildred Reich '23, includes spirited cock fight, a lively Punch and Judy show, several fortune tellers, a tavern where cider and big sugary doughnuts will be served at tables or at the bar. Traveling minstrels will help furnish fun.

The candy booth will be larger than ever before and will include every variety of home made candy.

Farthest up on the street is the little old English post office where everyone is to call for mail. There will be a letter for every one.

Girls in old fashioned attire dispensing the goodies will be everywhere. The old town criers will call each hour and will announce all of the special attractions to be seen.

Helen Kingsford '24, is the general chairman, and is assisted by the following executive committee: Janet Marshall '24, assistant general chairman; Arlene Klug '24, programs; Alice Cummings '25 finance; Elizabeth Torkelson '23, decorations; and Frances Warren '24, publicity.

All Classes Are to Be Held Today, Mathews Reports

Fire which broke out at 5:50 o'clock last night in the organic laboratories on the fourth floor of the Chemistry building resulted in a loss of approximately $5,000, according to Prof. J. H. Mathews, chairman of the Chemistry department.

Many valuable note books and manuscripts compiled by graduate students doing research work in the laboratory are a complete loss because of the water and smoke.

Classes will not be inconvenienced today as a result of the fire, Professor Mathews said late last night. Workmen had completely cleaned up the building, he said.

Rush Three Companies

Bryn Nissen, L & S grad, who had just finished doing work in one of the laboratories on the third floor was preparing to leave the building when he smelled smoke. Quickly rushing to south wing of fourth floor, he discovered smoke pouring from one of the rooms. The blaze seemed concentrated in one place. Evidences indicated that the fire had just recently started.

He immediately turned in the arm, breaking the fire box on the first floor and summoning other stations by use of telephone, and within six minutes companies No. 1, 4, and 2, arrived on the scene.

The smoke by this time was pouring forth from the top windows on south side of the building. University Avenue was beginning to jam up with students who had responded to the heating station signal.

Gain Quick Control

Two lines of hose, one from the city mains and the other from the chemical engine, were run up the central stairway. The gases and smoke issuing from the burning chemicals kept in the room soon filled the hallway making the work of fighting the fire exceptionally difficult and dangerous. Some of the hose men were compelled to don gas masks by the fumes.

The firemen soon had the blaze under check and within 45 minutes after the alarm had been sent in it was totally extinguished.

The cause of the fire has not yet been determined, but it is thought that it was due to overheating. Prior to the outbreak of the blaze, several students had used the laboratory room in doing some research work, but at the time of the fire it is thought that no one was in the room.

Lose Two Year's Work

"This is the biggest fire that we have ever had in the chemistry building," Professor Mathews said. "Had the fire not been in the new fire-proof wing which was built in Thirty-seven suggestions for slogans had been received up to last night. They will be judged by Wanzer and the assistant general chairmen tonight. A prize of $5 will be awarded the winner.

"Very few of the suggestions received so far have been very good," Wanzer said. "Most of them are long. We are looking for a short expressive slogan. There will be time on Saturday for late entries to reach me before the contest closes."

Organization of non-fraternity groups which will attend prom in groups will start next week. Masons interested in Prom will meet at Y. M. C. A. at 7 o'clock Wednesday. All non-fraternity men interested in prom are invited to attend a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 7:15 o'clock on Thursday.

BADGER HOLDS STANDARDS UP

Lyman and Tegmeyer Say Subscription Raise Will Save Annual

That the 1924 Badger will maintain its nation wide reputation for high quality, that the finished product will be complete in every detail, and completely representative of the work and spirit of Wisconsin was the joint assertion of Gamber F. Tegmeyer '32, editor-in-chief, and Howard B. Lyman, '23, business manager in a statement made yesterday.

Tegmeyer emphasized the worth of a first class college annual in the rating of the college itself.

"It is perfectly possible to put out the Badger planned on the present funds. Yet, every new subscription will add to the further possibility for more intensive interior decoration. Throughout the country a school is ranked on three activities: athletics, scholarship, and the nature of its annual. We feel it a duty and a privilege to concentrate all our efforts on the publication of a 1924 Badger that will be in keeping with and even surpass, if possible, the records of past years.

"We aim to make the 1924 Badger so inclusive an index to student life and student organizations, that it will be indispensable to every student at Wisconsin. We also desire that any student activity interested in space, come up to the Badger office and make arrangements with us at once. Our motto this year is 'everybody in the Badger'."

"Circulation is a vital force in the national standard of a book, and in its value as an advertising medium. We have secured 550 additional subscriptions since the closing of the heavy fall campaign, making a total of 3,500. At least an additional 1,000 reservations will be made before the holidays, and early in January, it is expected."

Subscriptions will be taken every afternoon in the Badger office from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock.

Antigo Man Purchases Apartment Building

H. C. Head of Antigo, Wis., has purchased the new apartment building at 116 N. Orchard st., for about $22,000, it was reported today. John Peterson was formerly owner of the property. Both persons were represented by O. E. Bohn of the Bohn Agency.

Veterans Form Nucleus of Northwestern Five (Special to The Cardinal)

EVANSTON, Ill., Dec. 8—The varsity basketball team, which has been practicing three times a week since the first of October, started work in earnest this afternoon when two picked teams went thru the first scrimmage of the season.

Coach Kent has as a nucleus around which to build a winning team in eight veterans all of whom are showing up well in the preliminary practice. From last year's squad there are Johnson, Calhoun, Peterson, and Palmer, while there are several men yet to report.

The first game is with Monmouth on December 15, followed by the Lake Forest tilt on the nineteenth. Both of these games will be played on the home floor. The Conference season opens with the Badger-Purple battle on the sixth of January.

CUT BOWLING TOURNEY LEAD

Sigma Nu and Phi Sigma Kappa Hard Pressed For Top Place

While the Sigma Nu and the Phi Sigma Kappa teams still hold the leading places in the percentage column of the two divisions of the inter-fraternity bowling league, their advantages have been held down to a small number of games. The Sigma Nus are being pushed hard to the second division and lead by only two games.

The Alpha Chi Sigma five figured in bringing down the lead of the pace-setters when it took two of the three scheduled games Tuesday night. Through this piece of good work, coupled with a little hard luck on the part of the D. U. team, the Alpha Chi Sigmas slipped into second place while the D. U.'s went back to third.

Phi Sigma Kappa Heads
Phi Alpha Delta is in fourth place while Zeta Psi holds fifth. In the first division Phi Sigma Kappa still retains its lead by a fair margin. It is three games ahead of the Sigma Phi Epsilon team which hold undisputed second place. The Alpha Sigs are pushing to get back into second place and are only one game behind their rivals.

Four Tie in Fourth
Four teams are tied for fourth place but the advantage of the leaders seems to be large enough to make it improbable that any of these teams will be able to catch up to any great degree.

Following are the standings of the two divisions.

Nebraska Issues Fencing Challenge to Cornell

The University of Nebraska has issued a challenge to the Cornell Fencing club for a fencing meet this winter. This gives evidence of the added interest that fencing has received since the war.

COACH SELECTS SOPHS TO WIN IN MEET TODAY

Over 100 Men to Compete in Indoor Track Meet

The strong soph track aggregation will meet the yearlings in the gym annex in the annual indoor track meet at 2 o'clock this afternoon. According to Coach Meade Burke, it promises to be one of the fastest meets of the season. The frosh of last year are credited with having one of the fastest collections of stars in history. Some of these stars are practicing with the varsity, but are eligible for competition in the meet today.

"Without a doubt the second year men will take the meet, since they have some fast men entered," Coach Meade Burke said yesterday.

Frosh Have Dark Horse

The entry list this year is well over 100, the largest it has been in some years. The strength of the frosh is not known to any great extent. In the 40-yard dash, H. K. Sherburne '26, and H. E. Hill '25 are the most promising. Snell is also entered for the sophs and should show up well for them. It will be a soph event. The frosh bid fair to cop the 40-yard high hurdles with J. C. Legler and H. W. Zillisch entered as its stars. The 45-yard low hurdles show an especially large entry with H. E. Hill '25 and L. C. Christianson '25 booked as the best bets. Christianson is a former frosh star, at Dart Hill '25, again appears with K. R. Kennedy '26, Bud Graham '25, and L. C. Christensen to keep him company in a fast event.

Competition Strong in Mile

Kennedy has shown up well in cross country this fall. He is expected to push some of the second year runners hard. Kennedy is also entered in the half mile with L. M. Valley '25 as the most promising entries.

In the mile Cohen, Bergstresser, G. A. Piper, and W. J. Boning will show some fast time. All of the men are sophomores. The two mile, high, and broad jumps, and the shot put and pole vault should go to the sophomores according to the coach.

The frosh will in all probability cop the 40-yard high hurdles and the relay. The other events will go to the second year men, Burke said. Kennedy '26 will push the sophs hard in the distance events. Any other strength in the frosh ranks is unknown.

Frosh Five Prepares For Public Showing

Coach Carl Harper, of the freshmen basketball squad, has had his men working out every day this week. They will have another hard practice tomorrow afternoon in anticipation of the two public sessions with the varsity scheduled for next week.

The squad, which had been cut down to about 20 men has been augmented by some new players, most of whom have been out for football. Orin Wernecke, Hyde Park, and Ernest Simmons, Chicago, are the most likely prospects. The former is a center and the latter a guard.

The men who worked out against the varsity in the scrimmage yesterday were: Wernecke and Christianson, centers; H. Olson, McCarthy, Ogden, and Martinez. Forwards Christoph, F. Meyers, Scheer, and Noth, guards.

BIG 10 TEAMS IN GOOD TRIM

Wisconsin is Stumbling Block For Purdue; Enthusiasm is High

With the opening of the conference basketball season fast approaching, fans are predicting and speculating as to the strength of the respective Big Ten teams.

Purdue, who won the Conference crown last year, again looms as a strong contender for premier honors. Practically the entire team which went through last season so successfully has returned to the Boilermaker institute.

The stumbling block of Purdue this year is Wisconsin. Heretofore Purdue has had a comparatively short and easy schedule which has given them an advantage, which other schools have found difficult to overcome.

Wisconsin with Coach Meanwell as the rudder is always sure to deliver. At the present time it looks as though the Badgers will have one of the strongest quintets in the Middle West.

Michigan is another team which will present a strong line-up. With four of last years team back, the Wolverines will have to be reckoned with. As Michigan does not meet Purdue, it is expected that Wisconsin alone will be the factor which will rob the Indiana team of a championship this year.

Minnesota is another team that will be feared by aspirants to the Big Ten title. The Gophers started the season with a bang last year and were first outfit to defeat Wisconsin. The team this year will be composed of veterans in every sense of the word, and will, no doubt, give their opponents plenty to worry about.

Chicago has just started practice and is handicapped by the loss of

BASKET QUINTET TO MEET VETS IN GAME FRIDAY

Meanwell Reports Squad is Developing Fast; Feel Heavy Loss

With five married men on the squad, Butler college should be represented by a quintet which can stand hard knocks, when it meets Wisconsin here in the first preliminary basketball game next Friday evening.

Not only are the men married. They are also veteran basketball players. It was this same aggregation of Indiana collegians who came to Wisconsin last year, and, rated as underdogs, jumped into a seven point lead which enabled them to defeat Wisconsin.

Varsity Developing Fast

Coach Pat Paige, former Chicago university mentor, developed a team last year which was strong enough to defeat Illinois and Chicago, as well as Wisconsin. Reports from Indianapolis indicate that the Butler team has been working since the beginning of the scholastic year. Paige takes the squad through a long workout every afternoon, and it is this con-experienced men. Romney, who graduated last spring will be a great loss to the team. The Maroons may develop into a strong aggregation before the close of the season.

Iowa has had 24 men practicing under Coach Sam Barry since the middle of October. The Hawkeye school has five veterans back and seven reserves. Aubrey Devine the star guard of the Hawkeyes will be lost to his Alma Mater because of graduation.

Illinois lost a valuable man in "Chuck" Carney, but it is certain that the Indians will put a team on the floor that will be a credit to the institution.

Northwestern and Indiana are not teams that will cause a great deal of trouble from the present condition of affairs, but both schools have adopted the shot pass system invented by Coach Meanwell and may develop strong teams before the season is over.

Ohio State, who landed in eighth place among the Conference teams last year, is exceedingly hard pressed for good basketball material.

It is not generally expected that the Buckeyes will climb much higher in the standing of Big Ten teams.

With enthusiasm running high over basketball on nearly every campus, and with teams as a whole exceptionally strong this year, fans are looking forward to one of the greatest contests in history.

JACK CHILDS

MONDAY afternoon in Music hall students will gather to hear of great work done by this university in the Orient.

Back of every great work stands the man who has given of his initiative and energy in order that the work may succeed.

The work that has been done by Wisconsin in China has been possible because Wisconsin's representative combined the vision of a dreamer with the strenuous initiative of a doer.

Good work was done because it was first visioned and then actively carried out.

Jack Childs has represented Wisconsin in such a work. He has done masterfully and well what he saw was needed to be done.

Throughout the years of his work in China, against the many obstacles that were heaped in his way, he has held firm to the ideals that sent him to the East. The carrying out of these ideals has in no small way aided China in coming forward. Education is the torch that is awakening a sleeping China.

It is through the placing of returned Chinese students that Jack Childs is doing his greatest work. The Chinese students who have been educated in this country are encouraged to remember the western ideals that they have learned.

These students are placed so that they can communicate the lights of western civilization to their countrymen. They teach to their brothers in China the ways of the West; they show them the hope that an educated civilization offers them.

Wisconsin can well be proud of its representative in China. The university can be proud of the influence it has attained in the interests of a helpless humanity.

The Wisconsin in China movement is not an advertising stunt for the institution nor the state. It is an altruistic endeavor to help another people.

But the label of Wisconsin is tied onto the work. Big things are expected of the movement and of Jack Childs because big things have already been done. What has been done has cost money; what is planned will cost more.

A work of this kind that has once been started cannot be stopped. Too many people are now dependent upon it.

It is not enough to sit back now and view it with pride. The pocket and the checkbook should back up what is known to be a good work.

When Jack Childs returns to China let him return with enough to keep the work going in a way that will reflect no discredit on the work already accomplished by Wisconsin in China.

THE SIX BEST

EVERY so often some one dares the attempt to name the six most famous men or women in the world.

This mania for naming the six "best" has now been extended in other directions.

Professor Albert Bushnell Hart of Harvard has kindly named for us the six best "national" universities. These six institutions, according to Professor Hart are the Universities of Michigan, Yale, Harvard, Cornell, Chicago and Columbia.

Among the criteria which Professor Hart designates as those he considers necessary for a national university to have are its connection with national history, its military service, its wide variety of courses and departments, and the wide geographical distribution of its student body.

It would be interesting to know how many other noted educators would agree with his choice of universities and of the criteria by which to judge them.

Probably no two would agree either to the final list or the points to be considered in making such a list.

It would seem to us that achievement, in research, standards of scholarship demanded, and records of achievement by graduates should be considered when that list is being made.

We confess our incompetence to make such a list. And it is just as probable that there is no one who could make a choice of six or 60 of the "best" universities. At least a list that would please everyone and offend no one.

WELL BEGUN

THE action of the special committee of the interfraternity council on the Cardinal's deferred rushing proposal now brings the question directly up to a vote of the campus fraternities.

As the special committee voted so doubtless will the fraternities vote. It seems entirely probable that by next fall a system of pledging will be worked out that will do away with much that was unfair.

Under the previous rules flourished the famous or infamous hot-box system of pledging. Once in that hot-box a rushee had little chance to use his own reasoning power. Surrounded by a few orators and debaters of dominant reasoning powers, dazzled by the array of cups, bright lights, and the suave manners of the rushers—what chance did the poor rushee have?

The delaying of rushing will tend to inhibit but not prevent this hot-box system. Pledges will be more familiar with the fraternities on the campus and more hesitant to follow hot-box tactics.

As suggested before in this column the special committee has handled the question with such ability that complete success can be hoped for when its work is done. We understand that further rules are being considered that will attack directly the hot-box and the closed bid.

The closed bid system leads the rushee to pledge before he knows whether or not he could fit with the group. It leads the fraternities to pledge a man before they know all that they should about him.

The new rules will cause fraternities and rushers to be judged more nearly on their merits and their ideals.

It is a step in the right direction and there is every reason to hope that further rules which are forthcoming will remedy the remaining evils.

TURKEY FACES
STRAITS KNOT

American Plea for Freedom of Straits Made at Lausanne Meet

LAUSANNE — The Turkish delegates to the Near East conference today faced difficult problem of deciding whether Turkey, in formulating her plan for control of the Dardanelles, should cast her lot with Russia or with the entente powers and the U. S. Turkey's suggestion for the solution of the perplexing traits question will be made public tomorrow at the hotel
Du Chateau.

A strong American plea for freedom of the straits with the right of warships to pass to and from the Black sea was the outstanding feature on Wednesday of the Near Eastern conference, which received from the entente nations a definite project for control of this waterway. The Russian plan for the exclusion of all but Turkish warships from the straits received a blow in the allied proposals.

Richard Washburn Child, American ambassador, adopted the standpoint that the interests of the countries bordering on the Black sea made it imperative to keep the straits open. The United States, in common with every commercial nation, wished access to every free body of water in the world, and America would not be satisfied
if her ships of war could not pursue their peaceful errands wherever American citizens and merchant craft were accorded that privilege, he said.

HELP PEOPLE
IN NEAR EASTL. A. Gordon Appeals for Smyrna Aid From
Madison People

By LANCELOT A. GORDON
(Assistant Secretary of State)

While we are preparing for the joyful holidays, there are thousands of people who have been driven from their homes, tortured and left drifting from place to place. The Mohammedan Turk, who hates the Christian, has shaken the East with his bloody hand. Can we, as we prepare to celebrate the Savior's birth, throw our thoughts across the waters to the folks who have been driven from Smyrna?

While we are buying expensive gifts for our dear ones and our friends there are thousands of people in the East who are crying for a little food to keep body and soul together. If we do not answer the call there will be a day when this country will call for food. It is not long since that a gust of wind tore up the homes in four counties of our own state and we were called upon to send aid to our near neighbors. No one knows where suffering comes next. A tornado, a cyclone, a riot or a revolution may take the blood of men and drench a rich soil or the treasures in a gold or a coal mine.

We are the richest nation in the world. If we do not use our treasures for those who are suffering there will come a day when we will dearly pay.

AGAIN THIS YEAR

Persian colorings in the softest shades appeal to the American woman again this year and the thing to brighten up a navy or black gown. This draped gown features a Persian blouse and a long black roshana crepe skirt. Tiny buttons on the blouse are the only trimming.

tinual drilling that makes his gang feared through the Middle West.

Varsity engaged in its regular practice session at the gym yesterday afternoon. Coach Walter Meanwell is fast developing his outfit into a smoothly-working team. By the start of the Big Ten season next semester, he will have a quintet ranking in the first flight of Conference teams.

Les Gage, Ken Elsom, and Byron Barwig are battling for the two forward positions. Gage appears to have the jump for left forward, but lack of endurance prevents him from standing the steady pace of a hard game. When Barwig is right, he is a dependable Varsity forward, but Coach Meanwell will have to overcome Barwig's tendency to be erratic.

Roses Are Heavy

With Douglas Gibson as center, Capt. Gus Tebell and Rollie Williams at guards, the Wisconsin defense seems to be well taken care of. Gibson is outstanding on the defensive. Tebell is rated as the best back guard in the Conference and Kipke of Michigan is the only rival who has shown himself to be a par with Rollie.

Loss of its last year's star forwards will probably keep Wisconsin from a title this year. Cop Taylor and Duke Ceaser were a pair of basket-tossers hard to beat. In addition to this serious loss, a touch break in the schedule will hamper Wisconsin's march through the basketball season.

Draw Bad Schedule

Purdue and Michigan tied for the championship last year. The Badgers meet both of these teams this season. Michigan has practically the same outfit which captured a title, including Kipke, Cappon, Capt. Ely, and a newcomer, Herb Steger, the Oak Park, Ill., flash. Purdue will have Gullion and most of his 1921-22 teammates.

Under the new system of basket-ball schedule-making, each team plays a different set of opponents in ensuing years. Wisconsin was unlucky enough to draw two-championship possibilities in the Wolverines and Purdue. If the Badgers cop one of the four games played with these teams, they will have hung up a successful record.

Purdue and Michigan do not meet each other, and barring accidents, they expect, it is said, to again finish in a tie for the Big Ten gonfalon.

PENN STUDENTS PROTEST RULES

Non-Athletic Eligibility Requirements Called Too Strict

ITHACA, New York — Undergraduate publications at the University of Pennsylvania, dramatic societies and other organizations have united in protest to the stringency of the eligibility rules for non-athletic activities according to the Cornell Daily Sun, student publication of Cornell university.

The protests have followed the action of the Faculty committee on Student Organizations in suspending the managing board of The Pennsylvanian because of the ineligibility of one of its members.

The present rule bars a student from participation in any undergraduate non-athletic activity if he is deficient in more than a unit and a half of his work. This ruling was instituted by the Board of Deans in 1917 during the war, and ever since then it has been a constant source of grievance among the students. Several years ago the Athletic Council modified its ruling so that it is considerably more lenient than the non-athletic rule.

Furthermore a student taking part in sports is allowed ten days' notice of his deficiencies before the ineligibility rule takes effect. This gives him an opportunity to arrange a special examination to remove the condition.

Mozart Club to Give Sacred Concert Sunday

The Mozart Club will give a sacred concert at Christ Presbyterian Church Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Forty-six members of the club will take part in the program. Solos will be sung by Alexius Baas and Ben Eilert. The full program will be published Sunday.

Literary Societies to Prepare Debates

With only two more days in which to prepare their cases, members of both the Agricultural Literary society and the Athena debating teams are redoubling their efforts to win the annual debate which will be held in Agricultural hall at 8 o'clock tomorrow night.

"Resolved that the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States constitution should be Repealed" is the issue of the debate. The Aggies support the affirmative, while the Athenians uphold the negative side of the question.

The teams will be supported by a strong delegation from each of the literary societies that are concerned in the debate. No admission will be charged, and the public is invited.

The affirmative will be upheld by Marvin Schaars '24, Harry Clements '24, and Edward Rohrbeck '24. The negative team is composed of Sam Soref '23, Eugene Meyer '25, and Edgar Smith '24.

Autos Crash at Lake And Johnson, at Noon

A Buick car, said to have been driven by Dr. W. E. Meanwell, basketball coach at the university, struck another Buick car about 12:30 today at N. Lake and W. Johnson st. Some damage was done to both cars. The front wheels on Meanwell's car were badly bent, and the side of the other Buick was jammed.

A man, riding in the car struck by Meanwell's auto, had his head bumped by the impact and was taken into a nearby drug store for medical attention.

Magic and Oral Eruptions Will Entertain Kiddies

A magic volcano and other wonders of modern chemistry will entertain children of Madison at the annual Christmas party to be given by the Kiwanis club at the Strand theatre the morning of December 23.

A varied program of singing will be given, a short play by children, an act or two from the Orpheum, and special Christmas movies will be included in the program. Gov. John J. Blaine has been asked to give a short talk to the kiddies. Members of the chemistry faculty in charge of Professor Victor Lenher, will have charge of the chemical wonders of the program.

LIVES LOST AND DAMAGE DONE BY FIRE IN ASTORIA

ASTORIA, Ore.—Ten blocks of the business district of this city were wiped out, two lives were lost and property damage estimated at $4,000,000 had been caused by a fire which broke out shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. Most of the big business houses had been burned and firemen, aided by forces from the Portland fire department had dynamited buildings in an effort to check the flames.

The business section of Astoria is built along the river bank and a large part of it is on piling. The residence district is on high ground.

Astoria was established more than a century ago as a trading post and was named in honor of John Jacob Astor, pioneer trader whose agents were active at the post.

Orpheum Presents Varied Program This Week-end

Orpheum entertainment for the last times today and tomorrow is headed by musical offerings that are sure to have an appeal with the vaudeville goer.

Sophie Brandt, a grand opera prima donna, sings a number of operatic and popular selections in a delightful manner.

Mantell's Manikins are a novelty, in that the diminutive figures depict modern characters. Screen comedians are seen in the act showing each other with custard pie.

With his own songs, which he specially prepared for this vaudeville tour, Harry Gilbert offers what he terms "Character Snap Shots."

The Seven Brown Girls form an orchestra which should have an appeal to every lover of music.

Al Lester and Company present a combination of talents designated as "Breezy Comedy Bits," consisting of a series of hair-splitting and far-fetched situations.

Excellent specimens of modern athletes are the Willie Brothers who accomplish a routine of nearly unbelievable tricks.

SEEK U.S. AID FOR RUSSIANS

Miss West, Relief Worker, Tells of Starving Millions

"More than 8,000,000 people in Russia are facing the same situation this year they faced last year said Miss West, former American relief worker in Russia and daughter of Prof. R. W. West of the speech department, who spoke last night in Bascom hall.

"To really understand the situation, one must take into consideration the result of the draughts which occur so frequently in Russia and especially those which occurred in 1920 and 1922," Miss West asserted.

"Usually Russia has been prepared for such conditions, but the war and the revolution left Russia totally unprepared and the result has been famine."

"Last winter," Miss West continued, "33,000,000 people were without food and sufficient shelter. American relief was late and too small. As a result many died of starvation and disease."

In Buzuluk, the district in which Miss West's division worked there are only 490,000 out of 650,000 people still living. American relief agencies fed over 1,000,000 children during the past year and provided shelter for many of them. Many more died because of the lack of supplies.

"In spite of their weakened condition the people of Russia planted what grain they had with the hopes of a good harvest, but it was a failure," Miss West said.

"Yet the people have not given up but have gathered together what they could and are striving to live through the winter. It is America's duty to assist these poor suffering people to keep up their hope and spirit."

DOLPHIN OFFERS FEATURE EVENTS AT LATHROP POOL

The acme of aquatic art was attained last evening at the Dolphin club exhibition staged in Lathrop hall pool.

The "Evolution of Swimming" showed the development of strokes from the stone age to the present time. The first stage showed Mama, Papa, Johnny, and Mary Stonehatchet fleeing from wild beasts in the water but impeded by an ignorance of swimming. The stroke employed here was an improvised one. The second stage, the dark ages, showed bathing beauties of the seventeenth century heavily garbed for a dip. The stroke that they used was the breast stroke, which gave little speed but insured their keeping their hair dry. The twentieth century bathing girl depicted the present day speed strokes showing the advancement of the art of swimming during the last century.

"Looking for a Friend", a parody on life saving, was given by Olga Anderson, the victim, and Lois Barry, the life saver. This clever stunt "out Sennets Sennet" brought down the house.

Elna Mygdal set a new Wisconsin record by swimming 2 1-2 lengths of the tank under water.

Lois Barry with her front jack with a half twist and one and a half forward somersault created quite a sensation. Olga Anderson's elbow stand and front somersault and Ann Smith's half gainer and back flip, all given in fine form, were very favorably received. Annette Mayhew distinguished herself by some nice little dives in perfect form.

1913, the damage might have been more serious."

"Our greatest loss perhaps, is the destruction of the research records which represent over two years work done by five graduate students. Some of the notes have been saved, but most of the manuscripts and books cannot be salvaged because of their exposure to the water and smoke."

The laboratory desks and equipment in the room were completely burned and all of the reagents and chemical samples are a complete ruin.

The water which ran down the stairways and through holes in the ceilings did considerable damage to documents and papers in some of
