PROF. SHOWERMAN DECLARES ITALY TO BE IMPROVING

Advent of Mussolini Has Helped Political and Social Condition

That Italy is without a doubt in a greatly improved condition socially and politically since the advent of Mussolini and the fascisti, is the opinion of Prof. Grant Showerman of the classics department, who recently returned to the university after two years with the American academy in Rome.

"Mussolini is undoubtedly disinterested and a fine patriot," said Professor Showerman. "He has a keen powerful face, though you would hardly pick him out in a crowd as one of the greatest powers in Italy. His year and a half term of uninterrupted power expires in April, 1924, and I tremble at the possibilities when he is removed from the scene of events."

Mussolini Takes Hand
Professor Showerman was in Rome at the time when Mussolini came into power.

"He took hold of affairs easily and with practically no bloodshed," continued Professor Showerman. "The very ease with which he effected the revolution showed the weakness of the country. The only outward signs we had of a revolution was the barb-wire around the city walls, and the presence of 'black shirts.'"

Talked with King
At the academy Professor Showerman met and talked with King Victor Emmanuel, whom he declared to be one of the finest monarchs of Europe and a most cultivated gentleman. "He showed great good sense in accepting the fascisti as he did."

Women in Italy do not as a whole have suffrage, although a few who have proved themselves of unusual intelligence or distinguished themselves in some way are allowed to vote.

"You people seem more interested in the political situation of Italy than you do in the American Academy of Rome itself," he complained smilingly.

Held Fellowship

Professor Showerman held a fellowship in the academy in 1912 and 1913, the first to be held from the University of Wisconsin, though many have been held since. In 1921 he returned to Rome where he studied for a year last summer, he was the director of the summer session.

According to Professor Showerman the academy is divided into the department of classics, fine arts and music. In 1913 it was joined with the Academy of Fine Arts of Rome at which time it was given a beautiful building in the finest part of Rome, and heavily endowed by J. Pierpont Morgan.

Students Well Known

Many of the students are known the world over in music, painting, sculpturing. They are few in number due to the high degree of ability which is required. Classes and instructors are few, the scholars traveling extensively in research work of their own. Only the classics school travels in a body, about twenty going to Greece last year.

Fellowships in the classics last for two years, in the fine arts, three years.

Mr. Kenneth Scott, instructor in the university of classics, attended the academy last summer. Miss Helen Pence, a graduate of the university several years ago and a distinguished classical teacher, has held a fellowship, a shas Mr. Polaschek, a La Crosse man and a well-known sculptor at the Art Institute of Chicago.

AGRIC. GRAD HEADS —WINNING STOCK HERD

Jack C. Nisbet, Richland Center, who graduated from the College of Agriculture in 1922, was in charge of the Rock county show herds that won 1,200 ribbons, including 176 championships, in a circuit of fairs this season. This was the largest exhibit of stock ever sent out of any county for a fair circuit. Six other students or graduates of the College of Agriculture were on the staff that handled the county herds.

Dean Russell is Called Away to Funeral of Niece

Dean H. L. Russell of the College of Agriculture left late yesterday for Marshfield, Wis., to attend the funeral of his niece, Miss Annie McCullough, aged 18, who was asphyxiated by gas fumes from a kitchen stove at her home Saturday night.

Miss McCullough who was a student at Stevens Point normal school, was spending the weekend at home.

She is believed to have been overcome by escaping gas fumes while preparing supper, and was found unconscious on the kitchen floor by her father when he returned from work late Saturday.

COUNTRY MAG TO HOLD HOP OCT. 6

Tickets Will Be Placed on Sale on Campus Next Friday

Program tickets for the Country Mag hop, one of the university's traditional affairs, will be placed on sale on the campus Friday, as well as at the door of Lathrop hall Saturday evening, where the dance is to be held. Boyd's eight-piece orchestra will furnish the music, and nourishment in the form of doughnuts and cider, will be provided by a group of Home Economics students.

All University students are invited, and fee cards must be presented at the door in order to secure admission. However, only a limited number of tickets will be sold.

T. W. Johnson is general chairman, assisted by Elizabeth Maynard, "eats"; R. O. Ralph, music; Harriet Lewis, program-tickets; Wm. B. Sarles, ticket sales; Clement Weyker, floor; and L. M. Kle-vay, publicity.

GIRLS' GLEE CLUB TO HOLD TRYOUTS OCT. 8, 9

The University Girls' Glee club will hold tryouts next Monday, October 8, at 3:30 o'clock and Tuesday, October 9 at 4:30 o'clock. The first meeting of the club will be held Wednesday, October 10. The officers for this year are Charlotte Belscamper '24, president; Elvira Meiselwitz '24, vice-president; Pearl Weaver '26, secretary; Clara Hertzburg '25, treasurer; and Mildred Hanson '23, librarian. The club is hoping to have Constance MacLean '24 as its pianist. Dr. Charles H. Mills of the school of music will again be director.

Their mid-winter concert will probably be given earlier this year, before or immediately after the Christmas holidays, so as not to conflict with final examinations.

The members are planning to take short concert trips this spring. Their last year's plans along this line were formulated too late to be acted upon.

Pets of All Kinds Are Seen Roaming About University

A great variety of pets have been brought to Madison by students this year. Dogs of all varieties are the predominant companions. Many German police dogs and Russian wolf hounds are to be seen at fraternity houses.

Collies, shepherds, bulls and airdales of all sizes and breeds play back and forth on Langdon. Two badgers and a coyote puppy are the novel pets which attract much attention.

Several dog fights have taken place in the last few days, and as a result many owners are seen leading their pets with chains. Sunday afternoon at the time of the sorority pledging, the pets were all on parade and most of them ready and trying to fight.

A novel feature was seen on Langdon when a huge German police dog was attacked by a small coyote. The outcome was all in favor of the coyote, who incidentally howls beautifully for the co-eds.

DECREASE OF 80 IN ENGINEERING STUDENTS NOTED

Devotees of Slide Rule Drop Off in Sophomore Year

The enrollment in the Engineering school up to last Saturday was 80 students less than the enrollment given in the student directory last year. The total enrollment this year was 1,083 as against 1163 students last year.

The dean of the school is not excited over the prospect this year because there will undoubtedly be late registrations to fill up the gap between the two enrollment records. More freshmen are nrolled this year than last. There are 301 new freshmen, and 60 second year freshmen, making a total of 360 as against 316 of last year.

Sophomore Decrease

The greatest decrease in classes is among the sophomores. There are 235 students registered, while there were 290 in the school last year. A slight decrease is reported in the junior class; the enrollment of 269 is reduced to 228 this year. The figure of 243 in the senior class of the engineering school is three students less than the figures given in the directory last year. Six more graduates are in the school this year, making a total of 22.

Civil Engineers Lead

The report from the dean's office gives the number of civil engineers as 226, the mechanical engineers as 227, the electrical engineers as 409, the chemical engineers as 138, the mining engineers as 42 and one miscellaneous student.

S. G. A. LIBRARY HAS NEW LIST OF BOOKS

The S. G. A. library has opened this year in the Y. W. C. A. office with a list of new books everyone should read. As the office has just opened, it is impossible to ascertain how many are taking advantage of the library but last year it met with great success. There one may find books of all types. Added to last year's list of 90 books are "Raw Material," by Canfield; "A Son at the Front" by Wharton; "Lost Lady" by Cather; "Over the Footlights" by Leacock; "Cross Sections" by Street; and "The Last of the Vikings" by Bojer. The last mentioned author, Bojer will be in Madison sometime this fall.

Foreign Flashes

BERLIN, Oct. 2—After heavy fighting the monarchist forces surrendered the Kuestrin fortress at 5 a. m. this morning. The rebels will be tried by a special court established under the terms of President Ebert's state of siege proclamation. About 400 men were captured and disarmed.

TULSA, Okla., Oct. 2—Reports that Governor Walton's "army" had been ordered to seize the ballot boxes here just as the polls were closed caused great commotion here this afternoon.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 2—The constitutional amendment voted on today carried overwhelmingly, early returns from the polls indicated. The amendment provides that the legislature may convene itself for impeachment purposes without call from the Governor.

DUSSELDORF, Oct. 2—The German security police force, charged with the responsibility for Sunday's rioting in which 10 people were killed and 400 wounded, has been decreed abolished by the French headquarters. Three hundred members of the force will have their uniforms and equipment seized and be either expelled or imprisoned.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 2—The naval airship ZR-1 docked at St. Louis field at eight o'clock this morning nearing the end of its record flight. It will return to Lakehurst today flying over Chicago.

Parking Laws Are to Be Enforced By Police Department

Within the last few days more than a dozen students have found their cars displaying the red tags of the police department. The owners had failed to comply with the city ordinance, passed six months ago, which forbids the parking of machines in a court less than 18 feet wide.

The police have been issuing tags as a warning, but the department announced yesterday that they intend to arrest people for this offense within the next few days.

The ordinance requiring that a car be brought to a standstill before proceeding on State street is also to be rigidly enforced. The ordinance has been in effect for over a year but has not been generally observed. Recently new and conspicuous signs have replaced the old yellow warning disks. Now the police advise that they are on the job ready to arrest all offenders.

PROMISING CONCERT SEEN IN T. SCHIPA

Ovation of Tenor Who Will Sing Here Oct. 10 Received

An unusual entertainment is in store for Madison music lovers awaiting the coming of Tito Schipa, the world's premier lyric opera tenor, who will sing at the Christ Presbyterian church here on October 10. Tito Schipa who was the favorite male singer at the Ravinia programs all summer, received a great ovation when he sang in concert in New York last night according to a telegram received today by the All Star Series management.

The telegram reads as follows: "Schipa scored one of the greatest successes of his career at Carnegie hall tonight. Such sheer delight has seldom been witnessed in New York before and the oldest time concert goers state they felt a new thrill through the beauty of his work. Schipa who was in glorious voice had to sing a total of twenty-two numbers."

EVANS SALTER.

Tito Schipa is under the same management as Galli Curci and Josef Llevinne. The managers of these artists, Evans and Salter, confine their efforts to managing four celebrated artists. The mere fact that Evans and Salter will consent to manage an artist is proof of their outstanding talent.

Both Mr. Evans and Mr. Salter were in Madison last season in connection with Ameliya Gallia Curci's appearance here and both are giving the first appearance of Schipa has their personal attention.

Mr. Schipa's program follows:

PROFESSOR WILSON TO VISIT UNIVERSITY

Prof. George Grafton Wilson, noted authority on international law, will visit the University of Wisconsin next semester as exchange professor from Harvard. He will be at Grinnell College in Iowa the first semester. Assistant Prof. Kenneth T. G. Webster of the English department will be at Knox College in Minneapolis the first half year.

VODVIL, MIXERS ARE DISCUSSED BY UNION BOARD

Samuel Gompers Will Speak at First Convocation This Year

Union vodvil, student convocations, and mixers were the chief subjects under discussion when plans for the first semester were gotten under way at the first meeting of the Union board in Union building last night.

Plans for the semester's work were gotten under way at the first Union board meeting held last night at the Union building.

Union board mixers will be held under some what different arrangements than prevailed last year. Complete plans for the series of mixers have not as yet been made.

Gompers to Speak

Convocations will be held under the auspices of the board as was done last year. Samuel Gompers is assured as the speaker for the first convocation which will be held some time early in November. Other speakers of the same caliber are being secured for later convocations.

A room on the first floor of the Union building is to be remodeled as the future Union board office to provide more office space than has hitherto been available.

Cardinal Gets Office

The Cardinal is also to have a new office on the first floor of the union building. This will occupy one of the rooms now held by the Gun and Blade club. Work on the two offices is expected to be completed some time this week.

It is expected that Union board-forensic board relations will be continued as last year. Some contemplated changes have not been fully planned as yet. Adjustments between the two boards will be completed soon.

Union vodvil will be presented this year. Temporary dates for the performances have been set at December 14 and 15. If feasible this will be changed to December 7 and 8.

PLANS FOR RUSH TO BE FINISHED TONIGHT

Arrangements for the annual class rush between the sophomores and the freshmen will be completed at a meeting of the Student Senate at 7:15 o'clock tonight in room 1 of the Law building. Various rumors as to the conduct of the rush have been heard on the campus during the week, but the matter will not be decided upon until tonight.

There was some thought last spring of substituting a push ball for the bags, but that proposal was voted down. In all probability the bags will be used again this fall.

Some unfinished business is still on the calendar from last spring and will be disposed of at the meeting. A date for the fall elections also will be set. The elections committee will issue rules and regulations concerning filing of petitions, voting, and conduct of elections following the senate's action.

SYMPHONY CONCERTS WILL START OCT. 23

The year's first symphony concert is to be furnished by the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, October 23. The organization comes under the auspices of the Madison Orchestral association. The Minneapolis orchestra will play here again on April 1.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra will furnish the second number of the winter series. This is the first time in years that the Chicago orchestra has played outside of its home city. The addition of several new artists has necessitated this departure. It will appear here November 27.

According to L. S. Pickarts, 429 North Park street, who is in charge of the seat sale for the series of three concerts, tickets are now on sale and going fast. A special rate is being made to university students for the series, if fee card is presented with orders.

57 SELECTED FOR UNIVERSITY BAND

75 Out of 300 Trying Out Are Chosen For Second Band

Out of the 300 people who tried out for the university band 57 were selected for the first band and 75 for the second band. The first band is more or less of a concert organization and the second band is rather an understudy of the first, furnishing substitutes when necessary. The number of tryouts and the number chosen this year is comparatively large to those of other years.

Juniors, seniors and post graduate members of the first band get a refund of $30 on the noon of commencement day whereas second band men get military credit as a reward for their services.

"The splendid showing the band made at Varsity Welcome is an indication of what we may expect in the future of this organization," said Mr. Morphy, the band director. "Within less than two days the band was whipped into shape and 85 men were ready to play at the Welcome. If the band had not come everybody would have stewed and fussed about it, and yet if those people who took the appearance of the band at the scheduled time for granted, could have seen the heavy rehearsals under way before 'Welcoming Day'—they would appreciate the effort behind it. On the whole the results were very gratifying," Mr. Morphy stated, "and unusually good work is expected during the year."

LUTHERANS TO HOLD 3 DAY CONVENTION

U. W. Radio Station Starts Program For the Coming Year

The university radio station, WHA, gave its first program of the scholastic year at 7:30 o'clock last Monday evening. Last year regular programs were given five nights a week and special features were broadcasted on certain days. This Fall, however, only three programs are to be given each week, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday nights.

The first program of this week, delivered by Dean S. H. Goodnight, consisted of a talk on "How the University Welcomes the New Students and Starts Them on their University Work."

This evening Dean F. Louise Nardin will speak on "What the University Does for Women and What Women Do for the University." The concluding program of this week, concerning the University's interest both in placing its graduates in most suitable and advantageous positions and in their continued success and advancement, will be given by Prof. Thomas Lloyd Jones, Chairman of the Placement Committee.

Student owners of radio sets may tune in on the programs on a wave length of 360 meters.

DEFENSIVE DRILLDriver's Men Use Coe College
Plays Against the Varsity

With his men still in secret practice, Coach Jack Ryan ordered scrimmage yesterday afternoon, and for an hour the All-Americans, and the varsity worked against each other.

Contrary to his former tactics of devoting the major portion of time to offensive play, Ryan put the men on the defense against the All-Americans for more than half the period.

The Driver men, using Coe college plays, worked well against the varsity, relying greatly on the efforts of the two Harmon boys who have created such a sensation on Randall field recently.

The American went over the line twice for touchdowns on forward passes, but in attempting to pierce the line, they were unable to make downs. Holmes and Whitten worked at the halfback posts during the major part of the play, with Radke at full and Eagleburger at quarter.

Taft was out of the scrimmage but was on the field working in his uniform. Harris was not in the lineup.

Tom Nichols, who has been out of practice for some time with torn ligaments in his shoulder, was in uniform yesterday but he did not see action in the scrimmage. Teckmeyer worked at center for some time, but he was later relieved by Pearce.

McCormick, who captained the freshmen team last year played at guard during much of the scrimmage. While he is rather light, he is a world of strength through his fight, and his work looked good yesterday.

Bieberstein worked at the other guard, Below and Gerber worked at the tackles, and Irish and Nelson played end. Walker relieved Irish at his position for some time.

While on the offensive, the Badgers mixed their plays considerably and had fair success. Holmes went well at half, tearing off several long end runs which looked good.

Stangel, who was injected into the lineup near the end of practice, took the ball on a kickoff and galloped 65 yards for a touchdown through the entire All-American squad.

Heroines

Football was at one time considered to be a distinctly feminine sport. This was in Scotland where until late in the 19th century, the annual clash between the spinsters and married women at Inverness was one of the events of the year.

Any available women took part in the game at which the men were bystanders. The rooting section was a big feature of the game, where bystanders. The rooting section was a big feature of the game, where all husbands, brothers and sweethearts they encouraged their heroines on to further hairpulling and line plunges. The contests lasted until one side had scored a decisive victory by virtue of their opponents being forced to retire from weariness.

Strange to say, the married women usually walked from the field victors, while the spinsters were left to pick themselves out of the mud. The unique feature of the contest was that the eligible young men picked their wives from the most brilliant performers during the course of the game. For this reason all of the better players were mated, and more than a match for the younger and unmarried players.

Exactly 6,463 cows were sold for dairy purposes from the herds of the members of cows testing associations last year, report officials of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

NEW BRASS COLLAR
SWELLS PUP'S HEAD

The Square and Compass club has instituted a city wide search for their house mascot, an American pitt-bull, which disappeared while on a shopping tour with some of the members.

Co-op shopping proved too much for his nibs, the dog, and besides his new brass collar undoubtedly proved a temptation to vanity, for after a moments hesitation before the door, he jumped out to parade his new finery on State street—and has not returned.

Any information relative to the whereabouts of the pet will gladden the hearts of the fraternity again.

Here's your dope on secret practice folks—

The boys were put through their regular paces early, and then shifted onto Randall.

Jack Harris and Taft didn't get into suits last night because of minor injuries, but Nichols was back in the lineup—O. K.

Stangel nursed an infected ear, but Ryan stuck him in scrimmage just the same, and you should have seen the spunk that boy put up. Near the end of the scrimmage, he raced all the way down the field on a kickoff, jumped over a couple of All-Americans and made the lone touchdown for the Varsity.

By the way—the All-Americans annexed two markers on the Varsity last night by sheer nerve and pass executive ability.

Ryan would put the ball on the scrubs' twenty yard line and from then on, it was a battle of defensive wits. The varsity were on the defensive most of the evening, because the Harmons were almost too clever for them.

It looked bad there at times—pass after pass was tossed behind the Varsity backfield,—in fact, seven out of ten tries were successful.

Holmsie, our bow-legged wonder, was the only one able to stop the aerial attack at all.

Ryan will certainly have to brush those boys up on lots of football before they meet teams like Illinois and Michigan.

Before secret practice started Jimmie Brader was called to the sidelines to interview a lady friend. A lot of the boys were wondering whether she was Jimmy's new "mother-in-law-to-be."

Opitz hurt his ankle in practice the other night, too, and couldn't get in there tonight. Hope the in-

Coach Vail For Initial Row

Candidates for the Varsity eight put in their initial practice this afternoon as two full crews took a short workout on the lake.

A special crew race has been arranged for Homecoming morning and Coach "Dad" Vail is pointing his men for that event.

The men on the squad are unusually large and with several huskies from last year's freshman squad, as well as the remnant of the Varsity eight, prospects for a good crew are bright.

Captain-elect Ralph Schuetz, ex-captain H. E. Johnson, H. A. Murray, Eric Grunitz, Bob Talley, Earl Plettner, H. Berg, E. Esser and W. Gerhardt, all from last year's squad, have reported. A. F. Tessier and W. F. Start, from the 1923 freshman crew, are also out.

R. G. Kitchen and Carl Hausmann are out for coxswain. Kitchen steered the varsity shell several years ago while Hausmann filled the position last year.

The yearling football squad had a brisk workout at Camp Randall yesterday under the supervision of Coach Jones, who is being ably assisted by "Kibo" Brumm, "Gundy" Nelson, and "Steve" Polaski. The lads who were put through brisk passing and blocking drill, or handling the ball with increasing accuracy, although there is still room for improvement.

The squads ran through a snappy signal drill and then had about half an hour of scrimmage, in which they were drilled on Minnesota plays. But Minnesota, under the guidance of their new coach may not use the shift this year. At any rate, the frosh know it thoroughly and will use it when they scrimmage against the Varsity tonight.

All the candidates out last night had a chance to display their wares, and among the most promising were Sauger, a giant tackle, captain of Stevens Point Normal team last year, Postel at end, Barufski at quarter, and Wilke at center. Hinkle and Kreutz also augur well. Barnum gained well on line drives. Coach Jones can use many more freshmen of 10 lbs. and over who are not afraid of having their hair mussed.

COMMUNITY TRAINING SCHOOL HOLDS MEET

The Community Training school had for its principal speaker at its first meeting at Christ Presbyterian church last night Prof. Norman E. Richards of the department of religious education at Northwestern university. His subject was "The Aim of Religious Education."

The school will meet every Tuesday night at Christ church until Christmas, under the direction of the Dane county Sunday school association. It is expected that there will be a total enrollment of approximately 200 persons from churches of various denominations.

Prof. L. W. Uhl of the department of education at the university will be on the teaching staff, his subject being "How to Teach Religion."

RIFLE SHOOTING
MAY RATE MINOR
SPORT STANDINGMeeting of Rifle Club Last Night Was Well Attended

Forty-four men attended the organization meeting of the Rifle Club, held on the third floor of the armory last night.

There is considerable possibility that rifle shooting may soon be given minor sport rating in the university and ability in shooting to be rewarded with a letter.

Last year, from a survey of the status given rifle shooting in other institutions, it was learned that 38 colleges and universities including Yale, Harvard and Princeton gave it minor sport rating. The athletic council of Wisconsin has previously been approached in behalf of the change and at no other time has the council shown such favorable consideration of the question as now.

The thirty members were handicapped last year by a small range and too few rifles. In spite of this, their team won the Inter-collegiate Shoot. Medals won were presented by Major L. Lampert last night to Rorison, Drake, Ludwig, Long, Price, Sporer, Ross, Ziegler, Fulton, Powers, and Von Rohr.

New men signed up and made arrangements for future activity before the election of officers began as part of the regular business meeting.

U. OF TEXAS STUDENTS
MUST TAKE CARS HOME

The president of the University of Texas was forced to ask many students to take their automobiles home, when cars were brought to Austin in spite of a faculty ruling.

Exceptions are given in cases where students are graduate students and residents of Austin, students over 21 years of age without parents or guardians and entirely on their own resources, students who are working their way through school, students who are married, students in professional schools of the university, who have already taken undergraduate degrees.

Oklahoma university has a similar ruling.

GET INTO THE SWIM

The annual fall tennis tournament is under way. Open to every male student in the university exclusive of freshmen and varsity tennis men, it is a means whereby suitable material can be searched out for the squad.

After the enviable record made last year by Wisconsin net men, fans are looking forward to a repetition this year. But in order to duplicate last year's feat, there must be a large number of candidates. With registration for the tournament commencing tomorrow, and play starting Friday or Saturday, you should be warming up the racquets.

The men in charge of the event are looking for a big turn-out. Don't disappoint them, yourself or the university.

Get into the swim.

KNOCK, KNOCK, KNOCK

Every institution, large and small, good and bad, important and unimportant, has received a great amount of knocking and the University of Wisconsin has had its full share. The regrettable part of it all is that a large amount of the knocks come from those who are in one way or another connected with the university. This does not seem right or just in any way.

If those people who criticize would only stop and think the matter over before they utter their opinions, there would be far less criticism. But they don't. When a student knocks Wisconsin he should realize that he is knocking himself as a part of Wisconsin. He also forgets that perhaps he is not in a position to criticize, that he is not above the average level of the institution. If he were above the average, in a position where he could justifiably criticize, then his criticism would be constructive rather than destructive.

As Harold Seering said in his speech at Freshman Welcome, "Wisconsin is a great institution; it has great faults and greater virtues." Every institution has faults; most institutions have greater virtues which not only make up for those faults, but which might be destroyed with the destruction of the faults. Some faults are a result of the virtues.

For instance, it must be recognized that such large classes as are held on the hill are not conducive to the best learning. At the same time, that defect is not only counterbalanced but overbalanced by the fact that a greater number of students are being offered a chance to gain an education by such a system.

The larger classes also make it impossible for every one to be handled by a teacher of superior ability. But there are few such teachers in the United States and were they gathered together, they would be hardly enough for thirty institutions of higher learning. Better a few good teachers than none at all.

In Germany (where the population is half that of the United States, there are perhaps 30 universities.

There, of course, thanks to circumstances, better teachers predominate. Here, with hundreds of universities and colleges, we must get along as best we can; take what we can find, and be entirely satisfied.

If you are a believer in education for the select few rather than in education for the mass, that is another matter to argue. We take it for granted that you are not, else you would have connected yourself with a small New England college or the like.

Knocking does not pay, and there are so many reasons why we should not criticize destructively, that we must stop and think before we do.

WE'RE OFF!

We're off; fairly on our way through a big year. We've gone madly helter-skelter into a thousand and one outside activities; we spend our afternoons watching or partaking in football practice and our evenings in dates. The lake breezes are a bit too chilly for the canoe, but the drive isn't so bad. We're pounding out Cardinal, Octopus, Badger, Lit copy in our spare moments, and if we're not doing any of these things, we're making arrangements—arrangements for anything and everything. Politics will be commencing soon; in fact, they are in the air already.

The tax-payer looks on aghast. "And this is what I am sacrificing myself for! They've started it already! What about the real matter in hand? When do they study?"

When do they study? Ah, that is the mystery of it all, that is where the tax-payer is fooled. He hears so much about the activities, the athletics at Wisconsin and so little about the studies. And, naturally, he wonders.

Some people believe that the more they have to do the more they are able to do. And this seems to carry through in the vast majority of cases in the university. For study, we do; else the faculty, a sensible lot, after all, would put a quietus to all activities. It has the power. Silently, unobtrusively, in the wee small hours of the night, or in minutes caught here and there, there is study. And such work is a splendid trainer; for it teaches tremendous concentration. With so many things to do, everything has to be done very carefully and intensely.

A local paper carried the following statement the other night, which is certainly germane to the subject:

"The state university is open. The football squad is out and the scrimmage is on. Columns are printed daily about the possibility of Coach Jack Ryan, depending much upon new or hitherto immature material, building up a contender for Big Ten honors. The rushing season is well advanced. Green caps appear in the streets. It's a gay life, and exciting, but tax-payers may not think it very important. It is important, nevertheless. It is one of the ways in which the student becomes active and interested in organized society. It whets his zeal, and gives him things to do in the great play of human relations. And back of it, stimulated by it, is the great work of learning, going on quietly and intensely in the big institution on the Hill. There is laid the ground for steady, deliberate, sure advance of civilization."

GREETINGS

When a student tramps up the hill to a ten o'clock he is always ready with a "hello" for his fellows and a "how d' you do" for his instructors, and the more instructors and the higher their grade that he can speak to the happier and prouder is he. He will usually go out of his way to speak to a full professor; in fact, a full professor ranks right up with the star pledge of his favorite sorority. He speaks, and is usually taken aback or abashed when the instructor does not reciprocate with as great gusto. If the teacher does not show a single sign of recognition, the poor student is tremendously chagrined until he finally decides that professor so-and-so must have been pondering some deep matter.

This is not always the case, however; sometimes the student never recovers completely from the incident. But he does not realize, as he should, in what a predicament the instructor is placed. The average student has six teachers each semester. Besides these, he comes into personal contact with perhaps a dozen more during the course of a semester, the number depending upon the individual student. Thus, he has become acquainted with not more than twenty teachers of varying rank by the time of his first first finals.

Consider the lot of the teacher, on the other hand. At the end of his first semester of teaching, he has come into contact with over a hundred students in the class room and perhaps as many outside of the class room. After he has been teaching for many years, he has a list of pupils which amounts up into the thousands. Can he be expected to recognize every one of these? Hardly. He is doing well if he remembers the names or faces of a quarter of them.

Next time, accordingly, when you walk up the hill to your ten o'clock or whatever it may be, speak to your instructors, of course, but do not be bitterly disappointed if they do not return: "Good morning, Mr. So-and-So. How is your sister getting on with her French? and has your father come home from Europe yet?"

He may be your economics lecturer with 300 students in each of two sections and some 400 or 500 students in other classes.

Say little girl I don't care a lot whether you take that spoon out of your coffee or not, but yuh gotta wipe the egg off your chin before you start laughing and get all smeared up.

The lists of sorority pledges are not published, thus insuring a good crowd at open house.

AND WHILE on that subject did you ever think that the little future sisters may run the gauntlet the day they are pledged but the little boys have a meaner one of their own to run later on.

Say mister, did you ever stop to consider how it would seem if the deah fraters greeted one another as do the loving sisters. 'Twould be touching to say the least to wath Russ throw himself into Marty's arms and smack his smooth? cheek.

The D. G.'s got twenty pledges. I suppose they will have a third phone installed at the house now.

BUT THEY can't equal their neighbors. Dear old Pi Beta Phi pulled the wool over 22 innocents.

WONDER why the mixer hasn't had any publicity.

It was mixed all right.

LOTS of boys got a new stack of telephone numbers.

Of course you were just as likely to be told that she was a certain prof.'s k. m. as that she was in his class.

OUR LAST year's maid introduced herself to us. Sure is the thrill of a lifetime.

OOLONG says that the drive is being neglected. What in the hell is he kicking about. Hop to it kid or do you work better with a large audience?

This guy HAP HAZZARD spent the year in Europe, but then we went to summer school, the Varsity Mixer and the recent demented rushing season.

SHEBA says that the mixer was a winner. I suppose she means that the best men came out neck and neck.

TOO BAD

Don't cry little boy, you'll be a big man bye and bye.

Yeah and then you can boss the next crop around.

"Please sir, can I go out tonight?"

"Oh no!" a voice replies. You are a pledge and must stay in.

"Who disobeys, he dies."

"But sir, last week you took me out."

To see a show each day."

"Ah, but you were a prospect then."

"And now for that you pay."

"Oh fled are all my liberties, The happy days are gone."

Last week I loafed on cushioned chairs;

This week I mow the lawn."

—Daily Illini.

And thus ended the SIXTH DAY at most of the fraternity houses on the campus.

The Engineering school turned in to the Cardinal today a statement that they have a certain number of men enrolled, a certain number of women and one miscellaneous. Boy, page Luther Burbank.

It takes a good man to do that. SOLOMON THE SAPIENT.

Many Well Known Scientists Are to Lecture in Classes

A series of nine lectures on chemistry, physics, geography heredity and astronomy will be given by leading men of different departments to Prof. L. Gillin's Social Origin classes to bring to the students minds the relation of natural sciences to sociology. This year is the first time the plan has been tried.

"Every student should take all sciences before he enters the sociology department, but since this is impossible these lectures are given for the purpose of showing students the bearing other sciences have upon society," declared Professor Gillin.

The schedule of subjects and lectures for the month of October is as follows:

Oct. 2 and 4, Dr. Stebbins of the astronomy department will lecture.

Oct. 9 and 11, Professor Whitbeck of the geology department will speak on, "Why Geographical Conditions Influence Civilization."

Oct. 16 and 18, Professor Max Mason of the physics department will lecture on "Physical Factors Conditioning Civilization."

Oct. 23 and 25, Professor Walton of the chemistry department will lecture on "Why Chemical Factors Influence Civilization."

Oct. 30, Professor Wagner will speak on, "Hereditv In Relation To Origin and Development of Civilization." These lectures will be held at 11 a. m. on the days designated in the auditorium of the biology building.

VOICE TEACHER ADDED TO MUSICAL STAFF

The university school of music has added Miss Signe Holst of Cedar Falls, Iowa, to its staff of vocal teachers.

Miss Holst studied for several years at Teacher's college in Cedar Falls. Later she studied under Prof. L. A. Tornes, after which she finished her musical education in Copenhagen, Denmark, where she studied for three years.

Her teaching experience includes several years at Central college, a girls' school in Arkansas, and at Des Moines university. She has also appeared in recitals in various parts of the country.

Yodlers Outshine Sheik's Wife in Orpheum Bill

If you are after humorous entertainment go to the Orph this first half just to see and hear "The American Yodlers." They may order you "out" but you will want to remain. One couldn't tell much about the star of the evening, Mrs. Rodolph Valentino, except that she is attractive looking and wore a stunning gown.

Fiveck and Claret Did some clever foot work on skates.

Lyle and Virginia Flashes of variety on musical instruments. Not so much.

Clayton and Lennie But mostly hat. The audience laughed some, thus showing themselves susceptible to repetition.

Nothing new.

"A Regular Girl" Miss Jean Acker, the Sheik's former wife is cast in a one act play which is so far from art one must call it nothing but a commodity.

Wilson Brithers These two members of the Orpheum police force brought the house down with clever banter, yodling and singing.

If you understand German some of the points of this act will not be lost to you.

Herberts Leaping Dogs— Should go out for track at Wisconsin and bring in some honors. Showed good training.

HARRIS POLITICAL SCIENCE CONTEST

The Harris political science prizes, amounting to $250, established by the late N. W. Harris of Chicago and the gift of Prof. N. D. Harris of Evanston, Ill., will be given to the authors of the best essays in any department of political science.

The contest which is now open to all undergraduates of all universities and colleges in certain states of which Wisconsin is one, will close May 1, 1924.

Wilber G. Katz, '23, University of Wisconsin, won first prize last year.

PROF. GILLIN TALKS AT FROSH BANQUET

Success is Greatest Satisfaction to Parent, Declares Gillen

That nothing can bring greater satisfaction to parents than for them to be able to say that their son came to the University of Wisconsin and made good both scholastically and in outside activities is the opinion of Professor G. L. Gillin who spoke at the freshman banquet given last night in Association hall of the Y. M. C. A.

William Fronk '24, in welcoming the new men, expressed the feeling of the older men when he said, "We want to know every one of you, and we want you to know each other. No matter in what class you are, or from what town you are, we welcome you to our membership."

Harry Thoma '27, responded with the proposition that since the freshmen want to get all they can from the association, they will put all they can into it.

The president of the Y. M. C. A., Gamber Tegtmeyer, '24, and Kenneth E. Olson '21, both emphasized the importance of loyalty and the capacity to get along with one's fellows.

Secretary Frederick E. Wolf in speaking of "Our Opportunity" said: "While we emphasize high standings in scholastic work, I want you to grow up to be men who will in every way represent the University of Wisconsin ideal."

The officers of the house for this year are Gamber Tegtmeyer, president; Roland Tews, vice-president; Kenneth Powers, secretary. Kenneth Beggs, E. E. Johnson, Charles Lister and John Reinhold have been appointed to act as house committee.

Unknown Person May Lay Claim to Most Perfect Feet

The State Journal has undertaken a serious task in deciding to award beautiful silk hose to the owners of "Trilby" feet. Possibilities for trouble lie in such an undertaking. We say that because of previous experience in beauty contests and because, at every showing of "Trilby", an astounding number of feminine voices were heard denying any claim of its heroine's to beautiful feet. It seems that there is an unknown person called "I", who should have all the praise and some portion of the awards. With such sentiment universal among attendants at the Strand it is rather certain we shall hear more of "I", and her beautiful feet. That is, if she designs to fill out a State Journal coupon and presents it at the Strand.
