How Iowa County (Wis.) puts 19 mph speed into dozing, scraper and snow-plow work

Iowa County Highway Commission,

Dodgeville, Wisconsin, uses their 19 mph Tournatractor for all kinds of scattered dozing and pulling tasks. Among the major jobs handled by this rubber-tired tractor-dozzer in 1 season were grading of a school athletic field at Hollandale, widening and relocating of County Trunk Q, stumping, grubbing trees, snow-plowing, building culverts, and repairing roads over the entire county system.

Handles entire road-building job

— A typical task for the Tournatractor was the building of a 1/4-mile farm road near Dodgeville. The terrain was extremely hilly, with grades up to 10%, and with trees, brush, boulders and sandstone outcroppings to be cleared. Rig leveled roadbed and spread layer of clay over the sand. One man and 1 machine completed entire job in less than 3 days.

Makes 3 trips to crawler's 1

— On scraper work, Tournatractor proved equally fast. Operator Bertyn Davis says he self-loads a 10-yd. pan in second gear (3.7 mph). "I checked the Tournatractor against a crawler (and 10-yd. scoop) on about a half-mile haul, and I was on the 3rd trip while he was still on his 1st," he says. "On another scraper job, I had to go down extremely steep banks. With any other rig, you'd get hung up at the bottom because the blade would dig in. With Tournatractor, the blade raises so high you clear the foot of the bank without any trouble."

"Valuable all-around machine"

— "This rig has proved to be very valuable," says Highway Commissioner Paul Graber. "We like its maneuverability, power and speed on snow plowing. We also find it very valuable for dozing and scraper work." In 4 years of operation, unit has been 95% mechanically efficient. Downtime has totaled about 40 hours in the last 1,450 hours of operation. "We haven't had much trouble with our Tournatractor," adds Shop Foreman Russell James. "We like the electrical system very much."

Lifting and pushing simultaneously, Tournatractor roots out 20" white oak. Time to grub out and knock over tree was exactly 6 minutes. Removal of a larger oak (30 to 36" diameter) took 16 minutes. "Tournatractor's fine for this work," says Operator Davis. "I did 12 acres of grubbing and stumping recently in about 18 hours."

World Famed Pianist Gives Private Concert

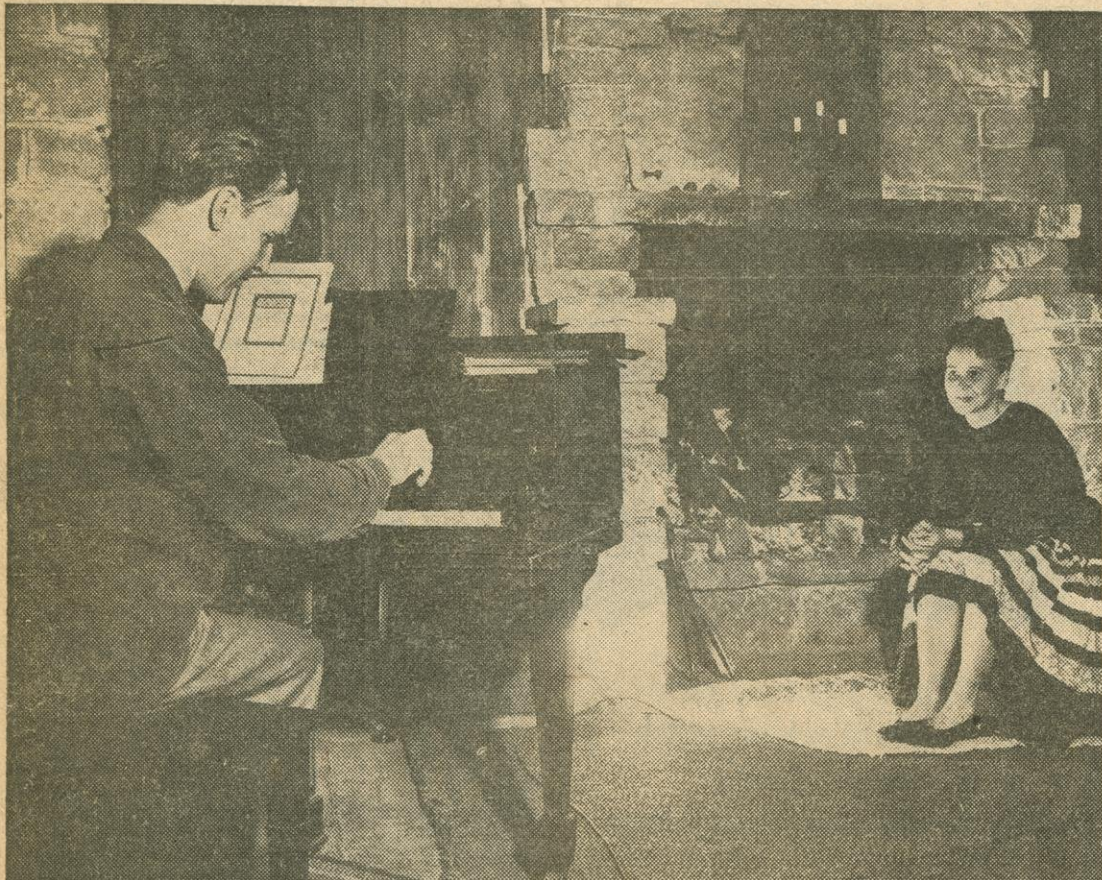

The treat of a lifetime came to the people of Blue Mounds Tuesday night when Gunnar Johansen, world famed pianist, came to their Blue Mounds graded school to play a concert his new neighbors. Johansen, who is building a new home in the neighborhood, is shown the piano in one of the graded school rooms.

Highly appreciative of the concert played by Gunnar Johansen at the Blue Mounds school Tuesday night were Mr. and Mrs. C. I. Brigham, Blue Mounds. Above they're shown chatting with the famous pianist at the end of the concert, Brigham's father's uncle was Ebenezer Brigham, first permanent white settler of Blue Mounds and Dane county.

Life Is Leisurely (Sometimes) for Johansens

A gracious home for leisurely (if there isn't wood to be cut) living is the home of Gunnar Johansen near Blue Mounds. Above he's shown at the piano while his wife takes it easy by the fire. Johansen chops the wood himself, incidentally, and is having one sweet job getting the hardheads blasted out of the road to his home. Johansen gave a concert for his neighbors at Blue Mounds Tuesday night and Saturday will fly to Denmark to visit his aged mother, who is ill.

★ Anniversary

THROUGH a social event recently held in Madison, a remarkable record of service was brought to our attention. When friends assembled at the Clay Schoenfeld home in Eagle Heights, Madison, it was to honor the Rev. A. H. Schoenfeld, Lake Mills, on the 40th anniversary of his ordination.

After graduating from North Cen-served churches in this Association without missing a single Sunday because of illness. After two years in Spring Green he went to Dodgeville for seven years, to Mineral Point for 14 years, to Black Earth for one year and to Lake Mills since 1933.

Double Anniversary

The Schoenfelds at Park Falls. Just 50 years ago a young man by the name of Benjamin F. Schoenfeld was ordained to the ministry and just fifty years ago he took unto himself a bride. To celebrate both anniversaries church members and fellow-townsmen gathered from far and near for a special service of worship conducted by the pastor. All space not taken by an overflow congregation was filled with floral offerings brought by loving hands to express what was in their hearts.

New Notions Can't Push Three Rs Out of Schools, Miss Pile Declares

DODGEVILLE — Many new teaching methods have been tried in the past year, but the pendulum eventually swings back to the three Rs, Alona Pile said.

The statement was a part of her review of 40 years as teacher of the Dodgeville public school fifth grade after her retirement Friday.

Still a Must

A must in the modern school program is still the three Rs, Miss Pile said.

Miss Pile was graduated from the Dodgeville high school in 1905. After passing summer teachers' examinations, she started her career in the Jamesville rural school west of Dodgeville.

Her pay was $32 per month.

After the Jamesville post, she taught at Cobb, and then turned to the Milwaukee Normal school to continue her education. It was after her graduation in 1910 that she first came to the desk she was to call her own for 40 years.

Although the desk in the Dodge-ville public school fifth grade remained the same, the class room did not.

Construction of a new school building was completed 11 years ago.

Her classes have varied in size from 42 to 20 pupils.

"The question-and-answer method of teaching has changed to one of creative thinking," Miss Pile said. "There is more time for health education, social adjustments, and project work in the class room of today."

And the pupils have changed. Miss Pile attributes the change to the influence of radio, comic books, and movies.

She's Optimistic

But it seems to be for the better. "They are able to think more quickly and carry on conversations about world affairs and places they have seen," Miss Pile says of today's school children.

John Knewstubb

DODGEVILLE — John Knewstubb, 86, died Sunday night at the home of a daughter, Mrs. Bess Elliott, Dodgeville, where he had lived for the last 15 years.

He was born in Argyle and operated a meat market there for more than 30 years.

Survivors include the daughter, Mrs. Elliott; a granddaughter, Mrs. C. H. Carroll, New Brunswick, N. J., and two great grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the Roach funeral home, the Rev. Harold Allison of the Methodist church officiating. Burial will be in East Side cemetery.

TEACHER RETIRING AFTER FORTY YEARS

Miss Alona Pile has Served Longest of Any Teacher in the History Of Dodgeville Public Schools

When the Dodgeville public schools are dismissed on June 2, it will terminate the services of the one who has served the longest of any member on the teaching staff in the history of the school. Miss Alona Pile, a native of Dodgeville, will have rounded out 40 years as teacher in the 5th grade. Pupils in her earliest years are now grandparents, such has been the long span of her service.

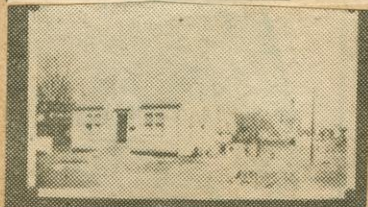

Miss Pile graduated from the local high school with the Class of 1905 and after passing the summer teacher's examinations, started teaching in the Jamesville rural school, west of this city. With a liberal salary of $32 per month, she was well launched on the way to financial independence. She next taught at Cobb and then attended Milwaukee Normal where she graduated in 1910. She accepted the position of teacher in the 5th Grade, little dreaming that she would remain there for two generations.

In all these years Miss Pile has never asked for a raise in pay, never had an altercation with principal, teacher, student or parent. She has served long and well and has contributed much to the lives of hundred of pupils.

On Tuesday evening, Aug. 24th, at 8 o'clock p. m., Miss Mary A. Davis and Mr. J. T. Williams of this city were united in holy matrimony at the home of the bride on Dakota street, in this city. The bride was attended by Miss Gwendolen Roberts of Barneveld and the groom by Mr. Lloyd Davis, the bride's brother. The affair was a quiet one, attended only by the bride's father, Mr. J. B. Davis, and her little niece, Miss Catherine Hamilton, and Miss Mildred Griffiths. The ceremony was performed by Rev. R. O. Williams. The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for Mineral Point, from where they left for a short Eastern trip. Congratulations are extended by the Chronicle and their many friends.

BUYS NEW HOME

Mrs. Ben Webster purchased on Saturday the new home of Bertyn Davis located on West Division street in this city and will take possession March 1. The deal was made through T. Harry and Robert S. Arthur.

Municipal Court Cases

DAVID B. Davis, 42, Dodgeville, arrested in Liberty ave. yesterday, and charged with operating a tractor with steel cleats and weighing more than 14 tons, today pleaded guilty in municipal court. He was fined $50 and costs. Police reported the tractor alone weighed 18 tons, and it was pulling a heavy trailer. It damaged the pavement, officers said.

Blacktopping of No. 93 East of Town Started This Week

Expect to Have Blacktop Road Ready for Traffic By October First

October 1 is the deadline for completion of the blacktopping of highway 93 between Sumner and Fayette, according to Bertyn Davis, a member of the blacktopping crew.

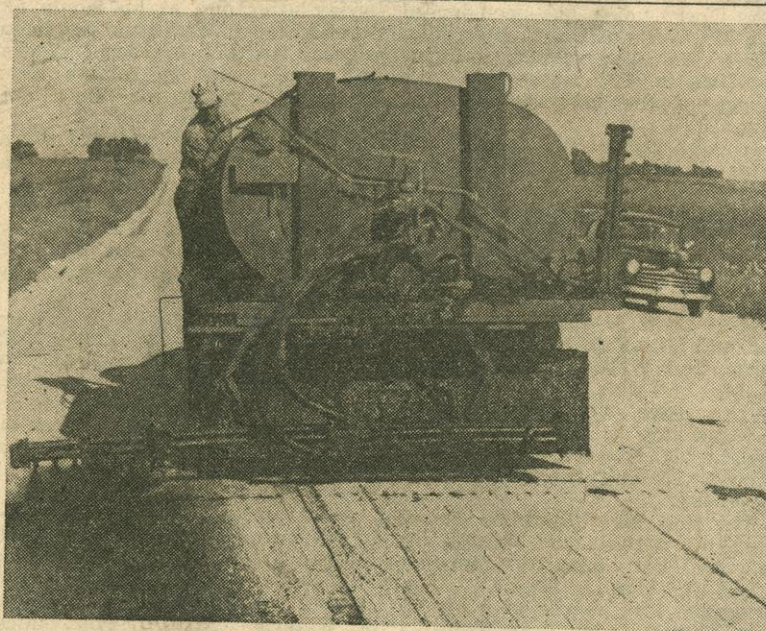

Base of the new pike is nearing completion and blacktopping was being poured for the first time last Wednesday.

The actual blacktopping operations will entail the pouring of three layers of blacktop preparation and three layers of crushed rock chips.

The first layer of blacktopping was started last Wednesday and was a primer coat to be followed with a layer of rock chips.

This will be rolled and a layer of NC-4, a tar base blacktop preparation, will be added. Another layer of rock chips will be applied and rolled and the third layer of NC-4 poured on this surface. The final layer of crushed rock chips will complete the blacktopping operation, and the highway will be opened for traffic sometime after the first of October.

Up to this time, work on the new highway by the S. J. Groves & Sons contractors of Minneapolis, has dealt with construction of an eight-inch base for the blacktop surface.

Above is Bertyn Davis of Dodgeville, Wis., shown operating the blacktopping truck on highway No. 93 east of Sumner. Extra heavy coats are applied along the shoulders of the highway to prevent water from seeping through to undermine the road. Driver of the truck was Robert Hansen of Sumner. Jerry Megan of Sumner is also a member of the road construction crew.

Fire Levels Dodgeville Hotel; Woman's Alarm Saves 36

DODGEVILLE— Mrs. Russell Kunzi was credited with spreading the alarm which gave the 36 guests of the Grand hotel time to flee in safety from the fire which leveled the three-story structure Wednesday.

It was the second hotel fire in southern Wisconsin within as many days.

Six persons were believed lost in the Grand View hotel fire at Ripon about 24 hours earlier.

She Sounds Alarm

Mrs. Kunzi, who occupied a room on the top floor of the Grand hotel in Dodgeville, noticed sparks jumping from a fix-ture on the ceiling of her room.

She ran to the hall, noticed smoke, and went down the corridor awakening other residents.

Many of the guests were able to throw wraps about their night clothes, but some fled in the sub-zero weather in only their pajamas.

Stores Destroyed

Also destroyed in the building were a Kroger store, Lee's radio shop, and Shea's shoe store on the first floor, and the Grand tavern in the basement.

Another radio shop, owned by Pat Woerpel, was demolished when the wall of the hotel collapsed and fell on it hours after the fire had broken out.

Pat's shop was a one-story metal structure. All the equipment had been removed before the radio shop was crushed.

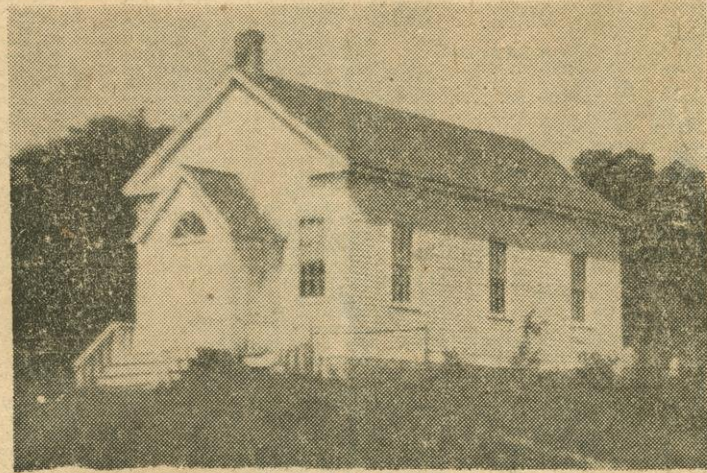

Firemen from Dodgeville and Mineral Point fought the blaze but were unable to do more than guard nearby buildings.

At 6:30 p. m. they stopped pouring water on the hotel's shell to save water in the event other buildings were in danger.

Part of the Gamble store building adjoining Pat's radio shop also was damaged by the falling wall. No one was injured.

The 49-year-old hotel only was a pile of charred bricks today.

It's Been 'Dog Days' for 35 Years, Mrs. Price, Dodgeville, Says of Work

Mrs. Moody Price, Dodgeville, who has been raising dogs for the past 35 years, is particularly proud of this trio. They're Chihuahuas, the tiny alert little dogs that weigh only from 3 to 5 or 6 pounds, and come originally from Mexico.

RY 28, 1954

Iowa county's historic court house, believed to be the oldest court house in Wisconsin, was built in 1859.

Story and Picture
By JOHN NEWHOUSE
(State Journal Staff Writer)

DODGEVILLE — Mrs. Moody Price says that she has been in the "dog days" for the last 35 years.

At least, she adds, she has been raising dogs for that length of time and every day has been filled with taking care of dogs.

And that isn't just one or two dogs, either. She raises dogs for sale, and the number she may have on hand at any one time may run from a dozen to three and four times that number.

True American Dog

Her "first love" was the Mexican Chihuahua, the tiny, alert dog which is "the true American dog" because he was on this continent because he was on this continent visited America.

Since she got her first Chihuahuas, only enough from the northern state of Maine, she has since specialized in beagles, Bostons, and cocker spaniels. At present, she has returned to Chihuahuas, and now has nine dogs of that breed and four Boston bulls.

The Chihuahuas range in size from 3 to 6 pounds, and are literally little more than a handful of dog. They have two litters a year, Mrs. Price says, with their first litter sometimes coming before they are a year old. The smaller animals, in the 3-pound weight group, will have two or three puppies and the larger females, from 5 to 6 pounds, will have five to six puppies.

Won Many Ribbons

Mrs. Price has taken her dogs to a number of dog shows in Chicago and Rockford, and always comes back with ribbons.

After not going to dog shows in Chicago for several years during the war when military personnel needed transportation worse than she did, she finally weakened. After standing in a crowded aisle, she asked the conductor if she could go back to the baggage car with her dogs where, she hoped, it would be less crowded.

It wasn't. The car was jammed with soldiers. When she admitted that she was going to a dog show, though, one of the soldiers grinned and said:

"That's all right, lady... we're all going to the races, ourselves!"

Though she always hopes to come home from a dog show with the winner, there are times when luck is against her.

One time she took Nancy Hodgson, Arena, to a show and Wee Dot, the dog entered by her guest, won out over Mrs. Price's Kaintika. The alleviating factor was that Wee Dot was a dog raised by Mrs. Price and sold to the Arena girl.

Get 'Em, Fix 'Em, Keep 'Em --That's Moody Price's Hobby

MOODY PRICE and CLOCKS

In Dodgeville, the man with all the clocks is Moody Price, retired chief of police, who collects 'em, fixes 'em, and then can't bear to get rid of 'em.

There are literally dozens of clocks, large and small, in his house, all ticking away and more or less on time. He has a few boxes more in the attic and a bushel basket or so more on the front porch as spares.

And he likes 'em all, with the exception of the morning that a playful guest set a couple dozen alarm clocks to ringing and it kept him pretty busy dashing about to shut 'em off.

Moody Price Has New Hobby and Makes It Jig

Moody Price, who is famed for the number of clocks that he manages to wedge into the various rooms of his home in Dodgeville, has a new hobby . . . making little wooden men that jig when he taps the board upon which they stand. Above he's shown with one of his jiggers, whistling away on the tune that —he says—commands the best performance.

BLOODED CANINES PERISH IN FLAMES

Mrs. Moody S. Price Loses Valuable Chihuahuas and Boston Bulls When Fire Consumes Kennel

An exploding oil stove used to warm the building started a fire which destroyed a kennel and six purebred dogs at the rear of the M. S. Price home in this city, last Thursday morning at about 2:30 o'clock. Had it not been for a neighbor, Mrs. Wm. P. Hamilton, more dogs belonging to Mrs. Price would have suffered a fiery fate.

Mrs. Hamilton, returning home late, was attracted by the flames and ran to the kennel. There 10 had escaped the flames by darting to outside runways where they were whimpering in the heat as the flames gained in volume. Mrs. Hamilton reached over the fence and lifted the grateful animals to safety.

Two Boston bulls and four Chihuahuas perished and two of them were prize winning animals at Chicago shows. Only recently, Mrs. Price, who has raised purebred dogs for many years, refused $300 for one of the six destroyed.

The city fire department answered the alarm, but it was too late to save the animals or building.

Easter Early But It'll Be Even Earlier

(By Associated Press)

Easter Sunday is early this year—Apr. 1—but it has been, and will be earlier.

In 1913, for instance, it was on Mar. 23, the earliest in the 20th century. The next time it will fall that early is the year 2008, if you care to make a note of it.

Unlike Christmas, which always falls on Dec. 25, Easter is a movable religious feast day that can occur on any date between Mar. 22 and Apr. 25.

The date changes because it is tied into the timetable of the lunar year and the vernal equinox, the official first day of spring. The method of choosing it was worked out in the early days of Christianity so that pilgrim's bound for religious shrines would have the aid of moonlight on their travels.

The last time Easter fell on its earliest date, Mar. 22, was in 1818. It will be on that date next in 2285.

The last time it occurred on its latest possible date, Apr. 25, was in 1943. It will return to that date for the first time in 2038.

Some early Easters to come include Mar. 26 in 1967, 1978, and 1989; Mar. 29 in 1959, 1964, and 1970, and Mar. 30 in 1975, 1986, and 1997.

Some late ones are Apr. 21 in 1957; Apr. 22 in 1962, 1973, and 1984, and Apr. 23 in 2000.

Attempts have been made to stabilize Easter on a certain date or to reduce the range of its movability from the present 35 days' span. But little progress has been achieved for lack of agreement among peoples and nations.

In the United States the movability of Easter is of concern to merchandisers. When the holiday is early the weather frequently is unsuited to bright Easter fashions. When it is late, stocks of Easter apparel are on the racks when dealers are moving in their summer wear.

The majority of Americans, however, seem to take Easter when it comes—with a minimum of concern about its commercial aspects and a maximum of recognition of its religious significance.

Death Car Is Recovered From River

The slatted crates on the back of the truck are turkey crates.

The Libke car is at the left, partially pulled out of the river by a wrecker after recovery of the body of Mrs. Libke.

The Libke car is being pulled from the Wisconsin river in the above picture. Curious onlookers crowd to the edge of the broken span as Verne Howland (right) and Kenneth Howland, Spring Green, examine the car and probe for the dead woman's purse.

A side view of the old Spring Green bridge across the Wisconsin river shows where two spans are missing. One of them broke down about a year and a half ago, when a car and a truck met on the bridge, throwing both vehicles into the river. A Sparta woman was drowned in the accident.

Highway Crews Razing Site of Fatal Accident

SPRING GREEN — Dismantling work on the old bridge over the Wisconsin river near Spring Green has been started by the state highway commission.

Bell Telephone Co. maintenance crews have removed the trunk lines from the poles which used to carry the wires over the bridge, and have placed cables under the river.

New Bridge Open

The bridge was put out of commission when a new steel structure was constructed and opened to traffic late last summer, about 1½ miles up river from the old bridge.

The old highway bridge, built 41 years ago, collapsed in its middle span over a year ago. A Sparta woman was drowned when the car in which she and her husband were riding, plunged into the river below.

A temporary army Bailey bridge was thrown over the broken span to keep traffic across the river on Highways 23 and 14, which join at that point.

The Bailey bridge structure has now been removed, and another span of the old bridge has been dismantled. The flooring of the old bridge also has been removed.

Highway Rerouted

With construction of the new and wider steel bridge further upstream, Highway 14 has been rerouted directly across the river from the Arena prairie, north of Spring Green. Highway 23, from Dodgeville, now follows the old route of 14 to the new bridge, making a distance of about 3 miles further that residents in the vicinity of the old bridge have to travel to get to Spring Green.

Leonard Heber, president of the Spring Green Businessmen's assn., reports that most businessmen of the village feel that despite the added distance many of their old customers have to travel, their business has not been cut appreciably.

The floor boards of the old Spring Green bridge over the Wisconsin river have been removed. The view above is taken looking north toward Spring Green.

Many friends attending paid the tribute of their presence.

A quartet composed of Mesdames J. A. Frank, Peter Albertson, C. H. Alin and Martin Sandness, accompanied by Mrs. A. G. Hewitt, sang the hymns, Jesus, Lover of My Soul and Be Still, My Soul.

Pallbearers were A. M. Harmen, Harold Isenberger, Paul Gordon, J. A. Frank, John Christofferson and Gordon Muir.

General funeral arrangements were in charge of the Groth & Aarseth Funeral Service of LaMoure.

The body accompanied by Mrs. Margaret Raw, a sister, of LaMoure, was entrained for Dodgeville, Wis., where funeral services were conducted at a funeral home, with burial in the cemetery of Dodgeville, the deceased's former home.

Mr. Davis, oldest in a family of five sons and four daughters, the son of the late John B. and Catherine Lloyd Davis, was born Oct. 31, 1867 at Dodgeville, Wis.

At Dodgeville, he spent his boyhood on the farm and attended the common school. As a youth and young man, he attended the Congregational church with the family members.

As a young man, Mr. Davis was taught the rigors of hard work and he remained on the farm until 1909.

To LaM. County in 1909

In 1909, Mr. Davis migrated to LaMoure county because of being afflicted with asthma, from which he suffered the rest of his life. In this community, he was associated with his uncle, the late David Lloyd in farming and cattle raising operations.

Surviving are three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. John T. Williams of Dodgeville, Wis.; Mrs. George Hamilton of Arena, Wis.; Thomas E. Davis of Dodgeville, Wis.; Lloyd Davis of Lodi, Wis.; and Mrs. Margaret Raw of LaMoure. He leaves, also, two nieces, nine nephews and several cousins.

Friend in Tribute

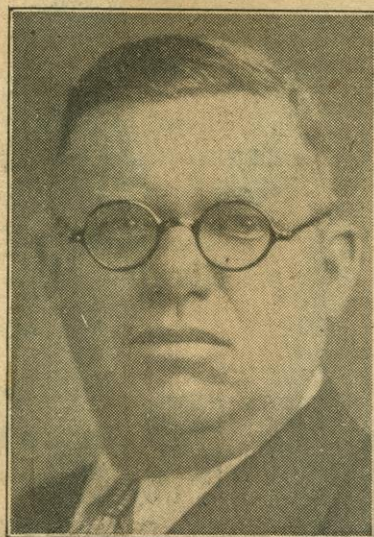

A friend says in tribute: "Mr. Davis was faithful in farming and his general business operations. In his association with Mr. Lloyd, he gradually assumed more and more responsibility in relieving Mr. Lloyd of cares in his advancing years. Kindly in nature, Mr. Davis liked children and had a sense of humor and genial greeting for his friends. He did his bit in the War Bond drives, in contributing to the Red Cross, and other philanthropies. His was an active life and his record is one of duty well and faithfully performed."

He put in months of labor and gave liberally of his finances and has since been most active in its upkeep. He served as worshipful master in 1929-30. Dr. Reese, 91, Dies at Dodgeville Home

DR. WILLIAM REESE

DODGEVILLE — Dr. William Reese, 91, a Dodgeville physician for more than 50 years, died Thursday afternoon at his home after an illness of six months.

Dr. Reese was fifth of 13 children of David and Ann Evans Reese, Welsh pioneers who settled at Ridgeway. Although he wanted to be a doctor from an early age, he did not become one until he was 40.

For more than 50 years he served the Dodgeville community, and was known throughout Dodge county as the doctor who never turned down a patient—"rich or poor; rain or shine."

He was town of Dodgeville health officer for over 30 years, and set up the first hospital in Dodgeville even before Madison had a hospital. Old timers recall that Dr. Reese owned the first automobile in town, and that before that he owned a stable of pacers and trotters.

The celebration of his birthday on Apr. 19 had become a tradition with the family and the community. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a Shriner, and an Odd Fellow.

Survivors include two nieces, Mrs. Jo Baker, Chicago, and Margaret Jenkin, Dodgeville.

The body was taken to the Lulloff funeral home, Dodgeville.

His body was found by the highway crew returning from dinner at about 1:30 o'clock. The emergency vehicle and Coroner Ray Reese brought the remains to this city.

Mr. Bainbridge, a very genial person, had been employed on the county highways for the past 32 years and for 25 years had been state patrol superintendent. He and Mrs. Bainbridge had planned on celebrating their golden wedding next month when he would retire from highway work.

Besides his suddenly bereaved wife, Mr. Bainbridge is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Harry Turner of Montfort; one son, E. C. Bainbridge, superintendent of the Emerson school in Madison; two brothers, Mason of New York City and Walter of Chicago; three sisters, Mrs. Herman Lanschultz and Mrs. W. G. Meredith of Dubuque, Ia., and Mrs. Clara Sanwick of Madison, also five grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday afternoon in the Mifflin Primitive Methodist church with the Rev. H. W. Hildebrand officiating and burial made in the Mifflin cemetery. Masonic rites will also be given for this member of 50 years. This world would be a far better and more pleasant place to live if there were more men like Charles Bainbridge.

Do something each day to bring gladness

To those whose pleasures are few;

Do something to drive away sadness,

Or cause someone's dreams to come true;

Find time for a neighborly greeting,

And time to enjoy an old friend.

Remember the years are so fleeting

That life's final day will soon end.

DR. WM. REESE DIES AT HOME THURSDAY EVE

Medicine's Grand Old Man Answers Final Summons Afer Long Illness

Dr. William Reese, age 91 last April 19, died at his home in this city Thursday evening. He was brought to his home three weeks ago after being a patient in a Madison hospital for five months. Thus Iowa county's "grand old man of medicine" has been called to his final reward.

Dr. Reese was born and reared on his father's farm in the town of Ridgeway. At an early age he longed to become a doctor but

Dr. Reese has been a member of the Odd Fellows, Order of Eastern Star and Masonic bodies where he became a member of Tripoli Shrine in Milwaukee. He was also a member of the Royal Neighbors and had been their examining physician for over 40 years. They often sponsored birthday parties in his honor.

Despite advancing years Dr. Reese kept himself in splendid physical condition and was well cared for by his niece Miss Margaret Jenkins for the past 35 years. He continued to serve many loyal patients until his final illness and was one of the oldest practicing physicians in Wisconsin.

In its more than 100 years of history no Dodgeville citizen has been more valuable or unselfish than Dr. William Reese.

Dr. Reese is survived by one sister, Mrs. Ann Lewis of San Bernardino, Calif.; one brother, John Reese of Aberdeen, S. D., several nieces and nephews and a host of friends.

The body rested in state Monday at the Baptist church where funeral services, attended by an overflow crowd, were held in the afternoon. The Rev. W. J. Griffiths of Chicago, an old friend, officiated and paid fitting tribute to a Christian physician. Rev. David Griffiths of Milwaukee was soloist with Mrs. Mary Francis Averill Lesh of Bloomfield, N. J., as accompanist. Burial was made beside his parents in the Rockwell Mills country cemetery.

The memory of Dr. William Reese will linger long in the hearts of countless patients he had served so well.

this ambition had to be postponed for many years. His father died when William was a young man and on him was thrust the responsibility of looking after his mother and others of the 13 children.

The desire to bring relief to the ill could not be denied and young Reese administered to livestock on the farm and also correctly diagnosed the ailments of many persons living in the community. He was a natural born physician.

The extension of the C. & N. W. Railroad from Madison to Lancaster, gave Mr. Reese the opportunity for earning $3 per day for the services of himself and team. This furnished the nest egg for his educational fund. He was 36 years of age when he was finally able to enter Rush Medical where he studied for three years. He completed his education at Illinois Medical school from which he graduated Sept. 14, 1898. The following January 11 he received his Wisconsin license and started his chosen profession.

From the very first he was unusually successful and soon had an immense practice which kept him on the road day and night. For years he did most of his sleeping in a buggy while team and driver were taking him to the next patient. His dependence on horses in early days made him very appreciative of their ability and for many years he raised driving horses on his farm.

MOUNT HOREB LODGE NO. 228, F. & A.M.

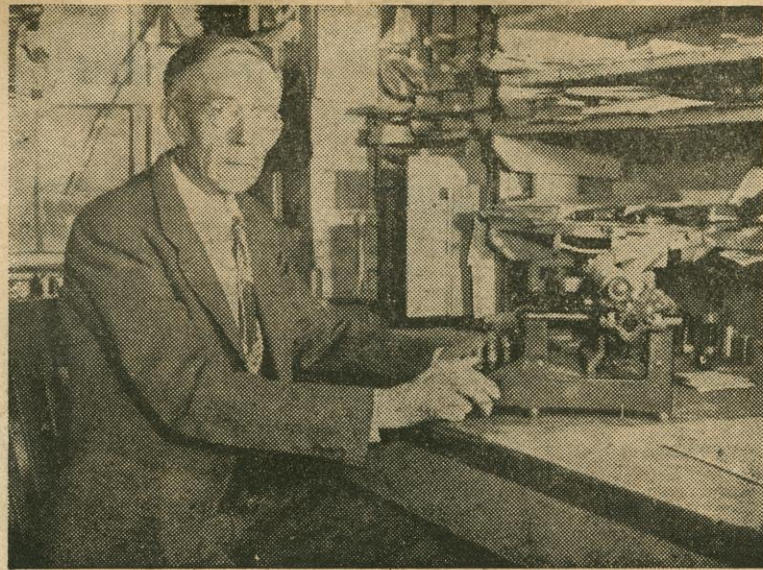

ALBERT AUSTIN

"I count these things to be true and grand,
That a noble deed is a step toward God,
Lifting the soul from the common clod
To a purer air and a broader land."

Our hearts were saddened by the loss of one greatly beloved by us all has passed to his reward.

We mourn the loss of Brother Albert Austin. Those who knew him in life, know that there was no task in Masonry too great for him to perform. He gave freely of his services and was an ardent lover of the craft and an honored member of Mount Horeb Lodge for thirty-two years. His memory will live in the hearts of his Brethren.

Above is pictured Grover Arnold, depot agent at Arena for 30 years, who retired Dec. 1 after serving for 47 years. Through the courtesy of the Dane County News we are publishing the picture and following story:

"December first, Grover Arnold, 67, station agent at the Black Earth depot for the past 13 years will turn over the telegrapher keys to a younger man when he retires to an easier life. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold expect to leave soon after for the warmer climate of Phoenix, Ariz., for a winter with relatives, but will probably return to Wisconsin in the spring."

"Grover C. Arnold started service for the Milwaukee Road Dec. 14, 1904, as an extra man, substituting in various stations in the Madison division. His first steady job was as night operator at Lone Rock in 1907. As the youngest station agent in the division, at that time, he had his first depot agency at Genesee, near Milwaukee in 1908. The same year, 1908, he accepted the position as depot agent at Arena on his 24th birthday, for a 30 year stay."

"Before coming to Black Earth in December, 1938, Mr. Arnold served a year and half trick at South Wayne. The Arnolds have a home in Black Earth. Still an active man, he does not expect to spending his retirement just "sitting," for he is doing some thinking about some less strenuous occupation. He has delayed retirement, for he had hopes of reaching the top of the seniority list, as only four others overrank him, but Arizona's rosy skies are more inviting than Wisconsin's storms. During his 47 years of railroading, he has seen many changes. In the earlier days, passengers rode in cabooses on way-freights, now they ride in air conditioned coaches on streamliners, at lower fares."

HERMAN ARNDT IS TRACTOR VICTIM

Donald Womack of Cobb, also injured in Tractor Spill, Has Leg Amputated Monday

That farming is a hazardous occupation is evidenced by the fact that Herman Arndt of Barneveld lost his life and Donald Womack of Cobb, lost a leg as the result of being crushed under overturned tractors.

Herman Arndt, 61, lifelong farmer, north of Barneveld, was caught under a tractor which went over an embankment Saturday afternoon, July 7. His left arm was so badly mangled that it was amputated near the shoulder. He was also injured internally, more serious than suspected at first, and he died July 14 in a Dodgeville hospital, just a week after the accident.

Mr. Arndt is survived by two brothers, William and Charles and one sister, Miss Mayta, all of Barneveld. Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the August Arndt home to the Barneveld Congregational church with the Rev. Monard Sanford officiating. Burial was made beside his late parents in the White cemetery. Mr. Arndt was a dependable, thrifty farmer and his death is regretted.

Donald Womack, 29, Cobb farm hand, was caught under an overturned tractor Saturday, June 30, and sustained a badly injured right leg. He nearly bled to death before arriving at a local hospital and expert surgery restored some circulation in the limb and the hopes that it could be saved. However on Monday morning of this week it was found necessary to amputate the leg. Everyone sympathizes with the victim.

Laverne was a wholesome, clean citizen, whom everyone admired. Born near Fennimore, April 25, 1902, he was left fatherless at the age of six months. He knew the meaning of denial and thrift and never forgot those early experiences. After graduating from Fennimore high school in 1921 he attended summer session at Platteville Teachers College and then taught rural school near Muscoda for two years.

It was in Muscoda that he met the charming Marcella Bock who became his bride, Oct. 26, 1929. Theirs has been an ideal companionship and an inspiration to all who knew them. They were blessed with six children, Jean, Mary, Mike, Marcia, John and Katherine.

After a short time spent in Madison and Eau Claire, Mr. Crubaugh commenced his career as a baker with the Home Bakery at Muscoda. He then followed his trade in Prairie du Chien, Bos-cobel, Janesville, Jefferson and Elkhorn and in June of 1928 purchased the bakery in Dodgeville.

Thoroughly conscientious and clean, Mr. Crubaugh thrived as a business man and his produce and premises were something any community could be proud of. While the city was yet asleep, he was up and at work, long before daylight, so that the baking would be ready for customers. Having tasted of frugality when a child, he never complained of his hours, but appreciated what they meant for him and his family.

Several years ago Mr. Crubaugh was informed by his family physician of the precarious condition of his heart. Shielding his loved ones from over worry he confided in a few friends. There was no despondency or self pity in his make up . . . he accepted the situation as part of life and found much to be thankful for. He lived so well that he had no fear of death.

Laverne was the first person we called upon on our weekly rounds for advertising copy and the contact was as refreshing as a spring rain. He always had some humorous or worthwhile comment to offer as he was a sound thinker and stood for what was right and just. Although he attended strictly to his own affairs, he was not afraid to express an opinion when asked for it. He was a model citizen.

The family has the deep sympathy of all, especially during this Christmas season. Plans for a holiday vacation trip to the Southlands were rudely shattered, and yet they cannot be deprived of the pleasure that planning brought. In the long days that lie ahead they can console themselves with the many, many bright pages from their intimate book of memories. Few families are blessed with as fine a husband and father.

Besides his wife and children, Mr. Crubaugh is survived by his mother, Mrs. Agnes Crubaugh of Fennimore, other relatives and countless friends.

Funeral services which were very largely attended were held Saturday morning at St. Joseph's church with the Rev. H. W. McGuire officiating. Fitting tribute was paid to this splendid citizen and burial made in the church cemetery.

Everyone will be glad to know that the Quality Bakery will continue to operate with two experienced bakers, Leonard Hirsch and Leonard Gardner in the back room, assisted by Mike Crubaugh and Miss Harriet Chipman at the sales counter.

William Sawle, 97, Arena Conservation Leader, Dies

ARENA — William Sawle Sr., an early settler in this area and a conservation leader for more than 50 years, died Wednesday in a Madison hospital at the age of 97.

He was known far beyond the Arena - Dover - Mazomanie area for his poetry. Most of the rhymes, and all of them after he went blind about 16 years ago, were never committed to paper.

But Mr. Sawle, who had a phenomenal memory, could recite them all and did frequently, both for his own enjoyment and that of his friends.

History of Family

Mr. Sawle's rhymes told the entire history of the Sawles family from the time Mr. Sawle himself came to this area from England at the age of 17.

As a youth he saw his father seized as a suspected spy during the Franco-Prussian War. When he was 11 he went to sea with his father, a merchant ship captain.

About 80 years ago his family moved to America and struck out for their farm, Rosedale, near Arena.

After a few economic bumps, the family became successful dairy farmers and also operated the Sawles mill, a feed and grist mill.

Donates Tree Land

Years ago, Mr. Sawle, crossing from the sandy prairie that extends from bluffs to the flats of the Wisconsin river, was struck with the way in which a few pine trees sent from the north had taken root and grown.

He interested friends in repeating the project on a larger scale and donated a five-acre tract of land to Arena high school for a forestation program.

During the years he became known as the "Iowa County Pioneer Tree Planter." He was credited with the planting of at least 80,000 pine trees.

Three years ago the blind Mr.

WILLIAM SAWLE SR.

Sawle appeared as an unscheduled speaker at the dedication of the Mazomanie Union Free high school's memorial forest. Disdaining the public address system, the 95-year-old man spoke in a loud, clear voice, urging the pupils to work for more conservation programs.

Mr. Sawle served as district clerk of Dover for 27 years. He was town chairman of Arena for several terms and was a former member of the Iowa County Board.

He was married Mar. 9, 1899, to Geanette Hodgson, who died in 1948.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Sawle Jones and Winifred Sawle, both at home; six sons, Rowe and Richard, both of Mazomanie; Frank, Middleton; Theodore, Ridgeway; William, Kenilworth, Ill.; and Samuel, Arena; 25 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren; and four sisters, Mrs. Margaret Lampman, Black Earth; and Mrs. Harriet Hodgson, Mrs. Louisa Ray and Mrs. Gertrude Scott, all of Arena.

The body was taken to the Roberts funeral home at Arena.

For his 96th birthday two years ago, Mr. Sawle composed and memorized a poem which took 15 minutes to recite. It ended:

"So here I am at 96, lonely, crippled, and blind;

"But still I feel that I am sound of mind.

"And I am resolved to exemplify my beliefs as best I can

"In the fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man."

Billie, who graduated from the Dodgeville high school in 1907 was always mechanically minded. When a young man he was assistant engineer at the old steam driven electric light plant, located in the same building as our city well No. 1.

The airplane was also a fad which Mr. McBoyle took up and at the time of his death he was the oldest licensed commercial flier in Wisconsin. Although he negotiated countless thousands of miles he was never involved in an accident. The nearest he came to it was when he made a forced landing in the main business street at Des Moines, Ia., without mishap.

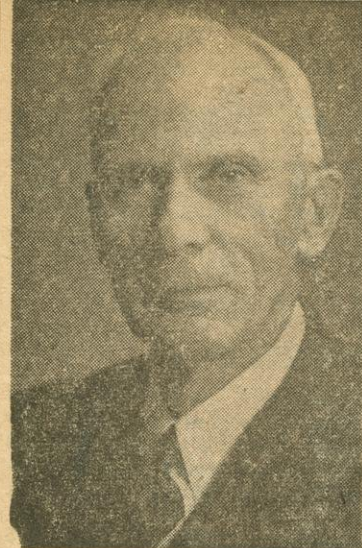

He started flying in 1920 and in 1923 opened the first airport in Galena. He then launched on a barn storming career and in 1928 opened an airport in Dubuque, Iowa.

In sequence he operated airports in Freeport, Ill., Watertown, Old Helena, Lake Delton and Reedsburg. He has operated the Reedsburg Municipal airport since 1945 and he and his son have owned and operated the Lake Delton airport since 1945.

Mr. McBoyle became the authorized Cub plane dealer in 1938, and two years later became the southern Wisconsin distributor, a position he held up to the time of his death.

R. J. POLLARD DIES AT HOME HERE SATURDAY

Dodgeville's Veteran Merchant Is Victim Of Polio And Complications

R. J. Pollard, 71, Dodgeville's oldest and most widely known merchant died at his home, about noon on Saturday, following an eight day's illness of polio and other complications. When his illness was definitely diagnosed a week earlier, little encouragement was offered for his recovery, but family and friends hoped that he might be spared.

Mr. Pollard was a living example of a self made man, who relied on his own thrift, industry and integrity to reach success which he attained. The building which houses his home and business is one of the finest in the city and his harness shop was said to be the best in the entire state.

Born in the town of Clyde, he was left at the age of 16 to look after the farm and his widowed mother. At the age of 20 he went to Spring Green to learn the harness making trade with his brother Thomas. On Jan. 1, 1899 he came to Dodgeville to manage a shop opened here by his brother and one year later purchased the business.

PERKINS

In the year 1905 Mr. Pollard sold his shop and entered into partnership with the late Joe Fisher in the clothing business. Three years later he reentered the harness business and purchased the site on which his present fine building now stands. It was completed in 1923.

Although in his early seventies, Mr. Pollard appeared much younger. Always neat and of splendid carriage, he exemplified business at its best. Although able to retire many years ago, he was still attentive to his trade and could be found at his bench any day following the trade of harness maker at which he was an expert.

"Dick" Pollard enjoyed the respect of everyone. He was a man of strong convictions and not afraid to express himself. Throughout his entire 45 years in business he was prompt in meeting his obligations. He has been a credit to Dodgeville and it was a pleasure to know him. We shall greatly miss Dick Pollard.

JURY RETURNS MURDER VERDICT THURSDAY NOON

Finds Hendrickson Sane
When He Killed Chas.
Exby, Jan. 12

A jury in circuit court, which had heard evidence in the trial of Charles Hendrickson, 29, charged with the fatal shooting of Charles Exby, night clerk in the Hotel Higbee on the morning of Jan. 12, returned to the court room at 11:50 a.m. last Thursday with a verdict of "Guilty of murder in the second degree." The jury had been out since 2:45 the previous afternoon and had twice returned to the court room for more instructions from Judge Herbert J. Steffes.

Foreman Fred Klusendorf handed the written verdict to Bailiff M. S. Price, who in turn gave it to Judge Steffes. After reading the verdict aloud he asked, "Was this and is this now your verdict?" to which they answered "yes." Atty. Darrell McIntyre then asked that the jurors be polled and the court put the same questions to each of the 12 and in each instance the answer was "yes."

Judge Steffes, who has won the admiration of all in the manner in which he conducted the trial, then turned to the jury and commended them highly for their services. He said they had acted as good citizens.

Charles Henderson was then called before the judge and asked if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed upon to which he answered "No". Throughout the entire trial the defendant had exhibited no emotion.

Atty. McIntyre, who had vigorously defended Hendrickson then started an oration about the verdict being contrary to law and evidence. He charged Atty. Richard Barrett with sabotage of expert witness either through ignorance or malice. Here he was halted by the court, and the other defense Attorney C. H. Knudson then asked for a week's stay in pronouncing sentence and referred to the past good record of the defendant. The court then asked Dist. Attorney Wilson Brue if he had any comment to which he replied, "no comment your honor."

Judge Steffes then stated that the verdict was justified and most fair to the defendant. There was no legal error or prejudice in the conduct of the trial. He then commented on the liberality of the Wisconsin parole laws and said "The evidence might have supported a verdict of murder in the first degree."

Judge Steffes then pronounced the following: "The order of this court is that you be sentenced to hard labor in state's prison at Waupun for not less than 14 years or more than 25 years."

The jury's decision was practically unanimous with that of the man on the street and the widow of the victim, Charles Exby, breathed a sigh of relief and stated that she thought justice had been done. She regretted that her dead husband and Wesley Peterson had been subjected to such abuse as the defense attorneys used in argument to the jury.

Dist. Atty. Wilson Brue, in his first criminal case, and his assistant Atty. Richard Barrett of Madison are pleased with the verdict and are to be commended. The entire trial lasted 14 days during which time the jurors were isolated from people, newspapers or radios.

Sheriff Bernard Collins and Deputy Edgar Jenkins of Highland took Charles Hendrickson to Waupun Thursday afternoon and report that he made no complaint of the trial or criticism of sentence pronounced on him. He is evidently willing to pay the penalty for his unfortunate misdeed.

FLOY KENDRICK

Floy Kendrick started teaching at the Nakoma school 20 years ago and during the two decades since, she has become as much a part of the community as the rolling green lawns which make Nakoma one of Madison's most beautiful residential sections.

And when her pupil, Beth Knope, won the championship of The State Journal's 1952 Badger Spelling Bee five weeks ago, there was great happiness in Nakoma.

The residents were happy for Beth, because she brought a hard won championship to Nakoma, but, they were elated for Miss Kendrick, too, because they knew that her's was the guiding hand behind the youngster's accomplishment.

Beth did not win the national finals.

Joyce Is the Most Hopeful of All

Black Earth Girl Collects Pictures, Horse Models

BLACK EARTH — Pictures, scrapbooks of the Hollywood stars, tiny horse models . . . these are the playthings of Joyce Strang, invalided, paralysed from the waist since her birth 17 years ago.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Strang of Black Earth, Joyce is aided by her friends in the search for pictures of Shirley Temple, from her earliest dimpled days; of Gene Autry; and particularly of Autry's horse, Trigger.

Trigger is Joyce's first love, and the inspiration for a large collection of inanimate horses, with a tiny horse-clock her prize.

Occasionally, after a day of filling scrapbooks and listening to Gene Autry records, Joyce will go to a movie. But only occasionally, when the theater is near, for she must be carried in the arms of her husky, truck driver father.

Numerous operations and countless treatment have been attempted to restore Joyce's health. None have succeeded, but her parents remain hopeful, and aided by the cheerful company of her nine-year-old sister, Joan, Joyce is the most hopeful of all.

700 Friends Honor Dr. Brown for Work in Arena Community

By MRS. OTTO R. THOME
(State Journal Correspondent)

ARENA — About 700 friends of Dr. E. N. Brown—and that includes just about everyone in the Arena area—met Saturday night in the Arena high school gymnasium to honor the small town doctor who is still practicing at 76 and has no plans for retirement.

Since Dr. Brown's community includes only about 300 residents, many of those who crowded the auditorium Saturday night came from far away. The occasion was Dr. Brown Day, honoring a physician and his wife who have served their community for almost 50 years.

Dr. Arnold Jackson, of the Jackson Clinic in Madison, one of several friends of Dr. Brown who paid tribute to him during the program, said "I have worked with Dr. Brown for 30 years, and I have never known him to make a wrong diagnosis."

"And most important for his community, Dr. Brown was always there on time."

"You can never repay your debt to this man," Dr. Jackson said, "except in this happy capacity this evening."

Michael Sweeney, Baraboo, a former Arena resident and a longtime friend of Dr. Brown's, said "Dr. Brown preferred a small town. He built his own office. He never lost a patient during the 1919 flu epidemic although in four weeks he treated more than 500 cases."

"God and the doctor," Sweeney said, "are often the most forgotten persons."

The Rev. Otto R. Thome, in his invocation, said "we thank God for Dr. and Mrs. Brown, who really love people. Blessed is the community whose doctor and wife give themselves unselfishly to that community."

Merton Harrop, master of ceremonies, told Dr. Brown's friends that "October is Dr. Brown's month. Oct. 9 is his wedding anniversary, and on Oct. 28 he will be 78 years old."

"At the age of 78 he still makes night calls when people need him," Harrop said.

"On returning from his own honeymoon, Dr. Brown delivered a baby every day for 13 consecutive days, and so far he has delivered 1,971, losing only three."

Dr. Brown, who with his wife, was pleased and moved by the tribute paid him although he had argued for months against any such event, briefly described his years of practice at Arena.

He recalled his year of internship at Chicago, during which he delivered 167 babies "with no pay," his seven months at Hillsboro before coming to Arena, and his first year here when he had successive 16 days of night calls which allowed him an average of two hours of sleep per night.

He described calls he made by sleigh in 40-below-zero weather and other early hardships, and said "It has been a hard practice, but I have enjoyed it."

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Robb and family of Rock Island, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Anderson and Bill, also Mr. and Mrs. Bertyn Davis and son David attended the Dr. Brown Day at Arena Saturday evening. Bill Anderson, Janet Robb, David Davis and Bertyn Davis were all Dr. Brown babies.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maahs will observe their 45th wedding anniversary by hold open house at their home from 2 to 5 p.m., Sunday.

Over 100 relatives and friends helped Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maahs celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary Sunday.

About 30 doctors were among the 700 who attended the program, and when Dr. Brown's "babies" were asked to stand, they made up a considerable part of the audience.

Above is pictured Dr. Edwin N. Brown of Arena who will be honored by the community and members of the medical profession, for his half century of unselfish service to humanity, in a program at the new Arena High School Gymnasium on Saturday evening.

THE SMOULDERING RUINS of the two story home in Hyde, tiny Iowa County community, where two elderly half-sisters lost their lives Friday, are shown above. Lena Olson, 79, operator of the Hyde General Store, and Annie Johnson, 81, who operated the Hyde Telephone Exchange in the house where the women lived, were victims of the fire. The fire was discovered at 3 a. m. by a neighbor. (Photo by Carmie A. Thompson)

TWO SPINSTERS DIE AS FLAMES DESTROY HOME

Anna Johnson and Lena Olson Perish In Flames at Hyde

After a lifetime of kindness and service to others, Annie Johnson, 82, and Lena Olson, 79, met a cruel death early Friday morning when flames destroyed their home in the little community of Hyde, seven miles north of Ridgeway. The two, aunt and niece, operated a tiny rural store where they handled staple groceries and a few dry goods items. In the same yard, shaded in summer by a huge soft maple and brightened with flowers, stood their modest home in which was located the rural telephone switchboard. It was never left unattended and calls were answered day or night. They went to bed upstairs as usual Thursday night.

A few rods away in another home owned by them, lives the Rev. Raymond Bawden and family. Shortly before three o'clock Friday morning, their 16-year-old daughter, Mary, who sleeps in a bedroom facing the victims' home, was awakened by the crackling of flames. She gave the alarm and Rev. Bawden hurried to the house which was a mass of flames. He pounded on a door in the living room, but got no response. He next mounted the porch with a ladder and broke a bedroom window. His calls brought no reply and as the flames belched in his face he beat a hasty retreat.

The telephone exchange was in the flaming building so he drove to the farm home of his brother, George, several miles way, from where a phone call for help was sent out. The Arena and Ridgeway fire departments answered. Neighbors who had gathered used buckets of water to prevent the roof of the store from catching on fire. It was several hours before a search for the bodies could be made.

Both the Misses Johnson and Olson had apparently been aroused by the flames which appeared to have started in the back of the house. Both had reached the ground floor parlor in a southeast corner of the house where the front door was seldom used. One had collapsed at the foot of the stairs and the other near the door. Little was left of the bodies except charred flesh and a few bones which were taken to the Roberts funeral parlors at Arena.

Hyde community was saddened by the tragedy. Miss Olson had operated the store for well over half a century and Miss Johnson with her most of that time. Their home was always open to callers who were urged to enjoy a cup of coffee. The tiny store with its false front, a replica of the eighties, has the original high counter along the south side. A wood burning heater warms it in winter. The proprietors shared the joys and sorrows of the whole community and despite their advanced age they enjoyed rendering service to others. Until recently Miss Olson was organist in the Hyde church and she often played upon the piano in the home.

The Misses Olson and Johnson will be a cherished memory for everyone who knew them.

Funeral services for the Misses Johnson and Olson were held Sunday afternoon in the Hyde Congregational church with the Rev. E. R. Anderson officiating assisted by the Rev. J. Leslie Leonard and Rev. Ray Bawden. It was undoubtedly the largest ever held in that community. The one casket, containing the remains of both, was buried in the church cemetery.

Raleigh, N. C., Before
Convention Talk

Edward A. Drott, 69, who founded and headed both the Drott Tractor Co. and the Drott Manufacturing Corp. here, collapsed and died of a heart attack in Raleigh, N. C., Thursday shortly before he was to address a convention of construction equipment men.

Drott, who maintained homes at 3134 N. 42nd pl. and on Lake Clara near Tomahawk, was a pioneer in developing attachable equipment to make tractors perform a variety of jobs. He was credited with being the first to develop a crawler tractor for logging operations, to perfect the bull clam shovel, a combination bulldozer and shovel used mainly for earth moving, and to invent the skid shovel, a front end loader attachment for tractors.

Four Years of Schooling

He also was one of the early advocates of snowplowing on highways and of the sanitary land fill, a method of combining refuse disposal with reclamation of low or marshy areas. In sanitary land fill, refuse and earth are spread over the area in alternating layers and compacted.

Mr. Drott, a native of Butter-nut (Ashland county), had only four years of schooling. When he was 15, he started work as a lumberjack and rose to be river driver foreman and engineer in various northwoods logging camps. He was constantly devising ways to change mechanical equipment so that it was more versatile and efficient.

His interest in machinery led in 1916 to formation of the Drott Tractor Co., a sales firm, at Butter-nut. He sold 12 tractors the first year. He moved the firm to Wausau in 1923 and to Milwaukee a year later. It is now a sales outlet for Allis-Chalmers equipment.

MRS. GRIFF JONES OF ARENA PASSES AWAY

(Arena Corr.)

Mrs. Griff Jones, 63, of Arena, died Sept. 26 at a Madison hospital after a long illness.

She was the telephone operator at Arena for many years.

Her funeral was held at the Community building at 2:00 p.m. Saturday and burial was in the Barneveld cemetery.

Survivors besides her husband are her sons, Llewellyn of Blue Mounds, Harold of Gillingham and Garfield of Arena; one brother, Ed Jabs, Barneveld; and three sisters, Mrs. Clarence Simons of Barneveld, Mrs. Alfred Johnson, Avoca, and Mrs. Victor Smith, Smith, Algoma, and numerous grandchildren.

President Eisenhower—jovial, relaxed, confident—and his wife Mamie—chic in a black silk dress—smile broadly for their “second term” portrait just a few moments before Mr. Eisenhower went on television and radio to explain his decision.

When he finished the telecast, the President rose from the table on which he had spread his notes, turned to his right, smilingly put out his hand, and Mamie moved back in view. This time she was trying hard to hold back tears.

With the Eisenhowers in his White House office as he spoke were her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud of Denver; the first lady's sister, Mrs. Gordon Moore and her husband; the President's younger brother, Milton Eisenhower, and the president's son, Maj. John Eisenhower and his wife, Barbara.

Mr. Eisenhower, a picture of television confidence, arrived 20 minutes early for the telecast, predicted he would do the speech in 15 minutes (it took 16 minutes, 20 seconds), conferred briefly with his television adviser, Robert Montgomery, and—at the last minute—made a telephone call to invite John and Barbara to the “show.” They had just arrived at the White House for dinner.

The broadcast over, the President picked up his speech notes, took Mrs. Eisenhower by her arm, and headed back for their residential quarters.

He had the look of a man who had completed a hard, but satisfying day's work.

LUMAN LADD IS KILLED UNDER FARM TRACTOR

Bringing in Last Load of Hay Tuesday Evening When It Spills

Wounds Claim Life of Arena Man, 51

Alvin Butts, 51, an Arena area farmer, died Sunday night in a Madison hospital from gunshot wounds.

He was found by his family in a small building on his farm suffering from head wounds and was taken to a Madison hospital by private ambulance.

The Iowa county sheriff's department said that an investigation will be made today to determine if the wounds were self-inflicted.

The body was taken to the Roberts funeral home, Arena.

Luman Ladd, 61, World War I veteran, one of the most popular and well known farmers of this area, was killed under an overturned tractor late Tuesday evening. Born and reared on the home farm in Union Mills community, he had spent all of his life there, where he is assisted on the farm by his son James and family, who occupy part of the home.

Father and son had been haying in a ridge field, a mile up the blacktopped highway. James started one evening chores while his father went back after the last load. Some time later a lady motorists came along and saw the overturned tractor with driver underneath. She drove to the nearby John Maughan farm home and gave the alarm. The son was one of the first to reach the scene and tried unsuccessfully to release his imprisoned father. Sheriff Ray Reese, acting coroner Charles Schmitt and the emergency vehicle crew were summoned.

Investigation showed that Mr. Ladd had either had mechanical trouble or illness while coming down the private steep road from the ridge. Bales of hay were scattered along the way and the driver was within ten feet of the main highway when the wagon load of hay and the tractor were both turned completely upside down. The remains were brought to the Lulloff funeral home.

Mr. Ladd is survived by his bereaved wife, the former Alice Larsen, prominent in church and civic circles, the son James and granddaughter at home; his aged father, Andrew Ladd of this city; nine brothers and sisters, George Ladd, Mrs. Wm. Kneebone and Mrs. Curtis Hatch of Madison; Mrs. Belinda Price, Mrs. Herbert Anderson and Mrs. Fred James of Dodgeville; Alice of Prairie du Sac; Charles of Crown Point, Ind., and Mrs. L. J. Unterholzner of Blanchardville.

Mr. Ladd has long been a lover of god horseflesh and usually keeps a pleasure horse or two on the farm. He is a member of the group which operates the Sch-La-Dow stable in this city.

A brother Daniel, 19, met a similar tragic death many years ago in a circular saw accident rot many rods from where Mr. Ladd was killed.

Mr. Ladd, a genial citizen, was an active member of the Lutheran church, Masonic Lodge and Order of Eastern Star.

900 Post Guests Attend Frontier Rodeo Opening

By ROBERT BYERS
Denver Post Staff Writer

CHEYENNE, Wyo., July 25. — The 1956 Frontier Days rodeo and wild west festival—unmatched in history for size, excitement and spectacle—was under way Tuesday, with the arrival of nearly 900 dignitaries aboard a Denver Post special train from Denver and a giant parade paying tribute in pageant form to the history of the west.

The first of 350 top ranking cowboys from throughout the United States and Canada, who will be riding in the five-day rodeo for shares of a record-shattering $70,000 in prize money was to come hurtling from the chutes at Frontier park on a vicious bucking bronco shortly after 2 p. m. Tuesday to launch the rodeo itself.

40,000 LINE STREETS

Arrival of The Denver Post train and the parade—described by officials as the largest and the most spectacular in the 60-year history of this world's biggest outdoor rodeo—were the highlights of Tuesday morning's program.

Police estimated that a record 40,000 persons—tourists and Cheyenne residents — lined downtown streets along the mile-long parade route to witness the pageantry depicting frontier America.

BRAND NAMES GUESTS

Marveling at the fabulous junket as the special guests of Palmer Hoyt, editor and publisher of The Denver Post, were 18 members of the board of directors of the national Brand Names Foundation, all of them leaders in firms manufacturing brand name projects or executives in newspapers, radio, television and advertising agencies.

They were met in Cheyenne by their wives, who couldn't wangle a seat on the strictly stag train ride, who made the trip by bus to see the Frontier Days show.

Included in the parade was an old-time stage coach bearing 14 of the top dignitaries from The Denver Post train, including Palmer Hoyt, Editor and Publisher of The Post, and E. Ray Campbell, president of The Post.

Others riding the stage coach were Gov. Ed C. Johnson of Colorado, former Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado, Denver Mayor Will Nicholson, Maj. Gen. James Briggs, new commandant of the U. S. air force academy in Denver, and Henry Abt of New York, president of the Brand Names Foundation.

Others who rode The Post train were escorted to a reserved section of curbstone on a downtown street from which they viewed the gala parade and, after lunch, attended the opening rodeo performance.

A delegation of Cheyenne officials headed by Mayor Val Christensen met the train a short distance from Cheyenne and rode into the city with the Denver group.

LACKLAND WAF BAND

The parade included more than 20 marching bands, among them the 5th army band of Fort Sheridan, Ill., and the air force WAF's band from Lackland air force base, Texas. A 200-animal army mule train from Fort Carson, Colo. was in the parade, as were hundreds of men, women and children on horseback and floats.

Monday night Gov. Milward Simpson of Wyoming crowned pretty Marilyn Ryan, 20, of Cheyenne, queen of the 60th annual Frontier Days rodeo at ceremonies at Frontier park attended by 10,000 persons.

He was a member of the Royal Arch Masons, Blue lodge, Order of Eastern Star, the Iowa County Humane society, a deacon in the Congregational Church, former county humane agent, and ex-deputy sheriff.

Survivors include his wife, Sarah; two stepsons, Robert and Thomas McCutchin, Arena; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Orrin Davis, Dodgeville; 10 grandchildren; 12 great-grandchildren; three sisters, Effie Price, Spring Green; Mrs. Alice Lewis, Barneveld; and Mrs. Erb Pine, Arena; and a brother, Sprague, Boyd.

MISS ETHEL DAVEY DIES UNEXPECTEDLY TUESDAY

Dodgeville residents were shocked Tuesday to hear of the sudden death of Miss Ethel Davey who passed away at her home early the morning of that day. Apparently in the best of health, Miss Davey had complained of pains under her shoulder after a session of lawn mowing on Monday evening. Her discomfort became more severe throughout the night and the end came about 7:00 a.m.

Miss Davey was 65 at the time of her death, and though she had taught in several places, she always counted Dodgeville as her home. She had retired from her last teaching position at Madison East Side high school about two years ago and had come back to live with her sister, Myrtle. She was a member of the First Methodist church and had been the organist there for some time. She also taught a Sunday school class.

She is survived by her sister Myrtle of Dodgeville and many cousins.

Funeral services will be held from the Roach funeral home on Thursday afternoon, Aug. 23, at 2:00. The Rev. D. H. Fleet will be in charge of the services and burial will be made at the East Side cemetery.

Moody S. Price, well known and beloved citizen of Dodgeville, passed away Monday, Aug. 20, after an extended illness. Shown here in an attitude of prayer, the true character of Mr. Price is recorded for eternity in the prize winning portrait done of him in recent years by the Obma Studios.

IN MEMORIAM

To Moody S. Price who was so willing to counsel and help the young in guiding their footsteps on the right way:

An old man, going a lone highway
Came in the evening, cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide.

The old man crossed in the twilight dim,

The sullen stream had no fears for him,

But he stopped, when safe on the other side

And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old Man," said a fellow pilgrim near,

"You are wasting your strength with building here:

Your journey will end with the ending way,

You never again will pass this way,

You've crossed the chasm deep and wide,

Why build you this bridge at evening tide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head,

"Good friend in the path I've come," he said,

"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.

This chasm which has been as naught to me

To that fair haired youth might a pitfall be,

He, too, must cross in the twilight dim,

Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

1c — Mrs. Tom McCutchin

Since its organization he has been a member of the General hospital board of directors and has always had its best interest at heart.

Countless friends will long remember this genial citizen who possessed a fine sense of humor and a cordial attitude toward everyone. His immediate survivors are his faithful companion of nearly fifty years; three stepchildren, former Assemblyman Robert McCutchin and Town Chairman, Thos. O. McCutchin of Arena; Mrs. Orren S. Davies of this city; ten grandchildren; twelve great-grandchildren; three sisters, Miss Effie Price of Spring Green; Mrs. Thos. Lewis of Barneveld and Mrs. Erb Pine, Arena, and one brother, Sprague Price of Boyd, Wis.

A GOOD CITIZEN MOODY S. PRICE TAKEN BY DEATH

Active Churchman And Community Servant Dies Monday

A host of friends throughout the community, as well as the family, are saddened by the death of Moody S. Price, age 79, which occurred shortly before noon on Monday in a local hospital, following a two year illness. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon in the Congregational church where the body lay in state from 11 o'clock. His pastor, the Rev. Noel P. Orcutt officiated and Masonic rites were given by the Past Master, Charles L. Wonn. Burial was made in East Side cemetery.

Moody S. Price was born June 22, 1877 in a log house on the old homestead in the northeast corner of the town of Ridgeway, now owned by the Mrs. Frank Price family, and grew to manhood there. Following his marriage to Mrs. Sadie Ruggles McCutchin on October 4, 1906, they resided on the McCutchin homestead in the same community until they moved to Dodgeville in 1918.

Few men have devoted more time and effort to community betterment than has Mr. Price. First of all he was a loyal churchman, a lifelong member of the Congregational church. He has served as Sunday school superintendent, secretary, treasurer and deacon and custodian for many years. He gave generously of his time, talents and money.

A long time member of the Masonic Lodge, he served many years as tiler and was chaplain at the time of his death. He was also a member of the Royal Arch Masons and Order of Eastern Star and one of the most faithful attendants.

When the Iowa County Humane Society was organized back in 1925 he was appointed Humane Officer by Gov. John J. Blaine and has served ever since. He has also been president of the society and time and time again has been called on to dispose of an unwanted animal or one in pain.

Mr. Price had considerable ability as a chef and has often assisted in preparing food for church and lodge gatherings.

Since June 21, 1937 he has been bailiff in circuit and county court where he was popular with all.

Mr. Price has also served as city policeman and deputy sheriff. In carrying out his duties he relied more on friendly persuasion than legal intimidation.

For many years Moody Price was called upon to cry household auctions and an occasional farm sale and did a very good job.

A handy man, mechanically minded, his hobby was fixing clocks especially those of ancient vintage. He has thirty or more of these antiques in his home, also several violins.

Wed Two Days Earlier

The Adcocks Double With Bases Empty

DODGEVILLE—Joe Adcock, the Milwaukee Braves' first baseman, is not a deft baserunner—he seldom steals bases.

But Thursday afternoon he stole a bride right from under the watchful eyes of Wisconsin's sports fans.

Adcock, 29, Coshatta, La., married Joan Joyce James, 23, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell D. James, Dodgeville, at a 1 p. m. wedding Thursday in St. Joseph's Catholic Church here.

According to announcements by Adcock and Miss James, the wedding was scheduled for Saturday.

But to avoid publicity that attends every action of a Braves' player, the couple held the event Thursday, before a small gathering of family and friends.

The Rev. John T. Donovan, Milwaukee, performed the ceremony. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Sherry, Milwaukee. Mrs. Sherry is the new Mrs. Adcock's sister.

The bride's father gave her in marriage.

Ushers included David J. Morgan, Mineral Point, and Scott Abbott, Davenport, Ia., the bride's cousins, and Mark James, Dodgeville, her brother.

Adcock's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray G. Adcock, Coshatta, La., were unable to attend the event.

A wedding dinner was held after the ceremony in St. Joseph's Church hall.

Mrs. Adcock met her husband in the office of the Braves' physician, Dr. Bruce Brewer. She was the doctor's receptionist. Adcock went to the office for treatment of an arm broken by a pitched ball.

Mrs. Adcock graduated from Dodgeville High school in 1951. She was the school's high school prom queen in 1950 and has worked in Milwaukee for the past four years.

MRS. JOE ADCOCK

Adcock was an outstanding athlete at Louisiana State University before he entered professional baseball. His slugging has been one of the features of the Braves' attack.

The Adcocks have not indicated where they will go on their wedding trip, which was scheduled to begin late Thursday. Family and friends, however, believe they were to go South, probably concluding the trip with a visit with Adcock's parents.

Miss Betty Ann Erickson Bride of Earl Williams

The bride's gown of white Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over satin was fashioned with a mandarin neckline and a floor-length skirt trimmed with sequin-dotted appliques. A crown of sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil. She carried a prayer book topped with orchids.

Miss Judy Deans of Madison was the maid of honor, and Mrs. Donna Anderson and Miss Helen Williams, Dodgeville, were bridesmaids. The attendants wore gowns of coralberry net over taffeta, with bodices and jackets of matching velvet. Their headbands were of velvet and pearls, and they carried white muffs to which coralberry corsages were fastened.

Ruth Williams, Dodgeville, as flower girl, wore a white gown like the bride's.

The best man was David Williams, Mt. Horeb. Leslie Williams and August Otter, Dodgeville, were groomsmen. Ushers included Kenneth Sersch, White-water, and Tommy Deans, Madison. John Conwell, Dodgeville, was the ring bearer.

A reception was held in the church parlors after the ceremony.

This was the special "Grandma King" grant made available for that year by the Daughters of Demeter in honor of Mrs. F. H. King's 98th birthday.

In her junior year, Ruth was one of 70 co-eds to be honored at the Senior Swing-out and received the Abby L. Marratt Memorial Award. She was also initiated into the Omricon Nu honorary sorority during this year. Membership in this group is based on scholastic ability, character and leadership. Ruth had straight A's carrying five subjects and had 17 credits. At that time she was teaching a Sunday school class, had a Scout troop, was secretary of student organization, chairman on tours on high school day in Home Ec., was on the committee for Religious Week, was chaplain of Phi Upsilon National fraternity for women and was also working in one of the laboratories.

Her senior year included more honors. She was chairman of the annual high school hospitality day; president of Omricon Nu sorority, and was elected to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, an all campus honorary sorority, membership of which is based on grades and activities. Members must also be in the upper one-fourth of their class.

ANOTHER PROM TO STORE IN MEMORY

Stairway to the Stars Supplies Theme for Evening of High School Festivities

The Dodgeville Junior-Senior Prom, a highly anticipated event in the lives of the high school set, was held on Saturday evening, May 4. The theme for the evening was "A Stairway to the Stars."

Festivities began with a banquet held at the Masonic Temple. A delicious menu was prepared by the ladies of the Eastern Star. The tables were beautifully decorated with miniature stars, moons and stairs. Bill Strutt acted as master of ceremonies at the program which began with a welcome by Bob Blotz, president of the junior class. A response was given by senior class president, John Crubaugh. This was followed by the singing of the theme song, "Stairway to the Stars," by Lois Brunker and Bob Blotz. The speaker for the evening was Mrs. Patricia Johanson. The program ended with the singing of the song, "When You Wish Upon a Star," by the members of the junior girls' triple trio.

The promenaders then adjourned to the high school gym which had been transformed for the occasion from an athletic area into a scene of make-believe beautifully decorated in blue and silver. Silver stars hung from a blue crepe paper sky and in the center of the dance floor stood a staircase on a white cotton make-believe cloud. This was the "Stairway to the Stars." Above the stairway was an illuminated golden star.

The main event of the evening's dance was the Grand March and the crowning of the King and Queen. This was done against the background of a huge white star. Senior class president John Crubaugh placed the crown on the head of King Bob Blotz who in turn placed a crown on the head of Lois Brunker which entitled them to reign over the Prom festivities.

Class advisors Mrs. Gertrude Johnson and Kenneth Fox chose the following students as members of the court of honor: Bertha Bartz, Julie Fox, Mary Reese, Sharon Schleck, Bill Esch and Raymond Brokish. The choice was based upon outstanding work done on the Prom decorations.

Mothers who served on the punch committee were Mrs. Philip Blotz, chairman, Mrs. Kapke, Mrs. William Hamilton, Mrs. Ray Reese and Mrs. Noel Orcutt.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the Layton Blaine orchestra.

MRS. EVA HODGSON

Mrs. Eva Hodgson was born Aug. 24, 1901, in Madison, Wis., and passed away March 21, 1957, at the age of 55 years, six months, 27 days.

She was united in marriage to George Hodgson, June 12, 1925. To this union were born three children, Helen of Madison, Harriet of Des Moines, Iowa, and David attending the University at Madison. She also leaves to mourn four grandchildren; one sister, Mrs. S. R. Blackstone of Madison; one brother, Emil Kronquist, Ishpeming, Mich., and other relatives, and a host of neighbors and friends.

Throughout her lifetime she has always enjoyed working with young people.

In her early life she was a leader in the work of the Y.W.C.A. and since her marriage has been very active in the church and Sunday school as well as 4-H and other community activities. She held as her personal inspiration the thoughts expressed in this poem:

My Inspiration

My life shall touch a dozen lives
Before this day is done,
Leave countless marks of good or ill.

Ere sets the evening sun.
This is the wish I always wish,
The prayer I always pray;
Lord, may my life help other lives
It touches by the way. 1p

This has been the credo and private inspiration of someone whom I know very well. This person has been closer to me than to any of the hundreds of other people she has devoted her lifetime to helping. She has always been willing to sit down and talk to any young person who needed help of any kind, (from spiritual problems to planning game for a teenage party), even though it would inconvenience her to no end.

Though deeply religious, she is far from being a fanatic. She incorporates this great faith in God into everything that she undertakes so it has become a part of her everyday life.

You can well imagine what a shock it was when in the late summer of 1956, this dear friend of all was stricken with cancer. Even this could not hold back her cheery smile and happy greetings when her many friends came to visit her in the hospital. In fact, many left feeling much more cheerful than when they had come.

I think the one example of her great faith in the superior Power which I remember most vividly, occurred when the doctor asked her for her decision regarding further surgery. She had to choose between these two things: either go on living in the present state, with every day being numbered, or else go through major surgery again, with the possibilities of being completely cured or of not being helped at all. With this in mind, she gave this answer to the doctor's query "I'm leaving it all up to two people, Doctor. You and the Lord."

She possessed a deep love for young people that reached far beyond her own family. Whenever the young friends of her children had nothing to do or no place to go, they knew that they were always welcome at her home, whether to watch television, try some of the hot chocolate and cookies that she nearly always served, or just to sit and visit. This policy of the open door and the open heart was deeply appreciated and will never be forgotten by any of us.

As a mother, she was uncomparable. She loved her children and incorporated in them the same love of God that she had had, as well as a longing to seek after the finer things in life, not those of highest price, but those little niceties that go to make up a full and happy life.

Yes, I think it would be a good idea if each of us would take this little poem of hers as our private inspirations. Surely the world would be a much better place to live in if each of us had her outlook on life.

You may wonder how I happen to know so much about this wonderful person. Well, I'll tell you how it is. You see, this dear friend of everyone happens to be MY MOTHER. — David Johnathon Hodgson.

MAY 2, 1957

EVELYN CLAIRE MEILI BRIDE OF D. ARNOLD

Miss Evelyn Claire Meili and David Richard Arnold were married Saturday, April 27, at 9:30 in St. Bridget's church, Ridgeway. Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Meili, are the bride's parents. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Arnold, Barneveld.

Mr. Meili gave his daughter in marriage. The Rev. Edward J. Bier officiated.

Miss Jean Dunbar was the bride's only attendant. Lawrence Arnold was his brother's best man. Ushers were John Meili, the bride's brother and Peter Trainor, brother-in-law.

A breakfast was held at the bride's home for 40 guests. A reception was held in the church parlors in the afternoon.

The newlyweds will live at 946 E. Johnson St. The bride is employed in the general accounting department of the Ray-O-Vac Co. Mr. Arnold is employed at Barneveld.

It was several hours, however, before a search for the bodies could be made. It was then found that both women had collapsed and succumbed to the flames upon reaching the ground floor from their upstairs sleeping quarters.

Miss Olson had operated the Hyde store for more than 50 years and Miss Johnson had been with her most of that time. And the whole community felt profoundly the loss of these two neighbors whose friendly country store had served them for so many years.

Just in case you should buy Mr. Arneson's "town" you will want to know about the neighbors, schools and business opportunities, as they say in the real estate advertisements.

Well, the school is just up the road right off the pavement and there is year-round work at the nearby saw mill — and you couldn't find better neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Bawden and Mary and Paul live in the 7-room house and Mary is a senior at Ridgeway High School where Paul is a junior. All help take care of "central."

Eight-five-year-old Mrs. Katherine Torphy, Hyde's oldest and most respected resident, owns the farm adjoining the store, operated by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Hogan. Mr. Hogan is Hyde's Mayor.

Beyond the Torphy farm is that of Mr. and Mrs. Gains Davis who have a daughter, Nancy, 13, and a son, Johnnie, 6. Near the road on their farm is the old Hyde blacksmith shop where Tom Jones shod the farmers' horses before he and his son moved to Barneveld in 1895.

Tom McCutcheon, Arena town chairman, says that in the days before automobiles the farmers would leave their horses in the morning and the blacksmith would turn them loose as they were shod, letting them find their way home down the road alone.

Across from the Davis farm is the Hyde Cheese Factory, operated by Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Dischler who have two daughters, Yvonne and Marlene.

Drive past the cheese factory to where a bridge spans the nearby stream and you'll come to the saw mill operated by Theodore Sawle and to the Sawle

Mrs. Grace Mahoney

Mrs. Grace Mahoney, 77, of 307 E. Dean ave., died Thursday night at a Madison hospital after a short illness.

Funeral services will be held Sunday in the Arena Congregational Church, Arena.

MRS. MAHONEY

home on top of the hill beyond. Mr. and Mrs. Sawle have eight children — four boys and two girls still at home.

Here is the old dam built by William Hyde in about 1852. Rock for the dam was hauled by oxen from the nearby hill and the dam is still in good shape today.

This was a grist mill until 1938 when Mr. Sawle converted it to a saw mill turning out railway ties. He has also made crates for the Pioneer Paper Co. in Chicago since 1942. He hires from 10 to 15 men year-round and one employee has been with him for 14 years.

Mr. Arneson has had the Hyde property for sale since last summer. It was almost sold once just before he went to the hospital, expecting to remain only two weeks. Back on the job a month later he contacted his prospect only to find that the customer had died in the meantime.

Miss Olson and Miss Johnson left no wills and it seems that even should only those Olsons and Johnsons who are related be provided for, the estate will still have to be divided into portions of about 1-40th.

Mrs. Harlan Forseth who lives on a farm near the Hyde store, is the administratrix. Wilson Brue of Dodgeville is the lawyer.

Between Arena and Ridgeway

Want to Buy a Town? Area Banker Has One for Sale

By HARRY JOHNSON

Want to buy a town?

Drive down County Trunk "H", a black-top between U. S. Highway 14 at Arena and U. S. Highway 18 at Ridgeway, and you'll come to a sign that proclaims: "Hyde, Unincorporated."

Here it is that Anton S. Arneson, president of the Barneveld Bank, is offering one of the unique deals of his entire 25 years in the real estate business.

For sale is 10 acres of land on which stands the Hyde store building, a substantial 7-room house in which is located the Hyde Telephone Exchange and six other sheds and buildings. One of these was once a filling station as the pump out-front testifies. There is also an old root-cellar where Ollie Lee, one of the original settlers, tanned his hides before making shoes out of the leather.

Of course, if you want to get rich in a hurry you won't be particularly interested in Mr. Arneson's proposition. You might better buy a supermarket or even a daily newspaper. But should you be satisfied with a sure living in return for a small investment—Mr. Arneson thinks he has an outstanding bargain — $4,200 will complete the whole transaction.

He believes that it is an opportunity that might appeal particularly to a husband-and-wife team since there is an income of $75 or $90 a month for taking care of the telephone exchange along with what might be earned by reopening the store and doing a little farming on the 10 acres.

Once there was another house on the 10 acres and lots of business was conducted through the little country store that handled groceries and some dry goods. Lena Olson was the storekeeper then and Annie Johnson lived with her in the house next door.

This was before that terrible night of Friday the 13th of January, 1956, when Annie Johnson, 82, and Lena, 79, perished in the fire that destroyed their home along with the telephone exchange that they never left unattended.

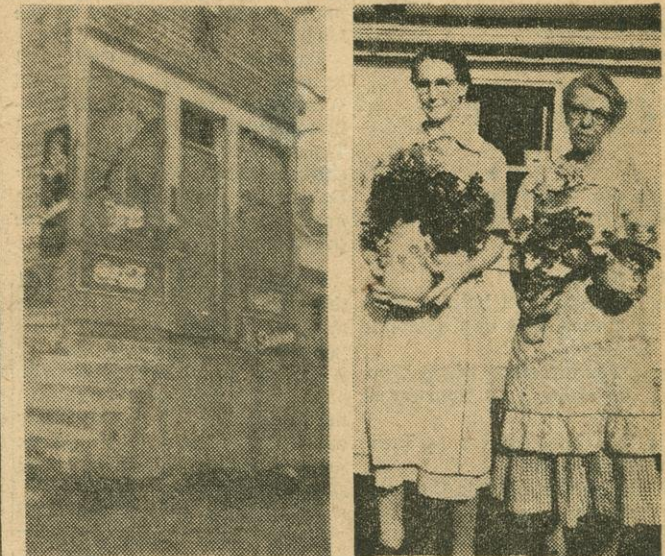

The old dog on the nearby Davis farm was barking loudly at 3 a.m. and the Davises were just getting up to investigate when the Bawdens in the next house beyond were awakened by the crackling of the flames.

Mr. Bawden hurried over but got no response when he pounded on the front door nor even after climbing to the porch and breaking a bedroom window.

The telephone exchange was in the flaming building so Mr. Bawden had to drive several miles before he could get through a phone call for help. In the meantime neighbors poured buckets of water on the roof of the nearby store and kept the fire from spreading until the Arena and Ridgeway fire departments arrived.

LENA OLSON, who died in a fire on Jan. 13, 1956, when fire swept her home, is shown here in earlier days in the general store at Hyde, unincorporated, a small town located on County Trunk H between Arena and Ridgeway. Miss Olson operated the store for more than 50 years, along with Miss Annie Johnson, who had been with her most of the time.

THE HYDE STORE today. Much of the equipment has been sold but the high counter and the old heating stove still remains.

LENA OLSON and Annie Johnson were honored for their service to the community of Hyde shortly before the fatal fire of Jan. 13, 1956.

MRS. STANLEY DAUCK

Gladys Elizabeth Jabs, daughter of William Jabs and the late Ruth Jabs, was born April 19, 1911 at Barneveld. She passed away at a local hospital on May 31, 1957 at the age of 46 years, one month and 12 days.

When Gladys was 11 years old her mother, Ruth Jabs, died. Her mother's untimely passing made it necessary to be a mother to her brothers and a housekeeper for her father. She performed these two duties with devotion and energy until she was united in marriage to Stanley H. Dauck on April 24, 1929.

To this happy union there were born two daughters, Ruth Marie and Beverly, and two sons. One son died in infancy. Richard, the other son, grew to manhood. One grandson, Randall, contributed greatly to the happiness of Gladys' later years.

Gladys was baptized, confirmed and received her religious training in the Congregational church. From this experience she developed a simple and deep religious faith, a faith which inspired her to love God and humanity. Service was one of the guiding stars of Gladys Dauck's life. She sang in the church choir. She was president of the Ruth circle of the Ladies Aid. She was active in 4-H club work and she served as treasurer of the Larsonville school district.

Among those Gladys Dauck has left behind, she has reared a monument which is instructive and inspiring. This is her monument. She was a devout and a dutiful Christian mother; she was charitable toward vices and virtues of human nature and she saw God in the beauties and wonders of nature. She being dead, yet speaketh because of her influence upon everyone who knew and appreciated her goodness.

Besides her immediate family, Gladys Dauck is survived by her father, Wm. Jabs and her step-mother, Pearl Jabs. She is survived by four brothers: Virgil, Walter and Robert, all of Barneveld, and Elliott of Barrett, Minn. She is survived by two step-brothers, Bernard Larson of Hollandale and Owen Larson of Mt. Horeb. Three brothers preceded her in the Great Beyond. 1p
