O'SHEA DECLARES PERCY MARKS IS NOT SENSATIONAL

"Plastic Age" Portrays Fast
Set of Fashionable Colleges

"Percy Marks is not a sensational writer, although 'The Plastic Age' is a sensational book," declared Prof. M. V. O'Shea, of the department of education in an interview last night.

Mr. Marks will speak on "Youth and the Jazz Age," Tuesday, March 3, at Music hall, under the auspices of Theta Sigma Phi, national honorary journalistic sorority. He is the author of "The Plastic Age," a contemporary novel of university life, which has occasioned much comment wherever university and college affairs are discussed.

Depicts Certain Type

"The Plastic Age" depicts fairly accurately the life of a certain type of college student, principally in the East," Professor O'Shea commented. "The author probably has overdrawn the account, but nevertheless he portrays quite faithfully the fast set in the fashionable type of college."

Professor O'Shea is of the opinion that Mr. Marks has seen a great deal more of college life since he wrote his book and has had impressed upon his attention some types of college men who have not been conspicuous, but who are giving character to the colleges of America.

Jazz Affects Colleges

"The jazz age has had a marked effect on most of the students in our colleges and universities. It is true that they are indulging in more emotional excitements than did the students of 25 years ago.

"Mr. Marks is seeing the situation clearly, without prejudice one way or the other. Certainly he could not be called Puritanical; nor could one term him licentious or profligate."

That Mr. Marks' lecture will undoubtedly prove interesting and illuminating to the student body was the belief expressed by Professor O'Shea. "It will probably help any student estimate the relative values of the various kinds of college life," he said in conclusion.

MANUFACTURE OF IRON SHOWN IN CHEM MOVIE

"The Manufacture of Armco Ingot Iron," the purest form of wrought iron made, is the subject of the movie to be shown at 4:30 o'clock in the Chemistry auditorium. It is one of a series of movies being given under the direction of Prof. George Kremmers of the Chemistry department.

ENGINEERS OPEN ANNUAL MEETING

Charles Halbert, Railroad Commission Engineer, Discusses Water Power in State

There should be no development of power dams in the state unless there is a good market for power, was the statement made by Charles A. Halbert, railroad commission engineer, at the opening session of the seventeenth annual convention of the Engineering Society of Wisconsin, yesterday afternoon, in the Engineering building. Mr. Halbert in an interesting paper on "Water Power in Wisconsin," pointed out instances where money had been lost due to an inadequate market for power developed by water and by poor engineering in the construction of dams.

The meeting was opened by an address of welcome by Dean Frederick E. Turneure, of the Engineering school, who extended to the delegates the welcome of the university and the facilities of its laboratories.

His address was followed by an address by the president of the society, W. G. Kirchoffer of Madison, who outlined the policies of the organization for the coming year.

Papers by several prominent engineers of the state were read and discussed.

Wisconsin Should Know

President Birge and George I. Haight, president of the Alumni association, have said in no uncertain terms that the university must have more money if it is to continue its work.

There is much more that both might have said, but their time was limited. Undoubtedly there is much more that Wisconsin ought to know. Few students, proportionately fewer citizens of the state, really know the facts concerning the university's position.

In the words of President Birge, the present crisis is the most serious since the reorganization bill was signed in 1866. The university is faced with the possibility of closing up shop.

In order that students may acquaint themselves with facts and figures concerning the university's position, the Daily Cardinal is printing on another page of this issue the first section of a series of articles from the University of Wisconsin handbook for alumni, which has been prepared with a view to giving accurate information about the university in its every department.

Additional sections from this handbook will be printed daily. The first section appears on page 4.

HISTORY OF RADIO TRACED BY TERRY

Recent Discoveries Show Wireless Increases in Practical Use

Tracing the history and depicting the possibilities and problems of radio was the substance of the lecture by Prof. E. M. Terry, of the physics department, speaking under the auspices of Phi Kappa Phi in his talk on "Recent Developments in Radio Communication" in Bascom hall last night.

"Radio has a very broad field to develop. The transmitting of pictures by radio is becoming popular, although for some time in the past they have been transmitted by land wire. This photo transmission will be very effective in journalism, as an entire paper may be transmitted in twenty minutes. In catching criminals it will have a tremendous effect.

"Radio discoveries are constant. Recent developments show that several thousand miles can be covered with the same amount of power that is needed to light one incandescent lamp.

"The one outstanding invention," read Professor Terry, "which has made possible our present day radio communication is the three element electron tube which dates back to 1884.

Officers For Next Semester Elected By Spanish Club

Ethel Ridings '25 was elected president of the Spanish club last night. Clara Pratt '26 was elected vice president, Laura Adelaide Harding '28, secretary, and Lloyd Kasten '26 treasurer.

Following the election of officers a short program was given. "Polvo y Colorete," (Rouge and Powder) a one-act play, was presented with a cast comprising Marion Juneau '26, Erna W. Wolf '25 and Ruth Hill '26. "The First Day of School" was a reading given by F. Carleton Varney, while Laurence Powell, of the musical faculty, and R. C. Vollenweider, grad, presented musical numbers.

ARDEN CLUB ENGAGES LECTURER FOR MARCH 5

"Shakespeare and Old London," a new lecture with more than 100 stereopticon slides, will be presented by William E. Ellsworth, Thursday, March 5, in 165 Bascom hall, under the auspices of the Arden club, a society for English majors.

Mr. Ellsworth has lectured in 70 colleges, having been twice at the University of Wisconsin; in more than 200 preparatory schools, and before the leading women's clubs throughout the country. His new lecture has been prepared in a similar way and is a reconstruction of the London of 1590-1610.

Bringing Mr. Ellsworth before a Wisconsin audience is the first venture for the newly established Arden club, which has the strong support of the faculty of the English as well as other departments.

DESK EDITORS

Cardinal desk editors will meet at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in the Union building office.

Sorority Rushing Rules Issued For Second Semester

"Rushes have nothing to worry about as long as they remember the few rushing rules regulating the last functions which will end second semester rushing next Monday evening," advised Miss Miller, freshman dean, who is in charge of rushing.

Bids will be in at the office of the dean of women by 9 o'clock Tuesday, February 24, and will be delivered at noon. The rushes will have to return the preference slips by 7 o'clock Tuesday evening. Sororities will receive their acceptances, Wednesday, February 25, at 9 a. m.

A 24-hour silence period must be observed by all rushes from 9 o'clock Tuesday until 9 o'clock Wednesday, when sororities will receive their formal acceptances. Formal pledging may take place any time after Wednesday.

SUPERVISORS PLAN DETAILS FOR EXPO

Specifications Have Been Handed Over to Construction Department

Every detail of construction of each of the 80 exhibits for the University exposition to be held in the gymnasium from April 16 to 18 has been carefully planned by the supervisors and the necessary specifications handed over to the construction department of the exposition committee.

Included in the specifications are such things as the size and placing of doors, false floors, special power requirements either by electricity, compressed air or steam, or water, specially built walls, and any miscellaneous fixtures that the special exhibit may require.

Members of the construction department are visiting all the supervisors this week to consult with them on these arrangements and to help them if possible with the planning of the exhibits. Many of the demonstrations, as for example, those of the College of Engineering, will require false floors and accommodations for heavy machinery. Many of the fixtures such as tables have been standardized so as to cut down on expense and make for ease of construction and erection.

Those in charge are especially emphasizing the need of uniformity in construction as being the essential characteristic which the booths must have, and the fact that even the smallest details must not be omitted from the plans. Previous to the blueprint plans all supervisors have answered questionnaires sent to them giving in writing the details of the exhibits.

PRINCESS CANTACUZINE TO SPEAK HERE SOON

Princess Cantacuzine, of Russian nobility, will speak here under the auspices of the Woman's club, concerning Russia, March 3, at the Christ Presbyterian church. The princess is an American by birth as she was born in the White House and is a granddaughter of General U. S. Grant. She is also a niece of Mrs. Potter Palmer.

PRESS CLUB VOTES 23 NEW MEMBERS

George Vaughn '24, Associated Press Writer, Relates Experiences

Twenty-three new members were voted into Press club last night at its meeting at the Delta Pi Delta house. This is the second group of students interested in journalistic activities to be taken into the club this year.

George Vaughn '24 of the Associated Press, who is stationed in Madison to cover the state legislature, addressed the organization on the workings of the association. He told of his experiences in his different positions with this organization and traced the assembling of news and the various means by which it performs its functions.

Final arrangements for the annual Pi Nite which will be held March 7 in Lathrop concert room, were made.

The new members elected are Dorothy Potter '28, Don Trenary '27, Clarence Schlaver '27, Elmer Beth '27, Alice Colony '26, Katherine Hartman '26, Edna Miller '27, Marjorie Mueller '26, Louis Sossland '26.

Joseph Mason '26, Stuart Palmer '28, Florence Broady '27, George Frechette '28, Beatrice Arnson '28, Margaret Roess '26, Victor Portman '26, Ruth Krause '26, Orra Anderson '28, Annette Hirschfeld '27, John Lerch '28, Eleanor Henke '27, George Dennis '27, and Louis Zimmerman '27.

Possibilities For Aircraft Outlined By Major Martin

"For those who wish to take up aviation, I know of no other profession in which such a diversity of talents is needed," declared Major H. S. Martin, air service officer of the Sixth Corps area, Chicago, in a talk given yesterday afternoon in the Chemistry auditorium.

Major Martin gave a brief outline of the present and possible future use of aircraft. He stated that in times of peace, aircraft could be put to civil and commercial use.

"There is no limit to civil use, for the airplanes can make aerial surveys, they can be of use in distributing fertilizer on vegetation, and they can watch the forests for fires.

"The commercial use will grow in time. Statistics show that the air mail is safer than registered mail, but they also show that it is more dangerous for passengers to travel by air."

The Madison chapter of the National Aeronautic association brought Major Martin to Madison as a step in its program for putting Madison on the map so far as aeronautics are concerned.

THURSDAY'S ISSUES

The Alumni association wishes to mail 100 copies of yesterday's Daily Cardinal to influential alumni so that they may inform themselves of the financial crisis which the university is facing. The association will pay 5 cents for each copy brought to the business office of the Daily Cardinal on the second floor of the Union building, 752 Langdon.

ICE CARNIVAL AND BOAT RACE TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Long Delayed Events to Include Decorations and Fireworks Display

If the weather continues cold, Wisconsin's Ice carnival will be held on the lower campus at 7 o'clock Saturday night. Everything is in readiness for the gala event, even to the extent that decorations and fireworks display have been planned.

The long-delayed ice boat race will take place Saturday morning. The race has been postponed four times, and it is hoped that there will be a breeze strong enough to have the race. Entries can still be made by calling Art Timm at B. 6144.

Police Rink

Milton Stangel '25, chairman of police, has announced his captains. They are Raymond Bartlett '28, James De Haven '28, George Hotchkiss '28, James Vallee '27, William Rabr '27, Paul McGinnis '25, Hugh Brudick '27, Carl Wagner '28, George Gebhardt '27, and Carl Klath '26. Each captain will choose an assistant, and it will be their duty to help patrol the rink during the races.

Theta Chi, Delta Tau Delta, Sigma Chi, Delta Upsilon and Sigma Nu have entered the fraternity relay. Besides these fraternities, individual entries will be allowed in the other events.

PROF. LUSK GIVES TALK ON METABOLISM

The study of the constancy of heat produced by living cells is one of the most important problems in present day metabolism, according to Prof. Graham Lusk of the Cornell Medical school and one of the foremost students of nutrition in the country, who delivered a lecture on "Progress in Metabolism" last night in the Biology building. The lecture was under the auspices of Sigma Xi and the university School of Medicine. Professor Lusk explained a series of 198 experiments conducted on a dog to determine the average amount of heat given off by a living animal over a certain period of time when regularly fed with uniform quantities of food.

COMPILE PROGRAMS FOR STOCK SHOW

Country Magazine Devotes Entire Issue to News of Exposition

The program committee for the Wisconsin International, headed by W. J. Zaumeyer '25, chairman, is the compiling, printing and distribution of 3,500 programs for the afternoon and night horse show.

"The staff of the Wisconsin Country magazine and members of the program committee are working hand in hand in putting out the program for the 1925 show," explained Zaumeyer. "The February issue of the college magazine is entirely devoted to interesting news of the stock exposition."

The 40-page program will be stocked with many pages of illustrations, cuts of the committeemen and stories and articles of all sorts, pertaining directly to the show. A concise history of the Wisconsin International, beginning in the year 1910, will be a feature.

Articles concerning the stock teams of the university, stories by well-known authorities in the field of agriculture and livestock, and recognized breeders of this state and the United States, as well as the regular contents of the magazine issue will make up the program.

TRACKMEN LEAVE FOR HAWK CAMP BENT ON VICTORY

Meet to Be Close; May Not Be Decided Until
Relay

By GEORGE DENNIS

Wisconsin' track squad, twenty strong, will leave for Iowa City at 9 o'clock this morning determined to treat Iowa in the same fashion that the Badger basketball team handled the Hawkeye cage quintet.

Coach Jones received two notices today which will decrease the strength of the squad. First, Lewis, half miler and member of the relay team, is ineligible for further competition. Second, Harry Hill, one of the best quarter milers on the team, may not be able to go with the team as he is chairman of the Little International and the exposition comes the same night as the Iowa meet. He is trying to solve the eternal problem of trying to be in two places at the same time. It was undecided at the latest report whether Hill would be able to get away or not.

McAndrews, McGiveran and Francis will face the crack Iowa sprint men and many Badger followers look for this trio to show their heels to the touted Hawkeye speedsters.

Cassidy Back

McGinnis, Turtar and either Jirtle or Roberts will match strides with Coulter, the Olympic star in the high hurdles. Flueck, Kennedy and Hilberts will also clash with Coulter in the 40. Vallye, Carter and possibly Hilberts will run the half mile while Bergstresser, Cassidy and Petaja will compete in the mile. Cassidy has been in the infirmary for a week and is not in the best of condition, however. Bergstresser will force Phelps, the Nurni of Iowa, to go at top speed all the way.

After Phelps has faced the Badger trio of milers he will have to buck up against Kubly, Piper and Petaja in the two mile. In try-outs this week the Wisconsin two milers have cut down their time to the two mile and it will be no surprise if they should outrun Phelps especially if he is hard pushed in the mile, which will be run first.

Tuhtar and McGinnis ought to have a clear field in the high jump as will Schwarze in the shot put. The rest of the field events will not be decided until after the events are over as each of the teams are relatively weak in those departments.

Relay Important

According to all pre-meet predictions the meet will be about even thus far leaving the deciding of who will be the winner depend on the winning of the relay. Iowa has a crack mile relay quartet with Captain Coulter an anchor man. With Lewis out and the chances none too bright for Hill going, the Badger relay team will be sadly weakened. Coach Jones will depend on Flueck, Kennedy, Hilberts and Smith, unless Hill can make the trip. As all of these men will have run one or two races before the relay the chances are not the best for a Badger victory.

The only salvation for Wisconsin in this situation lies in the ability of the Badger reserves to win enough second and third places to give Wisconsin a win. Iowa is deplorably weak in secondary material and if the Cardinal men can come through with the minor points this will overcome the advantage Iowa has in two or three Olympic men.

LEGATE SPEAKS SUNDAY ON FRIENDSHIP FUND

"The Student Friendship Fund, a Road to International Peace" will be the subject of Ray H. Legate, secretary of the national Student Friendship Fund, at an all-university meeting for both men and women, which is to be held Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Lathrop parlors. Mr. Legate has had much experience with student relief work in foreign countries and he will initiate the Student Friendship drive by portraying the conditions he has found abroad and by explaining the place of the American student in universal life.

Officers Elected at First Meeting of Frosh Castalia

A Freshman Castalia, women's literary society, was organized under the auspices of Junior Castalia at a meeting which took place on Wednesday in Lathrop hall.

The officers elected for a period of three weeks are Helen Sellery '23, chairman, and Winifred Siljan '28, vice-chairman. Regular meetings of the new group will be held Thursday evenings in Lathrop parlors.

A program will be presented at the next meeting on Thursday, February 26, when a piano solo will be given by Harriet Morgan '28, a review of "Topics of the Day" by Lois Gustafson '28, an account of a modern play by Winifred Siljan '28 and a short talk on a modern American poet by Katherine Ehrgott '28. The meeting is open to members of Freshman Castalia and their friends.

Madison Working Girls to Be Aided

By Y. W. C. A. Drive

Six Madison industrial girls will be chosen the first week in April to avail themselves of the Y. W. C. A. student industrial scholarships which are being provided by the city and university Y. W. C. A. for the benefit of working girls, desirous of attending summer school.

The all-university drive which is now under way to raise funds for this project has been organized under three squads of seven girls each, who will raise $15 apiece this week by personal solicitation, thus aggregating the $300, pledged by the university organization.

In the interest of the scholarship fund, and of bringing girls from many other cities, Alice Corl '25 is making a series of talks in Chicago, Grand Rapids, Beloit, Milwaukee and other cities.

Edith Fotheringham '26 is chairman of the drive.

Selene Gifford '27, captain; Leola Ames '26, Elise Roberts '28, Cornelia Groth '26, Dorothy Morse '27, and Roberta Donham '27; Genevieve Ellis '26, captain; Mary Eschweiler

BADGER PUCKSTERS PLAN TO MEET CARLETON REGARDLESS OF WEATHER

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock the varsity hockey squad plays the first of its games with the strong Carleton college sextet. In case that it is warm all day long the game will be postponed for one hour. In such a case signs will be placed in prominent places announcing the fact. However, in the words of the coach Kay Iverson, "The two games will be played if we have to play them in canoes."

The line up for tonight's game is as follows:

COACH JONES HAS PUBLISHED BOOK ON TRACK TRAINING

"Track and Field" Equals Famous Volume of Michael Murphy

"Track and Field," a new book of instruction on the training and technique of the different track and field events by T. E. Jones, track coach at Wisconsin, has just come off the press and is now in the hands of the Scribner Publishing company for circulation.

Coach Jones goes into detailed explanation of training schedules for events varying from the short dashes to the cross country run and steeple chase. All of the field events such as the pole vault, shot put, discus and broad jump are skillfully and scientifically explained by Coach Jones.

Such a book will be of great value to a young coach who has not yet mastered the art of developing track men. The numerous illustrations help to explain the principles of training laid down by Coach Jones.

"Track and Field" is the best book on this subject since the one written by Michael Murphy," according to Mead Burke, assistant track coach at Wisconsin.

SILVER CUP, BARNARD SCHOLARSHIP INCENTIVE

A new stimulus for attaining high scholastic standing has been offered to freshman women in Barnard hall. The freshman woman who has the highest average at the middle of the second semester, including the average of her first semester work, is to have her name engraved upon a silver cup, which is to be kept in the hall. The competition is between the freshmen residing in the dormitory and is to continue over a period of ten years. It is planned to make the award of this honor a Barnard tradition, and thus offer a really significant inducement to the seventy or more freshmen living in the dormitory.

'28, Barbara Bacon '27, Eleanor Ehler '26, Louise McNaught '26, Mary Snyder '26, and Jean Hillyer '26; Elizabeth George '27, captain; Jane Gaston '27, Alice Winston '27, Graces Gore '27, Mazie Butler '27, Ruth Heller '26, Virginia Sinclair '27, and Katherine Reid '26.

RICHMOND, Mich. — Harold "Red" Grange, Illinois football star, was reported somewhat improved today following his relapse from the mumps Tuesday night.

ORCHESTRA PREPARES FOR SPRING CONCERT

Preparation for the spring concert just before the Easter vacation is absorbing the time of the university orchestra, according to Prof. E. W. Morphy. The program is almost complete and will be announced in the near future.

The instrumentation is practically perfect at present, Prof. Morphy says. An extra flute and a few extra clarinets are being used this semester to give finer tone.

There's Spring Style in These Oxfords

Nunn Bush Oxfords are made for these college men of the most critical turn of mind. Once on your feet they become a most important part of your dress. The blunt toes and rugged style are in perfect harmony with the wide, deep cuffed trousers. Black, and the lighter shades of tan are most popular this season.

FROSH TRACKMEN MEET WOLVERINES IN WIRE CLASH

Badgers Best in Distance Runs, Captain Sappenfield Best
in Broad Jump

"Beat Michigan" is the cry of Captain Sappenfield and his frosh track team mates as they go into action today in a telegraphic meet against the Wolverine frosh at 4:00 o'clock in the annex while the varsity team is hurrying to Iowa City to down the doughty Hawks.

Starting with a freshman track meeting early in the week at which Coach Burke issued 20 frosh track uniforms and Captain Sappenfield put the old fight into the team with a real pep talk the Badger frosh tracksters have put in a strenuous week of training in order to come out victorious in their first important meet of the season. This is the first time this year that a Wisconsin freshman team has competed against the frosh of another Big Ten university and the 1923 track team is determined to do itself proud.

Chapman Good

The distance runs will be the strong forte of the Wisconsin freshman with Chapman, Ellison, Reeves, McKee and Klevay as the chief performers. Chapman should have little difficulty in winning this and any other mile that he will have occasion to run this year. So far this season the little fellow has been unbeatable and has come within a few seconds of the best Wisconsin indoor mark for the mile.

Ellison has not been out for practice this semester on account of hitting the books, but he will be out today and should place well in the two mile. Last summer he was a finalist in the Olympic distance run tryouts.

Reeves and McKee should place one and two in the half mile. In all the interclass meets so far these two frosh have had things all their own way and they are expected to take two of the three places in the meet this afternoon.

Squad Mediocre

Captain Sappenfield should have little difficulty in winning the broad jump as he has been clearing the 12 foot mark consistently in practice. The rest of the squad is only mediocre and it is uncertain how they will perform in the heat of battle.

Dr. Seaman Resigns Regent Job; Blaine Names Successor

The resignation of Dr. Gilbert E. Seaman of Milwaukee as regent at large of the university, and appointment in his place of Dr. Adolf Gunderson, La Crosse, was announced Wednesday by Governor Blaine.

In a letter to the governor, Dr. Seaman requested that he be relieved of his duties on the board of regents so that he might be able to devote himself to personal matters which demanded his attention. Although the period for which Dr. Seaman was appointed had expired, state laws provide for extension of the term until the appointment and qualification of the succeeding regent.

The new regent is head of the medical staff of La Crosse Lutheran hospital, and one of the leading physicians and surgeons of the state. Doctor Gunderson will continue the medical service which is necessary on the board of regents, Governor Blaine declared in making the appointment public.

Twenty-five tickets to the Purdue game to be played here Monday night will go on sale at 9 o'clock Saturday morning at the ticket office in the old clinic building, Paul F. Hunter, director of ticket sales, announces. These are tickets which are held for the basketball squad and which have not been taken.

CAGERS TO GO TO ILLINOIS FOR WIN

Meanwell Uncertain of Starting Lineup; Diebold and Barwig Only Certainties

Coach Meanwell sent his cage squad through a hard practice yesterday afternoon as the final preparation for the tilt with Illinois tomorrow night. The practice was consumed with playing of different formations and combinations. Many new men were tried on the offense and several new sets of forwards were given trials.

Bain, Brooks, Anderson, Miller, Barnum and Harget were all worked on the forward and center positions. A combination from these men is the one that will probably start the game against the conference-leading Illinois quintet. The men have the spirit and fight after their defeat of Iowa and the only problem is to find the best combination of forwards and center.

The guard positions are settled for the rest of the season. Merkel, Barwig and Captain Diebold are three of the best guards in the Big Ten. Barwig has at last found his shooting eye and it is hoped that he will keep dropping the long shots through the basket for the winning goals. Diebold must watch his fouling for he has been put out of two of the conference games this season because of his infringing of the foul rule.

The men who will make the trip have not been decided as yet, for there is a real fight for the positions on the team. The team will leave this afternoon for Champaign, accompanied by Coach W. E. Meanwell, Trainor Wood and Manager Gordod Walker.

Entering Women to Be Entertained By W. S. G. A. Saturday

All entering freshman women and second semester transfers will be formally welcomed to the university by W. S. G. A. tomorrow afternoon at a tea and dancing party in Lathrop parlors from 3:30 until 5:30 o'clock.

The new women who still feel strange or lonesome may be assigned to a junior advisor at this time, if they wish. The guests will also have an opportunity to become acquainted with the program of dancing and card parties, of the discussion groups, and of the welfare work that is being planned by Wisconsin women.

Alice Corl '25, president of W. S. G. A., and the members of the advisory committee will be hostesses. It is hoped that all new freshmen women and transfers will attend.

CANDIDATES TO SIGN FOR PYTHIA TRYOUTS

On Thursday and Friday afternoons, applications will be received for tryouts for Pythia Literary society at a table in Lathrop hall. All tryouts for the semester will take place Friday night after 7 o'clock in room 35 Music hall. Second semester freshmen women will be received into the society, directly becoming active members.

MERMEN OUT FOR REVENGE, CHICAGO WILL BE VICTIM

Dorf and Simpkins, Opposing Captains, Both Divers, to Stage Duel

Badger swimmers are out for revenge after their unusual defeat by Michigan last week and it is a determined bunch of splashers that Chicago will swim against tonight at the Midway.

For comparative scores and comparative times of the last meets of Chicago and Wisconsin it would seem that Wisconsin has much the stronger set of swimmers. In the recent Indiana meet Chicago won the relay in the slow time of 1:25. At least that is slow if one considers that the Badger relay team has been swimming the 160 yards consistently in less than one minute and 20 seconds.

The Maroons can boast of three outstanding men. The first is their captain, Dorf, whose event, just as the Badger captain, Simpkins, is fancy diving. But so can Wisconsin boast of Simpkins' ability, and "Shorty" Hall never fails to furnish stiff competition in a meet when it comes to diving.

Strong in Plunge

Chicago is strong in the plunge; in fact this event is the only one that they are quite likely to win from the Badgers. Atwood has been covering the tank in 25 seconds in recent conference meets, and although Cook of Wisconsin has equaled and even bettered this time in practice, he has never yet succeeded in even approaching it in competition.

Chicago's third and last dependable man is Noyes, who is the star stroker in the 40 and 100 yard swims. In the last meet Noyes won both of these races, the first in 194-5, and the second in 591-5. Herschberger should not have much trouble in taking these two events from Noyes, for although the latter's time is good for college work, it cannot compete with Herschberger's.

Team Picked

Coach Joe Steinauer has just sent in his entrees to the Maroon manager. If all goes well Hipple, Gilbreath, Flueck and Herschberger, the combination that broke the relay record last week, will swim the relay at Chicago.

In the 40-yard dash are the names of Herschberger, Radcliffe and Johnson, Simpkins, Hall and Wheatley will handle the dives, while Abendroth, Bardeen and Schmekebie are those listed for the 200-yard breast stroke.

The 220 men are Ed Hotchkiss and Flueck; Gilbreath, Radcliffe and Potter will take care of the back

CARDINAL ARRANGES SPECIAL WIRE FOR ATHLETIC EVENTS

Daily Cardinal readers will be provided with complete special wire service on Wisconsin week-end athletic contests to be held away from home.

Ken Butler, sports editor, will leave for Chicago Friday to cover the swimming meet at Bartlett gymnasium Midway. Saturday he will go to Champaign to witness the Wisconsin-Illinois basketball game and will send back complete reports of this contest.

George Dennis, of the sports staff, will journey to Iowa City to send back reports of the Wisconsin-Iowa dual track meet to be held Saturday. Wisconsin, after winning the quadrangular meet at Evanston, should show up well against the Hawkeyes. Dennis, who is the author of four series of articles running on the sport page this week on Iowa tracksters, is especially qualified to cover this meet, having spent several days at Iowa City watching the Iowa team two weeks ago. He also covers track regularly for the sport department.

William Rorison, captain of the rifle team, will send back a wire report Saturday on the results of the Wisconsin-Milwaukee rifle match.

OHIO PROF TO SPEAK IN AG HALL TOMORROW

"Success in Live Stock Breeding" will be the subject on which Carl W. Gay of the Ohio university, will speak at a general convocation open to the public at 11 o'clock tomorrow in the auditorium of Agricultural hall.

stroke. Cook, Bates and Potter are the plungers and the 100-yard men are Herschberger, Flueck and Holmes.

PHILO DEBATES LIQUOR QUESTION THIS EVENING

At the regular weekly meeting of Philomathia Literary society in room 220 Bascom hall, at 7:30 o'clock tonight, a debate will be held on the question: "Resolved, that the constitution of the United States should be amended so as to admit the manufacture and sale of light wines and beer not to exceed 4 per cent alcoholic content." Affirmative debaters on the question will be Earl Munson '27, Lawrence Joseph '27, and William Rahn '27, closer. The negative team will consist of William Lidicker '27, George Pulsford '27, and Robert McArthur '27, closer.

"AN ADVANCED HIGH SCHOOL"

The legislative board of affairs got it in the neck Wednesday, got it pretty hot and heavy. And students and faculty alike breathed easier with relief at the realization that something had been said definitely and emphatically about the state of the university.

If observation will not make the members of the state legislature realize that the university is as nearly bankrupt as such an institution can be without going under altogether, perhaps words and charts and illustrations and comparisons will.

At any rate, the proposition has been put fairly to the legislative body. Now it remains to be seen what the solons will do about the situation.

Is the university to close its doors? Or is the state to make it possible for the institution to continue its work of educating?

There may be those who love her, this university, but it is high time that they acted. For months the regents have been casting about to find a man who will succeed President Birge. They found one who offered high hopes to "those who love her", and he declared that he could not accept. Certainly it is not to be doubted that one of the reasons for his refusal was the recent cut in the appropriation for the university. Nor can any one of a sane mind blame him.

At that time the whole field was open to those who were to select the president. Now, however, the difficulty of the task has been doubled, for another state university is also searching for a president. Michigan, however, will be able to secure the best man in the field, will have the preference over Wisconsin with any candidate. And why? If for no other reason, simply because the university is so embarrassed as it is and because Michigan is in a position now which from a financial standpoint is extremely happy.

Wisconsin can not afford to have any but the best man available for the presidency. Wisconsin can not afford to lose any more men such as Graham Stewart, Karl Young, Michael Rostovtzeff and others all of whom conceivably might have remained here had higher salaries been offered them. Wisconsin can not afford to falter along further with entirely inadequate class room space.

What is to be the answer of the legislature? For it Wisconsin waits anxiously.

ATHLETICS FOR ALL

George Little, the new athletic director, suggested at the massmeeting Wednesday night that he was going to try to institute a system of athletics for all in this university, and said that physical education for everybody should come first before intra-mural and inter-collegiate athletics.

For years Wisconsin has been working on such a theory, but has failed to put the theory into practice. In fact, it has almost come to the point where the theory has been lost sight of.

Now it is to be revived and put into actual practice. Splendid! Physical education should be just as much a part of every student's life as mental education and moral education. For the body and mind are so close together in their separate functioning that the one can not be neglected for the other.

For years undergraduates have manufactured methods to keep out of physical training. It would seem that some of them would rather have a weak heart than take physical training.

The task of changing this attitude will not be an easy one. Physical training will have to be popularized just as education is in certain instances. But the task is a worthy one, and the Daily Cardinal is not only glad that Director Little will undertake it, but is confident that he will succeed.

We again announce that the person who is handling in editorials anonymously should make his identity known to the editorial department if he hopes to have his work published. The department is looking for more writers of his calibre and hopes he will be retiring no longer.

The only men who were not at the massmeeting Wednesday night were either sick or crippled or else waiting on those who were.

It seems almost phenomenal that a paper should be issued now without the word "Collins" included somewhere in its mass of printed matter.

The basketball team leaves for Illinois this afternoon. Power to it.

Wisconsin Should Know

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The following is the first of a series of articles which will appear in this space daily and which will deal with the needs of the university:

THE PURPOSE OF A UNIVERSITY

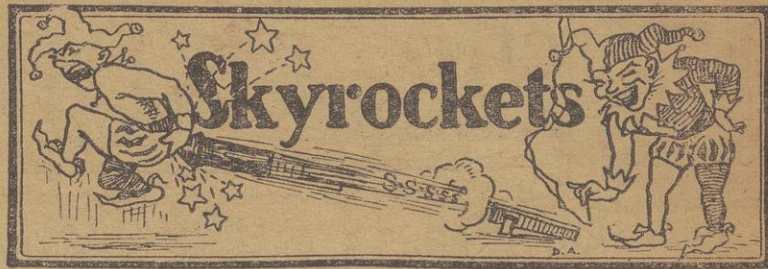

Why should one have to say to an alumnus of this university, or to a citizen of this state, what it is that the university is doing, and what the distinguishing elements of its service are?

Because, perhaps, the simplicity of the idea in which it is conceived and grounded may be lost in trying to view so vast an organism; because few of us are close enough to see it, being busy with our own concerns; because the real thing is often lost in a haze of side-issues. And so the organized alumni want first to remind themselves and alumni generally, and through them to bring the clear light of understanding about the university to all citizens of the state.

The answer is simple enough in itself. The people of Wisconsin hoped through the organization of a university to bring to bear on the lives of a part of its youth, and on the general problems of the state, a certain attitude of mind. It has been called the scientific attitude—using that word in its broadest sense of seeing things as they are and reacting to them intelligently. It means that our boys and girls are to be trained, not merely by the injection of information, but in a definite way of looking at their problems and the problems of their communities, and that an investment in a university is one in personal clear-thinking and in community-commonsense.

President Birge has well said that the university is concerned with the advancement of the entire community, and that the university is such a central agency for civilization as the church is for morals. He refers, perhaps, to the change in the temper of a small community in the state to which have returned 20 or 30 graduates of the university, and of their influence over a life-time on the thinking and the activity of that community. He refers also to the effect of university science on the methods of doing business in that community—upon its agriculture, upon the lives of those who cannot come to Madison to study, and who take extension courses at home.

The university is in effect a place set aside for the study of the state's problems; to it come the youth of the state in search of information and a method of thinking; to it, also, come the time-worn problems of agriculture and economics for the best solutions which the application to them of scientific thinking can give.

BY GEORGE

The Mass Meeting was a great success. First George talked, and then George talked, and by George they both were good. We sat there on the edges of the seats and clapped our hands and whistled and yelled until the whole thing was over, and then went home and told the Cake-Eaters what it was all about. They claim that there were about 3,000 of the Wisconsin men there, but we sat behind big Schwarze, and only counted 39. The spirit that we saw at this meeting was a great deal different than that which we saw at the Chicago game last fall.

Last evening at the Loraine, E. Mortimer Shuter, the famous director of Every One's a Lady Club, was paged by a bell-boy who wandered through the hall, shouting "Shuter! Mister Shuter," and the police force (yes, both cops) was rushed to the scene, thinking that some one was contemplating the murder of some sweet thing.

Judge: "Guilty or not guilty?"
Sambo: "It's up to you, Judge. Far be it from me to dictate to the Honor of the court."

The Sweet young thing
Sat in front.
Of her dressing table.
And deftly applied
A few wee drops.
Of that famous liquid.
Called perfume.
And when she had done.
She sweetly said.
"What a whale.
Of a difference.
Just a few scents.
Will make."

And speaking of cosmetics, have you noticed that the A. O. P.'s have not been seen in public since that carload of Cody's were wrecked on its trip here from Paris?

"WISCONSIN IS STARVING," say the headlines in the evening paper, "ON TO LAWRENCES," cries the mob, TRY AND GET IN," say Shorty's, "GIVE HER A BOX OF CANDY," screams the Chocolate Shop," and "BLESSED BE THEY THAT HUNGER AND THIRST," preaches the Good Book. We ask you, what shall we do?

IT'S GETTING PRETTY BAD WHEN A MAN CAN'T EVEN DROWN HIS SORROW FOR FEAR OF BEING HELD FOR MURDERING HIS REPUTATION.

We were cussing the expense of getting a liberal education the other day, and wishing that we had never subscribed to the Union, disloyal as this may sound, because it seems that we will never see it in use, and then some wise-cracking Bennie behind us piped up and said, "Ah, yes, but Rome was not built in a day."

And may we ask, Professor Gardner, if it aways pays to advertise, why don't you ever see something on the order of the following: "BURGLAR'S SCHOOL THE ART TAUGHT FROM THE BOTTOM UP!"

MODERNIZED SAYINGS:
"A BOOTLEGGER IN THE HOME IS WORTH TWO IN THE BUSH."

And after starting Periman's course in Labor Problems, we have decided that about the greatest problem of that kind that is facing us today is how to stay in school with the least amount of labor.

Wishing you all a happy Washington's birthday.

MEPHISTOPHILIS.

Reader's Say So

A VOTE FOR THE GYM

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:

Now that the military ball committees have had their say with the faculty and then staged a second round with the state legislators, it will be reasonably safe to express one's opinion on the capitol versus gym prom controversy.

In this old question that has been in existence since the World war, the faculty repeatedly said that such and such a prom was to be the last one in the capitol. But alas, the student body rose up in arms and won. So every prom since 1917 has been held in the state capitol, sometimes at the invitation of the legislature and sometimes in spite of what they wished.

But what of the policy for the future? It has been said that the student life and interest committee favor by big odds the removal of the junior promenade to the gym. They will take the first opportunity to move prom back to the gymnasium, it is said.

As the editorial writer for the Daily Cardinal pointed out the capitol has defects as a dance hall. So has the gym. But does the gym have all the bad qualities that have been so generously applied to it? Certainly not. The world went on and people attended prom in increasing numbers before 1917, when the event was removed to the state capitol.

In talking the matter over with students—that is the large group of students, not the social butterflies, one will find that the majority do favor the removal of prom, an attempt to make the affair more democratic and making the event for the upperclassmen as a group, not a combination of fraternity and sorority formals.

University Women Have Opportunity For Social Service

For the first time university women will have an opportunity for social service by tutoring crippled children at Bradley memorial hospital, according to Irene Lampert '26, who directs the Y. W. C. A. work at that hospital. Women who would like to tutor in elementary subjects or to help entertain the patients may register at the Y. W. C. A. office in Lathrop hall any time this week.

One afternoon a week will be necessary for each worker to give to tutoring or entertaining. Last semester 50 women helped to entertain the patients, of whom there are a hundred. The patients, cripples from all over the state, vary in age from very young to adult. Many of them are looking forward to a little instruction in grade school subjects such as reading. Clay-modeling will also be intro-duced. Clay-modeling will also be intro-duced.

Helen Denne, superintendent of nurses at Wisconsin general hos-pital, is helping the Y. W. C. A. plan the tutoring.

W. S. G. A. Functions This Week End For New Women Students

Washington decorations and features will be used at the regular W. S. G. A. dancing party at Lathrop parlors this evening. The party will be in charge of the Sophomore Commission.

Quadrills, old-fashioned square dances, and circle two steps will be led by some of the commission women. There will be a George Washington minuet and other specialties between dances.

The Teke orchestra will furnish the music. Virginia Sinclair '27 and Jane Gaston '27 are in charge of the entertainment.

Tomorrow afternoon, from 3:30 to 5:30 o'clock W. S. G. A., representing the women of the university, will welcome the new freshman women and those who transferred this semester at a tea.

Specialties, tea, and dancing will make the party informal, and every attempt will be made to acquaint the new people with one another and with the various activities and programs that have been outlined for women for the semester.

The advisory committee is endeavoring to reach all new entrants this week. The new women desiring junior advisors can have them assigned Saturday afternoon, and those who would like to have advisees are asked to sign up at the W. S. G. A. office sometime during the week.

All new women, whether the committee has been able to reach them or not, are urged to attend, for it is to be their party.

Gladys Norgord Engaged to Marry Milton Anderson

Announcement was made Sunday at the Alpha Xi Delta house of the engagement of Gladys Norgord '25 of Albany, N. Y., to Milton J. Anderson '20, of Duluth, Minnesota.

Miss Norgord is a member of Alpha Xi Delta. Mr. Anderson graduated from the University of Minnesota in 1920. He is a member of Alpha Rho Chi, architectural fraternity, and of Tau Beta Pi.

After his graduation from Minnesota Mr. Anderson was employed by the firm of J. R. and Ed Law in Madison. He is now with an architectural company in Duluth.

ANNOUNCEMENT TO OUR ADVERTISERS

It has been called to my attention by several advertisers that there is a misunderstanding as to the connection between the so-called Vogue Cardinal and the Annual Spring Fashion number of The Daily Cardinal.

I feel that it is only fair to all concerned to explain that "The Vogue Cardinal" is in no way connected with the Annual Spring Fashion number of the Daily Cardinal, either through circulation, advertising, financial backing or in an editorial way.

The Daily Cardinal Spring number will appear on Saturday, March 21st, and will contain a four-page Varsity Photo News Supplement and many spring fashion features. A street sale will be held in addition to the regular circulation and a guaranteed circulation of 5,000 will make this edition one of the most valuable mediums of the year.

May we not advise you about your hair?

The Nestle-Lanoil process of permanent waving is without question the fastest, safest and most satisfying method in existence. Developed by Mr. Nestle, the inventor of permanent waving, it enjoys a prestige, gained solely by the popularity of this process with the public, that is comparable to none.

Many people, unfamiliar with the Nestle-Lanoil process, still think that the application of a permanent wave is a terrifying experience. An outline of how a Nestle Lanoil wave is applied illustrates that it is no more uncomfortable than an ordinary marcel wave.

THE PROCESS

The hair is wound on curling rods after being moistened with "Lanoil," a solution derived from impregnated flannel strips. The flannels are wrapped around the curlers and the latter placed in heaters. The heat, not boiling, torturous heat, but a little more than warmth, is turned on for about SEVEN minutes only, and after three more minutes cooling, the beautiful curls are combed out, permanently waved.

This establishment offers you the best process there is — a GENUINE Nestle-Lanoil wave.

"Inez of Hollywood" Shows Back Stage of Western Movieland

"INEZ OF HOLLYWOOD"
Featuring Anna Q. Nilson
Presented at the Strand

In "Inez of Hollywood" we find Anna Q. Nilson playing one of her old vamp parts again. As the "worst woman" in Hollywood, her home forms the background for a number of the much talked of movie-world orgies. In spite of the seductiveness of her beauty, the daring of her gowns and the exotic surroundings in which she lives, the worthwhile purpose for which she is striving runs through her actions like a dividing line between good and bad.

Lewis Stone, as Stewart Cuyler, cultured Easterner, man of the world and a devotee of Inez, is the connecting link between Inez Laranetta of Hollywood and Inez Bartholdi of Tuckahoe, N. Y., where she is the loved and worshiped idol of a convent-raised sister. Mary Astor, as Fay Bartholdi, is extremely good, and gives promise of a good future.

Many will say, "the same old plot," but there is something different here, too. The brief glimpses of many sacrifices of companionship and reputation are ended when she is forced to witness the marriage of the only man she has ever respected, to her sister.

Movie Snapshots

Rod La Rocque will help open the week at the Parkway in "The Golden Bed," a picture that has a very good cast, composed of Lillian Rich, Vera Reynolds, Warner Baxter, Theodore Kosloff, Julia Faye and Henry B. Walthall. The plot concerns those individuals who work their way to success, and was written by Wallace Irwin. "The Man Who Came Back" is the name of the picture that will finish the week. In it George O'Brien and Dorothy Mackaill are supported by Cyril Chadwick, Ralph Lewis and Emily Fitzroy. The picture deals with the fall and rise of a man, and the part women play in it.

A great comedy, "Oh, Doctor," written by Harry Leon Wilson for the Saturday Evening Post, will start the week at the Madison. Reginald Denny and Mary Astor are the stars. Denny formerly starred

Mask and Wig

By CHATTY

The double standard of requirements for those students who are engaged in athletics and those who are engaged in other extra curricular activities was a sore subject with my predecessor of last year, Tormentor.

With the time for the Haresfoot production drawing near, this matter of a double standard has once more come up, and it rankles as deeply this year as it did last.

For it must be known that there are two entirely different standards in the university for athletics and for other activities. A student may compete in athletics so long as he has a weighted average of 77, no matter whether he be on probation or have less grade points than credits.

This most emphatically is not the case with students who are working in dramatics, such as Haresfoot, or even on the Daily Cardinal, the Badger and so forth and so forth.

Certainly something is radically wrong when such is the case. Either the standard for the one should be lowered or for the other raised. Which is it to be, and how is the change to be brought about?

The deans emphatically refuse to lower the standard for the one. It is an easier task, on the other hand, to lower than to raise.

Why is it, though, that students engaged in at least quasi-intellectual pursuits should be required to do better work on the hill in order to enter into these activities than those who are engaged in athletics?

What do you think about it all? Chatty would like to hear some comment. Haresfooters to the fore!

In the "Leather-Pusher" series, and this is his first big picture. Then Wesley "Freckles" Barry will again appear in Madison in his latest comedy, a rural one called "The Country Kid".

New Actress Shows Promise in Parkway Picture Offering

"I AM THE MAN"
Featuring Lionel Barrymore
Presented at The Parkway
By A. C. H.

If all the actors were as good as Lionel Barrymore and Flora Le Breton, we could conscientiously call this a good picture. As it is, a story with wonderful potentialities is spoiled by the poor acting of two of the main characters.

Lionel Barrymore is at his best in this picture. The story is not unusual but Barrymore as the leading man makes the picture worth seeing. The story is that of an unscrupulous political boss, who is very jealous of his wife, whom he won by political maneuvers. The brother plays the conventional role of villain. His tactics are not original and neither is his fate-death. Corrine Stratton, played by Flora Le Breton, is charged with the murder. Her acting is the best feature of the picture. The ending is more ideal from the ordinary motion picture standpoint than even we hoped. Once again, the wicked are punished and the reward goes to those who had been wronged.

It is a great shame that the acting of so great a character should be practically ruined by poor support. In this picture Barrymore does some of the finest acting he has ever done. He completely outshines those playing with him, with the exception of Flora Le Breton. She combines childlike naivete with the ability to act. We are sure that no one will be disappointed in her.

Comedy and Pathos Are Well Combined in "Locked Doors"

"LOCKED DOORS"
Featuring Theodore Roberts
Presented at the Madison

In "Locked Doors," the new William de Mille production now playing at the Madison theater, we find a stirring picture, arousing genuine human sympathy through the clever combination of the comedy and pathos of life.

By far the greatest asset of the play is Theodore Roberts, the kind-hearted old father who lives in himself and his pleasures, and cannot understand the unhappiness of his daughter, Mary, played by Betty Compson.

The play is built about the unhappy marriage of the girl who married a wealthy man to make her father happy. The situation becomes more complicated when she unwittingly falls in love with a man to whom her husband has played benefactor.

Burton Will Be Escorted To Final Resting Place, Sunday

Death Following Operation Removes One of the Youngest and Best Known University Heads

The death, Wednesday, of Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton, at the age of 51, president of the University of Michigan, removed one of the youngest and best known university presidents in this country. President Burton became a nationally known figure last June when he nominated President Coolidge for the presidency.

President Burton was a personal friend of President Coolidge, becoming acquainted with him in 1910 when he took over the presidency of Smith college, in Northampton, Mass. President Burton went to the University of Minnesota from Smith college in 1917 and thence from there to the presidency of the University of Michigan in 1920. President Burton first suffered from ill health last summer but at the beginning of school last fall he returned to his duties at Ann Arbor. He was stricken again last November and only a few days ago had a lung operation performed upon him from which it was first reported he was recovering.

Eight Seniors Chosen By Student Governing Body Will Act as Pallbearers For Former President

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Dr. Marion LeRoy Burton will be escorted to his final resting place in Forest Hills cemetery here Sunday by eight senior students chosen by the student governing body of the university of which he was president.

All social and athletic events have been cancelled. A number of notables from Washington, members of the Republican national committee, and Gov. Alex. Grosbeck will be among those who pay their final respects.

Arrangements for a successor to Dr. Burton will not be taken up until a meeting of the board of trustees sometime in the spring.

The students who will act as pallbearers are all members of the student council. They are George C. Dilman, Ann Arbor; William M. Grosse, Lakewood, O.; Charles Reineke, Milwaukee; Thomas Cavanaugh, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Charles Merriam, Grand Rapids; Eugene L. Dunne, Chicago; Robert Wilkins, Battle Creek, Mich., and Edward F. Fox, Chicago.

THIRD "GEORGE" TO APPEAR IN LIT

Former Student Contributes Story on Abraham Lincoln

This being a week in which "Georges" predominate, the attention of the university may be called to the fact that another "George" is contributing his share to the school activities and life.

George Philip Hambrecht did not speak at the massmeeting Wednesday night but he will wait until next Tuesday when he will contribute, through the Wisconsin Literary magazine, an article on Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Hambrecht, former student at the university, who later went to Chicago and Yale, is a man well known publicly. He was born in Wisconsin in 1871 and since the year 1899 he has occupied numerous public offices. He has served in the Wisconsin state legislature and has been chairman of the Wisconsin Industrial commission. At present, Mr. Hambrecht is the state director of vocational education through which office he tries to bring education to the young working people of Wisconsin.

His interests are not, however, restricted to the above services. He is the collector of "Lincolniana" and is the possessor of 2,000 volumes and pamphlets on Lincoln. He is called upon to make many addresses on Lincoln and it is now as a contributor of the "Lit" that he is to give his readers still more information on the Emancipator.

COMMERCE MAG CARRIES INTERESTING ARTICLES

The Commerce Magazine which is on sale today contains an excellent article by C. F. A. Craft of the Ohio Injector company of Illinois. It is called the "Spirit of Play in Modern Business," and it traces various forms of amusement from the earliest times to the present day. Another article, "Real Estate as a Profession" by Henry Dorau, outlines land economics as a means of livelihood and shows how theories of real estate are put in practice. Professor C. L. Jamison discusses the placeman service that is used by the school of commerce.

DELAY INSTALLING NEW PIPE ORGAN

Instrument For Music Hall Will Be Put in During Summer Vacation

The new pipe organ ordered for Music hall concert room before the holidays will be installed as soon as the summer session is over, according to a statement of Dr. C. H. Mills, director of the School of Music. This delay is planned to test the roof of the auditorium for leaks which might harm the instrument. Alterations, necessitated by the building of the organ, have been completed.

The School of Music convocation held last Tuesday was the first time this room has been used since it has been torn up for repairs.

The design of the organ was planned by Dr. Mills himself. It is one of the many that he has designed simply because of his interest in the construction of them.

The contract thus designed was submitted to various firms, four of which sent bids for the contract to the board of regents. The Wangerin Organ company, Milwaukee, a firm which specializes in art pipe organs, was awarded the contract.

SCHOOL BAND PLAYS METCALF COMPOSITIONS

Compositions written by Leon Metcalf, junior in the School of Music, were played by the Madison Central high school band in the school assembly. The program was personally directed by Mr. Metcalf. He started composing while a high school student. During the past summer he was engaged by a Cincinnati music house to write a series of band compositions, which have become popular with junior and amateur bands throughout the country.

Senator Harrison to Be Entertained By Law Fraternity

Senator Pat Harrison will be entertained at a dinner by Gamma Eta Gamma, professional law fraternity, the evening of February 24, when he is scheduled to give a talk here on "Political Problems of the Day."

Senator Harrison of Mississippi is the man who gave the keynote speech at the democratic nominating convention in New York last summer. He will speak in the men's gymnasium. Senator Harrison is one of the acknowledged leaders of the Democratic party and greatly influenced the choice of a democratic candidate for president. His talk will be of particular interest to students of political science and history.

Tickets for the talk are selling for 50 cents and may be purchased at Bascom Hall or at Hook Brothers' Music store.
