The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

30th Sonnet of Shakespeare

L.N.
154

when to the sessions of sweet silent thought I summon up remembrance of things past I sigh the lack of many a thing I sought And with old woes new wail my dear times' waste Then can I drown an eye unus'd to flow for pre-cious friends hid in death's dateless night

And weep afresh love's long since cancelled woe And moan the expense of many vanished right Then can I guess at grievances for-gone and #leav-

i-ly fronts your woe tell o'er the sad account f fore-be-moaned moan which I now try as if not fail be-fore But if the while I think on thee dear friend all losses are restored and sorrows end.
