DRAMATIC CONTEST SATURDAY NIGHT, Box office open Friday at 2 p. m.

SENIOR PLAY JUNE 18

PREPARATIONS FOR PERFORMANCE RAPIDLY PROGRESSING.

Special Scenery From Milwaukee—Plot of "The Professor's Love Story"—The Complete Cast.

Preparations for the senior play are going rapidly forward. The special scenery for the second and third acts has been prepared and is now in use in the rehearsals. Reuter of Milwaukee will have charge of the wigs and make-ups. Mr. Edward S. Willard by whose permission the play is being presented has sent his private manuscript for the use of the cast.

"The Professor's Love Story," is by the well-known writer of Scotch novels, Mr. James M. Barrie, and he has succeeded in infusing into his plays the same quaint humor and simple pathos that have endeared the people of "Auld Licht Idylls" to such a world of readers. The first act of the play is laid in Professor Goodwillie's house in London. The professor is a successful scientist grown prematurely old in the pursuit of his work. He suddenly loses interest in his work and betwixt the worries of his family and the machinations of the Dowager Lady Gilding who is scheming to marry him he has a hard time. Dr. Cosens finally discovers that he is in reality in love with his private secretary, Miss White, and breaks the news to him. The professor refuses to believe it but decides to take flight to Tullochmains in Scotland, taking the secretary with him.

The second act is laid in the wheat-fields at Tullochmains. The Professor has become rejuvenated. His sister Agnes attempts to drive Lucy White away and the Dowager lays a plan to entrap him. Lucy White driven to desperation appropriates the Dowager's plan and in a sham faint is carried to the river by the Professor who now discovers that he loves her.

The third act takes place outside the Professor's cottage. The secretary, ashamed of her subterfuge refuses the Professor and plans to leave him. At this juncture his sister finds an old letter from a lover of by-gone days who she thought had been false to her and she relents, induces the secretary to come back and all ends happily. Throughout the story of the play is woven the complicated struggle of Pete and Henders for the hand of Effie, and the attempts of Sir George and Lady Gilding to second the Dowager's plans. The situations abound in genuine humor and in the graver parts with affecting pathos.

The cast as it will appear in the play Tuesday evening, June 18, will be as follows:

Professor Goodwillie, an electrician—Edw. D. Jenner.

Lucy White, his secretary—Elsie Ives.

Agnes Goodwillie, his sister—Katherine Kavanaugh.

Dr. Cosens, his physician—Arthur F. Beule.

Sir George Gilding, M. P.—Robert B. Holt.

Lady Gilding, his wife—Leta Sherman.

Dowager Lady Gilding, his step-mother, aged 25.—May Genevieve Foley.

Effie Proctor, the Professor's house-keeper—Clara L. Stillman.

Henders, a Scotch farmer—Harvey O. Sargeant.

Pete, a Scotch farmer—W. P. Vroman.
Dr. Yellowlees, a country doctor—John W. McMillan.
Dawson, a footman—Robert E. Knoff.

Municipality for June.

The June number of the Municipality was issued to-day under the new business management, Herbert F. John, Solomon Huebner and Geo. Lohr. The leading article is from the pen of Professor Jastrow on the Possibilities of Municipal Art. John C. Spencer of the Janesville fire department contributes an article on Paid Fire Departments in Wisconsin Cities. The usual departments are covered in a manner to make the June issue of value to all interested in municipal affairs.

RACE TOMORROW

FRESHMEN WILL MEET ST. JOHN'S CREW ON MONONA.

Contest Comes off at 4 p. m.—From the Catfish to the Angle-worm Station.

The St. John's contingent of twelve men will arrive at seven forty-five this evening and will go directly to the Van Etta House where they have made arrangements to remain during their stay in the city.

The race will come off tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock on Lake Monona. The start will be below the Catfish, finishing in the vicinity of Angle-worm station. The navy department here have assumed the responsibility of defraying the visitors' expenses and necessarily will wish a large crowd to witness the race. They have chartered one of Askew's fastest boats to follow the race in order to raise money by selling tickets to those who wish to follow the course. Shore tickets will also be sold.

The visiting crew have all hopes in winning the race. Coach McConville, who coached the Varsity crew when they made their first fine showing in the East, has worked hard with his men and has succeeded in making the Delafield crew stronger than those of previous years. This year the crew is working under more favorable circumstances. They have a new shell made by Davy of Cambridge and have got in considerable practice this spring.

Following is the order in which the St. John's crew will row:

Position.	Name.	Age.	Height.	Weight.
1	Berg	19	5.6½	145
2	Espy	18	5.9½	145
3	Schumaker	17	5.8	145
4	Woodbead	19	6.0	146
5	Krape	19	5.10	157
6	Rathje	17	5.10½	162
7	Wood	18	5.10½	151
Stroke	Seaborne	20	5.9	143
Cox	Kunz	110
Average weight, 149.

Philomathia Wins Banner.

Philomathia defeated Hesperia yesterday in the final game of the literary society series by a score of 17 to 14, winning the championship banner.

—The Wisconsin Cardinal Association will tender a banquet to the members of the editorial and reportorial staff next Tuesday evening at the Unitarian church parlors.

Some of the best dramatic talent will appear at Saturday night's dramatic contest.

ENCOURAGING YEAR

VARSITY ATHLETES HAVE MADE GOOD RECORD

Prospects of Strong Football and Track Teams for Next Year are Bright.

In many respects the season of 1900-01 has been an encouraging year in Wisconsin athletics. That we have not won championships is true; but the significant fact is that an unusual amount of healthy spirit has been shown by the students in standing by the teams though victory and defeat. The continuation of this feeling for a year or so more means, with our resources, teams that will win championships.

Last fall's football was a credit to the team and the students in showing that the men after losing a hard game and the pennant, could go on and play out the season with the snap and success they did. If the position of quarter-back can be successfully filled, with eight veterans back, the chances are that the team will be fully as strong as last year's.

The home season of the ball team was surprisingly successful, but the fatal trip has marred the best chances. It was almost unexpected that the team would hold the pace as creditably as they did, and the work all around has been far above former standards. The interest taken in society and fraternity baseball shows the wisdom of the plan, for this interest must result in a better Varsity team, either indirectly through general spirit or directly in the development of playing ability.

The rowing season can practically be said only to have begun. The crews are being slowly sifted down to the best men, and anyone who has seen the work knows that not an hour has been lost or pain spared to send crews East that will add to our already strong and creditable reputation among eastern people and Universities.

It is not Wisconsin spirit to talk hard luck over defeats, but it seems that the loss of the Conference Track Meet, even while a victory was perhaps not originally hoped for, was unfortunate. It is particularly hard that the veteran Bredsteen who had every prospect of running his last race to an intercollegiate record and Wisconsin victory, should have had to exhaust himself vainly in the gamiest race he ever ran, in trying to overcome the effects of a two-months' illness. The loss of Schule will be a hard blow to the team, but some new men, especially Brietkruetz and Daniels, will strengthen materially the middle distances.

It is safe to say that in all branches of University athletics the appeal to student support has been successful. Even in tennis, a game that while of surpassing interest to the players is not as generally noticed as other lines of athletic work, has been followed with increased interest. The formation of two crews from the girls shows a progressive spirit and the training cannot but be valuable. Another fact that is a credit to the students is that both the track and ball teams have, outside of the professional coaches, this year paid their own expenses. The managers and coaches are satisfied both with the students and with the willingness of the men to work hard and faithfully.

Wisconsin Audubon Society.

By a change recently made in the organization of the Wisconsin Audubon Society, the Madison branch has become the central branch for the state and has assumed control of the publication of By the Wayside which is made the official organ of the state society. At the annual meeting, Dr. William S. Marshall was elected president, Dr. H. W. Hillyer second vice president, Mrs. R. G. Thwaites secretary and treasurer, and Mrs. G. W. Peckham secretary and treasurer of the children's department. Mrs. Peckham will have charge of the school branch department of By the Wayside, and Charles E. Allen and Arthur F. Beule were appointed editors of the paper.—By the Wayside.

CONTESTANTS READY

FOR DRAMATIC CONTEST NEXT SATURDAY NIGHT.

Fine Talent will Present "Hector," "That Rascal Pat" and "To Oblige Benson."

The final plans for the annual dramatic contest to be held in the Fuller Opera house next Saturday evening are now complete. Photographs of scenes in the different farces will be on exhibition at the Co-op and down town to-morrow.

"Hector" is a one-act farce by Maurice Hageman. Although at one time extremely popular, it has of late years been almost unknown. Although its cast contains more people than is customary in short comedies, the action is so lively, and the fun so genuine that interest in it never lags.

Frederick Long, a merchant, and his wife, Louise, have both taken a fancy to a pug dog named Hector; but each fearing the disapproval of the other hesitates to buy it. At last each sends out a commission for its purchase unbeknown to the other. While they are absent, Oscar Spencer, a love-sick student, comes to the house to see Louise whom he thinks is Long's daughter. He is admitted by Fanny, the maid, and during his rhapsodies he calls himself Hector. Fanny immediately thinks this is the Hector her mistress is expecting and locks him up in her lady's room, after first giving him a couple of switches, calling them locks of her mistress' hair. Meanwhile Dr. Brown has purchased Hector at an exorbitant price for Mrs. Long and the dog is delivered. Mr. Long returns and is given to understand by August, the servant, that he has purchased the dog. Louise enters and worried about the price, tries to confess her indiscretion and gives him the key to her room not knowing that Oscar is locked in there. The situation now is most comical. Both husband and wife think they have bought the dog and try to keep it from the other. The discovery of Oscar in Louise's room only complicates matters and it is only after mutual explanations that the affair is finally cleared up and the dog resold.

Rain Prevents Game.

Rain prevented the baseball game between Wisconsin and Northwestern yesterday and the contest has been declared off. One more game remains on the Varsity schedule that with Chicago at Chicago on June 14.

Three casts will compete for cash prizes at the dramatic contest.

Cardinal Ass'n., Madison, Wis.

Tell the Truth.

The exposure printed in yesterday's Cardinal of the Milwaukee Sentinel correspondent's misrepresentations in regard to the student frolic of Tuesday evening, apparently caused that individual much uneasiness for he reiterates his falsehoods in this morning's issue of the paper he is supposed to represent. Chief Baker, of the local police department, when interviewed by a Cardinal editor today, branded the statement attributed to him in this morning's Sentinel as absolutely false, and said he looked upon Tuesday night's affair merely as one of the outbursts of student enthusiasm which are inevitable at this time of the year when the boys are nearing the end of a year of hard study.

The local Sentinel correspondent, who wrote these false reports is one W. D. Schoenfeld. If he continues to wholly disregard truth and accuracy and indulge in misrepresentation and bogus interviews as freely as he has in his University "copy" this year, he will establish a reputation not only as a thoroughly unreliable journalist, but as a man greatly lacking in the sterling qualities which should characterize a gentleman.

A Good Bye.

With this issue the Cardinal practically bids farewell to its readers until the next school year. It discontinues its work with the most earnest and genuine hope that during the past year it has with all satisfaction done its duty and filled its place in the college world. The effort of the staff has been to give the University a real newspaper filled with news and color and not merely a dry chronological record to support student enterprises that merited support; to reflect intelligently and to attempt to influence healthily as possible student sentiment; and in general to be a journal of University activity, which means the journal of a miniature world. Mistakes and limitations are bound to occur when such an enterprise is maintained by the independent efforts of students and in spite of the drawbacks which continually beset them. And if sometimes a poorly constructed sentence appears in its columns, the Cardinal hopes that it is credited to the freshman reporter writing his "story" between classes and not to innate viciousness. If the paper has kept up to the high standard set by previous boards of editors, and if it has succeeded in being considered a real, live element and influence in the college life then the ambitions of the present staff have been realized. With these few words the Cardinal once more bids God-speed to those of its readers who are not to return and wishes continued success to those who do.

Last Cardinal Next Thursday.

With to-days issue the Daily Cardinal will suspend publication until Thursday of examination week. The issue of that day will be the last for this year.

LECTURES POSTPONED.

Rabbi Hirsch and Others of Prominence Next Fall.

The course of lectures which was to have been given this year under the auspices of the Hebrew Lectureship and Scholarship society in connection with the department of Hebrew and Hellenistic Greek has been postponed but will be given next fall.

Dr. Emil G. Hirsch of Chicago was to have been the first lecturer, but he was so busy that the first available date he could give was June 10th, so it was thought best to let the matter go over till next fall.

Dr. Hirsch is the most prominent man of his race in America. He holds the position of Rabbi of Temple Sanai of Chicago, and is considered the most brilliant man of his race in America.

The other two lecturers are Dr. Leon Harrison of St. Louis and Dr. Julius H. Meyer, who is one of the most promising of the younger men of his race.

The $250 scholarship of the Hebrew Lectureship and Scholarship society, which has been held for the past three years by Mr. Louis Wolfenson, '01, will be made a graduate Scholarship next year. The man to hold it has not yet been decided upon.

The Biblical Alliance will also give a series of lectures here the next year. The most prominent of the lecturers will be Mr. L. W. Batten of New York, and the society will make every effort to make the course of lectures as interesting as possible.

With the exercises just closing the Military drills of the college year 1900-1901 ends. The work performed this year in the armory and on the parade compares favorably with that of any previous year and in some respects may be said to excel it. The Commandant takes this opportunity to thank the officers of the field and staff for the conscientious and efficient manner in which they have generally performed their duties, and the company officers for the work which culminated in the excellent drill exhibited on the occasion of the annual contest for honors. He congratulated himself upon the pleasant official relations which have existed between himself and all members of the regiment, officers, non-commissioned officers and privates, and hopes that those to whom the future reputation of the regiment may be entrusted will do as well as the rank and file of 1900-1901.

Tennis Championship.

This afternoon at the tennis courts the championship in singles will be decided. The Varsity tennis team for the season will then be completed.

Manager Taylor has received word from Beloit that they will not be able to send a team for the arranged meet. This cancels the Beloit contest for this season. Chicago is anxious to play a dual meet with the Varsity team, one this year at Madison and one next season at Chicago, but owing to the lateness of the year the management does not think the meet can be brought off. Helmholtz leaves the city Saturday and without him the team would be seriously crippled.

Another New Fraternity.

Good authority states that there is another fraternity which will come out next year, the name of which is not known. A prominent member of the faculty in the mathematical department is back of the movement. The matter is not to be made public until next year but the organization is already well under way. The fraternity expects to receive a charter from one of the national fraternities in a comparatively short time.

A Fully Equipped Livery.

Among the liveries of Madison there is none which has a more modern or splendid equipment than that of Loehrer and Anderson.

They have always at the services of the students fashionable turnouts of every description; traps, stanhopes, (single and double) carriages, phaetons, etc.

Among their nearly twenty horses are found four of the best matched and stylish driving teams in the city.

The proprietors of this business have been engaged in it for a long period and have gained a well deserved patronage among both students and townspeople. Every improvement in the livery business has been taken advantage of and at the present time nearly, if not every vehicle in the barn is rubber-tired.

The rapidly increasing business which this firm enjoys will soon necessitate new and more commodious quarters than those now occupied and steps have already been taken to build a fine barn within the next two years.

Madison with its magnificent drives and streets requires that the turnouts which traverse them should, in order to be in keeping with the natural beauty of the city, be the best which money and artistic ability can produce. This requirement Loehrer and Anderson have endeavored with excellent results to fulfill.
