Alpha Gamma Rho Fraternity Scholarship Winner; Sororities Led by Beta Sigma Omicron

All Student Average of University Falls From 1.415 to 1.313

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity and Beta Sigma Omicron sorority are the two ranking Greek houses in scholarship, according to the report of scholarship averages issued by Dean Scott H. Goodnight yesterday.

The all-student average for the semester has fallen to 1.313 as compared to 1.415, the all-student average for the preceding semester.

Organized Men Higher

The unusual fact revealed by the report is that the fraternity men with an average of 1.164 have a higher rating than the non-fraternity men whose average is 1.153, and the non-sorority women with an average of 1.515 lead the sorority women whose average is 1.431. Both of these positions are the opposite of the usual order.

The average for all men for the semester is 1.159 compared to 1.309 for the preceding semester, and the average for all women is 1.467 compared to 1.591 for last semester.

Alpha Gamma Rho Leads

Alpha Gamma Rho leads the fraternities with an average of 1.713. Alpha Kappa Lambda is second with an average of 1.651, and Beta Phi Theta third with 1.602.

Beta Sigma Omicron sorority has an average of 1.967; Delta Gamma is second with an average of 1.898, and Beta Phi Alpha third with 1.883.

Barnard Leads

Barnard hall leads the dormitories with 1.603. Chadbourne is second with 1.506, the Y. M. C. A. is third with 1.230, Tripp hall fourth with 1.163, and Adams hall fifth with 1.064.

FOREIGN STUDENTS CONVENE MARCH 30

Prof. Meiklejohn Selected as Toastmaster at Fourth Internationale

The Fourth Internationale will convene in Madison at the Club room of the Park hotel on Wednesday evening, March 30, at 6 o'clock, for its first annual banquet, according to an announcement just made public by an executive committee composed of representative students of the university.

After a searching consideration, Prof. Alexander Meiklejohn was selected by the committee to serve as toastmaster and as the discussion referee for the evening. The affair promises to be one of the most significant occasions in the academic life of American and foreign students now enrolled in the university.

The university registers another progressive score among American college circles when this banquet is sponsored, for it is intended that this affair be marked by an intelligent and critical analysis and evaluation of present day problems by students gathered from all over the world.

This banquet is planned to be different from usual affairs of its kind inasmuch as the motivating purpose of the group of men who are heading this intellectual quest for truth will be to help find positive ways towards further development of understanding and amity among all peoples.

All foreign men students and the most representative men students at the University of Wisconsin have been invited to participate in this adventure in international friendship and cooperation.

Day By Day With The News

By C. O. S.

The international settlement at Shanghai is crowded with refugees fearing attack by Cantonese soldiers. Ten Chinese were killed and two British soldiers wounded in recent clashes.

Airon Sapiro charges Henry Ford with libel seeking to collect the neat little sum of 1,000,000, but William J. Cameron, editor of the Independent, asserts that Ford is not responsible for the editorial policy of the magazine.

A special meeting of the League of Nations council will not be called to consider the Italian-Jugo-Slavia diplomatic rupture unless new developments occur.

Arms Shipments to Mexico

Out of the maze of secret diplomacy carried on with Mexico during the past few weeks came the announcement yesterday that the anti-smuggling treaty will not be renewed. This action means that the United States is no longer required to furnish Mexico with a list of merchandise crossing the border. Private arms shipments may now be made into Mexico for use in revolutionary activities without the knowledge of the Mexican government.

If this new policy is an act of retaliation to force Mexico into yielding in respect to the oil and land laws, the state department must prepare for another barrage of criticism.

On Debt Revision

Secretary Mellon has answered the suggestion made by the faculty of Columbia university, and, more recently, by that of Princeton that the United States consider a revision of the terms upon which European war debts were refunded by the American Debt Refunding commission. In a letter to President Hibben of Princeton university, Sec. Mellon gives the following reasons why the administration will not consider such revision:

1. The Debt Refunding commission has already accorded lenient treatment to the nations concerned. It has considered capacity to pay.

2. Reopening negotiations would produce discord and confusion instead of contributing to economic stability and orderly betterment of world prosperity.

3. The faculties have decided upon this question without making a thorough and first-hand investigation of data available at the treasury and without seeking by personal interview to ascertain the views of American officials who negotiated the settlements.

All of which amounts to nothing, in our frank estimation. Again the government official sneers at the student of international affairs.

The Coming Presidential Campaign

Rumbling echoes of the 1928 presidential campaign are heard. By the 4th of November, next year, political orators will have jeered, scoffed, sneered, disparaged, accused, abused, vituperated, lampooned, chided, maligned, challenged, expostulated, reproached, derided, reviled, and castigated until the voters will wonder what it's all about. Hark! Hark! the candidate doth sing,

And slander doth arise,
His shafts to poison at the springs
Of shady political lies;
And many citizens begin

To ope their hoodwinked eyes:
When everyone enlightened is,
Arise dark horse, Arise!
Arise! arise!

ZENDT, SOCIOLOGY STUDENT, ATTACKS PRIEST'S SERMON

Former Yale Student Says
Father Hengell's Doctrine is Absurd, Impossible

By GENARO A. FLOREZ

The Rev. H. C. Hengell is preaching a highly idealistic doctrine, but in doing so he is sidestepping and purposely ignoring the place of birth control in our present society, according to Oliver Zendt, graduate student of Sociology.

Mr. Zendt, who also studied at Manchester college and Yale university, held a few newspaper clippings in his hand. excerpts of Father Hengell's late sermon.

Unnecessary to Refute Hengell
"A birth control lecture said to be more harmful than the importation of 100 harlots! Tommy rot. Nothing but tommy rot! Can I refute it? What's the use. Any person endowed with four of his five senses will see that the remark is heavily permeated with unwarranted nonsense.

"The Rev. Hengell warns students from attending any of the lectures by making bold statements that only his side is right. If so, why prohibit them from hearing the other? Is he afraid of having them face the truth, least they wander away from his pews?

Views of Hengell, Gibbons, Same

"The doctrine which Father Hengell is preaching, is the same as that which Cardinal Gibbons advocated. They both say that a large family is a blessing, and that to defeat nature in marriage is as criminal as to commit murder. They consider no excuse in the refusal of a mother to bearing children. They maintain that neither financial nor economic difficulties have a place in regulating the size of a family. They say that sexual life must exist only when the desired goal is reproduction. Then they appeal to nature for defense.

"Father Hengell declares himself in favor of having large families," said the sociology student as he delved into a stack of documents. "Look at Italy! Mussolini recognizes the danger of overpopulation yet is entirely opposed to birth control measures. He says, 'The Italians are very prolific. I am very glad of that. I will not conduct Malthusian propaganda. Our births exceed our deaths by 440,000 annually. Markets are closed to us as the country grows. To avoid recourse to voluntary sterility make war—or seek outlets for the overpopulation'."

Zendt smiled, as he finished this and added, "Yes, Father Hengell. War and the teachings of the church—or birth control and happiness.

States Advantages of Birth Control

"Let us see what birth control would do for our society," he continued, "Birth control would eliminate a great deal of poverty. It would eliminate drinking, in as much as drinking lies in poverty, in the desire to forget the hardships (Continued on Page Two)

Faculty Recital Charms Audience

Burleigh-Iltis Prove Ability as Violinist and Soloist in Music Hall Program

An audience that crowded Music hall to capacity last night sat for an hour and a half charmed and entranced by the masterly playing of Prof. Cecil Burleigh, violinist-composer, and Prof. Leon Iltis, pianist, of the School of Music, at the sixth of a series of faculty recitals.

Prof. Burleigh appeared both as violinist and as composer, his well-known "Sonata in G Minor" opening the program, and his "Two Sketches from the Orient" and "Indian Summer" being played as piano solos by Prof. Iltis.

Each musician in turn proved his distinction as a soloist; together they met the highest standards of ensemble playing. The dramatic G Minor sonata, depicting the turbulent life of St. Paul, was perhaps the finest piece of the evening, but Prof. Iltis' splendid interpretation of the Chopin Fantasia was accorded the most vigorous applause of the entire program.

Athletic Review Devoted to High School Tournament

The Athletic Review again makes its appearance in the university armory today. The present issue is devoted to the 12th Annual High School Basketball tournament which starts today and continues through Saturday.

The 32 page magazine contains welcomes by President Frank and Athletic Director George Little to the 16 visiting basketball teams who were winners of their respective district tournaments. An article on the varsity basketball team by Dan Albrecht '28, is the feature story of the issue.

Cuts and write ups of the visiting quintets, tournament schedules leading to championships, consolation, and third place winners and a story by Edward Jenison '29, on the Stevens Point team, victors of the tournament last year, are included.

OGG ATTENDS MEETING OF RESEARCH COUNCIL

He will spend a day with the committee hearing and considering reports of scholars working on the subject.

"INTERNATIONAL CIVICS," NEW TEXT BY PROF. POTTER, TO APPEAR SOON

Professor Pitman B. Potter, of the department of political science, in collaboration with R. B. West, state superintendent of schools in New Jersey, is the author of "International Civics," an illustrated book soon to be published by the MacMillan company. Special emphasis has been placed on problems of peace and the American foreign policy.

"International Civics" has been written by Prof. Potter for high schools with the idea of expounding the foundations of international relations.

"Courses in the field of international relations have been introduced in a few places, and the tide is turning toward the study of this subject in secondary schools," Prof. Potter observed.

The foundation of this field of which the book treats are international geography, trade, travel, treaty-making, arbitration, administrative bureaus and conferences. Three chapters are devoted to the League of Nations and the World Court.

Prof. Potter is also the author of "Introduction to the Study of International Organization" published in 1922. This book is the most widely used text on the subject of international government in colleges today. His book "The History of the Seas in History, Law and Politics," was published in 1924. Prof. Potter has also written several articles recently on the American foreign policy.

He is a member of the American Society of International Law, a member of its executive council, and belongs to the American Political Science association.

Mercuric Fumes Get Out of Control of Members Ad- ministering Rites

Seven fraternity men, members of Phi Sigma Kappa 260 Langdon st. lie in bed at the university infirmary as a result of inhaling poisonous mercuric fumes at an initiation ceremony Sunday. Several members of the active chapter were administering the rites to one pledge in a room, and it seems that the fumes of the mercury got out of control.

The following men, active members were taken to the infirmary Sunday evening:

Arthur Grubb '28, Harold C. Larson '28, Oscar H. Winner '28, Robert R. Kjellgren '29, John G. Denninger '27, Francis H. Huff '30, and Charles F. Andrews L1. Andrews has been a star forward on the Wisconsin basketball team for the past two years.

Secrecy Maintained

Typical Greek secrecy shrouds the exact details of this accident which caused such a general migration from the Phi Sigma Kappa house to the infirmary. The news came as a surprise, as it was generally understood that fraternity initiations, because of faculty and grand chapter suggestions, would be tamer than usual. Initiations are being held in many of the fraternity houses this week, and it is reported that they lack their usual physical rigors.

The men are not in a serious condition. Located in two wards on the first floor in the west wing of the infirmary, they are making the best of their plight by singing school songs, telling stories, and doing clerical work for the infirmary officials.

Men Faring Well

The latter detail rests rather heavily upon their soul. They would prefer to play ball. Every hour the nurse brings them a drink of orange ade, for it is said that orange ade is good for mercuric poisoning.

Dr. Frank L. Watson, attending physician, said yesterday that "the men were getting along nicely." He could not tell definitely, however, when they would be released, but he was sure that it would not be immediately.

MILITARY BALL TICKETS READY

Students Buying Tickets Will be Asked for Name and Affiliation

Tickets for the fifteenth annual Military Ball, will be ready for distribution at the Athletic office today. This announcement was received from Charles Higleyman '27 recruiting officer.

"Students who purchase tickets will be asked for their names and group affiliations. This is necessary in order to advise the students which entrance they are to take. Tickets will sell at $3.50. Individuals not connected with organized groups will be charged an additional fee of 50 cents which will provide for the cost of the box they occupy," said Higleyman.

Fraternities and other organized groups who wish to make reservations for boxes, are advised to see Richard Ela '23, Billeting officer. Many fraternities have already made applications, but the number of boxes available has by no means been filled. Boxes are being let by preferred assignment of 15 couples to a box. The charge is $15.

"MEET THE PRINCE" PLEASES LEADERS

Haresfoot Directors Are Satisfied by First Complete Rehearsal of Play

The first complete rehearsal of "Meet The Prince" with the full chorus and the cast going through the play as it will be presented on the club's 29th annual tour, was held last Saturday evening at the Parkway theater after the regular show.

Bill Purnell, director of the club, and Archie D. Scott, dancing coach, expressed themselves as being very satisfied with the progress of the organization in presenting the show. However, they both declared that much hard work would be in order before the show would be in shape to go on the road.

"Since every Haresfoot show is an advertisement for that of the succeeding years, we must make each and every one of them as finished and polished a production as possible. Thus, the present show will be gone over thoroughly, and the weak spots in both the cast and chorus work smoothed out before it will receive the Haresfoot stamp of approval," stated Purnell.

The full scenery that is to be used on the road was used in the show last night. Troublesome costumes were not in order, as Lester's of Chicago, are holding the Haresfoot wardrobe until every detail is perfect.

Student Attacks Priest's Sermon During Interview

"Then there is crime. Birth control would again be a help in the doing away with criminals, since many of them come from the slums and defective parents. Furthermore, birth control would give the mother the right to have children only when she wanted them, thus preventing abortions, and saving the death of mothers whose physical strength cannot stand the strain of repeated pregnancy.

"I would also enable young people to marry early, it would prevent child labor and it would prevent divorces.

Calls Hengell Impractical
"In conclusion," Zandt claimed, "let us examine the work of a prominent writer who so well describes this existing condition. We catapult children into this world by the accidental explosion of passion and ignorance—erect legal stockades to keep the truth from entering and then we doom whole armies of them to child labor, disease, overcrowding, and hunger, because the stock of goods to meet their needs is not enough to go around. It is the ghastly confession of human inefficiency.

"Father Hengell, nevertheless preaches sexual abstinence. His doctrine may be beautiful, but it is not, and will not be practiced. Therefore, if we draw away the bandage of fanaticism away from our eyes we see but one attainable goal—birth control!"

ST. PAUL—(P)—Bearing arms when committing a crime would automatically add from 3 to 5 years to the normal prison sentence under a bill introduced in the Minnesota senate.

State High School Tourney To Start in Armory Today

Madison Central - Wisconsin
High Games Tonight Holds
Front Center

GAMES TODAY

- 10 a. m. Ashland vs. Menasha
- 11 a. m. Eau Claire vs. Nekoosa
- 2 p. m. Kenosha vs. New Richmond
- 3 p. m. Kewaunee vs. Platteville
- 4 p. m. La Crosse vs. Watertown
- 7 p. m. Ladysmith vs. Waupun
- 8 p. m. Laona vs. Wausau
- 9 p. m. Madison Central vs. Wisconsin High

Wisconsin's greatest interscholastic event, the state high school basketball tournament, will become a moving fact at 10 o'clock this morning when Ashland and Menasha High schools trot out on the Armory floor for the first championship game.

Sixteen teams, representing every district of the state, are entered in the tourney, and 27 games must be played before the final standings can be made up. Three separate flights, for the championship for the consolation and for third place will be included.

Interest High

Supporters of the two Madison high schools, Central and Wisconsin high, are expected to prove the inadequacy of the present gym beyond the shade of a doubt when these rival fives come together in the last first round game at 9 o'clock tonight.

Madison Central, sporting a long series of victories in season play and holding two close decisions over the Badger preps, should skin through this battle to go into the second round. Wisconsin high, however, has a spotty team which might defeat Madison Central in one of its more reckless moments.

Hot Battle

One of the hottest frays of the first day is expected to develop, when Eau Claire, a prime tournament favorite, meets Nekoosa, another strong five, at 11 o'clock. Although Eau Claire has been rather generally picked as one of the tournament finalists, Nekoosa possesses enough kick to put even the favorites out of the running unless they travel very carefully.

Kenosha and New Richmond are to furnish another of the opening day headliners in their game at 2 p. m. Kenosha, from the outside, is favored to win after much puffing and panting, but it is neither impossible nor improbable that the New Richmond quintet may trip someone before the last gun barks.

La Crosse Strong

La Crosse, in the upper bracket, appears to be Madison Central's only serious rival, if Central gets safely through the first round. Ladysmith and Waupun, Laona and Wausau, scheduled to meet in games at 7 and 8 tonight, will probably do nothing more important than furnish each other with mild opposition.

If the dope runs true to form, as it usually don't, Madison Central and Lacrosse will reach the semi-finals Friday night in the upper bracket, while Eau Claire and Kenosha will attain the same stage in the lower bracket.

Eau Claire Has Hard One

To win the title, Eau Claire must play the hardest schedule of any team entered. After Nekoosa, will follow Ashland, and after that, either Kenosha or Platteville with the prospect of meeting Madison Central or Lacrosse in the finals. This fact removes some of the advantage Eau Claire would have from a clear start and makes the race for the championship appreciably tighter.

Only five of the teams entered in the tournament this year were here last year. Lacrosse, Ladysmith, Wausau, Eau Claire and Madison Central are returning while Ashland, Menasha, Nekoosa, Kewaunee, Platteville, Watertown, Waupun Laona and Wisconsin High have replaced other representatives of their sections in this years competition.

Stevens Point, winner of the championship last year, and River Falls, finalist, are not back to defend their laurels, leaving Madison Central, consolation winner in 1926, as the only remaining team which won honors last year.

OVERTIME BOUTS FEATURE TOURNEY

Currier Wins Clever Victory Over Tasche by Skillful Boxing

Three slashing overtime bouts, and one beautiful exhibition of boxing featured the closing bouts of the all-university tournament yesterday in the gymnasium. The tournament will come to a close definitely tomorrow night when after the matches held, the two finalists who will perform the all-university tourney will be chosen. The finals for the university championship will this be held Saturday night in connection with the finals of the all-state basketball tournament.

Breckenfeld, powerful frosh basketball man, was unable to withstand the powerful lunges of Davis, and lost in an overtime period. Both men were completely exhausted at the end of the bout and had to be helped from the ring.

Priess defeated Lasker in a slugging match in which both men showed plenty of punch but very little boxing and defensive ability. Priess by taking the aggressive and holding an advantage of reach, was able to keep Lasker at long range during the entire bout, and earned the decision.

In the closest match of the day, Zilman defeated McCormick who surprised everyone present by the fine showing he made. The match started out in whirlwind fashion with both men attempting to win a position in the final rounds of the tournament. Slugging was called upon, and good boxing disregarded by both men. Zilman, by virtue of his stamina and aggressiveness was given the decision in an overtime period. Both men fought at 145.

The cleverest exhibition of boxing during the day was given by Tony Currier in his match against Tasche. Tasche, a fine slugger, found himself powerless against the tall, tireless Currier, who's footwork and ring generalship blocked his every effort to put over a strong punch. Currier, a cousin of Johnny Dundee, showed to the audience that there really is something back of inheritance. Both men were 134 pounds.

Tomorrow in the semi-finals of the tournament some of the best boxers in school will compete against each other and indications are that some real class will be shown. In order to accommodate the necessary close judging for the bouts, Coach Storck, who is acting as referee, has appointed Tubbs, Horell, and Derzon to act as judges. All of these men have engaged in amateur boxing tournaments and know the points of the game very well.

Meeting in the semi-finals tomorrow will be:

- 165 lbs.—Steiner vs. Korshak.
- 165 lbs.—Rosenberg vs. Borlem.
- 135 lbs.—Sweet vs. Currier.
- 165 lbs.—Mathias vs. Krause.
- 185 lbs.—Mansfield vs. Shannon.

TRAINING TABLE TIPS

THE YOUNG IDEA

MADISON CENTRAL

A NEAT BOXER

On this day, friends and readers, the young idea in basketball will have its say. Talk loud boys.

Among the loudest shouters in the whole state tournament is the Madison Central high school quintet, which appears to have acquired quite a reputation. Some people we've met claim Central can mop up the state single-handed if the situation is just right. Of course none of the other teams in the meet, least of all Wisconsin high, will do anything to make the situation right.

Central read bad news off the score-board last year in its first game and had to be satisfied with winning the consolation title. But the Madison team has just finished one of its most prosperous seasons and is playing championship basketball right now, according to some observers.

Having seen none of the high school team in action, we are almost as well qualified to pick the winner as we were to pick an all-conference team. Anyway, lacrosse is the unlucky team to win our advance vote. Everyone will now kindly go over and root for the Watertown team in the 4 o'clock game today.

We have been told in certain quarters that our opinion doesn't amount to much, but at the same time it seems that a 27-game tournament is overdoing the matter a little. Doubtless, the officials would rejoice that such a program keeps fans from all schools interested. They should, however, be just as interested in seeing the better teams play through a less complicated schedule, and anyway consolation and third places mean little to anyone outside the schools which win them.

A boxing bout, as such, is not necessarily interesting, but such a boxing bout as that between Currier and Tasche in the gym boxing room yesterday is certainly worth looking at. This lad Currier handles gloves as we imagine such a grand figure as Benny Leonard doing it, and has the added unusual advantage that is brains aren't confined to his feet. A smooth boy.

All women taking gymnasium work for credit are required to register. Appointments are to be made at the same time for physical examinations which are compulsory. These examinations will be given within the next two weeks and all must have taken one before spring vacation.

WOMEN SWIMMERS

University women who wish to practice swimming and are not in regular swimming classes may use the Lathrop pool from 5 to 6 o'clock Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, and Fridays until the spring vacation.

BADGER TRACKMEN MARK TIME TILL SNOW DISAPPEARS

Forced to Practice Indoors;
Expect to be Outside in Week or Two

With snow and mud covering the ground at the Camp Randall stadium and track field, members of the outdoor cinder squad are enjoying an enforced peace and quiet. Coach Jones will not get his outdoor track artists out actively for at least another week.

Last week's sunny weather allowed the squad a few afternoons out in the air with the weight men doing most of the work. Sprinters are taking all of their training in the gymnasium annex and are out regularly.

Distance Men Rest

Men running the distance events are having a rest reporting for practice three or four afternoons a week only. In the short runs and the weights Coach Jones will work his men especially hard in the next several weeks before the opening of the regular outdoor conference soon.

Having an indoor western track championship already to his credit Coach Jones will direct all his energies to the capturing of the sister championship in the outdoor sport for Wisconsin.

Weak in Weights

While the Badgers will be weak in the weight events in the distance runs they will be strong as any of the other conference schools. Robert Kreuz in the javelin is really the only varsity man left to Coach Jones to build his weight candidates around.

Wagner the sole Wisconsin shot putter in the indoor track competition is improving and showing form that should start winning places in the event for him. He throws the weight around 40 feet and should stretch this mark when he gets outdoors.

Few Veterans

Although Coach Jones does not have much veteran varsity material to work with in the weights he has a number of big boys who appear capable of tossing the shot and discus around.

We Have With Us Today—

The first games of the state high school tournament are being played this morning in the armory.

Sixteen teams, representing the cream of as many sectional districts, are entered in the tourney, gritting their teeth and swearing to carry home the championship.

Only one of the sixteen can be successful in the oath, but the greatest success will go to Wisconsin.

The university has a great opportunity to recommend itself to a majority of these high school athletes. The attitude of the student body will be a big factor in making a favorable impression.

As students, it behooves us to attend the tourney, root for what looks like a sporty team, having no other preference, but above all, to let the prep school athletes realize that we are actually interested in them.

The Daily Cardinal welcomes the potential champions.

The Hilarious Game of "Hush"

This is one of the oldest games we have, being known even to the ancients.

The game of "Hush" is usually played by three persons, two of whom are parents of the third. At the age of seven or eight, the youngest hand starts asking questions about his origin.

The answers, according to the present rule book, are three:

"The stork brought you."

"The doctor brought you in a little black satchel."

"We found you in the garden under a cabbage plant."

So the game of "Hush" starts, and gaily and merrily it continues throughout the rest of our lives. The most strenuous efforts are made, usually by age, to keep knowledge from youth, for knowledge is power, and age wishes to hold its power.

But youth does not like the rules of the game and goes beyond the other players in seeking answers to his queries.

Then his elders in the game, whose attitude has been warped by the attitude of their elders, introduce censorship of movies, discriminatory laws against sex books being mailed, and "clean-ups" of news-stands.

The Swanson bill introduced into the Wisconsin assembly would permit a community inspector—who would be the chief of police, village marshal, or appointed person—to bar a film if in his judgment the film was "immoral, obscene or indecent," or because it portrayed "debauchery, criminality or lack of virtue," or that it "represented hanging or lynching."

Madison women are attempting to bar from news-stands so-called salacious magazines because they portray the "wrong attitude toward life."

A clergyman Sunday warned his congregation to avoid the lectures of Ben Lindsey and other social radicals. Said he, "There is no other side than the right one."

May we point out in each of these three cases, that the "evils" they are quixotically tilting against are the result of the game of "Hush." The surest way to get curiosity, morbid curiosity, is to forbid investigation.

The Puritanical spirit has made education in sex impossible for the youth of the land. They are dependent for their knowledge on smut hounds and the obscene stories of their fellows.

Draw the awesome veil aside, and there will no longer be surreptitious peeking through the keyhole of "True Stories," "Snappy Stores," and the other periodicals of like ilk. Put the classic Boccaccio, Chaucer, Balzac on the shelf in plain view, and the hack writing of these magazines will no longer be read. Let youth get a common sense view of sex as an essential part of life, and the thrill of the morbid magazine story, moving picture, or "art picture" will be gone.

A fellow-student propounded this question to us the other day:

"Why does a girl who is perfectly decent and respectable enjoy reading a rotten book?"

And we answered:

"That's why. If she weren't perfectly decent and respectable and a bit uninformed on sex, she would have no curiosity and would not read the book. It is in the hope of gaining knowledge and thrills that she reads."

In that statement lies the secret of the success of salacious modern-day writing. It is preying on the morbid curiosity aroused by Puritans playing with all their soul the grand game of "Hush."

The Police Force as Art Critics

"Casey at the Bat" will not be shown as scheduled at the Rialto tonight.

Chief of Police O'Toole, who previewed the film, said lack of virtue was exhibited by Wallace Beery in drinking a stein of beer while standing before a baseball crowd.

"He oughter divvy up de goods," Chief O'Toole stated today to a representative of The Bugle.

So might real a newspaper item within the next year, if the Swanson censorship bill, introduced in the Wisconsin assembly, is enacted into law.

The bill provides:

(1) Any city or village may adopt an ordinance carrying the provisions of the bill.

(2) In any community coming under the terms of the proposed law no film could be shown until it was inspected at a private showing to the chief of police, village marshal, or an appointed inspector. A license fee of one to three dollars would be required for each film approved.

(3) The community inspector could bar a film if in his judgment the film was "immoral, obscene or indecent," or because it portrayed "debauchery, criminality or lack of virtue," or that it "represented hanging or lynching."

(4) There would be no appeal from the decision of the official community censor or police official.

(5) An unpaid committee of citizens would be appointed to assist in censorship work if the local authorities see fit.

A police official, who couldn't master up the remnants of an eighth grade education, by this bill can determine what can or cannot be shown to supposedly self-respecting, intelligent American citizens.

A neurotic clubwoman can determine what is virtue and what is lack of virtue, what is immoral, obscene, or indecent. Truly, a noble law.

Relativity has not yet penetrated to social sciences. Social sciences are a decade behind in their way of speaking in absolutes. They speak of "good," "bad," "right," or "wrong" as if they were as concrete as a test-tube of nitric acid.

Women with perfectly good intentions advocate censorship to eliminate movies that "give the wrong attitude toward life." We defy these women to explain or put in a formula of what would be the "right" attitude toward life for all individuals.

From our point of view, the movie censor is one phase of a wrong attitude toward life. One individual with doubtful qualifications is held capable of judging what is good, what is not good, for a theater-going public.

That principle is one that no democratic-minded person can ever accept. The Daily Cardinal does not believe that movie censorship of any nature whatsoever is warranted in a democracy.

The only test of a movie is the voice of the people. More than one so-called sex drama has flopped in Madison and its run been cut short through lack of patronage. More than one unrealistic college picture has moved to greener fields than Madison for the same reason.

The voice of the people is the voice of God, and in their dictum is the only censor needed. What they will wish to see is determined by their prejudices, their environment.

Certainly spring is here!

And while we're on the subject of weather and such, Russel wants us to mention the fact that the weather bureau always puts out a white flag on days that are supposed to be nice so that when it rains or snows the colors won't run.

He: I'm through trying to do things for women.

She: Huccome?

He: Well, I always get done myself.

* * *

No! We refuse! The Scots aren't the only people who agitate for free love.

* * *

Starting this week we shall run extracts from Jene's diary when there is nothing else to fill the col up with. Jene prefers to be unknown and to remain that way so if anyone knows who she is about to indulge might cast reflections upon certain people about the campus. And, anyway, they might be more or less of a private nature. So . . .

DEAR DIARY: I never was so surprised in my life! I met a nice Kappa Sig today. But then, he's only a freshman yet. He weighs about two hundred pounds and I suppose that he will be a football man eventually. But, anyway, he made a date with me for Friday night and I imagine that I will find out a lot more about him then. Prof. Alexander in Philosophy 25 has the most peculiar sense of humor! He's always assigning papers that won't be due for months, and then decides that maybe it would be a good idea to do another in the meantime. And the way he does it in lecture! Mean-time is right! But then I have a nice blonde man for quiz section and he writes the nicest things on the papers that I hand in so the course is not so bad after all I guess.

Oh, there's the phone. I do hope it's Billy!

Well, we have fallen heir to Zopelka's Rocket day. And to keep traditions around the old school we ought to include a pun or two in his memory. Spoils the general effect of a col we'll admit, but then what are effects when tradition is to be upheld.

* * *

Spring sprang back and sprung a good one on us when she let it snow.

* * *

The play in this sentence is on this word, "spring."

* * *

Sorry, but we're stuck ourselves as to where the pun is in that one.

* * *

JOKE FROM 1896 CARDINAL

She: What a nice new tie! How much Co-Op rebate did you get?

We noticed in yesterday's announcement of what was to be found on the editorial page that the VENERABLE Acon had written a Rocket's column.

THAT'S A LIE—ACON

There's a slight tinge of meaning there that we want everyone to be sure to get. It is not Acon who is venerable, it is the most of the jokes with which he fills his column that are old.

* * *

Active: Next week will be "Hell" week.

Frosh: Oh, Hell!

* * *

The Engineers delayed their parade this year so the rain couldn't spoil it (notice we said rain, not lawyers) and it snowed. Wonder what it will do when St. Pat does take the caravan down State street?

* * *

Papa Acon wants to know if we have been to the Garrick lately or don't we know any new swear words.

* * *

If a man with a heavy line of bunk made a lot of money could he be called a window (windough)?

* * *

Sorry, but that pun gives us a pane, too.

* * *

But don't give us a glassy stare on account of it anyway.

* * *

Whoah! Time to stop.

* * *

REALLY?

(Or I thought I would)

I mean I'd try it,

If I could.

* * *

Now that Jonah has decided he hasn't a patent on pictures, we feel perfectly safe in dropping back to our old picture gallery.

PICTURE

Talk, Talk, Talk, talk.

* * *

Possibilities advanced for one interpretation of the picture are:

1—A W. C. T. U. meeting.

2—Flashlight of the Gridiron banquet.

3—A bull session.

4—A birth control lecture.

5—Prof. Carl Russell Fish in his Am. Hist. lecture.

* * *

But they're all wrong, dear reader. The picture is only a true to life portrait of a co-ed on date.

* * *

GOSH!

Miss, slip me a kiss,

He shyly said,

But if I slipped

I'd miss you, she said.

* * *

But Acon says this col. is getting to be too long. He's afraid that we'll write all the good jokes in the world and there won't be any left for him next week.

Readers' Say So

SAYS FATHER HENGELL IS BEHIND TIMES

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

It appears to me, Mr. Editor, that Father Hengell is anywhere from 500 to 1500 years behind the times in his attitude toward learning and civilization. From 400 A. D. to 1400 A. D., the church leaders of Europe kept thought and reason down by suppressing all freedom of thought on the part of those who entertained ideas of an advanced nature.

The clergy warned the people against listening to such men as Galileo, Servetus, and Bruno—and the clergy was quite happy to burn men at the stake when they showed an I. Q. which encompassed a learning above their own superstitious ideas.

Now comes Father Hengell in 1927 A. D. and warns his hearers not to listen to Judge Ben B. Lindsey—thus showing the same intolerance as that of the middle ages, the only difference being that burning at the stake is out of fashion and will not be applied in Judge Lindsey's case.

No one will deny that failure to consider the other side of a question is intolerance; therefore who will deny that Father Hengell is teaching it? It would not be necessary to question the Reverend were he warning high school students or others less experienced—but to put such ideas into the heads of college students is deserving of criticism by those who hold the university to be a teacher of tolerance.

To me, it is a pity that our student are taught thought and reason on top of the hill and then are pounced upon at the bottom by divines teachings prejudice, intolerance, and superstition.

HERB POWELL

We read with amazement—not to say consternation—the news of the scathing remarks of the Reverend Dr. Hengell against the ideas as well as the person of Dr. Yarros. Why such a person like Dr. Hengell, who parades as an incarnation of saintliness and wisdom, could stoop down to the use of cruel words that do not practically help out the solution of the thing Dr. Yarros is interested in, is to us something of a mystery.

Why the learned Dr. Hengell would not treat the subject of birth control and subjects of kindred nature with composure, as men of great learning, we are told are supposed to be (Continued on Page Five) posed to; to shed light and show the way to a bewildered humanity, is anomalous.

Readers' Say-So

We know very little of the reverend gentleman; although we hear of him thru the newspapers quite often. Our meager first hand knowledge comes from a visit to his chapel, a visit prompted primarily by curiosity.

We recollect in that visit of the reverend gentleman talking on birth control. He strenuously opposed it, nay denounced it, on the basis that there is no need for it; for, said he, "with every mouth that comes to light there is a pair of productive hands." What a statement to make—and before a University Congregation!

What sort of influence does Father Hengell wield amongst us—students? And what would the Reverend Dr. Hengell have us do; would he want us to go to him and have him put his stamp of approbation on everything to be done? And what for—does he make the gratuitous assumption that he is omniscient, a divine dispenser of Truth? and finally, is he to be taken seriously?

We ask these questions because, if we are to be just, we must at least have some appreciation of the strength of the man, instead of agitating to have him shut up right away, as he would have us, who want to fish for different—not necessarily better—practices.

Yours for more light.
