FINISH INITIAL RATING OF ALL STOCK ENTRIES

All in Readiness for Little International Next Saturday

With only three days remaining before the Little International Exhibition, the big annual event of the College of Agriculture, the ten committees are now concentrating all effort to complete the remaining preparations, according to A. L. McMann '21, general manager.

The preliminary judging of all animals entered in the exhibition has been completed. The condition of the animals entered has been noted by the judges, who will base 75 per cent of their final decision on the improvement made by the student exhibitors.

The other 25 points will be awarded on the students' ability in showing and demonstrating their entrants. Judging of classes will be done in the morning and afternoon, and ribbons and prizes will be awarded at that time.

All animals selected for exhibition are pure breeds and thoroughbreds of their class. Many of them have won repeatedly at the International Stock Show in Chicago. In the sheep class, each animal shown has been a prize winner in various shows. The first, second, and third prize sheep in the world will be on exhibit at the Little International.

Prize Draft Horses
Percheron, Belgian, and Clydesdale horses—prize winners for years—represent the best types of draft animals in the country today. Cattle of such popular breeds as the Aberdeen Angus and Short-horn will be exhibited as beef types. These cattle are direct from Scotland and England. Dairy

BAZINOOK'S CREATOR WRITES NEW DRAMA

Octopus Secures Latest Work of John Culman '27
For Next Issue

The creator of "Bazinook," "Jijiboom," and "Xanimork," John H. Culman '27, has again appeared, to continue the series for the benefit of Octopus readers the rest of this year.

Those who knew the Octopus last year will remember the clever playlets which formed the chief attraction of every number in which they appeared. The two series were named "Dramas from Other Planets," and "Jijiboom Papers," and in the first were the outpourings of "Bazinook," "Jijiboom, the Unsuspected Offspring of Bazinook," and "Xanimork, the Unique Uncle of Jijiboom."

The author will have something of the same order in the next number of the Octopus, which comes out March 23. It will probably take the form of a drama with "Bazinook" as the leading role.

MABEL WINTER IS NEW HEAD OF W. A. A.

Mabel Winter '22, was elected president of W. A. A. at a meeting of the society last evening. The other officers are as follows: Mary Roach '23, vice-president; Marjorie Severance '23, secretary, and Florence Huprich '23, treasurer.

Board nominations and elections are to be held at the next meeting of the society two weeks from yesterday.

WATCH 'EM GROW

By the Sign of the Moustache
Shall Ye Know the Engineer

"The sign of the moustache," no matter how faint, is the sign of the Engineer. They have taken it unto themselves and decided that it belongs to them; it shall in the future be their badge. All Engineers marching in the parade on Saturday, March 17, must thus prepare themselves, according to their self-inflicted edict.

Whether Herpecide on the lip is as effective as Herpecide on the head is one of the questions being discussed with enthusiasm in the Engineering school. Some merely follow the practice of tenderly cherishing the first suggestion of a shadow. Finally if all other efforts fail there is the open secret of a little shop where you can get them long and silky, with a tendency to curl.

By the beauty of their moustache ye shall know them, and may he beware who dares to wear one without being an Engineer. The pride and joy of a year's growth must perish unless the owner shows the proper credentials. Violent methods are in vogue.

CAMPUS SALE OF ATHLETIC REVIEW TO START TODAY

Copies of the first issue of the Wisconsin Athletic Review were disposed of so quickly by the fifty cardinal and white sweatered "W" men between the halves of the Ohio State basketball game last night that the entire supply of the magazine at the gymnasium was exhausted within a few minutes. Additional copies could not be brought in time to fill the demand.

Those who did not secure the magazine last night may purchase it from "W" men, who will sell the new publication on the campus today at the same price, two copies for twenty-five cents. The extra copy is being sold at the bargain price in order that students will be influenced to mail it to some high school athlete who may thus be interested in coming to Wisconsin.

DOORS CLOSED AT EIGHT O'CLOCK FOR CHESTERTON TALK

English Lecturer Speaks Tonight at Madison High School

The doors will be closed promptly at 8 o'clock at Gilbert K. Chesterton's talk tonight on "The Ignorance of the Educated," in the Madison high school auditorium, and no late comers will be admitted.

All the tickets were sold some time ago, and no more can be obtained, according to A. J. Fehrbach '22, business manager of the Literary magazine. Mr. Chesterton prefers not to speak to an audience of more than 1,200, and as a consequence the sale is limited.

Mr. Chesterton arrives this noon, and will make a tour of inspection about the campus in the afternoon. Prof. O. J. Campbell is entertaining him and the staff of the Literary magazine at tea from 4:30 to 6.

Paul Gangelin '23, editor of the Literary magazine, will deliver the introductory address this evening.

REESE SPEAKS AT AD CLUB BANQUET

The Advertising club will hold an open meeting with a 6 o'clock banquet at the city Y. M. C. A. Thursday night, Mar. 10. "Billy" Reese, a graduate from the university, who now has a position with the Sterling Motor Truck company, Milwaukee, will address the meeting. Mr. Reese will speak at the convocation in connection with the all-commerce week Thursday afternoon at 3:30.

All students who wish to attend the meeting are asked to sign up at The Daily Cardinal business office this afternoon between 3:30 and 5:30. No reservations can be made after that time.

As far as the title is concerned, the 1920-1921 conference basketball season is now over. Wisconsin and Michigan, who, early in the season, were not considered in the running for first place, staged rare comebacks and forced experienced teams like Chicago and Illinois out of the title position.

DESIGNS DUE FOR HARESFOOT SCORE

Today is the last day for the submission of cover designs for the score book of "Miss 'Quita," the Haresfoot play to be given here April 22 and 23.

The design should be suggestive of the Mexican atmosphere of the play, which is centered about the adventures of an American engineer in a Mexican revolution. Those submitting work should turn in their contributions at the Haresfoot office, Union building, this afternoon before 5:30.

THE NOSY NEWSIE
Every day, sometimes, he asks five people a question, sometimes. Today's question: "What is the best way to break a date?"

Al Schmedeman: "First, get kicked out of school, and then get passage to Norway."

Julia Hanks: "In breaking a date, I merely say that I am very sorry, but I had forgotten an old engagement that I had with one of my high chums, which makes it possible to attend the Candy Shop anyway."

Chandler Osborne: "Experience has taught me that the safest thing to say is that your sister from South America is visiting you and you just have to entertain her, but don't forget to add that there is no kick in taking your sister out and you would much prefer to take her out."

Dixie Davis: "If you really want to get rid of him for good, just say that you are going out with the boy you are engaged to. That usually settles him for good."

Hank Gausewitz: "Tell her that you had forgotten that she was so short and that makes it very inconvenient for dancing."

THOUGHTS

BLOWZA GALE.

BILL KELLETT blew into the Varsity Movie office with a remark just serious enough to get into this col. He threw down a couple of books on Stage make-up. "What are you doing with that?" "Oh, I'm studying for a make-up exam."

"Say, what's funnier than a one-armed man trying to wind his wrist watch?"

"A glass eye at a key hole."

JUST a casual suggestion of ours is that doormats be placed at each end of the paths crossing the lower campus. But those who use the paths on the upper campus ought to be supplied with chloroform, or better still, have their names published in this column.

WELL, these keys on the typewriter are getting hot and so it behooves us to quit. Now ain't you mad?

WELL, we aren't caws we're just as sick of this as you are.

SHOWERMAN TALKS AT OPEN MEETING OF FRENCH CLUB

The Undergraduate French club held an open meeting Tuesday evening in Lathrop parlors at which a solo was given by John Irwin '23, a reading consisting of one of Fontaine's fables by Mademoiselle Alice Salvan, and a playlet, "Heir Aujourd'hui" an amusing illustration of the old fashioned and the new fashioned manner of making love was played by Stuart Hamilton '22, Nadia Levitin '22, and Mlle. Salvan.

This part of the program which was given in French was followed by an illustrated lecture on the French cathedral by Prof. Grant every battle except in the middle-weight division where only three seconds gave Wisconsin a win.

The teams which are likely to give Wisconsin the most trouble are Illinois, Iowa, and Minnesota. Coach Paul Prehn, Illinois coach and runner-up for the middle-weight championship of the United States, has developed an exceptionally strong team at Illinois. The Illini defeated Purdue 26 to 20 last Saturday and have not lost a meet this season. In Folstrom, 125-pound wrestler, and Sternaman, football players who grapples in the lightweight division, Prehn has two men who are almost sure of being in the finals. Furness, heavyweight, is another matman who may weather the elimination bouts.

BADGERS TIE FOR BIG TEN HONORS

fight. The Badgers did not play as brilliant a game as they are capable of playing; probably due to the fact that they were fairly confident of a victory. Wisconsin established a 10 point lead during the first few minutes of play, and at no time after that was there any doubt as to the final outcome of the game.

McIntosh, playing his last game for Wisconsin, led the Badger scoring with five field baskets and one free throw. He played a brilliant floor game, as well, figuring prominently in every offensive move. He has shown up well at the pivot position in the last three games, and will leave a gap for Coach Meanwell to fill next year.

Taylor, Ceaser, R. Williams, and J. Williams, were responsible for the remainder of the points. Taylor did not miss a free throw during the first half and, altogether, made five out of seven attempts. Ceaser made four field goals, besides playing a consistent floor game. Jack Williams, who was put in Ceaser's place during the final minutes of the first half, caged two pretty field baskets.

Tribute to Meanwell

Too much credit cannot be given to Coach Meanwell for the phenomenal rise of the team. With hardly sufficient material to constitute a Varsity squad, "Doc" started practice in the fall with a few green men. First, the men were taught the Meanwell system. Just when the squad was rounding into shape, injuries forced Weston out of the game and ineligibility left Knapp's forward position open. In the weeks that followed, a number of combinations were tried with varying success. Each showed improvement over the former, but not until the Chicago game were the winning five discovered. Although Meanwell has a brilliant coaching record, probably no single season has shown such remarkable reward for his efforts as has the present one.

Sharing the credit with Dr. Meanwell are Captain Taylor and his team mates. No Wisconsin team was ever put through such a hard and grueling season as these men were subjected to, but coaching and concentrated effort transformed a team which was not able to win from Northwestern into a machine which, against overwhelming odds, won from Michigan, Chicago, Illinois, and Minnesota.

The men early learned the knack of defending their own goal, and the Badger defense has been the fear of the opposing teams' offenses. It is only within the past few weeks that the offense has been perfected, but, since the husky Gophers could not break it up, it is likely that it is at present the best in the Big Ten conference.

SCOTT ADDRESSES CONVOCATION OF COMMERCE MEN

The first meeting of the Conference on International Relations since the declaration of war was held last evening at the University Y. M. C. A. under the direction of Prof. A. B. Hall of the Political Science department, and R. B. Yewdale, instructor in History. Professor Hall briefly outlined the purpose and plan of the conference, which will consist of four more meetings, coming on Tuesday evenings at 6:45. The administration is vested in 15 members of the faculty. G. H. Stuart is the faculty secretary.

Mr. Yewdale gave a short talk on the accomplishments of the peace treaty, dealing particularly with the two most important clauses, those of territorial division and Germany's reparation. The problem of Alsace-Lorraine, the Saar Basin, and the disposal of Ioland were discussed in detail by Mr. Yewdale. The problem of Northern Silesia, which is one of importance especially to Germany, is to be decided March 20. Whether or not the peace terms agree fully with Wilson's 14 points was a question brought up for discussion.

PRESERVE THE GOOD

THE religious conference is over. The series of addresses by Mr. Eddy and the other speakers should rank as one of the great achievements of the year at Wisconsin. The social, moral, and religious challenges thrown down by these leaders deeply inspired the hundreds of students who attended the meetings.

The question now raised is this—shall the benefits of the conference be temporary or lasting?

It is up to the students themselves to answer this question.

The conference speakers did their part to make the effects lasting. They did not deal in hysteria and emotionalism. Experience has shown that sensational appeals stir people only for the moment. When the dramatic spell is broken the people usually lapse back into their old ways.

Sanity and not emotionalism was the keynote of the conference. Principles were set forth in such a manner as to elicit the lasting loyalty of men and women.

Certain groups are organizing to discuss systematically the problems brought out in the conference. That is a good way to perpetuate the good work. This points to a better Wisconsin and a better world.

THE LITTLE INTERNATIONAL

SATURDAY will be a great day out at the stock pavilion. The Ags promise a real sensation when the results of their labors with live stock are demonstrated.

Not one student in a hundred outside the Agricultural College knows what is going on in that department. Yet the people of the state are intensively interested in that college. In many respects its activities are closest to the every day life of the people.

An occasion like the stock show offers a splendid opportunity to all the students to learn something about this great arm of their university.

A nominal admission fee will be charged. With the proceeds a number of judges will be sent to Chicago, where the big stock exhibit will be held.

The stock pavilion ought to be crowded Saturday night.

TELLS IDEALS OF COMMERCE COURSE

Professor Scott Relates Progress of Work Here

"The Course in Commerce is based upon the conviction that the prospective business men and women should have the breadth and intensity of training traditionally associated in this country with a college education, together with as much special training as can be secured in four years time," said Prof. William A. Scott, head of the course in Commerce, in explaining the aims of the course which he has developed and fostered since it was started over 20 years ago.

With the ideals of such a course, at the time when business was first becoming recognized as a profession, Professor Scott took the first steps towards creating a balanced four year course of business training in 1900. Development of the course has been largely due to the work of Professor Scott, and the men that form the commerce faculty. They were responsible for combatting the early opposition to making business education a part of college education, despite the fact that a large proportion of the graduates of the general course in letters and science entered the business field.

Since its establishment with 85 students the course has been constantly enlarged, both in scope and in size. New courses have been added from year to year and the courses in advertising, accounting, economics, and commercial letter-writing are now among the largest on the hill. The increase in students has also been remarkable, the number having increased from 85 in 1900 to over 1,300 at the present time.

AUDITORIUM GREAT NEED IN MADISON

Mayor Kittleson Believes Citizens Should Take Up Project

tion of How About an Auditorium. Mayor Kittleson believes that one or more citizens should interest themselves in the matter and build an auditorium, in which could be held auto shows, conventions and other public meetings. The mayor suggested as a suitable site at least one-half of the block bounded by S. Webster st., E. Washington ave., and S. Butler st.

Mayor Kittleson suggested that in case of the building of an auditorium on this site the entrance be placed on E. Washington ave., and that there also be a large entrance on the Butler st. side.

During the past few years auto shows in Madison had to be abandoned owing to lack of a suitable building. The city is also minus a proper convention hall and while many state and national gatherings have been held here within the last few years yet it is believed that an auditorium would be an inducement to bring still more conventions to Madison.

SCOTT ADDRESSES CONVOCATION OF COMMERCE MEN

"This generation of students must meet conditions that no other generation has had to meet before," said Dr. William A. Scott, director of the Commerce course, in an address delivered at the auditorium of the Physic-Economics building yesterday afternoon at 4:30.

"We are living in the midst of a tremendous social change in which two evenly balanced powers are conflicting, capital and labor, and the student must prepare to cope with these difficulties," he continued.

Professor "Steve" Gilman urged students make it a point to meet executives of business concerns at every opportunity.

"Have a hot desire for work, hunger for it," he said, "and you will attract the attention of business men."

Dr. Scott told of the new plan which the Commerce school has adopted by which students after this year will be divided into two groups according to their grade points. It is believed that by putting students of the same caliber together, it will be possible to arrange the courses to fit their capacities.

Bill Rupert '22, president of the Commerce club, urged that the students get behind the "get-together week" and help make this annual affair a success.

This was the first of the two Commerce convocations to be held this week. William Reese, a former Commerce man, will speak at the convocation to be held Thursday afternoon.

Who says there isn't harmony over at the capitol?

Elmer Hall, secretary of state, and Riley Young, speaker of the assembly, may not harmonize politically. But both are going to join the Madison Mozart club.

Mr. Hall has been a member of a singing organization at Green Bay and Mr. Young has always been interested in singing.

At The Theaters

THIS IS STUDENTS' NIGHT AT MAJESTIC

Manager St. Pierre has announced that tonight the theater will practically be turned over to the student body by conceding the courtesy of a free admission to any lady who is accompanied by a student. This has been done through the appreciation of the management of the student support. The playlet presented by the musical comedy company is entitled "Are You a Mason?" a roaring farce comedy from the pen of George M. Cohan and is plentifully interpolated with vaudeville specialties and musical hits. The offering is up to the minute and resplendent with good wholesome clean comedy that appeals.

AT THE STRAND

Can you fancy William S. Hart, western hero and frontier bad man in a score of pictures, as a policeman? Well, he is just that in his latest production for Paramount "The Cradle of Courage," which will be shown at the Strand theater for four days starting today.

The old saying that "it takes a thief to catch a thief" is exemplified in this photoplay in a sense, but this is in nowise the theme of the story. "Square" Kelly, portrayed by Mr. Hart has been a safe-cracker who is reformed in the crucible of war at the fighting front and who becomes a policeman in furtherance of his plan to live straight. Of course, there is a pretty girl who inspires this lofty sentiment in Kelly and strengthens his purpose to relinquish his criminal career.

When Kelly dons his policeman's uniform, there is action aplenty. He visits summary punishment upon the leader of the crook band with which he was associated and when the latter treacherously slays Kelly's brother, he pays the penalty with his life at Kelly's hands. This is one of the strongest scenes provided by the story, although the fistic battle between Kelly and the crook leader is one long to be remembered by the spectators.

"Snooky" the Humanzee will be the star in the added attraction, a Chester Comedy entitled "An Overall Hero."

MAKE PLANS FOR SPECIAL CARDINAL

At the meeting of Theta Sigma Phi, woman's honorary journalistic fraternity, last night in the Union building, plans were discussed for the regular Theta Sigma Phi editor of the Cardinal, which will come out on April 1 this year.

Members of the fraternity take entire charge of The Cardinal for that day, managing all the business, soliciting advertisements, writing a news, and then selling the paper. It will be a much larger paper than usual that morning.

Marion Strassburger '22 was elected vice-president of Theta Sigma Phi, because Esther Van Wagner '21, former vice-president, has taken the place of Ethel Vinje, the president, who graduated in January.
