CHAPMAN'S DRAKE HOTEL ORCHESTRA TO PLAY AT PROM

Ten Pieces Featuring Jack Chapman Will Furnish Music in Capitol

Chapman's Drake Hotel orchestra, Chicago, Victor record artists, under the direction of Jack Chapman, has been secured to play for "The Prom of History," February 8, at the state capitol.

The orchestra consists of 10 pieces, featuring Jack Chapman at the piano and Thatcher on the saxophone. It has been playing for a year at the Drake hotel in Chicago. Because the band has become so popular it was difficult to obtain the consent of the hotel hostess to release it for the one night, according to Merrill Esterline '25, chairman of the music committee.

The position of the orchestra in the capitol is still a question pending on the results of an investigation which is being carried on under Prof. Max Mason of the physics department. One plan is to have the orchestra on the regular platform in the center of the rotunda with an inverted cone tastily decorated above it to throw the music through the capitol and keep it from ascending into the dome.

Will Have Amplifiers
The other plan is to have the stand at the one side in the rotunda against the wall. Chapman says that either arrangement will be satisfactory. Every effort is being made to throw the music outside of the rotunda to the wings of the building.

The prom fox trot, "Southern Heart" has been sent to Chapman and the orchestra will work especially on the presentation of this piece which was introduced at the pre-prom dance last Saturday night.

Last year this orchestra played at the Illinois senior prom, and the Michigan Hop and this year besides playing for Wisconsin's prom will play at the Purdue prom.

Makes Victor Records
The orchestra is now making records for the Victor people at Chicago and the combined instrumentation of 10 men is 25 instruments. Special orchestrations are written of the latest dance music for this orchestra so that each piece they will play will be rendered in a way

LHEVINNE TO GIVE CONCERT TONIGHT

Famous Pianist in Fourth Madison Appearance at Presbyterian Church

Josef Lhevinne, master pianist of the world today and one of the masters of the pianoforte of all time will give his third Madison concert this evening at 8:15 o'clock, at Christ Presbyterian church.

This concert is the fourth number of the all-star concert series, being given in the city this year.

Three years ago Lhevinne gave his first concert in Madison, appearing at the university armory under the auspices of Union board. Last year the Mozart club presented him at Christ Presbyterian church.

Lhevinne's popularity in this city is evidenced by his repeated return. He plays with a technique which is easy and flawless, but which is subordinate to individuality of conception and artistry.

The program arranged for his concert this year is largely a program of request numbers.

"Day By Day" on the Phonograph is Coue's Latest Idea

If you don't feel like springing out of bed and saying the daily litany of "day by day" Emil Coue, who arrived Monday in New York says you may talk the words into a phonograph and thereafter get the treatment with no more effort than starting the victrola.

M. Coue comes again to lecture under the auspices of the Coue National institute, the proceeds to be devoted to upkeep of the Coue institutes in New York, London, Paris and Brussels.

He will speak in Chicago soon, and lecture in other cities as far west as San Francisco.

THIRTY STUDENTS JOIN SPORTS CLUB

Winter Enthusiasts Will Meet to Choose Name and Emblem Soon

Thirty persons joined the new winter sports club at the meeting held at the Union building last night, and more are expected to join. Plans to name the club and to adopt a suitable emblem were postponed until the next meeting.

A board was appointed to plan parties. It consists of Gilbert Hoffman '24, president; Sally Fletcher '25, vice president; George Munkwitz '26, secretary-treasurer; Arthur Timm '25, representing tobogganing; Helen Cushman '26, skating; Gordon Taylor, grad, skiing; and Volmer Sorenson '26, ice-boating; Mildred Rieck '24 and George Martin grad, representing the University athletic department.

The skating race which had been planned for next Saturday was postponed indefinitely because of the snow on the ice. A ski race for men will be held a week from Saturday, and if there are enough entrants, a race for women will also be held.

Several plans for a ski hike to be held once a week were discussed, the plans including short hikes for beginners and longer ones for those who can already ski. A hike will be held next Sunday afternoon.

EDITOR TO SPEAK AT AG COLLEGE DINNER TONIGHT

All Agrics Invited to Banquet; Livestock Show Plans Are Announced

With a banquet for agricultural students scheduled for tonight and with the announcement of the preliminary plans for the Wisconsin International Livestock exposition, the College of Agriculture opens its schedule of activities for the winter season.

John Cunningham, publisher of the "Wisconsin Agriculturist" and formerly a regent of Ohio State university, will speak on "The Present Day Tendencies in Agricultural Journalism" at a dinner for agrics at 6 o'clock tonight in the Luther memorial church.

Hopkins to Preside

Prof. A. W. Hopkins, will preside as toastmaster. A special program of events will be staged by members of Alpha Zeta, honorary agricultural fraternity, who will attend in a body. All students of the College of Agriculture are eligible and tickets may be secured in the agric library.

S. H. Sabin '24, chairman of the beef cattle committee of the livestock exposition stated yesterday that next Saturday in the stock pavilion students will be given the opportunity to select from among ten classes of beef cattle an animal to fit and show at the exposition.

Long, middle, and short course students in Agriculture are eligible to sign up for an animal. Three of the beef cattle breeds Herefords, Aberdeen Angus, and Shorthorns, of the herd of the college will be fitted and shown by students and some keen competition is expected for the championship trophy and other ribbons and prizes to be awarded.

Judges Chosen

Much of the stock to be exhibited has been a prize winner and some of it was well up in the money at the recent International show in Chicago, a steer winning first and third in the dressed carcass class.

Dean J. H. Skinner of Purdue university and S. D. Sims, instructor in the animal husbandry department will judge the animals at the time of the show on the basis of the improvement made and the showing ability of the men. Fitting the animals will begin Saturday, February 8, and all stock will be rated on condition before that time.

CUTTING EXAMINATIONS JUDGED AS FAILURE

Illness will of course be accepted as an excuse for not taking an examination, but in such a case a student must take an incomplete in the course until he is able to write.

If for no reason at all a student fails to take the examination, the instructor must take that as an indication of the student's incompetency, and will give him a failure in the course," said J. A. Chandler secretary of the faculty.

TOKIO, Jan. 15—An earthquake lasting 14 minutes killed 50 persons in Tokio, Yokahoma, and surrounding districts. Telegraph, telephone, and railway communication has been tied up in a belt extending 200 miles southwest of Tokio.

LONDON, Jan. 15—The King, in his message at the opening of parliament devoted a large part of his discussion to bills which the Baldwin government would submit for the benefit of the working classes were it permitted to remain in power. Skaters Find Ice On Lake Monona Best in Madison

Those of you who are complain about the skating facilities at Wisconsin will be glad to hear that the Monona rink at the foot of South Hancock street had over 4,000 contented skaters of all ages and ranks over the week-end.

Approximately 1,000 persons visited the rink last Friday night, and this number was increased by 500 on Saturday night. On Sunday nearly 2,000 persons were on the ice.

The large flood lights insure safe night skating. A crew of city employees is keeping the rink in perfect condition, and two policemen are stationed to prevent accidents. The ice is in fine condition.

NEW TIMETABLE SUPPLY ON HAND

Timetables for the second semester will be distributed again today in the Registrar's office, 158 Bascom hall. The supply which was on hand yesterday was exhausted within a few hours.

The new timetables include instructions for the filling out of election cards. All students in the College of Letters and Science are to report to their advisers sometime this week to make out schedules for the coming semester. Each advisor has his office hours posted on the door of his office, and a copy is also kept on file by the Registrar.

All four copies of the election cards are to be left with the advisers. Students not expecting to be in attendance next semester should report to their advisors promptly.

Students desiring to take less than 14 credits or claiming exemption from certain hours because of outside work during the second semester must obtain written permits from Dean F. W. Roe or Dean G. C. Sellery before consulting advisers. Permits for the first semester do not carry automatically into the second term.

Transfers from one Letters and Science course to another may be made this week by securing written permission from the dean. The permit cards must be presented when reporting for registration.

By obtaining the written consent of advisers changes in program may be made until Saturday, February 9. Changes after that date will need the approval of the dean to become effective.

SURVEY OF GRADUATES SHOWS HUGE TOTAL

The crop of lawyers, engineers, teachers, doctors, and business men has been greatly increased by the 76,609 graduates turned loose on the country at the commencement exercises between January and July, according to the first nationwide survey of college graduates in 1923. Out of this number mentioned 27,556 are reported by their colleges simply as having taken the degree of bachelor of arts without indicating the occupation for which they were preparing. Engineering, law, and medicine claimed the majority of graduates who indicated their professions.

LIT AUTHORIZED TO CONTINUE BY DEAN GOODNIGHT

Editors Announce That Business Staff is Now Being Reorganized

Immediately following the authorization of a January issue of the Wisconsin Literary magazine by Dean Goodnight comes the announcement by the editors, Kenneth Fearing '24 and John Weimer '25 that the entire business staff is being reorganized.

"If this investigation has led to one definite thing," Weimer said yesterday, "it has been the demonstration that the business affairs of the Lit have been woefully mismanaged. It is now the task of the magazine to show that with an efficient business staff for the January number it can and will support itself. The future of the Lit must be placed in the hands of people who will do this work on the present number.

Advertising Campaign Begun
"Who these people will be has not yet been decided. Several men are being considered for the position of business manager. The man chosen will undoubtedly be announced tomorrow."

In the meantime the advertising staff under Edna Walter '25, is carrying on an extensive advertising campaign, and plans for a direct circulation drive are being whipped into shape, according to the editors.

Satire to be Keynote
"We plan to bring the January number out next Monday or Tuesday," Fearing said last night. "The keynote of the number will be satire. It is probable that a series of satirical vignettes of campus life written by David Steenberg '24 for an advanced class in English composition will be featured. Other material in the issue will be a short story, 'The Curtain' by Catherine Davis '26, 'The Gentleman from Indiana' by George A. Jones '26 and poetry by Mary Zaturenska and myself."

"Current rumors to the effect that the editors contemplated publishing the Lit as a non-university magazine in case it should be suspended by university authorities are absolutely unfounded."

DYKEMA ANSWERS JAZZ STATEMENT

Says Jazz is Not America's Only Contribution to the Field of Music

That jazz has great possibilities is admitted by Prof. P. W. Dykema in answer to the assertion, made by a leading professor of the College of the Pacific before the California music teacher's conference, that jazz music is America's only contribution in the field of music.

"Jazz has in it an element of rhythm which can be used to advantage in good compositions, but this element of rhythm is over stressed by use of certain instruments, which give an undesirable effect," Professor Dykema said.

"As soon as this element is allowed to take its natural place among the other elements of music and is not over-worked and maltreated, jazz will be, because of its fine arrangement and length of tones, a real contribution to the field of music," he continued.

Professor Dykema stated that jazz was not the only contribution which America had made to the world's music but that he considered our native music, the music of the Indian and the Negro, a great contribution to music.

"America has done much by perfecting certain instruments such as the player piano and the phonograph," Prof. Dykema stated.

HOCKEY SQUAD POINTS TOWARD MICHIGAN GAMES

Coach Blodgett Now Correcting Faults Discovered in Marquette Game

Although Wisconsin's pucksters lost the first game of the season to Marquette last Saturday, Coach Bob Blodgett is by no means disheartened. The defeat showed him the big faults in the squad which must be worked out by next Friday when the varsity six clash with Michigan at Ann Arbor in the first conference match of the season.

Two games will be played with Michigan next weekend; one on Friday and the other on Saturday night. The Wolverines have their last year's team intact again this year, with the exception of the goal tender, but they have been handicapped by lack of ice to practice on. Wisconsin's green squad will have a merry battle to beat the men of Michigan, but this week's practice is expected to put the varsity six in excellent shape.

Poor combination playing was the biggest fault last Saturday, but a week's intensive practice should overcome this. Several of the men were unaccustomed to the positions they played last Saturday, but with the excellent condition of the ice they should not experience any trouble in removing this difficulty.

Although the varsity squad will be in Michigan during the weekend, an inter-class and inter-college tournament has been arranged so that the rink may be used. Many expert skaters will remain in Madison over the week-end, and since the ice on the rink is in fine condition fans may expect a rare treat.

FLIP-FLOPS FROM VARSITY GYMNASTS

"The gym team has greatly improved since its first meet with the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. and should turn the tables Saturday night at 7:30 when they meet them again," said Coach Schlatter last night.

Some weeks ago the Badger team lost to the Milwaukee men, but the coach thinks that the result this Saturday will be somewhat different. The only obstacle in the way now is the injury to Koch, who hurt his back in a fall from the rings. He was a stellar performer and it is hoped that he will be back soon. The men who will compete for Wisconsin in the coming meet are Capt. Stevens, Kress, Schmidt, Krueger, Heinke, Thompson and Reinhold.

An inter-college handball tourney is also being started by Coach Schlatter. It will be an elimination tournament, and the winners will receive their inter-college letters. It will be started Saturday afternoon. The coach wants all men who are interested to sign the bulletin he has posted near the handball courts.

WRESTLING DOPE

The varsity wrestling team, according to Coach Hitchcock, will have a hard job beating Chicago here on January 26, but he thinks it can be done. Chicago showed that it has a well-balanced team by defeating Northwestern last week 13 to 4.

Chicago's line-up has been received and is as follows: 115 pounds, H. O. Takaki; 125 pounds, H. S. Ball; 135 pounds, G. A. Graham and A. M. Landa; 145 pounds, Captain G. Tsoulos; 158 pounds, L. Schimberg; 175 pounds, K. Sarpolius; heavyweight, G. Kaivaniemi. The official for the meet will be Mr. H. P. Troundly, a graduate of Nebraska. While at Nebraska, he was inter-collegiate 135 pound champion for two years.

The coach is now lining up his All-American team, which will be made up of second and third string varsity men. Eliminations in two of the classes, 145 and 175, are still in progress but will soon be decided. The only worry Coach Hitchcock now has is that Hanson, 115

Two Intramural Hockey Games This Week-end

Two intramural hockey games will be featured on the lower campus rink this Friday and Saturday in which the Frosh team will participate. On Friday at 3:30 the Frosh will encounter the All-Americans while on Saturday at 2:00 they will meet a team composed of grad students.

The All-Americans have two strong men in Emmertz and Halls. Emmertz won the Chicago Tribune Silver skates Derby a few years ago.

The outstanding attraction of the two meets will be the appearance of two Canadians on the grad team in Saturday's game. These men are J. E. Hawley of Kingston, Ontario and W. G. Barrett of Williamstown, Ontario. Both men have come to Wisconsin from Queen's College, Canada to take grad work. Weeks, an old "W" man, will also assist in the intended annihilation of the Frosh. The Frosh team is composed of Mason, Lidiker, Jansky, Morhead and Teich.

Over half of this column will be devoted to the great Diebold—he deserves it, doesn't he? His picture was printed in the Cardinal yesterday with the caption, "He saved the Day,"—yes, and he saved plenty of the stuff that makes the day go round too.

Just before the game started last night, Marsh sank one right from the middle of the floor. As he came underneath the basket to get it, several fans yelled "Atta boy Marsh." Whereupon he turned around and said, "Aw I didn't mean it."

Members of the basketball squad contribute this one. After the game Gibson asked Diebold what he thought of the game. Diebold answered, "Boy, I'm glad I don't have to play against us."

A lot of credit is due Capt. Gibson, folks. He's the main cog in that passing combination, and works darn hard. He's the man who bears the brunt of the opponent's smashing, don't forget.

We hear the regents are going to dedicate a new gym to the basketball team for their good showing. Then a shot rang out, and we all awoke.

Time trials once more for the swimmers, and then to Iowa. Even the water basketball team is going. The entire squad of 25 men are leaving in a private car Friday.

In a few days this column will publish a post-conference standing of the basketball teams in the Big Ten. It's almost an impossible task, but the requests of the readers must be satisfied.

VARSITY DEFEATS FROSH SWIMMERS

Johnny Bennett Stars in 44-22 Win Over Yearlings Last Night

The varsity swimmers walked over the frosh for the third time last night in the final practice meet. The final score was 44 to 24. Johnny Bennett, last year's captain, was in the line-up and helped bring home the relay to the varsity for the first time this season.

Flueck, who had been ill for some time, reported for the meet and took third in the 40 yard dash, besides swimming a fast lap for the regulars in the relay.

The result of the meet was as follows:

Relay—won by varsity in 1:20 3-5 (Crane, Frazier, Flueck, Bennett).

Dives—McGinnis, frosh, 73 1/4 out of a possible 80; Wheatley, frosh, 71 1/4; Simpkins, varsity, 71.

Wisconsin Will Not Arrange For Japs' Schedule

The University of Wisconsin Athletic Council is willing to play the University of Miji, Japan, in baseball if the Orientals come to this country, but the Badgers will not attempt to arrange a schedule for them, the council decided this week.

Mr. Jones wrote to T. E. Jones asking whether or not he would assume the responsibility of arranging a baseball schedule for them in this country.

Mr. Jones took the matter before the council and it was decided that all Wisconsin could do would be to play Miji's team here—and not assume the responsibility for their schedule in this country.

TWO GAMES PLAYED IN Y. M. C. A. LEAGUE

Men on Various Floors of University "Y" Decide Athletic Supremacy

Two snappy games opened play in the University Y. M. C. A. basketball league last night when the fourth floor beat the second 12 to 6 and the first floor defeated the third 20 to 10.

The different floors of the Y. M. C. A. have often disputed their basketball prowess verbally; last night the teams played in a determined manner to prove their contentions. In the second floor-fourth game the play was tight until the latter part of the second half when the "men from the roof" came from behind and won. The first floor men, on the other hand, had little difficulty in trimming the third floor.

The winning teams will meet in the near future to determine the supremacy. Other non-frat groups are expected to form teams in the interest of further athletics of this kind.

The lineups are as follows:

Fourth Floor (12)	Second Floor (6)
Lane	R. F.
Hummell	L. F.
Purvis	C.
Hubin, Bick	R. G.
Wichern	L. G.
First Floor (20)	Third Floor (10)

SPORT COURSE NOW OFFERED IN EXTENSION WORK

Basketball, Football and Track Courses Are Now Given By Mail

Many basketball coaches, members of various basketball teams, and others interested in this sport are taking advantage of the new correspondence course in basketball now offered by the University of Wisconsin Extension division.

The course gives expert instruction in the technique of the game, having been prepared last year by Dr. W. E. Meanwell, varsity basketball coach. It is especially appropriate at this time of the year, for those who take advantage of it now can at once apply the principles taught in their games. Previous to last year, such a course had never been offered by any university, according to Prof. W. H. Lighty, secretary of the correspondence-study department.

Before coming to Wisconsin, Dr. course, was coach at the University of Missouri, where his team won the Missouri Valley championship twice in two seasons. In 1912 he was called to Wisconsin as coach. His short pass offense and his five man defense have been quite generally adopted in basketball.

The other correspondence courses, one in football and one in track and field athletics, also prepared last year afford opportunity for instruction in these sports. Prof. T. E. Jones, chairman of the department of physical education, is in charge of the course in track, and the course in football is directed by Prof. Guy S. Lodwman, of the athletic department.

Wisconsin Game Causes Jones to Leave Iowa

Disagreement with the Iowa faculty, arising out of the insistence of the Hawkeye professors that a game with Wisconsin be scheduled, is to be the real reason for the retirement of Howard Jones from the post of director of athletics and football coach at Iowa. The retirement of Jones, which came as a distinct surprise to the college athletic world, was said to be caused by "ill health" and a "desire for part time coaching" in the Iowa announcement.

Well informed sources in the conference say that the faculty, desiring to be on good terms with Wisconsin, forced Jones to take a game with the Badgers. Wisconsin got but three games out of the original schedule grab held in Chicago on December 2, and none were home games. At that meeting Howard Jones had refused to schedule a game with Wisconsin, despite the urging of Professor Lambert, Iowa's faculty representative.

Jones took the attitude that a game with Wisconsin would ruin otherwise fine championship hopes for 1924 and would be disastrous to Iowa's prestige, but the university authorities insisted that the game be scheduled and it was arranged for November 15 at Madison.

Then Jones is said to have taken the position that he should be awarded a bonus for his 1924 services if the faculty were going to risk his reputation as a coach by scheduling games he deemed inadvisable. The faculty refused to listen and so Jones sought another job. Trinity is reported to have made him a big offer, for the Carolina school believes that Jones will put it on the athletic map.

Heilman Gets Contract for New Athletic Field

An agreement has been reached with Mr. Jones authorizing the sale of the old field donated to the city by him for playground purposes, the proceeds to go toward purchase of the Burrows block from the Wisconsin Historical society.

THIRTEEN DAYS

There are 13 more studying days left before examinations, to borrow the phrase used by merchants during the period which precedes Christmas. As those thirteen days gradually pass away, some students will become more and more worried, some will become panic stricken, some even may give up the educational ghost. As the final ordeal draws nearer various devices will be invented for cramming knowledge into wearied heads. Some of the methods may be good, some may be bad.

Perhaps the best method, however, is one which has been advanced by teachers on the hill in courses on how to study. Yes, there was a time when such courses were given, and to great advantage too. The method is one of question and answer. It is an acknowledged fact that if a student knows enough about a subject to ask intelligent questions about it, to ask questions such as might be asked on an examination paper, he must know a good deal about it. Anyway, this is the theory upon which the method was founded.

According to it, the student should make out a list of questions on the subject. The questions should do three things, cover the subject matter completely, have some relationship to each other, and be such that they can not be answered by "yes" or "no." In making out the questions the student should first go over the subject matter carefully, taking a chapter at a time. When a chapter is covered, a set of questions should be written out dealing with the matter therein treated.

Such a system will assure knowledge of the subject. As the student asks the question, the answer will form itself in his mind. But if the answer does not suggest itself, then the student should search it out. This method may also confront the student with phases of his subject which perhaps never dawned on him before. It may also give him questions which the instructor himself may ask in the examination. If great care is taken to make each question intelligent, cover a certain part of the work, bear some relationship to other questions and be such that a full answer is required, the method will prove of great benefit to the student, and thought of the days to come may not be tinged by so much sadness.

A WINTER BUDGET

In speaking of preparation for the examinations, the plan of budgeting time was called to mind. Families, states, nations, in order that they may not spend more than their incomes, outline a budget of the amount of money which will be at their disposal during a certain period of time. The income of every student is the same, 24 hours a day. In order that he may not try to do more work than can possibly be done in that time, it would be well for him to outline each day, plan it like a railroad schedule. A certain amount of time should be set aside for sleeping, a certain amount for eating, a certain amount for studying, and a certain amount for playing. If the student makes out his program he will find that he will not be taking on too much extra work and so be trying to make the day twice or three times as long as the Creator intended it should be.

Perhaps it may seem unnecessary to say it, but the last named division of time is almost as important as the rest. You know the old saw about Jack being a dull boy. Some people who are not well acquainted with state universities think that all students do is play. But play is essential to the welfare of the student, especially if it is the right kind. A few hours skating, an afternoon of skiing or hiking these days, make about the best sort of cramming that can be had. Fresh air and exercise; they are two first class teachers' assistants, and you will do well to get some of them.

SAFETY FIRST

Warnings can not be reiterated too frequently. The Cardinal has warned skaters and ice-boaters before. Now again, it serves as a medium for a warning from a man whose business it is to know a good deal about the condition of the lake.

Accidents of a minor character are almost bound to happen each year during the winter months, but their number can be lessened if students take precaution to heart. The danger this year of ice-boating accidents is in a way greater than any year for some time past because of the fact that the usual crack is situated this year so that it must be crossed and re-crossed by student sailors. There are places where crossing is an easy matter, but they are few and far between. If they are not searched out carefully, accidents are bound to happen. If a boat, going at full speed should strike the crack in one of the roughest places it may mean a smash up in which the participants may be thrown with a deal of velocity for a long distance with disturbing results, perhaps even serious results, and the wrecking of a boat. Student ice-boaters are advised to pick their crossings cautiously and to approach them slowly.

Last year a man was drowned on Lake Monona at the mouth of the Yahara river. There the ice is weak where the river water flows into the lake. The same situation is true on Mendota and skaters are warned to keep away from the mouth of the river.

THE AMERICAN PEACE AWARD

Chosen from among the 22,165 proposals submitted for the American Peace Award, the winning plan as published today represents "the best practical plan by which the United States may cooperate with other nations to achieve and preserve the peace of the world." As such it is put before the citizenry of the nation for the approval and ratification.

Reiterating the sentiments of the oldest advocates of international amity, the all-inclusive scope of any effective organization for the linking together of the various nations in the pursuit of peace is stressed as the primary requisite to any action this country may take. Designed to formulate the policies that guide the organized world, one and only one international bond is necessary to accomplish the idea interdependence of nations which is proposed. More than one, all concede, would merely work to the destruction of each.

The League of Nations, recast according to the plans of the author of the winning program of action, is the cure-all made available through its already extensive organization. In the light of public opinion expressed on various phases of the League program, many derogatory retorts can be anticipated, and the biased notion which many non-thinking enemies of the League retain will influence some to a rejection of the plan on the basis of their failure to appreciate the power of the organization if properly modified. If accomplishing nothing greater, however, the referendum, should disclose the national sentiment upon the several issues of the League of Nations treated in the plan.

Presupposing the success of the plan is a national ballot, even in congressional ratification, the problem of actual adoption would necessarily hinge upon the acceptance by the League of the several modifications demanded in Articles X and XVI of the Covenant. The most interesting feature of the prize suggestion is the total absence of any new suggestions or views upon the solution of the present international situation. Its merit bears witness to the fact that America's statesmen have been thinking, for from 22,165 different contributions, the best is but an idea of several years standing.—The Michigan Daily.

According to statistics, the library is the busiest place in Madison. If that's the case, not many students should have to worry about the oncoming examinations.

Michiganers must have felt about the same way as the Badgers felt night before last.

MANY ASK ABOUT CHANGE IN ROOMS

Students May Move When Conditions Are Poor, Deans' Offices Say

With the approaching end of the first semester, the eternal question of room changes again comes up. Many students have inquired as to the rules governing changes from their present locations and if they would be held to written contracts made at the beginning of the first semester.

The office of the Dean of Men encourages a change if the room is not entirely satisfactory.

"We believe that if a student has not had a satisfactory room the first semester, he should look for a change, but the landlady should be given notice enough so that she can rent her room. Written contracts are only enforced for one semester, so that if any contracts were made for a year, they will have no bearing whatsoever in making a change," a member of the office said.

Room lists are now being made up in the Dean of Men's office.

"The only requirements we have for women is that they give their house mother notice that they intend to move. This gives her an opportunity to list her room with us," Mrs. C. B. Flett who has charge of the housing problem for women, said.

The Y. M. C. A. requires a week's notice if the student intends to room elsewhere the second semester. According to Mr. M. J. Heisman, the business manager, prospects look good for next semester.

LAW DEAN VOTES FOR BOK SCHEME

Northwestern Professor Declares American People Should Ratify Plan

Because the Bok peace plan means "co-operation without obligation" and is a mild form of "entanglement" compared to obligations already undertaken, Dean John H. Wigmore, of the Northwestern university law school voted favorably for the plan which is being voted on all over the country.

"I am voting for the Bok peace plan as selected by Mr. Root's committee, first, because I am convinced that they have selected the best plan out of the 22,000 submitted. Secondly, I vote for it because I am in favor of any feasible plans which means America's more active co-operation in the world's affairs," Dean Wigmore said.

If the American people want peace, the only way to demonstrate this desire is by this referendum, which squarely raises the issue, Dean Wigmore believes.

President Birge has offered to help the committee in its final deliberations. This group will nominate several men as the best all-around leaders on the campus. The membership of the Y. M. C. Planning a recognition for the award, a convocation has been granted by the university. The address will be published under the title, "Kenneth Sterling Day Lecture on Young Men and Religion."

Compromise Ends Chicago Milk War After Long Battle

CHICAGO — The milk strike, which began Jan. 1, was ended early today when producers and dealers agreed on a price of $2.67 1/2 a hundred pounds for a three month's contract.

The price agreed upon is a compromise between $2.60 offered by the dealers and $2.75 for six months or $2.85 for three months demanded by the farmers.

The settlement was reached after a meeting which lasted five hours held through the efforts of Dr. Herman N. Bundesen, health commissioner.

President Frank T. Holt of the producers, who include dairy farmers in Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, stated that milk would be delivered at the bottling plants in the country 100 per cent by Wednesday morning.

During the strike, pickets of dairy farmers attempted to dissuade farmers who delivered milk to the country bottling plants and deputies were called in some sections of Wisconsin to prevent dumping of milk destined to the city.

Health Commissioner Bundesen acted as intermediary during the meeting which resulted in a settlement both sides first convening in separate sessions early last night.

Local Fight Is Still On

Another attempt to settle the milk price fight in the Madison district will be made Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of directors of the Madison Milk Producers' association with Dr. E. V. Brumbaugh city health officer, and representatives of the patrons of the Capital Dairy Co., it was announced on Tuesday.

The meeting will be held at the courthouse beginning at 2 o'clock. Milo K. Swanton is president of the producers' association.

COOL SPEAKS ON COLLEGE SPORTS

Gives Lecture "The Professor in Camp Randall" Before Lions' Club

"If it wasn't for the faculty we'd have a good team is an old saying, but on the other hand you might hear it said that if it wasn't for the students the university might be a fine place," Prof. C. D. Cool of the Spanish department said in an address on the "Professor in Camp Randall" given yesterday before the Lions club.

Professor Cool told how he coached a prospective catcher who claimed he was the best received in the Big Ten, and then in the first game he played let the first two pitches get by him while the crowd howled, "Kill Cool."

He declared that the first semester at the university was a "jazz nemesis" because of the large crowds which come to attend the football games. The bigger the crowd, the greater the excitement, said he, and the harder it is for a professor to maintain his classes and to keep the students up-to-date in their work.

"We all love to see a winner," Prof. Cool said. "I've yelled at Michigan, and I've yelled at Harvard, and I've yelled as loud as anybody until the lining was all gone from out of my throat at Camp Randall."

Bureau Forecasts

The weather bureau predicts another cold spell for tonight.

For the first time in twelve years, Madison had a temperature of twenty-five degrees below zero in January, according to Eric R. Miller of the University Weather bureau. In 1912, when this low temperature last occurred, there were ten consecutive days of weather below zero. So far this month, there have only been a little over two consecutive days of such weather.

Last January was very mild in comparison with this one. Two degrees above zero was the lowest temperature.
