Accident

One time some Oneidas were hired to go pick blueberries somewhere up north, probably Munising. He got a vehicle here, a big car and they got in the automobile, those who were hired. They were riding somewhere and it tipped over on them. Some white people pretty soon made a crowd and they helped these Oneidas. Some who were hurt were let off in town at a hospital. Others they say they just cleaned them up and they recovered. Around where they had their accident they say there were various loaves of corn bread since they were carrying their lunch. These white people thought they saw some kind of stone lying around.
