BAND TO MARCH IN BIG SEND-OFF FOR FINAL GAME

Badger Band of 130 Pieces and Maroon Organization Will Play Between Halves

The team will be given its last send-off for the final game of the 1923 season with Chicago tomorrow morning.

Following a mass meeting to be held on the lower campus at 6:45 o'clock the student body, headed by the band, will march to the Chicago and Northwestern station to see the team off.

The train carrying the varsity, freshmen, and all-American teams, will leave at 7:25 o'clock.

130 Pieces Attend

The full complement of 130 pieces will attend the Chicago game," Major E. W. Murphy announced yesterday. The subscription of $1,300 collected during the Michigan game last Saturday, is sufficient to care for the band's transportation and all other expenses incurred on the trip.

"Members are privileged to travel to Chicago individually," Major Murphy said. "All tickets are via the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad and may be obtained from me today."

To Unite in Pageant

The band will assemble in full uniform at the Morrison hotel, Mason and Clark streets, Chicago, Saturday noon, and will be taken to Stagg field by train. Before the game the Wisconsin and Chicago bands will play independently before the stands, but between halves, both will unite in a pageant on the field. Songs of both universities will be played by the combined organization a band of 200 pieces.

Members of the Wisconsin band expressed satisfaction with the cooperative arrangement arrived at by the two university bands.

GRID-GRAPH PRICE REMAINS AT 50 CTS.

Jones Declares Fans Must Pay New Rate For Maroon Wire Game

The admission price for the Chicago grid-graph game Saturday afternoon will be 50 cents, Frank Nickerson announced yesterday. This price was determined before the Indiana game, and is the same admission that was charged for the Illinois grid-graph game.

Lyall J. Pinkerton '25, and Eugene W. Tuhtar '26, will have charge of operating the board. Pinkerton will control the switch, and Tuhtar the light representing the ball.

Proceeds from this game go into the interclass fund, which is separate from the other department funds.

Funeral Services of Richard Klare To Be Held Today

The funeral of Richard H. Klare '25, who died suddenly Monday morning, will be held at one o'clock this afternoon at the home of his aunt, at Fox River, Ill.

The services will be attended by 18 members of Delta Sigma Phi, fraternity brothers of Klare. They are to leave this morning by automobile.

Klare was a student in the College of Agriculture. Last year illness forced him to discontinue his school work, but he returned this fall apparently cured. Again taken ill, he was operated upon for an abscess of the brain last Saturday, but this time his sickness proved fatal.

Although Klare had made his home with his aunt at Fox River, he is survived by his mother, Mrs. Emma Klare, who lives at 1951 Seminary avenue, Chicago.

PLAN UNIQUE ACTS FOR FOLLIES DANCE

"Girls" Chosen From Haresfoot Dancing Class; Back Stage Depicted

Three acts, unique and different from any previously shown at a Haresfoot dance will be presented during intermission at the sixth annual Haresfoot Follies dance to be held Friday, November 30, in Lathrop hall. The program of acts is as follows: 1. Bill Purnell in "Just Filling In," 2. Why "All Our Girls Are Men, Yet Every One a Lady," 3. Jack Cornelius in "I've a Song for Sale," supported by the "Awkward Squad," from the Haresfoot dancing classes.

The first act will be a true representation of what takes place behind the scenes of a regular Haresfoot show. John McCausland '26, will be painted, rouged and dressed, with the help of Tom Morony '25, chief makeup man. He will entertain with a solo dance to the accompaniment of Willard Sumner '24 and Cecil Brodt '23.

"Just Filling In" is one of William H. Purnell's characteristic monologues. His last one presented in Madison, called "99 Per Cent Nerve and 1 Per Cent Ability" won first prize in Union Vodvil two years ago.

The last act is one in which 20 tuxed troubadours chosen from the Haresfoot dancing classes, which have been held since the beginning of the fall term, will support Jack Cornelius '23, in a song skit, accompanied by Sumner and Brodt's special 10 piece orchestra which will also furnish the evening's dance music.

Tickets for the Follies dance are $2 and will be placed on advance sale today at the University pharmacy and at Morgan's. Tickets will be limited to 250 to prevent overcrowding of the hall.

S. G. A. Gives $50 For Promotion of Therapeutic Work

To promote therapeutic work at the Bradley Memorial hospital, the executive board of S. G. A. voted an appropriation of $50 at its meeting held last night in Lathrop parlors. The money was appropriated from a $100 fund raised by the sale of buttons for Homecoming.

The remaining $50 was given to W. A. A. for its cottage fund.

A one week vocational conference will be held this year to help graduating women in selecting the vocation in which they are most interested, and for which they are best suited. During the week professors from the different courses in the university will give talks on their particular branch of work. At the end of the week the board plans to have an outside speaker here.

It was announced at the meeting that Dean Nardin will give a vocational talk to all freshmen women December 13.

Police Find No Indications That Booze Was for Students

Officers Throw Out Dragnet to Catch Second Chicago Bootlegger

Although a local newspaper printed glaring headlines in an extra edition last night stating that an automobile containing "student liquor" was seized by the police, nothing has yet been brought to light by the Madison police to prove the assertion.

The early report that the automobile seized at Lake street and University avenue yesterday afternoon by two officers, contained booze destined for university students has no foundation other than that the car was parked in the student quarter of the city when the arrest was made, according to the police.

Destination Not Known

The police late last night issued a statement in which it was said that the intended destination of the liquor cargo had not been learned.

One man listed on the police records as Joseph Sullivan, 3133 Madison street, Chicago, who was in the automobile containing the liquor when Detective Jesse Smith and Patrolman Bakken seized it, was placed under arrest and is being held by the police.

Seek Companion

A second man, who was with the machine when it arrived in Madison, was not found when the police rushed the car. Although the police waited for him, the unknown companion did not return.

A city-wide search was instituted but up to an early hour this morning no additional arrest was made.

VARSITY WRITERS ELECTED AT MEET

French and Lawler Named Officers at Sigma Delta Chi Convention

MINEAPOLIS, Minn.—Six Wisconsin men were elected to officer the national organization of Sigma Delta Chi, professional journalistic fraternity, in convention here.

Roy French '23 was elected to the executive council. R. R. Barlow, Wisconsin graduate and chairman of the journalism department at Minnesota, was elected second vice-president; W. E. Drips, alumni, secretary; Arthur Brayton, executive council; Prof. L. W. Murphy '21 executive council. Joseph Lawler '24 was named chairman of the constitutional revision and nominating committees.

Brayton was formerly editor of The Cardinal. He is credited with starting the skyrockets in 1912. Murphy is professor of journalism at the University of North Dakota. Drips is at present editor of the Wallace Farm Journal. Out of 38 chapters, French received votes from 34 organizations.

Foreign Flashes

BERLIN, Nov. 21.—Chancellor Stresemann and leaders of the German government today received letters from an unnamed writer threatening their lives.

HEIDELZERG, Nov. 21.—Terrible fighting between separatists and constitutionalists has resulted in the death of 130 lives this weekend. French partiality for the separatists is most striking in the "Autonomous Province of Piatinatate." The French recognized the separatist government here as soon as the fighting commenced and troops are protecting Separatist buildings. Colored Moroccans have arrested all municipal officials who failed to cooperate with the rebels, and separatist troops are quartered in French barracks.

In emphasizing the value of an education in this field, Winder remarked that everything learned at school can and should be put to practice.

2 GROUPS FIGHT FOR RECOGNITION AS OUTER GATE

Complicated Fight Clears as Goodnight Approves Ballam's Club

Two campus organizations are contesting for membership and for recognition under the name, "Outer Gate." As a result of dissension carried into the first and second meetings called by C. J. Ballam '26, a second organization for non-fraternity men is applying for recognition in Dean S. H. Goodnight's office.

The first Outer Gate organization which was started last year by Ballam, and now has 160 members, received the approval of the dean this afternoon when Ballam conferred with him.

"The other organization has drawn up a constitution which is now in Dean Goodnight's office for approval with the name place blank," Ballam stated yesterday.

Dean Gives Approval

"Dean Goodnight said that I should hold together the group of 160 members and have a constitution drawn up under the name, 'Outer Gate'."

F. G. Chandler who was elected president of the later organization Tuesday night said that Ballam believes he controls the memberships which are represented by cards he has on file, bearing his name as president.

"Outsiders came into the first two meetings called by me," Ballam stated. "At the first meeting they objected to the formation of any non-fraternity organization on the grounds that it was not needed and that I was anxious to push myself into prominence.

Outsiders Gain Entrance "At the second meeting the outsiders gained entrance after attempts had been made to keep them out, and because of their numbers they overruled the numbers of the original organization present, appointed a constitutional committee and decided to have the next meeting at the call of F. G. Chandler, chairman of their constitution committee. Accordingly, a meeting was called for Tuesday night, in which I took no part, and this new non-fraternity group elected officers."

Gordon Hecker '25 said yesterday that he was not present at the election meeting and wishes to have nothing to do with his new office of sergeant-at-arms.

THETA SIG DELEGATE TO LEAVE FOR CONVO

Doris Berning '24, has been chosen to represent Wisconsin at the district convention of Theta Sigma Phi, woman's journalistic fraternity, to be held in Appleton this week end. Miss Berning will leave Friday night and attend the meetings all day Saturday. Sophie Kerr, noted American authoress who has recently returned from Europe will be one of the speakers.

CHICAGO TICKETS STILL UNCLAIMED

Hunter Urges Students to Call For Pasteboards Today

Approximately 58 student applications to the Chicago game have been filled but are not yet delivered because of the failure of students to go to the gymnasium after their tickets.

The ticket office is open from 8 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock at night for ticket deliveries.

M. Paul Hunter, in charge of ticket sales, has requested that students who have not called for their tickets please do so today.

Any student who has lost his receipt for tickets may get his seats by applying at the gym today without the receipt.

STEBBINS TO SHOW STAR PHOTOMETRY

Lantern Slides Will Illustrate Astronomical Work to Electrical Engineers

Dr. Joel Stebbins, director of the Washburn observatory, will address the Madison section of the American Institute of Electrical engineers on the subject "The Electrical Photometry of Stars," at a meeting to be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the auditorium of the Engineering building. The meeting is open to the public.

Dr. Stebbins will outline the work now being carried on at the Washburn observatory in measuring the light of stars by means of a special device, the light of a star producing electric current, the strength of which gives the measure of the radiation received from the heavenly body. The minute variations of light in certain stars makes it possible to derive data regarding the weight, density and size as compared with our sun.

Lantern slides will be used to illustrate investigations being carried on. Professor Stebbins is recognized as an authority in astronomy and recently spent considerable time at the Cateline Island in making observations during an eclipse of the sun.

BADGER FANS WILL GAMBOLE AT DRAKE

Ralph Foot's orchestra will furnish the music for the party Saturday evening for all Wisconsin students in Chicago at the Drake hotel. Students from Iowa and Northwestern have also been invited. The young Humphrey couple of the Orpheum circuit is going to give some demonstration dances.

PLAN FOR LEADERSHIP WEEK DECEMBER 9-16

Leadership week will be held December 9 to 16 will be discussed at the meeting of the Sophomore commission at noon today. The committee in charge of the event is composed of Ben Anderson '26 chairman, Edwin Prien '26 and Otto Toenhart '26. It is planned to give all university men who want to avail themselves of the opportunity a chance to be charted for leadership.

Bobbed Hair "Ain't What It Used to Be" in the East

The old bobbed hair "ain't what it used to be" at Vassar and Smith colleges at least so far as heads clipped in the straight puritanical fashion of Sir Galahad, and the bushy clips after the fashion of Lenore Uulrich are concerned.

Locks have gone back to the style of the Helen of Troy and the Sappho whom they study.

Now and then a bobbed head is seen, particularly when the owner is attired in a riding habit or other sport clothes, but they are very few and far between and very brave in spirit.

Two years ago nearly half of the girls in the two colleges had clipped their locks. Today of the 2,098 women enrolled in Smith, the largest women's college in the country, only 30 or 40 girls are appearing with bobbed hair, and most of these are the little freshmen who have learned what isn't at Smith.

There seems to be no fixed style of coiffure. Each girl does her hair in the manner which she thinks best suits her particular type of pulchritude.

Co-eds Invading Ag School; Fifteen Enroll as Medics

Will the farmers of the future be women as well as men?

The fact that there are seven women who are taking the regular agricultural course this year signifies that farming is likely to become a popular woman's vocation. A growing number of women students is enrolling each year in the course.

Three freshmen registered for the course this fall and a senior is graduating this year in agricultural chemistry.

The study of medicine too, among women students is becoming more common. Fifteen are enrolled in the medical school now. Six of these will graduate this year.

AUTO TOURISTS SPEND $3.20 A DAY IN STATE

The auto tourist spent $3.20 a day in Wisconsin last summer in the opinion of N. A. Isabelle, highway commission department.

Reports were obtained from 3,920 people traveling in 1073 cars, by giving them cards to fill out when they entered the state and hand in when they left. The tourists stayed in Wisconsin 10.8 days, and spent $126 a car.

Approximately 60 per cent stayed at hotels, 36 per cent camped out, and the others stayed in summer homes. The use of the auto camps is increasing.

PROFS TO ATTEND HISTORY MEETING

Professors Carl Russel Fish and Frederic Logan Paxon will attend a meeting of the Historical conference council, held this week end, in New York. The purpose of this meeting is to make plans for the coming historical conference which will be held in New York during the week just following Christmas.

OPEN AIR THEATER DONS WINTER GARB

The open air amphitheater has been repaired in preparation for the coming winter. The seats have been repainted a dark green to protect them from the weather. The wire netting screens are being put away until spring comes.

More than 2,500 students are enrolled at Iowa State Teachers college this year, an increase of 15 per cent over any previous enrollment.

HARES CLUB INVITES STUDENTS TO DANCE

Wisconsin students are invited to attend the Hares club informal subscription dance at the Hotel Pfister, Milwaukee, Friday night, on their way to the Chicago game. A special attraction, "Pre-winter Revue," a song and dance act, will be featured between dances, according to Walter Bauman '24, chairman of the dance. The entire seventh floor of the hotel, including two ballrooms, has been reserved for the event.

BADGERS IN LAST PRACTICE TODAY FOR MAROON TILT

Williams and Blackman Favored to Start in Final Game

The last home practice of the season is scheduled for this afternoon when Coach Jack Ryan's Badgers work at Camp Randall.

Tomorrow afternoon they will take a light workout at Chicago in preparation for the windup game Saturday afternoon. The Wisconsin squad will leave Madison shortly after 7 o'clock tomorrow on the Chicago and Northwestern road.

With the gates closed at Camp Randall to everyone not directly connected with the team, Ryan has sent his charges through drill after drill during the past few days. Fans who were pleased at the versatility of the Cardinals against the Wolverines last week are certain to see plenty of action against the Maroons.

Rooters Have Faith

Badger rooters are primed to see their favorites walk over Chicago, and it will take a strong team in the Maroon camp to prevent that disaster. Taking the short end by the most heartbreaking scores has been the fate of the Wisconsin team this year, and a reverse is looked for Saturday.

Wisconsin presented a varied attack against the Michigan team, one which would have won even from the strong Maize and Blue under ordinary circumstances. With the same plays, and with an added week of drill Wisconsin will have plenty to work with.

The Wisconsin backfield which will face the Maroons is still in doubt, although that which started the Michigan game is favored. Williams looked good in his new role at half and will probably be used there Saturday.

Blackman still seems to have the edge over Nelson at right end, for he has been working at that position during the week's practice. It is also probable that Eagleburger may get into the fray. Irish and Taft, who have been suffering with hurt hands during the week, will be in the lineup Saturday.

Phi Sigma Kappa Retains Lead in Inter-frat Bowling

Phi Sigma Kappa retained its place as leader of the second division in interfraternity bowling after the half way round was played Tuesday night. Alpha Chi Sigma and Beta Theta Pi ranked second and third respectively.

A comparison of the three high teams in the first and second division shows that the two divisions are very evenly matched. The percentage of games won and lost by the three high teams in the first division is 832 while the corresponding percentage for the second division is 833.

The pairs for tonight's games in the first division are:

Seven o'clock: Sigma Pi vs. Triangle, Phi Delta Theta vs. Alpha Tau Omega, Alpha Sigma Phi vs. Delta Chi, and Alpha Theta Pi vs. Zeta Psi.

Nine o'clock: Theta Xi vs. Psi Upsilon, Phi Gamma Delta vs. Alpha Kappa Kappa, and Delta Pi Epsilon vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon.

RANDOLPH WINNER OF MEDIC TENNIS TROPHY

The fall tennis tournament of the medical school has been played through with H. S. Randolph, winner and Dr. H. C. Bradley runner up. This makes the third win for Randolph, and gives him possession of the medical mug trophy.

The Medical school holds a tennis tournament each spring and fall open to all students in the school, together with the faculty. A new cup will be offered for the spring tournament.

Three wins entitles the player to the cup. The tournaments have been fruitful in bringing together students of various classes and the faculty in friendly competition.

"Joe" Steinauer Entering on Eleventh Year at Wisconsin

"Joe" Steinauer, swimming coach is now entering upon his eleventh year of coaching work at Wisconsin working hard to turn out a swimming team even more successful than those of the past three years.

Steinauer came to Wisconsin in 1912 from Marquette university at Milwaukee after completing three years in the school of medicine. In 1912 he was trainer for the varsity football team. For the next two years he continued as trainer, but became interested in boxing and wrestling.

Coaches Gymnastics

While the swimming coach was absent, Steinauer coached the swimming team from January to March in 1914. For three years following he was in charge of gymnastics. During this time he assisted in coaching ice hockey, baseball and crew.

Steinauer was athletic director on the municipal pier at Chicago from May, 1918, to January. During this time he was enrolled in the navy.

After returning in 1919 he took over the coaching of swimming and has turned out highly successful teams the past three years.

Johnnie Bennett and Hugo Czerwonky, gained berths on all-American swimming teams as a result of training under Steinauer's coaching.

ENGINEER GRIDDERS

TO BATTLE L. AND S.

The last game of the inter-class freshman football tournament will be played tomorrow afternoon when the Letters and Science team clashes with the Engineers at Camp Randall. The game is scheduled to start at 3:30.

The Letters and Science team is leading in the tournament having suffered no defeats, but the Engineers have a chance to cop the coveted numerals if they win tomorrow's game.

Both teams have a wealth of material. Barofsky, flashy little quarterback, is playing with the Letters and Science team and he is expected to star for his team. Postell, captain and end of the L. and S. team is also expected to show up well. Captain Muegge of the Engineers will probably be their star.

The freshman team will leave for Chicago Saturday morning to watch the Wisconsin-Chicago game, and the frosh will be taken on the field with the Varsity.

Two thousand old grads of Creighton university returned for the homecoming game with the Haskell Indians.

Today's column is dedicated to the old Wisconsin "never-die" Spirit!

To start off with, we want every Badger out on the lower campus at a quarter to seven tomorrow morning to give the team the best sendoff it has had yet. Are you on? A band composed of seventy pieces will lead the gang, and if a Wisconsin team ever got a sendoff it should get it now. LET'S GO!

Go Get Chicago—Wisconsin spirit never dies! That's our slogan for this week. The town is painted white, Chicago expects to hear that spirit resounding through its streets, and we're going to put 'er across aren't we? LET'S GO once more.

This is the last time we can show the team our appreciation and stick-to-it-iveness. Our pep and spirit has been showing up better every week, just like a rolling snowball. We want to make this last one the best of all. Roll out of bed with a smile on your face and step out with some noise.

Go Get Chicago—Wisconsin spirit never dies! So say the team, and so say we. LET'S GO for the third time.

The Chicago and Wisconsin bands are going to cooperate and do stunts between the halves together instead of having the "funny stuff" as was the case last year. Chicago has handed us some real sportsmanship by consenting to go together on the proposition. Yea Chicago.

That brings up something else. We all want to have that five year contract with Chicago renewed this year. Chicago and Wisconsin have always been on good athletic relations, and because of our nearness to each other, another proposition should go through. We want Chicago. Wisconsin is wanted by Chicago.

Last night the boys worked until after dark perfecting their offense and defense. Ryan realizes Stagg wants to win this game, and will open up his bag of tricks to do it. He also has some darn good material

Annual Football Banquet to Start Pep For Big Game

The University of Wisconsin club of Chicago are eager to see undergraduate students and Madison alumni attend the annual "stag" football banquet to be held Friday at 6:30 o'clock in the main dining room of the La Salle hotel at Chicago.

We want undergraduates at the university to realize they are welcome at this banquet, at which we hope to start the pep that will put the team across the following afternoon," declares Robert Crawford, secretary of the Wisconsin Alumni Association.

One hundred tickets have been placed on sale at the bursar's office and may be purchased for $3 each by students. The banquet is expected to surpass all previous attempts to pep up the men before the game, as Charles L. Byron, president of the club, has arranged a fine program of speakers and amusements.

Judge Bruce to Speak

Judge A. A. Bruce, '90, father of Wisconsin football, and noted as a famous humorist, will be the feature of the evening, while Judge John C. "Ikey" Karel '95, one of Wisconsin's greatest football heroes is also on the program. The Hon. Evan A. Evans '92, judge of the United States circuit court of appeals, will join his fellow jurists in entertaining.

Coach Jack Ryan and Dr. Walter E. Meanwell will represent the campus on the speakers' end of the program and will give the alumni and the students the latest "dope" on the two leading Wisconsin sports.

The Haresfoot club will put on several good acts to afford the amusement of the evening. The six piece Kikmi orchestra will play several numbers, a ball room dance will be given by John McCausland and Thomas Niles, a whistling act by Wayne Limberg, Porter Butts, Thomas Moroney and Jack Cornelius will give a short comedy skit and Bill Purnell will finish up the program with an original monologue.

on hand to slip in as subs, McCarty and Francis, two all-Cook-county backs, should see some action against our boys.

That's all for today—every body out at 6:45 remember—tomorrow morning—lower campus—LET'S GO for the fourth time today.

HARRIERS LEAVE TODAY TO RUN IN BIG TEN MEET

Runners Practice Hard to Get in Shape for Annual Race

The varsity cross country squad leaves for Columbus, Ohio, at 4 o'clock this afternoon, where they will take part in the annual conference meet Saturday.

Six men will accompany Coach Burke on the trip. They are Captain Finkle, Bergstresser, Swingle, Piper, Read and Valley. The small squad is required by conference rules.

Runners Working Hard

The Cardinal harriers have been putting in a hard stretch of practice the last few days in a last effort to perfect their condition to the highest point possible. The meet with Michigan last Saturday proved to be a setback for the varsity men, as it was the first defeat of the season. However, the Wolverine team is considered one of the strongest in the conference and doppers are giving them first choice for honors at the Ohio meet.

Illinois, Ames, and Ohio State loom with Michigan as the strongest contenders entered in the race. The Buckeye runners appear strong since their victory over Michigan and Illinois in a triangular meet held at Ann Arbor recently. Michigan, however, was seriously handicapped at the time with Davis, their best man, hampered with an injured ankle. To show that he is capable of doing better, he finished in a tie for first place with his teammate, Captain Arndt, in the meet here Saturday.

RYAN, JONES, BELOW SPEAKERS AT BANQUET

Coach Jack Ryan, Tom Jones, and Marty Below spoke at the high school banquet held Tuesday night at the K. C. hall.

The mention of Ryan's name brought forth great handclapping and cheering from the crowd, proving conclusively that Ryan is popular with young Madison.

Jones spoke particularly on the men who have been graduated from local high schools, making the university football team and becoming stars on the gridiron.

SCALPING

CAUSE FOR EDITORIAL IRE

The editorial columns of The Cardinal this year have been both lauded and condemned for their frankness and freedom of expression as well as their definiteness of stand.

One criticism has come, however, which seems to the editors both pertinent and just, and that is that the aim of an editorial should at all times be constructive rather than destructive. Whether or not the policies of the paper have been one or the other this year is for the reader to determine.

There are occasions, however, when the editorial writer's ire and his sense of righteous indignation sometimes overbalances his intent toward constructive advice. Not to lament at some of the evil practices in which some insidious group of students continually seems to engage, seems to the editors to be spineless and evident of a shirking of duty.

Such a feeling of righteous indignation annually arises at this time of the year when tales of ticket prices for intercollegiate games being increased two or three hundred per cent reach the student ears.

Right now tickets for the Chicago game are wanted by many. Perhaps those students who desire them are at fault themselves for not ordering at the time specified. Nevertheless, it is true that there are students in school who are holding one, two or more tickets until they get to Chicago where they expect to sell the tickets for ten dollars or more.

The important point to Wisconsin, however, is not that a few tardy students have missed their chances to obtain tickets, but that alumni all over the middle west, finding that no tickets can be had in Chicago, have written their undergraduate friends, and they in turn, must write back to the grads in an apologetic tone that the tickets are all in the hands of student speculators and that the cheapest seat is held at $10.

One student on the hill is known to have twenty Chicago tickets in his possession which he plans to sell in Chicago for student individuals for a ten per cent commission.

Parallel to this case is that of Prof. Ned Gardner, who is unable to obtain a ticket anywhere for a great friend of Wisconsin who has written in—a man who has donated $10,000 to the Memorial Union.

Shall the private interests of a few individuals, who are illegally seeking gain, work against the bigger and better interests of the entire school?

Yesterday someone called a fraternity house in answer to an advertisement for tickets in The Cardinal. The query over the phone from the person who had the tickets was "What's your proposition?"

That there is a wholesale scalping of Chicago tickets on the Wisconsin campus is evident. Nothing more can be said than that these men are obtaining gain in an illegal manner and are perpetrating an act which shows disloyalty to school and tends to commercial corruption of the great game of football.

The Student court yesterday intimated that it had information regarding the scalping of tickets and that, if necessary, prosecution would follow.

Perhaps this court threat should be sufficient to refer to the scalping offenders, (it worked last year), but it does seem that perhaps something constructive editorially might have been done, if these men can be urged to give up their illegal plans and to dispose in a just way of the extra tickets which they have and which so many students and alumni are calling for.

FIAT JUSTITIA

The recent action of the Student court in suspending a student from the university for failure to appear before the court has caused considerable comment on the campus. No one, apparently, was aware that this hitherto unobtrusive organization was capable of such drastic action as the suspension and reinstatement of students at its own pleasure. The comment most frequently heard is: "Where do they get that stuff?"

This is not the place to point out the source of their power and authority; it is sufficient to say that they have both, in ample measure. In fact, there is nothing to hinder them from suspending the entire student body, if they should be so inclined. As far as we know, however, there is no present intention of taking this action.

The court is engaged in the laudable occupation of investigating election frauds, and in order to do so efficiently it is of course necessary for it to have some means of securing the attendance of witnesses. No one enjoys testifying, least of all before an amateur court, but testimony is necessary. Without evidence the court cannot make its findings or render its decisions, and becomes a thing of little moment.

There is a neat legal proverb, the Latin for which we used to know, which says in effect: "Let there be Justice though the heavens fall." This appears to be the attitude of both sides to the present controversy. In other words, it is a fight to the finish between the suspenders and the suspender. As yet the heavens are not visibly falling—but it isn't over yet.

Other Editors Say—

WHEN THE WINE CUP OVERFLOWS

Alumni, students, faculty and family—upon which of these groups must the ultimate responsibility for the liquor problem in the University rest? That there is a problem, and a serious one, no one will venture to deny. But the responsibility—to what source is it directly traceable?

Recently a regent of the university made a statement in Chicago before a representative body of university administrative officials that alumni were almost entirely responsible for the lamentable situation in university fraternal organizations. Alumni, he stated, exert such an influence on the helpless undergraduate as to invite him to drink against his better judgment in emulation of his superiors.

The faculty cannot be held responsible for student intemperance. They in every way have striven to eradicate the evil and have recently in Michigan, through the medium of the University Senate taken measures which are likely to prove a potent factor in eliminating excess drinking among students. They have taken their stand in the matter in a commendable way.

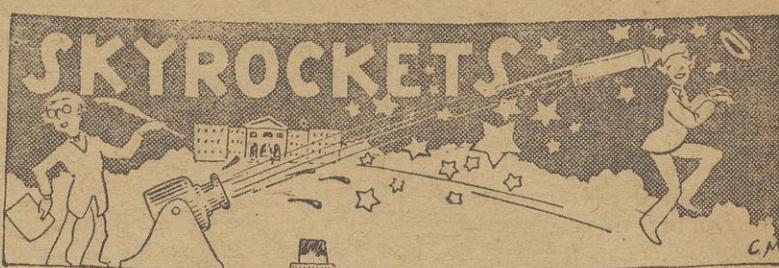

The ultimate responsibility for existing conditions rests, however, with the students themselves. All of the above-mentioned factors play a part in shaping their lives, but if they permit such influences to dominate against all reason they automatically become unworthy of the privileges of which they are partaking. The college student body must assume seriously its responsibility as the "upper three per cent" and set an example of conduct for those who do not have equal advantages of education and culture. True character, individuality—these are the necessary attributes of the college student of today.—The Michigan Daily.

THE ISSUE

Editor The Cardinal:

Eckie begs the issue in citing a rule that does NOT excuse the lack of alertness on the part of both himself and Mumma in their failure to notice that Rockwell was downed and held down by two Wisconsin tacklers for a period considerably longer than prevailed during the balance of the game. Wisconsinites are not questioning Rockwell's right to get up and run under circumstances (the whistle not having been blown) but they do stoutly maintain that both Eckie and Mumma erred in not blowing their whistles indicating that the ball was dead. The citation of all the rules in the world will not change the fact that Rockwell was down, tackled and held from making further forward progress and that Eckie and Mumma, or one of them, should have seen this and blown a whistle accordingly. It was a hollow victory for Michigan, and the grandeur of the Wisconsin spirit was shown through the manliness of Below and his men in escorting Eckie off the field.

As a Wisconsin man, I decry the bad judgment of o—band leader in starting our band around the field playing "On Wisconsin" while the Michigan band was playing the Michigan Toast.

It was a bit of mental lapses and bad judgment on the part of our band leader, which should never, never again be repeated. Wisconsin's reputation as fair and hospitable hosts should never again be tarnished by such a display of incivility.

SKYROCKETS

rhyme, it does not scan, and it makes free with what are called the most sacred ideals and ideas of patriotism and of the Christian religion. In a day and age where reverence means little to the younger generation, (I belong to it); and in a state where to be patriotic lays one open to the charge of being militaristic, it is still surely not to much to ask that the publication which represents (?) the student body should refrain from publishing a "poem" neither smart nor inventive, which yet outrages the finer sensibilities of so large a part of that publications' readers.

So many of us had brothers, or fiancées, or fathers, or cousins in the war;—so many of us, with heavy hearts, scanned the "lists" each day fearing to see some dear one's name,—and, at last, when the Armistice came—!

"Oh Father Flea
All thanks to Thee
For Hero Fleas and Pe—ce."
Is it possible that human beings can forget so quickly? Is it possible that even "Flaming Youth" can travesty so rudely and crudely that finer instinct—(of the animal known as 'Man')—a searching for God?

Apparently "Knox and Kismet" can, (or perhaps they were "conscientious objectors.") At any rate they permitted the "Flea Fable" to appear in their column. And the editor, or advisor, or whoever has that job on the Cardinal staff, because of laxness, or carelessness, or "don't careness," allowed the wretched stuff to be printed. For no reason conceivable will I allow it to pass unchallenged...but I admit a personal bias in the fact that my boy did not come back from France.

SATURDAY TO SEE FINAL GRID GAMES

Badger-Maroon Battle at Chicago is Big Game in West

Chicago and Wisconsin, traditional enemies, meet in the Midwest's outstanding game Saturday, while the ownership of the conference crown, as well as the final standings of the teams, will be determined by other Big Ten games at that time.

The luckless Badgers, for some unknown reason, have always fought their hardest against the Midway eleven and this year they seem destined to carry home the bacon. Coach Ryan has developed the smoothest running, most highly concentrated offensive that Badger fans have witnessed for several years and his men have both the ability and the spirit to carry the Maroons off their feet.

Taft Great Fullback

Instead of splitting his offense into several parts Coach Ryan has built the entire attack about Merrill Taft with the result that he is undoubtedly the most feared fullback in the country. Taft punts, passes, hits the line, drives off tackle, and skirts the ends. He does everything that any backfield man can do and besides is a powerful defensive player. If he continues to play as he did against Michigan he will have every chance of ending up on Walter Camp's All-American eleven.

Harris, Holmes, Williams and Schneider are all good for gains and can be counted on to carry the ball within scoring distance of Chicago's goal.

The Chicago crushing attack is likely to run up against a stone wall when it hits the Wisconsin forward line. From tackle to tackle there is not a better line in the conference, while the work of the ends in Saturday's game speaks for itself.

Maroon Stars Fail

Bill Zorn, John and Harry Thomas, and Cant. Pyott are good men but they will have to display better football than they have so far this year if they hope to score on the Badgers.

Games at Columbus and Ann Arbor will decide whether the conference crown is held securely by one team or is shared jointly by two schools. Illinois, Michigan, and Minnesota, aspirants for the title, must win their final game to be in the running. If the Suckers beat Ohio, and Michigan wins from Minnesota, the title will rest jointly with them, while if the Gophers win their game Illinois will have a secure hold on first place, for Minnesota's record is marred by its scoreless tie with Wisconsin.

Yost is handicapped by injuries. Uteritz, Blott, Vandervoort and Steele are out of the game. Kipke has been a marked man all season and seems unable to get away for any of his open field runs that lodged him on Camp's All-American team last year.

Minnesota has three of the best men in the conference in Martineau, Ecklund and Abrahamsen. Martineau has proved a big factor in the Gopher's success this year and much speculation as to the relative merits of Martineau and Kipke will be settled by the outcome of the game.

Grange, the sensation of the Middle West, will carry the open field attack for Illinois with sweeping end runs and timely passes, while McMillen will hit the line and Britton will punt and pass.

GORDON TO ADDRESS ROCKFORD TEACHERS

Prof. Edgar B. Gordon of the extension division will attend the annual Winnebago Teachers institute at Rockford, Ill., this week end, where he will speak on "The Educational Values of Music."
