PAULDING COMING

WILL READ AT LIBRARY HALL
JANUARY 19.

Under Auspices of Oratorical Association—Celebrated Shakesperian Actor.

Frederick Paulding, the celebrated Shakespearean actor of Milwaukee is coming to Madison and will appear before the students at Library Hall, Saturday evening January 19. He has been engaged by the University Oratorical Association to give readings from Shakespeare and modern writers.

Frederick Paulding is an actor with a most remarkable stage career. He has played with most of the leading actors of the age; among them is Henry Irving, under whom he started his career as an actor at the historic Lyceum theatre, London. He has been leading man with Edwin Booth and has also appeared with Joe Jefferson, Mrs. John Drew, Fanny Davenport, Lester Wallack and many others.

Mr. Paulding is not only a superb actor but also a deep student of literature and a fine musician and the students may deem themselves especially fortunate to have this rare opportunity presented to them of hearing such a prominent actor. During his career he has played the part of Hamlet over two hundred times and that of Romeo over twelve hundred times having toured several years with Margaret Mather. He has recently come before the attention of the public by the publication of a play which he has recently written. He is at present engaged as stage director and leading man at the Academy of Music, Milwaukee. Mr. Paulding is a favorite among students generally, having appeared several times before the students of Yale and the University of California.

Castalia's Meeting.

Castalia expects to have a meeting this evening, Friday, Jan. 4 of unusual interest. An art program has been prepared by way of introduction to the art exhibit which is to open Jan. 8, 1901. Miss Louise Kellogg's talk on "Italian Art" will be a treat which all the women of the University are cordially invited to hear. This will be followed by a discussion by several of the members that will undoubtedly prove interesting and profitable. All University women are invited to thus prepare to enjoy the Italian art exhibit. The meeting is held in the Music Lecture room and opens at 7 p. m.

Fencing Club.

Mr. Soucy, who has been in France the past year receiving instruction in fencing, has returned and expects to organize a Fencing Club. Considering the fact that Mr. Soucy had charge of the former Fencing Club in the University, together with the benefit of a year's instruction in France, a large class will probably be formed. Mr. Soucy expects to have about four classes a week. All students desiring to enter the class should leave their names with Dr. Elsom at once.

Michigan is having a very wordy duel as to the rights or wrongs of certain matters in the Athletic Association. At present "Dana" seems to have the best of it.

INDOOR TRACK MEET.

Will Be Held in Gymnasium January 19.

The first indoor track meet will be held on Saturday evening, January 19, in the gymnasium. While it will be necessarily nothing but a try out for the candidates for the various events, competition in several of the events is so fierce as to insure hard contests and exciting finishes.

One of the most interesting of the meet will be the number, the interfraternity relay race. Teams of four men will be chosen to represent each fraternity, and natural rivalry will stimulate each aggregation to its best efforts. All men are eligible who have not at any time made the Varsity track team. As a trophy for this event, one of the leading sororities will offer either a pennant or cup to be contested for.

In addition to this event, the ordinary program of races will be carried out, with the exception that the mile walk will be cut out and the two mile run substituted.

Preliminary work has been in progress during December and beginning with next week active training will be required from all candidates. The bunch of men trying for the various events, has not been as large as usual so far this season, but many have promised to come out with the beginning of the new year. It is especially important for men trying for the distance events to indulge in winter work as in these contests, endurance cuts a considerable figure.

Local and Personal.

—A very distinct earthquake was felt along Mendota ridge on Langdon and Gilman streets at 10:55 yesterday morning.

—The Wisconsin Joint Debate has come to be such a leading authority that it will hereafter be published as a University Bulletin.

—Professor Paul S. Reinsch contributed a very able article to the Sunday Sentinel some time ago, in which he discussed the far reaching results of the Spanish-American war.

—The coming session of the legislature will undoubtedly decide the much debated question of the scope of the new system of state bookkeeping. The University Board of Regents claim that they do not come under the law providing for a new system of public accounts.

—Dean Birge contributed to the Milwaukee Sentinel during the holidays a very interesting article on University education in the coming century. He speaks exhaustively of the significant changes which have occurred in university education during the past twenty-five years.

—The marriage of C. C. Lloyd, a civil engineer of the Milwaukee road, in Milwaukee, and Miss Clara E. Jansen, a student of the Luenning conservatory was announced yesterday. Mr. Lloyd was graduated from the University four years ago, and since that time he has been in charge of certain construction work for the railroad company by which he is employed.

—The University Library has received as a gift from Prof. Edward Kremers a partial set, six volumes, of Gmelin-Kraut's Handbuch der Chemie. Professor Kremers has also placed on deposit in the Library the following books: Coblenz—Handbook of Pharmacy; Gould—New medical dictionary; Remington—Practice of Pharmacy; United States Dispensatory, 17th edition.

WISCONSIN IN 1800

SECRETARY R. G. THWAITES
SPEAKS AT CONVOCATION.

Large Audience Hears Distinguished Historian—Music Led by Prof. Olson—The Speech in Part.

An unusually large audience turned out today to hear Reuben G. Thwaites, secretary of the State Historical society speak on "Wisconsin One Hundred Years Ago." Professor Olson led the singing of a number of German songs. Mr. Thwaites said in part:

"President Birge has requested me to speak to you today of 'Wisconsin One Hundred Years Ago.' There was no Wisconsin one hundred years ago. There was however the embryo of the present state of Wisconsin, the lakes and rivers, forests and prairies, and a sparse population of Indians with a few white men scattered here and there.

The first French explorer came to Wisconsin in 1634, when the New England settlers had been in the country only a few years. Later came the Jesuit missionaries and a host of explorers, traders and adventurers of every kind. In 1763 New France fell and the land came into the possession of the English. In 1796 the country came into possession of the United States, but the inhabitants were still English in their sentiments and regarded the Americans as a far away class of grasping land-grabbers.

There were perhaps 9,000 Indians in the state at the beginning of the century and the last census showed 9,000 Indians still in Wisconsin. Many have been of course imported from the Eastern states but with all the talk of hardships inflicted upon the Indians by the white man there are in the state today just as many Indians as there were 205 years ago.

The first place to be settled in the state was La Pointe which was founded in 1661. About this spot cluster many romances of the early life of the settlers and their troubles with the red men. Green Bay was not settled until the middle of the eighteenth century, Prairie du Chien was settled in 1771, and Portage in 1793. The first settlement at Milwaukee was made in 1795, but there was little done toward making a town till the arrival of Solomon Juneau in 1818.

These early settlers were a happy pleasure loving people. Their life was not the strenuous life of today. They had some hardships and danger but for the most part their lot was a pleasant one. The people had a deep reverence for religion. They had no schools, but the more well to do sent their children to Montreal to be educated. There were no people who were very poor, but all had at least the necessities of life. We may well pause to contemplate the virtues of the early settlers in Wisconsin and may emulate some of them."

—The common opinion of the leading physicians in Madison seems to be that all those who have not been recently vaccinated, should submit to the operation. They do not fear there will be any general outbreak of smallpox, but the only method of insuring one's health against the attack of the contagion is universal vaccination.

—Dean Bryant addresses the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon.

SEMI-PUBLICS.

Sophomore Debates Will be Exceptionally Good This Year.

Now that the Joint Debate is over, the next important event in the debating line, are the semi-public debates.

The class of 1903 presents some very promising men for her teams, and beyond any doubt, the debates this year will be of exceptional grade.

Philomathia has chosen P. A. Schuette, Votja Wrabetz, Jacob Primakow, A. Bogue, E. R. Minahan and J. S. Hale as her semi-public men. A. L. Liljeqvist will act as chairman. G. C. Poage and W. F. Schmidt were chosen as the orators. The question for discussion is: Is the use of union labor advantageous to the wage-earning classes as a whole?"

The Hesperian team has chosen the following question: "Is the present system of election of United States senators preferable to a system of popular election?" It is conceded that the latter is constitutional." The question will be upheld on the affirmative by Herbert D. Laube, Robert E. Pinkerton and C. Lloyd Jones; while L. A. Libby, W. H. Haight and W. J. Hagenah will contend for the negative side of the question. The president will be Lloyd P. Horsfall and L. W. Beers has been chosen as orator of the evening.

The question which the Athenaeum team will argue is:—"Are those southern states which have evaded the 14th and 15th amendments of the constitution justified in so doing?"

The closers are Eugene H. Byrne and E. W. Thuerer. W. O. Hotchkiss, George Mowry, E. S. Bishop, and O. M. Jorstad compose the rest of the team. P. V. Peterson and Harry Johnson will act as orators.

No definite arrangement has yet been made as to the time that the debates will take place, but they will in all probability occur early in the second semester.

—A number of University friends of Prof. Samuel B. Fortenbaugh, formerly assistant professor of electrical engineering, have received announcement of his coming marriage Jan 10 to Miss Florence Cowden at the Pine street Presbyterian church, Harrisburg, Pa. The couple will be at home after Feb. 15 at Knowle, Edgerton Road, Ashtonon-Ribble, Preston, England. Prof. Fortenbaugh left the University two years ago to enter the service of the Walker Electrical company of Cleveland, and will now represent a company in England that is operating under American patents.

Brief College Items.

A student in the hospital of the University of Michigan has developed a case of smallpox.

The engineering faculty of Minnesota will ask the legislature this winter for a new engineering building.

The college papers at Tulane University, La., have offered a prize of twenty-five dollars for a college song.

Hawley Pierce has been elected captain of the Carlisle Indian football team for 1901. Pierce plays full back.

Drake College (Iowa) is to build a new gymnasium to cost $2,500. Part of the money necessary will be raised by subscription.

Indiana got out their annual football number last week, containing some very good cuts of the team and accounts of the various games played during the season. It is a very creditable issue and reflects great credit on the "student" Board.

Shakespearian Reading.

The news that Mr. Frederick Paulding is to give some readings here in the near future will be hailed with delight by those interested along the lines of public recitation and dramatics. It will be a good opportunity to hear Shakespeare interpreted by some one of long experience with the best exponents of Shakesperian acting. Everyone who can, should make it an object to attend, not only for the pleasure to be gained from the readings, but for the aid thus given to the Oratorical Association under whose auspices they are held.

The Future.

This new year's season and particularly when, according to most authorities, the new century has dawned, it is well to take stock of educational, as well as other progress. Should one compare the university of today with the institution of the same name of 1800 a divergence, almost startling, in aims, character and work would be found. And nevertheless the thinker must perceive that the end is not yet; that the future will probably see as great, if not greater changes, than the past. What the University of the year 2000 will be would be difficult to prophecy. That there is an opportunity for beneficial change in many particulars, however, no one dare say. This change will probably be evident in both method and character of work as well as in student and University life as a whole. Some venture to suggest that the development will be along lines of increased practicality and certainly that would be welcomed. It may be also that the years to come will witness a more rounded student existence; one in which he has a share in all the phases of University life and where he consequently is broadened. But in whatever direction new tendencies may lead, judging by the progress of the past and the good for advancement in the present, no fears need be expressed for the future.

Professor A. H. Sabin of New York City, chemist of Edward Smith and Co. varnish-makers, will give a special lecture on Monday, Jan. 7, at 4 p. m., in the Chemical lecture room. The subject of the lecture is: On the Nature and Composition of Varnishes. Professor Sabin has for many years been studying this very difficult subject in a scientific manner and with a good corps of assistants. In this lecture he will touch on the materials used and on the chemistry and physics involved. It will be on the technical side of the manufacture and especially, as far as possible with so obscure a subject, on the theoretical side of the uses of varnish.

On Tuesday, Jan. 8 at 12 m, in the auditorium of the engineering building, Professor Sabin will speak before the engineering students on the subject: "The Protection of Structural metal from Corrosion." The lecturer is an authority in this line and a successful inventor of a process to accomplish the end indicated.

High School Department.

South Side Milwaukee.

The football season just ended has been the most successful in the history
of South Division High School, Milwaukee. Not only have hard games been played and won, but the team also outclassed all preceding ones in point of scholarship,—nine of the football squad averaging 85 per cent. or above in their studies during the period of training. Another cause for rejoicing was the absence of any friction among the members of the team, due in part, perhaps, to the absence of any individual stars. Its team work was due entirely to the patient coaching of George Downer, a former U. W. man, whose efficient work made the team what it was.

The prospects for the 1901 elevare very bright indeed as many of the old players will be back, and interest in the game has increased considerably among the students.

If, in the future, the Athletic Board could arrange a schedule including all the fairly good teams in the state, the wrangling and post-season games might be done away with. Such a schedule would receive the hearty support of the South Division High School.

The 1901 basket-ball team promises to be up to the standard. An especially large number of Freshman and Sophomores are trying for positions on the team this year, which may be accounted for by the elegant gymnasium facilities. It is felt that with a good foundation of interested Freshmen and Sophomores, the South Division may turn out a first class team
for several years to come.

At present the prospects for the track team are not very encouraging.
There is, however, good material
among the students and with proper training and coaching it will form a fairly good team. It is confidently expected that a better showing will be made than last year, both at Madison
and in the local meet at Milwaukee.
Track work will probably commence in the gymnasium as soon as the basket ball season is over.

Take it all in all, the South Division
High School has every right to be proud of her athletic team and considering her size probably turns out as high grade of material as any school in the state.

Omaha.

Our present enrollment numbers 1411 pupils and 51 teachers, the plan of each teacher having a certain number of pupils to look after (outside of regular classes) has been put into effect and works very well.

The following courses are the ones followed at present, Latin, German, or French English, Classical, English and Manual Training.

Several weeks ago the High School had the pleasure of seeing that very impressive ceremony, the laying of the corner-stone of our new High School building. The masons had charge of the ceremonies and several thousand people were in attendance.

When completed the High School will be a three story fire proof building 250x225 feet, build of stone and well-ornamented, rectangular in shape,
with a long open court in the center
from which a tower will rise.

The record of our football team this year has been good although not up to last year's standard. Out of the nine games played, we have won four, lost two and played three games in which there was no score, two tie games having been played with the same team.

Against twenty-one points scored against us our team has rolled up sixty-three against other teams. Our defeat by Tariko was to be expected as they greatly outweighed us and played a close game with state University and defeated the local medical college team by fifty-two points, while they were able to make only a single touchdown against us.

In playing the second University team, Dunlap, Creighton and the Genoa Indian school we were playing against older and heavier men, but

The Demosthenian Debating society has awakened this year with renewed vigor, they are now only a little over a year old and are progressing rapidly. A debate held at Omaha, between them and the Crab-trees of Beatrice resulted in a victory for them. A representative was also sent to Lincoln to contest in the interscholastic debate held there during the holidays, and during the next few months several more debates are on the calendar.

Most people think that any old place is good enough for a bicycle through the winter, so they dump it in the basement where it is damp, or into the coal shed where it is almost obliterated with coal dust, etc. Of course they don't think of the consequences until spring, then Oh! My!
they wish they had taken it to Wm. J.
Park Co., 113 State St., successors to the Madison Cycle Co., and had it cleaned and stored properly for the winter for $1.50, and saved $5.00.
