EXPERIENCED CAST WILL SHOW HERE IN "YOU AND I"

Kathryn Mulholland, Basil Sydney, and Charles Withers in Monday's Play

Coming with an experienced and talented cast of professional and semi-professional actors and following the entirely amusing presentation of "The Whiteheaded Boy," Philip Barry's "You and I," the second in the series of plays given by the university theater during the summer, will be held in the Outdoor theater on the evening of Monday, July 19.

"You and I" is one of Philip Barry's most popular plays, having received the Harvard prize. It is a story of an artist who gives up the possibilities of a career for his son and wife. Some years after his sacrifice, the artist is persuaded to spend a year in following his lifelong ambition—a year which produced interesting results. The pathos, wit, and modernity of the drama have caused critics to pronounce it as one of the most delightful plays ever presented on the New York stage.

Cast Is Unusual

The actors in "You and I" will be some of the best among the summer school players. Kathryn Mulholland played in the original New York production of the "Devil's Disciple." Basil Sydney played Doris in the professional road company of "Meet the Wife," and Charles Withers played in "Polly" at the Cherryland theater in New York city.

Miss Mulholland is a professional dancer and an accomplished actress. She will be one of the features in the University Theater productions this summer.

Schaughency To Appear

Another professional player who will appear this summer is Harold Schaughency. He played in the New York engagement in "Dolly Jordan," in "Getting Gertie's Garter," in stock at St. John's, Newfoundland, Bethlehem, Pa., Baltimore and San Antonio. He also played in the New York company of the "Last Warning."

The rest of the cast is made up of a group of very splendid experienced people from the Wisconsin University players and includes Evelyn Olson, Aline Ziebell, John Moran, Jack Harrington and Gil Smith.

NEW FOUR-YEAR COURSE PLANNED

Agricultural Study Will Lead to a Bachelor of Science Degree

College of agriculture officials announce a new and more flexible four-year course in agriculture, leading to the bachelor of science degree, to be inaugurated at the beginning of the school year. The new course is in addition to the regular long course in agriculture now given.

"The new course provides an opportunity for a much wider and broader training for those students who expect to specialize in agricultural economics, agricultural engineering, agricultural education and agricultural journalism," the announcement by Prof. J. A. James, assistant dean, states.

Increasing interest in the economic, engineering and journalistic sides of agriculture has made it necessary for certain changes in the basic science requirements to be made, the announcement states.

The original curriculum is retained with a few changes, but a new course of study is now offered. Students will have a common curricula during their freshman year, and will select a major at the beginning of the sophomore year.

Sigma Nu House Robbed of $100 and Two Watches

A robber entered the Sigma Nu fraternity house early Thursday morning and walked off with several gold watches and approximately $100 in cash. The prowler was unseen but from reports the theft must have taken place after midnight.

Among the losers were Kenneth Mainland, a gold watch and $20 in cash; Percy Wilson, at watch; Austin Murphy, $10 in cash, and Alvin Ball, $16 in cash. Police were called to the scene when the theft was discovered but no clue was found.

This is the first house to be entered this session. During the year several fraternities suffered from similar losses due to the way houses are left unprotected.

34 FACTORY GIRLS STUDY IN UNIVERSITY SUMMER CLASSES

Factory girls, telephone operators, and domestic-girls whose formal education ended at points below the high school fit into university life easily. That is the observation of Miss Susan Davis, advisor for the 34 working girls from 9 states who are attending special classes this summer.

Ten of the girls are living in Barnard and Chadbourne halls, while the other 24 are living in cooperative houses maintained by groups of university women.

On Friday evening, June 23, these students will tell listeners in on the university radio station, WHA, their impressions of university life.

The group is carefully selected. Its members are recommended by women's clubs, Y. W. C. A.'s, and other agencies in the home cities. Each of the 34 is sent by some such group which provides a scholarship of $100 to pay living expenses, tuition, and a small sum for amusements and recreation.

The object of the course is to widen the mental horizons of the students, most of whom are engaged in routine tasks in factories, and to fit them for intelligent leadership among their co-workers.

AVERAGE RENTS FOR MEN REDUCED, GOODNIGHT SAYS

Average Single Rents Vary From $2.87 to $6.40 a Week

The average rent for male students is slightly less this year than last year, Dean Scott H. Goodnight declared today, following issuance of the report made by the inspector of men's lodging houses on the year 1925-26.

This report, which was sent to the board of regents, board of visitors, committee on student life and interests, deans of the colleges, and to the dean of men, showed that the average rental for men varied from $2.87 a man per week to $25.60 a man per month.

Fraternities No Higher

Although the figures published do not include fraternity house prices, Dean Goodnight had this to say concerning prices charged by fraternities: "It has been my personal observation that it costs no more to live in a fraternity house than it would cost to live outside in lodgings of a similar quality."

The report, based on inspections of 737 houses where male students lodged, showed the average cost of a single room was $3.94 a week, while the average cost per man of a double room was $3.32 a week.

Some Occupy Apartments

Triple rooms cost an average of $2.87 per man per week, while there were 100 suites of two and three rooms which rented for an average amount of $20.41 per man per month.

The number of people living in houses and apartments comprised 2,560, more than half of the total male enrollment. More than a quarter of all the men live in fraternity houses, while the rest are divided between those living at home and those living at the two Y. M. C. A. dormitories.

Double Rooms Popular

The report, which is the first attempt made to ascertain how the male population of the university is lodged, reveals that double rooms are more popular than single rooms. Triple rooms and apartments are less popular than either of the first class.

The men students at Wisconsin lodge as follows: 2,560 in private homes, 750 at home, 1,298 in fraternity houses.

JANSKY ANSWERS SCIENCE ATTACK

Prof. Asks "What in Process Would Deter Human Welfare"

An answer to numerous attacks by social philosophers on modern science and scientists is made by Prof. C. M. Jansky of the university extension division in a recent article in an electrical trade magazine.

Quoting President Coolidge's definition of science, "Science is the careful assembling of facts, their comparison and their interpretation," Professor Jansky asks, "What is there in such a process that would be detrimental to human welfare?"

Professor Jansky's refutation follows:

Many social philosophers seem to be pessimistic respecting the influence of science on human welfare and for that reason this article is devoted to a brief analysis of some of the charges and to their refutation. The refutations may not be convincing, but it is hoped that at least they will be provocative of thought.

A few of the indictments hurled against science are: "The results of science have been merely to place in the hands of a few the power to exploit the many."

A prominent divine from Detroit recently said:

"Science both pure and applied destroys reverence for human life."

A noted philosopher claims that inventions, which are the products of science and scientific investigations, merely extend the physical powers of man, but exert no spiritual influence. A prominent professor recently remarked that "man was fast becoming a mere valet to a machine."

Knight and Lady Visits University Today, Tomorrow

Sir Walter B. Riddell, principal of Hertford college, Oxford, and Lady Riddell, arrived in Madison last night for a visit through the university this morning.

Sir Riddell is the chairman of the board of administrators of the commonwealth fellowships which fund provides for traveling British fellows to study in various universities in the United States.

They will be entertained at a dinner at the Madison club this evening given by Dean and Mrs. Slichter and Dean and Mrs. Scott H. Goodnight. The guests include Dean and Mrs. Sellery, Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Mills, Prof. and Mrs. M. Z. Guyer, and Prof. and Mrs. Kenneth Leith.

Three young men from England are studying here under the term of the fellowship. They are J. R. Campbell, H. L. Stephens and N. M. Jones. Sir Walter Riddell and Lady Riddell will be guests at the home of Justice and Mrs. M. D. Rosenberry tomorrow. They will leave in the evening for the University of Minnesota to continue their visits at the universities where the English students study.

Events Arranged for Both Expert Swimmers and Beginners in Meet

Events for the most experienced swimmers and canoeists to those who are only able to crawl and paddle with their hands are listed in the program arranged for the Daily Cardinal Water carnival to be held on July 24, according to an announcement made by Arthur Dahl, chairman of the program.

Five more events are planned in this year's carnival than listed in the program of the meet held last year which was the largest in the history of the summer carnival. There are a total of 20 events including those for men and women listed under swimming, canoe, and sailboat races.

Arthur Dahl DeLoonge Add New Features

"With the addition of several new features to be introduced in this year's events, the result should mean an increased entry list," said Dahl.

"Everyone is eligible to enter any of the contests and the only prerequisite is a swimming suit," he added.

Entries are being made with Russell Peterson at 140 Langdon or F. 2334, at the business office of the Daily Cardinal between the hours of 9:30 and 12 o'clock, and with Carol Biba at F. 4936.

Many Canoe Contests

Among the new features to be introduced are a one man bow end hand propelled canoe race, a broom stick, without the broom, canoe race, a canoe tilting contest for women, a six men interfraternity hand paddle canoe race, and an inter-sorority relay swimming race.

There will be single and double canoe events besides the sail boat and men's canoe tilting events that

STATE FIRST IN INDIAN MOUNDS

15,000 of Various Sizes and Types Have Been Found in Wisconsin

More Indian mounds are located in Wisconsin than in any state in the union, 15,000 having been found in the state, C. E. Brown of the state historical museum declared in his lecture on "Indian Tribes of Wisconsin."

"Many of these mounds have been destroyed by building cities and roads, but state and private interests are preserving the greater number of them," he said.

"The mound on the state hospital grounds is the largest bird mound in the state. It has a 624 foot wing spread, is 100 feet long, and is 6 or 7 feet high. The bird which faces the lake, probably represents the thunder bird. On its right and left are two smaller birds. Other kinds of animal mounds found in Wisconsin are the bear, deer, turtle, fish and water spirit.

"Spiritual life to the Indian was of vital importance. He never undertook anything without first calling on the spirits. There were times when he went into the woods and spent a long period of fasting and prayer. There is an intensely religious society called the 'Redeemer's' society. The sincerity of the Indians' belief in spirits was proved by their sacrifices of beautiful weapons, and utensils, which they offered to the spirits either to gain good will, or appease supposed anger.

To Establish Osteopathic Clinic Here

State Association Names Local Doctor As Vice President

L. A. Jones, Janesville, was elected president of the Madison district, Wisconsin State Association of Osteopaths, at the annual district meeting held here yesterday. R. B. Gordon, Madison, was elected vice president, and Eda Trevitt, Monroe, secretary-treasurer.

Among the speakers at the afternoon meeting was Dr. C. J. Gaddis, Chicago, national secretary, who spoke on "New Things in Osteopathy," at a banquet last night at the Loraine hotel. Dr. E. J. Menge, head of the biology department of Marquette university, spoke on "The Metabolic Radiant Theory."

Osteopaths present were interested in a report made by Dr. V. R. Purdy, Milwaukee, national trustee and chairman of the national clinic committee, in which he said that plans are under way for the establishment of ten osteopathic clinics in Wisconsin, one of which will be in Madison. Dr. R. W. Risley, state president, Madison, will have charge of establishing the Madison clinic.

Among those who attended yesterday's meeting, in addition to those already mentioned, are John Rogers, Oshkosh, president of the Fox River Valley district; Dr. Purdy, Milwaukee, president of the Milwaukee district; Dr. S. A. Heegen, Madison, president of the Madison district; and Drs. V. W. Lorch, Ft. Atkinson; F. I. Elton, Milwaukee; C. C. Hitchcock, Madison; L. B. Harned, Madison; R. A. Fry, Oshkosh; R. H. Noordhoff, Oshkosh; J. R. Young, Beloit; E. J. Brazier, Madison; J. A. Laird, Wittenberg; and Mr. Butler, manager of the Madison sanitarium.

UNIVERSITY SEEKS USE OF CITY STONE QUARRY

Proposed terms of a lease by which the university seeks the use of the city stone quarry were filed today with William Winekler, city clerk, for submission to the common council, July 23. The university asks use of the quarry for 10 years to remove enough material for construction of Memorial Union and other university buildings.

TROUTMAN TO DIRECT DRAMATIC PRODUCTIONS

W. C. Troutman, the new producing director of the University Theater, has been engaged for the purpose of starting additional work in play productions. COWARD TALKS ON VITAMINE ORIGIN

Speaker Believes it to be a Definite Chemical Composition

The origin of vitamine A in cod liver oil was explained to a large audience in the Biology auditorium by Miss Katherine H. Coward, of the University of London, who has been working for the past year with Dr. H. Steembok of the university.

Just what vitamine is is unknown. Many scientists think it to be a form of energy, but Dr. Coward feels it is a definite chemical compound the formula of which will eventually be discovered, if not in this generation, in the next.

There are five recognized groups of vitamine lettered merely for convenience from A to D. As far as actual knowledge is concerned X the unknown, would be no misnomer, for all groups. However, it has been definitely established that vitamine A is not only necessary for the promotion and acceleration of growth, but has its origin in plant life.

In her research, Dr. Coward found vitamine A without exception in all plants and vegetables in which carotinoid or yellow pigmentation was contained.

Continuing further in the study, it was ascertained that vitamine A enters fish, particularly the cod, via the diatom, which in itself is so minute a particle of plant life that larger fish do not even deign to notice it, still less deliberately absorb it.

The lesser fish feed upon the diatom, and they in turn become meat for the others, thus becoming the carriers of the necessary vitamine.

21 BADGER CITIES OWE 58 MILLIONS IN BONDS

The total bonded indebtedness of 21 Badger cities of the first, second, and third class was $58,291,976.19 at the end of the fiscal year 1923-24, according to statistics compiled by Ford H. Macgregor, chief of the municipal information bureau of extension division, University of Wisconsin.

Prof. Believes 177 Ordinances Needed by Ideal Municipal

A total of 177 different city ordinances which may be required to secure for the citizen of a Wisconsin municipality his civic rights is listed in a suggested outline of chapter and subject headings for codes of ordinances just issued by Prof. Ford H. MacGregor of the municipal information bureau, of the extension division.

The outline is the first draft of a model code of city ordinances which the bureau hopes to complete with the help of city and village attorneys of the state and of those entrusted with revision of ordinances. It is offered as an aid in accomplishing revision of ordinances, and seeks to point out a method for systematic organization of city codes.

"Of the 143 cities in the state, less than 20 have their ordinances revised to date, codified, and published," Prof. MacGregor writes.

Five Fast, Reckless Drivers In Court Today

Five men were arraigned in superior court today on speeding charges and one for reckless driving.

Fines of $10 and costs were assessed against G. Filner, F. D. Beaudette and A. Blizard for speeding and against Al Reamer for reckless driving.

M. Lynch denied speeding and was held under $25 bail for trial tomorrow. A similar charge against Ed Samp was held open.

SPEED BOAT TO BE NAMED VAIL

Coaching Launch to be Christened This Fall in His Honor

Wisconsin's crew was never at a loss for coaching at Poughkeepsie this spring as a result of the new speed boat which was purchased for "Dad" Vail's use by the Athletic council, the cost to be taken from football receipts.

The new boat, which cost $3,500 complete, was the fastest coaching launch on the Hudson this spring, and its comparatively silent engines made it ideal for coaching purposes.

Formerly, the Isabel was used for coaching, as well as for patrol work on Lake Mendota. This was unsatisfactory, however, because when the crew was out, there was inadequate protection for canoeists and swimmers. Accordingly, it was decided to buy a new boat which would be suited for patrol work, but which would be especially suited for coaching work.

With the aid of George Little, the boat was purchased and obtained in time for use on the Hudson. Little declared that the new boat would be christened in the fall and named after Wisconsin's coach, Harry E. Vail.

The purchase of the boat was an achievement, as crew racing is a sport which costs a great deal without bringing any money into the treasure chests. The building of a new field house also requires a considerable sum, and the burden placed upon football is rather heavy.

Mr. Little thinks that the crew pays, however, and it was his cooperation that really made the speed boat a realization. The new boat can go 45 miles an hour.

Wisconsin Building Sets Record In Month Of June

The third annual conference of seedmen and seeddealers of Wisconsin closed its two day session in the agronomy building of the college of agriculture yesterday afternoon with between 75 and 100 persons in attendance.

The conference was held under the auspices of the seed and weed control division of the state department of agriculture. The latest advances in seed germination were related to the seedmen by speakers.

Escapes Jail Term On Promise To Stay Sober

Frank Galvin pleaded guilty in superior court today to a drunkenness charge and a 30-day jail sentence was imposed by Judge Stolen, but was suspended for so long as Galvin remains sober. Should he again become intoxicated, the sentence will be executed. A similar charge against Ole Olson was held open.

Dope Lines

Now we find out that even the poorest swimmer at summer school has a chance for a prize in the Daily Cardinal's water splash to be held next Saturday (if the weather man is with us). Guess we'll have to enter that canoe race where hands take the place of paddles.

Records show that the Thetas won the inter-sorority relay last year. According to the registration list for that event, it will be a race to the finish this year.

Madison merchants are preparing for a great rush on swimming suits. Atlantic City is not the only place where swimming suits hold their own. Madison is right along in that line with her "Miss Madison" contest and the university water carnival.

George Little is leaving for La Crosse to conduct a two weeks' coaching clinic, as a part of the program of the athletic department. He will devote his time to the problems of high school coaches and will spend one hour with each individual attending the coaching school. Levis and Brader will go on with the school here and coach in their various branches during the absence of Little.

The next thing on the program of the athletic department, now that the four year course is going over big, is the granting of a master's degree in coaching. Little is supporting the movement which cannot help but gain the approval of all athletic directors. Why not?

The trophies won by the university ski jumpers last December at Lake Placid have arrived, including the President Coolidge award. These winnings will be placed in the trophy room in the men's gymnasium until the new field house is built, when all of the trophies will be moved to the new location.

Beadle playing in left field for the coaches team made such a sensational one hand catch that Lowman was ready to go around collecting dollars from the fans in support of his "ringers." It was a mighty fast one to catch bare handed but according to "those who know" that is regular stuff on the part of the former Plattsville ball player.

Hill was the real hero of the game. With two strikes and two outs, he connected for a homer that cleared the fence by exactly six feet (measured by Evans of Northfield). According to Lowman, it was the first one of the year. Something like Casey at the bat!

Hance, however, was the big noise!

It looked as though the game was going to be postponed due to the non-appearance of an umpire. Curtis, former Shawano coach who has accepted the position of director of

ANNOUNCE ALL EVENTS IN WATER CARNIVAL

Among the regular swimming events listed are the 40 yard free style race for both men and women, the low dives for men and women, high dives for the men, 100 yard back stroke races for men, 100 yard free stroke for men and women, and a marathon for men.

"Plans for a 21 page program that will be a real souvenir of Wisconsin's greatest summer entertainment are being arranged," according to Dahl.

"Madison merchants have been very generous in support of the carnival, regarding both the prizes and the advertising taken in the program. If the amount of cooperation extended to the chairmen may be judged in terms of the final success of the day's program, this carnival will be something that every single student at Wisconsin this summer should see.

"The exact contents of the entire program have not as yet been definitely decided upon, but it will contain the entire program, side-lights by various members of the athletic department, and probably a history of the summer session carnivals held in the past," he added.

THREE GROUPS IN SORORITY RELAY

Tri Deltas, Barnard, and Women From Phi Sigma Kappa Enter Carnival

Three groups have already entered the inter-sorority relay race and five women are competing for fancy diving in the Daily Cardinal Water Carnival to be held a week from today.

A group from Delta Delta Delta, one from Barnard hall and four women from the Phi Sigma Kappa house have registered for the 160-yard relay race with Mervella Steele '27, who is in charge of the relay. Kathryn McNamara, Nellie Hoover, Malvina Eichstead and Elinor Shrum are entered from the Phi Sigma Kappa house.

Groups interested will call Miss Steele at 120 Langdon street, F. 4946. "If enough interest is shown," Miss Steele said yesterday, "the chairman of awards has promised a cup to the winning team."

Entries for fancy diving may be made with Miriam Anderson '28, at Barnard hall, B. 505. Entries for feature event, the canoe-tilting contest, may be made with Marguerite Schwartz at the Kappa Delta house.

"We urge all women desiring to enter any of the women's events to register early," Carol Biba '27, chairman of women's events stated yesterday.

LAKE FRONTS WIN FROM LOWMAN'S COACHES, 6 TO 5

Hill Makes First Home Run in Summer Session Baseball League

When two teams play a ball game, one usually loses, so Coach Lowman and his nine decided that they would kindly step out of the argument in favor of the Lake Fronts after a 6 to 5 encounter after these two teams had previously met in a struggle that ended in a 6 to 6 tie a week ago.

The pitching of Coleman for the Lake boys was too much for the more experienced school teachers who struck out 10 times in the five inning game. Coleman started out like an experienced professional, striking out the first three men at bat.

However, the coaches were able to mass five hits against the four off Hill, who, not to be outdone, contended the first home run of the summer league by sending the ball over the fence in the second inning. The lineup of Thursday's game are:

Lowman's Coaches		Lake Fronts
Beadle, J. H.	1b	Hatfield
Thostensen	2b	Tangen
Doyle	c	Hance
Parmeter	ss	Jansen
Conklin	3b	Heffermen
Hill	p	Coleman
Schantz	1b	Hardy
Jones	rf	Schrend
Beadle, J. O.	cf	Rose

Runs: Thostensen, Parmeter, Doyle, Conklin, Hill, Tangen 2, Hardy, Coleman 2, Heffermen; Hit by ball: Coleman; Struck out by Coleman 10, by Hill 5; Walks off Coleman 2, Hill 2.

Between 75 And 100 At Seedsmen's Meet Here

Wisconsin had $1p,981,900 in contracts for new building and engineering work during June, according to F. W. Dodge corporation. The above figure was the highest on record for any June, being 25 per cent in excess of June, 1925. There was also an increase of 11 per cent over May of this year.

The most important items in Wisconsin's construction record last month were: $4,132,000, or 32 per cent of all construction for public works and utilities; $3,742,900, or 29 per cent, for residential buildings; $2,450,000, or 19 per cent, for industrial buildings; $749,600, or 6 per cent, for commercial buildings; $720,500, or 6 per cent, for educational buildings; and $451,000, or 4 per cent, for religious and memorial buildings.

New construction started in the state during the first half of 1926 totalled $58,130,800, as compared with $49,070,600 in the corresponding period of last year, being a gain of 19 per cent.

PLEASE!

Wisconsin has a beautiful campus and we are proud of it. Every year some one tries to hang a banner across the upper campus to advertise a Mother's Day or a Homecoming but Mr. Phillips has prevailed upon the hopefuls to use other advertising tactics. Last year there was much objection to littering the campus with pamphlets announcing lectures and "Varsity Out's."

But this summer there have been some violations of the traditional policy. We are thinking specifically of the Chinese pagoda effect in front of Music hall from which tickets for university functions are dispensed. Admittedly it looks better since it received the coat of paint, but it is nevertheless obnoxious and out of harmony with the wild beauty of our campus.

It is evidently used for but brief periods and the rest of the day stands there looking like an admission gate to the halls of learnings. Two days ago an enterprising youth took advantage of the booth and sold "Homemade candy" from the window.

Usually such booths are maintained off the campus. The parkway of the administration building has served as a good common ground for student agencies. In the fall there have been offices maintained near the Union building on Langdon street. If necessary, the lawn of the Union building would be much more advisable, and just as accessible as immediately upon the campus.

We hope that the ugly booth with the equally disagreeable posters can be removed from the campus to some less obnoxious but equally effective location.

THE FEMALE INVASION

To one who is attending a summer session for the first time this year of our Lord 1296, there seems to be nothing but a static condition on the campus. "Twas ever thus" does not apply, however, to the summer session of the university any more than during the regular term. There is movement, growth, progress in such an institution just as in the life of a man, beast, or tree.

We might go into a long harangue about the various steps of progress made at Wisconsin, from the administrative, the academic, or the athletic end, but not feeling in a very heavy mood on such a glorious July day, we are only going to mention a change which the transient will not observe.

Think you for instance that the females have always held sway over the lake as they do this year? Think you that it has always been the policy of fraternities to turn over their holy sanctimoniums to the aggressive female? Think you that the lithe forms were always in the predominance along the lake front?

Ah, but no. Adopting men's clothes, haircuts, and fraternity pins, the feminine onslaught has even invaded the holy of holies, the fraternity house. All this in the mere space of three years. For verily, four years ago it would have been the greatest sacrilege to allow mere females to enter the sacred portals. There are some things men will not tolerate, and that was one of them.

Three summers ago one astute house manager conceived the idea of turning the fraternity over to women during the summer months, taking advantage of the limited accommodations offered the opposite sex, and turning into profit the ideal lake front location. The A. T. O. fraternity, for this was the radical, found its name connected with disparaging adjectives, but its house filled with women.

Last summer four other fraternities decided to take the chance of being anathematized and turned the latch key over to a chaperone and 20 or 30 women. This year the Dean's office reports that there are eight fraternities occupied by women and one other which is rented to couples. How many there will be next year is only problematical, but there is every evidence that many others are going to decide to cash in on the summer female invasion.

The dean of women is naturally glad to see the women come into their own during the summer months, the best time of the year, for with a single exception, all sororities are either in "the alley" or high up on Langdon street where they miss the advantages of the lake front. Many there are who have never had the pleasure of seeing "old Sol" drop down behind Picnic Point amidst the glories of a multi-colored heaven. Many there are who have— But why talk about the benefits of the lake front. The women are there now, and the poor male is relegated to a third floor back on State or Henry street.

Meet to Form Orchestra For City Tuesday

Civic Music Association To Lay Plans At "U" Club

First steps to organize a permanent civic orchestra for Madison will be taken at a meeting of the board of directors of the Madison Civic Music association to be held next Tuesday noon in the University club.

Efforts will be made to recruit among the musical instrument players of this city an organization that may begin functioning next fall with concerts at regular intervals.

Plans for a local campaign to finance the orchestra will be worked out at the meeting next Tuesday. Since the success of such a

THE POOR FISH

Prelude

Hanschwabble gives his Alpha Catalpha pin to Miss Florentina Nagadavoe—Nuff sed.

THE LAST CHAPTER

(Thank Goodness)

A week has passed since Hanschwabble decorated Miss Nagadavoe with his fraternity emblem. Yes, a whole week has passed, Hansy is a week older in age, but many years older in knowledge of the feminine sex—for did he not kiss Miss Nagadavoe's hand, Ah, but our hero begins to think that the hand is not sufficient. Let us proceed—Allons!

The last act of this pitiful drama is gently laid in a parlor. As the curtain (Asbestos) ascends, Hanschwabble and his Miss Nagadavoe are discovered seated on both ends of a davenport (not Ia.)

Han (Flicking bit of dust off his coat lapel): Miss Nagadavoe or, may I call you Florentina Florentina, I have decided that we have gone together long enough to osculate to a moderate extent. That is, as long as we are engaged.

Flor.: Ah, g'wan. Whatdya want'a do? Neck?

Han.: Well, yes—I believe that is the bourgeoisie term.

Flor.: Don't make me laugh, kid, don't make me laugh. Ha, ha, d'ya think I'm one of these girls whut promiscuously dispenses kisses. No sir, though I admit I did once in a 5 and 10 cent store.

Han (Argumentatively): Aw, why not?

Flor.: (Avec cholere): Cause.

Han.: Aw c'mon, you are in possession of my fraternity pin, are you not?

Flor.: Say, d'ya think 'at's a mortgage on me, huh?

Han.: Well, I believe it's customary for a man to osculate a bit when he gives a girl his pin.

Flor.: Don't kid yourself! This is th' seventh pin I've had in two years an' I never saw it thataway.

Han. (Rising and running hands through hair): What, women! The seventh in two years! Why you prodigious deceiver. You told me it was your first love.

Flor.: Ha, ha, you make me laugh, Hansy. Didja swallow that line too?

Han.: Swallow that line! My goodness, woman, you're a deceiver, a Delilah. Yop're common, just like the rest. And above all I discovered today that you are a schoolteacher—yes, a schoolteacher.

My goodness, what a poor fish I have been. I tell you, I'm through with women, no more for me! Henceforth I shall be a crusty old crab instead of a poor fish. I shall devote myself to art. Goodbye, godbye, you, you doggoned.

(Hanschwabble rushes out and slams the door lustily, leaving the last word unsaid—perhaps it's just as well. Florentina laughs musically and pins the Alpha Catalpha pin on a red-headed doll, along with six others. She yawns and leaves the room.)

LA FIN

Good morning. We'd say "Good morning," like our famed contemgroup will depend to a great extent on a director, the association endeavor to obtain an orchestra leader of great ability and long experience, according to Mrs. G. V. Seastone, who is chairman of the civic orchestra.

A large share of the orchestra members will probably be enlisted from among the 60 to 70 names, now in the hands of the association, of musical instrument players.

Directors who will meet next Tuesday for the planning of the orchestra are: T. W. Gosling, Miss Anna Menaul, Harry Thompson, Prof. E. B. Gordon, Prof. B. Q. Morgan, Oscar Christianson, Mrs. H. L. Miller, Mrs. J. B. Ramsey, Mrs. C. V. Seastone, Dr. H. P. Greeley, Mrs. E. J. Halligan, Dr. Paul F. Clark, Mrs. C. B. Stewart, and Mrs. Fanny Steve.

Members of the orchestra committee are: Mrs. C. V. Seastone, Mrs. L. C. Gunderson, Miss Elizaporary, Mae Tinee of the W. G. N. only we're afraid the dean might ask us where we were last night.

We were watching George directing the embryo footballists on the lower campus yesterday. To hear him shouting you'd never think he had a Little temper.

Red reports that the lawyers and the engineers have a brand new insult apiece. Hurrah! We've been waiting the five years of our college career to hear such news.

CHI PSI NOTE

The boys at the Chi Psi lawdge entertained at a costume picnic last night. Oh, boys, why wear costumes— You can't hide it. People would know you were Chi Psis anyway.

They asked us most confidentially yesterday afternoon, "Is she a co-ed or does she go to the library?"

It was a new one on us. The only one we'd heard was, "Is she a co-ed or does she live at the Psi U house?"

The husband-whose-wife-was-on-a-vacation looked mournfully at the needle and at the gathering drop of blood on his thumb. He shook his head. "Yes," he said, "as ye sew, so shall ye weep."

Don't you hate puns? Such a low form of humour. We never indulge.

Don't you love the little groups that foregather on the hillside below Bascom hall! So aesthetic looking—or something.

Somehow the little Southern girls don't seem to get the publicity they were wont to have, so here we dedicate a space to them—reflect upon their charms and their ah—well, reflect.

We don't have to pay for that as advertising space so it's allright. We just put it down on our income tax report as—donations to charity.

We see the Phi Pi Phi's are jacking up the old Delta Gamma lodge. Funny thing the D. G.'s didn't do that a long time ago. Lord knows it needed it—we even had a desire to tie a rope to the roof and pull the shack over. But what an expose that would have been before the Delta Gamma's moved!

"I feel young again," said one of the older professors on the hill as he surveyed his first class of the session.

Yelsew is still waiting for the Girl from Green Bay to contribute.

'Frats' House One-Fourth of Men at U. W.

Survey Shows Costs Of Rooms For Men Students

The result of a survey made by the inspector of men student's lodgings at the University of Wisconsin during the past school year has just been made public by Dean Scott H. Goodnight, director of the summer school.

The survey found 4,743 men in residence in Madison, of which 2,560 were in private lodgings, 750 living at home, 1,298 in fraternity houses and 135 in the university and city Y. M. C. A.

Exactly 1,654 houses were visited, of which 737 were found to be occupied by students. In 992 single rooms in the inspected houses, the average rent was $3.94; in 1,133 double rooms, $3.32 per man per week; in 46 triple rooms, $2.87 per man per week, and in 100 suites of two and three rooms, $20.41 per man per month.

The average number of students per house was 3.32 and average per room, 1.12. Thirty bachelor apartments, of one to three rooms, brought an average rent of $25.60 per man per month. Light house-keeping apartments on the list ranged in price from $25 to $110 per month.

Crop Loss of 100 Million in State Yearly

Poor Seeds, Weeds, Costing Farmers Big Money Loss

That the annual crop loss in the state of Wisconsin is due to inferior seed and weed infestation is in excess of $100,000,000 was the statement made by John D. Jones, Jr., state commissioner of agriculture, at the banquet of seedsmen and seed dealers held at the Park hotel last night.

"Results obtained from a questionnaire sent to 1000 Wisconsin farmers indicates," he declared, "that in some of the worst infested districts, weeds are reducing the crop production 5 per cent. Not all parts of the state are so badly infested, but unless strenuous efforts are made to prevent weed spread, the whole state will be in the same condition.

"High standards of purity in seeds are essential to good farming because first, seed that has been thoroughly cleaned in order to meet a high standard of purity consists of the plump, heavy seeds containing a large reserve of stored food to give the young plant a good start in life; second, seeds cleaned to a high standard of purity is apt to be free from weed seeds, especially those of the troublesome or noxious weeds; third, it is not wise or profitable to spend time and labor in the preparation of clean seed, and then reinfest it with weeds by using low grade seed; and fourth, it must be remembered that the reduction of the crop is not the worst feature of weed infestation. To keep the weeds under control so that satisfactory crops can be produced costs an immense sum annually.

Susan Brandeis Terms Subway Suit "A Bluff"

NEW YORK—(AP)—Suit of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. against striking subway workers for $230,001 damages is just a bluff, in the opinion of Miss Susan Brandeis, attorney, and daughter of U. S. Supreme Court Justice Brandeis. Parallels drawn by company attorneys to the Danbury Hatters' case, in which employers got damages from strikers, were not valid, Miss Brandeis told 600 subway strikers at the meeting last night.

A vote of censure against Sunday theaters was carried.

AT THE THEATERS

"The Whiteheaded Boy" Wins Favor by Its Excellence

By E. M. H.
Spontaneous bursts of applause at various intervals during the performance marked the recognition given the actors of "The Whiteheaded Boy" by those in the audience.

A performance, finished in every detail and with every part well-played, testified to the success of the University Theater movement here.

"The Whiteheaded Boy" is an Irish play, dealing with the young son of a large family, a boy who has been favored and extolled all during his life. In this role, John Moran '27, a member of the Wisconsin University Players, makes a most creditable performance. Although he is comparatively recent in university dramatic circles, he displays considerable talent.

It is hard to award the title of "outstanding" to any one character, each was so carefully portrayed. Miss Margaret McCarthy of the speech department, by virtue of having the longest feminine part, will probably be awarded the name.

Mrs. Pittman B. Pott with her inimitable walk, was in character every moment of the play. Each of the other women, Mrs. Carl Stephenson as Hannah and Mrs. Stebbins as Baby, made their characters individualistic and definite. Mrs. Florence Baskerville as Aunt Ellen remains the most Irish of any of the characters. Her interpretation of the role of Aunt Ellen, and her acting in many of the scenes was splendid.

The male members of the production were fully as well cast as were the women. Lincoln Holmes, the naively successful business man of "The Whiteheaded Boy," typifies John Duffy in a skilled way. He is amusing, especially as a lover. But business first is his motto.

Fred McGraw sustained a great part of the action as George, the oldest brother and the chief support of the family. His acting was all that could be desired, but his dialogue was not as successful as that of most of the cast.

Herman Wirka '27, had a relatively minor part as had Alfred Ludden and Agatha McCaffrey, but all were consistently in character and added a great deal to the total effect of perfection.

Says Personal Property Tax Unfair Burden

Zimmerman Declares Farmers Do Not Escape Through It

APPLETON—The personal property tax was declared "the unfair tax burden ever placed upon the people of Wisconsin" by Secretary of State Zimmerman in a speech here last night.

"The personal property tax is unfair to every taxpayer in the state," he said. "There are some farmers, undoubtedly, who think that by this tax a portion of their burden is removed and carried to someone else. Nothing could be further from the truth. The farmer who plows his field with a tractor is exempt from taxation on that tractor as farm machinery, but if he has a team of horses on his place, as most farmers do, the horses are taxed. The farmer cannot hide his personal property from the eyes of the assessor, for if the assessor can count at all, he knows how many cows and how many horses are in the farmer's barn. Moreover, the farmer pays, or helps to pay, the personal property tax upon everything that he buys. It may not appear on his tax statement but he pays the tax just the same.

"I shall do everything in my power, if elected governor, to remove this unjust, discriminatory, and cumbersome tax from our statute books."

Orph Players Engage New Director

Roy E. Hilliard, who was associated with the Dorothy La Vern Players last year as stage director, has joined Al Jackson's Orpheum Players in the same capacity. Mr. Hilliard comes to Madison from Sioux Falls, S. D., where he has been directing the Beecher-Watkin company.

Mr. Hilliard has been associated with the stage for a great number of years, having been "prop" boy, stage manager, character actor, and finally stage director. He has had long experience as a director, and in various parts of the country.

While with the Orpheum players here he will also take parts in the plays. He will return in the fall to the Beecher-Watkin Players at Sioux City where the company opens in a new theater built especially for stock.

Barley, Oats Crops Good in State, Report

But Corn And Hay Not So Good, Says Federal Report

The outlook for oats and barley are good in Wisconsin this year, but the condition on July 1 indicated only average hay yields and poor corn prospects, Paul O. Nyhus, federal state agricultural statistician, reported today.

"Feed supplies and prices will be affected," he stated, "by the prospect for the entire United States of 11 per cent smaller crops than last year of oats and barley, a low condition of corn and a short hay crop."

"Dry and cold weather in May and early June shortened the hay crop in western and northern Wisconsin. Moisture conditions were more favorable in the southeastern part of the state so that in that region good yields are common. The crop varies from a condition of 69 per cent of normal in the northwest to 86 per cent in the southeast with a state condition equal to the five-year average on July 1.

"In spite of considerable losses in acreage of alfalfa due to winter killing in and about Green, Richland and Waushara counties, there is a net gain for the entire state of 12 per cent in acreage. There is a marked and substantial gain in counties where alfalfa growing has been only recently undertaken. The new acreage is 347,000 and the first cutting made a good tonnage. It is significant that alfalfa development has gone forward in this dairy state to a point where almost 1,000,000 tons of hay may be made this year.

"Drouth has shortened the United States hay crop 11 per cent below last year and 14 per cent below the five-year average.

"The backwardness of corn is an extremely weak spot in the Wisconsin crop situation. Cold weather generally and excessive rain in eastern Wisconsin have kept plants small and unthrifty. The July 1 condition of 87 per cent is the lowest in ten years. Many crop reporters in the northern half of the state express lack of confidence for ripe corn. In southwestern Wisconsin the crop is less backward and ripe corn is entirely possible."

PICTURE AT STRAND IS UNUSUAL; ACTING GOOD

BY SALLY
One of the most different plays we have seen in a long time is "Paris" at the Strand. The heroine does not love the hero and the play is not twisted at the end to make things come out in an impossible happy situation.

The ending is happy, don't mistake that, but it is rather tremendous in its effectiveness. You'll be surprised and pleased but at the same time rather sorry.

Charles Ray plays the lead and is the star. It is the first time he ever did, to my way of thinking, any real acting other than be a stupid lout. He is not overpowering even yet, but he does express some real emotion and some genuine feeling.

To Joan Crawford as the heroine, go the real honors for acting. She is very beautiful; she draws the audience by the sheer force of her personality; she is hard here and soft there; always she makes love seem a most wonderful thing which makes a man or a woman willing to sacrifice anything.

It's scenes are laid in an apache den, the picture has the typical atmosphere of the Parisian underworld but this atmosphere is forgotten in the stark emotion which is shown.

"Paris" has power. It has, I believe, the real quality which lifts a picture above mediocrity into the realm of the great.

Shots from La Follette's First Campaign Gun

AMONG the highlights of Robert M. La Follette Jr.'s first speech for the Blaine-Ekern slate given at Randolph this morning are the following pithy paragraphs:

"The tide of reaction which swept the country in 1924 is receding with a rush. The followers of the Coolidge-Mellon Big Business regime are being caught in the political undertow. Those who lustily cried a year ago 'Stand Behind the President' are now trying to explain their records to their constituents."

"The people generally have learned that 'standing behind the president' means keeping the Esch-Cummins law and the Fordney-McCumber tariff law on the statute books; stifling of all farm relief measures; keeping the United States in the world court; putting over the Mellon tax plan; turning Muscle Shoals to the power trust; settling foreign debts in the interests of big bankers; continued subservience of government to monopoly control by big business."

"Gov. Blaine's record proves he will never be a backslider, join in the reactionary coalition in the senate, or submit to the dictates of party bosses."

"While Sen. La Follette was governor of Wisconsin, Sen. Lenroot was one of his associates in the work of constructive state government. Sen. La Follette never swerved from his original course. Sen. Lenroot became a reactionary. From the hour they became colleagues at Washington, Sen. La Follette and Sen. Lenroot were upon opposite sides of the important political and economic questions affecting the welfare of the people."

"For more than 30 years, in and out of public office, Herman L. Ekern has stood like a rock for the Progressive principles which have made Wisconsin great."

Tots Gather to Hear Tales Told

The little people who live near the Neighborhood house stopped their play for an hour this afternoon to listen to the stories of Miss Lucy Doyle.

Every Friday, the boys and girls gather about Miss Doyle and let their imaginations keep pace with the new stories they hear.

The small boys meet twice a week, Tuesdays and Thursdays, to make small interesting things. This week they have been making horse-reins and the best of all reins are going to have bells on them.

The girls have been working on doll houses made of cardboard boxes, and they expect to start on the furniture soon.

To balance the harmonica club of the boys, the girls have formed two singing clubs. So far they sing most of the old familiar melodies, but they expect to start new songs in the near future.

Average Temperature Of 71 Degrees Here For Week

Madison and La Crosse showed the highest average temperatures in nine cities in Wisconsin, upper Minnesota and upper Michigan, at which federal weather bureaus are operating for the week ending Tuesday, according to the weekly report of W. P. Stewart, meteorologist at Milwaukee.

Madison's average was 71 degrees for the week. Marquette, Mich., showed an average of 60 degrees. The following was the synopsis of state weather and crop conditions for the week:

"High temperatures the early part of the week were favorable for corn, but injurious to small grains. Corn is very uneven but showing a marked improvement. Small grains are well filled. Early potatoes are being dug. Late potatoes are looking well. Haying is in progress with yields variable. Cranberries are in full bloom. Door county cherries are good. Cabbage is fair and needs rain in the principal producing areas."
