DIVIDE HONORS IN BASEBALL WITH INDIANA

Badgers Win Second Game
2-0, But Lose First
1-0

(Special to Daily Cardinal)
BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—Wisconsin and Indiana divided honors in the double header baseball games here yesterday afternoon. Indiana won the first game 1 to 0, while Wisconsin took the measure of the Crimson 2 to 0 in the second game. The games were of seven innings each. The second game, however, went eight innings.

In the first game, with Paddock, of Wisconsin, and Walker, of Indiana, pitching in mid-season form, the two teams battled on almost even terms. In the second inning, Rust of Indiana scored the winning run on Rachelhaus' drive to center field for two bases. Wisconsin never threatened the one run lead of Indiana during the game.

In the second game the Badgers found their batting eyes against Campbell, the Indiana pitcher, pulling nine hits while Indiana hit Williams only four times. However, Wisconsin was held scoreless until the eighth by the errorless fielding of Indiana. Elliott hit to left field in eighth and Farrington was safe at first when he hit to pitcher who threw Elliott out at second. Jack Williams then hit through the Indiana first baseman and Farrington scored. Rudiger was out at first and Williams scor-

TWO PLACES IN ANNUAL DRAKE RELAYS TAKEN

Wisconsin took only two places in the annual Drake relays. "Al" Knollin placed fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles, and the four-mile relay team took fourth.

The summaries are as follows:

Two mile relay—Illinois first, Kansas Aggies second, Ames third, Wisconsin fourth. Time 18:19 2-5.

Two-mile relay—Won by Ames. New American inter-collegiate record, over Ames' own record made last year. New time 7:52 2-5, old time 7:53 4-5.

Half mile relay—Notre Dame first, Ames second, Chicago third, Nebraska fourth. Time 1:39 2-5.

100-yard dash—Doering, Neb., first, Paulu, Grinnell second, Wilson, Iowa, third, Kelly, Carnegie Tech fourth. Time 10 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Wright, Neb., first, Wynn, Notre Dame, second, Anderson, Minnesota, third, Knollin, Wisconsin, fourth. Time 15 2-5 seconds.

Cornell college, of Mt. Vernon, Iowa, set new records in the small college mile and two-mile events.

JONES IS RUNNING FOR BOARD PLACE

Everett W. Jones '23 is a candidate for sophomore member of the Cardinal Board. He was a reporter on The Stars and Stripes in 1918 and was sergeant-at-arms of the freshman class last year. Jones is on the sophomore board of control and was captain of the Exposition service committee. He is a member of Kappa Sigma, Inner Gate, the Council of 40, and the Mining club, and he has been elected to Ku Klux Klan.

Tuition Boost is Called a Tariff Wall by Russell

"A tariff wall against education that would greatly lower the efficiency of the College of Agriculture and indirectly affect the food production of Wisconsin," was the condemnation expressed yesterday by H. L. Russell, dean of the college, on the proposed $500 tuition bill now before the state legislature.

"The present high standing of the institution will be directly lowered if the prohibitive tariff is passed against non-resident students," Dean Russell declared.

"Nearly one-half of the enrollment this year in the College of Agriculture is non-resident students. If the tuition is increased, it will prevent the entrance of practically all in this class."

PRESS ASSOCIATION FORMED BY HIGH SCHOOL EDITORS

Milwaukee and Minneapolis
Win First Prize in Contest

The first annual conference of the High School editors of the middle west, held yesterday morning in South hall, resulted in a permanent organization, to be known as the Central Interstate Press association. Schools were selected by whom the officers for the coming year are to be chosen. West Division high, Milwaukee, will choose the president; Racine, the vice-president; Kenosha, the secretary, and Waupaca, the treasurer. The present executive committee members are Prof. W. G. Bleyer, George Greene, and Charles MacInnis.

Prizes in the high school publication contest were announced as follows: Best monthly magazine, the Comet, West Division high, Milwaukee; best weekly newspaper, West High Weekly, Minneapolis. Classified Awards:

Monthly Magazines—Class 1 (attendance over 1,000), Comet, West Division high, Milwaukee; Class 2 (attendance up to 1,000), Criterion, Waupaca; Class 3 (printed in the school), The Auroran, Muscatine, Iowa.

Weekly Papers—Class 1 (printed in school plant), West High weekly, Minneapolis, Minn.; Class 2 (attendance over 1,000), Cardinal, South Division high, Milwaukee; Class 3 (attendance 500-1,000), High School Buzz, Hutchinson, Kansas; Class 4 (attendance up to 500), The ECE, Stoughton.

The Enicar of Racine was given second in class 3 of magazines; class the Spy, Kenosha; class 1, the Mercury, Riverside high, Milwaukee. The F. H. S. Vacuum of Fairfield, Iowa, received second place in class 4 of weeklies; class 3, Lake Breeze Weekly, Sheboygan; class 2, The Trapeze, Oak Park, Illinois; class 1, Devil's Pit, Superior, Wis.

MacInnis Presides

The conference was called to order at 9 a. m., by Charles MacInnis, representing Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity. An address followed by Prof. W. G. Bleyer, in which the advantages of a journalistic course were emphasized as teaching a student accuracy—the habit of seeing, hearing, thinking, and being straight.

No work on removing exposition exhibits will be done today, but workers are asked to be on hand early Monday morning.

Bashful, Blushing Buddy

of Expo

"Just married?" asked the brakeman, following with a quizzical eye the trail of corn seed, grain seed, and mixed seed leaking from the hole in the grip of the blushing youth who was boarding the outgoing train.

"Not on your life. I've been at the Expo and believe me I'm taking home all of it I could get."

His appearance proved the truth of his words. From every pocket bulged pamphlets and literature proclaiming everything from "Know your own mind" to "Recipes for Sister," and "How to raise chickens."

"Believe me I'm going to plant some of that seed too, if I don't lose it," he said, glancing ruefully at the trail following him.

"Which kind? The agricultural only or the mental too?" asked the brakeman, who was himself a very intellectual brakeman.

"All I've got and can remember. This time my sisters got to let me talk. And you can bet I'm going to join all the Christmas savings clubs. Wisconsin for mine," and taking out a huge "W" he gave it an expansive lick and stuck it on the outside of his grip.

The brakeman who was wise grinned over his shoulder as he went out and remarked slantly, "That Expo was sure the right dope, I guess."

MIDDLE TEMPLE GOES DELTA CHI

Hambrecht and Morgan Are Sponsors of New Fraternity

The Middle Temple, a local fraternity, was voted a charter by the national governing body of Delta Chi yesterday. The installation will take place on May 27 and 28.

George P. Hambrecht, chairman of the state industrial commission and former Chicago Delta Chi, cooperated in the establishing of Middle Temple. Other local sponsors of the organization are Attorney General William P. Morgan, Mark G. Troxell, editor of the American Thresherman, and Anthony A. Nelson, of the Minnesota chapter. The Temple was instituted at Wisconsin shortly before the close of the school year of 1919-20.

Delta Chi was founded at Cornell university in 1890 and has an active membership of 21 chapters. It is one of the outstanding fraternities of the east. Western conference schools now maintaining chapters are Chicago, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, and Ohio State. Wisconsin will be in the position of a hub with reference to the other conference chapters.

Charter members of the Middle Temple include Waldo W. Batten, Warren A. Bohl, Elmer W. Chapman, Oscar Christianson, Lorain S. Clark, William T. Comstock, William L. Coulson, Arno V. Dix, Daniel W. Donnelly, Harvey Hanson, John A. Jordan, Victor F. Jungers, Oscar E. Kiessling, Ray P. Lichtenwalner, Nels C. Lehrdahl, Clifford C. Mathys, Leo J. Merkel, Everett F. Patten, J. Paul Pedigo, Hugh L. New Record Set For At- tendance at the Exhibition

With more than 10,000 visitors during its three-day existence the University Exposition came to a successful close at midnight yesterday. The attendance on the closing day alone greatly exceeded that for the entire period of any former exposition. A new record has been set to stand for at least four years until another exposition is held.

People began coming with the opening of the doors at 9 o'clock yesterday morning and by 1 p. m. there had been 1,000 paid admissions. All afternoon crowds thronged the many exhibits in the armory and annex; some following the flashes and cattle cries, hitting the high spots, and others more carefully examining even the quiet though equally interesting and instructive booths. Over 3,000 had entered by 7 o'clock, and by midnight a total of 10,000 for the three days had been exceeded.

In the different booths there was much activity during the last hours. The journalism exhibit had its final green edition of the Exposition News on the floor at 8 p. m. This was the seventh edition of the News, all written, edited, composed, and printed in the journalism booth at the Exposition.

The home-ec tea room reported having served about 2,000 lunches during the three days. The tables were seldom empty, and the girls worked continually. If they had had larger quarters many more would have been accommodated.

The program for the afternoon and evening included the Regimental band, a dancing act, several orchestras, Glee club and Glee club quartet, "Roman Ladders" by the gym team, and William G. Doward. A speech and a concert were also received by radio.

During the course of the Exposition the governor of the state, the president of the university, members of the state legislature, many high school students from within a radius of 200 miles, business men, bankers, workers, womanfolk, and children were counted among the visitors. No matter who they were or where they came from, however, they all seemed interested in everything. The Exposition had a universal appeal.

Speak at "Feast of the Blue Pencil"

"The inter-state, inter-scholastic association which you have started today is the first step toward a strong national organization of all journalists which is becoming more necessary every day," asserted Prof. W. G. Bleyer, speaking to the high school editors in conference here at the luncheon given for them yesterday by Press club.

Colonel Harry Sauthoff, secretary to the governor, delivered an address of welcome from Governor Blaine, who was unable to attend. The best way to look at the Exposition was the subject of a speech by President Birge. Rodney Welsh

HOROSCOPE FOR TODAY
THIS date, falling in April as it does, has its disadvantages for birthdays, as it is not unusual that one will be compelled to celebrate the anniversary in the rain. But one must never let that dampen the spirits, or even weaken them. Another peculiar disadvantage is that all born on this day will have two parents, at least. This has its difficulties, as many of us have found out that it is often more than we can do to handle one.

SUNDAY AFTERNOON
In the taking of her arm
When she takes a walk with me;
I have found a certain charm
And a sense of chivalry
In the taking of her arm
Just above the elbow. See
How she sniggers with alarm
At my grip; I'm strong, b'gee,
On the taking of her arm
When she takes a walk with me.

OSCAR WILDEST.

NOW, that gives us an idea. You've all seen these birds grasp her just above the elbow, and push her along exactly as though they were carrying an umbrella. Did you ever stop to think how that must feel to her? They'd be better off if they had their hands in their pockets.

RABBIT'S LEGS

OPERA COMPANY
WILL PRESENT
TWO CONCERTS

Popular Players to Appear at Madison High on Tuesday

Music lovers of Madison will all have an unusual treat Tuesday, April 26, when Miss Henriette Weber, director of the Sunday evening opera concerts at the Art Institute in Chicago, will appear in the auditorium of the Madison high school to present the opera concert, "Pagliacci," and "The Quarreling Lovers."

Miss Weber's concerts are becoming known throughout the United States and are extremely popular. Opera talks as given by her are vivid, graphic and dramatic descriptions of the operas, and with the music constitute an entertainment that is almost a new art form. She gives the story, playing with dramatic force the various themes for the solos, and describing the action and scenery so vividly that the audience catches the thrill of the entire play. With one piano and two voices she reproduces the effect of an entire chorus and orchestra.

Miss Anna Burmeister, lyric and dramatic soprano, is an important factor in the Opera Concert company. She possesses a voice of generous range and tonal flexibility.

Arthur Kraft, lyric tenor, completes the personae of the troupe. He is one of the few great American born tenors and will open a contract with the Boston Opera company this year. Student tickets to the concert will be sold at 50 cents; regular tickets $1 to $1.50. Tickets are on sale at the Albert E. Smith Music store, and will be sold on the first floor of Bascom hall and Music hall tomorrow and Tuesday.

very good, so I didn't take the time."

Madeline Johnson: "Why, they had a great, big picture of me over there, so I didn't have to go. Don't you think that that was the proper thing to do?"

Fred Truebridge: "I have been planning on going right along, but at the last minute they disappointed me; I couldn't get a pass."

Edith Worthington: "I was so busy printing the Exposition News that I didn't have time to go to the exposition, and I am so sorry, for I'm afraid that I must have missed the best things."

"Reg" Garstang: "I'm sorry, but I really didn't have the nerve to stagger in there, and besides, I feared that they might throw me out."

OVERHEARD

Lecturer: "Yes, my friends, in China human life is considered of very little value. Indeed, if a wealthy man is condemned to death he can easily hire another to die for him. In fact, many poor fellows get their living by acting as substitutes."

IN that case, life might well be called "short and sweet."

THE following is from one of our contributors, and entirely unsolicited, he makes this plea in our behalf. It may mean that he would like to see somebody else's work besides his own in print, or it may mean that he really realizes how hard we work...but anyway:

When a funny thought doth strike you on the coco
And your face shines out with glee,
Won't you write it down on paper, please,
And send it in to me?

HERR NETT.

"That's done," said the undertaker, as he finished adjusting the tombstone.

CAMPUS TOURS
WELL ATTENDED

The three tourist trips over the campus Saturday afternoon were well attended by high school students and visitors. Over 30 people each trip went through the engineering laboratories, library, model home economics cottage, and all of the agricultural buildings.

Because of the rain the tourist trips on the days preceding were not well attended, but Prof. Benjamin Snow's famous lecture on those two days were so well attended that on Friday many people were turned away, as the Physics auditorium was filled. The interest shown by the visitors in the snowflakes lecture shows that its fame has spread beyond the limits of the campus.

"The tuition fee charged now by the college is higher than any other state university. The $300 raise would put Wisconsin higher than Harvard, Princeton or Yale. The three or four leading agricultural colleges all invite non-resident students," the dean declared.

That the result of the bill would be to lower the instructional efficiency of the college, was also asserted by Dean Russell.

"The direct result would be that the college would no longer attract professors of national repute. Because of the present aid of non-resident students in the college, we are now able to give state students a more extensive course and a better instructional staff," he declared. Have Agric Experts Hers

"The university now has agricultural experts on their instructional staff who have been pioneers in discovering new methods of benefiting Wisconsin farmers. The Babcock milk tester, the Truog soil test, the Frost little plate method of counting bacteria in milk, and other discoveries worth millions, have been made by the present staff.

If non-resident students who now constitute nearly one-half of the present college enrollment are prevented from coming, the result will be, according to Dean Russell, to cause a future loss to farm production. Future improvements of benefit to Wisconsin farmers would no longer be possible if the high grade professors and experimentors could not be secured.

Professors from other states will not come to a university where non-resident students are banned," he further added. "Many of the non-resident students become more accustomed to Wisconsin farm problems than those of their own states and, feeling more competent to apply their knowledge in the

The two Varsity shells were sent over an eight mile course yesterday, which was the longest workout given the men this year. Excellent form was displayed, the crew showing itself to be in mid-season shape.

Toepher, the only three year man on the crew, has shown marked improvement of late, and is now almost sure of a berth. He and Platten are both members of last year's championship "Ag" team.

The revised lineup is as follows: 1. Toepher, 2. Puetow, 3. Captain Sampson, 4. Okenstaen, 5. Platten, 6. Heidebreder, 7. Sanderson, 8. Prehn, stroke, Hanley, coxswain.

Herbert J. Schmiege also spoke on the life of La Follette. Another speaker on the Wisconsin senior senator had been arranged for, but his talk was cancelled at a late hour.

Following the speeches was a debate on the question: Resolved that an industrial court similar to that of Kansas should be established in Wisconsin. Abraham Sygman and John Kohl taking the affirmative and Martin Kriewaldt and Herman Wendroff the negative.

COMING WEEK AT GRAND

Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday—Mack Sennett comedy "Love, Honor and Behave."

Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday—First National special "The Woman in His House."

"Love, Honor and Behave"

"Love, Honor and Behave," a feature length farce comedy from the Mack Sennett studios with a great cast of funmakers, including Charles Murray, Marie Prevost, Ford Sterling, Phyllis Haver and Ben Turpin, is the feature attraction scheduled at the Grand today for a three day run.

For pure, unadulterated entertainment, "Love, Honor and Behave" stands as one of the really exceptional Sennett achievements.

Charles Murray plays the part of a "supposed-to-be-dignified" judge with story telling propensities and a faculty of settling law and even divorce suits out of court. Sterling is the fictional hero of the judge's yarn.

The picture is full of action and also brought out in a broader sense by President Birge. "The failure to obtain knowledge of things irrelevant to the profession you wish to enter is the thing which so often limits success," said Dr. Birge. In connection with this idea he urged a broader outlook on the exposition from the standpoint of what the other fellow is doing and also emphasized the broadness of the course of journalism.

Colonel Sauthoff, following his welcome from the governor, in which he stressed the necessity for fair play to true success in the newspaper world, spoke a few words not as a representative of the administration, but as an alumnus of the University of Wisconsin.

"We want a tax taken off education, not one put on," declared Mr. Sauthoff, presenting the feelings of Wisconsin alumni, in speaking of the proposed bill for higher tuition.

TO HIGH SCHOOL EXPO VISITORS

WITH the close of the third university exposition last night another notable chapter was written into the current history of the University of Wisconsin. From every standpoint three-day event was a monumental success.

A substantial share of the more than ten thousand visitors was made up of high school students from this and other states, and it is to them that the exposition does and should mean most.

These high school students came not only to see a cross section of a great state university at work, but they came also with a view to decide on a place for matriculation. The exposition showed them what Wisconsin has to offer in the way of higher education. It proved why Wisconsin has established itself as one of the country's best known universities; why the spirit of democracy in education is so prevalent here; why the chance to get most out of a college training is better here than elsewhere; and why a degree from Wisconsin has such significant meaning attached to it in the outside world.

Remarkable as it was in the completeness of every booth, the exposition, in one sense, was not a revelation to Wisconsin students. We are more or less accustomed to expecting big things from our university, and we appreciate an exposition only as a medium for giving us a composite picture of the whole.

When the high school student of today presents himself on the campus tomorrow he will become adequately aware of the fact that the exposition made no idle boasts. By the time the next exposition becomes a reality new standards will have been set and new goals attained.

To see in a few hours something of what a university career can come to has been the treat given to high school visitors who attended the university exposition. There is now the opportunity to come to Wisconsin and help foster the ideals and traditions which made the third exposition so eminently successful.

COLLEGE HUMOR

someone once said that a man's character is judged by the kind of humor he approves or disapproves. Today the character of the University of Wisconsin is not only being judged, but it is also being analyzed, estimated, accredited, and rated according to the type of humor which is making itself evident in campus publications.

The Cardinal agrees with the Wisconsin Engineer that "when campus wits can think of nothing more humorous than a play of words of two meanings—which one must morally distort and then call humor, they might better refrain from writing. Such task is not humor, it is a reflection on Wisconsin."

Students have been loath to criticise this state of affairs, but have endorsed efforts that have been made to improve the character of the humor that appears in student publications.

It would indeed be a sad commentary on mental resources of students if we should be obliged to confess that nothing in college life is funny unless it has a strong tendency to be risque.

The student publications which have been guilty of giving currency to even slightly shady reading matter labelled humor are in a fair way to injure themselves by making it necessary to institute more rigorous censorship than now prevails. A tightening of the screws by the censor is a disagreeable process to institute at this time, but a continuance of the present tendency will bring about such a result.

Expo Fade-Outs

Violet rays turned your once glorious smile into hideous ghastliness at the Physics exhibit of the Exposition! The black-curtained box looked marmless enough, but the "invisible light" and the mirror within made you shake with cold and clammy shivers. * * *

The Pharmacy booth where 75,000 wintergreens were made and distributed during the entire exhibit was one of the most uniquely lighted of the Exposition. Pharmacist's cut urns in all colors were arranged hanging from the rafters at regular distances. The entrances to the exhibit were decorated by mortars which were outlined in various colored electric lights. An indirect system of lighting was used to cast a somber effect over the booth. * * *

"Practise beauty!" commanded the Manual Arts exhibit to the Expo-goers pouring in at the door. And there they might watch the different branches of the work going on all the time. Men using revolving lathes showed the practical applications of the design they had learned to put on paper. * * *

Badgerville with its own lighting system, Main street, and residential district—a miniature town—was a special feature at the Exposition in charge of Prof. E. B. Gordon, of the Extension division. The school, factory, bungalow, lawns, roads, and automobiles were all made by Mrs. Gordon. In the background was a chart with ribbons running from all parts of the university to the Extension division building, the medium through which the university reaches out to the community. * * *

A river of pure bred grain pouring out of the numerous experiment farms and association farms of Wisconsin and spreading to all parts of the United States and to various countries of the world was the Agronomy department's illustration at the Exposition of what the grain regions of Wisconsin have accomplished through the aid of the College of Agriculture. * * *

Oh, man! Did you hear "Doc" Dorward in the feature song act at the Exposition Saturday evening? And say! That man at the piano was some ragtime accompanist! Keeping rhythmic time with the jazz and the powerful baritone voice, one could hardly keep his feet on the ground. And those eyes! "Doc" fairly hypnotized his audience by his "come-hither" movements and his appealing looks. * * *

President Birge feels well satisfied with his present job and refused to apply for another at the model employment bureau that is being operated by the University Extension Industrial Commission at the Exposition. Prof. J. R. Commons applied for a job yesterday afternoon, passed the tests, was offered a position, but refused to accept it. * * *

A whole case of standard educational tests at the educational exhibit attracted attention. One geometry paper was given to 114 teachers to grade with the result that the grades averaged from 40 to 98. A history paper was given grades averaging from 40 to 98. The result of this experiment was the development of standard tests. * * *

Yarn dyed by artificial coloring taken from candy, jam, grape juice, and other commercial foodstuffs, is one of the features of the chemistry exhibit at the Exposition. * * *

"Hear Wisconsin's favorite boy baby in a tippikul role!" invited the sign in front of the Commerce booth. "Scotty" fell for the dictaphone. He and Earl Hardy sang "Du Liebst Mir im Herzen," which was a choice bit along with "A Tribute to the Cow," by State Senator Denhart. Over 30 records were used.

GLEE CLUB ENDS MOST SUCCESSFUL TOUR OF STATE

Returning to Madison Saturday morning from an extensive trip through northern Wisconsin and part of Michigan, the University Glee club finished an unusually successful trip.

Capacity houses and enthusiastic audiences throughout the state showed that the Glee club was received with approval and interest for this comparatively new work.

Comments from daily newspapers indicate the result of the trip. Said the Neenah Daily News, "The Badger singers proved themselves the best men's glee club which has appeared here this season."

The Menomonie, Mich., Herald-Leader in commenting on the Sunday evening concert of the Glee club remarked, "The reception given the students from the Badger state was most enthusiastic, for never before had a glee club scored as did these twenty-four young men from Wisconsin."

HARESFOOT SONGS ENJOY LARGE SALE

Published for the first time as a complete book, the music for "Miss Quita," written by Earl Carpenter with words by Horace Carver, had an exceptionally large sale in Madison as well as over the state. A few copies remaining will be sold at Hook's Piano Co., at $1.00.

"For the convenience of those who wish to remember friends or interest others in Wisconsin and her activities, the Haresfoot club will mail, upon the receipt of the proper address and one dollar, a copy of the score to any address," said Carl Bronson, business manager, yesterday.

MORTAR BOARD PLANS ANNUAL MAY DAY DINNER

The following cast has been announced for "Le Medecin Malgre Lui," by Moliere, which will be given in Lathrop hall, on Wednesday, May 4.

Sganarelle, Stuart Hamilton '22; Martine, his wife—Edith Hull Royse '22; Valere—Hulcey Avton, grad.; Lucas—Julian S. Teller '24; Geronte—Mr. Hoffman; Jacqueline, nurse—Alice Davis '24; Lucinde, daughter of Geronte—Lillian Wengler '24; Leandre, her lover—John Irwin '23.

"The doctor in spite of himself" is well-known to university students as it has been read in many of the French classes recently. One hilarious situation follows another in the adventures of the hardened wife-beater, Sganarelle, who himself is beaten into admitting that he is an excellent doctor, although he has no medical knowledge at all with which to cure the pretty Lucinde, who is dumb. Fortunately love loosens Lucinde's tongue in time for a happy ending.

Moliere has been very popular with students in the past and his various comedies have been presented frequently as the annual plays of the French department. "Le Medecin Malgre Lui" is being very ably coached by Mademoiselle Fernande Helie of the French house.

Special dancing and music features during dinner are being planned by Mortar board for the annual May day dinner to be held in Barnard court on Wednesday, May 4.

The May dinner is one of the two annual events given by Mortar Board every year in order to raise money for the scholarship and co-operative house fund. Mortar Board maintains a scholarship fund of $100, given out every year to the most worthy member and also does its share in supporting the co-operative house, Tabard Inn.

To this purpose the money taken in at the May day dinner is devoted. The plans are being most attractively carried out by the chairman, Helen Harper '21, and an unusually successful affair is predicted.

Music Memory Contest

No. 8. How to Remember—By Examining Melodies.

On the principle that the more we know about a thing the more chance we have of remembering it, we may now examine and compare the structure of some of the melodies in the 28 compositions of the Music Memory contest.

First, we may note that the more tender and affectionate melodies employ tones which are very close together. These are made up, in other words, of scale passages or of parts formed by taking adjacent or neighboring tones of the scale. The beginning of O Solo Mio and Home, Sweet Home are typical examples. In the florid runs of the Sextet almost the entire scale is used on several occasions. The mournful melody which Death plays in the Danse Macabre descends in the tones of the minor scale.

Second, other melodies are made up, largely, of tones that are some distance apart; in other words, are based upon the chord rather than on the scale line. These are particularly common in trumpet-like or martial airs, such as the March from Tannhäuser and the Soldiers Chorus.

Many of the selections, of course, combine scale and chord passages. The Boccherini Minuet begins with a little figure of closely related notes; then jumps to the octave below, and climbs up on the notes of the chord. But the Lord is Mindful of His Own pursues a similar course.

Third, Melodies differ greatly also in the number of different tones which they employ. The Mozart Minuet and the Chopin Funeral March get much of their air of quiet from the repetition of the same tone again and again. Of the first eight tones in the former all are the same, except the seventh; of the first eleven tones in the latter all are the same except the fifth, sixth and seventh. Occasionally this same effect is produced, not by repeating one short tone, but by holding a single tone for a considerable period. Examples are the first tone of Deep River, and the first tone of the Bach Air. In the latter case this tone is held for nine counts. In sharp contrast to these are themes which, to give the idea of lightness and joyous motion, skip about constantly. Hark, Hark, the Lark and the Lass with the Delicate Air are cases in point.

Fourth, another noticeable feature of many melodies is the way in which they are constructed by the

VARSITY TRACK TEAM DEFEATS FROSH, 109-26

Winning first place in 13 out of 15 events, the Wisconsin varsity track team vanquished the freshmen in the first outdoor meet of the season by a score of 109 5-6 to 26 1-6 at Camp Randall on Saturday afternoon. The two events won by the first year track and field men were the mile run which W. A. Sherman captured, and the javelin throw, in which Raymond A. Stehr, competing in citizen's clothes, hurled the javelin 143 feet for a first place.

Despite the loss of nine men who competed in the Drake College, Iowa, relays yesterday, the varsity squad squad made a clean sweep of five events. The Badgers won the first three positions in the 100-yard dash, 120-yard high hurdles, 220-yard dash, broad jump, and hammer throw. In the broad jump, Walter J. Reget '23 sprung a surprise by winning over Guy M. Sundt '22 and Henry W. Capen '22 with a leap of 20 feet 9 inches.

Joe J. Liskovec '21 captured individual honors of the meet by scoring in three events a total of 11 points. He won the discus throw, and finished second in the javelin throw and the shot put. Ronald C. Mattox '21 compiled 10 counters by acquiring two firsts in the 100-yard dash and the 220-yard dash.

Sherman and Stehr each garnered one first place and tied for freshman high point honors with 5 points apiece.

repetition of a small group of tones, forming a pattern, or motif. It is worth while, for instance, to attempt to count the number of times Grieg repeats the little figure at the beginning of his Morning Mod.
