Sale of Tickets, Buttons Must Produce $1000

Homecoming Budget Set Up

Totals $885 at Present

A thousand dollars must be made from the sale of Homecoming buttons and dance tickets if Homecoming is to be a financial success, according to Charles Furst '30, finance chairman. These two sources of revenue are the sole means of paying the expenses incurred in preparing for the week-end celebration of Nov. 2.

The budget, set up with the advice of A. W. Peterson, student financial advisor, totals $885 and is to be distributed among the committees as follows:

Alumni $200, arrangements $20, Badger picture $50, bonfire $25, buttons $75, prizes $115, dance $150, decorations $10, finance $10, miscellaneous $60, massmeeting $20, publicity $150.

Profits Go to Union

To cover any possible excess expenses $1,000 has been set as the income minimum. Any profits will be donated to the Memorial Union.

"We want to explain our budget to the student body so they will know where their contributions go," said Reid Winsey '30, general chairman.

Dance tickets will be sold at the door of the Union Friday night, Nov. 1. Two orchestras have been engaged to play, one in the Great hall and the other in Tripp commons.

Tripp Commons Used

John Zeratsky '31, dance chairman explains that Tripp commons is the large room in the east wing of the Union, formerly used as a dining room and now the men's lounge. Comments have been made that Tripp commons was too far away for the dance under the misapprehension that the Tripp hall dining room was to be used.

Buttons bearing the design of a homecoming grad will be sold under the direction of Frances Cline '30, and Arthur Petrie '30. The innovation of selling the official decoration at railway stations and hotels will be done

Plan Festivities for Dad's Day

Badger-Iowa Game, Banquet, Reception and 'Kempy' Compose Program

Seats together in the Father's section for the Iowa game on October 26 may be obtained only upon the acceptance by the fathers through the return of the Father's Day acceptance card that was mailed out some time ago, according to John Bergstresser, head of the Graduate Record Bureau.

Notice will be sent to the student that he is to call for his permit to purchase seats in the Father's section upon the receipt of Dad's acceptance. To insure the obtaining of the best seats in this section they should be obtained before Saturday, Oct. 19, although sale of seats and issuance of permits will continue until 5 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 24.

Ticket Sale Closes Oct. 24.

The sale of tickets for the Fathers' faculty banquet closes Oct. 24. Only a limited number of these tickets are now available, and only fathers and faculty are invited as there is a limited amount of space in Great Hall of the Union, where the banquet is to be held. These tickets may be obtained at 321 Union building. The faculty may obtain their banquet tickets at the Graduate office or at 252 Bascom hall.

President Frank will speak on problems of vital interest to the fathers and students of the university.

President to Hold Reception

The fathers, mothers, and students are invited to attend a reception to be given in the Memorial Union after the game, from 5 to 6 p. m. President and Mrs. Frank will be assisted by several of the deans and their wives.

Contrary to rumors on the campus, there are plenty of good seats available at the Graduate record's bureau for the Bascom theater production, "Kempy," according to Mr. Bergstresser. He has 100 center seats that are available for the fathers and sons.

Greek-Letter Greed

An Editorial

MAKING PROGRESS in the frog-like fashion of one jump ahead and two flops backward, the committee on student elections has reinstated three useless and empty class offices. All of these sham positions were wiped out last year by an elections committee which preferred to advance student interests instead of soft-soaping Greek letter glory grabbers.

The tin pan offices to which we refer are:

1. A secretary for the freshman class.
2. A secretary for the sophomore class.
3. A division of the office of secretary-treasurer of the senior class into two offices.

The Daily Cardinal originally campaigned for the abolition of these pieces of fraternity pork on the ground that:

1. Class activity does not merit more than one officer in the two lower classes, and certainly not more than three in the junior and two in the senior.
2. The additional offices merely open the door to machine politics—the most vicious form of control of student government.

In a leading editorial today The Daily Cardinal presents the situation on the University of Illinois campus growing directly out of conditions which Wisconsin high-pressure politicians would introduce here. If the fraternity crowd's greed for glory cannot be abated, if the committee on student elections has no more backbone than it has thus far displayed, then we advocate a dictatorial control of politics by the administration. Paternalism may be deplorable, but political corruption springing from selfishness is a hundred times worse.

Nineteen Men Are Initiated Into Hesperia

Nineteen men were initiated into Hesperia literary society following its initiation banquet in the Memorial Union Thursday night.

Following the welcome to the initiates by Milton Meinenburg '30, Ted Kammholz '30 presented Hesperia's plans for the year. The main address of the evening was given by Wm. Ryan '02, prominent Madison attorney.

The men initiated were Irving Gordon '31, Reinhold Holstein '32, and the following freshmen, Douglas J. Curran, Christopher Erdmann, Burton Fryxel, John Howell, T. Hutchins, Louis Piser, Merle Sceales, Leroy Schlinkert, Henry Schowalter, A. Wm. Wellstein, Joseph Werner, Russell Wenzlaff, Edwin Wisnewski, Melvin Wunsch, Elmer Zierbarth, and David Wedgwood.

Quantico Marine Head Visits Test College; Likes It

Col. Breckenridge, head of the Marine Corps school at Quantico, Va., is the guest of the Experimental college, where he intends to learn more of its workings so that he may introduce that style of learning in the Marine school.

Col. Breckenridge has long been interested in the philosophy of the Experimental college and considers its approach of subjects the best he has ever known.

When asked his opinion on military training in colleges, he replied: "Military training in colleges is a good thing, if not carried too far, for any kind of systemized physical training is worth while."

During the war, Col. Breckenridge was a naval attaché to A. G. Schmedemann, present mayor of Madison, when he was at the American embassy in Norway.

Miniature Model of Field House to Be Displayed

A miniature clay model of George Little's dream, the field house, now under construction at Camp Randall, will be placed on display in the Memorial Union during homecoming, according to plans of Mr. Little, director of athletics and George Burridge '30, chairman of the exposition committee of the union.

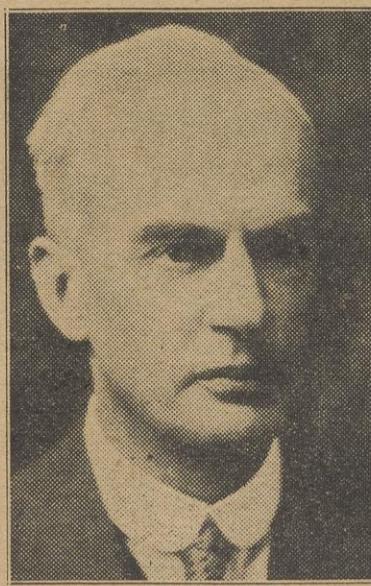

The union also hopes to have on display a series of pictures showing various stages in the construction of the new Wisconsin athletic plant, ground for which was broken about two weeks ago.

"We are more interested in having a real display of football against Purdue on homecoming than we are of any display of pictures," said Mr. Little.

INFIRMARY LOSES POPULARITY

In the last 24 hours only one new student has been admitted to the infirmary. He is Peter Killigan '32. Four have been discharged: Donald Reeke '30, Harley Sientiver '33, Sidney Schlotznick '33, and H. K. Von Maltitz '30.

Noted Pastor

Rev. A. H. Gray Speaks Here October 23-27

The Rev. A. Herbert Gray, British lecturer, author, and labor leader of wide renown will visit the university between Oct. 23 and 27.

He will lecture before university classes on problems of religion, labor, and social work. He will also hold conferences with students during the noon hour and after classes. Rev. Gray is being brought to the university under the combined auspices of Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

Mr. Gray is pastor of the Crouch Hill Presbyterian church in London, and is the author of "Men, Women, and God," "Christina Adventure," and "As Tommy Sees Us."

He is considered to be one of the founders of the British Labor party and was widely praised for his work in the British Army camps during the war. Rev. Gray is famous in England for his work with students, as well as his addresses to working men.

Rev. Gray received his education at Edinburgh university and New college, England. His first church was a small congregation in the city of Manchester, and he was then called to the College church of Glasgow.

Freshman Women Urged to Attend Phi Beta Tryouts

The first of a series of seven play readings to be given by Phi Beta, honorary dramatic society, will be held on Saturday, Oct. 19, at 7:15 p. m., in Lathrop parlors. Following the meeting freshman tryouts will be held.

The play to be read at this meeting will be "Overtone" which will be read by the members of Phi Beta and by Constance Kyle '30, Florence May Nichols '30, Lorraine Demarest '31, and Jean Mathison '30.

All other plays will be read by freshmen and those wishing to join are especially urged to attend this meeting in order to compete in the tryouts.

These play readings were formerly under the direction of Miss S. B. Davis, assistant to the Dean of Women, but since the organization of Phi Beta as a professional sorority, it has taken over the work.

It's an Old A. O. Pi Custom—But Diets Always Conquer

For about eight days, there has been some real thinking, wondering, and calculating going on at the A. O. Pi house. No, it wasn't because of the Octy contest, nor because anyone had succeeded in smuggling in a couple of homeless goldfish, but it was because ten, or maybe more, of the sisters were and are playing the eighteen-day-diet game—the game which necessitates one's eating substantial foods like grapefruit, oranges, and grapefruit. But it wasn't so much the diet part that was causing all the worry; it was what to do about the occasional birthdays that were to be celebrated. The whole house was agog.

It is an old A. O. Pi custom to have a birthday cake for each and every sister on the proper day. But the question arose as to what was to be done about the "dieter." Wherein, Mrs.

By J. J.

Bringing forth a platform which he sloganized as "Simplicity, Efficiency, and Activity," and which he drew up in 20 minutes while in conference with Ray Rothman '32, one of his campaign managers, Charles Martin, Sigma Chi, finally and formally announced his candidacy for presidency of the sophomore class Thursday afternoon.

Three planks compose Martin's platform, which he lays at the mercy of the pondering sophomores. These factors are: (1) Unity of class, (2) Support of the Union, and (3) Revision and renewal of traditions.

Favors Executive Council

Under the first division he favors the instigation of an Executive council, in which every organization on the campus, including the Arden club and the Euthenics club will be represented. He also favors hearty cooperation with the other classes.

In his second plank, the support of the Union, he makes the statement that last year the class of '32 gave $300 to help the Wisconsin Union. He is strongly in favor of keeping up this policy on the basis of the enormous funds that the sophomore class will have in its treasury as a surplus at the end of the year. He is strongly opposed to any office grabber who does not pledge his support to the Wisconsin Union.

Would Revive Traditions

The third plank expresses his devotion to the revisions and renewal of Wisconsin traditions. However, when telephoned as to which traditions he intended to deal with, he (Continued on Page 7)

Spain Lauded by Zdanowicz

Country Has Advanced in Many Ways, Professor Tells Club Cervantes

"Spain has advanced many ways since my last visit to the country, over twenty years ago," said Prof. Casimir D. Zdanowicz at the second meeting of the Club Cervantes, held Thursday night at the Spanish house. Prof. Zdanowicz's subject was "Some Impressions of My Last Trip to Spain."

"There are two distinct points of view in regard to the political regime. One group praises the present government, saying that the peace in Morocco, the new buildings all over the country, the development of the school system, and the two expositions now going on, show the favorable condition of the country.

Irregularities Pointed Out

The other group points to the student manifestations at Madrid and at Olviedo, and to the journalistic situation to show that the government is not what it should be. Newspapers in Spain cannot publish certain articles which are derogatory to the government, and are required to publish the articles the government submits to them.

"There is however, a marked extension in the development of the primary and secondary schools. The University of Madrid has remained about the same that it was twenty years ago, except that women are now admitted freely. There is also a new interest in other sports than bullfights, and the horses that are used in bullfights now wear padding, so that not so many are killed as formerly."

Illustrates Lecture

Prof. Zdanowicz illustrated his lecture with postcard projections of Seville and the Holy Week celebrations, Barcelona, and Madrid.

Rosemund Payton '31, sang Luigi Luzzi's "Ave Maria," accompanied by Marjory Owen '31, as the musical selection of the program.

Lawrence Kiddle, president of the club, presided at the meeting, and announced that the next meeting will be held on Friday, November 1, at 8:30 p. m., in the Spanish house.

Gillen to Speak at Union Friday

Water Colors and Prints Now on Display in Art Room

"The Art of Wood Block Printing" will be the theme of a lecture to be given by C. F. Gillen or the romance language department Friday afternoon, at 5 p. m. in the Music and Art room of the Memorial union.

At present there is a world famous group of water colors and wood block prints on display in the Art room of the union. These water colors and prints are the work of W. J. Phillips A.R.C.A. (associate member of the Royal Canadian academy) and a close friend of Mr. Gillen. and A. W. Scaby of England. Urisabara, a well known Japanese artist, also has some prints on exhibition.

The wood block prints made by W. J. Phillips are sought by art connoisseurs all over the world. Samples of his work may be found in all of the art galleries of the United States. He is known today as the leading exponent of this comparatively new process of wood block printing.

At an international art exposition held last year in Los Angeles, Mr. Phillips won first prize with his prints. A group of these prints were bought by Queen Mary the second, and hang in the British Museum.

The Canadian Pacific Railway sent Mr. Phillips on a trip through northern Canada to secure themes for new prints. As a result of this expedition, Mr. Phillips has on display a print of Mt. Schaefer, and a scene from British Columbia. The Canadian government has placed a standing order with him for each new print that he makes.

Especially interesting to university people is the fact that Mr. Gillen has in his possession a set of blocks which Mr. Phillips used for "The Fisherman," the frontispiece of a book, "The Art of Wood Block Printing," written by the artist. Mr. Gillen will exhibit both these blocks and the picture.

Seniors Have One Week

to Get Pictures Taken

Seniors have only one week in which to have their Badger pictures taken, and their senior summaries written, according to Aileen Walper, senior summary chairman. Appointments for sittings at the De Longe studio must be made before Oct. 25. Miss Walper stated.

The senior summaries were given out at the time of registration, but, because many have been lost, extra summaries may be obtained by calling at the Badger office, in the Memorial Union.

Seniors are instructed to bring summary, blue slip from the De Longe studio, and $1.50 to the Badger office as soon as possible.

O'Shea Studies Child Theories

Latest Book Discusses New Views of Child Training

Aiming to apply modern knowledge of psychology, hygiene, and education to the care and training of the young, Prof. M. V. O'Shea, of the department of education, has just published his latest book "Newer Ways With Children."

Presenting the results of technical investigation in non-technical phraseology, Prof. O'Shea divides his book into three parts and discusses 80 topics.

Each problem is introduced with one or more concrete, typical cases. Each case is analyzed in the effort to show why the child or the youth has not been able to adjust himself to the world in which he lives; then suggestions are made regarding the most effective way out of the difficulties that have arisen in training the problem case.

Professor O'Shea's fundamental point of view is that the individual is to some extent the heir of his ancestors. His ancestors have bequeathed to him certain urges or drives, some of which are not adapted to contemporary life. They were useful when they were developed but they have persisted too long, just as some physical organs or tissues have outlasted their usefulness and are sources of trouble today.

Throughout this book of 419 pages, their runs the thought that the entire period from birth until full maturity is required to outgrow original impulses that are not serviceable today and to acquire interests, habits, and controls that are required for adaptation to present-day social and physical environment.

Professor O'Shea has for years been in intimate contact with parents, teachers, and social workers who have presented to him concrete cases for diagnosis and suggestion of treatment. The cases presented in NEWER WAYS WITH CHILDREN have been almost entirely gained from those who are actually in charge of the training of childhood and youth. There is very little mere theoretical or speculative discussion in the book.

Texas Library Has Most Books

State University Holds Lead Over Other Southern Institutions

Austin, Texas—In the library at the University of Texas are found twice as many volumes as in any other college or university library in the South. These figures, based on statistics compiled in January, 1929, were issued by James A. McMillen, librarian at Louisiana State University. They represent the statistics on Southern university libraries for 1927-28.

Next to the University of Texas, which contained at that time a total of 411,310 volumes, was the University of North Carolina, containing only 198,192 volumes. Others in order were: The University of Virginia, with 157,446 volumes; Tulane university, with 132,945 volumes; Duke university, with 108,865 volumes, the University of South Carolina, with 105,000 volumes; the University of Oklahoma, with 100,000 volumes; Vanderbilt university, with 95,000 volumes; the University of Arkansas, with 88,000 volumes; the University of Tennessee, with 85,534 volumes; Louisiana State university, with 74,042 volumes; University of Georgia, with 63,389 volumes; University of Florida, with 58,939 volumes; Peabody Institute, with 46,040 volumes; and the University of Mississippi, with 41,104 volumes.

In the matter of appropriations, however, the University of Texas does not hold its comparative lead. In 1927-28, $59,912.67 was appropriated for books at that University, while at Duke University $52,085 was appropriated. Texas added 20,161 volumes that year, while Duke, its second closest rival in this field, added 15,305 volumes. The University of North Carolina appropriated $43,260.91, and added 16,895 volumes.

Staff members in the University of Texas library number 29, while at the University of North Carolina there are 22 persons to handle less than half the number of volumes, and at Duke University there are nineteen staff members. Salaries of the 22 persons on the staff at the University of North Carolina total $53,214.09, against $52,000 for the 29 members at the University of Texas. A total of $37,700 is appropriated for salaries at Duke University.

Prof. Gillen Will Lecture on Woodblock Printing

A lecture illustrating the color wood blocks now on exhibition in the Assembly room of the Memorial Union will be given Friday afternoon at 5 p. m. by Prof. C. F. Gillen. Prof. Gillen will talk on the color wood block printing of W. J. Phillips which are now on exhibition, and will describe the method of wood block printing using an original set of W. J. Phillips' wood blocks which Mr. Gillen owns.

Esther Hibbard '25 to Write Letter Series From Japan

Esther Hibbard '25, daughter of C. V. Hibbard, secretary of the university Y. M. C. A., will write a series of letters which will be published soon in The Daily Cardinal, from Doshisha, Japan, where she is teaching in the public schools.

Miss Hibbard graduated from Mount Holyoke college in 1924, and obtained her masters' degree from the University of Wisconsin a year later. After graduation, she taught for three years in Central high school, Madison.

Miss Hibbard is teaching English in the Doshisha schools; she also has under her direction a glee club group, a New Testament class, and a debating society.

"W" club meeting will be held in lecture room on first floor of Science Hall on Wednesday at 7:30 p. m. as per schedule.

Illinois Pop-Over

Lack of Student Interest Killing Off Campus Politics

POLITICAL CIRCLES at the University of Illinois, were thrown into turmoil, "upheaval, and open revolt against the administration recently when, following a bitterly-contested election in which the "Old Line" party was victorious, the council of administration with one fell swoop removed 11 leading officers of student groups, including the president of the student council and union council, class presidents, and several members of both councils.

The election was marked by the arrest of four old-line party leaders, all fraternity men, after members of their group broke into independent campaign headquarters shortly before the election and stole a fire bell, property of the Champaign fire department; campaign funds and literature, and a typewriter. Old-line leaders apologized for the action of their henchmen, claimed that the robbery was just another little political joke, and promised the early return of the missing property.

That episode and other irregularities during the campaign and election prompted the administration's action, according to a statement issued by Dean Thomas Arkle Clark. But the interesting part of the Dean's statement is the following:

"That only a small minority of our students are interested in politics is proved by the small number that vote at these elections. I should say that three-fourths or more are not interested in politics, and do not care who is elected provided they are allowed to pursue their way unmolested."

Backers of the politicians hit by the removal at once organized a protest movement, and plan to write letters to alumni, legislature members, and politicians appealing the action. What the result of the Illinois affair will be, we do not attempt to forecast, but it evidently grew out of a condition not uncommon in this, or any other, university campus. National politics are in the hands of parties, but the success, often questioned, of that system finds no parallel in student partisan politics.

The American and British systems are by no means perfect, but they are far superior to campus politics both in theory and practice. The fraternity boys who manipulate the strings of political intrigue usually keep well in the background, with collar-ad activity lions bearing the standard in the open.

As for responsibility of service, there isn't the slightest evidence. Coalitions are formed and reformed from year to year, with the only principles governing their formation the idea of "getting it while the getting's good." Whether the puppets elevated to administrative positions manage to "get by" the bosses care not at all; their part in the affair is over when their fraternity is guaranteed from sub-chairmanships and other "enviable" positions.

That three-fourths of the students don't give a whoop about university politics, simply because it wouldn't matter if they did, is the inevitable result of the throttling of healthy political life by the machinations of the "Greeks".

Whether the Illinois episode indicates the beginning of a general trend on the part of administration to take away student control, we hesitate to say. But at any rate, we can see considerable justification for their so doing.

Student's Football

'Player Control' Remedy Offered for Gridiron Evils

MODERN college and high school football, despite continuous criticism from within and without from players, coaches, educators, sport writers, doctors, and psychologists continues to grow rapidly in specialization and influence. It has become a great tyrant, whose subjects fear it, yet are unable because of its power and position to make effective efforts to overthrow or diminish that power.

The latest criticism aims at the strongest argument of the system; its purported development of character in players. It is evident that individuality, initiative, and leadership will get little development under a coach out to win by any means sitting on the bench and pulling the strings that manipulate his men. The post of captain, which once meant something in leadership, now is merely honorary. The coach is the brains of the team, and players who can follow instructions are preferred to those who are likely to do independent thinking in emergencies.

The New York Times last year carried an account of a dispute between a Drake university coach and captain, in which the coach ordered the captain off the field, with instructions not to come back. A national humorous periodical published a cartoon of a coach exhorting his players before a game:

"Remember that football develops individuality, initiative, and leadership. Now get in there and do exactly as I tell you."

"Player control" is the remedy advanced for this phase of the situation. Conceived by former coach T. A. D. Jones of Yale, and highly approved by Dr. James R. Angell, Yale's president, the idea has met with little favor from colleges in general. It has had tremendous success in New York state, however, where the state high school association has incorporated it into its constitution. Coaches or other adults are prohibited from interfering with the activity of teams after the game is under way; coaching from the sidelines or between halves is barred; coaches may order the removal of a player from the game, but he may not return in the same contest; coaches may attend physical injuries on their team at any time during play or intermissions.

John R. Tunis surveyed the workings of the plan in New York, Detroit and California, where it has been applied to a certain extent, and published his findings in a series of articles in the New York Post. Coaches working under the plan were unanimous in giving it praise, even those who had opposed its application. With accurate, authentic statements gleaned from the opinions of New York coaches, he demolishes one by one arguments against player control.

Physical welfare of players is safeguarded by the right of the coach to remove an injured player. Youthful captains have not, as opponents of the plan said they would, refrained from making substitutions, but have changed players oftener than did paid coaches, even on occasion removing themselves from the game. As for trusting boys with the responsibility of running a team, Mr. Tunis suggests that New York state permits boys of 16 to leave school and earn their own living, the navy enrolls youths at 17, and the army at 18.

"If a boy is such a weakling that he can't control his sports, what will he be in after life, when more important decisions and problems confront him," Mr. Tunis asks.

The danger of "friendship and fraternity politics" influencing youthful captains is minimized. The squad and school will quickly detect favoritism, and therein lies a lesson in responsibility and self-government.

Of course the standard of play will decline. But, the writer queries, is the game played for the players or the spectators?

Disadvantages of the scheme from a mercenary view-point are evident. It is unlikely that player control will be established in inter-collegiate football until there is a tremendous change in the whole theory and aims of the system.

FACT AND FANCY

By EFA

KANSAS, LIKE BOSTON, has in one way and another established itself as a personality among the several states. When one hears of the state, one thinks of its anti laws, and its leadership in the movement toward prohibition. Some states are merely place-names, meaning mountains or plains or desert. Others, such as Wisconsin, California, Florida, have impinged upon the nation's consciousness their more notable characteristics. Thus Wisconsin means beer, Milwaukee, and Germans—California, sunshine and ballyhoo—Florida, hurricanes, real estate, and Lallyhoo—Kansas, reaction and fundamentalism—Missouri, mules, mud, and obstinacy—Tennessee, fundamentalism and anti-evolution. And so it goes.

By this token of personality, our attention is immediately drawn to a press dispatch issuing from Topeka, Kan., relating to rules for the guidance of kissers, just issued by the state board of health in cooperation with the Federal Public Health service:

- Never kiss in crowded places or a poorly ventilated room. Don't kiss on trains, in movies, department stores, elevators, or chain groceries.
- If you must kiss, take a hot mustard footbath and avoid drafts in case you feel "all in" afterward.
- Guard against sudden changes in temperature when kissing. Kissing in a coonskin coat one minute and a lighter apparel the next is extremely dangerous.
- Don't kiss any person who has chills and fever.
- At a party where "postoffice" and similar games are played, be sure to gargle frequently.
- If you must practice the art of kissing, do it on the quiet and not tempt others.

UNQUESTIONABLY THIS marks a noteworthy advance in the moral and physical well-being of the great commonwealth of Kansas. Think of those ago-old times when lovers totally disregarded the need of a mustard footbath to avoid that "all in" feeling after a kissing episode. How great a boon would this have been to Romeo and that whole romantic tribe of Don Juans. Because of their ignorance of the mustard footbath, these master lovers suffered in lonely seclusion their colds in the head and their dripping noses. Think of those poorly ventilated castle towers in which love making was conducted. And I shudder to think of the drafts which must certainly have swept Juliet's chilly balcony.

In those days, furthermore, it was the common misbelief that chills and fever were a sure proof of the lover. I shudder again. Consider the poor damsels who, seeing their lover in the grip of chills and fever, believed that a kiss cooled the fevered brow. What dangers they braved, all unwittingly. The coonskin coat angle, of course, strikes a modern note. Probably no one can ever estimate how many collegians have suffered grip, influenza, and chillblains, because they didn't know. Their mothers never told them.

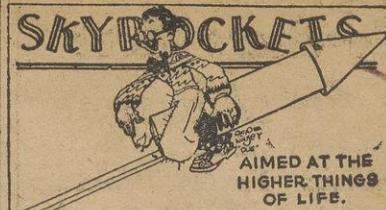

"Postoffice," too, introduces a contemporary note. I never gargled. Beyond a reasonable doubt that is why I suffer from rheumatism, fallen arches, and dandruff. Perhaps something else—even my best friend would not tell me. Here is ammunition for another "fear war" for the Listerine gentry. I can see the copy in mind now—"Do You Gargle Frequently During Postoffice? Thirty, attractive, the best bridge player in town, yet condemned to solitaire. Stop! Beware! Do not suffer this man's fate! He did not gargle during his last postoffice session!" And then, too, here is another aspect of the chain store movement.

RULES AND REGULATIONS recall an item appearing last year in the New Orleans States. It was on the occasion of the death of Ramos, famed bar-tender of the Stag, just across the street from the St. Charles hotel in New Orleans. This bar was nationally known by the historic Ramos dictum that none must become jingled. Ramos died last year and in the course of a three-column obituary, the States published to the world the famous fizz recipe, as given by Ramos a few weeks before to Stephen Curtis West:

"You want the formula for the original Ramos gin fizz? Well, all right. But don't ask me where you get the gin. I honestly don't know. There isn't a drop of liquor in my house and I never was a drinking man. But it's easy to make this fizz. Now then, just take a bar glass, or better still, a lemonade glass, put in a tablespoon of sugar, three or four drops of orange flower water, then lemon and lime—I would say a third of a lemon and a quarter of lime, for the lime gives the drink its good flavor. Then you add the gin. A jiggerful of gin. What is a jigger? Why a jigger is a stemmed sherry glass containing a little more than a fluid ounce. Then cap these ingredients with fine broken ice, and put the white of an egg on top and add two or three tablespoonsfuls of rich milk or cream.

Now then, pour this mixture into a good, airtight shaker, and commence shaking. Just shake and shake and shake. Make the bottom hit the top and the top hit the bottom. Oh, say, two or three minutes—until the mixture has a creamy, fluffy, silvery consistency, with no bubbles showing, and then, my friend, why you just quaff."

It is told in Louisiana that this set of rules and regulations is mentioned on Ramos' tombstone.

Good morning kind readers, and to blast everyone's hopes we are not going to mention this man Moon after the opening epithaph.

So that's what makes the world go 'round.

It hurt her to the quick.

I can't believe it's really Moon—He's such an awful hic!

We are glad to note the revival of class spirit around the university. Have you noticed? The Kappas have already started to decorate their front lawn for homecoming.

The D.G.'s board a vicious dog. Coronto boasts a cat; The Tri-delt girls have gold-fish pets. What say you, men, to that?

But the Pi Phi queens go one beyond, Welcome's on their mat. They kept a mouse for two long weeks, Before they got a cat!

Know Ye, that the SKYROCKET, RAMBLER, 6 POP ARTS BALL is on the way to becoming a reality. Letters were dispatched yesterday to Guy Lombardo, George Olsen, Rudy Vallee, and Abe Lyman to get estimates on music.

Don't forget the Date! . . . (Well, we don't know it yet either.)

You know, the further we progress in this column the more serious we become . . . To illustrate, we will now print the daily editorial.

A Word On the Traffic Problem.

As one approaches the curve in Langdon street, loud hisses fill the air. Sometimes this is merely the boys and girls hissing Gordy (the old man) in that cast it's not serious; but more often it is the hissing caused by tires on the pavement, and brakes being applied suddenly by drivers such as Charlie Foster, Connie Connor, Virginia Clement, Hal Porter, Irv. Tressler, and Bud Foster.

During the duck season one hardly notices the noise, but, on Wednesdays when all the guns are silent, one can hear the dull booming of nicking fenders and clashing bumpers on all sides. The massacre is tremendous, and it has been estimated that if all the air wasted in just the word "Damn" (not mentioning the others) was heated, it would be equal to that given off by Sinus in this column. . .

By the way, have you heard the Colorado Prisoner's song? "Let's do the Breakaway."

Let's call it quits, Irv, you've got too good a reputation.

ANNOUNCEMENT OF BIG PRIZE LETTER CONTEST

Each week Sinus will pay back anyone for each letter published by us. Simply address letter Sinus, and drop at the most convenient place. The prizes for this week are:

(B.V.D.) Theta Phi Alpha House:—Dear, kind, Sir. Please, can't we have a little risky publicity too?

Ans:—Certainly, my dear. How about Saturday night?

(V. A.) Kappa house:—How can we get rid of a man named Murphy after he has outlived his usefulness?

Ans:—If he has outlived his usefulness, he will probably leave of his own accord.

(B.O.) Phi Pi Phi:—How can we get more pledges?

Ans:—Dip each rushee in nitric acid; place in a dark room, and when rushee becomes so yellow he doesn't know himself, pledge him.

(R.F.) Theta house:—We are surprised that you could print such terrible things about our good friends on this campus such as the Delta Gammas, Kappas, Pi Phis, Alpha Phis, etc.

Ans:—It's just an old Rushin' custom.

(T.B.) Arden Club:—We have four boxes for sale for the Notre Dame Game at $7.00 per box. Where can we sell these?

Ans:—No place that I know of. There are to many tickets on sale now.

Enough is enough: we'll sign off now, or until we are shot.

Your good friend,

SINUS.

Chicago Artists Display Works

Union Studio Committee Places Exhibit in Assembly Room

An outstanding exhibit of Chicago artists has been obtained by the Union Studio committee of which Ruth Burdick '31 is in charge for display in the assembly room of the Memorial Union. These oils were gathered by the Chicago Galleries association for an exhibit at the Illinois State Fair which was held at Springfield in September.

The collection includes the work of a score of leading artists living in Chicago many of whom are former students of the Chicago Art Institute. Some of the pictures of Stark Davis of tropical flowers and birds figure in the exhibit. Stark Davis, a member of numerous art societies in Chicago, is specially noted for the brilliant coloring of his subjects which he usually uses as mural decorations.

Among the exhibitors is John F. Stacy, a pupil of Boulanger and of the Julien Academy in Paris, who won prizes at the St. Louis exposition in 1904, Field Exposition, and the Buenos Aires exposition in 1910. The most notable of his work is in the Museum of Fine Arts in Santiago, Chile, in Chicago, and in Indianapolis.

Most of the artists in the exhibit are American born. However, Karl A. Buehr who was born in Germany and educated in England, France, and Holland, and at the Chicago Art Institute in this country, and Osker Gross who was born in Vienna and educated there, are exceptions. Osker Gross is a member of many artistic societies both in this country and in Europe. His works hang in the Municipal Gallery in Vienna and in Chicago Galleries.

Among the other exhibitors are Kathryn Cherry, E. Martin Hennings, George Ames Aldrich, J. Jeffery Grant, Holgar W. Jensen, Frederic Tellander, among the older school of artists, who have exhibited for many years in the galleries of this country and of Europe.

Charles P. Kilgore, Ingeborg Christensen, Helga H. Dean, Ruth Van Spickle Ford, Mary Stafford, Elmer A. Forsberg, and Roy Collins are among the younger artists and have exhibited at the Art Institute of Chicago and the Chicago Galleries Association.

Octopus Awards Prizes to Hansell and Swarthout

Gordon Swarthout '31 and Nils Hansell '32 were awarded the $2.50 cash prizes for superior copy and art work submitted for the latest issue of Octopus. The prizes are given on the basis of the amount and quality of the work done by each. Carl Buss '30, received honorable mention in the copy division.

Enter Superstition!

Professor Target of Chain Letter Attack

Superstition Arrives Among Us! This was the headline of an announcement which greeted serious minded students when they searched the Sociology bulletin board in Sterling hall for official notices.

The article, typed in rather a provincial manner, read:

"The Good Luck of Flanders was sent to me and I am sending it to you that the chain may not be broken. Copy this and send it within 24 hours to four persons to whom you wish good luck. The chain was started in Flanders and is going around the world four times. The one who breaks the chain will have bad luck. It is wonderful how the chain has helped to bring good luck to people. Copy this and notice what happens within four days after you mail it. That day is going to bring you good luck. Mail this and four copies making 5 in all. Do not keep this copy."

(Signed)
Good Luck

E. A. Ross, prof. of Sociology and recipient of the aforesaid letter, not wishing to limit its charms to five of his intimate acquaintances posted the notice in a conspicuous place. Perhaps he felt that students, particularly in his department, were worthy and in dire need of the good luck insured by the letter.

Barr at Congress Intended to Improve School Supervision

Prof. Arvil S. Barr, associate professor of education, is one of 10 educators just closing an education conference in Washington, D. C. Recommendations have been formulated affecting the practices of school supervision in schools enrolling a total of 18,000,000 children under the direction of 500,000 teachers.

The conference will bring about larger use of all school personnel in supervising teaching processes, it is believed. In accordance with the policies of the National Education association, supervisors and administrators are planning to seek the cooperation of all the teachers in outlining the methods of supervision.

Other educators attending the conference are Albert S. Cook, state superintendent of schools, Baltimore; Fred C. Ayer, professor of educational administration, University of Texas; Leo J. Brueckner, professor of education, University of Minnesota; I. Jewell Simpson, assistant state superintendent of schools, Baltimore; Charles L. Spain, deputy superintendent of schools, Detroit; Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, Washington, D. C.; William H. Burton, associate professor of education, University of Chicago; George D. Strayer, institute of educational research, Teachers college, Columbia university.

Robert Cool '32 was appointed member of the Forensic Board.

Hesperia and Pythia Literary societies will hold a joint debate sometime in November, and questions of unemployment insurance, the Experimental college, or intercollegiate athletics were suggested for propositions.

5 Wins, 2 Ties in Intramural Football Race

Depts Take Close Decision
From Theta Xi's in Tie Game

With the intramural touch football race in full sway both in the fraternity and dormitory leagues, five teams won their games yesterday.

In the games Thursday, the closest tilt was between Delta Tau Delta and Theta Xi. The final score was seven-all tie, but the Depts were given the decision on the basis of first downs, of which they had five, as compared to only two by the Theta Xi's.

Beta Theta Pi and Pi Lambda Phi romped off with a pair of one-sided wins, when they trounced Phi Kappa and Phi Sigma Delta, 12 to 0 and 19 to 0, respectively. Spooner and Bashford turned in a tie game, even in points and first downs, and Tarrant defeated Van Hise.

Depts Win Decision Over Theta Xi on Downs

In one of the most interesting games played this fall in the touch league, the Delta Tau Delta was awarded the decision over Theta Xi because of a league ruling which states that all tie games should be awarded to the team with the greatest number of first downs. The count at the end of the battle stood at seven all. The Depts had out-scored their opponents in first downs, 5 to 2, so the game went down in the book's as a Dept victory.

The spectacular play of the speedy Dept quarterback, Paschong, was the outstanding feature of the game. Paschong was the mainstay of his team's attack besides being a bulwark on defense. Scanlon and Backus also played fine games, particularly in receiving passes thrown by Paschong. The passing of Freytag and the punting of Horton stood out in the play of the losers.

The Delta Tau Delta outfit scored their seven points in the second period when Laughlin received a pass from Paschong for the touchdown followed by a pretty placekick from the toe of Backus. The Theta Xis scored their touchdown in the last minute of play when Smith caught a long heave from Freytag. They made their seventh point when Backus tried to block the placekick from the front which is against the rules.

The Dept lineup was as follows: RE Laughlin, C Douglas, LE Brady, QB Paschong, LHB Scanlon, RHB Lee, FB Backus.

The Theta Xi team lineup: RE Chmilinski and Smith, C Cassidy, LE Driessell and Henly, QB MacCalathian, LHB Horton and Punling, FB Freytag.

Touchdowns: Smith, Laughlin.

Extra points: Backus, penalty on Depts.

Phi Kappa Team Defeated by Beta Theta Pi's

The Beta Theta Pi's showed great power in defeating Phi Kappa 12-0 yesterday. The winners possessed an excellent passing attack which almost completely baffled their opponents. Both touchdowns were the result of long passes, one from Richter to Curtis, and the other from Seymour to Noyes. All the scoring was done in the first half. The losers threatened to score several times in the second half but each time the rally fell short.

The work of Seymour, Lange and Ritcher stood out for Beta Theta Pi, while Healy and Beck starred for the losers. A spectacular 70 yard run by Seymour was the big feature of the ball.

The lineups: Beta Theta Pi—LE Curtis, C Reese, Duffield, RE Glanville, Noyes, Wilson; QB Seymour, Oestrich, LHB Richter, FB Lange, Clark, Phi Kappa—LE Murray, C Kennedy, RE Beck, QB Kelly, LHB Stricker, Smith; RHB Callahan, Curreri; FB Sapir.

Tarrant House Outplays Van Hise; Score, 7-0

Despite the absence of Bill Bradford, their star end, Tarrant house of Adams hall outplayed Van Hise of Adams hall, 7-0, at touch football yesterday. A long pass, Mortonson to Abiko, accounted for the Tarrant victory.

Harriers Off For Evanston Race Saturday

Leaving Madison at 5:10 p. m. this afternoon, Wisconsin's cross country team entrains for Evanston where it will meet Notre Dame, Northwestern and Illinois Saturday.

The meet will start at 10 a. m., and will terminate in time for the spectators to reach Soldier's field for the game. The finish is just outside of Dyche stadium. Coach Jones is anticipating a large crowd of rooters.

Coach Tom Jones has selected ten men to make the trip: Capt. Del Fink, Goldsworthy, Follows, Wolgemuth, Ocock, Steenis, Folsom, Courtright, Bertrand, and Wixon. The decision was reached after considerable deliberation because of the close fight for places on the squad. Two tryouts were held this week to determine the members of the team.

The close competition for a place on the team is indicative of the power of the squad. The lettermen have been forced to set a fast pace by the new aspirants for the squad.

Long Awaited Barge Arrives; Frosh Row Monday on Mendota

The frosh crew candidates were jubilant at the prospect of getting on Lake Mendota starting Monday. Since the beginning of the current semester they have been working faithfully on the rowing machines in the loft of the gym annex in an effort to perfect the complicated "Leader" stroke. They have been anticipating their first trip on Mendota for some time, but the delay in getting the barge has necessarily prevented them from getting any closer to the lake than the gym annex. However, word was received Thursday that the long awaited barge had finally arrived and Coach Orth instructed his classes to report at the same time Monday as usual, but to report at the boat house instead of at the gym.

The barge which was constructed by a firm in Washington was especially designed for the University of Wisconsin. It is essentially a floating crew university. There are accommodations for sixteen men as well as for a coach and two coxswains. It is expected that the barge will speed up the development of the prospective frosh crew.

running, and Abiko's speed were the determining factors in the Tarrant victory. Scanlon and Lerner played well for Van Hise.

The lineups: Tarrant: Starewich LE, Feferman C, Garman RE, Abiko and Andrews QB, Dietrich RHB, Tischler LHB, Mortonson FB, Van Hise: Meis LE, Howell C, Scanlon RE, Lerner QB, November RHB, Vickers LHB, Sapir FB.

Even Defensive Strength Causes Scoreless Tie

In a very closely contested defensive battle Spooner and Bashford houses of Tripp hall fought a scoreless touch-football battle yesterday on the Intramural field. Both teams displayed admirable defensive ability, but neither

Lubratovich Shifted Again;
Four Candidates Work at End Positions

By BILL McILRATH

Grimly bearing the weight of their disappointing showing against Northwestern last Saturday, 35 Wisconsin football players are advancing on Chicago today, filled with hopes and fighting determination to prove to followers of the Cardinal, Big Ten fans, Knute Rockne, and his Irish eleven, that they can whip Notre Dame.

Last Monday, following the Wildcat debacle, the members of the squad awoke, and found themselves facing a week of back-breaking drill.

Line-ups Uncertain

Just who will start against the Notre Dame eleven is unknown. Because of radical changes made this week in the position of men and their rating, no one, with the exception of Coach Thistlethwaite himself, can say who will get the opening call.

One of the most outstanding switches made in the personnel of the Cardinal fighting machine was at tackle. On Tuesday night, Milo Lubratovich, husky tackle, was sent to the backfield for a few plays. "Whitey" Ketelaar, who has been playing opposite Milo during the 1929 games, was sent to the third squad. Wednesday night Milo and Ketelaar appeared together on the third string outfit.

Witte, Tobias Good

To fill in the gaps left by the shifting of the tackles, Herb Witte and Dave Tobias were sent in on what has become known as the first string. This pair has looked good and seem to be fighting for the chance to stay with the first string outfit.

While the men were being shifted around at tackle posts, four players were fighting for the end positions. It appeared Thursday night that Milt Gantzenbein and Howie Jenson had made the best showings, but George Casey or Lew Smith is likely at any time to go in.

While Capt. Parks has kept his position at right guard all week, the position at the left of the center is still unfulfilled, as far as can be surmised from practice workouts. Al Leithan played part of the time at the position last Saturday. This week Henry Hardt, Leighton Ahlberg, and Armin Baer have all had chances to fill in at the post.

Backfield Shifted About

In the backfield the position of left halfback has been most uncertain. "Mickey" Bach and Nello Pacetti have been looking equally well, and because he has had more experience with the regulars this year Pacetti is the most likely candidate.

Tury Oman, a red-headed lad who distinguished himself with some sensational work in the Iowa game last year, has been giving Sammy Behr a great run at quarterback, and either of them may start Saturday.

At fullback, Walter Gnabah and Harold Rebholz have been battling, but both men are on equal terms, and will probably divide time in the affair with Notre Dame. Whether "Russ" Rebholz or Ernie Lusby will start at right half is still uncertain.

After a climax of monotonous dummy scrummage for a full two hours against the frosh Thursday night, Coach Thistlethwaite led his tired squad off the field well satisfied that the men are in a fighting mood and anxious to meet the Rockne squad.

'B's Eager for Illini Struggle Next Saturday

Neupert, Second Team Fullback, Ill; But Will Be in Game

Showing a fine spirit of enthusiasm in their last strenuous workout Thursday night, the Wisconsin "B" squad seemed in good condition for its game with the Illinois reserves Saturday. As the Badger varsity is playing out of town, the reserve game is expected to draw a large crowd of students and townspeople.

Wisconsin yearns for a defeat over the Suckers, as the Illinois team was the only one which scored a victory over the Badgers last year. However, the Illini are expected to be just as strong this year as last, and revenge will not be an easy matter for the Bees.

Neupert III

Larry Neupert, plunging fullback and star kicker of the reserves, failed to show up for practice due to a slight illness, but he is expected to be in good shape for the game. Bullock and Schuck alternated at the fullback position, with Anderson, a half back, doing the best kicking.

No starting changes are expected to appear in the lineup for Wisconsin, except for Simmons replacing Hanson at the center position. Frisch and Backus are slated for guard positions, with Molinaro and Rottman probably starting at the tackle jobs. One end will be filled by Catlin with Brandt, Wolfe, and Lubratovich under consideration for the other.

Czerwinski will probably start as quarterback, with Obendorfer in reserve. Anderson, Hake, and Neupert have the best chance of completing the backfield, with Lutz, Gustavel, and Bullock other possibilities.

Perfect Defense

The "B" squad has been working all week on a good defense for a fast, shifty team, such as Illinois is expected to present. The defense looked good against the varsity Tuesday for a short time, but repeated onslaughts by the superior team soon wore down their resistance.

Eldon Marple, crew man and a member of the All-Americans last year, showed up for practice Thursday and was issued a uniform. Marple's height and weight should aid the line greatly. The same night saw the return of Nathan Sobel, sophomore linesman, who has been out for a week with an injured leg.

Medics Score Over Gamma Phis 2-1 in First Hockey Tilt

Gamma Phi hockey team lost to the Medics last night at Camp Randall by a score of 2 to 1. The teams were fairly evenly matched and showed good form in their first game of the season. The Medics were the first to score sending the ball into the cage in the first half. Gamma Phi managed to squeeze in a goal from the side of the field, but the Medics immediately retaliated with another. The Medic center took another try but the final whistle blew before it entered the cage.

The players for each team are as follows:

Gamma Phi—Scott, Nash, Tennant, Hart, Harris, Sager, McLellan, Bartlett, Kinball.

Medic—Hellebrandt, Jackson, Mahone, Rausche, Coine, Chalfoot, Paxson, Rice, Boyer.

Officials: Pease—Wlesner. Goals: Gamma Phi—Sager 1; Medics—Rice 2.

List of Men Ineligible for Intramurals Given

A complete list of all varsity and freshman athletes who are barred from competition in intramural sports has been submitted to the intramural department by Varsity and Freshman coaches. This list has been taken so as to keep likely varsity and freshman athletes from participating in intramural football. Several casualties have occurred during the past week which may keep varsity cross country men out of the Badger lineup for the rest of the season, and coaches feels that they cannot afford to take a big risk and allow their varsity men to report for intramural football.

Joe Steinauer Grooms Squad

Forty Men Reporting at 4:30
Daily for Conditioning Swims

About 40 men are taking part in the daily practice of Joe Steinauer's varsity swimming squad. The tank, which has been empty since last May, was refilled last week, and now enjoys its usual popularity. Most of the men are reporting regularly at 4:30 p. m. for conditioning swims.

Steinauer's conditioning program consists of swimming 10 tank-lengths with long drifts; about 20 cross laps with turns; a half-dozen starts, swimming four strokes; and 50 or more "bobs" for breathing exercise to complete the day's workout.

"Do this and no stalling," says Steinauer, "if you want to be in shape for time trials after next week."

A new diving board is on hand and will probably be installed this week. Earl Hatleberg, star varsity diver is the official lifeguard at the tank this year. Art Thomsen, back-stroke veteran, is working as a trainer for the varsity football team, and also handling swimming classes of the Badger preps at Wisconsin high school.

Fourteen members of last year's squad are working out regularly. They are Reid Winsey, J. Vinson, H. Von Maltitz, Art Thomsen, Tad Tanaka, R. Schaffer, D. Perry, A. Meyer, Capt. Ed Lang, Earl Hatleberg, W. Crowley, R. Czerwonky, T. Carlin, Ed Byanskas.

A noted halfback who was also a track star graduated after years of competition and retired to the bond business.

A suitable time having passed he married the boss's daughter.

And some time later their came a little stranger into the family of the once noted athlete.

His old classmates joined together to give him some sort of a gift of congratulation and finally held a big banquet at which the noble star received a huge silver cup.

Acknowledging the applause the former All-American and chronic golfer arose to give thanks. Everything went well until the close of his speech when he seemed to hesitate. He blushed, coughed and then found himself.

"... I beg your pardon, fellows," he stammered, holding up the trophy, "but can I keep this or do I have to win it three times?"

Pi Lambda Phis Overwhelm Phi Sigma Deltas, 19-0

In a one-sided touch-football game Thursday on the Intramural field, Pi Lambda Phi trounced Phi Sigma Delta, 19-0. The players on both sides exhibited a keen anxiety to win, and at times resorted to questionable tactics. Goldfus of Pi Lambda Phi seemed to be the chief offender.

Meadows, scoring three touchdowns, and Goodman were outstanding for Pi Lambda Phi, while Krom played a steady game for Phi Sigma Delta.

The lineups: Pi Lambda Phi: Levy RE, Krieger C, Berstein LE, Meadows QB, Schotkin and Frank RHB, Goldfus LHB, Goodman FB. Phi Sigma Delta: Mann RE, Vass LE, Comick LE, Cohen and Kapitanoff QB, Rome RHB, Levin LHB, Krom FB.

Boilermakers Plan Strong Offensive for DePauw Battle

LaFayette, Ind.—Away to a victorious start in the Big Ten race by virtue of its spectacular fourth quarter comeback against Michigan that earned a 30 to 16 victory, Coach Jimmy Phelan's Purdue squad has again settled down to work in preparation for the coming games against DePauw here Saturday and against Chicago at the Windy City on October 26.

Although justly elated at the success of the offensive that scored four touchdowns against Michigan in less than fifteen minutes of play to pull the game out of the fire, the Boilermaker squad has developed anything but a cock-sure feeling as a result of the game, for Michigan's power was vastly overrated previous to the contest, and the Boilermakers feel that the fourth quarter drive was caused as much by the Wolverine weakness as by Purdue strength.

The DePauw game here Saturday, which marks the last home appearance of the colorful Boilermaker crew this month, is expected to attract a throng of state football fans, especially in view of the fact that Coach Bish Hughes will bring an undefeated eleven against the Old Gold and Black. DePauw boasts the best backfield in years, and the Methodists have already chalked up decisive triumphs over Manchester, Oberlin and Earlham.

Members of the assisting staff are appointed only after a year of work. Haresfoot assistants declared yesterday that Martin has worked one day.

45,000 to See Evanston Game

Minnesota and Northwestern
Feature in Important
Big Ten Game

Evanston, Ill.—A crowd of 45,000 will see Northwestern play Minnesota here Saturday in a game that will have an important bearing on the outcome of the Big Ten race.

One of the biggest student migrations in the history of the conference will be started Friday night when close to 5,500 Minnesota students and alumni will begin the trek to Evanston. Five thousand tickets already have been sold at Minnesota, and 24 special trains have been engaged.

A great battle between two powerful lines is in prospect Saturday. Coach Dick Hanley's sophomore tackles, Jack Riley and Dalias Marvil, will face a bigger task than that which confronted them at Madison, but there is a feeling in the Purple camp that what these two lack in experience will be made up by fighting qualities and their ability to work with the veterans who play alongside of them in the line. Bronko Nagurski, 200 pound tackle or fullback, appears to be definitely placed as a forward by Coach Spears this year. Nagurski played both positions against Northwestern last year and impressed local fans with his versatility. Along with Nagurski there will be several other veterans including Bob Tanner, who was frequently mentioned as an all-conference man last season, Les Pulkrabek and Wayne Kakela, guard and tackle who weighs 200 pounds, and Alvin Westgaard, a guard. All are three-year veterans.

With the exception of Ted Egbert, end and Jimmy Evans, guard, all of the Purple linemen are in good condition to meet the challenge of the Gophers. Egbert will be out until the Illinois game.

Al Moore is being worked into Hank Bruder's position at left halfback. Moore is 25 pounds lighter than Bruder and does not possess the same drive, but he has used his shifty running to good advantage in gaining off the tackles in scrimmage. The Purple B team, which travels to Minnesota Saturday, has perfected a number of Gopher formations and is providing the best workouts of the year for the varsity this week.

University Plays Host to Forty Women Wednesday

Forty women, wives of the real estate men who are here for the state convention, were guests of the university Wednesday morning, Oct. 16. A tour of the campus was on the program, particular interest being centered in a trip through the Memorial Union.

Luncheon was served at the Madison club. In the afternoon, bridge was enjoyed at the home of Mrs. Stanley Hanks of Lakewood.

About two hundred people were present at the banquet and dance which took place at the Hotel Loraine Wednesday evening, marking the end of the three day gathering. E. J. Samp, president of the association and Herbert Lehman, secretary, headed the committees in charge of the affair.

Union Makes Arrangements to Hear Zimbalist Broadcast

Efren Zimbalist, violinist, who is to start the Memorial Union recital series here Nov. 5, will be featured on the Atwater-Kent hour Sunday night, Oct. 19. Arrangements have been made by the house committee to receive the concert in the Union, and three new loud-speakers have been purchased for the event. The Great hall, Council room and the Rathskeller will all be hooked in on the musicale.

WORLD OF SOCIETY

Social Activities This Weekend Are Few in Number

With a great number of the university students leaving Madison over the week-end to attend the Wisconsin-Notre Dame football game in Chicago, few social functions are scheduled on the campus. Three informal parties will take place on Saturday evening.

DELTA KAPPA EPSILON

An informal party will be given Saturday evening from 2 to 6 o'clock, by members of Delta Kappa Epsilon. Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Johnson have consented to chaperon.

CHADBOURNE HALL

Miss Ruth Campbell, and Mrs. Fried will chaperon at an informal party to be given at Chadbourne Hall, Saturday, from 9 to 12 o'clock.

KAPPA DELTA

Saturday evening, from 9 to 12 o'clock, Mrs. Emma Buckmaster, and Prof. and Mrs. J. Rood will chaperon an informal party at the Kappa Delta chapter house.

Bridge Lessons Are Open to A.A.U.W. Non-members

Because of the large number of requests from non-members of the A.A.U.W. for reservations for the contract bridge lessons to be given in November, the entertainment committee announces that after Thursday, October 24, reservations will be open to non-members.

Members of the A.A.U.W. and the College club are asked to telephone Mrs. A. T. Weaver, chairman of the entertainment committee before the 24th if they desire table reservations.

The lessons which are under the direction of Mrs. I. Weaver, will be given each Wednesday during the month of November from 2:30 until 3:30 at the College club. The price of the lessons is $3.00 for the series.

G. P. Connors Spend Honeymoon in Paris

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Phelps Connor, who were married July 20, and who are spending their honeymoon in Europe, have received news of the couple while traveling in Paris. The bride and groom sailed to France on the Ile de France on July 26.

While in Paris, Mrs. Connor, formerly Miss Mary Roddis '30, Marshfield, Wis., sat for a portrait which was done by Buckley MacGurkin, famous artist.

Mr. and Mrs. Connor are sailing October 19 for Glasgow on the Carmenia. Both Mr. and Mrs. Connor were students at the University of Wisconsin, Mrs. Connor being affiliated with Pi Beta Phi sorority, while the latter, a graduate with the class of 1925, is a member of Psi Upsilon fraternity.

Intramurals, we have always been told, are meant for those who cannot make the varsity teams. However, we might mention the fact that Ed Ziese '30 is on the Theta Chi touch football team. Students in Prof. A. A. Vasiliev's "Hellenistic Civilization" lecture are nonplussed about taking down notes. For instance, one day last week he told them of a bibliography for the course, taking up about half an hour to read the names of the books. All the while the boys and girls were attentively writing the names down. And then said the prof, "Unfortunately, these books are all in French and German." Since that was not enough he took the occasion this week to inform them that one of the books had been translated into English. The class took pains to take a lot of notes about it and then found out that "this book is not in the library and unavailable in Madison."

Who said "motion picture college" is non-existent? Its habitat is the University of Wisconsin campus right in back of Bascom hall, if we are to believe a campus playboy. It seems that he peeped out of one of the back windows at 12:05 p. m. Thursday and beheld it thusly. "A fellow and a girl were walking along very leisurely with their arms around each other. He was about a head taller than she was. Every now and then she would lift her face heavenward with a wistful expression on it. He would turn his head downward and kiss her. It was repeated several times before they disappeared from sight. Both seemed to be enjoying it, too." What an idea, around which to build an original college movie. And furthermore, our informant admits having done the same thing himself but "never at five minutes after twelve."

W. A. A. Cottage May Be Used by All Approved Groups

To encourage members of all campus groups to use the W. A. A. cottage, the Outing club recently changed its ruling so that any approved person may chaperone a party at the cottage. Previously only members of the physical education department were eligible as chaperones.

Any students group may have the week-end use of the house by applying at the physical education department and parties may have their own chaperones authorized by Miss Blanche Trilling.

The cottage, which is on the lake near Shorewood hills, accommodates 25 people. The first floor contains one large room with a fireplace, and a kitchen; and sleeping facilities are provided on the second floor. All necessities and utensils are provided and students need take only food and blankets.

The physical education department is anxious to have as many students as possible enjoy the advantages offered at the lake shore and will welcome applications for weekend reservations.

The Outing club sponsors frequent hikes and parties at the cottage which are open to all students.

Prof. emeritus Rasmus B. Anderson, Prof. F. L. Paxson of the history department, and Prof. W. A. Scott of the economics department, were re-elected curators of the State Historical society at the 77th annual meeting of the organization, held on Thursday at 2:00 p. m. in the staff room of the historical library.

F. L. Gilbert and E. B. Steensland are the other Madison residents who were also re-elected. C. E. Boughton, Sheboygan, was elected to fill out the unexpired term of the late A. C. Neville, of Green Bay.

The seven other curators who were re-elected were: Marshall Cousins, Eau Claire; A. C. Kingsford, Baraboo; Victor Kutchin, Green Lake; J. H. A. Lacher, Waukesha; Most Reverend S. G. Messmer, Milwaukee; B. L. Parker, Green Bay; and W. A. Titus, Fond du Lac.

These men will serve until the annual meeting of 1932, which will be the eightieth anniversary of the group. Thirty-one members were present, and took part in the elections.

The feature of the meeting was a proposal brought up by Kenneth M. Ellis, who spoke as representative of a temporary committee for the Ojibwe pageant of Apostle Island.

Mr. Ellis set forth before the house the tentative plans of the committee for a pageant, to be held in August, 1930, at Ashland Bay Peninsula, approximately six miles from Bayfield. He spoke briefly of the natural suitability of the site for a pageant ground because of its unusual beauty.

"Former efforts to hold pageants here have failed for a definite reason," said Mr. Ellis. "Effort in former times has been entirely commercialized. Our aim is partially to provide two weeks' employment to 500 Ojibwe Indians, and partially the furtherance of national interest in the history of our state."

Such a pageant could but draw many tourists, especially if there is no admittance charge, is the opinion of Mr. Ellis.

Financial support for the pageant is insured by the Wisconsin Society of New York, which pledged $15,000 to the cause, and General Motors, which will contribute $10,000. Aid was also promised by several prominent individuals in the East, who are interested in seeing the performance go through.

Mr. Ellis did not request the financial aid of the State Historical society. He wishes their cooperation to take a different form—that of general management. If the society consents, it is to have utilization of one-third of the money subscribed to the pageant.

In return for this aid, Mr. Ellis assured the group that a membership campaign would be carried on from now until the pageant is held, with special stress placed upon life memberships.

The proposal is at present being considered by the executive committee of the organization.

Students Place in Judging Cattle at Dairy Show

Roy J. Hugunin '30, won fifth place in judging Ayrshire cattle at the National Dairy show held at St. Louis this week and Harold J. Morrissey '30, Arena, was awarded fifth place in judging Guernseys and ninth in Ayrshires, according to reports received Thursday at the college of agriculture.

These boys won their placings over the heads of 84 contestants entered in the contest. The men competing were selected from the leading agricultural colleges all over the United States. Twenty-eight teams were entered in all.

The other two members of the team are Otto E. Sell, Oshkosh, and Martin J. Burkhardt, Plymouth. This team won eighth place on Jerseys, sixth on Holsteins, fourth on Guernseys, and fifth on Ayrshires at the Waterloo Dairy congress two weeks ago. The team is coached by I. W. Rupel of the Animal Husbandry department.

The first five places in the contest were awarded to the following colleges in the order named: Missouri, Tennessee, Kansas, Oklahoma, and Ohio.

Wisconsin's final placing in the contest was twenty-second out of the 28 teams.

The team will come to Chicago some time on Saturday to witness the Wisconsin-Notre Dame football game. They will return to Madison either Saturday night or Sunday morning.

DAILY CARDINAL

Men Eat Three to Four Cents More Food Daily Than Women

Wisconsin men eating at dormitories and restaurants eat three cents more worth of food than women eating at corresponding places while fraternity men's appetites cost them four cents more per day, figures compiled in university eating places indicate.

Statistics show that men who eat at restaurants or dormitories average 32½ cents a meal, and 98 cents a day, while women students average 31½ cents, or about 95 cents a day. Fraternity men average 38 cents per meal and sorority women 34 cents.

Board for the complete academic year ranges from $250, the amount charged by the girls' dormitories, to $215, the average amount charged by fraternities. Sororities charge an average of $270 per year and girls' boarding houses charge $300 for meals.

It is noticeable, restaurant proprietors say, that weather conditions alter eating capacities of customers. A rainy day is likely to reduce the amount of each diner's check. During the summer session eating prices and expenditures are considerably higher, amounting in many cases to an average meal of 42 cents.

The records of the university cafeteria show that the average meal costs 40.27 cents, but this average includes the meals of many faculty members and outsiders as well as students.

The customary division at restaurants as follows: breakfast 20 cents, luncheon, 35 cents, and dinner 45 cents. In fraternity houses the division remains the same for the first two meals but shows an increase of 20 cents in the cost of the evening meal.

Only two more days remain of the fall campaign of the 1931 Badger which is in progress on the "hill" and other parts of the campus. Booths for subscribers are located in Bascom hall, Biology building, Engineering building, Sterling hall, and also located outside of Music hall, and Science hall.

In a few days the offer of names printed free in gold leaf on the book will be withdrawn. At present the Badger is selling for $4, although in the near future, similarly done in past years, the price will be raised to $5.

"Your memories of Wisconsin" in pictures and in print are the things that every student will want to keep permanently in his possession. The 1931 Badger has for its primary object the recording of all student activities.

It has no more value to the senior, leaving school, than to the freshman, looking forward to four years filled with experience and activity. The 1931 Badger is a worthy companion to every student who matriculates for the first time and a necessity to the student who is leaving college forever.
