LECTURES ON ART

PROFS. STEARNS AND HASKINS SPEAK ON ITALIAN ART.

Exhibit Will be Continued all Next Week—Open Afternoons and Evenings—Many Attend.

Professor Stearns gave the first lecture at the Art exhibit yesterday afternoon. As an opening lecture it was excellent and peculiarly fitting in that it gave broad and general outlines of the growth and characteristics of the school represented. Professor Stearns said that there were three things which were to be noticed in looking over these paintings, first, the change in the technique, second, the change in history, third, the change in the character and interests of the artists.

Italian art was first used in the interior decoration of churches and monasteries. Not paints but colored squares of glass were first used, imbedded in the wall. This was the Byzantine mosaic. The figures represented were of course exceedingly stiff. The next class of painting was frescoing. In this the painter was required to work with great rapidity since the wall could only be painted white still wet and freshly made. Frescoes therefore lacked detail and besides copied the stiff figures of the Byzantine mosaic. The early artist moreover knew nothing of perspective, either linear or color. In one case a mountain designed to be a background was brought into such prominence by its bright green color that it appeared immediately back of the subject portrayed. To obviate this difficulty buildings were taken as easy backgrounds. When perspective was discovered the artists were fascinated with it.

Another point in which the early painters were lacking was composition. They were by no means masters of the details of pose. In one of the early paintings of the Lord's Supper six of the apostles are seated with their backs to the front. Besides, there was no unity in their paintings. They did not represent one moment of time but tried to represent several successive moments. A good painting should have unity and every detail in it should minister to this unity. Such a painting is the "Lord's Supper" of Leonardo de Vinci, which is an example of very good composition.

The object of the first paintings was to tell a Bible story. The Italian school was one of sacred art. The paintings reflected the ecclesiastical world of the fourteenth and fifteenth century. Then came the Renaissance. In this period the painters chose subjects from mythology. Guido Reni's "Aurora" is an example of this class of subjects. The landscape and historical painting is essentially modern.

In speaking of the artist's peculiarities displayed in their style, Giotto's childish simplicity in bringing forth his story was mentioned. Later when he becomes interested in detail and perspective, the story gets in the way of the artist. Michael Angelo has no story in many of his paintings. As to the modern idea on this subject, Whistler says the true painting should not be connected with literature but should be loved for its own peculiar beauties, the blending of the colors, the freshness of a landscape or the radiance of a sunset.

Professor Haskins Speaks.

Professor Haskins last evening addressed a large audience in the historical rooms of the Library on "Early Italian Art. He spoke of the importance of this collection in studying the history of Italy in the time of the early Renaissance.

It was from the 14th to the 16th centuries that Italy was the great center of art. Since this period the art productions have been inferior to the old Masters.

Before the Renaissance the artists subjects were generally ecclesiastical but there was a great change of subjects. The Renaissance has been defined as "a discovery of the world and the discovery of man."

The earlier pictures clearly represent the atmosphere of the period. They are admirable illustrations of mediaeval ideas and spirit. These pictures embody in them the ideals of the masters and the thoughts and expressions found in them gives us a graphic representation of the period. It is noticeable how the artists in representing biblical characters dress their subjects in the garb of their own times thus affording an opportunity for one to study the manners and customs of the early Renaissance.

Prof. Haskins, after speaking on the general characteristics of the period, devoted the remainder of the talk to describing the individual pictures.

The exhibition will continue all next week and will be open both afternoons and evenings.

PROF. MOULTON TO Y. M. C. A.

Brilliant Scholar Will Address Them To-morrow Afternoon.

There has been another change made in the speaker for the Sunday meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Late yesterday afternoon in response to an urgent invitation, a message was received from Prof. Richard G. Moulton, Ph. D., of the University of Chicago, stating that he would address the men of the University to-morrow afternoon. The Y. M. C. A. feel elated over the news.

Dr. Moulton is professor of Literature in English in the University of Chicago. He is one of the best known literary critics in the west. Besides many works in nearly all departments of literary criticism he is the author of a number of books and essays on the literature of the Bible. As a result of his labors in this field there has been opened up to lovers of the Bible a wealth of literature with all its original beauty and versatility. Dr. Moulton is the author of "The Modern Reader's Bible" which is a series of volumes covering the Wisdom, Prophecy, History and New Testament portions of the scriptures.

It takes the Bible story and dresses it in modern literary garb.

Dr. Moulton lectures to-night in the Methodist lecture course. He will speak to-morrow afternoon in the Law Building at half past four o'clock, and every student should avail himself of this opportunity to hear a brilliant lecturer.

FOR SKATING RINKS.

Alderman Sparling Introduces Popular Resolutions in City Council.

Professor Sparling in his capacity as city alderman last night introduced in the common council a resolution providing for municipal co-operation in the creation of two skating rinks on Lakes Mendota and Monona. The resolution was passed. The former lake will be the one under the control of the Skating club. The city will flood the rinks free of charge. A season ticket for either rink must not exceed 25 cents nor one skate exceed 5 cents.

THE JUNIOR PROM

PLANS COMPLETE FOR BIG SOCIETY EVENT.

Orchestra From Chicago—Many New Features—Same Price of Admission to be Charged.

On the evening of Friday, February fifteenth, will occur the Junior Prom, the big student society event of the year. Plans for this event are now nearly complete and active preparations will soon begin.

The committee is this year making a special effort to overcome the difficulties and remedy the defects which were in evidence at last year's Prom. Sufficient preparations have been made to feed seven hundred persons. The music will be furnished by Goldsmith's orchestra of twenty-one pieces from Chicago. A concert will be given from 8 to 9 as usual. There will be twenty-five dances on the program of which four will be supper dances. These supper dances will probably be triple. The dancing will cease at 2:30.

The west entrance to the floor will this year be used instead of the main entrance. This is to avoid the inconvenience that has heretofore been experienced by the dancers meeting the incoming crowd below when going to the ball room. The same cloak rooms will be used as heretofore. The orchestra will be suspended from the iron arches as last year, but on the east side of the hall between the two arches opposite the west entrance.

The decorations will be purple and white bunting, the colors of the class of 1902, with large arches of Alabama smilax at intervals. Boxes will be arranged the same as last year. The programs will be very elaborate, a large sum having been appropriated by the finance committee for that purpose.

The price of admission will be $4.00 per couple including supper; boxes $1 extra per couple; "stags" $5.00.

The balcony will as usual be reserved for onlookers. The seats for the first two rows will sell for $1.00; the third and fourth rows for $.75 and the fifth for 50 cents.

The Prom. committee is composed as follows:

Arrangement—Chairman, Frederick A. Vogel, R. Tynes Smith, Hawley B. Lennon, Arthur H. Curtis and Clarence J. Du Four.

Reception—Chairman, Fred H. Carpenter. Arthur B. Grindell, John V. Brennan, Harold G. Ferris, Bertram F. Adams and Eugene A. Balsley.

Floor—Chairman, Charles E. Long, Samuel G. Higgins, George A. Scott, Harry W. Cole, Lucius S. Bergstrom and Archie R. Murray.

Sub-Committees.

Decoration—Smith, chairman; Cole, Carpenter, Ferris and Vogel.

Music—Ferris, Chairman; Curtis, Du Four, Higgins and Smith.

Finance—Cole, chairman; Brennan, Curtis, Bergstrom and Long.

Program—Grindell, chairman; Bergstrom, Balsley, Lennon and Murray.

Refreshment—Brennan, chairman; Du Four, Higgins, Long and Lennon.

Moore Progressing Finely.

The rumor afloat this morning to the effect that Ernest V. Moore, the smallpox patient, died this morning is entirely without foundation. Dr. Bowman, his physician, reports that he is progressing finely.

Local and Personal.

—Owing to a change in the editorial staff the "Sphinx" will not be out until Monday.

—H. M. Esterly, law '02, has disposed of his laundry business to G. R. Keachie, '03.

—Professor and Mrs. R. W. Wood entertained with a dancing party at their home last evening.

—J. H. McNeil, '00, left yesterday for Delafield where he resumes his duties in St. John's Academy.

—Professor and Mrs. Van Velzer rejoice in the advent of a son which came to their home last evening.

—Castalia, after a short business meeting, adjourned so that her members might attend the Art Exhibit.

—John M. Barney, who has been confined to his rooms for the last two days, is today able to be about again.

—J. Arthur Armstrong, '03, was called to his home in Ashland to-day on account of the death of his brother.

—Professor and Mrs. L. W. Austin gave a dinner last evening to a number of friends at their home, 22 Mandota Court.

—Miss Frances Staver, '99, who has been visiting at the Alpha Phi house returned to her home in Fond du Lac to-day.

—Dean Johnson delivered a very interesting address before the engineers yesterday in the Engineering Building on Stevenson.

—Winifred D. Haseltine, '04, was compelled to return to his home at Mazomanie Wednesday by a severe attack of the grip.

—Will Spaulding, '03, while working in the blacksmith shop this morning accidentally injured his right eye by a flying piece of hot iron.

—The Chemical Club was yesterday afternoon addressed by Mr. Hall, an assistant in chemistry. Mr. Hall's subject was the origin of Petroleum.

—Phi Gamma Delta gave a most enjoyable smoker last evening. The guest of the occasion were Messrs. Murray and Basset of the Yale chapter.

—Charles Collins, '01, who has been suffering from pneumonia at the Phi Psi house is reported much worse and some fears are felt for his recovery.

—Miss Evelyn Johnson and Miss Blanche Clark of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority have returned from Pierre, South Dakota, where they attended the inaugural ball.

—Vaccination was prevalent yesterday. Dr. Elsom was kept very busy during the day vaccinating students. While Dr. Frost and his assistants had a great run at South Hall.

—Preparations are under way for a concert to be given by the Anderson Mandolin and Harp Orchestra, Tuesday evening Jan. 22nd, under the auspices of the School of Music. Details will be given later.

—Professor Olson gave a very interesting lecture yesterday afternoon at five o'clock in the lecture room of the Historical Library. He spoke on "Scandinavian Politics" and treated his subject in a very pleasing and entertaining manner.

Marlowe's Faustus.

Tonight at the Methodist church, the third number in the city lecture course will be given. Prof. R. G. Moulton of the University of Chicago will lecture on the subject: "Marlowe's Faustus." The church will be crowded. If you desire a good seat come early.

Moulton's date was first fixed as the 15th, and is so marked on the course tickets but it should be the 12th.

Skating for Everybody.
Students will be delighted to hear that the city is to undertake the maintenance of skating rinks on the two lakes. This project has been talked of many times but has always "died a-borin'." Alderman Sparling has conferred a real boon on devotees of skating throughout the city by getting this resolution through the council.

Needs of the School of Agriculture.
In recommending to the legislature the appropriation of funds for a new agricultural department building, the Board of Regents is voicing an imperative need of the University. The growth of this department has been a phenomenal one in many respects and its rank among similar institutions in the country entitles it to the consideration of a University and a state that had well be proud of it. In spite of the large number of students which this department accommodates yearly, it is not able to furnish room for nearly all those who apply and the already crowded condition of its buildings and equipments hampers the work at present being done.

If the present session of the legislature is to appropriate money for enlargement of the University, and both a sense of pride and a realization of the exigencies of the situation must lead it to do so, then its attention can be directed into no better channel than that indicated by the Board of Regents. The knowledge and spirit disseminated yearly throughout the state through the agency of the School of Agriculture repays many times the money that it costs. It is most sincerely to be hoped by all friends of education and well-wishers both of the University and the state in general that the legislature will see fit to make this appropriation.

December Municipality,

The current number of "The Municipality" magazine will appear Monday. It contains many contributions of diversified interest. Dean Johnson devotes considerable space to a discussion of "Recently Improved Methods of Sewage Disposal," continued from the October number.

John A. Aylward, City Attorney, treats of "Damage Suits against Municipalities. Mr. Aylward argues logically from a legal point of view and his article gives evidence of his knowledge and claims pending against a city.

Rev. E. G. Updike deserves much commendation for his timely theme on business carnivals. The reverend gentleman cites the case of Madison last fall and recalls the disgusting exhibitions that took place on the streets.

Mayor W. C. Letsch of Columbus, on the other hand, contends splendid advertising opportunities are offered to merchants in a "Street Fair."

"The Relation of the Simplified State Accounting System of Wisconsin Municipalities" in its treatments reflects considerable credit to the writer Stephen W. Gilman, member of the commission to simplify fiscal laws and the state accounting methods.

Boxing Club.

Boxing has brought about a great deal of interest lately among the students. Many are taking advantage of Mr. O'Dea's coaching, to acquire some skill in this line of exercise. For all-around exercise, this kind of work is unequalled and students should bear this in mind.

Mr. O'Dea wishes to state that this is free to all students of the University and that any one may become a member of the Boxing Club.

—"Ikey" Karel '98, who is a member of the assembly this year has drawn the same seat in the Assembly chamber that was occupied by his father in the legislature of '70.

I take this means of announcing to all students in the College of Engineering that Mrs. Johnson and I will be at home, very informally, on Saturday evenings from now till the end of the college year, to all the students in this college. Because of our limited accommodations, however, it has been thought best to give to each of the four classes particular evenings, and the following scheme has been decided upon. The first Saturday evening in every month will be given to the senior class and graduate students, the second to the junior class, the third to the sophomore class, and the fourth (and also the fifth if there be one), to the freshman class. While this division is not intended to be rigid, and any student would be gladly received on any evening, it will probably be found best to adhere to this classification in a general way. Because the first Saturday evening of this month has already passed, both the senior and junior students will be received on Saturday evening

Athenae.

The first debate on Athenae's program last evening was upon the salaried members of the British Parliament. Mowry, Blackman, Stinson, Johnson and A. Beale upheld the affirmative. They were opposed by Sargeant, Menzies, Randolph, Winegar, Luhman and Morgan. The debate was hotly contested. The jury—Hollen, Powers, Buckholz, Gust and Shields—decided in favor of the affirmative.

The second debate then ensued upon the adoption in the U. S. of the cabinet system. O'Meara, Lord, Thiede, Lerum, Angell and Gohlke defended the proposed move. Their opponents were O'Brien, Liver, Kelsey, Marquisee, Pray, Haight and Sargeant. This debate was likewise brilliantly fought on both sides. The decision was in favor of the negative. Nielson was critic of the evening. Athenae's challenge to Hesperia to accept a joint debate was made last evening by Messrs. Sargeant, O'Meara and Mowry.

Hesperia.

Hesperia held a thoroughly successful meeting last night. Two debates took place. The first was on the Grout Bill, as passed by the House of Representatives, the leaders being, for the affirmative which supported the bill, Mr. Huebner, and for the negative, Mr. Strehlow. As a specimen of genuine argumentation it certainly was one of the successes of this year.

The question of the second debate was, Resolved, That co-operation in industry would be to the best interests of capital and labor.

Mr. Rhodes appeared as leader in support of the proposition and Mr. Wehe, as leader of the opposition. The question was well and systematically handled, and the debate was much enlivened by the rather fierce rebuttals. A notable feature of the evening was the work of the freshmen who appeared in debate.

The plan of having several orations on the program each evening is proving a most gratifying success. Orations were given last evening by Lachmund and Clough, and both showed considerable possibilities as orators.

A communication was received by Hesperia last evening, from the Athenaeum society challenging Hesperia to a Joint Debate next year. The challenge was accepted and the challenging society will be officially notified to that effect.

Philomathia.

Last evening at the Philomathia meeting the usual program was carried out. Before the first debate Mr. Milbrath gave a declamation. The question for the first debate was: Resolved, That the playing of football should be prohibited, except under a proper method of training and under the direction of a competent trainer.

Affirmative—Otjen, Wilson, Wyssman, Runzler and Murphy.

Negative—Knoble, Hoefer, Lohr, Cowell and Schmidt. The decision was in favor of the affirmative.

Preceding the second debate Mr. Meisnest rendered a declamation. The question for the last debate was, Resolved, That all church property not used for distinctly religious purposes should be taxed in the same manner as other property.

Affirmative—Hunt, Brown, Hancock, Breslauer and Cady.

Negative—Sauthoff, Paust, Collins, Silverthorn and Poage. The negative carried the debate.

Jury—Stewart, Plumb and Boehm.
Critic—Grover.

Engineers Club.

The members continue to show excellent preparation. President Plumb gave his address, the subject of which was "Certain Phases of University Life." Trowbridge continued the program with a paper on "The Evolution of the Creamery." Mott then gave a talk on "Ice Cares" and one at Decorah, Iowa in particular. Holt concluded the program with a review of periodicals. Townsend was critic for the evening. Next Friday Prof. King will speak to the club on "The Manufacture of Emery Wheels."

Short Course Literary Society.

The Short Course Literary Society had an unusually interesting meeting last evening. The entire program was given, exactly as it appeared in last evening's Cardinal. The debate upon the advantages, as a farming country, of northern Wisconsin over southern Wisconsin was decided in favor of the affirmative. Besides the usual program the society was treated to an excellent address by Prof. Harper upon the historical progress of agriculture and the bill shortly to be introduced into the legislature establishing agricultural instruction in public schools.
