SPLENDID AFFAIR

JUNIOR PROMENADE THE FINEST OF ITS KIND.

ARTISTIC DECORATIONS AND FINEST MUSIC.

Many People From out of the City—
Their Names.

Tomorrow evening will occur the long looked for Junior Promenade, and the students of the university will be able to see what '96 can do in the way of parties. The present junior class has never given a party as the members of '96 entered just as the old class parties were dying out. This initial effort of the class has been watched for with interest, and it is safe to say that no one who goes to the gymnasium tomorrow night will be disappointed, no matter what expectations have been raised.

The decorations will exceed anything ever before seen here. The hall is so large that something to break up the monotony of the walls and rafters became imperative. This has been done by the use of bunting. Large flags will hang from the rafters and will give a very pretty effect as they will tend to soften the glare from the electric lights and to take away the bare effect of the ceiling. The walls will be covered with bunting, and large streamers of red, white and blue will be draped from the center of the room to the corners. All of the university pennants will be displayed in various parts of the hall.

At the north end of the hall will be a small platform for the reception committee. On each corner of the platform will be pyramids of palms surmounted by vases of lilies. Over the platform will be erected an arch of southern smilax, and underneath this will be the word, Wisconsin. The platform will be covered with rugs and chairs, and several piano lamps will give a pretty effect.

The orchestra stand will be placed in its usual place, on the last side of the room, and will be banked with palms and ferns. An arch, similar to the one at the north end of the hall, will cover the stand, but instead of Wisconsin, this arch will have the class numeral, '96. There will also be a canopy over the musician's stand.

The corners of the hall will be shut off with screens and bunting. In each corner will be a punch bowl, and several piano lamps will be used to light up these corners. It is expected that the shell will be brought in and suspended in the center of the hall. The oars will be extended and draped with smilax.

There are still a number of gallery tickets remaining unsold and all those who have not yet purchased their tickets can probably be accommodated. If there are any tickets remaining unsold they will be placed on sale at the gymnasium, so that those who come up then can secure tickets. However the gallery will not be overcrowded. Those who go in the gallery will get the full benefit of the music. The program is specially arranged, and the music will be some of the finest ever heard in the city. The first waltz on the regular program has been specially written for the occasion and is dedicated to the class of '96. The concert program has already been published and the selections on the regular program are even finer than those before.

PLEASANT VISIT

FROM THE MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING IN THE GYMNASIUM.

President Adams Pleads for Appropriations—Legislators Speak.

The legislators turned out almost a man yesterday afternoon, to respond to the invitation of President Adams, and look over the university buildings. They were divided into six sections, each section making the rounds under the guidance of a member of the faculty. The needs of the university were pointed out to them, and the many directions in which increased facilities and accommodations are demanded by the steady growth of the institution. They were given a demonstration of the necessity of a new and larger library building by finding the library crowded all the afternoon, and their visit will no doubt have considerable weight when they come to cast their vote on the new building bill, as well as for the various appropriations which are to come up.

It was in the gymnasium hall at 5 o'clock, however, where the big demonstration took place. The various iron arches have not rung with the cheering of so many voices since the appearance of McKinley there as they did yesterday when the university yell issued from the throats of 1,500 students with lusty lungs. Nearly every seat on the floor of the vast auditorium was occupied by students while the faculty and legislature occupied those on the rostrum.

A few minutes after 5 o'clock nearly all of the ninety-nine instructors of the university marched up the west aisle and took their seats on the platform. Then the inspiring strains of a march rendered by the university band were heard in the rear and the uniformed band appeared leading the members of the legislature who filed down the aisle two by two headed by President Adams on the arm of Regent B. J. Stevens. After the members were seated on the platform and the band had played a second march and left the room brief addresses began.

President Adams presided and in opening said, stretching his right hand toward the audience: "This is the University of Wisconsin. You have seen the shells, here are the kernels; you have seen the husks, here are the ears. You have inspected the university buildings used by your sons and daughters, and the sons and daughters of your constituents. Some of them are excellent, while others are in poor condition."

The president then briefly outlined the history of the institution, dwelling especially on the erection of the gymnasium and the other three new buildings. He said the new directory would show approximately 1,525 students in the university, this year and ninety-nine instructors. He detailed the immediate needs of the institution, saying that the regular biennial appropriation for current expenses ought to be increased about 10 per cent. He concluded with a strong plea for an appropriation for a new library building. The historical library should be situated near the university, for ninety-nine per cent. of the library's patrons are university students and professors.

Speeches were also made by Gov. Upham, Senators Weeks and Kennedy, Assemblyman Burdick and ex-Gov. Austin, of Minnesota.

It was then long after 6 and in dismissing the audience, President Adams said that he hoped the afternoon was but the beginning of an era of greater interest in the university on the part of the people of the state, and that as a result of this greater interest he feels sure the university was about to enter upon a new field of greater usefulness to the state of Wisconsin.

ATHLETIC MEET.

Today the final preparations were made at the gymnasium for the second annual indoor meet, and every indication points to the most successful event of the kind ever held at the university. The number of contestants is large, and the program arranged in an interesting and varied one.

Class enthusiasm among the lower classmen runs high, and Sophomores and Freshmen will turn out in force to cheer their respective representatives in the cane-sprees. The Sophomores will meet in the physical lecture room at seven-thirty o'clock, while the Freshmen will gather in the locker room at the same hour. Seats in a convenient part of the auditorium will be reserved for these classes until 7:45 p. m. The cane-sprees contestants are the following:

Light weight; Sophomore, C. J. Schmidt. Freshman, Ed. Bloomer.

Middle weight; Sophomore, J. E. Dutcher. Freshman, M. E. Seymore.

Heavy weight; Sophomore, H. F. Cochran. Freshman, H. S. Forrest.

The men who will take part in the various contests are in fine form and the exhibitions promise to be among the best features of the evening. Music will be furnished by Nitschke's orchestra, and a fine concert has been arranged.

—C. W. Jones left this afternoon for Milwaukee on business.

—G. C. Sevier, '95, has gone to Chicago, to spend the vacation.

—The U. W. Orchestra will not meet Saturday, at the usual hour.

—R. A. Hollister, '98, and A. A. Frambach, '98, have gone home to spend the vacation.

—The Madison and Milwaukee High schools hold a joint debate, in Milwaukee this evening.

—W. H. Woodard, law '96, and David Atwood, '97, have gone to Beloit, to attend the Greek play.

—Addie Mae Wootton, '96, is confined to her room by an attack of pneumonia.

—The local chapter of Delta Gamma intends to occupy Dr. Jastrow's residence, on Langdon street, during his absence in Europe.

—Winnifred Hannon, '96, who was forced to give up her studies at the hill, on account of sickness, is back again.

Boom that bill.

Would that there were more men in the capitol, as outspokenly in favor of the new library building, as Gov.
Upham and Senator Kennedy.

There will be no issue of the Cardinal tomorrow, but Saturday's number will contain full accounts of the promenade and the athletic meet.

According to a poet in the Yale Record, some of the people who attended the promenade haven't had money enough to do anything but promenade ever since.

The faculty of Harvard university has recommended to the athletic committee the abolition of inter-collegiate football contests, at Harvard. This action of the faculty is not final as the decision in this matter rests with the athletic committee. The members of this committee are thought to be in favor of football and will probably be slow in abolishing it.

The sprite dubbed college spirit has already taken up his quarters in the gymnasium. After his successful appearance, last night, at the reception, there can be no doubt but that he is out for a "time," and every evidence of a general revel is manifest. After he has sufficiently feasted upon the mid-winter meet and the Junior promenade he will be turned over to the care of Gov. Upham and Senator Kennedy, in whose hands, with the help of our other legislators, it is hoped that the climax of this appearance will be the appropriation for the library building.

The management of the Junior Promenade expect, and are entitled to the support of the public in aiding the enterprise by securing seats in the gallery. In the first place an excellent musical program has been arranged by the orchestra, lasting probably over an hour. Besides this there will be plenty of enjoyment later in witnessing the grand march which will be a brilliant sight, and one to be remembered.

In addition the efforts spent by the committee in decorations are on no small scale. To meet this enormous expenditure, which the class is responsible for, in giving the most elaborate party ever held in Madison, it is but reasonable to hope that all students who do not intend to dance, will not only urge citizens of the town to take seats in the gallery for a small sum of fifty cents, but to go themselves.
The class deserves to be rewarded as far as possible for its great outlay, and to a certain extent relies upon the filling of the gallery to realize their hopes.

First—President Adams to Speak.

The Chicago Alumni Association will hold their annual banquet at the Grand Pacific hotel, on Friday, March 1st. There will be a reception at six o'clock, in the hotel parlors and the

those who will respond to toasts are President Adams and Professor Ely.

LECTURE REPEATED.

By request, on Sunday evening next, Rev. W. D. Simonds will repeat, at the Unitarian church, his lecture on
"Robert Ingersoll's Power with the People." This lecture is said to be a fair, broad-minded study of the celebrated orator and his methods, and those who have heard it pronounce it of peculiar interest to all earnest searchers of the truth. A cordial invitation is extended to all students
and others interested in the subject, and arrangements have been made to accommodate a large audience. Special music has been prepared for the occasion.

THE INSANE.

Dr. L. R. Head addressed Dr. Ely's class in American charities yesterday afternoon on the Treatment of the Insane. Among other things, he said a proper comprehension of what comprises humane and scientific treatment of the insane is not dependent upon a knowledge of the history of insanity, nor upon an intimate knowledge of the forces which have developed this great charity. The paper was calculated to point out some of the well recognized essentials in the care of the insane and to show by what means the greatest good may come to this great class and also to show wherein the great expenditures of means and energy fail to accomplish what they should. He said the state in accepting the guardianship of the insane and depriving them of their liberty, assumes an obligation to supply them with all necessary physical comforts and the most approved appliances and the most scientific methods of treatment for their restoration.

In the fulfillment of the first duty, said Dr. Head, the provision of location and erection of suitable buildings becomes necessary. Buildings should be in the country accessible to the city and should be healthful and beautiful. Sanitary conditions should be perfect, he said. He then proceeded to discuss the various approved plans upon which suitable buildings may be built, especially in regard to the hospital. The Belgium hospital, at Gheel, is a notable deviation from all the plans mentioned. The combined central and cottage plan, of which Kankakee is the best type, seemed to Dr. Head the best and nearest approach to the ideal. The interior is all important, he said, and he recommended bright rooms, with tinted walls, adorned with pictures, sunny alcoves filled with flowers and birds.

The medical superintendent of a hospital should be its presiding genius and they are born, not made, and his term should cease only with incapacity from age. He recommended the establishment of training schools in connection with the hospitals.

A great revolution has been effected in the treatment of the insane during the last century, he said. Insanity is today regarded as a purely physical disease of the brain, either functional or organic. To teach insane people responsibility and self-restraint is most desirable, but patients should never be punished corporally. In conclusion Dr. Head said, "A just sentiment in regard to the proper care and treatment of the defective classes must come from education; from a clear comprehension of who belong to this class;

their needs and their rights, and the proper methods involved in affording them, and then free acceptance of an individual responsibility. I am pleased that the broader education that you are receiving here includes such questions."

PRESS CLUB.

The university press club met in the junior law lecture room last evening. The program of the evening was a talk by Sumner M. Curtis, formerly of this city and a graduate of this university, now doing the legislative work for the Milwaukee Sentinel. Mr. Curtis devoted most of his time to telling how political news in Washington is managed; of the elaborate arrangements which are made for the handling of "stuff," and some of the qualities necessary for a successful correspondent. He also told something of how the work of covering the inauguration of Gov. Upham was arranged by the Sentinel, and how five men did the work. Mr. Curtis said that what a paper wants above everything else is ideas. A newspaper man should have a good education, especially in literature and rhetoric, and should be a ready writer, but he must have ideas if he expects to succeed.

A general discussion followed the talk. E. R. Petherick of the Milwaukee Journal will address the next meeting of the club.

WASHBURN OBSERVATORY.

There was a small attendance at the Washburn Observatory last evening. When one stops to reflect, however, what an amount of information, and what a number of entirely new impressions can be obtained from a short visit to the Observatory, there is wonder that more of the students do not take advantage of these open evenings.

Last night the 15 1-2 inch telescope was turned on Sirius and on Jupiter. Owing to the condition of the atmosphere, the appearance of Sirius, the largest star in the heavens, was shimmering and hazy. The colors of the stars were those which can only be given by the glass lenses. Jupiter's outline was perfectly distinct, and the rifts in its atmosphere were plainly shown by the pink streaks which stretched like zones across its surface. The four satellites which were visible were most curiously arranged in pairs spaced equally, and in direct line with the planet. They seemed to be the glowing eyeballs of two black cats, looking out from the darkness.

Saturn will be in a favorable position for observation in about a month. Just at present it is too low in the horizon.

"I would like to work, marm," said the wayside wanderer. "but, yer see, I have been hypnotized by a feller what won't let me do a stroke."—Boston Transcript.
